Gospel Advocate

Volume LXII. No. 1.

NASHVILLE, TENN., JANUARY 1, 1920. $2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

Contents

Our Contributors	2
Query Department	5
Studies in Church History	7
Georgia and the Far Southern Field	8
At Home and Abroad	9
Editorial	10
Relief Fund	12
In Memory of J. D. Allen	14
Gifts on Christmas Day	15
Church News	16
"Baptists vs. Campbellites" (No.
16)	18
"Timely Sayings of Jesus"	19
Progress of the Work in St. Louis,
Mo	20
"Seeking the Truth"	21
Among the Colored Folks	23

The Old Year and the New

BY S. HOUSTON PROFFITT.

FAREWELL, OLD YEAR, 1919. Farewell, old year, thy harvest yield Is gathered in from hill and plain; But memory gleans anew each field, And finds some heads of scattered grain, Which to our hearts will bring good cheer-Glad mem'ries of the closing year.

Farewell, old year, we turn from thee, Forgotten be thy shadows past; But long remembered sunshine free, Which o'er our pathway thou has cast. With joy we greet the coming year, And hope for skies so bright and fair.

Farewell, old year, thy death has come, Thy sunshine o'er, thy shadows fled; Thou'rt laid away within thy tomb, With hopes and disappointments dead. Now o'er thy tomb we drop a tear, And turn to greet the coming year.

II.

WELCOME, NEW YEAR, 1920. O glad New Year, we greet thee here, Upon thy threshold now we stand; Thy promises of hope and cheer Will bring great joy to all the land. Thou comest to us bright and clear; A welcome to thee, glad New Year!

O glad New Year, with joy we turn To greet thee on this happy morn; Our hearts within our bosoms burn, Thou bringest joy to mortals born; Thou'rt laden full of hope and cheer. With joy we greet thee, glad New Year!

O glad New Year, may sunbeams fall Throughout thy life upon our way; May sorrows flee away from all, And joys along our pathway stray. Let sunshine bring its gladsome cheer, Throughout thy days, O glad New Year!

How to Interest Children in the Bible.

BY H. E. WATTERS.

Every mother wants her child to love the Bible. She is happy when he reads it, remembers it, and really takes a delight in it; but how to bring about this happy result is her problem.

The average child looks upon the Bible with awe, finds but little interest and pleasure in reading it, and does not comprehend or remember what he reads. The staid old Scotch parent used to consider this an evidence of the child's depravity. The serious old deacon wondered why his child yawned when he read the comforting doctrines in Romans. Grandmother, whose heart was thrilled to rapture with the Psalms, couldn't understand why her grandchild dozed while she read them. Many a solemn-faced Doctor of Divinity has been confused because little children in his audience showed impatient restlessness while he drawled forth in solemn sound a chapter from Chronicles.

Now, the fault is not with the child that he does not take delight in the food that God has prepared for well-developed saints; for, as the apostle says, "strong meat belongeth to them that are full age," but "milk for babes." How often has the writer, as a school-teacher, been disappointed to see a minister in making a chapel talk before a roomful of little children read and comment in a learned sort of way on a passage from the Psalms or Proverbs! I have admired the patience and long-suffering of the children under such circumstances, but equally I have pitied the lack of tact and understanding of child nature on the part of the speaker.

God made child nature, and made it "very good." He also made the laws by which this nature must be developed and trained. These laws are not to be ignored or condemned; neither let any blundering hand attempt to change them or work in violation of them.

In teaching children, some fundamental truths must be kept in mind, a few of which must be remembered when we try to interest them in the Bible.

- 1. The child's store of knowledge is small.
- 2. It must increase this stock of knowledge largely by experience and observation. In this, pictures must play an important part.
- 3. God made the child inquisitive, a veritable "question mark," a "curiosity box," in order to impel it to seek information and increase its stock of knowledge,
- 4. It was given large memory so as to retain the knowledge thus gained.
- 5. It was given vivid imagination to enable it to create new forms of mental images, and thus assist in acquiring new knowledge.
- 6. Its power to reason is small. This is true because the knowledge is too limited to enable it to make broad and trustworthy conclusions. Although it frequently astonishes us with mature observations, this is the exception, not the rule. It is not expected of children, hence our wonder when these brilliant flashes come.

Thus we see the child begins life a perfect ignoramus, but with its eyes and ears wide open; in fact, its every sense is exceedingly acute, and it has an insatiable desire to see, to feel, to smell, to hear, to taste, everything within reach. This intensity makes a child's memory better, and its imagination makes everything more real than at any other period in life, but its judgment is very unreliable.

SOME OBSERVATIONS AND CONCLUSIONS.

The exercise of any of our predominating faculties gives us pleasure. A mature man loves to reason because he is in the "reasoning period;" hence, he loves to hear strong argumentative sermons; but not so his child. He loves Romans and Proverbs, for they give him strong food for reflection; his child finds them intolerably dull, for the same reason.

One of the child's strong points is activity; hence, he delights in play, motion songs, and stories of action. "Jack the Giant Killer" is his hero, and Indian legends his delight. Only narratives interest him, and the one who would try to force philosophy upon him undertakes not only an impossible task, but a criminal one. He will read with delight Samson's exploits, the story of David's slaying the giant that defied the armies of Israel's God, and will rejoice in the heroism of the "Hebrew children" who went into the fiery furnace rather than bow before the golden image; but lectures intended to teach the same truths are intolerable to him.

The second point in child nature is acquisitiveness—his insatiable thirst for knowledge; therefore, he gets peculiar pleasure in finding out things. What he wants is percepts, not concepts; objects, not results; information, not conclusions. What he reads must speak of things, not thoughts. A story with a moral wrapped up in it is worth whole chapters of moral philosophy. This is the time to teach him the facts of the Bible. Properly plant these seed in his mind and heart now, and they will bear their own spiritual fruit and philosophy in after years.

The third strong point in a child is his wonderful imagination—a natural and valuable gift that too many parents try to repress and destroy, rather than to use and develop. Imagination gives a rose tint or an ominous hue to everything in child life. It clothes a rag doll in tenderest flesh and softest silk; it turns the broomstick into a thoroughbred, Ponto into a roaring lion, and an old newspaper in the darkness into a sheeted ghost. Nothing in childhood brings so many joys and fears, so many sorrows and delights.

The child without imagination is exceedingly dull. He is unable to supply satisfactory links in his incomplete chain of knowledge and can take no lively interest in the prosaic things surrounding him. However, strong imagination frequently deceives the child, presenting an imaginary picture so vividly that the child receives and remenibers it as real, so reports it, and is convicted of lying when he is perfectly honest. The writer remembers the day when he rushed into the house in a state of great excitement and reported to his mother: "There is a great big old orchard with two great big eyes sitting up in the top of the old poplar tree down below the barn, and Mr. Burnett started down there, and saw it, and got scared, and just ran back home." Although more than thirty years have passed since then, the writer still sees distinctly "the old orchard," a great bird, like an owl, twelve feet high, sitting in the top of the old poplar tree, and Mr. Burnett, a neighbor, running for life. The picture, quite real to my childish mind, was no doubt suggested by the sight of a hawk or an owl, and connected with a story that Mr. Burnett told of his boyhood adventures. Many a poor child has been whipped for lying that told a story like this in all sincerity. Instead of crushing a vivid imagination like this, let it walk with Eve in Eden and hear God calling out of the shadows, "Where art thou?" Let it thrill with true heroic spirit in the lion's den with Daniel, who "prayed with his face toward Jerusalem." Let him walk into the very presence of Jesus and hear him say: "Suffer little children to come unto me."

A man's life is largely fashioned by the mental pictures he formed in childhood. These pictures must be formed of the material at hand. What shall we say, then, of the probable difference in the characters of two men, one whose child mind and life was filled with only the vilest and meanest images, and the other whose mind was filled with the stories of the lives of men God has selected and recorded for an inspiration to all ages?

APPLICATION.

The application of the foregoing principles to the Bible, or, perhaps more correctly, the application of the Bible truths to the child's mind in accordance with these principles, is obvious. It is quite clear that the narrative, or story, is the "open sesame" to the child's heart, which never fails to respond to the one who uses this magic wand. Fortunately, there are no stories more interesting to a child than God's own stories in the Bible; but he cannot find nor appreciate them in our Bibles, cut up as they are into chapters and verses.

There are three ways of getting these stories into the heart of a child. The first, and perhaps the best, is to sit down with him about the fireside in the evening and tell them to him with all the glow of a soul kindled by a "coal from off the altar." It has pleased the Lord that this personal element should accompany his message; hence his sending out men to "preach the word." And what can be more beautiful than God's truth shining through father or mother into the life of the child?

But you say you cannot do this. Yes, you can; you must. God demands it. "Thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house." "But how?" Search your Bible for the stories it contains. You will be surprised to find that more than half of it is narratives and that much of the remaining part lends itself to story form. Study one or two stories a day, and you will be astonished at the progress you will make. Besides, children are not very particular about how the stories are told.

The second way is to get a book of Bible stories retold for children. There are many of them printed, most of them good. Place these in the hands of your children, and they will read them without much persuasion.

The third way, and one far better than the last, is to get a book, a real Bible, prepared for children. The writer has long believed in the value of the Bible in the story form, but was not well pleased with the books he had seen prepared for this purpose. They were all good and interesting, but were not the Bible, although most of them were so named. The child realized he was not reading the Bible and acquired no special love for it. In fact, the story book itself was a standing apology for the Bible, virtually saying that the Bible could not interest a child, but that a man could make it so by rewriting it. This is the spirit that naturally pervades the situation, and I observed it and felt it. I searched for a better book, but all in vain, until one day, while looking through a great bookstore in Philadelphia, where secondhand books were kept, I found the book for which I long had searched. It was a real children's and young people's Bible, and in King James translation. Some skillful hand had gone through the Bible and gathered together all of the narrative portions, together with some other selections, put them in logical order, removed the verse and chapter divisions, and restored the natural paragraphs as God had intended. Each story had its own appropriate head; for example, "The Story of the Creation," "The Story of the Flood," "The Parable of the Vine." Under each of these subjects, in large, clear type, in natural paragraphs, was God's own account in his own simple, direct, and charming style. He chose words simple enough for all intelligent minds; so what need is there that man should make it simpler? Then each story was accompanied with a large and beautiful picture illustrating some central thought.

I placed this book in the hands of my children, and found, as I had believed, that the Bible in natural form is intensely interesting even to children. It was not necessary to tell them to read it; I had sometimes to tell them to stop reading it. Besides, they were reading the Bible, not somebody's story of it. They were becoming familiar with Bible language and were unconsciously storing up quotations and seed thoughts which would develop in after years. I find they do not get tired of this in reading it more than once as they do of the retold stories, for God's stories in his own language are inexhaustible. Furthermore, they do not tire of them as they grow older; for these were not written by man for little children only, but by God for all ages.

I was astonished to find how much more interesting the Bible is to me in this form, how much more easily comprehended and remembered, and how easy it is for me to prepare stories from it; so I often read it for my own benefit.

RESULTS.

As an evidence that the methods mentioned get results, I recount two incidents. A few years ago I was preaching one day, contrasting the lives of David and Saul. Near the front seat sat two little boys, ages five and seven, although they looked to be younger. I noticed that as I sketched the lives of the two great kings of Israel, drawing lessons from them, the bright little eyes of those two little boys followed me almost without winking. I marveled that minds so young should be so much interested in such an historical sermon. That afternoon I called upon the family, and the mother said: "My little boys repeated your sermen word for word to their grandfather when they got home." Then I mentioned their attention and my wonder at it. Whereupon she said, "O, we have just finished reading together in their Bible the lives of these two men;" and she handed me a book similar to the one I have described above. Then I understood why they were the most interested listeners in my audience. They knew the men I was talking about. The seed fell into good and well-prepared ground that day.

The other instance relates to my own children. One evening while sitting around the fire with them alone, they besieged me for a Bible story, and one that was new to them. They had been reading their Bible for about a year, so I thought it a good time to test them for results. So I began: "Well, I will tell you the story of a man who killed his brother." "O," they said, "Cain and Abel? We know that." I went through the Old Testament, only to receive the same answer to all the stories I suggested. Then I began with the New Testament. "Then I will tell you the story of the man who was baptizing in the Jordan." "O, was he the man who got his head cut off? We know about him." I tried many others with the same result. It was getting interesting. I was about to exhaust my resources. The tables were being turned. I was on examination and about to fail. At last, in desperation, I turned to Revelation. "Surely," I said to myself, "I will be victor here." So I said: "Then I will tell you the story of the woman in the wilderness." "O," they said, "is that the woman that had the moon under her feet? We know about her." At last they kindly came to my relief. "Well, just tell us a story we already know; tell us about Dagon." Then I surrendered, for I could not do it.

But while I had been defeated in the contest, my heart rejoiced that it was my own children, the oldest only ten, who were the victors, and that I had contributed something, at least, toward interesting them and directing them in their Bible study.

CONCLUSION.

"But," you say, "why teach the Bible stories to children?" Volumes might be written in reply, but a word suffices here. We become like our associates and those we admire, and no child can spend his childhood in company with God's chosen characters and not become like them. You can trust the boy whose hero is Joseph or Daniel; who has spent his childhood in imaginary walks and talks with Jesus. Besides, it is then so easy for them when a few years older, when their hearts are touched by the power of God, to believe on Jesus and surrender to him their hearts and lives. The seed falls into "good and honest hearts" and brings forth a hundredfold.

World Has Frequently Fooled the Credulous.

MOTHER SHIPTON AND WILLIAM MILLER PROVED FALSE PROPHETS—"DARK DAY" AND "NIGHT THE STARS FELL."

Of course, those who expected the world to come to an end on December 17 were doomed to disappointment. It's a way this little old globe has with its credulous inhabitants. Time and again it has been scheduled to perform the closing-up scene, but always it has failed to come up to the scratch. Many a prophet in high standing it has put out of business by simply spinning along past the appointed time on its regular schedule. Old-timers are now recalling the excitement that swept the country in 1881, the date fixed for the wind-up by the famous Mother Shipton, says the Kansas City Star. Had not all her other prophecies come true—the railroads, the steamships, the telegraph, the submarine, the rise of the Jew, Disraeli? There remained only one to be fulfilled—

"And this world to an end shall come In eighteen hundred and eighty-one."

True, the old lady had fixed no particular day or date for the big event, but after eleven months had rolled away the true believers centered their hopes on December as a last chance. The prophet Daniel was invoked again, and his figures were found to coincide quite accurately with Mother Shipton's year. But when New Year's Day came, Terra opened up for business at the same old Firma stand, and an investigation of Mother Shipton was started which resulted in the discovery that all of her prophecies had been made for her by an Englishman some five hundred years after her death.

The year 1843 was another widely advertised terminal epoch that failed. A decade before that William Miller, the founder of the sect of Second Adventists, had published a book based upon the Old Testament prophecies, in which he set forth elaborate calculations which he claimed showed that in 1843 "Christ would appear the second time in the clouds, raise up the dead and judge them with the living, and purify the earth with fire." The propaganda spread rapidly throughout the New England States, and as the time of judgment drew near camp meetings were held throughout the country, and numbers of preachers and speakers went about warning the people to prepare for the day. A large tent capable of holding five thousand people was constructed, and Miller made a tour of the large cities of the New England States and of New York State until the fever reached the stage of hysteria.

As the appointed year drew near, Miller reduced his calculations to a more concrete basis, and announced October 21 as the particular day upon which the business of the final judgment was scheduled to begin. Collections were taken up at the various meetings for the erection of tabernacles in which the faithful were to congregate, clad in white robes, ready for the day of doom. Several days in advance of the date thousands thronged to the tabernacles, bringing with them provisions enough to last them to the end, and remained there praying and singing until the morning of the 22nd. Many of them remained all day on the 21st on the roofs of houses, wearing their judgment robes and with their eyes fixed upon the east. In many of the country districts farmers refused to reap their crops, saying that it was "flying in the face of Providence" to store up crops for a season that would never arrive. But the day passed like other days, and Miller "confessed his great disappointment, but still believed that the day of the Lord is near, even at the door."

Ten years before that, on November 13, 1833, the Western Hemisphere was given the biggest scare recorded in its existence, without any prophetic warnings. That was "the night when the stars fell." It was a night of terror never forgotten by those who had witnessed it. From two o'clock until daylight, the sky being serene and cloudless, the heavens bombarded the earth with a barrage of meteors of huge size and brilliance, which illuminated the atmosphere like a deluge of fire. During these hours the skies literally rained meteors. One astronomer computed that not less than two hundred and forty thousand were visible at one time above the horizon of Boston and a similar display was witnessed throughout the United States. Panic was widespread. People ran about the streets shouting that the day of judgment had come. Thousands flocked to the churches to pray. The negroes in the South rushed forth and threw themselves prostrate in the fields with shricks of terror, praying to be saved. But when the accounts were checked up a few days after it was found that no damage had been done and the little old globe went bumping along as if nothing unusual had happened.

One of the most mysterious of natural phenomena that ever occurred on this side of the water, and one that, for the time, convinced the forefathers of the republic that the end of things had really come, was the so-called "dark day of May 19, 1780."

Beginning suddenly at ten o'clock in the morning of that date, which fell on a Friday, an extraordinary darkness, for which no scientific explanation ever has been given, enveloped all of the New England States. The sun was blotted out as if by a local eclipse, without even a corona showing. The chickens went to roost, the birds flew to their nests, and the cattle went to their stalls. So complete was the darkness that people were not able to make their way about the streets without lighted fagots. This condition continued until midnight, no stars or moon being visible. It was attended by strange aberrations of the barometer and a suffocating thickness of the atmosphere. The belief that the world was doomed to destruction spread far and wide. To add to the terror, heavy thunders began to boom from dense massed banks of clouds, without any accompanying lightning, and a thick, gummy, black rain began to fall.

"Thousands of the good people of that day," writes a chronicler of the event, "became fully convinced that the end of all things terrestrial had come. Many gave up, for the time, their secular pursuits and betook themselves to religious devotions, while many others regarded the darkness as not only a token of God's indignation against the various iniquities and abominations of the age, but also as an omen of some future destruction that might overwhelm the land unless speedy repentance and reformation took place. The ignorant indulged in vague and wild conjectures as to the causes of the phenomenon, and those profounder minds, even, that could 'gauge the heavens and tell the stars,' were about equally at a less for any rational explanation of the event.

"It is related that the Connecticut Legislature was in session at the time, and that, so great was the darkness, the members became terrified and thought the day of judgment had really come; a motion was consequently made to adjourn. At this, Mr. Davenport, one of the members, arose and said: "Mr. Speaker, it is either the day of judgment, or it is not. If it is not, there is no need of adjourning; if it is, I desire to be found doing my duty. I move that candles be brought, and that we proceed to business."

And, after all, the policy of the philosophic legislator turned out for the best, and in a little while the business of making laws and the other concerns of the republic went on as usual. Within twenty-four hours the sun came up smiling again and the "dark day" soon became a memory.

"And," says our quoted historian, "it may easily be imagined that, as the deep and mysterious darkness which covered the land on that memorable 19th of May filled all hearts with wonder and fear, so the return, at last, of that brightness and beauty characteristic of the season brought gladness again to the faces of the young and composure to the hearts of the aged; for never before did nature seem clothed in so charming an attire of sunshine, sky, and verdure."

Query Department

By J. C. McQUIDDY

Brother John Lawrenson, of Carman, Manitoba, Canada, says: "Please explain, through the Gospel Advocate, Rev. 20: 4 and Matt. 25: 31." He further says: "I always enjoy reading the questions and answers. I also read with interest the different articles written on the kingdom and Christ's second coming."

The passages on which he seeks an explanation have been interpreted in many different ways, and some of them have been the subject of considerable discussion. While I am not sure that I will be able to satisfy him as to the meaning, I shall take the passages in the order mentioned and explain each as it appears to me. However, I shall not claim that the explanation I give will be infallible or absolutely correct. I shall not be dogmatic about my own explanation.

Rev. 20: 4 reads: "And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that had been beheaded for the testimony of Jesus, and for the word of God, and such as worshiped not the beast, neither his image, and received not the mark upon their forehead and upon their hand; and they lived, and reigned with Christ a thousand years."

The verses preceding this show that Satan was to be bound for a thousand years, and should be cast into the bottomless pit and shut up, with a seal upon him. He should deceive the nations no more until the thousand years should be fulfilled. After that he must be loosed a little season. This language is highly symbolic, and evidently means that the devil should be bound with the chain of truth and should be deprived of his influence on the earth.

From the verse under consideration we learn that John saw those who sat on thrones and who reigned with Christ a thousand years. This does not mean that Christ will come and visibly reign as an earthly monarch for a thousand years. The personal and second coming of Christ is placed by all inspired writers as the last event before the great judgment day. This is clear from 1 Cor. 15: 23, 24: "But each in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; then they that are Christ's, at his coming. Then cometh the end, when he shall deliver up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have abolished all rule and all authority and power."

Here "coming," as it occurs in verse 23, is from "parousia," which is defined by Thayer as "the presence of one coming. Hence, the coming, arrival, advent." Thayer further says: "In the New Testament especially of the Advent—that is, the future, visible return from heaven of Jesus, the Messiah, to raise the dead, hold the last judgment, and set up formally and gloriously the kingdom of God." He refers to Matt. 24: 3; 1 Cor. 15: 23; as well as a number of other passages. When Paul wrote, the second coming of Christ was not an accomplished fact, but when his second coming is an accomplished fact, then the next event in order will be the delivering of the kingdom up to the Father.

The adverb of time, "eita," as it occurs in verse 24, is thus defined by Thayer: "Then; next, after that." So we see that Paul was not teaching that Christ would appear immediately, but that when he did appear the second time his mediatorial reign would cease and the kingdom would be delivered up to his Father. When Christ's second coming is treated as an accomplished fact, as shown by the form of the verb used in Matt. 25: 31, which means "when Christ comes," we learn that a different adverb of time, "tote," is used, which means, according to Thayer, "at the time when the things under consideration were taking place." Matt. 25: 31 reads: "But when the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the angels with him, then shall he sit on the throne of his glory." When Christ comes, then, at that time, he shall sit on the throne of his glory. This will be the end of the world, when all nations will be gathered before him and the good shall be separated from the bad, "as the shepherd separateth the sheep from the goats." Thus we see that when the Son of man appears again, then the kingdom will be delivered to the Father, the dead will be raised, and the judgment will be held.

It should be noted that those who lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years were not literally resurrected from the grave. Not one word is said about their bodies being resurrected. Neither does John say that he saw the bodies of them that were beheaded, but he distinctly says that he saw their souls. He saw the souls of those who had been put to death in the body. While their bodies had ceased to exist and their souls were not seen on earth, yet their souls had never ceased to exist and live. They were alive with Christ, and were living in some sense upon the earth different from that existence which they had formerly enjoyed. The passage does not mean that their souls came to life, for they had never been dead. As Christ lives and reigns upon the earth during the thousand years, so the spirit of the martyrs is alive and lives in the church. After Elijah was dead, he lived in the spirit and power of John the Baptist. Elisha did not cease to live when his body died. A dead man touched his bones and came to life. If God could use the dead Elisha, so God can use the resurrected spirit and influence of martyrs who have been put to death for the truth. We learn from Ezek. 37: 12, 14, that God proposed to open the graves of his people, cause them to come up out of their graves, and bring them into the land of Israel. While this does not mean that they would be literally resurrected from their graves, it does mean that God did not intend for them to be wholly blotted out, or for their influence to cease to exist, but that he would still bring them into the land of Israel. While they were as dead, their influence was alive. We cannot reconcile or harmonize the Scriptures with the view that the resurrection here is of the body, when there is not one word in the passage which indicates anything of the kind.

Group Evangelism.

BY C. M. STUBBLEFIELD.

The Christian Standard has championed the cause of the American Christian Missionary Society and other organizations of its kind throughout their history. Concerning its work along this line, in a challenge issued to some of his opponents, the Standard editor says: "Until 1907 I had done more free service for our missionary societies, our colleges, and other public interests, in the way of publicity, than all other papers among us have done before or since."

Although, as the editor here contends, the Standard has been a leader in this work, it now proposes, for reasons entirely satisfactory to itself, to withdraw its support from the societies and bend its splendid energies in another direction. Hear it again: "The Standard led in the inauguration of society work; led in its vindication when opposed; led in putting it on a safe financial basis; and has led in rebuking its departures and abuses. It is now about to lead in a demonstration of cooperative efficiency that has already proved its worth, and the expansion of which will lend incalculable power to the Restoration movement."

The plan now urged by the Standard, and which it sees proper to designate "group evangelism," is the one followed by Cecil J. Sharp and the church in Hammond, Ind., by which a church has been established each year for the past thirteen. Of the Hammond work the Standard says: "It had but little help from abroad, but by a common consecration of means little short of the New Testament holding all things in common," it has outdone the best that so-called mission work could do. It is apostolic in spirit, in results, and in power."

Concerning the efficiency of group evangelism, it remarks: "There is nothing in the nature of a barren ideality about it. It is an assured result, a living witness to the value of a great idea. That idea is as old as the New Testament, and as good. It is nothing more nor less than the common-sense coöperation of neighboring Christians in multiplying and earing for their kind."

Of the workings of group evangelism in Kansas City the Standard says: "Had our churches generally followed the plan (simple group evangelism) instituted by T. P. Haley in Kansas City fifty years ago, not only would our strength in this land be fourfold what it is to-day, but there would have been untold wealth for extension in other lands. The fallacy that a church is fulfilling its duty to the world in casting money into a contribution box, while neglecting the field at its own door, is felt by thousands where it is expressed by few."

Under "A Congress Catechism," speaking further of the Hammond work, it says: "There is not a wealthy church in the Calumet District, yet they build a church a year. What would the Cincinnati District have been on this plan, in a hundred years of history? Question: Then, you do not have this plan in Cincinnati? Answer: Far from it. Cincinnati is too much given to the society plan."

These are enough to fairly introduce our theme, a subject under which it is hoped to provoke a wide range of thought and discussion out of which shall come an awakening productive of such results as we have not enjoyed in a quarter of a century. And in the very outset I wish to say, and in saying it I hope to be understood, that if group evangelism is what I understand the Standard to say it is, we should adopt it at once and urge it with every particle of energy within us. Now, before any one accuses me of having gone off at a tangent, let him consider:

Fact One: We are not producing such results as were obtained by the early Christians. Should one doubt this, let him read Acts of Apostles.

Fact Two: Neither are we obtaining the results enjoyed by the Fathers of the Restoration. Should one doubt this, let him read the Christian Baptist, the Millennial Harbinger, the early issues of the Gospel Advocate, or the Christian Standard, or the American Christian Review.

No difference what opinion one may hold with reference to the efficiency of this or that plan of evangelism, the stubborn fact is before us that we are not producing results formerly enjoyed, and the Standard freely and frankly admits that the society plan is not producing the results anticipated by its sympathizers and supporters. If, then, as above said, group evangelism is what I understand the Standard to say it is, we should adopt it at once for the following reasons:

(1) It works. A church in Hammond, Ind., with "but little help from abroad," grew, in thirteen years' time, into thirteen churches, thus outdoing "the best that so-called mission work could do." And the Standard asks: "What would the Cincinnati District have been on this plan, in a hundred years of history?" (2) It would eliminate one of the two points of disagreement between us and them. Surely every thoughtful Christian would rejoice at that. Jesus prayed that his disciples might be one, and whoever does not desire the unity and union of God's people is not in harmony with that prayer.

When the society plan was introduced, many good, honest, thoughtful brethren refused to support it, either by money or influence, thus forming a breach in a happy, united brotherhood which has widened with the years. Their reasons for refusing to support the society, if I have understood them, were about as follows:

(1) The church of Jesus Christ is all-sufficient, as an organization, for the carrying forward of the Lord's work, and, therefore, human organizations are, to say the least, superfluous.

(2) A belief that a condition would arise, in time, substantially as that described by the Standard editor in the following: "Our missionary societies are all appealing for money-and the appeal for money is always legitimate. provided that the money secured is properly used. Just here, however, the trouble appears on the surface. The appeal is made by a vivid portrayal of the 'needs of the field.' Yet, when the report of expenditures come to light in itemized statements or bulging 'miscellaneous disbursements,' it is frequently discovered that a considerable part of the money given to the Lord for the 'needs of the field' has been spent defraying the expenses of secretaries and other 'representatives' to denominational powwows in New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Cleveland, and other cities. Moreover, some of our missionary societies are forming the habit of federating with the denominations, 'swapping' fields and putting up 'Keep Off the Grass' signs, and thus spending missionary money in a compromise way, which the brethren who give it do not indorse. Again, missionaries who are reported to be unsound teachers are supported out of the society treasuries. Hence the widespread dissatisfaction which now threatens the future of certain agencies among us."

They had other reasons which we may enumerate later.

What God Gives.

What God gives birds and flowers Assuredly is ours:

And more-

Their Maker sends their store: We share

Our gracious Father's care: This much

The earth and heaven doth touch:

The earth to sow in; The heaven to grow in;

The earth to lie in; The heaven to fly in:

To whom so much is pledged hath everything—A home on earth, and room to soar and sing.

-Mark Guy Pearse.

Studies in Church History

By A. B. L.

Religions from the East.

Strangely enough, the Græco-Roman world turned to the East in order to find spiritual support. The conquest of the empire by Oriental religions is one of the most striking facts of religious history. The Great Mother was introduced from Pessinus, the Syrian goddess and Baals came from Syria, Mithra from Persia. It is difficult to explain the enthralling charm of these Eastern faiths which in the beginning were gross and naturalistic, but which were purified to such an extent that they became the vehicles of a warm religious emotion.

Mithraism was decidedly the most popular of all the Eastern religions. Mithra was regarded as the great Giver of Light, the mediator between man and God. Since the sun is the chief source of light, this religion was a species of sun worship. In their mythology the ancients conjured up some fantastic ideas. There is a picture of Mithra seated at a table with the sun, with five loaves of bread between them. The most heroic feat ascribed to Mithra was the slaying of the Bull. Mithra has cast the beast upon its knees and strides upon its back, dragging its head upward, while with the right hand he plunges his knife into the right shoulder. This was, of course, a symbolical act. The Bull is the power of evil and was slain twice—once at the creation and again at the end of the world.

Ø Ø Ø

Wherein Mithraism Excelled.

Mithraism was a religion of enthusiasm. Its adherents were earnest missionaries, and its best missionaries were slaves. They believed in their mission. No Eastern slave or trader ever forgot the god of his fathers. The only religion of the West that spread eastward was Cæsarism backed by the might of Rome, but as a religion it never became a competitor with the Eastern religions; whereas the cults from the East spread to the ends of the empire and were as much at home at York, on the Rhine, on the borders of Sahara, as in their native habitat. In these religions no national or racial distinction was maintained. It might have been said: "There can be neither Jew nor Greek, there can be neither bond nor free, in Mithraism." Like the early disciples, these pagan missionaries went everywhere preaching their doctrine of universalism. Their religion was a great brotherhood in which rich and poor, slave and master, were united. Like Christianity, they began with the lower classes and worked upward. Rank and birth did not count. A slave found in Mithraism his lost liberty. It was no unusual thing to find a local brotherhood in which the slave was president and the master was just a disciple. Furthermore, they were not state-supported. Man values his spiritual wares in proportion to what they cost him. So these cults were all the more valuable in that they were supported on the voluntary system. What is more important still, they had a message for the individual. Undoubtedly Mithraism in its refined form was the most elevating of all the heathen religions that existed in the empire. But after all has been said in its favor, it is only a myth, a figment of a fanatical imagination.

If you will put the elements of zeal and brotherhood and sacrifice in any organization, it will engage the attention of a great many people. That is the reason why fraternal orders have such a great hold upon the masses, "I have joined this lodge," says one, "because I think it cultivates more than anything else the fraternal feeling." If you feel that way about it, you should come into the church of the living God and receive a joyful distillusionment. You will find there the highest standard of fraternity that has ever lived in the heart of man. "Hereby know we love, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." If you have anything finer than that in your lodge, I should like to see it.

0 0 0

Caesar, Mithra, or Christ-Which?

Now that we have set before us the three religions with which Christianity had to compete, we may close this part of our study by mentioning the result of the competition. The thoughtful man of that distant age revolved again and again in his mind the three alternatives-Cæsar, Mithra, Christ. When Jesus came, some of the best said, "We do not need you;" while some of the worst received him gladly and were made better than the best. "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." The most pathetic and at the same time the most encouraging sign of that time was the heart hunger of the age; that groping, feeling, longing for a mighty Redeemer who could fully satisfy all the needs of the soul. It was not the proud, the arrogant, nor the selfsatisfied man who took Jesus in preference to Cæsar and Mithra; it was the hungry who found the peace that passeth all understanding. Do you hunger for Jesus? Then you, too, must put away your pride, cast down every idol, overcome every objection, and throw yourself unreservedly at his feet, saying, like one of the proudest emperors of the East: "O Galilean, thou hast conquered!"

(To be continued.)

Book Notices.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

Send us $1.25 for a copy of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees.

For $1.25 you can buy a copy of "Life and Sermons of Jesse L. Sewell," by David Lipscomb. It is a good book.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study," Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Send us $1.50 for the book, "Salvation From Sin," by David Lipscomb. This book is made up of the editorial writings of this master mind and will be found very useful and helpful to all who will read it.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in large, clear type. The book is substantially bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

My Forty-Second Birthday.

To-day-December 23, 1919-is my forty-second birthday, and I know no better way to use some of the time than to give those who have helped us and prayed for us a brief report of the condition of the Atlanta churches. It would be well to say, however, before doing this, that, so far as I know, my health is perfect. I know of no change that I would make in my present condition, except to reduce my weight about twenty-five pounds. I have never felt, in all my life, that I was grown; still feel that I am a boy. I have never been satisfied with present attainments, and hope that I shall never be, so long as I am able to be at work. We are all very busy this week trying to see after the poor who need the sunshine and joy that only the religion of Christ can give through the acts of faithful members of the church of Christ. Our sisters are busy buying gifts, preparing baskets, and sending out cards to those who should be remembered. Every child who has a father and mother able to remember him has been asked to strive to find some child who will not be remembered so well, and early Christmas morning to make a selection from his or her gifts and hurry it to some one who has no father to help make the days joyful.

The leaders of all the congregations are checking up, thinking of the little that has been accomplished, the much that should have been done, and striving to get things ready for a greater work for 1920. The year that is now closing has been a glorious year, in many respects; in fact, it has been the best year in the history of the work.

0 0 0

The West End Avenue Congregation.

This, as many of our readers know, is what we call "the mother church," the outgrowth of the faithfulness and loyalty of Brother O. D. Bearden and wife. Too, it must be remembered that F. W. Smith had much to do in getting this work started; in fact, it was his first meeting here under a tent that resulted in a regularly organized congregation being established and a house of worship built, and he is also the one who had most to do in getting me to move to this city to help the "faithful few" get on their feet. I shall ever be thankful that the Father, who knows best, was in it all.

I know that this congregation is in the best condition in its history. Not that we are satisfied-no, never! We are closing the old year and beginning the new year with the study of the question, "The Church Christ Would Have Us Be," and we are studying it as though we had not accomplished anything; and, indeed, we have not, when considered in the light of what should be done and of what Christ himself has already done. I have never yet seen a congregation that works as I verily believe all congregations should work. I have never seen a congregation give as I believe all congregations should give. I have never seen a congregation live as close to God as I believe all congregations should live. I have never seen a congregation sing and pray as I believe all congregations should sing and pray. I have never seen a congregation as joyful and as happy as I believe all congregations should be.

The West End Avenue congregation does well, but she can and must do better. When our treasurer makes his annual report, I am sure the money this congregation has donated to the various works will go close to, if not above, the six-thousand-dollar mark. But this is not enough for this congregation to give. Yet I am sure there is not one out of every hundred other congregations in existence that has given as much as this congregation, all things considered. More along this line later.

The West End Avenue members have been favored with the able assistance of Brother John Klingman and Brother Silas E. Templeton much of the time that I have been out of the city this year. They are fine men, and we are so glad that they are in this field to help us.

* * *

South Pryor-Vassar Streets Congregation.

The South Pryor-Vassar Streets congregation was the second congregation to be established in this city. For quite a while, instead of being a success, it proved to be a burden to us. The difficulty in getting efficient leaders developed was one of our troubles. The moving of Dr. C. H. Paine and wife, with Brother and Sister J. A. Harding, to this city, and their casting their lot with them, has meant more than we can ever tell to the faithful at South Pryor-Vassar Streets. Then the Lakewood Heights members' throwing their strength and numbers with them put them where they were able to secure the services of a man for all of his time. This every congregation should do. The churches in the days of the apostles had elders that labored in "the word and in teaching," and they gave all of their time to the work and were supported for it. When you have not such elders, then use a Titus or a Timothy and work the field around you; give every soul in the community a chance to know the truth by laboring as did Paul the three years he was located at Ephesus, preaching "publicly, and from house to house," and ceasing not to "admonish every one day and night with tears." (See 1 Tim. 5: 17, 19; Acts 20: 18-21, 31.)

This congregation, therefore, never did a better thing than when they secured the services of Brother R. H. Rogers, who moved to this city and began to work with them the first of July, 1919. During the six months he has been there the attendance has more than doubled, the contributions have more than doubled, he has baptized ten more souls into the fellowship, some two or three have been reclaimed, and some of God's own in Babylon have been called out into the fullness of God's truth. Brother Rogers is a man of sunshine, hope, and faith, and keeps busy preaching the word publicly and from house to house. This always brings results; for it is God's way, hence the best way to do things.

I am glad to report that the brethren, recently, in a business meeting, arranged for his services to continue and added twenty-five dollars more a month to his support. Brother Rogers tells me that they did this, too, without his having to ask them or even hint that he needed more. This looks like business. No set of men are fit to be elders unless they have business sense enough to know when a man is being supported, and certainly they do not have religion enough to be elders unless they see that he is supported; and it is just as true that no man deserves a support who does no more than preach two sermons on Sunday and attend prayer meeting on Wednesday night. "Publicly, and from house to house," was Paul's way of doing things; and, "By the space of three years I ceased not to admonish every one night and day with tears," is another one of his expressions.

0 0 0

East Point.

It was about ten o'clock Sunday night, December 21, when Brother Childers telephoned me from East Point and said: "Brother Hall, we had two more additions to-night." One of the things I very much like about the congregations here is that they continually stay in touch with each other, report each other's progress from their own pulpits, and rejoice in each other's success. And, along with this, we have union meetings along as we need them, and espe-

(Continued on page 13.)

From R. L. Roberts, Henderson, Tenn.: "I think lots of the Gospel Advocate. It is a fine preacher."

From J. M. Gainer, Scottsboro, Ala.: "I will be with the church at Fayetteville, Tenn., after January 1."

There is no time like the present, for the present is all that we are sure of. "Every day is a new beginning, every morn is the world made new."

From S. Houston Proffitt: "I think the Gospel Advocate grows better all the time. I look forward each week to its coming. I hope you will keep up the special-number feature."

Foy E. Wallace, Jr., writes from Temple, Texas: "I will assist the church here, my home, during January, February, and March, after which I will resume my evangelistic labors in the field."

Paul said: "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Let every congregation begin the new year by making a liberal contribution to the Tennessee Orphans' Home next Lord's day. Send contributions to the Tennessee Orphans' Home, Columbia, Tenn.

D. F. Draper, of Fort Worth, Texas, will be in Tennessee during the holidays, preaching and visiting in the "land of his fathers." He should be addressed at Defeated, Tenn. He is open for appointments.

In forgetting the past, we are not to dishonor it. The things which are behind may be made to have a vital bearing on the things which are before. To-day is what yesterday has made it; to-morrow is determined by to-day.

On last Monday this office was favored with a visit from G. H. P. Showalter, editor of the Firm Foundation, of Austin, Texas, and F. L. Rowe, editor of the Christian Leader, of Cincinnati, Ohio. We had a pleasant conference Married, on December 24, at the Gospel Advocate office, Mr. Jesse B. Coleman to Miss Frances Paul, both of Lavergne, Tenn.; on December 27, at the Hermitage Hotel, Mr. Ell Vinson Taylor to Miss Hortense Harris, both of Franklin, Ky. A. B. Lipscomb officiated at both weddings.

From J. C. Mosley, Pikeville, Tenn.: "We are getting along fine in our Bible school. I baptized two persons on Christmas Day. They came some thirty miles to be baptized. Andrew Perry is a fine teacher. We are having good attention, and some others are talking of obeying the Lord."

Book Wanted—I will appreciate your putting a call in the Gospel Advocate for the book, now out of print, entitled "Scenes from Mountain Tops," by Daniel March. I think that is the title. I have seen it in some of the homes in Tennessee. I will pay any one the price for it.—E. W. Sewell, Dinuba, California.

Wanted—To rent a small farm for cash or share crop, in Alabama or Tennessee, or Central Kentucky, where in need of a preacher's work. I will be glad to preach in week-end meetings and hold protracted meetings when not engaged in working crop. Address Jarratt L. Smith, 167 Fourth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

From R. H. Johnson, Campbell, Mo., December 26: "I have moved from Booneville, Ark., to Campbell, Mo. I will preach for the congregation at this place two Lord's days in each month and will preach at other points, perhaps in Arkansas. The brethren at this place are alive. We have some splendid leaders in the church."

We have received the following announcement: "Mr. and Mrs. James Nathaniel Cox invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter, Clara Annette, to Mr. Samuel Henry Coile, on Wednesday, the thirty-first of December, at nine o'clock in the evening, at home, Cookeville, Tenn." The Gospel Advocate extends heartiest congratulations.

From John A. J. Bradford, Sweetwater, Texas: "This makes forty-one years since I began reading the Gospel Advocate. I was baptized in June, 1878, by Randolph Clark, then of Add-Ran College. I have just passed my sixty-seventh year. I hope to be able to still read the paper for many years. I wish the paper a prosperous year, 1920, and many more."

From Ira L. Winterrowd, Norman, Okla.: "I enjoy your articles in the Gospel Advocate very much. I think you are putting in some of the best articles that I have ever seen in any paper. The recent issues have all been good, and on subjects that no doubt are sorely needed. This is much better than airing the pet theories and complaints of brethren. What we need is more religion taught and practiced."

From Willis G. Jernigan, Dolores, Cal., December 15: "The work is progressing nicely at this place. I preached to a small but very attentive audience last Lord's day. I would be glad to spend the month of June, 1920, in Tennessee or Alabama. Any congregation desiring my services in either of these States should write me by February I, as I expect to have all my time promised by then. I also could spend the latter half of August with some congregation in central or eastern Texas. Address me at Box 11, Dolores, Colorado."

From William P. Walker, Clarksville, Tenn., December 26: "I have just finished a successful year's labor in Montgomery County, I have promised to remain in this county, if the Lord wills, another year. If any brother or sister should read this who lives in Montgomery County or an adjacent county, in a community with no church of Christ, but a prospect of establishing one, please write to me. I have also just finished writing a tract on the subject, 'God's Tithe.' I will send free, upon request, twenty-five or more copies to any congregation. Inclose postage."

From J. H. McBroom, Montgomery, Ala., December 27: "I began preaching for the Highland Avenue church of Christ, in Montgomery, Ala., on the fourth Sunday in November. This is a splendid congregation. We are planning to do a great work in 1920. Brethren Talley and Smithson have done good work here and are held in high esteem by the church. I hope to build substantially upon the foundation laid by these brethren, for I believe the foundation was 'Christ, and him crucified.' The Gospel Advocate is fine, and especially the special numbers. May 1920 be a 'special year' for the Advocate in its efforts to promote primitive Christianity."

From W. S. Long, Washington, D. C., December 25; "A happy and prosperous New Year to the Gospel Advocate and its hard-working force. May 1920 be the best year for you. May it be a fruitful year for the church of Christ in all the world. Let us have the hearty coöperation of the brotherhood so as to finish paying for a good house of worship in the national capital, and then we can turn our strength to St. Louis, New York, and other cities that are so destitute of the pure gospel. Address J. W. Gibson, Twenty-eighth Place, S. E.; T. F. Colvin, Box 51. U Street Station, N. W.; E. L. Mills, 2421 Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W.; or W. S. Long, 110 Second Street, S. E., Washington, D. C."

From W. A. Record, Route 4, Paducah, Ky.: "The Lord willing, I shall engage Jesse Neal (Baptist) in a four-days' debate on the following propositions: "The Bible teaches that a regenerated child of God cannot so apostatize as to be finally lost in hell." "The Bible teaches that since the death of Christ baptism is one of the conditions of salvation from past (alien) sins." I will deny the first and affirm the latter. This debate is to be held at the Blue Springs church of Christ, near Fort Henry, Tenn., and is to begin on January 20. The good people of that congregation will gladly welcome and take care of all who attend from a distance. For information about how to reach the place, write to M. N. Mathes, Route 1, Fort Henry, Tenn."

From Guy Renfro: "The first semester of David Lipscomb College has closed with the largest attendance in its history, possibly too large for the greatest good in particufew that were here that failed to imbibe spirit of the school and refused to be influenced by spiritual teaching have been advised not to return. We are very anxious for all the boys and girls that we can accommodate, whose hearts can be touched by spiritual lessons and principles of righteousness. It would be hard to estimate the good that has been accomplished during the last term. Hardly a week has passed during which there have not been a number of confessions, some confessing their faith in Christ and submitting to baptism, others confessing their faults and manifesting a desire to live more consecrated I think it rather significant that most of these confessions have been made at the prayer-meeting services, which services are conducted principally by the young men. The last prayer meeting before we separated for the holidays was especially joyous. A goodly number of the young men made short talks. At the close several came forward, two for baptism."

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and fereign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you.

This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the dorrecting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.
Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

We Should Profit by Our Mistakes.

BY J. C. M'Q.

It seems but yesterday since the dawn of 1919, and now we are writing 1920; and as this is the first issue of the new year, it is well for us to take a retrospective view of the past, provided we profit by the failures and mistakes that we have made in the years that are gone. So long as we are in the flesh we cannot hope to be absolutely perfect, but we should endeavor to reduce our imperfections to the minimum. In our work of faith and labor of love we should ever remember that it is not our mission to make improvements on the works of God, which are perfect for their uses. God created Adam a perfect man, and so are all the works of his creation. In the gift of his own Son he gave to the world a perfect sacrifice for sin. In holding up to Christians a pattern for them to follow, he gave them a perfect model. Through Christ he established a perfect church, which is for the salvation of men through the ages. He also gave the world a perfect revelation, "that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work." (2 Tim. 3: 17.)

God will not suffer any man to alter or modify his will. The man who dares to do such a thing incurs the anathema. of Jehovah. No man has ever changed or modified God's revelation without paying the penalty. We should be warned by the fate of those who have attempted changes and resolve that, with all our shortcomings and mistakes, we will never be guilty of adding to or taking from the word of God.

A strict adherence to the word of God, however, does not mean a deifying of our own methods of work. God has left some things to the common sense of man. For instance, Christ commanded the apostles to go and teach all nations. He neither told them how to go, whether to walk or ride, nor did he limit them in the manner of teaching. He left the method of going and the method of teaching for man to decide, expecting him to have sufficient judgment to select the most efficient way. Men have contended for a certain order of worship or manner of contribution where God has not spoken, and this, too, to the disruption of churches. Then they have sought to bind their ways on the churches. They have contended and argued over methods of work-purely human methods-even to the destruction of the unity of the body of Christ. Christians should leave off such conduct, as it is displeasing to God and destroys the peace of the church.

When we look back over the past, we realize that mistakes have been made in our missionary endeavors. While zeal is commendable, that zeal has not always been tempered with knowledge. The church is a missionary institution ordained of God for preaching the gospel to the world. It is "the light of the world," "the salt of the earth," "the pillar and ground of the truth," Christians should be as businesslike and systematic in their missionary efforts in the church as they are in the conduct of their own business. If any difference is made, they should be more systematic in doing the Lord's work. Haphazard methods will not work in business, neither will they work in the Lord's business. Those who contribute to benevolent works are slow to contribute until they are assured the contribution will be used wisely. Men who contribute for the advancement of the kingdom of God in the world have a right to know how their funds are used. When the churches intrust the handling of their funds to certain individuals, it is a protection to those individuals to give the churches a statement that shows just how much has been received, just how much has been expended, and for what purpose the expenditures have been made. Any man who properly appreciates honor and integrity will positively refuse to handle funds of the church or anybody else without showing just what disposition has been made of the funds.

There is no divine warrant for any individual who may elect to do so to undertake to handle the funds of the churches. The man who so elects may be a good man or he may be a bad man. Paul was very careful to give proper indorsement to those who handled the funds of the church. We have no example in the New Testament of any person unknown to the churches volunteering to collect funds from different churches for the benefit of the poor saints or for any other purpose. Inspiration saw proper to sateguard individuals who handled the funds of the church by giving them such indorsement as would remove all doubts as to their authority and reliability.

We have a striking example of this in 2 Cor. 8: 16-24, Here we learn that Titus was recommended by Paul for the work of making up the bounty of the Corinthians, and we learn also that Titus was earnest in doing such work. We learn also as a final commendation, and as one calculated to stop the mouths of all objectors, that Paul describes Titus as a partner with himself in raising the funds at Corinth, and he describes the other two who went with Titus not only as messengers of the churches in this behalf, but also as men whose daily lives glorified Christ, whom they served. Because of the special fitness of all the messengers who were sent to the church at Corinth, Paul recommends them as worthy men and asks the Corinthian church to raise the collection. Instead, therefore, of giving authority to any one and every one who sees proper to choose to represent the churches, this scripture teaches clearly that only those who are properly recommended by the church should undertake such work. It is the duty of the elders of the churches to exercise caution and diligence, to select only men who are full of the Spirit of Christ and who have the ability to raise such funds. We should all labor to see that the autonomy of the church is preserved intact. When this is done, we should give due diligence to have the funds of the churches used in the most efficient way. Slipshod methods should be abandoned. If a church or churches undertake to support an evangelist, those churches should publish this fact to other churches, so that other churches may undertake the work of supporting others.

The word of God is as well adapted to the needs of the people to-day as it was when first given. The word of God, however, has educated the people and brought them to a higher standard of living than formerly. The apostles had given to them what to speak, so they did not need to study in order to preach the gospel. They did not stand so much in need of an education as does a minister now to properly preach the gospel. But when it came to writing the books of the New Testament, we find that the apostle who was highly educated wrote fourteen of the Epistles, containing one hundred chapters. However, education will not take the place of respect, love, and loyalty to the truth. Still, an educated minister who has these qualifications will be more effective in winning souls to Christ than one who is not educated. One hundred years ago there was not so much demand for an educated ministry as now. The Bible has not changed, but the people have changed. In order, therefore, to reach them for Christ, we must fit ourselves so as to present the truth to them in an intelligent manner. The efficient minister of to-day must properly equip himself; must, like Paul, become all things to all men; must make all sorts of sacrifices-yea, must be ready to sacrifice his own preferences, but never sacrifice the truth. It is a mistake for the churches to imagine that unprepared and untrained preachers can efficiently do the work of winning souls to Christ. It is a mistake for the churches to ignore a properly educated minister and send forth ministers who cannot correctly speak the English language and oftentimes who do not understand very well even the plan of salvation.

With this, the beginning of the new year, those of us who linger behind should resolve again to be true to God and to be true to ourselves in the midst, of all the temptations that may come upon us. Men who have stood like pillars for the truth in the past are gone. When we remember that such men as David Lipscomb, J. M. Kidwill, Dr. T. W. Brents, William Anderson, J. L. Bryant, William Lipscomb, G. Lipscomb, J. W. Harding, F. D. Srygley, G. G. Taylor, H. F. Williams, J. D. Floyd, W. H. Dixon, and many others, have passed to their reward, we realize the necessity of others doing the work which they did so well and loyally, and of others standing bravely and unflinchingly for the truth. We must not be timeservers, but must be true to self and right.

"This above all: to thine own self be true, And it must follow, as the night the day. Thou canst not then be false to any man."

Instead of adopting some of the changes that have come upon us during the last half of a century, let us work diligently, practice rigid economy, and live strictly for the Lord. When I came to the Gospel Advocate in January, 1885, people thought nothing of working fourteen and fifteen hours a day. Now people are seeking to work even less than six hours a day. We may expect the Germans; who are working from ten to fourteen hours a day and who are asking for no holidays, but who want to work on holidays, to soon outstrip us, unless we devote ourselves to the work that must be done to meet the needs of the world.

When God created man, he put him to work. He "put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it." When man had sinned, God did not tell him to quit work, but required him to continue to work. One of the best things that any man can do to-day is to quietly work, live economically, and trust the Lord. Of such faithful servants we may say with David: "I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." (Ps. 37: 25.)

"Conscientious Objectors."

Brother McQuiddy: Brother Elam's recent article on "Forgotten 'Conscientious Objectors,'" with quotations from the Literary Digest, impressed me very much, and, I believe, will impress, not only all Christians, but all fairminded people to whose attention the matter is brought. Surely something can be done for these unduly persecuted people, if only the existing conditions are made known to the public generally. Surely our great President, in his overtaxed mental and weakened physical condition, has overlooked this matter.

It is not only morally wrong, but out of all keeping with the very basic principles of our government, that a man who has done no crime should be punished as the vilest of criminals, and, having done nothing to enforce his conscientious convictions upon others, should suffer persecution nigh unto death simply for having conscientious convictions forbidding his taking part in a certain movement. The fact that he is in the minority should not after the status of his case.

Though some of these men, if not all, may be extreme in their views (and I am not sure that they are), who can doubt their sincerity? Now, that the war is a matter of history, what could these men hope to gain, other than a clear conscience, by still clinging to their position? Whatever may be thought of their views, who will not honor their courage of conviction? Imprisonment should be for the protection of society, not for the punishment of the prisoner. What has society to fear at the hands of these men who suffer imprisonment and maltreatment rather than use force against their fellow man?

I respectfully offer the following suggestions

 An earnest prayer by each Christian in behalf of these persecuted people.

2. The sending by each congregation of a message to the President and to Congress requesting the release of all, guilty of no crime, regardless of faith, creed, or color, who, for conscience' sake, refused to fight in the late war.

3. Collection and expenditure of a small but sufficient fund, by the church of Christ at large, to insure to the sufferers warm cicthing and bedding, good food, writing materials, and good reading matter.

Please consider giving this matter publicity through the columns of the Gospel Advocate. H. L. Meeks.

We are glad to publish the above from Brother Meeks. The consciences of men should be respected. Before sending the message to the President, it would be well for some one to find out just how many conscientious objectors are in prison and where they are in prison. The men who stand firm for their convictions of right certainly are to be commended for the course they have taken, and it is very probable that if the attention of the government is called to the fact that these men are being held in prison, something will be done for their relief. However, the churches should be sure they are right and that their information is correct before taking up the matter with the government.

Doubtless Secretary Baker could give the desired information concerning conscientious objectors. We would be glad to see some one undertake to get accurate and correct information from the proper source, that cannot be questioned.

When the desired information is given, it would be well for Christians to remember those in prison. It would be a good time to visit them, and especially a good time to make them as comfortable as possible in their imprisonment,

J. C. McQ.

Christ Is Coming, the World Is Coming to An End-But When?

BY E. A. E.

On page 4 of this issue of this paper can be seen an article taken from the editorial page of the Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky., of December 22, under the caption, "World Has Frequently Fooled the Credulous." Read it and see how "the credulous," but the many who lack faith in God, have been fooled. The author of this article says: "Mother Shipton and William Miller proved false prophets." To these two we should add Charles Russell and several minor prophets.

This article is copied into this paper for, at least, three reasons: (1) That our readers may know (if they do not already know) these facts and may see the credulity of people who do not know and believe the word of God; (2) how easily, therefore, such people are misled; (3) how all predictions of men concerning the time when Christ will come and the world will end have proved false.

The "sanctified" or "holiness" people sometime ago, it seems, fooled themselves and fooled some others. They read the words "sanctify," "sanctification," "holy," "holiness," etc., and God's command to be holy, to sanctify oneself, etc., and then gave to these words meanings which they do not have, and as foreign to the truth as Mother Shipton's and William Miller's prophecies, and the uninstructed in the word of God said they proved their theory of sanctification from the Bible. Just so, it appears that others, like William Miller, read from the Bible that Christ is coming, that the world will end, and that these and other things have been foretold by the prophets of God (all of which is true), but fool themselves and not a few of "the credulous" by thinking they can figure out, and that the Bible tells, not the day nor the hour, but the imminent time or even the century when Christ will come and the world will end. One of the most serious things was, our "sanctified" friends seemed to think that because we could not accept their theory of sanctification, we denied the Bible doctrine of sanctification. Just so, it is very serious and very wrong to charge that we do not teach prophecy and the coming of Christ because we do not accept Mother Shipton's, William Miller's, Charles Russell's, or any other man's "interpretation" of unfulfilled prophecy" and dates and theories as to when Christ will come and the world will end.

We are commanded to preach the gospel, the word, Christ crucified, and are likewise commanded to avoid untaught and unrevealed questions. It is as much disobedience to God to not avoid the unrevealed and untaught questions as it is to refuse to preach the word, or what he has revealed.

I have no more faith in modern predictions of unfulfilled prophecy, where God has not pointed out its fulfillment in his own clear way, than I have in Mother Shipton's, William Miller's, and Charles Russell's.

According to the will of God, some should apologize for making such a charge.

Are Mother Shipton's, William Miller's, and Charles Russell's prophecies and predictions, etc., more ridiculous than the speculations of those who know no more about these things than they did?

Yes, give all the emphasis to the coming of Christ that the inspired writers do, and then stop, by saying with Paul: "But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that aught be written unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night." (1 Thess. 5: 1, 2.) If Paul could not write about "the times and seasons," no man should now. And Paul was inspired.

We are never more like God than when we are doing good.—John Calvin.

Christmas Offerings for Relief Fund.

Church at Stewart's Creek, Tenn., $11.15; "A Sister," Maury City, Tenn., $1; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Reid, Blount Springs, Ala., $3; L. J. Shofner, Nashville, Ark., $3.50; Julia A. Rankin, Belle Mina, Ala., $10; "Two Sisters," Lawrenceburg, Tenn., $2; Mrs. M. C. Gillespie, Thyatira, Miss., $5; Dalton L. Priestley, Greenfield, Tenn., $2: Lee Jackson, Tillatoba, Miss., $5; Mrs. L. G. McMillin, Martin, Tenn., $1; Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Priestley, $6; W. H. Neal, Lebanon, Tenn., $25; church at Celina, Tenn., $50; Chapel Avenue congregation, Nashville, Tenn., $25; Alvie L. Grubbs, Hazel, Ky., $5; Mrs. Belle Birdwell, Castalian Springs, Tenn., 50 cents; Miss Ella Birdwell, Castalian Springs, Tenn., $1; Wilkie Huffman, Castalian Springs, Tenn., $1; John Huffman, Castalian Springs, Tenn., 50 cents; William Huffman Corum, Castalian Springs, Tenn., $5; Mrs. Minna Corum, Castalian Springs, Tenn., $2; J. L. Rutherford, Mount Vernon, Texas, $50: Mrs. J. L. Daniel, Chattanooga, Tenn., $10; primary class at Christiana, Tenn., $2.17; Mrs. H. Z. L., Nashville, Tenn., $25; Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McCuiston, Sweatman, Miss., $3; Grant Street congregation, Cordell, Okla., $5.17; church at Dunlap, Tenn., $26.32; Mrs. Mason N. Ball, Lynnville, Tenn., $5; church at Miller, Ky., $4.50; "A Friend," Mount Juliet, Tenn., $20; Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Hodson, Moulton, Ala., $10; "A Friend" (left at office), $2; church at Riceville, Tenn., $10; church at Friendship, Tenn., $9.15; T. J. Crosser, College Grove, Tenn., $5; church at Salem, Franklin County, Tenn., $16; Mrs. A. Paden's class, Center, Ark., $5; Mrs. Minnie Johnson, Thyatira, Miss., $2; Mrs. Thomas W. Davis, Franklin, Tenn., $10; church at Poynor, Mo., $6; Mrs. B. M. Williams, Petersburg, Tenn., $5; Mrs. Bertha Roberts, Statesville, N. C., $2; Mrs. R. M. Sanford, Nolensville, Tenn., $6; Mrs. P. A. Bates, Atlanta, Texas, $6; Verna H. Stultz, Portland, Maine, $1; Mrs. A. E. Perry, Colfax, La., $5; H. F. Mustain, Horse Cave, Ky., $5; H. F. Mustain and R. T. Smith, trustees, Horse Cave, Ky., $10; Martha Wooldridge, Martha, Okla., $5; Mrs. C. A. Grayson, Owen Cross Roads, Ala., $5; church at Union Ridge, Ky., $3; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barbee, Yost, Ky., $3; D. A. Sumner, Yost, Ky., $1; Mrs. W. R. McKissick, Culleoka, Tenn., $5; Elvira and Alice Nell Brothers, Fosterville, Tenn., $1: Mrs. B. P. Sloan, Humboldt, Tenn., $1; Joe and Mrs. Jennie Ratcliffe, Bardwell, Ky., $7; Mrs. Lou Moore and Mrs. Maude Brister, Coldwater, Miss., $2; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Arnold, Christianburg, Ky., $10; "A Friend," Allensville, Ky., $5; "Two Friends," Goodspring. Tenn., $2; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cross, Marysville, Texas, $8; Mrs. G. T. Basler, Louisville, Ky., $5; junior classes and Mrs. J. H. Caldwell, Charleston, Miss., $15.60; Jimmie Taylor, Huntsville, Ala., $2; Bartie Walton, Bowling Green, Ky., $1; Mrs. M. E. Johns and grandson, Murfreesboro, Tenn., $3; Mrs. Ann Hudspeth, Valley View, Texas, $50; G. T. Hale, Ravia, Okla., $5; church at Albany, Texas, $12; Annie May Stephenson, Huntsville, Ala., $5; "Two Disciples," Knob Lick, Ky., $10; C. H. Byrd, Barney, Ga., $1; J. A. J. Bradford, Sweetwater, Texas, $6; Mrs. J. M. and Charles Ransom, Kensington, Ga., $6; church at Gardner, Tenn., $60; Mrs. J. D. Shipp and children, Rucker, Tenn., $4.06; Maurel Richard, Wartrace, Tenn., $2; Minnie Denton, Buffalo Valley, Tenn., $5; church at Sharon Grove, Ky., $12; Mrs. J. B. Young and children, Martin, Tenn., $5; H. M. Van Arsdall and family, Louisville, Ky., $25; W. E. Howery, Salem, Va., $5; Miss Addie Travers, England, Ark., $10; Bernice B. Howard, Howe, Texas, $3; church at Wardell, Mo., $20; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shultz, Jr., Beaver Dam, Ky., $1; May Berryman, Beaver Dam, Ky., $3; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Kanima, Okla., $10; church at Bear Creek, Ala., $16.50; "A Sister," Route 1, Nashville, Tenn., $5; Miss Alice Crabtree, Horse Cave, Ky., $4; Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lane, Petersburg, Tenn., $8.50; Mrs. Grady Hasting, Petersburg, Tenn., $1.50; church at Latham, Tenn., $50.

(Further acknowledgments next week.)

CATARRH DOES HARM

Whether It Is of the Nose, Throat, or Other Organs, Get Rid of It.

Catarrh of the nose or throat when it becomes chronic weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and may lead to con-sumption. It impairs the taste, smell and hearing, and affects the voice. It is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by purifying the blood removes the cause of the disease and gives permanent relief. This alterative and tonic medicine has proved entirely satisfactory to thousands of families in three generations.

If there is biliousness or constipation, take Hood's Pills,-they are a thorough cathartic, a gentle laxative.

Tetterine

Is Applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Gs.

HOTEL LONGACRE

BROADWAY AND 47TH ST.

Convenient to everything. The refined air and good service of the Longacre are well established.

RATES PER DAY

Room with Lavatory. $1.00
Room with Private Bath. $2.00
Room with Private Bath for two . $3.00
Two-room Suites. $2.00 to $4.00

SPECIAL WEEKLY RATES

The Best Value in New York City. Phone 7790 Bryant.

Soothes ECZEM Heals

As well as all other skin injuries.

Keep It handy for emergencies. 50c and $1.00 at your druggist's, Ka-Dene Soap, applied first, cleanses and disinfects. Dealers write for special proposition.

THE KA-DENE MED. CO., Nashville, Tenn.

'Just Put Ka-Dene on lt.'

Georgia and the Far Southern Field.

(Continued from page 8.)

cially at the beginning of the New Year, and in these meetings we study and pray together to the end that we may do more.

There is something especially good that we can say about the East Point congregation-namely, Brother Hugh E. Garrett is now taking the lead there as teacher and preacher. Brother Garrett and wife are the cause of this congregation's now being in existence. Nine years ago they were the only members in this splendid suburb of Atlanta. They continued to call until the tent was stretched and a meeting was begun which continued six weeks and resulted in one hundred and thirty-five additions and the buying of the lot and building a house of worship. He and his wife love the church there and have made many sacrifices for it. Brother R. R. Brooks worked with this congregation from the fall of 1918 till last August, when he resigned for other work. Brother Garrett was unanimously asked to take the work, with the exception of three, I think it was, these three not objecting, but rather raising the question as to whether home talent could do what should be done. He began working with them the first of September following Brother Brooks' resignation, and no work has done better. He has baptized thirteen, reclaimed three, and some two or three have left Babylon for the simplicity of New Testament Christianity. Brother Garrett is one of the foremen at the Southern Shops. He is holding his job there, and for this reason allows the East Point brethren to pay him only fifty dollars a month. This congregation is not doing as some I have heard of, however. They feel that they are able to support a man for all of his time, and they are giving just as they did when Brother Brooks was with them, and will use their additional funds for the support of others who will be called to help them and for general evangelistic work in the State. I have known of some churches able to raise one hundred and fifty or two hundred dollars a month that would invite preachers who labor with their hands for a living to preach for them on Sundays, and they would pay them on an average of five and ten dollars a Sunday and do no more than this. What about the other money they could and do not give? I ask again: What about it? It may be the cause of their not getting to heaven. Think on this.

Joy is not in things, it is in us .-Charles Wagner.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

Foley's Honey and Tar COMPOUND

IS A TIME-TRIED REMEDY that can be relied upon to get rid of coughs and colds that lead to serious illness if neglected.

Every User a Friend

"The only remedy we ever use for coughs and colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It has been our stand-by for years, and it never fails us."—
T. H. Foley, Marquette, Mich.

"I surely know the worth of Foley's Honey and Tar, as I have taken it with good results. Also have sold hundreds of bottles."—A. L. Stansbury, Parkersburg, W. Va.

Children like Foley's Honey and Tar. It contains no opiates, and will not injure a delicate stomach.

00 EGGS A DA

"Since using 'TWO for ONE' I get 250 to 300 eggs a day instead of 25 or 30" writes J. C. Hoff of Indiana.

This wonderful new egg producer has made thousands of dollars profit for poultry raisers all over the United States. Now is the time to increase your egg supply, when eggs are selling at $1.00 a dozen. Give your hens "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic that makes layers and real money-makers out of every single solitary hen you own. Send $1.00 to Kinsella Co., 2911 Le Moyne Building, Chicago, for small box of our Special Offer, or $2.00 for large box containing three times the quantity of the $1.00 size—a full season's supply. We guar-antee to return your money if not antee to return your money if not satisfied. Enter our FREE $5,000.00 egg-laying contest. Full particulars in each box of "TWO for ONE."

Free Reliner With Each Tire in ordering be sure to state size wanted, also whether a. s. clincher, plain or non-skid. Send $2.00 deposit on each tire, balance C. O. D. subject to examination: 5 per cent discount if you send full amount with order. Bush your order today. Reliable Tire and Rubber Co.

3440 Michigan Ave. Chicago, III.

PILE RELIEF.

No matter what kind of piles you may have, no matter how serious the case, if three jars of Hancock's Pile Remedy does not cure you, we will refund your money. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggist's or by mail from

HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY,
Oxford, N. C.
Druggists, write for liberal proposition.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

In Memory of Major J. D. Allen. BY S. M. YOUNG.

In the passing away of Maj. J. D. Allen, of Dixon Springs, Tenn., the people among whom, for half a century, he made his home have suffered a grievous loss, and I do but voice the universal sentiment when I say that within the knowledge of the present generation no man has lived and died in this community who held in a more marked degree the lasting esteem of its people. This high estate in the hearts of his fellow men was not sought primarily; it was not attained by any of the arts by which men aspire to be popular. It was born of the inherent excellence of his character, nurtured by a sincere public recognition of his righteous living. He disdained to reap where he had not sown; his neighbor's rejoicing and his neighbor's sorrow were his.

John Douglas Allen was born at Gallatin, Tenn., on March 29, 1835, and died, of pneumonia, on Monday, November 24, 1919, and on the following day was laid to rest in the Dixon Springs cemetery. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a large crowd attended the funeral service, and Elder E. A. Elam, of Lebanon, Tenn., delivered a most appropriate and impressive address. His last illness was of short duration. Being unusually active for one of his age, he was regularly at his place of business until three days prior to the final summons.

Major Allen, through his parents, combined the blood of two old and well-known Scottish families, that of his mother being especially distinguished. He was a son of Judge George Webster Allen and Eliza Douglas. Before the dawn of the nineteenth century the Allens and the Douglases came across the mountains from North Carolina to Middle Tennessee, and, with others of their heroic mold, began transformation of the wilderness into a land of thrift and civilization. Early in life Major Allen was a merchant in his native town, and was so engaged until the beginning of the Civil War. Without hesitancy he cast his fortune with the South and served with valor and unswerving loyalty the cause of the Confederacy until the final surrender. He enlisted in the Seventh Tennessee Infantry, commanded by Colonel Hatton, and was for two years with the Army of Northern Virginia. By successive promotions he was made brigade commissary, with the rank of major. In 1868 he married Miss Clara V. Burford, daughter of Maj. David Burford, of this place; and after spending a short time in business at Brownsville, Tenn., in 1869 he removed to Dixon Springs. His wife died in 1914. Four children survive them—namely, Col. John Howard Allen, of the United States Army, now stationed at Nashville; Judge Webb Allen and Miss Ella Louise Allen, of Dixon Springs; and Mrs. James G. Stalcup, of Winfield, Ala.

During the long period of his residence here Major Allen was thoroughly identified with the thought, the enterprise, and the progress of the community and section; he evaded no duty, he shirked no responsibility; and for more than thirty years the church of Christ at Dixon Springs found in his godly walk and his zeal for the Master's cause a strong and steadfast support. I have not asked myself what good thing might be said of him, but, rather, what good thing might not be said of him. He was a prominent and worthy citizen; le was a born gentleman and a consecrated Christian; he was invariably fair and honest in all his dealings; he was ever a friend to those in need and his influence was on the side of justice and right; his life was without stain and above reproach. And yet I have not adequately portrayed his character. These and more. The unsullied purity of his mind; the gentleness, the magnanimity, the utter unselfishness of his nature; his abounding faith in his friends and in humanity, and his unalterable fidelity to his convictions, were attributes that could not and did not fail to leave their deep impress upon those around him. Blessed himself with a long and honorable life, his family, his friends, and his community were likewise blessed by it.

A man of sound common sense, of education, reading, and culture; unassuming in his manner, artless and frank as a child; broad and generous in his views; firm in his own opinions, though tolerant of the opinions of others and charitable toward their faults and shortcomings; watchful, yet calmly confident of his every step, as fearlessly as he had met the problems of life, he faced the grim destroyer and passed in victory and peace to his great reward. "For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again."

You Needn't keep on feeling distressed after eating, nor beiching, nor experiencing nausea between meals. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia. It strengthens the stomach and other digestive organs for the proper performance of their functions. Take Hood's.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Catlouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. Ibc. by mail or at Druggists, Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Gifts on Christmas Day.

BY J. M. DENNIS.

The giving of presents and the doing of alms are very commendable in the life of any one; but this "Christmas" giving has long since formed itself into a habit, hence there is danger of our allowing the force of habit to control us at the time of giving rather than being controlled by the spirit of true Christianity and the needs of the party to whom we give our gifts.

Paul says: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." (Acts 20: 35.) This is a quotation from Jesus Christ; so we will look to him for counsel along the line of giving. "Give, and it shall be given unto (Luke 6: 38.) Again, Jesus says: "Not as the world giveth, give I." (John 14: 27.) Here we learn that Jesus does not give as the world gives.

How, then, should we give, or in what spirit should we give-in the spirit of self-aggrandizement, that we may have glory of men, or in the spirit of submission to God and love for needy and suffering humanity? Should we attend a public gathering on December 25, commonly called "Christmas," and hang our gifts on a "Christmas tree," exposed to public gaze and "tagged" "From to -," the names read aloud by some one appointed for this work, or should we give as Jesus advises in Matt. 6: 1-3? "He that giveth, let him [the giver] do it with simplicity [or liberality]; . . . he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness." (Rom. 12: 8.) Why? Because God loves a cheerful giver. (2 Cor. 9: 7.)

No doubt many people give gifts and do alms at times when they can make a public display of the matter. This is not in harmony with the counsel of Him who "spake as never man spake" (John 7: 46), but in violation of the law of the Lord as expressed by Paul: "And be not conformed to this world." (Rom. 12: 2.) To "conform" to the world is to yield to the world's invitations, go after the world, do like the world, and, therefore, be like the world. All this appointing of "set days" to give thanks and "set days" to give gifts is of the world.

It is strange that people have no time to give thanks except on a certain day in each November, and no one is able to give anything to relieve suffering humanity on any day in the year when the needs require, but that everybody is able to give on December 25-not to relieve the suffering, to clothe the naked, or feed the poor, but to get in the great "procession." When asked why they do this, they answer with the old, hackneyed excuse: "When in Rome, do as Rome does." Why did you go into Rome? No wonder the greater number of professed Christians are going in the direction of Rome instead of going in the direction of Jerusalem!

Long ago I decided to have no "set day" or days to do acts of kindness and give gifts, but to try to be ready at all times to do what little I could do, prompted at all times by the counsel of Him who, when he shall reward the faithful, will say: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant: . . . enter thou into the joy of thy lord." (Matt. 25: 21; see also verses 31-46.)

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

FINEPILLOWS

And Feather Beds. Order by parcel post right from this advertisement. Get good pillows—fine, new, gray goose feathers, big size, 5 lbs., $4.50 pair. Gray goose beds, 25 lbs., $21.72; 30 lbs., $24.60. Cheaper kinds. Pillows, 5 lbs., $1.80 pair. Beds, 25 lbs., $10.20; 35 lbs., $12.45. We have $500 deposited with the Security-Savings Bank, Charlotte, N. C., to guarantee satisfaction or money back—you take no risk. Order to-day or write for cir-culars. Hygienic Bed Company, Dept. 28, Charlotte, N. C.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

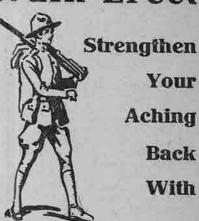

Has Brought Relief to Thousands of Sufferers,

And what it has done for others it will do for you, 'Don't continue to suffer with rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff and sore muscles, cold in the chest, croup, coughs, and kindred aches and pains. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil), use according to directions, and know what it means to be free of pain.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil) is powerful and penetrating, yet will not harm the most delicate skin. In 30c, 60c, and $1 bottles. Ask for and insist upon the genuine Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil). Your money back if it doesn't do what we claim. For sale by all good druggists.

Walk Erect

ALKAVIS

When your kidneys and bladder fail in the discharge of their duty much of the poisonous waste, instead of being eliminated, is retained, developing inflammatory condi-tions. The result is Bright's Disease, Dia-betes or chronic Inflammation of the Kid-neys or Bladder. Rheumatism and Gout follow.

The System Needs Regulation.

LKAVIS

Kidneys

Liver and Urinary Organs will regulate the organs, cleanse the system, drive out the poisons and stop the aches.

Will Put You on Your Feet. MINISTER believes it saved his life. Rev. James Binkley states:

"I Believe Alkavis Saved My Life!"

Green Forest, Ark., April 25, 1909,

Green Forest, Ark., April 25, 1909,
The Alkavis Co.
Gentlemen:—I was bothered with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for about twelve years, and finally got so I could not walk without a cane and had to be careful how I stepped. I tried everything
I could get that was recommended for it, but nothing did me any good until I tried Alkavis. I sent for a bottle, which did me more good than anything I had tried.
I then sent for six bottles of it, and it cured me. I advise all sufferers from Kidney or Bladder Trouble to try Alkavis, for I believe that it saved my life.

Yours truly,
(REV.) JAMES BINKLEY.
Eight Years Later
Renewed Testimony

Renewed Testimony

Green Forest, Ark., December 26, 1917.
The Alkayis Co.
Gentlemen:—Sixteen years have passed since I was relieved of my trouble, and it has not bothered me since. I am now seventy-five years old. For the benefit of suffering humanity, I make this and the above statement the above statement.
Yours very truly,
(REV.) JAMES BINKLEY

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.

Ask your druggist for ALKAVIS. It will we you many pains. If he can't supply save you many pains. you, write for a trial bottle free.

ALKAVIS CO., 81 Warren Ave., Detroit, Mich-

When writing to advertisers, please say you saw their "ad." in this paper.

Letters That Inspire Con-

I wish very much that every reader of this paper could spend sufficient time in my office to read the thousands of letters which I have received from all parts of the country. I have printed several hundreds of them in a booklet; but I wish you could see the originals, for I would like to have you realize the wonderful results which they report in the relief of dyspepsia, indigestion, persistent headache, rheumatism, kidney, bladder, and liver diseases, uric-acid poisoning, and other curable conditions due to impure blood.

Before my own health was restored by Shivar Mineral Water and I purchased this spring, and before I received all these letters from sufferers, I did not take very much stock in advertisements like this. I therefore cannot blame you if you doubt; but, my friend, I am absolutely convinced that the Shivar Spring is the greatest restorative mineral spring ever discovered, not excepting the famous spas of Europe. I have shipped this water to thousands of sufferers in all parts of the United States, and they almost invariably report either permanent restoration or beneficial results. That is why I make the offer contained in the following letter. Sign it now and mail it.

Shivar Spring, Box 21L, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons of Shivar Mineral Water. I agree to give it a fair trial, in accordance with instructions contained in booklet you will send; and if I report no benefit, you agree to refund the price in full upon receipt of the two empty demijohns, which I agree to return within a month.

Name	(10)		•	•	*	٠	•	•	×		•	•	•	٠	•	٠	•				٠
Address	011	 8	ų.			ŭ,	è	œ.	Q	ě		×		٠	2	2	¥	×	7	į.	×	v

Shipping Point ...

Shipping Point

(Please write distinctly.)

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of serving the little church at Shivar Spring as pastor for years, and am therefore well acquainted with Mr. Shivar and his associates, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived great benefit from the use of Shivar Mineral Water, and have knowledge of its beneficial effects in a great number and variety of cases."—Rev. A. McA. Pittman.

ETTERIN

Makes hair beautiful, free from dandruff, and keeps the scalp healthy.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Electric Vitalizen

Annual State of State
NO COMMITTEE OF THE PARTY OF TH	Men and women, if you are in a weakenend, run-down
- The State of the	condition, get my "Electric Control of the contro	Belt." For Weakness,
TOCOMA .	Nervous Debility, Rheuma-
Walter Branch	tism, Backache, Kidney
LANGUA MARIAN	and Bladder Troubles.
Marked Price $5. 5	Special introductory price $1.
postpaid. Dr. Fr.	ank M. Welch, Atlanta, Ga.

CHURCH NEWS

Arkansas.

Fort Smith, December 22.—Last Sunday was a good day with the Park Hill Church. We had large at-Sunday tendance at both services, with three additions at the morning service. Prospects are very bright for the fu-ture of this congregation. We are all Prospects are very bright for the future of this congregation. We are all at peace and working in harmony. I filled my regular appointment at Valley View, near Greenwood, yesterday, closing my year's work with them. We had good services. These brethren have a mind to "do things" for the Lord. I do not know as yet the Lord. I do not know as yet whether I will labor with them next year or not, as the brethren at home are wanting all the time I can give; then, too, I have so many other calls for meetings, etc. I have had a good year's work, but want to make next year better, if possible.—Will W. Slater.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, December 22. Oklahoma City, December 22.—Yesterday was a great day with us at the Tenth and Francis Streets church of Christ. There were thirteen additions to the local congregation. We are advancing toward the three-hundred mark with the completest unity in our ranks. There is harmony, there is love, and there is a spirit for work. I believe that Brother T. S. Bain said in the columns of the Goswork. I believe that Brother T. S. Bain said in the columns of the Gospel Advocate a few weeks ago to keep an eye on the Oklahoma City work. If the devil does not insinuate himself, I am sure that we shall accomplish much. After all, it seems that the greatest thing we have to fear in a church of Christ where we are numerically strong is schism, division, or wrangling. The brethren made up a nice purse and presented it to my wife and me for a Christmas present. Brother A. W. Lee, of the Lee Oil Company, was the church's spokesman for the occasion. As I told them, I appreciated the spirit of the cift more than anything more than gift more than anything—more than the sordid gold that was in the purse. Literally my time is consumed. Visiting the sick, sitting with them through nights of suffering and waiting for the great debt to be paid to sin, looking up backslidden members, visiting new members, attending to the needs of orphans and widows, going to midweek meetings and preaching to midweek meetings and preaching on Lord's days, not to mention other things which must be done as occasion may direct, I have all that I can do. I very greatly need a coworker. Perhaps I shall soon have one. The cause here prospers as only the first test the difference of the the efforts of the diligent can make it prosper. I wish all of the Gospel Advocate readers might know our brethren here individually and personally. There are many good Tennessee brethren among us. Yes, good and devoted—good, with all that the word

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for the full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 30c.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highenthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wenderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirenal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money head in two minutes if back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.-Adv.)

Promptly relieves sore throat, coughing, tickling, bronchial irritation and hoarseness. Finest medicinal properties-proven safe and sure for 70 years. Prices: 15c, 35c, 75c and $1.25.

JOHN I. BROWN & SON, Boston, Mass.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

Nor shall I exclude those means. who have hailed from elsewhere or who have hailed from elsewhere or those who are natives of this State. I think that I shall get off to the Christmas meeting of the preachers of the church of Christ to-morrow. It is to be at Ada. There will be a number of fine brethren there. Brother J. N. Armstrong, Brother A. Leroy Elkins, Brother J. Will Henley, and others are on the program—I and others are on the program. A. Hudson.

Tennessee.

Henderson, December 20.—I have just closed a debate with N. V. Parker, Primitive Baptist. Nearly all considered it a great victory for the truth. Brother L. R. Wilson preached at the close, and two demanded baptism. I will go to Arkansas for meetings during Christmas and immediately following. I have a good piece of property here in Henderson for sale—a good six-room house, including two acres of ground; well located; convenient for the Freed-Hardeman College; a good bargain.—S. O. Allen.

Allen's Creek, December 25.—I came to Wayne County four years ago, leaving a small farm. I was in debt and had a large family. I have labored hard on rented land, and earnestly tried to follow the example of Paul, laboring with my own hands to support my family in order to preach the gospel almost every Lord's day and some at other times. I have joined several in marriage, conducted a number of funeral services, and held a few short meetings for several local congregations. I hope to do more during the year 1920. I have gained many friends in this county. The good brethren have helped me some, which I appreciate. There are but few Christians in this county, but many good people. The Lord willing, I will serve him in this county another year.—C. A. Lancaster.

Decherd, December 25.—I began preaching in the year 1915, beginning my first series of meetings in July,

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Euriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value,

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic prop-erties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

and preached thirty-five sermons. the close of the year there had been one hundred and five additions to the one body, two new meetinghouses had been built, and the contribution for the year was one hundred and fifty dollars. At the close of the year 1916 there were one hundred and eightysix additions, two new meeting-houses, and a contribution of five hundred dollars. At the close of the year 1917 there were one hundred and twenty-nine additions, one new meetinghouse, and a contribution of seven hundred and forty-eight dollars. At the close of the rear 1018 lars. At the close of the year 1918 there were one hundred and sixty-two additions and a contribution of eight hundred and five dollars. At the close of the year 1919 there were one hundred and eighty-three additions, one new meetinghouse, and the con-tribution was thirteen hundred dollars. I have been preaching four years and seven months, have had years and seven months, have had seven hundred and sixty-two additions to the one body, built six new meetinghouses, and have received for preaching, marrying people, and funerals, thirty-five hundred and three dollars. I have promised all of 1920 and a portion of 1921. I am asking all Christians to pray for me, that I may have health, that I may carry the gospel to many poor souls yet before God calls me away. I wish all happy and a prosperous New Year. R. E. L. Taylor. I wish all a

NEW WAY TO MAKE HENS LAY

This wonderful new egg producer has made thousands of dollars profit for poultry raisers all over the United States. Now is the time to increase your egg supply, when eggs are selling at $1.00 a dozen. Give your hens "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic that makes layers and real moneymakers out of every single solitary hen you own. Send $1.00 to Kinsella Co., 2911 Le Moyne Building, Chicago, for small box of our Special Offer, or $2.00 for large box containing three times the quantity of the $1.00 size—a full season's supply. We guarantee to return your money if not satisfied. Enter our FREE $5,000.00 egg-laying contest. Full particulars in each box of "TWO for ONE."

WANTED IMMEDIATELY Commissioned Salesmen

Thousands of unmarked graves and hundreds improperly marked. We have an elaborate collection of Marble and Granite designs, and for quality, beauty, and endurance recommend Elberton Blue Granite and Georgia Marble. Essential qualifications, perseverance and integrity. We have only limited local territory, which we offer subject to prior acceptance. Write immediately for particulars.

COGGINS MARBLE COMPANY

521 Main Street

Canton, Ga.

Send NO MONEY, Mail This Coupon TODAY

Pay nothing until shoes arrive. We even pay the postage. Simply mail coupon. Either pair or both will come at once direct to you, from the Gldest, Largest house selling Direct from the Shoe Market of the World, Let the shoes themselves convince you. Compare them with shoes at $7.00 and $8.00 a pair. If you are not delighted, send them back at our expense.

Boston Mail Order House, De 6066 Essex P. O. Bldg	ept. X
Send sho≪ I marked, prepaid.	I enclose no money and am buying on your Approvated only $4.35 a pair on arrival.
■ Men's Lace Size	Color
Ladies' High Heel Size	Color
Name
Address

Mrs. Harper writes: "I wouldn't be without "TWO for ONE" for the world; my 112 hens layed 1800 eggs in one month.'

World's Greatest Egg Producer

"TWO for ONE" is the marvel of all egg tonics. It is the most remarkable producer of eggs ever known to the poultry world. "TWO for ONE" is making records every day in egg production that were never before believed possible. Flock owners all over the country are amazed with the results. The most experienced poultry experts say they have never seen the like of it.

"TWO for ONE" is not a mere food. It is an egg tonic in the truest sense of the term—ascientific preparation in concentrated tablet form—the result of scientific research and experiment. Every factor entering into the matter of egg production was scientifically studied.

As a result you have in "TWO for ONE" atonic that conditions the hen for the utmost in laying capacity—that builds muscle and bone—that stimulates active functioning of the hen's reproductive organs—that insures fertile eggs and 100% hatchings—that makes the laggard lay and increases the production of active layers. A tonic that gots more eggs for you winter and summer than you ever thought possible.

5000 Egg Laying Contest

Enter our $5000.00 egg laying contest. It's free to all users of "TWO for ONE." You not only double your egg production but you can win one of the big cash prizes we are giving every month, Full particulars in every box of "TWO for ONE."

Money-Back Guarantee

Don't take our word for it. Every box of "TWO for ONE" is sold under the distinct guarantee that if you are not entirely satisfied you get your money back. Take advantage of this offer and sendfor a box of "TWO for ONE" today.

Only $1.00 a box, or, our special offer of $2.00 for large box containing as much as three $1.00 boxes — enough for an entire season. This costs you 1-15 of a cent a day, per hen, or less than 1c a dozen for the additional eggs you will receive from your flock.

Kinsella Co., 2813 LeMoyne Bidg., Chicago, Ill., Gentlemen:—I want to increase the egg-laying ability of my hens, make more increase the egg-laying ability of my hens, make more money out of my chickens and take advantage of the high prices that will be paid during the coming full and winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter. So please find endosed the coming full sond winter.

Checkin squares opposite size wanted:)

SmallSize (Including War Tax) $1.00

Large Size (Including War Tax) $2.00

This order entitles me to an entry in your $5.000.00 eggying contest, of which you are to send me full particurs, and my money is to be returned if I am not entirely tieffed with the tonic.

Name
Address

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

"Baptists vs. Campbellites." No. 16. BY M. S. MASON.

Mr. Bandy continues, on page 25, to defend his order of faith and repentance. He refers us to Matt. 12: 29; Rom. 10: 13; James 2: 19.

Matt. 12: 29. This is our verse. Taking it out of the context and using it as Mr. Bandy suggests, it does not teach his view. What is the item which enables us to overcome and bind the "strong man?" John tells us: "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." (1 John 5: 4.) So it is faith that binds the strong man and causes him to yield in a penitent life.

Rom. 10: 13. Read the next verse, which says, in the form of an affirmative interrogation, that we cannot "call on him" or repent without believing. So we must believe first,

James 2: 19. Of course, "the devils also believe, and tremble," and are We believe, obey, and are lost. The Baptists believe only. They do not tremble, only in the presence of so-called "Campbellite" preachers, though they are in jeopardy just like the evil ones.

I do not wonder that Mr. Bandy would not make the arguments on these passages. He was afraid of being humiliated by the consequences.

He quotes Matt. 21: 32; Mark 1: 15; Acts 20: 21.

The words in Mark 1: 15 were addressed to Jews. They believed in God. They were to repent toward him and believe the gospel. Thus it affords no example, as there is none, or precept either, for repenting toward that in which we have not previously believed. Those to whom Paul testified in Acts 20: 21 were Jews and Jewish proselytes who were Jews religiously, but Greeks nationally. So the same solution is offered for this as Mark 1: 15. The same applies to Matt. 21: 32 as to the others. The publicans and harlots were either Jews or Jewish proselytes. Of course, reformation of life as instituted by John and indorsed by Christ preceded faith in the Savior to those people. To us, we reach God through Christ. Heb. 6: 1 does not contemplate a moral change. The works were dead, not the people. Therefore, they were to change systems rather than themselves. So as the repentance here does not imply moral change as that does which we are considering, the passage is not permissible evidence.

Mr. Bandy says, on page 26, that no impenitent man will ever believe to the saving of the soul. That is so; for the faith that saves, or the perfect faith, includes repentance. He now says, on page 26, that after we have heard and repented we must believe, and offers as proof Mark 16: 15, 16; John 8: 24; Heb. 11: 6; Acts 16: 31; and every passage is against his contention on the order. In Mark 16: 15, 16, why didn't Jesus say "repent" first? Those referred to in John 8: 24 were certainly impenitent Jews of the strongest type. Why didn't he mention repentance instead of belief? Now see Ps. 125: 1. How could a man trust in God who did not believe in him, and how could we commit or surrender our lives to Christ without faith? So faith must come first. (Heb. 11: 6.) "Without faith it is imposible to please" God. We certainly please God in repentance. Then we must have faith when we repent. If we have faith when we repent, then we have faith first. So we have faith and repentance, and not repentance and faith.

He places baptism fourth and omits confession entirely, regardless of Matt. 10: 32, 33; Rom. 10: 9, 10; John 2: 42; Acts 8: 37.

He now defends the order of hearing, conviction, repentance, belief, baptism, Lord's Supper, by saying this: "Those on Pentecost heard and were convicted, then were told to repent." Belief properly belongs after hearing and precedes conviction. Why? No one can be convicted or convinced who does not believe. When I am convicted of wrong, I believe I am wrong; when I am convicted of sin, I believe I am a sinner. Otherwise, I would not be convicted of sin or wrong. The very reason they called out was because they believed the great proposition presented by the apostle Peter. The receiving his word, which Mr. Bandy identifies as faith, is the doing-not the believing, or faith, but the carrying out of what the word contained.

In closing Chapter 6, he makes an effort to identify the Baptist Church with "my church," saying that "Baptist" is only another name for "my church." Well, we could see that all right. But, Mr. Bandy, why not call that church by the right name? Paul says in Col. 3: 17 to do things in the name of the Lord Jesus. Why not do our calling of the church in that name? Paul preached anathemas on people who used another gospel. Might we not suffer for using another name?

On page 27 Mr. Bandy begins a dissertation on church government. He says the church is a democratic republic. Of course, he anticipates that people who have brains would rather question this, so he explains that Daniel said it should be "diverse from all other kingdoms." So it is a kingdom, not in all respects like other kingdoms, but somewhat different. That is to say, if the American colonists, when they established this nation, had made it, as they did, a democratic republic, then said, "Of course, it is entirely different from a kingdom like England, yet it is a kingdom nevertheless," they would have used the good sense that Mr. Bandy has used on this proposition.

Night and Morning. Have Strong, Healthy Eyes. If they Tire, Itch, Smart or Burn, if Sore, Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

Timely Sayings of Jesus.

BY A. M. BURTON.

Should I undertake to get up a sermon for Christmas Day, I would select the following as my scripture

"Then said he also to him that bade him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy rich neighbors; lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee. But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind; and thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just." (Luke 14: 12-14.)

"Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was ahungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee ahungered, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink? When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee? And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me. Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was ahungered, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not. Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee ahungered, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee? Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me. And these shall go !

THEN you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. There is nothing better.

Chamberlain's Tablets

SONG BOO

Evangelists and Churches Attention.

A wonderful value; 83 familiar songs of the Gospel, words and music. Used all over the world. Only $8 per hundred, less quantities 10c each, for No. 1 or 2, round or shaped notes. No. 1 and 2 combined, round notes only, $15 per hundred, less quantities 18c each. Bound in cloth. Sample copy 75c. Money back if not pleased. E. A. K. HACKETT, Dept. No. 2, FT. WAYNE, IND.

ERSMITH Also a Fine General Strengthening Tonic.

SOLD FOR 50 YEARS For MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER

SOLD BY ALL DRUG STORES

away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal." (Matt. 25: 34-46.)

If I were going to make a New-Year's resolution, I would incorporate the following:

"Therefore shall ye lay up these my words in your heart and in your soul, and bind them for a sign upon your hand, that they may be as frontlets between your eyes. And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." (Deut. 11: 18, 19.)

Colds Cause lieadaches and Pains

Feverish Headaches and Body Pains caused from a cold are soon relieved by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

"THE SANITARY" Individual GUPS List of thousands of churches using our cups and FREE CATALOG with Quotations sent upon request.
Sanitary Communion Outfit Co., 71st St., Rochester, N. Y.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneystillize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton S. C.

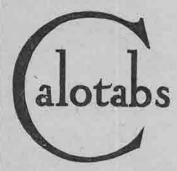

freckies, pimples, blackheads, and ec-

If your drugglat cannot supply you send for a free sample to

THE MORGAN DRUG CO., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

Progress of the Work in St. Louis, Mo.

About one-fourth of the two hundred and thirty contributors of one dollar per month for thirty-six months asked for have now been secured; and while the pledges are coming in slowly, we feel that our efforts are going to be (they must be) successful. We cannot afford to give up the work now, once it is well under way.

St. Louis is one of the first cities of our nation in population, with nearly a million people, and is situated almost in the geographical center of the country. There is not a greater field nor a more suitable location for "sounding out the word," with all its natural advantages of a great city in the heart of the country and its influences radiating to our borders in every direction.

As most of our readers know, it was here that the first innovation, the organ, was first introduced into the church after the early restoration movement; and it seems that since that time there has not been a single congregation of faithful Christians in this city sufficiently strong to establish the cause again in a substantial way with a permanent meeting place of their own, although there has probably been ever since that time, as there is now, a few loyal disciples meeting from place to place in private homes and rented halls.

Great religious movements among other people, by which millions of dollars are being raised for the promotion of their organizations, are being carried on successfully. The church of the New Testament, with our Savior as its head, cannot afford. and we do not believe that it will, at this opportune time, leave undone anything consistent with its faith, doctrine, and practice that is necessary for the furtherance of the cause of primitive Christianity. Let us all "put our shoulders to the wheel" and push, all together, with all our might, to see that the work does not fail in St. Louis or elsewhere.

With the prompt response of every reader to this appeal, with the promise to do what you can, there is no doubt but that the ten thousand dollars necessary for the St. Louis building would be many times oversubscribed. If you pass it by this time, the other brother will do the same thing; and, of course, you know the result. Will you not, therefore, write us to-day, without fail, that you, your family, or your congregation will contribute to this work one, five, or ten dollars per month for thirty-six months, or any other amount that you can, remittances to be sent when the rest of the contributors necessary have been secured?

Address: Dr. J. W. Pruett, 6006 Virginia Avenue; P. B. Johnson, 1304a Mississippi Avenue; J. M. Snow, 4847 Page Avenue; George Miller, 5071 Arlington Avenue; or W. W. Moody, 3667 Botanical Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)-People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

14 HENS LAY 13 EGGS A DAY. EASILY DONE

Mr. Moore's Hens Lay When Eggs Are Scarce. Here's the Plan.

"I had been getting 2 or 3 eggs a day from 15 hens. Then I commenced putting Don Sung in the feed, and am getting 11 to 13 eggs a day, with one hen sitting. Don Sung is the best thing I ever found for making hens lay."—E. L. Moore, 318 Clayborn Street, Danville, Va.

Mr. Moore used 50 cents worth of Don Sung in fanuary. Figure his profit with eggs selling at around 70 cents a dozen And this is no better than Don Sung is doing for thousands of others. Accept our offer, just as Mr. Moore did:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us, and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days; and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung form your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mall, prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

Don't Forget the Orphans.

Let every congregation begin the new year by making a liberal contribution to the Tennessee Orphans' Home next Lord's day. Send contributions to the Tennessee Orphans' Home, Columbia, Tenn.

A man is not excessively wicked on a sudden, but no man knows when he is going how far he shall go .- Benjamin Whichcote.

Laid Eggs All Winter

Mrs. Charlotte Green writes "My hens have laid all winter since giving them 'TWO for ONE.'"

This wonderful new egg producer has made thousands of dollars profit for poultry raisers all over the United States. Now is the time to increase your egg supply, when eggs are selling at $1.00 a dozen. Give your hens "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic that makes layers and real moneythat makes layers and real money-makers out of every single solitary hen you own. Send $1.00 to Kinsella Co., 2911 Le Moyne Building, Chicago, for small box of our Special Offer, or $2.00 for large box containing three times the quantity of the $1.00 size—a full season's supply. We guarantee to return your money if not satisfied. Enter our FREE $5,000.00 egg-laying contest. Full particulars in each box of "TWO for ONE."

TETTERINE

ClearsBaby's Skin

and drives off the rash and pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

"Seeking the Truth."

BY J. N. TWITCHELL.

The uppermost thought in my mind is to do the will of the Master. Elders and deacons are likely to forget their responsibilities as servants of the church. We may liken our lives to a ship on the River of Life. Christ is the Commander, the gospel is the compass, and we are the pilots of our own craft. Heaven is the eternal port. The needle of the compass always points in that direction.

I have reason to believe that the elders and deacons should be the flagships of the local congregation; and as we move down the stream of life, we must ever keep in mind the Commander. There is no other name under heaven whereby we can be saved except the name of Jesus.

It is an evident fact that if we keep in mind the Master we will also remember the compass (Bible), which is to guide us to the port of eternal life. But I sometimes believe that we are forgetful of ourselves and are more likely to follow our own opinion; and when we do this, we are in danger of running on the rocks. We may steer to the right or to the left, use our own judgment, and get out of the channel, and we may say to ourselves that no harm is done in steering to the right or to the left of the channel as long as we keep the vessel aright; but I am thinking by these acts we are likely to forget the Master and more likely be guided by our own opinions, and if not brought to face the truth, our lifeboat will run on the rocks and the waves will settle our own hope of ever reaching our heavenly port. If it was only our own life that is lost in the wreck, it would not be so bad; but there are other lives following ours, and they, too, will steer their vessels in the wake of ours; and what a piling up of broken boats on the rocks of time! And all because we, as leaders in the church, used our own opinions, or because we coveted the praises of men more than we loved the words of life.

God wants clean men in the church as leaders, that the weaker vessels may be led aright. God wants men clean, honest men—with good red

DO YOU NEED A KIDNEY MEDICINE?

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it may be found just the medicine you need. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon resilized in most cases. It is a gentie healing herbal compound—a physician's prescription which has proved its great value in thousands of the most distressing cases according to reliable testimony.

At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may have a sample size bottle of this always reliable preparation by Parcel Post, also ampliet telling about it. Address Dr. Klimer & Co., Binghamon, N. Y., and encloss ten cents, also mention the Nashville Gospel Allrocate.

blood in their veins, to volunteer in the army of Christ. God wants men that can battle twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, until the blood-stained banner of Christ is planted on the ramparts of the enemy and Satan has run up the white flag, symbolizing that he has surrendered to the "King of kings, and Lord of lords."

Brethren, let us keep our eyes upon the compass and our mind upon the Master.

Among the Colored Folks

Brother Womack's Report.

Our meeting at the Jackson Street Church, this city, the last of October and first of November, in the way of interest, attention, and attendance, was a good one. The preaching was done by Brother James Gant, of Duck River, and it was well done. One was added by baptism and four took membership.

A meeting at Christian College, Silver Point, was held by Brother W. M. Phillips, of Centerville. The interest, attention, and attendance at this meeting were also good, and four were added by baptism. The church was pleased with the preacher and the work done. Following the meeting, there was a trustees' "booster" meeting. As a business meeting, it was one of the best; but, on account of the bad, rainy weather, the attendance was not large. The church, trustees, and Brother Clay arranged to get a tent to be used in that upper country for mission work in 1920. The brethren here are very much delighted over Brother Burton's movement and are ready to fall in line; but they do not want to give up the school at Silver Point. They have arranged to begin the second part of the nine-months' term of 1919-1920 on the first Monday in January, with Brother H. D. Gilbert as teacher. This upper country is a fine field for mission work, and the white brethren at Cookeville are talking of taking hold of the work. I was asked to be present in the school trustees' "booster" meeting to give advice, but I was not able to say or do much. I think, with proper attention and good management, much good work can be done among these people.

Brother Burton's efforts should be encouraged. Let us give him our hearty cooperation. It is not just now that this good man is beginning his attention to the work among us. He has long manifested his interest in us otherwise. I am thankful to the Lord for all men and women like him, whose names I cannot now give.

I am grateful to all who have been so mindful of me during my illness. The good sisters of East Nashville, with Sister Mary Douglas in the lead, have my thanks for their surprise a few nights ago. Harris Chapel, Lebanon, Center Star, Christian College, and Beech Grove remember me frequently. Brother Joe Killingworth dropped in to see me a few days ago, and was full of the Book. He left his and Sister Peters' contribution. Brethren Pittman, Hart, Cayce, Harlin, Daniel (of Chicago), Sister Peobles, and others, still remember me.

I thank them all and wish them a happy Christmas.

Brethren Carrington, Smith, Walker, Black, and a few of the sisters called on me a few days ago. I am grateful for their interest.

I have not done much in the way of preaching or holding meetings during 1919, and at this time I feel that I will not be able to do much soon; but I am trusting in the Master. I sometimes think my best days for work are gone by. When such men as Lipscomb, Brents, Floyd, Anderson, and others have gone, I see no way for me to stay. Pray for me, that I may grow in faith and be ready for the hour.

Brother B. F. Hart says: "Inclosed you will find a check. Be strong and trust in the Lord." Thank you, Brother Hart. I hope others will remember me during the holidays. Let me hear from you.

S. W. Womack.

The Strong Withstand The Winter Cold Better Than The Weak

Old people who are feeble and younger people who are weak, will be strengthened and enabled to go through the cold weather by taking GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC, which is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

You May Read the Christian Herald HA

big satisfying weekly issues

20	sciutillating crisp,	Stories
20	pages of world news	Studies
50	inspirational educational	Feature Articles
70	wonderful Interpretative	Editorials
70	helpful daily, devotional	Meditatations
10	short, pithy, worth while	Sermons
200	or more black and white	Pictures
8	beautiful covers usually in several	Colors
and hu	nduada of estina	man Jack I I I I II of other wonderful features, all now available to new subscribers at half price.

now available to new subscribers at half price. The Christian Herald is one of America's really great religious and social institutions. It is the hest level and most widely read interdenominational family magazine in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity magazine in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity magazine in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity magazine in the world in subscribers of the service of humanity center could another of those wonderful caution and the christian Herald in advance of its publication as a $1.50 hook.

It alims to make of every clurical and religious uplift. It tells the important world every denomination, but the organ of none. You spiration, the vision of world world the christian Herald gives. A million new short coin or stamp seem now that the Christian Herald gives. A million new short coin or stamp seem now that the Christian Herald imagine possible. Address The Christian Herald, $27. Bible House, New York.

labo (resolene, modic Croup, Asthma Influenza, Coughs, Bronchitis, Colds, Catarrh.

The Inhalation Treatment for Whooping Cough, Spas-na Influenza, Coughs, Bronchitis, Colds, Catarria, Don't fall to use Cresolene for the discressing, and often fairl affections for which it is recommended.

Established 1879 it is a simple, safe, effective and drugless treatment. Vaportized Cresolene stops the paroxyma of Whooling Cough and retieves Spasmodic Croup at once. In asthma it shortens the attack and insures comfortable repose.
The air carrying the antiseptic vapor impired with every breath, makes breathing easy, soothes the sorte throat, and stops the cough, assuring restrict nights.
Cresolene relieves the bronchial complications of Searlet Fever and Measles and is a valuable aid in the treatment of Diphtheria.
Cresolene's best recommendation is its 40 years of successful use. Send postal for Descriptive Booklet 43.
FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS.
The Vapo-Cresolene Co. 62 Cortlandt St., New York or Leeming-Miles Building, Montreal, Canada

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL,

1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and sur-geons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife X-Ray, radium, or acids. Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hos-pital, without the use of either. Physicians and surgeons treated free at the houtes!

the hospital.

treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A.B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

AST winter eggs sold as high as $1.00 a dozen. I predict that this winter eggs will go even higher. This is my judgment as America's foremost poultry expert. Poultry raisers are going to reap tremendous profits. You, too, can make sure of a big egg yield by giving your hens a few cents' worth of Reefer's "More Eggs" Tonic. This product has already been tried, tested and proven by 400,000 chicken raisers. It has stood the test of years and is acknowledged the best and most successful egg producer on the market today, Every day that you don't use it means that you are losing money. Start with a few cents' worth of Reefer's "More Eggs" Tonic. Act NOW

Got 117 Eggs Instead

That's the experience of one enthusiastic poultry raiser who wrote me. Read the the wonderful testimonials printed below and remember they are just a few out of thousands.

Banker Endorses "More Eggs"

Some time ago I got from you
"More Eggs" and now it mean MORE EGGS. I am now fully convinced of its utility. I have 14 pullets and 14 hens one year old and the first 10 days in December they lid 11 dozen eggs. Yours truly, H. F. POHLAND.
President, The Citisens' Bank of Ashiand, Oregon.

Please accept my thanks for advertising such a Godsend to the pontry. It is more than a miracle. THEODORE ARM-STRONG, Show Hill, N. C.

Doubles Egg Production
I have been using "More Eggs"
Tonic 3 or 4 weeks now. My egg production has been doubled.—J.
C. KOENINGER, Paradise, Tex.

"Mere Eggs" Paid the Pastor
I can'texpress in wordshow much I have been benefitted much I have been benefitted by More Eggs. "I've paid my debts, clothed the children in the wides, clothed the children in the wides, clothed the children in the children in the debts, clothed the children in the children in the positry business, about 30 years. Since the debts, clothed the children in the positry business, about 30 years. Since the debts, clothed the children in the positry business, about 30 years. Since the debts, clothed the children in the positry business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since may be supported by business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since more eggs than at any business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about 30 years. Since the position of the positry business, about

I have convinced over 400,000 poultry raisers of the value of my "More Eggs" tonic. I want to convince you. My free offer is made in the sincere hope that you will give me this very opportunity. I know what your verdict will be when you once try "More Eggs"—but my difficulty is to get you to ACT—to get you to decide NOW that you will give "MORE EGGS" an honest and fair trial. Won't you do this—when I offer you a package FREE, just to show how I can make your hens lay more eggs? Why delay? Others are getting more eggs than they ever dreamed of getting; you can do the same.

How to Get the Free Package Fill in and mail below. Enclose only $1.00, the price of one package. I will send you two $1.00 packages of "MORE EGGS"; one package FREE! Keep the extra package; or, better still, sell it to a poultry friend, so you can get your money back and have your own package for nothing.

Just fill in and mail coupon with only one dollar. I will immediately send you two $1.00 packages of "MORE EGGS." the extra package being FREEI Don't wait! Eggs are steadily advancing in price and will soon reach the $1.00 per dozen mark. Reap the BIG profits "MORE EGGS" will make for you. Don't let your neighbor get the advantage of you. Act MOWI Every day's delay means extra egg profits lost. Send the coupon today!

$1 Package

2.51 Reefer, Poultry Expert
2251Reefer Bidg., Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Mr. Reefer I accept your offer. Send me the two sl.00 packages of Reefer's "More Egga" for which I enclose $1.00. You agree to refund $1.001 both of these packages do not prove antisfactory in every way.

Reefer Backed By a Million Dollars!

699

Ton/c

MAKES LAYERS OUT OF LOAFERS

ReefersHatchery

$ 00

Poultry Expert 2251 Reefer Bldg. Kansas City, Mo.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS SALE of this superb self-pronouncing, India paper

In spite of the enormous increases in the cost of the finest morocco leather bindings, genuine India paper and of skilled labor, equal to 33 1-3%, we have secured 196 of these marvellously beautiful Bibles for immediate, or Christmas, delivery, at a price which, as heretofore, is unmatchable anywhere.

Actual Value

Delivered Post-paid 95

INDIA PAPER

BAGSTER

is about half the weight, thickness, and bulk of the ordinary paper edition. The India paper used in these genuine Bagster Bibles is the costliest, the thinnest, the whitest, the toughest, the most This shows the beautiful clear type in exact size opaque that the world's best mills can produce. It has nearly 1,200 pages, including a complete Concordance, References, colored maps so indispensable to Teachers, Pastors,

Superintendents, Bi-

110 1 R 8 15

CHAPTER 17.

OHAPTER 17. 355

Now it came to pass, as Da'vid sat in his house, that Da'vid said to Na'than the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an house of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the Lord remained under curtains.

It in the morning and to the ceeming and to the ceeming of the ceeming said to the ceeming and to the ceeming and to the ceeming said to the ceeming said to the ceeming said that is in thine heart; for God is with thee.

2 Then? Na'than said unto Da'-yid, Do all that is in thine heart; for God is with thee.

3 And it came to pass the same night, that the word of God came ble Students, Evangelists, and Christian workers generally, but is only about seven-eighths of an inch thick and weighs only about 20 ounces. Its superb silk sewn, leather lined Genuine Morocco leather binding, and its luminous red under gold edges make it not only exquisitely beautiful, but it is protected by its because of which we can and do absolutely guarantee the binding not to break or crease, and to outwear any other.

PATENTE UNBREAKABLE BACK

for Scholar, Teacher, Pastor, Superintendent, or Friend that will not only delight the recipient, but will be a lasting credit to the giver.

OF SUPREME IMPORTANCE This Genuine Bagster Bible must not be confounded with the cheap imitations, claimed to be printed on "thin" paper or "Bible" paper and bound in so-called "leather." "Thin" paper and "Bible" paper are not the expensive INDIA paper on which this genuine Bagster Bible is printed. The edition is limited and only when orders are sent in promptly can we guarantee delivery before Christmas. Money cheerfully refunded and delivery charges paid both ways if you do not agree that this is the most extraordinary Bible value you ever saw.

NOTE—For 60 cents additional we will furnish our Thumb Index Edition and stamp name in pure gold on cover

THE S. S. SCRANTON CO., 118 TRUMBULL ST., HARTFORD, CONN.

Volume LXII. No. 2.

NASHVILLE, TENN., JANUARY 8, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

STUDIES IN CHURCH HISTORY							037
	14.18	19.78	1818	1918	184	200	200		100	-
OUR CONTRIBUTORS		-10014	1 es 10		0000	200	W 16	w
EDITORIAL
EDITORIAL.	1900	3803	W/A	A G	500	100	mile	-04	*
TRIBUTE TO J. D. FLOYD
	a a	1555	25.25	1515	200	530	ΔV	MX.	æ	æ
TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN	80%	9533	100	200	855	30	20	200	20
QUERY DEPARTMENT
	100	1000	58000	HIX	200	NO.	18.17	ÆΕ	20	500
AT HOME AND ABROAD
					1813		-	-	200	107
THE MASTER'S VINEYARD	414	* *	-	60.00	W 14	100	20	140	W.3	12.0
COMMENDABLE EXAMPLE:
	909	000	2000	(*)×	900	1000	200	CH	(4)	80
A LETTER FROM MUSKOGEE, OKLA
A DDE ACTED DECOMMENDED		90	bājā	æa	-	400	æ	-0	LÖS
A PREACHER RECOMMENDED	000			800	55	and the	140	86	er.	80
THE POTTER ORPHAN HOME CAR
Party Tree Preserve Control Co	an an	2015		213.	25.75	357	80	90	80	525
TRIBUTE TO W. A. MOODY	200	92	200	88	800	s	200	æ	æ	33
"UPON THE ROCK"				-	200					20
	14.00	OR LA	300.00	SO N	000	ALC:	100	00	100	40.8
THE LOT FUND COMPLETED
DIDITION IN THE A PARTY OF A PARTY AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR	300	140.8	CO-K		100.0	100	900	-	200
BIBLE READING AT DAVIS CITY, IOWA	41.0	10.6	21.0			400	44.1	-
THE CHURCH OF CHRIST WILL DO IT (No.	433									Æ

Studies in Church History

By A. B. I.

Pilate's Superscription.

When Pilate placed a superscription above the cross of Jesus, it was written in three languages-Hebrew, Latin, and Greek. These three languages correspond to the three great peoples that prepared the way of the Lord and to whom the gospel was first preached. It is our purpose to make a brief study of each in the order of its importance. The Hebrew, of course, comes first. We shall notice the character, genius, and position of the Jews at the time when Jesus came. His one absorbing interest was his relation to God. Though oppressed by a sense of their inherent weakness and sinfulness, no people ever had a grander conception of their high calling and purpose in history. They believed that in them all the nations of the earth should be blessed. Did you ever stop to consider why the book of Psalms is the only book that is frequently taken out of its proper place in the Old Testament and printed in connection with the New Testament and sometimes as a single book? No doubt your first thought is that this is done because the Psalms constituted the great hymn book of the Jews. This is an explanation, but it is not the chief one. It is because it is the one book of all the Old Testament that may be properly termed the Sacred Book of Monotheism. It is the voice of the monotheistic faith as a personal religion, seeking with a passion that will not be denied the one God who is the life and light of the soul. It passionately cries out, "I need him"-I need him in joy and in sorrow, in the face of death and in the midst of strife; when I go to the house of God in goodly company, and when I pine alone, forsaken of all men I have trusted; when I dwell in the besieged city or watch on the lone plain the flocks by night; when I am uplifted or east down into the depths or humbled by being allowed to go on my own way to disaster and shame; but, above all, I need him when I have sinned against him, and can only ask that he would, according to the multitude of his tender mercies, blot all my transgressions.

The Jew's Yearning for "God and Gold."

But we find an unexpected contradiction in the character of the Jew. In spite of his deep yearnings after God, the Jew manifested a strange hankering after the material things of life; his spiritual history is one of ebb and flow. It may be comprehended under the meaning of four words -sin, repentance, forgiveness, joy. The property-loving trait is often dominant. We see it in the choice of Lot; in the dealings of Jacob with his uncle, Laban; and in the hankering of Israel after the fleshpots of Egypt. It is, indeed, a great paradox in Jewish character. Some one has facetiously suggested that his motto through the ages has been, "God and gold." It is certain that we cannot serve both to any advantage. For the same reason apparently the selection of Jewish names has been suggested by the money-loving trait. In every city you will find Mr. Goldberg and Mr. Goldstein and Mr. Goldblume and Mr. Rich. Now that silver has become more valuable than gold, we may expect an increase of the Silversteins. only explanation that I can offer for this inordinate love of material things is psychological. It is, perhaps, traceable to the fact that the Jews, inherently believing themselves to be God's special people, naturally assume that they are entitled to the very best this world can possibly afford. They have magnified the words, "We own God," rather than the words, "God owns us." 'There is a distinction here that it is plain to see. It is the difference between pride and obedience.

Hope was a cardinal note of Hebrew character. No people ever hoped so long and so patiently. It is both interesting and inspiring to note how many times David speaks of waiting upon the Lord. The Jews had an abiding faith that the Judge of all the earth would do right, and they were willing to wait for him. "Though he slay me," Job cries from his poverty-stricken place, "yet will I trust in him." However distressing the vicissitudes of their national life, however dark the present, the future was "The best is yet to be." The Golden Age lay altheirs. ways in front of them. Its most characteristic expression was the Messianic hope, which, as a Jewish rabbi said. "has become the driving wheel of all civilized humanity." Jewish writers carried that same predominant hope into the pages and life of the New Testament. The fact that Jesus had come did not dispel its meaning nor vitiate its power. This fact only changed the object. The hope is now set upon his coming again. The second coming is mentioned more than any other event in the New Testament. This, of course, does not imply, as some may contend, that it is imminent. It does show that hope of f great and glorious future was still a dominant note of th Jewish mind. But let us not forget that he also knew he to wait without becoming impatient or excited.

Wherein the Jew Excelled.

The genius of the Jew does not find its truest expression in the realm of the artistic. The only form of art cultivated among them was religious lyrical poetry, in which they have never been surpassed. Not artists themselves, Forsyth observes, "they have left that new creative life of the soul which makes art possible; they produced that which produced art." It is well to remember that the subjects of our greatest paintings are taken from the Bible; and the greatest subject is the Man of Sorrows. It is where we feel noblest and most divine that the Hebrew sneaks to us.

But when we turn to the realms of commerce and organization, we find innumerable marks of Jewish enterprise and genius. We have mentioned his inordinate love of material things and wondered at it. That which is truly more wonderful is how he manages to get so many things and in so many different places. Wealth is everywhere the synonym of Jewish citizenship. I have never known a Jewish beggar, nor have I ever heard of a Jewish person, young or old, suffering from neglect. If only Jews lived in the world, we would need no almshouses. At the time we are describing Jewish wealth was enormous, if we are to judge from the immense treasures which accumulated in the temple. The contributions were so large that sometimes as many as a thousand Jews were appointed to bring them to Jerusalem. It was a freewill offering and not the result of a "tag day." If there were only Jews in the world, we would never hear of a "tag day." We have a collection of Jewish bank books from Babylonia from about the time Xerxes. It would seem as if they had become bankers to their conquerors. Cicero tells of enormous contributions for the temple from Asia confiscated by Flaccus in 62 B.C. Josephus tells of two million seven hundred thousand people as present in Jerusalem at a festival. If we make a liberal deduction for the residents and for Oriental exaggeration, we have an enormous number of travelers from every quarter of the globe who had leisure to travel and money to spend.

Many Jews rose to positions of eminence and influence. Inscriptions show that the "chief physicians" of Ephesus were Jews. At the time of the Jewish war some Jews were Roman knights. In Egypt the Jews rose to the highest position. One Ptolemy is said to have intrusted the administration of the whole kingdom to Jews, reminding us of how Joseph had stood second only to Pharach. Jewish generals were not uncommon. It was just as true then as it is true now that you cannot keep a Jew down, nor apart from the great centers of progress and civilization.

(To be continued.)

Book Notices.

Send us $1.25 for a copy of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study," Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in arge, clear type. The book is substantially bound in oth. Price, $1.50.

The Abiding Christ.

Abide in me: there have been moments pure When I have seen Thy face and felt Thy power; Then evil lost its grasp, and passion, hushed, Owned the divine enchantment of the hour.

These were but seasons, beautiful and rare: Abide in me, and they shall ever be; pray Thee now, fulfill my earnest prayer: Come and abide in me, and I in Thee. -Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Peter as Paul's Interpreter.—Inspired Exegesis. (By Prof. I. B. Grubbs. Submitted by Isaac C. Hoskins.)

"What if God, [while] resolving to show his wrath and make known his power endured [nevertheless] with much long-suffering the vessels of wrath fitted for destruction:

and that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy which he prepared before for glory?"

(Rom. 9: 22, 23.)

If the exposition which has often been given this passage, and of the whole context in which it is found, should be seen to conflict with an inspired interpretation of some of the terms here employed, the incorrectness of the exposition becomes a matter of demonstration. Exegetes, like Alford and Meyer, in giving the Calvinistic construction of the passage and the chapter to which it belongs, could not certainly have studied sufficiently the scriptural usage in the light of which one of the most important words of the passage finds a ready explanation. When we know how Paul himself employs in other places the term "longsuffering," and especially when informed by Peter as to the specific Pauline use of the word, we cannot with the expositors mentioned above, as well as a host of others, suppose that the "vessels of wrath" were "fitted for destruction" by divine agency, and that, too, irrespective of all human conditionality. The middle voice of kateertismena (fitted), which certainly refers to the agency, of "the vessels of wrath" themselves, cannot be reconciled with this Calvinistic view. But upon this we do not at present lay emphasis. The object of God's "long-suffering," as understood by Paul and explained as to its Pauline import by Peter, ought to convince every one that God never, by an absolute decree, fitted these vessels of wrath for destruction irrespective of their own agency.

By turning to chapter 2: 3-5 of this Epistle, we learn the aim and purpose of God's long-suffering. "And thinkest this, O man, who judgest those who do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God? Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and long-suffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance? But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God." Here it is seen at once that the object of God's "goodness and forbearance and long-suffering" is to "lead to repentance," and that this relation of means to the specific end to which they were definitely adapted is interrupted only in the case of such as through their hardness and impenitent heart treasure up to themselves wrath against the day of wrath, becoming thereby 'vessels of wrath fitted for destruction." To represent these two agencies-the leading to repentance and fitting for destruction-which here stand in direct oppositionas proceeding alike from God is to represent him as divided against himself. We wonder not, brethren, that Alford, on recognizing the true purpose of the divine long-suffering, should speak of its coëxistence with the supposed divine agency in fitting for destruction the very objects of this long-suffering as "a mystery which we cannot fathom." Now we may not perceive the consistency of two things which are nevertheless compatible, and it is the province of faith in such case to bow before the mystery; but when we clearly perceive the inconsistency of two things as utterly contradictory in their nature, it is nonsense to speak in such case of "a mystery" opposed to our faith. If men become the objects of wrath through a disregard of God's goodness and long-suffering, which would, if properly heeded, fulfill their specific design in leading them to repentance, then it can never be said with truth that they become "vessels of wrath fitted for destruction" by virtue of a divine arrangement apart from all human conditionality. When, in exposition of his long-suffering, God says of the impenitent, "All the day long have I stretched forth my hands to a people disobedient and rebellious," he thereby disclaims any share in the production of the denounced disobedience and rebellion, and the consequent fitting of these vessels of wrath for destruction.

Passing now to Peter's exposition of Paul's doctrine of divine long-suffering, we find the clearest possible confirmation of the positions already elucidated by the statements of Paul himself. In his second Epistle, chapter 3, verse 9, he thus writes: "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness, but is long-suffering to us-ward [or to you-ward], not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." Here, before he makes reference to Paul's use of the term "long-suffering," he clearly shows that the object of this divine agency is to prevent the perishing and secure the repentance of the objects toward whom it is benevolently exercised, in perfect accordance with the teaching of Paul in Rom. 2: 3-5 as set forth above. The expression, "not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance," is exegetical of the term "long-suffering." According to Peter's conception, therefore, God's purpose to lead men to repentance through the exercise of his longsuffering is incompatible with a divine willingness or purpose that any should perish. In fact, Peter says, in effect, that the exercise of divine long-suffering is a proof that God has no agency in fitting men for destruction, inasmuch as its very aim and design is to lead them to repentance. All this, as the context shows, he offers in explanation of the delay in the coming of the Lord, "the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men." Hence the hortatory conclusion in verses 14-16: "Wherefore, beloved, seeing that you look for such things, be diligent that you may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless; and account that the long-suffering of our Lord is salvation, even as our beloved brother Paul also, according to the wisdom given unto him, hath written unto you, as also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things.'

We thus see that, according to Peter's inspired exposition of Paul's doctrine of divine long-suffering, the exercise of this attribute is promotive of, and subservient to, the salvation of men; and, consequently, when Paul affirms that God "endured with long-suffering the vessels of wrath fitted for destruction," his purpose was to save these vessels from the destruction for which they had fitted themselves, in "treasuring up to themselves wrath against the day of wrath," as Paul affirms in Rom, 2: 4, 5. Thus God is fully resolved indeed to visit his wrath upon all vessels of wrath that ultimately withstand the saving influence of his forbearance and long-suffering; yet he benevolently affords, through his exercise of clemency, both the opportunity and the means of reformation, in order to prevent the destruction which will certainly come upon all who persistently ignore his goodness as designed and calculated to lead them to repentance.

To the objector who is represented as saying, "Why doth he yet find fault; for who hath resisted his will?" the apostle, after rebuking the spirit of the objection, points out in the passage under consideration that very resistance to his will which the objector denies. If, as Peter informs us, the long-suffering of God means that he is not "willing that any one should perish, but that all should come to repentance," then, to "despise the goodness and forbearance and long-suffering of God" is to resist his will to bless and save even "vessels of wrath" already fitted through their "hardness and impenitent hearts" for the righteous visitation of divine punishment. Fitting for salvation, not for condemnation, is here exclusively affirmed of God, Alford, Meyer, and others in the contrary notwithstanding.

Arkansas Christian College.

BY O. E. BILLINGSLEY,

The idea of this college originated in the mind of Sister Jenney Hill, the wife of W. A. Hill, who, inspired by her inspiration, offered ten thousand dollars as an original gift to the school. The location of the school was offered to the town which would offer the best proposition for the school, and Morrillton won with a bid of one hundred thousand dollars.

The Board of Trustees is composed of the following men: W. A. Hill, Conway, a successful business man and mine operator; Joe L. Rector, Conway, manager of the Fair Store; J. A. Mode, Conway, president of Mode & Clayton Wholesale Grocery Company; J. C. Dawson, Conway, manager Hill & Dawson Lumber Company; Joe H. Blue, Morriston, Christian evangelist; J. F. Brummitt, Mountain Home, salesman White River Grocery Company; Dr. J. A. Matthews, Aplin, physician and planter; O. E. Billingsley, Waldo, Christian evangelist; J. T. Jones, Alma, president of bank; J. H. Bradley, Little Rock, salesman Beal-Burrow Dry Goods Company; F. M. Hill, Calico Rock, president Calico Rock Hardware Company; John F. Stobaugh, Plumerville, buyer Lesser-Goldman Cotton Company; W. S. Watson, Morrillton, buyer Fiser Mercantile Company.

The officers are as follows: W. A. Hill, president; O. E. Billingsley, vice president; Joe L. Rector, secretary; J. C. Dawson, treasurer; O. E. Billingsley, field agent; J. C. Dawson, campaign manager.

This school is no part of the church. It is owned and operated by the brethren, and they are to give to its support as individuals and not as churches. Its purpose is to educate boys and girls, and is to be run just as a business is run, the business being to educate our children.

It is our purpose to have one school in the State, and to enlist the support and influence of the entire membership of the church in the State in the move. It is your school the same as ours; and if we will all support it, we will have a school that we will all be proud of.

We want to raise $350,000 so we can build a one-hundred-thousand-dollar school building, two seventy-five-thousand-dollar dormitories, and to have $100,000 as a beginning of our endowment fund to help maintain the school. The funds of the school have been safeguarded by the board in that they have passed a resolution requiring an appropriation by the board before the money can be drawn for any purpose.

Morrillton is now putting on a campaign in Conway County in an effort to raise their bonus, and their goal is $150,000 for the school. If they do this, it will leave $200,000 for the brethren of the State to raise, or an average of $3,000 for each county. Some of the counties will not be able to raise their part, and this will make it necessary for some counties to give larger amounts, as some counties have a larger number of brethren than others.

Morrillton is a town of some five thousand inhabitant and is located in a few miles of the center of the State. The lay of the land is rolling and the health is unusually good. It is one of the richest towns in the State, this being shown by the amount they are giving for the school. Their offer is the largest ever paid for a school in Arkansas. Brethren, they think that much of the school, and this should be an inspiration to you, and should prompt you to give as you have never given before. Let the rest of us give as Morrillton has given, and we will have the best school of its kind in the South. The Arkansas Christian College has the brightest prospect that any school in this State has ever had. We have taken the word "fail" out of our language, and have placed in its place "success." There is now no danger of this move being anything but a success.

Do not keep your money, die, and leave it for some one else to spend as they please. Place some of it in this school, and it will be doing good for you in all the years to come.

Southern Practical Institute.

BY A. M. BURTON.

Those who are interested in the Southern Practical Institute for training colored boys and girls will be glad to learn that the movement is meeting with deserved encouragement. Cash contributions of a thousand dollars have been received, and the colored congregations of West Tennessee, Arkansas, and Mississippi have collected about the same amount and report that they will bring another thousand to Nashville during the holidays. Some fifteen or twenty applications for enrollment as pupils have been already received from the sections represented by these congregations. Several Nashville congregations have agreed to furnish a room in the boys' or girls' dormitory. Many nice letters have been received from leaders of the negro race all over the South, and the negro papers have all given the school considerable publicity. From present indications it seems that we will start the school on January 5, with forty or fifty students.

Those who are in sympathy with this movement to teach the negroes the Bible and fit them for usefulness along trade lines will never find a better time to help than at present. Last Wednesday night I heard one of the best sermons I have heard in years preached by Nathan Hogan, of Blackton, Ark., a sixteen-year-old colored boy who for two years has been a student at the Silver Point Negro Bible School. This young boy quoted scripture after scripture from memory, giving chapter and verse, as fluently as many of our white brethren quote from the Bible. I was the more gratified to see how this young colored boy was improving his opportunities because several years ago Brother David Lipscomb asked me to investigate conditions and prospects for the Silver Point school, and as a result of my report the brotherhood responded liberally and helped erect a nice brick chapel for the school.

As I heard the sermon referred to, the thought came into my mind that the Christian training of this one student, who gives promise of being capable of doing much for the spiritual uplift of his people, means the money contributed to the Silver Point school was well spent. What has been done there can be multiplied a hundredfold at the Southern Practical Institute. Just across the alley from our building the Catholics have a large training school for negroes, where tuition is practically free. Shall we, as members of the church of Christ, allow them to excel us along educational efforts in this neglected corner of the Master's vineyard, which lies at our very door? Your response will be your answer for time and eternity.

There is never any lack of hope when there are children the house.-J. A. Riis.

PRICE OF MUSIC BOOKS.

On account of the great advance in materials and la-or, it became absolutely necessary to make an ad-ance in the price of all our music books. The cost f production has advanced much more than we have acreased the price of books. Below we give revised price list, McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY, Nashville, Tenn.

PRAISE HIM Music Edition—Boards
Single copy $ 5. Per dozen 4 80 Per fifty 17 90 Per hundred 32 50
Per fifty
Music Edition—Cloth	70.
Of most of south to)
Per fifty
Per dozen 6 00 Per fifty 22 58 Per hundred 43 00 Al prices are f. o. b. Nashville. If shipped by Parcel Post, Parcel Post to be added.	1
CHRISTIAN HYMNS Music Edition—Boards
Music Edition—Boards 55
Per fifty 23 00
Music Edition Cloth
Single copy $ 58 Per dozen 7 20 Per fity 28 Per hundred 55 00 All prices are f. o. b. Nashville, If shipped by Parcel Post, Parcel Post to be added.
Per fifty
All prices are f. o. b. Nashville. If shipped by Parcel
WORDS OF TRUTH Music Edition—Boards
WORDS OF TRUTH Music Edition—Boards 45	3
Per fifty 18 00
ONE COLUMN TO THE CASE OF THE
Single copy 50 Per dozen 50 Per fifty 23 00 Per hundred 45 00 All prices are f. o. b. Nashville. If shipped by Parcel Post, Parcel Post to be added.	10
Per fifty
All prices are f. o. b. Nashville. If shipped by Parcel Post, Parcel Post to be added.
VOICE OF PRAISE Music Edition—Boards
Wusic Edition—Boards 35
Per fifty
All prices are f. o. b. Nashville. If shipped by Parcel
Fost, Parcel Post to be added,
BINED-CHRISTIAN HYMNS AND VOICE
	SEL
OF PRAISE, COMBINED Music Edition—Boards
OF PRAISE, COMBINED Music Edition—Boards Single copy Per dozen 77
OF PRAISE, COMBINED Music Edition—Boards Single copy Per dozen 7 20 Per fifty 28 00 Per hundred 58 00
CHRISTIAN HYMNS AND WORDS OF TRUTH, COM- BINED—CHRISTIAN HYMNS AND VOICE OF PRAISE, COMBINED Music Edition—Boards Single copy Per dozen 7 22 For fifty 28 00 For hundred 55 00
The state of the s
The state of the s
The state of the s
Single copy
Music Edition—Cloth 76

Yearly Report for Relief Fund.

During the year 1919 nearly ten thousand dollars was contributed to the Relief Fund. This is another pleasing reflection of the thoughtful generosity of our readers. The end of the great war did not mean cessation of suffering and hardship in the Near East countries, in Poland, and in France. In some of these countries there has been more of hunger and destitution than ever before. Those who have visited the Near East, and especially those who are on the ground distributing supplies, have sent many urgent messages calling attention to terrible conditions. Consular reports are confirmatory of these messages. The Near East Relief Committee, with headquarters in New York City, is continuing its nation-wide campaign, in which it has the sanction and assistance of the United States government. While the Polish people have not received so much exploitation as others, the fact remains that thousands of them are in dire need and are suffering many persecutions. We believe that conditions in devastated France are very much improved. Many of the donors to the Relief Fund have requested that the money be used for orphans and poor people here at home. Some sent in money with the request that it be used to educate poor children. Others were inclined to help some needy mission field. All contributions have been duly acknowledged in our columns. I have asked Mr. J. R. Jones, expert bookkeeper and accountant, to look over the receipts and disbursements. His statement follows:

Nashville, Tenn., December 31, 1919.—I have checked over the disbursements from the Relief Fund handled by Brother A. B. Lipscomb during the year 1919, and find a total of $9,530.03, which corresponds with the total of contributions acknowledged in the Gospel Advocate. The total amount received was disbursed as follows: Armenian and Syrian Relief, $5,000; Polish Victims' Relief Fund, $2,000; French orphans, $989.03; home orphans, $500; educational, $750; special cases of distress, $196; mission work, $95.

Attest: J. O. Hooper. J. R. Jones.

FURTHER ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Church at Lavergne, Tenn., $13.60; Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Palmersville, Tenn., $3; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wharey, Yorkville, Tenn., $10; Miss F. McCorkle, Yorkville, Tenn., 25 cents; Mrs. J. G. Jackson, Yatesville, Ga., $3; T. W. Bullington, Lexington, Ala., $5; Mrs. Luke McMenaway, Lebanon, Tenn., $5; Mrs. J. J. Walker, McMinnville, Tenn., $10; Mrs. R. C. Underwood, Rosedale, Miss., $3; Gladys and Benjamin Lewis, Nashville, Tenn., $2; Virtna Gillespie, Como, Miss., $1; Sarah Morgan, Vienna, Ill., $1; Lois Harnick, Vienna, Ill., $1; G. W. Albritten, Vienna, Ill., $5; Roy Robinson, Westfork, Ark., $1; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Arrington, Mount Vernon, Texas, $2; "A Generous Brother," Bowie, Texas, $100; church at Burns, Tenn., $10; Sycamore Church, near Ashland City, Tenn., $5.05; church at East Jackson Street, Albany, Ala., $50; church at Franklin, Tenn., $20; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. McAbee, Franklin, Tenn., $10; "A Friend," Berclair, Miss., $100; church at Coal City, Ind., $30; L. Meade Williams, Tulare, Cal., $5; church at Topeka, Kan., $82; Helen E. Smith, St. Petersburg, Fla., $10; "A Sister," Denton, Texas, $3; Mrs. W. S. McCubbin, Valley View, Texas, $4.50; C. E. Jones, Mount Ranier, Md., $1; W. B. Thompson, Braxton, Tenn., $5; "Three Friends," Route 3, Lebanon, Tenn., $17; Ira L. Winterrowd, Norman, Okla., $4; Pleasant Home Church, Devall Bluff, Ark., $25.25; Mrs. H. H. Wilson, Fayetteville, Tenn., $12; Dr. C. M. Southall, Florence, Ala., $50; "A Sister," Statesville, Tenn., $4; "A Sister," Smyrna, Tenn., $10; church at Stewart's Creek, Tenn., $10.05; A. L. McCorkle, Phoenix, Ariz., $1; V. E. Taylor, Fulton, Ky., $3; W. B. Houston, Portland, Maine, $1; church at Paul's Valley, Okla., $17; "Friends," Stevenson, Ala., $15; Mrs. L. H. Elam, $1; C. H. Byrd, Barney, Ga., $1; Sallie A. Watson, Dresden, Tenn., $2; church at Garvin Springs, Okla., $10; Mrs. M. McClellan, Columbia, Tenn., $3; Jesse Morris, Ashland City.

Tenn., $5; R. L. Moore, Bells, Tenn., $10; "A Friend," Stockdale, Texas, $1; Mrs. S. J. McCullough, Adlai, W. Va., $2; M. M. Combs, Prairie Grove, Ark., $5; Mrs. N. C. Andrews, Roswell, N. M., $10; H. C. Fleming, New Pine Creek, Ore., $10; W. R. Woodhouse, Weatherford, Texas, $5; T. M. Karnes, Trenton, Tenn., $5; church at Cullman, Ala., $5; "A Sister," Russell Street Church, Nashville, Tenn., $5; Miss Martha Allen, Nashville, Tenn., $10; Mrs. Jim McQuiddy, Wartrace, Tenn., $2; church at Ashland City, Tenn., $12; C. M. Wright and family, Fulton, Ky., $5; Mrs. Joe Timmons and son, Cunningham, Ky., $6; Mrs. M. E. Fields, Palestine, Texas, $1.05; J. B. Mankin, Murfreesboro, Tenn., $5; church at Russellville, Ala., $10; Miss Doula Payne, Nolen, Ky., $1.50; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Payne, Nolin, Ky., $1.50; Miss Hulda Payne, Nolin, Ky., $1; J. F. Draper, Defeated, Tenn., $10; R. E. Scoggin, Gunter, Texas. $5; church at Valdosta, Ga., $28; church at Dasher, Ga., $56.77; Mrs. Mary C. Dill, Murfreesboro, Tenn., $5; Bethel church, Mount Pleasant, Texas, $41.50; W. M. Hobbs, Lebanon, Tenn., $100; L. L. Boles, Atmore, Ala., $5; E. Gaston Collins, Huntsville, Ala., $5; L. M. Culp and family, Bells, Tenn. (bond), $46; Pauline Crutcher, Chase, Ala., $1; D. L. Lindsay, Nabors, Texas, $150; Mrs. Ramsey and daughters, Morrison, Tenn., $2; "A Sister," McMinnville, Tenn., $4; J. A. Bobbitt, Moscow, Tenn., $2.50; Mrs. T. C. Watkins, Kilgore, Texas, $8; Mrs. Luke Lea, Bridgeport, Ala., $20; Mrs. W. S. Patton, DeSoto, Texas, $2; church at Friendship, Tenn., $25; church at Charlie, Texas, $50; A. B. Comer, Nashville, Tenn., $25; "Two Friends," Bowie, Texas, $5; Mrs. E. F. Pouncey, Calvert, Ala., $2; L. A. Utley, wife and son, Tecumseh, Okla., $4; "A Friend," Nashville, Tenn., $5; W. H. Buchanan, Seffner, Fla., $5; church at Meaford, Ontario, Canada, $8; W. T. Wilson, Memphis, Tenn., $5; Center, Ark., community, by Dollie Paden, $10; "A Sister," Center, Ark., $6; church at Eagleville, Tenn., $20; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Clark, West Normal, Tenn., $5; M. B. Timmons, Columbia, Tenn., $4; church at Graton, Cal., $33.20; C. E. Jones, Mount Rainier, Md., $1; church at Albany, Texas, $25; J. W. Westcoat, Amarillo, Texas, $7; R. J. Raper, Rienzi, Miss., $5.

Crying over spilled milk does not do any good. The

In Perfect Peace.

Like strains of music, soft and low,
That break upon a troubled sleep,
I hear the promise old and new:
God will his faithful children keep
"In perfect peace."

From out the thoughtless, wreck-strewn past,
From unknown years that silent wait,
Amid earth's wild regret there comes
The promise with its precious freight:
"In perfect peace."

Above the clash of party strife,
The surge of life's unresting sea,
Through sobs of pain and songs of mirth,
Through hours of toil it floats to me:
"In perfect peace."

It stills the questionings and doubts,
The nameless fears that throng the soul;
It speaks of love unchanging, sure,
And evermore its cchoes roll:
"In perfect peace."

"In perfect peace," O loving Christ!
When fall's death's twilight, gray and cold,
And flowers of earth shall drop and fade,
Keep thou thy children as of old,
"In perfect peace."

And through the glad eternal years,

Beyond the blame and scorn of men,
The hearts that served thee here may know
The rest that passeth human ken,
"Thy perfect peace." —Selected.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearges paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, $17-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.

Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

The League of Nations and the Prince of Peace.

BY M. C. K.

As we begin the record of this particular new year—the year 1920-probably no theme has a more pressing or serious claim upon our immediate attention than the measures now under consideration by different nations looking to the establishment of permanent international peace. This does not mean, nor is it intended to imply, that at any time or under any circumstances religious newspapers or any other religious teachers should take the initiative and lead in the discussion of civil affairs along any line whatsoever; but it simply means that, when the civil authorities themselves propose such measures, religious teachers of all classes, to the full extent of their obligation to support the civil government at all, should gladly and unitedly use every opportunity to encourage them in their effort.

Referring, in a recent editorial, to the importance and absolute necessity of the world's exchange of its own galling yoke for the easy yoke of Christ, the statement was made that "every step it takes toward that exchange should be hailed with joy and meet with unstinted encouragement from the church. Why not? This is exactly the reason why all Christians, and particularly all preachers, should use every opportunity to encourage their respective governments in an effort to establish any national or international measure, such as the League of Nations, looking to the abolition of war and the reign of peace."

In direct line with this, it is most gratifying and encouraging to know, from facts recently gleaned and spread out before the world in the Literary Digest, that a canvass of "thirty representative cities" in "the East and Middle West" of the United States revealed the significant fact that only "about one out of twenty" of the preachers in that vast region could be found "who would defeat or drastically alter the League covenant." Moreover, a "monster petition made up of seventeen thousand names of clergymen in the United States" and sent to the national Congress at Washington called for "the ratification of the League covenant in a way that would not cause its resubmission to the Powers in Paris." It is gratifying to note still further that, after hearing "from every State of the Union," it is ascertained that "the great majority of" the preachers "are responding to" the issue "and are using their influence in order that the treaty may not be defeated."

That is a remarkable and gratifying record, and, as far as it goes, is precisely what it should be. Of course, it is a pity that even "one out of twenty" could be found who was not encouraging the adoption of such a measure as the League; but no doubt the failure on the part of this small number to give their influence to the State's movement for world peace is because of their failure to fully comprehend and appreciate the real nature and scope of the League. That document is in no sense a political document. In fact, it is not only neither Democratic nor Republican, in the partisan sense of these terms, but it is neither English, French, Italian, nor American, except as any one of these stands for that which is for the common good of all. Party politics, as is usual wherever it gets in its deadly work, has, in this instance, exerted a bad influence, and, in some instances, has led good men to fear that harm to our own country may somewhere lurk in the League. Other selfish considerations may have influenced some in their course. It is most deplorable, indeed, that a great issue of world-wide interest with possibilities of incalculable good to all mankind should be clouded by partyism or selfishness in either church or state. If the demon of party politics can be relegated to the rear, and Christians themselves will consent, for the time being, to suspend controversy over their differences about Christians and war, here is a common ground where all parties and all creeds in both the civil and the religious realm can stand shoulder to shoulder and pull together for the common weal of all mankind. Why not improve the golden opportunity? Even those of us who are thoroughly united in opposing all war in all forms and under all circumstances are not united on the extent to which it is proper for Christians to go in standing by and supporting their governments when the latter are engaged in war, and hence we were not so united in sentiment and action in the recent great war. The love that "thinketh no evil" presumes that each acted as he felt God made it incumbent upon him to act; but this lack of unity and united action among them then is no reason why they should not now, before the opportunity passes unimproved, unite their efforts and present a solid front in encouraging the civil governments in the adoption of a measure which, both directly and indirectly, is designed by its originators to accrue to the benefit of all mankind. To spend any of the precious time, at this critical juncture, in assailing and criticizing one another on matters in which each thinks the other was wrong would, to say the least of it, seem to be inexpedient and untimely. If the leading nations of the world would at once unite in ratifying the Versailles League of Nations, or some similar league, it would not only reduce the chances of war to a minimum, but would open the way, if logically followed out, for such future international arrangements as would stop all war. This would be a long step in the direction of establishing the claims of the Prince of Peace, and surely his followers should encourage it.

On the other hand, if the nations allow to pass unimproved the present opportunity to establish an international covenant that will secure peace, they will be in danger of lapsing again into the old regime under which, to apply the words of the Bard of Avon, the devotees of Mars will again be liable at any time to "Cry 'havoc' and let slip the dogs of war."

Hence, the critical situation of to-day makes it possible for Christians to either help or hinder the present world movement for peace: the former they can materially do by harmonious and united effort in encouraging the movement on all proper occasions; the latter they will certainly do by untimely bickerings and controversies among themselves over their own differences.

Moreover, the statesmen of our time, from their own point of view as well as Christians from theirs, have a heavy responsibility upon them. In an article on Bolshevism published in the Christian Century of November 27, 1919, Mr. John Spargo said:

That a certain proportion of the men who have served in the various armies and had their lives so thoroughly revolutionized surrender to the specious propaganda of Bolshevism ought not to perplex or surprise us. Instead of marveling that there should be so many of them, we might very well marvel that there are not many more. Yet there is danger in an easy complacence. When the house is afire, hysteria and complacence are equally dangerous, because they each make effective thought and action difficult. Serious students of the social problem have long known that a great war would bring an aftermath of revolutionary unrest traught with great possibilities of danger. Not for a brief period, but for many years to come, these possibilities of danger will remain and must be reckoned with by governments. Great is the responsibility of the statesman of to-day and to-morrow.

Then, describing some of the unavoidable consequences of the war, he said:

Thirty-five millions of men were under arms, it is estimated, when the armistice was signed. The demobilization of these immense armies, and of the civilian auxiliaries to them; the wholly changed mentality of the men, many of whom find in the homes they left environments no longer suitable; the friction inseparable from the process of turning industry and commerce back into the channels of peace—these are equivalent to bringing immense masses of highly inflammatory materials into the very heart of the social structure, needing only a touch from the torch of revolt to set the whole mass aflame.

In such a situation, it would seem that Christians should not only be wide awake and alert, but that they should indeed be foremost in their readiness to encourage all measures calculated to bring a distracted world back to an equilibrium that would enable it to hear and properly consider the higher claims and mission of the Prince of Peace.

Hence, finally, well-informed and properly thoughtful Christians have no time, under these trying circumstances, to criticize and oppose either men or measures which they think were wrong in the war. They know that it is too late now to correct or change either so far as the recent great war is concerned; and that, as to further wars, to prevent them altogther is a better and wiser service than to dispute over how far Christians should support their governments after war has come. If the nations will agree to abolish war altogether, Christians will have the best opportunity of the ages, not only to discuss their relation to the civil governments, but to present in their entirety all the claims of the Prince of Peace. How enchanting the vision of a covenant and comity of nations that will honor the "Golden Rule" among men; when capital and labor shall become brothers and comrades; when the weakest men and nations in common with the strongest are accorded justice and mercy; when peace and good will among all shall prevail; and when every heart can sing with Milton's hymn on Christ's nativity:

No war or battle's sound Was heard the world around!

The above article by Brother Kurfees does not deal with the League of Nations from a political viewpoint, but views it entirely from the Christian attitude. All Christians should unitedly work for peace and should encourage the nations in their efforts to bring about peace and good will in all the world. It is antichristian to discourage peace. No Christian will knowingly do anything that will in any way destroy peace and bring strife and bloodshed. The article leaves little to be said on the subject. I bespeak for it a prayerful and careful reading.

J. C. McQ.

"The Model Church."

BY E. A. E.

"The Model Church" is the title of a book written by Brother G. C. Brewer, of Winchester, Tenn.

Mechanically, the book is well made, a product of the McQuiddy Printing Company. The reputation of this company for neat, good, and thorough work is well established. To give work to this company is an assurance that it will be well done.

Intellectually, the book is well written. Scripturally, it is a conscientious effort to teach the truth and to accomplish good, which is commendable.

I read this book some weeks ago with interest, encouragement, and profit. It is both interesting and encouraging to note that so vigorous and thoughtful a young man as Brother Brewer takes hold of the church of the New Testament with a strong grasp and with love for God and his word in an earnest effort, without any theories and peculiar crotchets of his own, to place it before the world in its constructive and working capacity and efficiency as Christ built it and left it.

Using the word "divine" as embracing the wisdom and power and love of God, it will help all to "come to the knowledge of the truth" to remember that the church of the New Testament is a divine, or God-built, institution, having a divine foundation, a divine structure or organization, a divine head, a divine Lawgiver, divine laws, divine conditions of entrance, a divine Spirit—is a habitation of God through the Spirit—a divine mission, and a divine destiny—"and it shall stand forever." All who enter this church become "partakers of the divine nature, having escaped from the corruption that is in the world through lust." This church cannot be improved upon or changed in any way.

The appointment of elders in every church (congregation) and the work of the elders are the appointments of God. Brother Brewer brings out the work of elders—their responsibilities and duties—and their reward, a work which the great majority of so-called elders never attempt to do. Neither do many churches endeavor to develop elders or to have scriptural elders. This effort seems to have been abandoned. On the contrary, they are seeking some young preacher to take the place and to do the work of scriptural elders, while the young preacher feels flattered to attempt the work and to be dubbed "the minister" of a given congregation in a town or city, or "the evangelist." "The one-man pastor" or "the one-man minister" is as unscriptural now as it has ever been.

To give up the earnest and prayerful contention for the New Testament church in all its divine proportions and work and destiny is to surrender the truth and to become both sectarian and one of "the other denominations."

Brother Brewer emphasizes the reverence and awe which are due to Jehovah and the profound respect which must be manifested for his word. Without these, people cannot be Christians. These are all needed lessons.

This is not intended as a review of the book, but to commend the effort to get back to the truth and to teach it.

Frother Brewer states what he thinks is the Bible way of appointing elders without arguing the question or giving at length his reasons for so thinking. He subjects himself to just criticism in saying that he thinks this is the Bible way of appointing elders, yet he is willing to agree on any other way so as to have harmony and efficient elders. This would be consistent had he said God says appoint elders in every church without laying down any appointing ceremony or form.

It is encouraging to see young and strong men contending for the church of the New Testament. Continued efforts of this kind will result in the knowledge of the truth.

THE KIND OF PREACHING CALLED FOR.

In connection with the above, a wise and godly man wrote me a few days ago to help his congregation secure a man for five or six weeks' preaching who is clear in his conceptions of the gospel, who has a clear grasp of the truth of God, and who can show distinctly, in the love of the truth and souls, the difference between sectarianism and Christianity, the church of Christ and denominationalism.

A thoughtful and wise Christian woman said to me recently that top-water work will not do and that too many preachers skim along without grappling with the great questions of the gospel and eternal life.

Truly the harvest is plenteous and the laborers are few.

Humility.

BY J. C. M'Q.

The New Testament inculcates, demands, and encourages humility. Humility is the most admired virtue, yet the least practiced. Failing to appreciate the enormity of sin and ignoring the fact that hell will be awful and that men cannot escape torment without possessing contrite and lowly spirits, men refuse to humble themselves. All should appreciate the truth that Emerson uttered when he said: "He who does a good deed is instantly ennobled. He who does a mean deed is by the action itself contracted. He who puts off impurity, thereby puts on purity." We cannot love, harbor, and cloak sin and be a child of God. So sure as we do not loathe and hate sin, we are sure to be miserable in this life and in the life to come. If we are not humble, our lives here will be one series of blunders. The road that leads to glory first leads downward. If we are not humble, we are sure to stumble.

On the very threshold of Christ's teachings, he inculcates poverty of spirit. The first beatitude reads: "Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Christ, the great Teacher and Redeemer of mankind, was the most humble being this world has ever known. He devoted his life, his energies, and his talents to the elevation of sinful people. He not only shows that the poor in spirit shall enjoy the kingdom of heaven, but he also shows that those who are haughty, proud, and self-righteous shall be brought low. He says: "And whatsoever shall exalt himself shall be humbled; and whosoever shall humble himself shall be exalted." (Matt. 23: 12.) James, writing as inspired of God, says: "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall exalt you." (James 4: 10.) Also, Peter, the bold and fearless apostle, says: "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time." (1 Pet. 5: 6.)

good; and what doth Jehovah require of thee, but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Mic. 6: 8.)

In the light of such teaching we must know that without humility our lives cannot be useful, but will be failures. If we have done wrong, if we have sinned grievously in the sight of Jehovah, like the publican, we should confess our shortcomings and say to Jehovah: "Be thou merciful to me a sinner." When our shortcomings are known to the world, we should humbly confess them, regardless of how the world receives the confession. When David had numbered Israel, he did not refuse to make confession of his sin, but humbly confessed it, placing himself in the hands of a merciful God. He did not even seek to excuse or palliate his sin. Here is what he says: "And David said unto God, I have sinned greatly, in that I have done this thing; but now, put away, I beseech thee, the iniquity of thy servant; for I have done very foolishly." (1 Chron. 21: 8.) He was far from seeking to cover up his own folly. He so loathed the sin that he had committed that he had no hesitancy in saying that he had done very foolishly. On another occasion, when he had committed a fearful sin and had been guilty of having an innocent man put to death, when his sin was pointed out to him by Nathan, the prophet, he did not refuse to humble himself and make full confession because he feared some of his enemies would use the confession against him. Such conduct on his part would have given the enemies of Jehovah an opportunity to blaspheme. Instead of pursuing such a rebellious course, he, with a lowly, contrite spirit, and without seeking to justify himself in committing adultery with the wife of Uriah, the Hittite, humbled himself and said: "I have sinned against Jehovah." It was in this act of penitence and in hating and loathing the sin that he showed himself to be a man after God's own heart. He is not said to be a man after God's own heart because he committed this terrible crime, but because he repented of it and hated the wrong he had done.

God demands that we expel sin from our lives and that we show ourselves of a broken, contrite spirit, not only for our good, but also in order that we may thus be fitted and qualified for heaven, where sin cannot enter. God did not pass by David's sin without punishment. He took from him the child that was conceived by his wickedness, and for the sin he was required to suffer the consequences during his life. God, however, did not take the kingdom from him, because he humbled himself. Being forgiven and living with God's approval upon him, long after this sin was committed David says: "Jehovah is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart, and saveth such as are of a contrite spirit." (Ps. 34: 18.)

We show our penitence by confessing our sins, regardless of consequences. God encourages us to repent by telling us that there is "joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth." Zaccheus tells us that when he had wronged a man he restored to him fourfold. When the prodigal son had deserted his father's home and had spent all his substance in riotous living, he humbly confessed that he had sinned, felt his own unworthiness, and pleaded for mercy by requesting his father to make him as one of his hired servants. Such contrition, such lowliness of spirit, and such repentance will always exalt to the greatest good. So the father had the best robe brought forth and put upon him; had a ring put on his hand and shoes on his feet; had the fatted calf killed, and they are and made merry with his son.

writing as inspired of God, says: "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall exalt you." (James 4: 10.) Also, Peter, the bold and fearless apostle, says: "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time." (1 Pet. 5: 6.)

The prophet says: "He hath showed thee, O man, what is bring sunshine into the lives of our friends, and thereby bring sunshine into our own lives. It is as impossible to be happy until we have thoroughly humbled ourselves and turned away from sin as it is for us to blot out the sun. Every fiber of our being, every talent and energy that we have, should be devoted to the abasement of self. If we will do this, God will exalt us and make our lives useful and happy here, and at last fill them with the rich, mellow sunshine of heaven.

The Gospel Advocate's Relation to Missionaries.

BY J. C. M'Q.

The Gospel Advocate has never assumed the rôle of controlling our missionaries. It has stoutly advocated that the churches should do this. It is firm in the conviction that the churches should select, send out, and fellowship the missionaries in their work. In turn, the missionaries should report their labors, the receipts and expenditures, to the church or churches sending them out.

Years ago Brother E. S. Jelley went to India, the church at Vancouver, British Columbia, having recommended him for the work. On the recommendation of this church, the Gospel Advocate encouraged the churches to raise funds to send him to India. When Brother Jelley reached India, the obligation of the Gospel Avocate ceased, so far as his support was concerned. A Brother Sanders agreed to furnish Brother Jelley thirty dollars a month, which Brother Jelley said at that time would be sufficient for his support in India. Recently, when Brother Jelley wished to return to America, while the Gospel Advocate did not feel obligated to raise funds to bring him home, as a matter of gratuity it did, however, with other papers, encourage the churches to raise sufficient funds to bring him home. This paper does not undertake to send Brother Jelley back to India, neither does it contemplate doing so. The management of the Gospel Advocate has said to Brother Jelley and other missionaries that it is not in the business of sending out missionaries and that they must look to the churches to send them out and to support them. This journal stands ready to encourage missionary endeavors when scripturally conducted. We have given Brother J. M. McCaleb to understand the same. It is the work of the churches to select their missionaries, to send them out, and to support them. The papers have no right to usurp this work of the churches. This paper does not undertake to stand as sponsor for any of the missionaries. The churches must decide for themselves whether they wish to raise funds to return Brother Jelley, Brother Mc-Caleb, or any other missionary to foreign lands. In advocating the truth, the Gospel Advocate does stand irrevocably committed to mission work and boldly asserts that the Christian spirit is a missionary spirit. It would rejoice to see the day when the gospel is preached to every creature in the world and when the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ covers the earth as the waters cover the sea.

Later we will have something more to say of missionaries and missionary endeavors.

Tribute to J. D. Floyd.

BY T. C. LITTLE.

Elder John D. Floyd was born on September 1, 1839. He enlisted in the Confederate Army, Seventeenth Tennessee Regiment, Volunteer Infantry, in 1861, was a lieutenant, and served with gallantry until the close of the war in 1865. He was married to Susan B. Motlow on December 28, 1865. They lived each for the other and both for God, walking together in love until June, 1919, when she died, his oldest daughter having preceded her mother to the grave only a few months, leaving him only one child, Mrs. R. H. Mitchell, with whom he made his home from then until his death, November 30, 1919, being a little over eighty years old. Burial at Flat Creek, after funeral services by Brother B. F. Hart and me,

In relating his experiences in life, Brother Floyd often spoke of the wicked war and the four years of suffering and uncertainty in body and mind, as the preaching he had heard only beclouded his mind so that he could not tell whether or not he was one of the elect. He was rapidly drifting into infidelity when the war closed and he returned home. While in this mental condition, soon after the war, he learned that Dr. T. W. Brents, an eminent physician and preacher, was to preach at Lynchburg, about seven miles from his home. Having heard the Doctor lecture while attending school at New Hope Academy, in Marshall County, Tenn., and remembering him as a very able and logical speaker, he decided to hear him. He was sorely disappointed when the hour for preaching arrived. Another preacher, B. B. Trimble, arose and preached, taking for his text Acts 2: 38 and Acts 8: 22, from which he showed the law of pardon to the alien sinner and the erring child of God as well. He soon became interested in the sermon, which was a complete revelation to him. He saw for the first time a beauty and fitness in the Bible, and often spoke of the occasion as the turning point in his life. At once he began a close, careful, and honest study of the blessed Book. A few weeks afterwards he was baptized into Christ upon his confession of faith in himas the Son of God. In a short while he began preaching the word in his community and surrounding communities, continuing until his death-fifty years.

Very few men have done better work than he. The number of churches that he planted or served testify of his efficiency and faithfulness. It was a source of much pleasure and satisfaction to him in his last years to look back over his life work and see the faithful ones to whom he had carried the gospel continuing steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine, in fellowship, in breaking of bread, and in prayers. His spirit was sorely vexed at the divisions that had taken place in a few of the churches he had served, so earnestly endeavoring to "keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," and he spoke of it as his greatest sorrow. He was a strong man, morally and mentally. His writings were forceful, clear, and logical, and his book, "The Word of Reconciliation," will live on to lead men to the Lamb of God for salvation. His preaching was not with excellency of speech or wisdom of men, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, coupled with an earnest, modest, faithful life in every walk, and he won the esteem and confidence of all who knew him. Only a few days before his death he said to me: "I am anxious to go on. I am still trusting my Savior with the same faith in his word and its power to lead us all to the home of the soul. Yes, I believe the things I have believed for more than fifty years." Truly, his was "A faith that did not shrink,

Though pressed by every foe,
Nor tremble on the brink
Of any earthly woe."

It was certainly beautiful, comforting, and inspiring to see this old man of God passing through the valley of the shadow of death in the full assurance of faith, journeying to the "city which hands have not piled, to live forever in the country by sin undefiled." An honest man, a good citizen, a devoted father, a faithful husband, and a Christian gentleman!

We sorrow not as those who have no hope.

As soon as we lay ourselves entirely at His feet, we have enough light given us to guide our own steps; as the foot soldier, who hears nothing of the councils that determine the course of the great battle he is in, hears plainly enough the word of command which he must himself obey.—George Eliot.

Training Little Children

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

KEEP TRYING.

"When first the child begins to initiate, Do not the little effort underrate. Do thou the same, it will the more delight him, And ever to renewed attempts invite him.'

The way lay through a cheery part of the city, down a long hill. Grass plots and flower beds bordered the path, and sometimes little children played among them.

The sunlight flashed an arrow of gold down the incline, and I could see a child alone, sitting upon the pavement. Apparently he was most intent. His hands were busy, and his sunny head bent close over his undertaking.

As soon as I approached he seemed to realize my presence, though he was too busy to look up until I was quite close. He was very small, brown-eyed, and very winsome.

His hand grasped a piece of crayon, and as his eyes critically surveyed his drawing on the walk, he said, including me now within his glance: "I've made another kind of an 'S.'"

"So you have," I replied; but the questioning look in his eyes made me inquire; "What troubles you?'

"It's-it's another kind," he replied, uneasily. Before him was a well-drawn letter "S" about a foot high, executed with the swinging stroke of a strong and skillful arm; beside it, his own imitation of the first half of the letter. He saw the difficult curve to the left, but he could not make it, so turned to me for help.

"Shall I finish it?" I asked. With a sigh of relief he yielded the crayon.

"Who made this one for you?" I asked.

"A man," he answered. Evidently he was acquiring his instruction as the opportunity permitted.

"There!" he cried with satisfaction when I made the required stroke. "There it is."

"How old are you?" I ventured, for he looked too little to be concerned with difficult curves.

"'Most three, I think," he said.

Later I learned from his proud little mother that he knew "nearly all of his letters," and that he had learned the letter "S" soon after he was two years old.

An unusual child? Yes, but with greater possibilities come graver responsibilities.

Parents sometimes fail to realize that the young child needs widely varied activity and constant direction to awaken and broaden his interest, rather than the overstimulation which induces him to "go far" with some one

The ordinary interests of a three-year-old boy lead him to convert the diningroom chairs into horses or the sofa into an automobile. He first takes an interest in things that move, then in things that make a noise. By imitating in his play the life about him, a child unconsciously develops some understanding of it; then when one phase of activity ceases to interest him, he turns to another to "play" that while his interest lasts.

The young child is tremendously alert, vital, experimenting at life firsthand-living; for most of them, experience must be the great educational factor. Froebel appreciated this fact and chose the windmill with its attractive motion as a symbol of the child's experimental interest.

The wise parent always avoids extremes with even the "most unusual" three-year-old, but has care for his normal development, since that is the most urgent need.

Encourage the experiments of children, but never force them; let them keep trying.

On Guard.

There was a border of mignonette round the pansy bed, and the young mignonettes were just getting their eyes open.

"O Mrs. Pansy!" said one to her nearest neighbor. "What is that awful thing coming through the grass?"

Mrs. Pansy laughed. "You little darling!" ("Mignonette" means little darling, you know.) "That's Mr. Toad, our policeman. He's our best friend. There are three of them in this garden, and I wish that there were a dozen. He saved my life once."

"O Mrs. Pansy!" shuddered young Mignonette. "Tell me about it."

"It was long, long ago, quite early in the spring, while I was still young and tender. My first eye was just open, and I was just like you. The world seemed very strange, and I was afraid of everything.

"It was a lovely moonlight night. The orchards were in bloom and the air was full of sweet odors. I was just thinking what a beautiful and peaceful world it was, when the ground near my roots began to heave, and out crawled a queer creature. You think Mr. Toad is ugly, but you ought to have seen that cutworm."

"O Mrs. Pansy! What did you do? Were you terribly

"What could I do?" asked Mrs. Pansy, solemnly. "We plants are so helpless. I couldn't run; I couldn't call for help. Then I saw a huge dark creature hopping toward me. I didn't know what it was; I thought that all was over. Soon Mr. Toad was hopping away down the path and the worm was gone. It was a long time before I knew what had become of it; but one day I heard Patty and Betty talking about toads and cutworms, and then I knew what it was, and what I had been saved from, and how. Mr. Toad ate that worm, little darling."

"Ate it!" gasped Mignonette.

Mrs. Pansy nodded solemnly. "And saved my life. I had only three branches then, and that worm would have cut them all off before morning. 'Handsome is that handsome does,' say I. I love my friends for what they are."

"O, so do I!" whispered Mignonette, as Mr. Toad hopped by again. "Really, he has beautiful eyes, and he looks so strong. I hope that he will stay close by."

"He will," replied Mrs. Pansy, cheerfully. "This is his regular beat, and he'll keep it clear of bugs and worms, never fear."-Mary M. Parks.

O O O

Men are still panting for God. They know that nothing is more insipid than technical excellence devoid of spiritual reality. We must have life, and we have it in Christ. As flame feeds flame, so life feeds life; and the Christian has life-the only Life, the true Life, the æonian Lifein ever-flowing abundance.-F. F. Shannon.

A Morning Prayer.

I thank thee, Lord, for sleep and rest, For all the things that I love best, Now guide me through another day, And bless my work and bless my play; Lord, make me strong for noble ends, Protect and bless my loving friends. Of all mankind good Christians make, All this I ask for Jesus' sake. Amen. -Christian Work.

Query Department

By J. C. McQUIDDY

Sister Maybelle Whitfield, of Coxburg, Tenn., who has been a member of the church only since July, 1919, inquires to know the meaning of Acts 2: 4, which reads: "And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."

The particular point on which information is desired is to whom "they" and "them" refer. The baptism of the Holy Spirit was promised to the apostles and not to the one hundred and twenty disciples. Neither was it promised to the multitude. "Apostles" is the last word of the twenty-sixth verse of the first chapter of Acts. "They" of the first verse of the second chapter refers to "apostles." The "mighty wind . . . filled all the house where they [the apostles] were sitting. And there appeared unto them [the apostles] tongues parting asunder, like as of fire; and it sat upon each one of them [that is, each one of the apostles]. And they [the apostles] were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them [the apostles] utterance." According to the law of language and interpretation, it is clear that "they" refers to the apostles.

0 0 0

Brother C. V. McCollum, of Hurricane Mills, Tenn., tells of a young man who married a young lady and went to war. While he was gone the young wife left behind spent his money freely, dressed fine, and had a big time. When the young man came back from the war, his young wife would not live with him, saying she married him simply to get his money. A young Christian sister fell in love with this young man and contemplates marrying him. The querist told the young sister she would have a right to marry him, quoting Matt. 19: 9, which reads: "And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and he that marrieth her when she is put away committeth adultery."

This scripture is clear. If the young wife who stayed at home and had a good time is not guilty of adultery, then the marriage tie is not broken. The young sister would be guilty of adultery to marry the young man, although his wife was not living with him. The young wife should be shown the error of her way and should be encouraged to live with the man she married. We cannot properly respect the marriage relation, its sacredness and its holiness, unless we encourage people to be true to their marriage vows. Whenever we break down marriage, we destroy the home, the church, the government, and the nation. Marriage is God's oldest institution and is honorable and desirable in all. "What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

$ $ $

Brother C. T. Hall, Tarpon Springs, Fla., inquires to know the meaning of Eph. 2: 8, 9. He says he is continually confronted with these passages and that those who present it to him claim that baptism is a work. He also desires to know the meaning of Rev. 12: 14, 15.

Eph. 2: 8, 9 reads: "For by grace have ye been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not of works, that no man should glory." This passage has no reference to baptism as a work. The salvation which comes through grace is the gift of God. Man's works had nothing to do with preparing this salvation. After grace has offered man this salvation, then it is a work of man to accept the proffered salvation, which he does through faith and obedience. The Bible nowhere calls baptism a work. It does speak of faith as a work. John 6: 29 declares: "Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." God has ordained that men should believe in order to be saved. While salvation is the free gift of God, yet no man can hope to enjoy it without accepting, through faith, the proffered salvation. Heb. 11: 6 says: "And without faith it is impossible to be well pleasing unto him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seek after him." Also read Rom, 14: 23: "But he that doubteth is condemned if he eat, because he eateth not of faith; and whatsoever is not of faith is sin."

Rev. 12: 14, 15: "And there were given to the woman the two wings of the great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness unto her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent. And the serpent cast out of his mouth after the woman water as a river, that he might cause her to be carried away by the stream." I am not certain as to the meaning of this passage. Revelation is a book of symbols. It is usually held that the church is represented by a woman who is given two wings with which to fly from the persecution of the dragon.

$ $ $

Mrs. A. D. McAdams, of Ackerman, Miss., asks for information on certain conditions that appear to exist in her community. (1) "Is it right or scriptural to call on a sectarian to take charge of the Lord's Supper when none of our brethren are there to lead, since they say they do not consider it essential?" (2) "When no man is there to lead, should the women take charge of the Supper or leave it off?" (3) "Are members who are hard of hearing excused for not meeting and breaking bread with others because they cannot hear anything?"

1. We have no right to invite any one to, or exclude any one from, the Lord's table. Neither have we any right to invite any one to serve, or exclude any one-from serving, at the table. If a man serves at the table who does not do it in faith, he is guilty of sin; "for whatsoever is not of faith is sin." I certainly do not think Christians act in harmony with the Scriptures when they invite a man to do a thing in which he has no faith. As to the part any one is to take in the Lord's Supper, he must make the examination and decision for himself. "But let a man prove himself, and so let him eat of the bread, and drink of the cup. For he that eateth and drinketh, eateth and drinketh judgment unto himself, if he discern not the body." (1 Cor. 11: 28, 29.)

2. When no man is present, the sisters certainly should worship God as he directs. The scriptures that apply to men and women when worshiping together do not prohibit women from serving the Lord when no brother is present. Unless women wish to leave off going to heaven, they should should not fail to worship God as he directs.

3. Simply because people do not hear is no reason why they cannot eat the bread and drink the fruit of the vine. Certainly they can meet and worship God, though they cannot hear everything or even anything that may be said. Sometimes people would be better off if they did not hear so many things during the hour of worship. Whispering, scraping of the feet, and many other noises would be better not heard at that time. If those who are deaf do the best they can in the worship, God will make all due allowance for their deafness.

Q

AT HOME AND ABROAD

贝

Every day is a holy day, and every day is a doomsday.

W. S. Long writes that we may expect some good news from Washington soon.

Change of address: Thornton Crews, from Lawrenceburg, Tenn., to Box 36, Rogersville, Ala.

Mrs. U. M. Ferguson, of Magnetic Springs, Ohio, writes to tell us that "the special numbers are fine."

From R. H. Rogers, Atlanta, Ga.: "I think the special numbers are the best move the paper has made."

Lamenting over the opportunities and privileges of the past will be injurious to the interests and values of the

We appreciate a good letter from B. T. Miller, of Mc-Henry, Ky., in which he extends best wishes for a prosperous year.

The door of 1919 has closed; the door of 1920 is opened. If it has "Opportunity" written on one side, it has "Responsibility" on the other.

John M. Rice, of Merkel, Texas, has located with the brethren at Altus, Oklahoma, for six months' work. Correspondents should note change of address.

"Behold, I have set before thee an open door." God sets an open door every day. Every day begins a new year. It is the first of the next three hundred and sixty-five.

> All hail the power of Jesus' name! Let angels prostrate fall; Bring forth the royal diadem, And crown him Lord of all.

From G. C. Parham, 611 West Fourth Street, Oklahoma City, Okla.: "Please state in the Gospel Advocate that I am anxious to hear from congregations needing an evangelist for meetings in 1920."

Brother McQuiddy officiated at the wedding of his niece, Miss Lillian McQuiddy, to Mr. W. E. Stephens, on Wednesday, December 31, at 9 P.M. The Gospel Advocate extends heartiest congratulations.

The philosophy of the Christian is: "The best is yet to be." The future is the heritage of the man of faith. A great artist was asked: "What is your best picture?" He answered: "The one I am about to paint."

Bemoaning the fact that the big fish got away does not help anybody. The thing to do is to try for another, for "there are as many fish in the sea as were ever caught." Good advice for disappointed lovers and for everybody else.

We appreciate the following New Year's greeting from T. C. Little, of Fayetteville, Tenn.: "Fifty-one years ago to-day I began my subscription to the Gospel Advocate and have kept it up all these years. Long may it live and prosper!"

The Southern Practical Institute for colored people, founded by A. M. Burton, witnessed a fine opening. Twenty-eight students enrolled the first day. There are students from Tennessee, Louisiana, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, and one native African.

We rejoice with the Arkansas brethren in the very auspicious start made toward the acquisition of a first-class Christian college. The aggressive little town of Morrillton seems to be fully awake to the importance of securing such an educational asset.

It will be good news to the churches to read that Matthew Cayce, of Nashville, has given up his secular interests and will devote his entire time to evangelistic work. He will devote much of his time to promising fields in Mississippi. Brother Cayce has won the confidence of all who know him.

From Dr. B. F. Houston, Corsicana, Texas, December 31: "I think the Gospel Advocate is the best paper published among our brotherhood. I have been reading it for more than fifty years, and it seems to get better all the time. I have enjoyed the special numbers very much, indeed; also Brother Lipscomb's articles on 'Church History.' They are very instructive and interesting, and I expect to save them all."

From D. S. Ligon, Coxey, Ala., December 30: "On account of my long sickness, I am not going to be able, I fear, to go on in the general evangelistic work. If there are some three or four congregations that would like to cooperate and have a preacher labor with them in building up the cause, I shall be glad to hear from them. I am just able to be up and around in the house. Address me at Denton, Texas."

From Silas E. Templeton, 16 South Ashby Street, Atlanta, Ga., December 31: "May our Heavenly Father, through the Christ, bless the work of the Gospel Advocate and all connected with it during 1920 far above all blessings in the past. May the church of God as a whole 'awake out of sleep' in whatever respects there should be an awakening and do more in 1920 than in any one year since 'a common faith' has been known."

From S. C. Garner, Bakersfield, Mo., January 1: "I am now in a good meeting in Conway County, Ark. We should all go forth with determination to do more in every way for the cause of Christ in 1920 than in any previous year of our lives. I held fifteen meetings in 1919, which resulted in one bundred and eighteen baptisms and seventeen restorations. I have arranged for twelve meetings in 1920, which takes my time from the last of June until the first of the year. The field is white unto harvest and the laborers are few. May God bless all the faithful."

W. S. Long, Washington, D. C., writes: "On December 27, at 8:30 P.M., Mr. Arnold B. Parks, of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Mary Frances Porter, of Washington, D. C., were united in the holy bonds of wedlock at the home of the writer, 100 Second Street, S. E. Mr. Parks is one of our energetic business men who has just entered the business life in this city. Miss Porter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter, of Mount Rainier, Md., formerly of Nashville and well known in Tennessee, and who are faithful members of the church of Christ. We wish for this young couple a very happy and prosperous life."

From Charles L. Speir, Checotah, Okla., January 2: "I will report my work for 1919, with a firm resolve to do more in the Master's cause in 1920. I have been very actively engaged in preaching the word since the first of March. I have held seven protracted meetings and baptized a number of people. I have been reasonably well supported for most of my work. The last meeting I held last year was near Vinson, Christmas week. The Lord willing, I shall do my first preaching in 1920 at Wainwright, beginning next Lord's day. I can now arrange to hold meetings any time this spring. Any one desiring my services should address me at Checotah."

From A. O. Colley, Dallas, Texas: "In behalf of the Pearl and Bryan Streets Church, with which I labor, I want to send this message of cheer. We are anxious to join hands with every faithful Christian in the Lord's vineyard to work with all our might in any laudable undertaking that will honor God and render service to men. As to the activities of the church here at Pearl and Bryan, we are trying hard—and succeeding in a measurable degree, at least—to meet every condition that arises among us in the way that we think will be pleasing and honoring to the Lord. The Lord has been good to us during this year. He has given us a good increase in the membership and stirred us to give of our substance to meet every emergency call in the membership and some out of it, and also some to relieve the suffering out of our city. We are planning for still greater things in his name this year."

From J. Leonard Jackson, Nashville, Tenn., December Our work for the year at College Street has been very satisfactory. The attendance at our services has, from the beginning of the year, increased considerably. Now, as the old year comes to a close, we turn our faces to the new year with a determination to accomplish more than we ever have before. There have been a number of additions to the church during the year. The church is trying to look at others' welfare as well as its own. On the third Sunday in December the Sunday school contributed near eighty dol-lars to the church's coal fund, to be used for the benefit of The Lord's Supper is now observed at each evening service for the benefit of those who work in the daytime. All Christians of the city who, for any reason, are deprived of the privilege of meeting for communion at their morning service have a cordial invitation to meet with us. I will continue my work with the church through 1920. I have arranged, however, for more time for meeting work during the midsummer than I had last year. I expect to spend July and August in meeting work, hence am ready to arrange for a few meetings at that time. May the Gospel Advocate have a prosperous new year—a year that will bring at least fifty-two issues, with at least twelve special numbers.

HAVE YOU SCROFULA?

Now Said to Be as Often Acquired as Inherited.

It is generally and chiefly indicated by eruptions and sores, but in many cases it enlarges the glands of the neck, affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.

It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwholesome food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the medicine that has been used with so much satisfaction by three generations, is wonderfully successful in the treatment of scrofula. Give it a trial.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed, take Hood's Pills,-there is nothing better for biliousness or constipation.

The Master's Vineyard

Alabama.

Coxey, December 28.—The church and Sunday school are doing fairly well at present. Brother D. S. Ligon, of Denton, Texas, came here the latter part of November to preach and lecture for us. He preached on the fifth Sunday, lectured on Monday night, and was taken sick on Tuesday with pneumonia. He is still confined to his room, but is improving. Through the kindness of Brother and Sister W. B. Cox, of this place, whose home has been Brother Ligon's home while here, he has been well cared for. Brother Ligon is a very able gospel preacher, and has made many friends while here. Brother Thomas C. King, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., who is loved by all who know him, preached for us here this year until July, but has not been with us lately. Brother John Hayes, of Athens, has preached here some this year. Also, Brother Lind-sey Hodson, of Athens, an excellent man, has preached here some this year.—P. W. Ball.

Oklahoma.

Altus, December 31,-Another year is gone, with all of its experiences, bitter and sweet, and 1920 finds me seventy years old. I closed my year's work at Altus on the fourth Lord's day, with a fine audience. Our Bible study is doing fairly well. We are looking, hoping, and praying for bet-ter results in 1920. As the church has arranged with Brother John M. Rice to labor for them another year, I shall continue my work in the Lord's vineyard until called home, hoping to be able to say, in the words of Paul: "I have fought a good fight, I have fin-ished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."—H. H. Turner.

Howe, January 1.—I held a mission meeting here in October, baptizing one person and establishing a congrega-tion with about a dozen members. The Methodists and Baptists refused us the use of their houses, but we secured the Union Hall, in the sub-We have bought a small house of worship. The members are all poor, and we would appreciate help we can get in paying for it. I determined, by the help of the Lord, to build up a good congregation Paul preached two whole years in his own hired house; and if it takes that to build up here, I am ready to make the sacrifice. Land is cheaper here than any place I know of, considering the grade of land. The prices range from fifty to one hundred dollars per acre for improved land. The high school is said to be the best in the State. There is a good open-ing for some brethren to put in a drug store, a grocery store, a feed store, or other business. We are in the rich coal-mine section. We are in a few miles of thirteen gas wells, and they are drilling for oil in four miles of us. Howe is at the crossing of the Kansas Southern Railroad, from New Orleans to Kansas City, and the Rock Island Railroad, from Memphis to Oklahoma City and the West. This would be a fine location for a Christian College for Oklahoma and Arkansas, as we are in three miles of the State line and only thirty-five miles from Fort Smith. I am interested in settling a lot of good brethren in this country, and will take pleasure in giving you the best information I can. do not know a better location for a home or for investment. My year's work is closed, and it was one of my best. I begin the new year next Sat-urday night, near Van Buren, Ark. I am preaching for the few at Howe, and the outlook is good. Best wishes for a good year for the Gospel Advo-cate in 1920.—W. F. Lemmons.

Texas.

Waxahachie, December 29.-We had most interesting services yesterday. "Our Progressive Program for 1920" was outlined by five of the brethren in excellent talks that held the attention of the large audience at 11 A.M. Large crowds and deepening interest mark the work along all lines of service here.-Ben West.

Kirbyville, December 28.-I had a very pleasant trip to Louislana last week (December 19-21). Dinner on the ground and three well-attended services on Sunday. This closed my work for 1919. While I did not have so many additions, the extra miles traveled, liberal support of the brethren, and one congregation established in a destitute place will, I suppose, make 1919 an average year for me. Most of my 1920 time is already engaged. So I aim to make next year the best from every viewpoint of my ten years' preaching.—J. S. Daugherty.

Wonderful Egg Producer

Wonderful Egg Producer

Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. A scientific tonic has been discovered that revitalizes the flock and makes hens work all the time. The tonic is called "More Eggs." Give your hens a few cents' worth of "More Eggs," and you will be amazed and delighted with results.

If you send $1.00 to B, J, Reefer, the poultry expert, $251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1.00 packages of "More Eggs"—one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The Million Dollar Merchants' Bank of Kansas City, Mo, under the special content of the spe

Commendable Example.

BY W. S. LONG.

While I was out to raise funds to erect a house of worship for the church of Christ in Washington, I by chance met one of our gospel preachers, who said, "I am glad to help that good cause;" and then he emptied his pocketbook and gave me all he had. The colored congregation at Manchester, Tenn., is small, yet they have just sent us a donation of five dollars and fifty cents. This donation came to me by Brother Newson, one of our colored preachers. May God bless them for this good example and give them a great "door of opportunity." Shall not these examples move many who have great wealth to action? I went to other homes the owners of which had rich farms, large bank stock, and were blessed (cursed) with diamonds, but who would not give anything. Selah!

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood. the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same to-day, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio .- "I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw.' -Mrs. Sara Shaw, R. No. 1, Mrs. Shaw.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was Women who are suffering as sne was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

The Threshing Problem

Solved Threshes cowpeas and soybeans from the mown vines, wheat, oats, rye, and barley.

A perfect combination machine. Nothing like it. "The machine I have been looking for for twenty years."—W. F. Massey. "It will meet every demand."—H. A. Morgan, Director Tennessee Experiment Station. Booklet 29 free.

Koger Pea and Bean Thresher Co., 18 Koger Street, Morristown, Tenn.

A Treat for the Skin.

A Treat for the Skine
Freekles, tan, sunburn, pimples, eczema, all can be easily and delightfully vanished with the use of Palmer's Skin Success Ointment. Used for over 80 years. Pev.
A. E. Ballard, D. D., President Ocean
Grove Camp Meeting Association, Ocean Grove, N. J., writes: "Your Skin Success Ointment completely cured me of an irritative itching eczema and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be similarly afflicted." It is not only delightfully antiseptic and cleansing, soothing and softening to the skin, but also immediately effective in blenching the complexion and in vanishing blackheads, freckles and all skin eruptions. Ask your druggist or send for free sample to The Morgan Drug Co., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Letter from Muskogee, Okla. BY J. G. ALLEN.

The weekly visits of the Gospel Advocate to my home make me feel like I am not so far from my old friends and home in Nashville, Tenn. All the special numbers are good: but if asked the one I think the best, I would say, "The 'Sermon' Number." I agree with my good friend and brother, F. W. Smith, that the best sermon I ever heard fall from the lips of man was from Brother David Lipscomb on the subject, "The Blood of Christ." Brother Smith's comments on that sermon brought the time I heard Brother Lipscomb preach it as vividly before my mind as if it were but yesterday. It was my pleasure through many years to hear Brother Lipscomb preach in protracted meetings and at regular services on Lord's day, and I can say one thing about his preaching that I cannot say about that of any other-that is, every sermon was good; but the one on "The Blood of Christ" was not only good, but very good. The substance of that sermon is found in his book, "Salvation from Sin," published by the McQuiddy Printing Company, and which should be in the homes of all Christians, especially preachers.

While speaking of Brother Lipscomb, pardon me for saying just a word. I used to wonder whom Brother Lipscomb's mantle would fall upon when he died. Well, 'tis true he has not been dead very long, but I have failed to discover it on another thus far. I do not mean by this that we have no good preachers now, for I believe there are more grand, godly men now than any time since the days of inspiration; but I do believe that Brother Lipscomb acted as a balance wheel to the lives of more men and women than any man since the days of inspiration. He always impressed me that his best effort was to divest his preaching of all "tucks and frills" of modern theology and rely upon a plain "Thus saith the Lord" more than any man I ever heard.

As it has been some time since I have made a report of the work here, I wish to say that our band is growing and that we believe the prospects are brighter here for establishing the cause permanently than ever before. The cause has suffered much in the past through factions and jealousies of would-be leaders, but we all believe that this will not occur in the future. It is my pleasure to preach each Lord's day at Moose Hall, 318 West Okmulgee Street, to as faithful a band of Christians as I ever labored with. We are planning to do some tent work this year, also buy a house as a permanent place of worship. The money that has been given on this house is safe in bank and will be used for the house this coming spring. We have decided to make no more appeals through the papers until prices on real estate come down, then we will buy, and will again place the matter before the brotherhood. I make this statement in justice to ourselves; so that, if any appeals are made, the brotherhood will understand who are making them.

My address is 1412 Baltimore Avenue, Muskogee, Okla.

A Natural Strengthener.

The value of iron in medicine has long been known, but never more appreciated than to-day.

People are learning that in Peptiron, a real iron tonic, this most useful metal is so happily combined that it is acceptable to all, even those who, for some reason or other, have been unable to take it in the past.

Peptiron is an agreeable, easily assimilated, nonconstipating preparation of iron, nux, pepsin, and other tonics and digestives, and is giving great satisfaction.

In cases where blood-cleansing and liver-stimulating as well as nervestrengthening are needed, Peptiron is very effectively and economically supplemented with Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills. These three medicines form the Triple Combination Treatment to which the C. I. Hood Company is now calling attention as especially beneficial to sufferers from impure blood, weak, unstrung nerves, torpid and sluggish liver, or a generally run-down condition.

Self-Condemned.

The agnostic begins by a confession of human ignorance and then proceeds to make a universal assertion which implies the possession of universal knowledge. To assert that the unknown cause "can never be known or conceived or understood" is to assume that the speaker is acquainted with the constitution and caliber of all mind in all ages. To say that the inscrutable existence will never be known by man is to say we know what will be the extent of all men's knowledge in the future. We cannot measure all possible knowledge with our finite minds. He who says that God is "unknowable" takes a selfcontradicting attitude and assumes such knowledge as can be attributed only to a divine Being .- J. H. Hitch-

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation, Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

A Preacher Recommended.

BY TICE PLRINS

C. W. Holley, originally from West Virginia, has been the "pastor" of the digressive church at Childress. Texas, some months. Last August I began to beg him to turn away from them and line up with the church of Christ. He was responsive, and since Brother W. E. Morgan has been preaching at Childress we have tried even harder to rescue him, and two weeks ago he resigned from their work and last Sunday lined up with the loval brethren. Since he resigned the "digressives" have said many evil things of him, and even declared him crazy; but I think that is because he came from West Virginia, for those fellows back there all act queer at times (1 came from there, too). Brother Holley is a good man, a clean man; he knows the truth, he is safe, and he can preach; and here is my challenge to the loyal brethren everywhere to call him and use him. He now is at sea, with no work, no support, but, not afraid to labor, he turns to daily toil; but the cause needs him, and if you, dear reader, want a good, clean, pureminded man to hold a meeting for you, call C. W. Holley. Brethren, help me to arrange meetings for him next season, to keep him busy. Write me what time you want him, and write him, and let us use the blessings God gives to us. Who will be the first to call Holley for work? Give him monthly work through the winter and help him live till he is established among us. I have a list of indorsements he holds from the digressive church, showing how he stood with them before he quit them. I know some of the men on this slip, and an indorsement from them is as good as any man can get among them. So take notice. He was clean then; he is clean now.

Book Notice.

"The Model Church." By G. C. Brewer. McQuiddy Printing Company. Pages, 166. Price, $1.

The chapter titles are: "What Constitutes a Congregation," "The Qualifications of an Elder," "The Duties of the Elders," "The Relation of the Overseen to the Overseer," "How Elders are Made," "The Diaconate," "Dealing with the Disorderly," "Figuring on the Finances," "Church Music," "A Model Church," "Prayermeeting Topics."

Each chapter affords a clear-cut discussion of the subject it treats. The reader will never have to reread a paragraph to discover what the author means.

The chapter on "Church Music," while taking a position against instrumental music in church services, deals

Constipation

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Chamberlain's Tablets for constipation. When the proper dose is taken their action is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize that it is the effect of a medicine. These tablets possess tonic properties that aid in establishing a natural and regular action of the bowels. Chamberlain's Tablets have cured many cases of chronic constipation.

Chamberlain's Tablets

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker. Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

NEW SONG BOOKS Evangelists and Churches Attention. wonderful value; 83 familiar songs of the Gospel, words and music. Used all

A wonderful value; 83 familiar songs of the Gospel, words and music. Used all over the world. Only $8 per hundred, less quantities 10c each, for No. 1 or 2, round or shaped notes. No. 1 and 2 combined, round notes only, $15 per hundred, less quantities 18c each, Bound in cloth. Sample copy 75c. Money back if not pleased. E. A. K. HACKETT, Dept. No. 2, FT. WAYNE, IND.

with the subject in a general way, and especially stresses the spiritual department which should characterize the praise feature of worship.

As a whole, this book is calculated to clear away the mists and to enable the reader to present more convincingly the truth concerning the church described in the New Testament.—Christian Standard.

For That CHILLY Feeling

Take Grove's Tasteless CHILL Tonic. It Warms the Body by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND
IT IS JUST WHAT CHILDREN
ought to have for feverish colds, coughs,
"snuffles," and that tight, wheezing breathing. It stops croup, too. It eases and checks whooping cough, measles cough and bronchial coughs.

cough and bronchial coughs.

Every User a Friend

"My little girl had been having the croup every few nights, so I began giving her a few drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every two or three hours. That night she slept well, never coughed any, and next day her cold was gone."—Mrs. R. M. Ranley, Stanford, Ky.

"My three children had a very severe attack of whooping cough. The first few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar gaze them great relief, and it did them good."—Mrs. E. C. Hostler, Grand Island, Neb.

Foley's Honey and Tar has been used for more than thirty years in thousands for more than thirty years in thousands of homes for relief from coughs, colds, spasmodic croup, tickling throat, hoarseness, whooping cough, bronchial coughs and the coughs that follow influenza or la grippe.

TRAINED NURSE TALKS TO WOMEN

Tells How, Through Years of Practice in Women's Weaknesses, She Found Simple Home Remedy to Ends Leucorrhea.

It took years of professional practice for me and my two associate nurses in treating weaknesses for me and my two associate nurses in treating weaknesses of women to find a simple, easy, certain way to end Leucorrhea (commonly called "whites"). In our experience we find that 75 per cent of all women are more or less distressed with this annoying weakness, which makes them pale, tired, fretful, wasting their feminine strength and often leading to serious illness. Working on our own cases and in conjunction with physicians, we had wonderful success with our own treatment. We brought many women from deep despair to toyful satisfaction. They wanted us to tell others all over the country how our treatment, named "Lukora," brought them out of distress and weakness to genuine feminine strength and health.

If you are a sufferer from Leucorrhea, stop carelessiy letting it go on, but learn of distress and weakness to genuine teminine strength and health.

If you are a sufferer from Leucorrhea, stop carelessly letting it go on, but learn from me how it may be quickly ended in your own home. I will tell you about this simple home method (without obligation) by your simply writing to me, Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A The Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence and information sent will be confidential and forwarded in plain sealed envelopes.

NOTE,—The Nurses' Institute earnestly advises every woman suffering with Leucorrhea, who wishes to got rid of it, to write Miss Cavanaugh at once. This remarkable offer is sincere, and the fact that the discoverers of the treatment are themselves registered nurses and women makes it a safe and unquestionable treatment.

Big Salary For

The Government or business concerns will start you on $1,100.00 to $1,500.00 a year as bookkeeper or stenographer—this we guarantee—or $2,400.00 to $5,000.00 as accountant when we train you. Thousands of positions to be filled. By a new method, indorsed by business men, we train you by mail or at our office within half usual time. Three hundred thousand Draughon-trained have made good. Clip and send this notice for particulars. Address DRAUGHON'S COLLEGE, 210-T, Nashville, Tenn.

FIELD REPORTS

Alabama.

Coxey, December 29.—I have not been heard from lately, but I have been sick. I came into this State for some work, but took sick soon after getting here. I took my bed on December 2, and am just now able to sit up a little. This is twenty-eight days for me. I tell you, brethren, it has been hard on me. The church here has been as good to me as they could. I am in the home of Brother and Sister W. R. Cox, who have done all they could for me during my sickness here. I was at death's door for several days, but, thank the good Lord, I am able to sit up, and hope to be out in the Lord's work again soon. ren, pray for me.—D. S. Ligon. Breth-Albertville, December 29.—I preached at Cowart Street Church, Chattanooga, Tenn., the fifth Sunday in November; East Chattanooga, the first Sunday in December; Union Grove, Ala., the second Sunday; Rockmart, Ga., the third Sunday; and at home (Albertville), the fourth Sunday. This finishes my work for 1919. It has been, to me, a very pleasant year's work. While there were not many additions where held meetings, the attendance and interest were much better than last year. I held one meeting where the congregation had been so depleted by deaths, removals, and indifference that they had ceased to meet for worship. Four persons were baptized, and the older members were induced to take up the work again, and they now meet every Lord's day for worship. They contemplate building a new house soon. I held another meeting at a new place, Drewry's Bluff, Va., and the last news from them informs me that the five members who were there are meeting every Lord's day for worship, with an interested outside attendance, and that the prospects are bright for a good meeting when I shall return next spring. The finanshall return next spring. The finan-cial contributions to the work have been sufficient, with what I could supplement it otherwise, to supply us with food and raiment, and we ought, It is my detherefore, to be content. sire, and shall be my effort, to do more better work next year than I did the past year .- R. N. Moody.

Got 117 Eggs Instead of 3

Says One Subscriber

Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hons. A scientific tonic has been discovered that revitalizes the flock and makes hens work all the time. The tonic is called "More Eggs." Give your hens a few cents' worth of "More Eggs." and you will be amazed and delighted with results.

If you send $1.00 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two largesize $1.00 packages of "More Eggs"—one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making how. The Million Dollar Merchants' Bank of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees, if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

He Has Fast Hold.

There is a simple child's story which always seems to me to convey a profound and too often forgotten truth. It is the tale of the boy who, with his father, was climbing some steep and dangerous place and to whom a voice from below suddenly called up: "Have you fast hold of your father?" "No," was the immediate answer; "but he has fast hold on me." That is the first, the main thing-not the sense of our keeping hold of God (if it were all, how weak, how ready to fall we all should be!). but rather the sense that our Heavenly Father has hold of us, and that, because he is greater than all, no one is able to pluck us out of his hand.

And so I go on, not knowing. I would not if I might.

I would rather walk in the dark with

Than walk alone in the light; would rather walk with God by faith

Than walk alone by sight,"

-George Milligan.

CHILLS, COLDS, FEVERISHNESS

Black-Draught Is Used by Virginia Lady for Colds, Fever, and Other Troubles with Fine Results.

Rocky Mount, Va .- Miss Mae Chitwood, of this place, recently stated:

"I have used Black-Draught for colds and stomach trouble and certainly have found it very satisfactory.

"When I would feel bad and feverish, as though I was taking a fresh cold, I would make a good cup of Black-Draught tea and it would soon set me all right.

"I can recommend it as a splendid laxative, and gladly do so You may publish my statement."

When you feel chilly, tired, feverish, headachy, and fear that you are taking cold, take a good dose of the old, reliable, liver medicine you have heard so much about-Thedford's Black-Draught. It is made from purely vegetable ingredients, acts in a gentle, natural way, and, by helping to drive out poisonous waste matter from your system, it will often, if taken in time, prevent a chill from developing into a cold.

Thousands of people, during the past seventy years, have found Black-Draught of benefit in such cases.

Try it the next time you chill or sneeze.

FREE TO Pile Sufferers

Don't Be Cut—Until You Try This New Home Cure that Any One Can Use With-out Discomfort or Loss of Time. Simply Chew Up a Pleasant-Tasting Tablet Occasionally and Rid Yourself Per-manently of Piles.

LET ME PROVE THIS FREE.

My internal method for the treatment and permanent relief of piles is the correct one. Thousands upon thousands of cured cases testify to this, and I want you to try this method at my expense.

No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is chronic or acute, whether it is occasional or permanent, you should send for this free trial treatment.

No matter where you live, no matter what your age or occupation, if you are troubled with piles, my method will relieve you promptly.

I especially want to send it to those apparently hopeless cases where all forms of ointments, salves, and other local applications have failed.

I want you to realize that my method of treating piles is the one infallible treatment.

This liberal offer of free treatment is too important for you to neglect a single day. Write now. Send no money. Simply mail the coupon, but do this now—TO-DAY.

FREE PILE REMEDY.

E. R. Page, 430-F Page Bldg., Please send free method to:	Marshall, Mich. trial of your
***************	*******

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. This calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustrations. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural illustrations, such as "Iesus Blessing the Children," "The as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy Women." There are twelve of these monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustration on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sun-days. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of the twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, which enables one to select one of seven calendars for use in each of 200 years from 1800 to 2002.

The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers, the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the name of some prospective business student. In writing, mention this paper.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

The Potter Orphan Home Car.

BY H. C. SHOULDERS.

Additional contributions for the Potter Orphan Home car are as follows:

Mrs. Sarah Paine, Vanarsdell, Ky., $1; "A Sister," Salem, Ind., $1; Mrs. J. H. Gearhart, Osceola, Iowa, $1; Fred E. Dennis, Elba, Ohio, $1; "A Friend," Glyndon, Minn., $1; C. C. Merritt, Davis City, Iowa, $5; Mrs. Mary E. Browner, Frankfort, Ky., $1; T. Q. Martin, St. Marys, W. Va., $1; Brother Long's Bible class, Washington D. C. $15; church at Brookstown. ton, D. C., $15; church at Brookstown, Ky., $10; H. F. Mustain and R. T. Smith, Horse Cave, Ky., $5; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Clowson, Blairsville, Pa., $2; Mrs. M. E. Herscher, Herscher, Ill., $1; Mrs. A. B. R., Olmstead, cher, Ill., $1; Mrs. A. B. R., Olmstead, Ky., $1; Lawrence B. McCoy, Alvy, W. Va., $1; Mrs. W. L. White and children, Detroit, Mich., $2; Russell Davis, East Akron, Ohio, $1; Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Meek, Leon, Iowa, $25; T. P. Priestley, Greenfield, Tenn., $1; "In Christ's Name," Salem, Ind., $10; "A Sister in Christ," Maury City, Tenn., $1; Mrs. E. B. Page, Tolbert, Texas, $1; "Two Sisters," Lawrenceburg, Tenn., $2; Mrs. Nathan Corder Chest Tenn., $2; Mrs. Nathan Corder, Cheat Haven, Pa., $1; Mrs. B. F. Scruggs and daughter, Morven, Ga., $2; H. J. Conn, Detroit, Mich., $2; church at Bohon, Ky., $12,10; E. E. and Flora Berry, Recluse, Wyo., $1; Mrs. W. T. McInteer, Franklin, Ky., $1; Mrs. H. A. Shockney, Lexington, Ky., $1; Mrs. A. Shockney, Lexington, Ky., $1; Mrs. Sarah Shults, Valparaiso, Ind., $1; church at Bismarck, Ill., $5; Miss Margaret Martin, St. Marys, W. Va., $1; Maurice Clymore, Detroit, Mich., $1; Joe A. Mason, Estill Springs, Tenn., $1; Mr. and Mrs. K. Bowles, Louisville, Ky., $10; Mrs. Penniston, Louisville, Ky., $1; Mrs. Millett, Louisville, Ky., $5; "A Brother," Harper, Kan., $5; Hugh Dozier, Ashland City, Tenn., $1; C. M. Southall Elorence, Ala., $1; $5; Hugh Dozier, Ashland (1), $1; C. M. Southall, Florence, Ala., $1; following are members of church of Christ at Sellersburg, Ind.) Charlie Courtley, $3; H. C. S. and wife, $5; M. G. Wells, $5; E. L. Haas, $1; Walter Poindexter, $1; Clifton Smith, $2; Mrs. Kent Smith, $6; Mrs. Eliza Walker, 50 cents; Elmer Poindexter, Walker, 50 cents; Elmer Poindexter, $1; Mrs. Roy Smith, $2; Mrs. Sarah Selbridge, $1; Mrs. Anna Leach, $1; Dr. H. K. Smith, $5; W. H. Dougherty, $1; Andy Dorman, $1; Mrs. Cris Riggle, $1; Mrs. John Scheller, $1; Mrs. John M. Bercheit, $1; Mrs. James Weir, $1; Walter McCannon, $1; Orlando Stoner, $1; George A. Leach, $1; Caroline Haas $1; W. M. Cremer $1. Caroline Haas, $1; George A. Leach, $1; Caroline Haas, $1; W. M. Cremer, $1; J. E. Dougherty, $1; Jesse Stockdell, $1; Mrs. Oscar McKinney, $1; John Young and wife, $1; Hortense Meloy, $1; Kent Smith, $5; Mrs. John Noble, $1; Joseph Smith, $1; Charles Joseph Smith, $1; Chester Smith, $1; Mrs. Cecil Beason, $1.

Tribute to W. A. Moody.

BY R. L. HART.

W. A. Moody, familiarly known as "Arthur Moody," was called from the busy, active life that he had always led to that rest that remaineth for the people of God, on September 17, 1919, being at the time of his death fifty-one years, ten months, and twelve days of

He united with the church of Christ on October 15, 1886, and was a devoted, loyal, and energetic member of this body, a liberal supporter of the gospel, and a faithful, true friend to those who preached it.

He was married to Dellla Ratterree on December 28, 1887, and is survived by her and nine children-Wayne, Roy, Guy, Minton, Clyde, and Prentice Moody; Mrs. Myrtle Oliver; Misses Ina and Minnie Moody.

Brother Moody discharged the duties and fulfilled the relationship of husband and father with unswerving fidelity, and in this sacred relationship he was one of nature's noblemen. He belonged to the class of whom the poet

"So live that, sinking in thy last, long sleen.

Calm thou mayest smile, while all around thee weep.'

Brother Moody was a successful farmer and merchant, and, as a man of sterling business qualities, must be greatly missed. He was born and reared near Fort Hymon, Ky., and was a son of Polk Moody, one of the largest farmers and one of the most influential business men in the county, and a well-known and highly respected Confederate veteran.

He also leaves an aged mother; three brothers-Noah, Tom, and Lige Moody; and two sisters-Mrs. Luna Wilson and Mrs. Hettie Paterson; all of Hymon, Ky. Many other relatives and friends are left to mourn his untimely death.

Brother Moody was a Christian gentleman, and as he "Sleeps the sleep that knows not breaking.

Morn of toil, nor night of waking," it is only for the present time, and his loved ones that are faithful, as was he, shall meet him in the presence of Him who said that "all things work together for good to them that love the Lord."

"How happy is he born or taught, That serveth not another's will; Whose armor is his honest thought, nd simple truth his utmost skill!"

How to Get More Eggs in Winter

Thousands of chicken raisers who used to complain that their hens stopped laying in winter are now getting remarkable results by the use of a chicken tonic known as Reefer's "More Eggs." Already it has been used by over 400,000 poultry raisers. One user of "More Eggs." says that he "got 117 eggs instead of 3." Many others say that the tonic has doubled and even tripled their egg supply. For instance, C. L. Kidd, of Teague, Texas, says in a recent letter: "Ware fetting more than three times the eggs we were previously getting." With the extremely high price of eggs, poultry raisers can add immensely to their egg profits by using this tonic to increase their winter supply of eggs.

If you send $1.00 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two largesize $1.00 packages of "More Eggs"—one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The Million Dollar Merchants' Bank of Kansas City, Mo., user the sake of Kansas City, Mo., quarantees, if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the labora-tories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highenthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new clixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bettle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children,—Adv.)

TETTERINE

tor the COMPLEXION

60c at your druggist's or from Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

Electric Vitalizer

"Upon This Rock."

BY R. C. WHITE.

Jesus said: "Upon this rock [" petra," a feminine Greek noun, not "petros," masculine, and the one used to refer to Peter] I will build my church; and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it." (Matt. 16: 18.) In heaven all fleshly and temporal things will be gone and all will be spiritual; but so far as earth is concerned, the church and kingdom are the same, for the Scriptures use the words interchangeably.

The church, or kingdom, is found in the Bible in three stages of development-(1) in prophecy, (2) in preparation, (3) in real existence. Isaiah (2: 2, 3) says: "It shall come to pass [prophetic] in the latter days, that the mountain of the Lord's house [1 Tim. 3: 15 says this is "the church" shall be established: . . . and all nations shall flow unto it. . . For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of Jehovah from Jerusalem." Joel (2: 28-32) says: "And it shall come to pass afterwards ["in the last days," Peter says, quoting this very verse], that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh. . . . The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of Jehovah cometh. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of Jehovah shall be delivered; for in mount Zion and in Jerusalem there shall be those that Again, Daniel interpreted a dream for Nebuchadnezzar, telling him that he was the head of gold; the arms and chest of silver, the Medo-Persian Empire; the belly and thighs of brass, the Grecian Empire; the iron limbs with toes and feet mixed with iron and clay, a fourth kingdom, the Roman Empire. "In the days of those kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed." (Dan. 2: 44.) It is a very interesting thought to me that this kingdom is everlasting. How similar to what Jesus says to Peter-"the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it!" The Dark Ages and other evils may assail it, but it can never be destroyed.

Now we have before us facts enough to locate the establishment of the kingdom, or church, on the first Pentecost after Christ's resurrection. We find the following to be fulfilled,

GEI KEA FOR "FILL

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausen, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and v are feeling fine with a hearty apt ate for breakfast. Eat what your assemble danger fast. Eat what you 7 ase—no danger Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

and we also see that they were fulfilled to a certainty in every detail: (1) The time is to be the "last days;" (2) "all nations" are to be the subjects; (3) Jerusalem is to be the place; (4) the sun is to be darkened before the terrible day comes; (5) the Holy Spirit is to be poured out and the apostles thus endued with that promised power after tarrying at Jerusalem a few days-" not many days" (Acts 1: 5).

Jesus has been raised from the dead, and Luke is giving an account of what happened during the forty days Christ was on earth before he ascended to his position on high as "King of kings, and Lord of lords." "And speaking the things concerning the kingdom, . . . he charged them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for the promise of the Father [see John 14: 26; 16: 13]; . . . but ye shall be baptized in the Holy Spirit not many days hence. . . But ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come unto you." (See Acts 1: 3-8.)

Matthias has been "numbered with the eleven apostles." (Acts 1: 26.)

"And when the day of Pentecost was now come, they [these twelve apostles] were all together in one place. And suddenly there came from heaven a sound as of the rushing of a mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they [the apostles] were sitting. And there appeared unto them [apostles] tongues parting asunder, like as of fire [one tongue parting to each apostle]; and it sat upon each one of them. And they [apostles] were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance. Now there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, devout men, from every nation under (Acts 2: 1-5.) heaven." when this sound was heard, the multitude came together." (Verse 6.) None of the multitude were there when the Spirit came; hence, only the apostles received the "power."

Taking a review of all we have read, we locate the beginning of the kingdom, or establishment of the church, at this first Pentecost after Christ's resurrection, for the following reasons: (1) Peter, the appointed one, is here with the keys, the means of opening the house-the house is the church (1 Tim. 3: 15); (2) the power, Holy Spirit, has come, poured out on the apostles, and is guiding them into the truth (John 14: 26); (3) the sun has been darkened (Luke 23: 44); (4) Peter declares this is that which was spoken by Joel (Acts 2: 16), and, therefore, the "last days" are come, the time Joel and Isaiah both say the kingdom is to be established; (5) the apostles are at the correct place, Jerusalem; (6) all nations are present (Acts 2: 6), hence the proper persons; (7) the law went forth from Jerusalem as foretold to instruct anxious inquirers what to do to be saved. How much plainer could anything be?

ALSO A FINE GENERAL STRENGTHEN-For MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER Sold by All Drug Stores ING TONIC.

No matter what man may say, here we stand, finding Christ's church as he foretold; Peter opened its doors. making requirements of those there for entering into the kingdom, or church. Of course they could not have entered if the kingdom, or church, had not been there then.

Before Pentecost one could not find the church in existence, for the following reasons: (1) Christ had not yet gone to heaven as "King of kings, and Lord of lords." Peter declares he was there on Pentecost. (Acts 2: 33-35; Eph. 1: 22, 23.) (2) A body is dead without the spirit, and the Holy Spirit was not yet given. (John 14: 26; 15: 26; 16: 13; 7: 39; Acts 1: 4-8; see James 2: 26.) (3) There was no foundation till Pentecost. (Isa. 28: 16; 1 Cor. 3: 11; 2: 1, 2; Eph. 2: 20.) (4) Before this the word, which is the seed, had not been Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes.

Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs;
corns, bunlons, etc. After one application, pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate affect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts
at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Manufactured by Herb Juice Medicine Company. Every bottle gnaranteed. 30c, 50c, and 31 a bottle, at all good drug stores.

GARDEN GUIDE FREE Tells how to make a kitchen garden windy your table and reduce "high cos of tring." Send today—140 bages of expert alter. Special blocklet of Vegetable and Flower Collections included Free Flower See S with excles of 50 cents and over.
Robert Buist Co., Dept. R. L., Philadelphia, Pa.

Woman's Weakness HOW CURED

Elrod, N. C.:—"Some years ago I suffered from irregularity but did not pay any attention to it. I gradually grew worse all the time.

would have such I would have such aching through my shoulders that it was impossible for me to rest at night. I tried several of the best advertised remedies on advertised remedies on the market but got only little relief, so one day my husband asked me to write to Dr. Pierce and describe my case to him. After receiving his advice I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it worked like magic, I ate well, slept well, and felt like a new woman. "I can safely recommend Dr. Pierce and his remedies to any suffering woman."—MRS. JOHN BRIDGERS, Route 1.

AVOIDED OPERATION

Nashville, Tenn.—"Several years ago I was on the verge of having an operation for feminine trouble when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was recommended to me. This Prescription was recommended to me. This splendid medicine (six bottles of it) restored me to absolutely perfect health and I never have had to submit to an operation. For womanly ailments Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not only an inexpensive but also a reliable remedy and I am always glad to speak a good word for it."—MRS. J. WILLIS, 1601 Arthur Ave., N.

FOR MOTHERS

FOR MOTHERS

Nashville, Tenn.:—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a great help to me in many ways and it is the best woman's medicine I have ever taken. I have taken 'Favorite Prescription' for feminine trouble when thru this I had become all run-down, weak and nervous, and it soon relieved me of my ailment and built me up in health and strength. I have also taken the 'Favorite Prescription' during expectancy and found it an excellent tonic to take at this time; it keeps one feeling healthy and strong and also helps to ameliorate suffering. I heartily recommend 'Favorite Prescription' as a woman's medicine."—MRS. W. W. SWEENEY, 1012 Clay St.

FINE PILLOWS

And Feather Beds. Order by parcel And Feather Beds. Order by parcel post right from this advertisement. Get. good pillows—fine, new, gray goose feathers, big size, 5 lbs., $4.50 pair. Gray goose beds, 25 lbs., $21.72; 30 lbs., $24.60. Cheaper kinds. Pillows, 5 lbs., $1.80 pair. Beds, 25 lbs., $10.20; 35 lbs., $12.45. We have $500 deposited with the Security Savings Bank, Charlotte, N. C., to guarantee satisfaction or money back—you take no risk. Order to-day or write for cirno risk. Order to-day or write for cir-culars. Hygienic Bed Company, Dept. 28, Charlotte, N. C.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at 916 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epilepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no good. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that cured me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned. I wish every one who suffers from this terrible disease would write to R. P. N. Lepso, 198 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, free to any one who writes him."—Advt.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION planted (Luke 8: 11), and Jesus had forbidden preaching till power came at Pentecost (Luke 24: 49; Acts 1: 4-8; Isa. 2: 3). (5) Again, before this the law of Moses would have been in the way, as it was only taken away when Jesus was crucified. Two laws cannot be in force at the same time. (Heb. 9: 16, 17; Rom. 7: 1-4; Jer. 31: 31-34; Heb. 10: 9.)

Now, in conclusion, let us look at the conditions of entrance into this kingdom, or church. Peter says: "Know assuredly, that God hath made him both Lord and Christ." Hence, he calls on them to believe. Then, pierced to the heart, they cry out: "Brethren, what shall we do?" Peter said: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." (Acts 2: 36-38.) This is the law from Jerusalem. Is it not the law of entrance into the church of Christ? Indeed it is. But Jesus gave Peter the keys to open the door of the kingdom; hence, as he told how to get into the church, both must be the same. Besides, Paul told the Colossians that they had been delivered "out of the power of darkness, and translated . into the kingdom of the Son of his love; in whom we have our redemption, the forgiveness of our sins." (Col. 1: 13, 14.)

Four Questions With Myself.

1. How long would it take to make my community really Christian if every other follower of Christ worked at it and prayed about it just as I do?

2. How long would it take to make my whole nation really Christian if all Christians gave their prayers and efforts and money toward it just as I am doing?

3. How long would it take to make disciples of all the nations if all other Christians were to give this great program of Christ the place in their lives that it has in mine?

4. Have I any moral right to expect or demand of other Christians, or even of preachers and missionaries, any service or sacrifice for Christ that I am unwilling to give myself?

The work of winning the world to Christ is my work as really and as fully as it is the work of any one else. Let me not avoid or shirk it .- J. Campbell White.

As Influenza

is an exaggerated form of Grip, LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) should be taken in larger doses than is prescribed for ordinary Grip. A good plan is not to wait until you are sick, but PREVENT IT by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets in time.

300 EGGS A DA

Since using 'TWO for ONE' I get 250 to 300 eggs a day instead of 25 or 30" writes J. C.Hoff of Indiana.

This wonderful new egg producer has made thousands of dollars profit for poultry raisers all over the United States. Now is the time to increase your egg supply, when eggs are selling at $1.00 a dozen. Give your hens "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic that makes layers and real moneymakers out of every single solitary hen you own. Send $1.00 to Kinsella Co., 2911 Le Moyne Building, Chicago, for small box of our Special Offer, or $2.00 for large box containing or $2.00 for large box containing three times the quantity of the $1.00 size—a full season's supply. We guarantee to return your money if not satisfied. Enter our FREE $5,000.00 egg-laying contest. Full particulars in each box of "TWO for ONE."

"The History of the Fall and Dissolution of Christendom."

Read what is said below of "The History of the Fall and Dissolution of Christendom." The book sells at $1.50 а сору.

In a note to the author, Mrs. S. S. Carson, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "I have received and read your book, and I feel very much benefited by the explanations you give on Revelation."

Mrs. Thomas W. Davis, of Franklin, Tenn., says: "I have read your book, and find it full of new thoughts or rather explanations of Revelation, and very interesting."

W. C. Thompson, of Braxton, Tenn., writes: "I have finished reading your book, and can say it is well gotten up. The language is just fine and the logic is good; as to the conclusions arrived at, I am not able to say whether or not they are correct. The signs of the times are in line with the book."

Rheumatism Relieved

Renwar is guaranteed to relieve rheumatism by money-back offer. This remedy will positively neutralize the uric acid in the blood, which causes rheumatism. The amount of Renwar required to effect relief depends on the case which is being treated. Very often one bottle will produce the desired result. If you suffer with rheumatism, you should by all means try Renwar. It is harmless, even to the most delicate constitutions, and thousands will testify to its effectiveness in relieving rheumatism. Sold by druggists (price, 50 cents) or by mail from Warner Drug Company, Nashville, Tenn.

IS CURABLE, Write me te-day, and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. DR. CANNADAY, 1226 Park Square, Sedalia, Mo.

Renew Your Subscription to the Gospel Advocate To-Day.

75 HENS LAY 40 EGGS A DAY, INSTEAD OF 4

The Same Plan Mr. Schlenvogt Uses in Winter Should Work for Others.

"We had a bad winter here, and lots of our chickens were dying. We were getting 2 to 4 eggs a day. Then we read about Don Sung, and tried it in January, and our 75 hens started laying 30 to 40 eggs a day."

—Wm. H. Schlenvogt, Box 319, Mott, N. D. Figure that out. About 3 dozen extra eggs ach day, at 50 cents a dozen, made about $45 per month extra income. Don Sung for his 75 chickens cost Mr. Schlenvogt about $2 a month. Here's the same offer he accepted, and it's open to you:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one menth. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit hesides, simply tell us, and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days; and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mail, prepaid. Burreil-Dugger Co., 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

CHURCH ENVELOPES, Double and single envelope systems. Samples and prices sent upon request. Double Envelope Corporation, Resnoke, Ya.

The Lot Fund Completed.

BY C. G. VINCENT.

Many joyful experiences have come into my life. I experienced one since my last report on the Koishikawa lot fund. The postman came to our door. Mrs. Vincent remarked to him as he handed her a letter that showed it had been forwarded: "You had better bring us some mail to-day." He smiled and replied: "Here is one, but it does not look very interesting." She handed it to me. At once I cut it open, and I found a short letter and a check that at first glance read, "one hundred dollars;" but on closer examination it turned out to be one for one thousand dollars, to be applied on the Koishikawa lot fund. "Look at that from Brother Paul R. Gray, Michigan-a thousand-dollar checkenough to wipe out the reimbursement fund and to complete the lot fund!" I called to my wife, and we went to our knees and thanked God for this "unspeakable gift." This check with other offerings is on its way to Japan, and when it arrives the faithful there will rejoice, too. This completes the lot fund in cash and pledges. I am sure that those who have promised definite sums will soon let me have their gifts so that all will be in hand when the deal for the lot is closed. Those in Japan who have this matter in charge have been advised to buy when the right site is located. This will be soon, I have no doubt. In addition to the above, I received two dollars from "Two Sisters," Lawrenceburg, Tenn., for the lot.

Now for the next task. A vacant lot is of no practical help unless there is a building, a suitable and plain house of worship. This is our next job. Labor, though not as high as here, has increased since I left Japan in 1916, and building material likewise is much higher. So we had better figure the cost of the house at about two thousand dollars. Who will be the first to send an offering for this purpose? Since the last report Brother Hiratsuka, our loyal evangelist, has baptized three persons. So the work grows and prospers. I know of no work more deserving than this, and I take pleasure in commending it to the brotherhood. We not only pray and seek offerings for it, but we also give to it out of our limited income. Send either to W. W. Freeman, Abilene, Texas, or to C. G. Vincent, 1210 North Fourth Avenue, Knoxville, Tenn., telling us the purpose of your gift.

Unimpeachable.—If you were to see the unequaled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering.

LIBRARY MEMPHIS SCHOOL OF PREACHING

DO YOU NEED A KIDNEY MEDICINE?

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it may be found just the medicine you need. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle healing herbal compound—a physichan's prescription which has proved its great value in thousands of the most distressing cases according to reliable testimony. Hable testimony

At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may have a sample size bottle of this al-ways reliable preparation by Parcel Post, also pamphlet telling about it. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Bhubamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

Undying Romance.

A friend said to me not long ago: "My husband and I have agreed to make the last years of our life together the best of all." Her face was illumined as she spoke, and I thought how beautiful it would be if more husbands and wives would agree to do this. Perhaps many do find their greatest happiness together after the toil and stress of life is not so great. We know it should be so, if their love has grown with the years; but we all know husbands and wives who have grown apart with the romance of life all gone, all the little courtesies left behind in the years that have gone, trudging along together in a careless, indifferent way, with the stamp of it on their faces.-Christian Herald.

Bible Reading at Davis City, Iowa. BY WILLIAM J. CAMPBELL.

We are planning to begin a Bible reading here on January 13 and continue it eight weeks. We will read and consider the whole Bible in this time. We will have regular school hours during the day for the study, and two or three night meetings a week for lectures, reviews, and vocal music. We will make the expense of board and room as little as possible. No tuition. If any think of attending, write me soon. We expect a good class and an interesting and profitable time.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable At-tractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

300 EVERY DA

"Since using "TWO for ONE" I get 250 to 300 eggs a day instead of 25 or 30," writes J. C. Hoff of Indiana.

World's Greatest Egg Producer

"TWO for ONE" is the marvel of all egg tonics. It is the most remarkable producer of eggs ever known to the poultry world. "TWO for ONE" is making records every day in eggpreduction that were never before believed possible. Flock owners all over the country are amazed with the results. The most experienced poultry experts say they have never seen the like of it.

say they have never seen the like of it.

"TWO for ONE" is not a mere food. It is an egg tonic in the truest sense of the term—ascientific preparation in concentrated tablet form—the result of scientific research and experiment. Every factor entering into the matter of egg production was scientifically studied.

As a result you have in "TWO for ONE" atonic that conditions the hen for the utmost in laying capacity—that builds muscle and bone—that stimulates active functioning of the hen's reproductive organs—that insures fertile eggs and 100% hatchings—that makes the laggard lay and increases the production of active layers. A tenie that gets more eggs for you winter and summer than you ever thought posssible.

$5000 Egg Laying Contest

Enter our $5000.00 egg laying contest. It's free to all users of "TWO for ONE." You not only double your egg production but you can win one of the big cash prizes we are giving every month. Full particulars in every box of "TWO for ONE."

Money-Back Guarantee

Don't take our word for it. Every box of "TWO for ONE" is sold under the distinct guarantee that if you are not entirely satisfied you get your money back. Take advantage of this offer and send for a box of "TWO for ONE" today.

Only $1.00 a box, or, our special offer of $2.00 for large box containing as much as three $1.00 boxes — enough for an entire season. This costs you 1-15 of a cent a day, per hen, or less than Ica dozen for the additional eggs you will receive from your flock.

Kinsella Co., 2913 LeMoyne Bldg., Chicago, III.

(Check in squares opposite size wanted:) Small Size (Including War Tax) $1.00 [] Large Size (Including War Tax) $2.00 []

This order entitles me to an entry in your $6,000.00 egg ying contest, of which you are to send me full particu-rs, and my money is to be returned if I am not entirely ities fied with the tonic.

Name
Address

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

The Church of Christ Will Do It. No. 1.

BY S. WHITFIELD.

It is often said that the church will not support the gospel; it will not look after the poor; it will not develop preachers; it will not do missionary work; and there are some other good things that Christians ought to do that it will not do.

The church is made up of two classes as it is often spoken of. One class are the true followers of Jesus Christ, and the other class are those who are not true.

There always have been nomina! members of the church; but, in reality, they are not members at all. God does not know them, they do not know God, and Jesus has never recognized them as his people. The New Testament speaks of them and describes them, but it does not speak of them as real and true members of the church. Most congregations have some of them, and sometimes whole congregations are made up of this class. Sometimes whole congregations go in this way. Some of the churches of Asia are examples of this kind. These seven churches represent all the churches, and we need not expect the churches of to-day to be any better, as a whole, than these were. There were good ones then, and there are yet; there were bad ones then, and there are yet; there were some then that were partly good and partly bad, and there are now; there were more bad ones then than good ones, and it is likely that there are now.

There were true members of the church in the days of the apostles, and there are yet, and will be until the end of time. There always have been the faithful, true, and tried, and there are now. When God guided the Spirit to write through Paul of those that we might well speak of as his "people" and as a "cloud of witnesses" that we might imitate, he gave us the heroes and heroines that are mentioned in Heb. 11. He did not speak of the hypocrites, nominal ones, or the wicked and corrupt.

When people say that the church will not do the work that ought to be done, if they mean that these nominal members or nominal churches will not do it, they are right; but if they mean that the true followers of Christ will not do it, they are wrong. The true followers of Christ have done it in the past, are now ready and willing to do it, and will do it until Christ comes again.

The church of Christ is not of human origin or of human arrangement or organization; if it were, it certainly would not do the Lord's work; but it is of divine origin, arrangement, and organization. It has

Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a won-der for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which mil-Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs. ter coughs.

ter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly covery

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne,

PETTERIN

Makes low necks and short sleeves possible. It clears the skin

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

HOTEL LONGACRE

BROADWAY AND 47TH ST.

Convenient to everything. The refined air and good service of the Longacre are well established,

RATES PER DAY

SPECIAL WEEKLY RATES

The Best Value in New York City. Phone 7790 Bryant.

Rheumatism

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON,
No. 477F Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mf. Jackson is responsible. Above wite terment tries.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

At Last A Real Remedy for Piles

No More Nasty Salves or Ointment; No Knife Cutting. A Simple Treatment That Works While You Sleep.

6 Day Treatment FREE

Thousands of people suffer from bleeding, protruding or suppurating piles. Having tried all kinds of ointments, salves or doctor's prescriptions without permanent benefit they naturally feel discouraged and think they must carry misery to the grave—yet their case is not hopeless.

Here is good news for all such sufferers. A prominent western physician has discovered a remarkable, harmless compound known as HEM-ROID. Taken internally it quickly begins a cleaning, soothing healing of all affected parts. It helps drive out all the thick, impure blood that is clogging the hemorrhoidal velns and causing piles. It so livens and strengthens the intestinal muscless and bowel walls that in many cases of years standing all distress and misery soon disappears and does not return.

Don't say "Can this be true?" Give us the chance to prove what we say. Write at once using the Coupon below, and we will send you, postpaid, a full six-days' treatment of wonderful Hem-Roid. We feel confident that Hem-Roid used as directed will help to free you from all pile misery, but we do not ask you take our word for it. Prove it for yourself. If a pile sufferer and sineere don't delay but mail coupon at once, to In. Leonhardt Co., 226 Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y. Make the decision now that you are going to end all pile misery.

Gospel Advocate PILE COUPON 6-DAY TREATMENT

This coupon, with full name and address and 10 cents in stam's to help pay distributing expenses entities holder to our 6-day treatment of Hem-Rold. Dr. Leonhardt Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

been builded, arranged, and organized to do these very works by God himself. God's plans, arrangement, and organization have never failed, and never will. As high as heaven is above the earth, so are God's ways higher and better than man's ways. Sometimes our idea of success is from a worldly point of view and not from God's point of view; and because the work does not prosper as we think it should, we think that God's plan is a failure. It is so hard for us to educate ourselves to think as God thinks or as he wants us to think.

God will do what he ought to do: Christ will do what he ought to do; the Spirit of God will do God's will, and the angels of God will do his bidding. None of these will fail, for they cannot: and just as these will not fail, the church of Christ will not. It seems to me that we might just as well say that God, Christ, the Spirit, and the angels of God will not do their duty as to say that the church of Christ will not do these good works.

Everything that God has made is good; it is a success; and it will do what God has made it to do as long as it keeps in God's way. God made this earth for man, and it is a good place for man. It would be much better if man had done his part. God had Noah to build the ark, and it was a good place for Noah and his family. It answered the purpose for which God had it made. It was a success. God had the tabernacle and the temple builded, and they were good and served the purpose for which God had them made. Now, just as all these arrangements of God were a success, so the church of Christ is a

"For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." (Isa. 55: 8, 9.) "Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men." (1 Cor. 1: 25.)

You may not have much of this world's wealth to distribute, but you may give something better and spend a useful and beneficent life if you will practice this lesson of shedding around you the grace of human tenderness in word and act and by the spirit of your life.-Selected.

A Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head

Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) can be taken by anyone without causing nervousness or ringing in the head. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

119 EGGS

"I am now getting 119 eggs every day, instead of 7," writes Mrs. Joseph Mason.

This wonderful new egg producer has made thousands of dollars profit for poultry raisers all over the United States. Now is the time to increase your egg supply, when eggs are selling at $1.00 a dozen. Give your hens "TWO for ONE," the scientific tonic that makes layers and real money-makers out of every single solitary hen you own. Send $1.00 to Kinsella Co., 2911 Le Moyne Building, Chicago, for small box of our Special Offer, or $2.00 for large box containing three times the quantity of the $1.00 size—a full season's supply. We guarantee to return your money if not satisfied. Enter our FREE $5,000.00 egg-laying contest. Full particulars in each box of "TWO for ONE."

Stop Itching

Skins with Tetterine

60c. at your druggist's or from SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga

Temptation.

We are tempted to despise ourselves the more we know of our own hearts, of our meanness and wickedness, of our sinful desires and want of faith. We are tempted to lose heart and give up the struggle, but He who knows all the evil that is in us knows us always and all through. It is He who encompasses us with His presence and from whom separation is impossible. He is not hard with us, but ministers to us in our weakness, comforts us in our distress, and saves us with an everlasting salvation. We fathers and mothers never fully know our children, and yet we can feel the force of this reasoning .-J. Clifford.

When God sees the returning prodigal, he sees more than the sin; he sees the sinner within the man, the man within the sinner, the God within the man.-Joseph Parker.

Cuts and Bruises.

burns, stings, sores, bolls, and the numerous other mishaps, amount to little. If left alone, however, and if aided by the careless touch of a dirty hand, an ugly sore will result, and frequently blood poison. It is dangerous. Don't trifle. Apply Gray's Oint-ment immediately. It will instantly soothe the wound, cleanse the sore, kill the germs. and put it on a steady road to recovery. Keep it on your shelf for every emergency. Its constant use for a hundred years has made it a family word in every household. Ask your druggist. If he can't supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Building, Nashville, Tenn., and you will receive a liberal sample free.

Ruptured?

Throw Away Your Truss!

For Many Years We Have Been Telling You That No Truss Will Ever Help You---We Have Told You the Harm That Trusses Are Doing. We Have Told You That the Only Truly Comfortable and Scientific Device for Holding Rupture Is the Brooks Rupture Appliance-and That It Is

Sent On Trial To Prove It

If you have tried most everything else, come to us. Where others fail is where we have our greatest success. Send attached coupon today and we will send you free our flustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing our Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant teller when all others fail. Remember, we use no salves, no harness, no lies.

We send on trial to prove what we say is true. You are the judge and once having seen our illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as our hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try our Appliance or not.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir — Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with It till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body and seemed to be a part of the body and seemed to be a part of the body as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents Itself I will say a good word for your Appliance. Whenever the commend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am, Yours very sincerely.

JAMES A. BRITTON.

Cured in Six Months After 18 Years

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I never wore the appliance a minute over six months and was cured sound and well—and I want to say no man ever did any harder work than I did while I was using lt—I hauled 40 perch of rock, too big for any man to lift.

I was ruptured 18 years and words cannot tell how thankful I am. Use my name if you like.

Yours sincerely, RUFUS FIELDS, R. R. No. 1.

Others Failed but the Appliance Cured

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir; — Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, atthough it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully,

The Above is C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks Cured Himself of Rupture Over 30 Years Ago and Patented the Appliance from His Personal Experience. If Ruptured, Write Today to the Brooks Appliance Co., Marshall, Mich.

WM. PATTERSON. No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

"Results are Marvelous"

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—I tried all kinds of trusses without any relief until I bought your Appliance. The results are marvelous, and I praise God that you may live long and prosper, and may help suffering humanity as you did me. You can use this letter as you think best and I will answer any inquiry that is made with a stamped envelope enclosed.

My age is 65 years. Yours very truly,
V. C. JUMP,
180 Linden Ave., Middletown, N. Y.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Brooks Rupture Appliance Co.
Gentlemen:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four mos. and has not worn it now for six weeks.

Yours very truly,
ANDREW EGGENBERGER,

Ten Reasons Why You Should Send for Brooks

I. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodled the principles that in-ventors have sought after for years,

Rupture Appliance

- 2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.
- Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never bilsters or causes irritation.
- Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumber-some or ungainly.
- . It is small, soft and pliable, and litively cannot be detected through clothing.
- The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.
- 7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes solled it can be washed without injuring it in the least.
- There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.
- All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.
- 10, Our reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and our prices are so reasonable, our terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

We send our Appliance on trial to prove what we say is true. You are to 40 the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

Free Information Coupon

BROOKS APPLIANCE CO.

443-F State St., Marshall, Mich.

Please send me by mail in plain wrap-per your illustrated book and full in-formation about your Appliance for the cure of rupture.

Name	 	 ****

City -----

Volume LXII. No. 3.

NASHVILLE, TENN., JANUARY 15, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

STUDIES IN CHURCH HISTORY 4	ĝ
OUR CONTRIBUTORS 5	0
TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN	4
EDITORIAL 5 AT HOME AND ABROAD. 5	5
AT HOME AND ABROAD5	ä
QUERY DEPARTMENT 5 GEORGIA AND THE FAR SOUTHERN FIELD 5	8
GEORGIA AND THE FAR SOUTHERN FIELD	ă
FROM THE FIELD
THE WORKING CHURCH
OBITUARIES
THE MASTER'S VINEYARD	5
ANOTHER GREAT PREACHER GONE 6	G
THE SILVER POINT SCHOOL 6	7
"WILL A MAN ROB GOD?" 6	7
FIELD REPORTS 6
OTED DE AND AND HODES	6

Studies in Church History

By A. B. L

The Diaspora.

If we leave out of consideration the zeal of the early Christian disciples, nothing better explains the rapid spread of Christianity than the Diaspora, or scattering of the Jews to all parts of the world. At first the Jew, like other ancient peoples, lived and worked, as it were, behind closed doors. The dispersion of Israel was just as necessary for the success of her world-wide mission as was formerly her seclusion. Several causes contributed to drive them forth: forcible deportations, voluntary emigration, the inducements held out by friendly governments, the promise of special privileges, the allurements of trade, the disintegrating power of Hellenisms.

We must distinguish between two dispersions, the Eastern and the Western. The Eastern dispersion commenced some centuries before the Western, and scattered the Jews over Assyria, Media, and Babylonia. Tiglath-Pileser, who inaugurated the first experiment in political centralization, deported in 739 B.C. the northern portion of the northern kingdom. Sargon captured Samaria in 725 and carried twenty-seven thousand and two hundred persons into Assyria. This is recorded in 2 Kings 17; 6. It is safe to say that in the period just before Jesus was born Jews were found in all parts of the civilized world and in some parts that were not civilized.

0 0 0

Two Types of Jews.

Moreover, we find that there are two types of Jews corresponding to the two dispersions, and showing in a measure the results of each dispersion upon the Jewish mind. We have, on the one hand, the Jew who feels that everything is wrapped in his idea of God and who is wifting to suffer and to wait. This exclusive type clung to the temple program of worship with its ritual and spectacular appointments. He hated and scorned his captors as the Belgians hate the Germans. Deprived of the temple privileges, he built up a personal religion in the land of his exile and kept it to himself. This was the Jew of the Eastern dispersion. On the other hand, the Jew of the Western dispersion was of a broad-minded type. He had not been forced into a foreign land. He had come through voluntary emigration, attracted by friendly inducements. He was exempted from many civic duties by Roman law. His religion was conceded to him. He entered heartily into his new field of activity and soon became prosperous. His ideal of worship was not the temple, but the synagogue, which encouraged an educational and devotional service. It was this type of Jew that exerted such an immediate powerful influence in preparing the world for Christ. When we reflect that a synagogue was built in every spot where there were as many as ten Jews, we can see that it was practically a universal institution. In Acts 15: 21 mention is made of the synagogues in every city. In the New Testament we read of synagogues in Galilee, Judea, Asia Minor, Macedonia, and Greece. Here the Jews taught the heathen to keep the Sabbath and to honor God by a moral life. While the Jews, as a race, were often despised, yet no serious-minded heathen would fail to be attracted by such teachings, especially if they were backed up by worthy examples. Proselytism was pushed on a large scale and conversions were numerous. We are not surprised to read in Josephus this boast: "There is no Greek nor barbarian city nor any nation in which our custom of keeping the Sabbath, fasting, the lighting of lamps, and many regulations in regard to food, are not observed."

Lack of space forbids that I should cover in detail the world-wide influence of the Septuagint Bible that was freely used by the Jews of the Dispersion in their missionary labors. It was an inestimable boon to the Greek-speaking world to have a version of the Bible that all could understand. Since Greek was the most universal of all languages, we can readily see how it became to the Jew a powerful missionary organ and to the Greek a religious authority at the very time when he most needed a revelation. Next to the New Testament, it is the most world-historic book. We should never forget that it was the Bible of Paul and Barnabas and Luke and to the early missionaries who carried the story of the cross to all the world

0 0 0

Why the Jews Are Hated.

Many Roman writers speak disparagingly of the Jews. Horace writes in mockery of their circumcision and Sabbaths; Seneca calls them "a most accursed race;" Tacitus accuses them of hatred to all men and of immorality. Cicero, Quintilian, and Juvenal pour scorn upon them. Petronius represents them as "worshiping a pig." That was, indeed, a curious conception to have of the Jews, in whose history the pig has never had an exalted place. The explanation of this hatred is twofold: it was either provoked by jealousy or by a failure to really understand the Jewish people. The same two causes underlie all hatred of them now.

People who do not think often jump at the conclusion that the Jews were God's pets; that he selected them over all other peoples for signal honors. This is but mere presumption. Why did God select the Jewish nation to become the pathfinder for the Christian religion? He selected them, not because he despised other nations, but because in his infinite wisdom he knew that the Jews would be the better receivers, the better interpreters, and the better transmitters of his will. Had we not received the gift, we might have had some room to complain; but since Jesus Christ is ours, we have every reason to praise him for his goodness and to remember in gratitude the noble race that brought him to us, "whose is the Sonship, and the glory, and the covenants, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises; whose are the fathers, from whom, in respect of his human descent, comes the Christ, who is exalted above all, God blessed throughout the ages."

Our Contributors

More Light on the Kingdom, Brother Scobey!
BY 6, DALLAS SMITH.

In the Gospel Advocate of December 4 is an article from our venerable and beloved James E. Scobey under the title, "The New Testament Teaching on the Kingdom." In this article Brother Scobey discusses, among other things, the very troublous question as to whether the kingdom and the church are one and the same institution. Knowing our good brother to be a very careful student of the Bible, and judging from the caption of his article, I naturally expected some light on a question which I have never been able to satisfactorily settle in my own mind. Then one statement in the very beginning of his article heightened my expectation. He says: "I have endeavored to study the subject so as to form a conclusion in entire harmony with the teachings of the Scriptures. There is no truth known with reference to the matter except that which may be learned from the statements made by the writers of the New Testament." So, of course, I naturally expected Brother Scobey to give us the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament" for any position he might take. But imagine my disappointment and surprise when I read further into the article and found our aged brother assuming a position for which he gives not one iota of scripture. I refer to his position that the kingdom and the church are two different institutions. This may be true: I do not know. My own mind is not clear on the subject. But the thing that surprised me is that Brother Scobey, after promising so much in the beginning, should ask that we receive this teaching on his own statement.

Here is what our good brother says: "As I understand the Scriptures to teach the truth on the subject, I feel sure the kingdom is one institution and the church is another." This is disappointing in the extreme. What the reader was led to expect was not what Brother Scobey "understands" the Scriptures to teach, and not what he may "feel" about the matter; but we were led to expect some "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." But where are the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament" which sustain this position? Where are they, Brother Scobey? You failed to point them out. As some people "understand the Scriptures," the kingdom began in the days of Abraham. They "feel sure" the kingdom was in existence for two thousand years before the coming of Christ. But we demand the statements made by the inspired writers, and repudiate the position because such statements are not forthcoming. Again, as others "understand the Scriptures to teach," the kingdom was set up in the days of John the Baptist. These interpreters doubtless "feel sure" that the kingdom was in existence during the life of John. But we demand of them more than their mere understanding of the matter, and we hoot at the idea of accepting their feelings as evidence on the subject. We insist that they shall produce the Scripture statements to sustain their position. And we reject their position, "understanding," "feeling," and all, just because they fail to point out the plain "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." And again, as others "understand the Scriptures to teach the truth on the subject," the church is only a kind of door or vestibule to the kingdom. They evidently "feel sure" that the kingdom has never been set up in its fullest sense. But what we demand of such brethren is, not what they "understand "not what they may "feel" about the matter-but plain "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." And so, Brother Scobey, what your readers had a right to expect of you was not what you "understand the Scriptures to teach "-not what you "feel sure" is the correct position-but the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament;" for you assure us in the beginning of your article that there is no truth known on the subject except that which comes from the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." I, for one, should like to have the scriptures-not just your general understanding of the Scriptures or what you may "feel" about it. I am not denying that you are correct in your position. You may be. But I should like to see the scriptures myself that so teach.

Again, Brother Scobey says: "Peter did not have the key to open the church doors; he had the keys to the kingdom." Well, now, this all depends on whether the kingdom and the church are one and the same institution. If they are the same, then Peter had the keys to open the church doors; if they are different, then there is no evidence that Peter had the keys to the church. But so far we have not been furnished with the proof that the church and the kingdom are two different institutions, and until this question is settled we cannot know but that the keys of the kingdom are also the keys to open the church doors. Let us have the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament," Brother Scobey.

Again, our good brother says: "The church was built by Christ to extend his kingdom." But again we call for the scriptures, Brother Scobey. Where are "the statements made by the writers of the New Testament" which teach that the church was built to extend the kingdom? For some reason you failed to point out these statements. And although I honor you, Brother Scobey, for your devotion to the Master's cause for all these years, I cannot accept this teaching on your statement alone. If the writers of the New Testament have made statements to this effect, by all means let us have them. And this will set the matter at rest.

And again, he says: "It [the church] is an institution belonging in the world, and composed of men and women translated into the kingdom. . . . Upon the day of Pentecost, Jesus built his church; and three thousand who had been translated into the kingdom, God added to the church." So, according to Brother Scobey's understanding, the church is composed of people who have previously been translated into the kingdom. But this statement, too, failed to be supported by a single scriptural quotation or any scriptural reference whatever. I understood Brother Scobey to be writing on "The New Testament teaching on the kingdom." Then why not support this statement by quoting the New Testament, or, at least, give some New Testament reference to sustain the teaching? But when were the three thousand translated into the kingdom, Brother Scobey? When were they translated out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of God's Son? (Do not forget the Scriptures!) How long had the three thousand been subjects of the kingdom before they were added to the church? And could they have remained faithful subjects of the kingdom and been saved at last without ever becoming members of the church? If yes, then what benefit is the church? If no, then what benefit was their citizenship in the kingdom? And be sure, in answering these questions, Brother Scobey, that you direct us to some "statements made by the writers of the New Testament."

But we are informed that all the citizens in the kingdom are not in the church. Hear Brother Scobey on this point; "The church contains, or is composed of, Christians, once aliens or sinners, who have become citizens in the kingdom. There are many who do not belong to the church who are in the kingdom. All who are saved and those who need no salvation are in the kingdom. Infants and all irresponsible beings who have souls are not in the church." Thus it is plain, according to Brother Scobey's "understanding," or his feelings, that there are some in the kingdom who are not in the church. But he failed again to produce the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." Shall we accept it on his uninspired statement! Among the "many" who are in the kingdom, but who are not in the church, Brother Scobey specifies "infants and irresponsible beings who have souls." But may we ask, how did these infants and irresponsible beings get into the kingdom? Did the natural birth put them into the kingdom, or were they translated into it? And do not forget the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament." But let us hear Brother Scobey on the question of how people enter the kingdom. says: "Peter and the other apostles were empowered to go into the world and induct men and women into the kingdom." Very well, Brother Scobey; but did the apostles induct infants and irresponsible beings into the kingdom? If not, then how do such beings become citizens of the kingdom? We know how adults and all responsible beings become citizens in the kingdom. Jesus says: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of heaven." (John 3: 5.) But how do infants and irresponsible beings become citizens in the kingdom, Brother Scobey? Give us the "statements made by the writers of the New Testament," please. Let us have more light on the subject.

Now, to me, Brother Scobey's teaching seems not only speculative, but it is quite confusing as well. I should like to know the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, on this point. As I said in the beginning, my own mind is not made up as to the truth on the subject, and Brother Scobey's article has furnished me no light on the point. If he desires to write further, or if others have something to say, I shall be pleased to read what is said.

And now, may I say that nothing but the very kindest feelings toward Brother Scobey have prompted me to write this little review of his position. I look upon him as one of the Lord's noblemen, as a father in Israel, and I love him for his work's sake. I trust he will receive what I have said in the same kindly spirit in which it is intended. And I am sure he will.

BROTHER SCOBEY'S REPLY.

Brother G. Dallas Smith has written a somewhat lengthy criticism on an article I wrote, which was published in the Gospel Advocate of December 4. The main point in his criticism is directed against the heading of the article—"The New Testament Teaching on the Kingdom." First of all, I wish to say that I am not responsible for the heading. My object was simply to give my views and conclusions, derived from all I could gather on the subject from the writings of the New Testament.

Brother Smith seems to think, because I conclude that the church and the kingdom are not one and the same institution, I should give, and he requests me to give, chapter and verse where the Scriptures say so. I confess to him I am unable to find such a statement.

There are some statements made in the article which, to be true, depend upon the truth of the proposition that the church and the kingdom are not one and the same institution. In fact, from my brother's criticism, it seems it would be an easy matter for him to accept my conclusions, "feelings," and think so's, if it were shown that they are different institutions. I did not write the article wishing any one to accept my views just because I had expressed them. I felt sure many of the brethren would not. But, at the same time, I was sure it would cause some to think and to study more carefully the subject.

Brother Smith says he does not know whether the church and the kingdom are the same. Now, while I do not believe that "church" and "kingdom" express the same idea and are identical in meaning, and so said in my article, I did give some historical facts and a few quotations of scripture which indicate, to my mind, that the church is one institution and the kingdom another.

Jesus established either one of two institutions. If only one, then it may be called the "church" or the "kingdom." Then Peter was given the keys of the church or kingdom. But the scripture does not read that way. If the church and kingdom are the same, whatever is affirmed or said in the Scriptures of the one may be said or affirmed of the other.

I have been taught that words are the signs of ideas. Some words do have the same meaning and may be used for the same purpose. They are then said to be synonymous. But I have never known the words "church" and "kingdom" to be thus used. "Church" presents the idea of a congregation or an assembly. "Kingdom" sets forth the idea of a king ruling over his domain. If the Scriptures read, "translated out of the church of darkness into the church of God's dear Son," or "out of the kingdom of darkness into the church," or kingdom, we then could not certainly affirm that the two words signified the same thing. Rather, we would be disposed to consider the translation into one or the other of two states or conditions. If the Scriptures should say "into the kingdom, the church," then I would know "kingdom" and "church" mean the same institution. But there is in the Book no such reading, so far as I know. There are certain statements made in the Scriptures in reference to the kingdom which certainly have not been made, and cannot be made, in reference to the church.

I have suggested that the church is temporal, that it is to last until the end of the world. It will have then accomplished all for which it was built. It is the fighting arm of the kingdom of Christ. Christians, members of the church, are soldiers of the cross, and are exhorted to put on the full armor of the soldier. Thousands of the soldiers of the cross have been retired; they are now resting from their labors; but they are still in the kingdom and patience of our Lord and Savier Jesus Christ, but are not in the congregation, or church. They have been on the fighting line under the Captain of their salvation, Jesus Christ.

We read in the Book of a heavenly kingdom, but not of a heavenly church; an everlasting kingdom, but not a church; the kingdom of heaven, but not a church of heaven.

The church belongs to Christ. He is its head. It is the body of Christ. I read in the Book nothing about Christ's building a kingdom, nor of his establishing a kingdom, whether the thought be expressed by myself or any one else.

God gave Jesus a kingdom, and gave him all authority in heaven and on earth; therefore, his kingdom embraces more than those in the churches to-day. All those who have been faithful to God in any age, whose eternal salvation has been secured by the atonement, are subjects of the kingdom of heaven.

"Many shall come from the east and the west; and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 8: 11.) These great, good men of the past are in the kingdom of heaven; so are all who live now, and have lived since Pentecost, that have been redeemed by the blood of Christ. Those since Pentecost, all have been in the churches of God—some in the church of God at Jerusalem, some in the church of God at Philippi, etc. The blood of Christ has made possible immortality and eternal life for all infants and irresponsible souls, and they are in the kingdom.

My good brother wants to know how they got there. It is sufficient for us to know that the Savior said: "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." Is it not plain that the kingdom is composed of all the good? Infants are born sinless, are not in a lost condition; therefore, if they die, they are entitled to the blessings of the heavenly, everlasting kingdom. But as they grow to the years of responsibility to God, they may—indeed, they do—sin; therefore, they serve Satan. They become sinners, and, if saved at last, must be translated out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of God's dear Son. All who have been thus placed in the church do not persevere to the end. They do not fight the good fight and keep the faith, but fall from their steadfastness.

I have not given, and could not give, chapter and verse for all my conclusions or statements; but if I have made any which a fair examination of the Scriptures would show is wrong, and I see the wrong, I will certainly confess myself in error and be grateful for the favor done me.

But when Jesus has put all his enemies under his feet, he will return the kingdom, with the whole family in heaven and earth, to God, the Father, that he may be all in all.

If the Scriptures do not justify the statements made in this article, I would that any one who reads may see the error, and not accept them just because I said so; but give the matter a fair and candid examination, and you will be benefited by the study of the Scriptures.

A Wise Saying,

BY F. W. SMITH.

It is not infrequent that an uninspired person gives expression to a vital truth in a terse and succinct form. Such a truth was thus expressed by Matthew Henry. He said: "It is easier to build temples than to be temples of God." Never did an uninspired man state a more solemn and serious fact than is contained in this quotation, Speaking in general terms, it can be stated as a literal fact that far more attention is given to the building of costly and artistically arranged church houses than to the dedication of individuals to a devout and consecrated service to God. Professed believers in Christ—that is, the majority of them—seem to have never learned that God dwells not in temples made by human hands. "The God that made the world and all things therein, he, being Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands." (Acts 17: 24.) Thus spoke Paul to the learned Athenians; but the religious world seems to be of a different mind, judging from its attitude toward material structures. In so far as the word of truth informs us, the Most High God never dwelt in but one material building—viz., the tabernacle or temple of Solomon. These, and these alone, of all the material buildings ever erected on this earth, are called the "house" or "temple" of God. They were typical or shadowy and passed away after serving the purpose for which God ordered them.

The temple or house of God since the beginning of the Christian era is declared in holy writ to be the church Jesus Christ built up of living stones-that is, men and women who have obeyed the gospel of his grace. "So then ye are no more strangers and sojourners, but ye are fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God, being built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the chief corner stone; in whom each several building, fitly framed together, groweth into a holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for a habitation of God in the Spirit." (Eph. 2: 19-22.) The apostle Peter also declares: "Ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God through Jesus Christ." (1 Pet. 2: 5.) These declarations of the inspired record make it plain beyond any doubt as to what constitutes the house or temple of God to-day.

But, inspired by a spirit of denominational rivalry and a misconception of the true nature of worship and service to God, men and women have sinfully piled up millions on millions of dollars in architectural display in the way of church houses under the delusion that they were honoring God. Beyond comfort, convenience, and stability, it is a waste of money that should go to feed, clothe, and otherwise help those who need help. There is no intention here to discourage the building of suitable houses in which to meet and worship God, but against the sinful and extravagant waste of God's money. To build neat, substantial, convenient, and comfortable houses of worship is what should be done in every community. Some congregations who are abundantly able to build such houses are dragging along in old shacks so poorly lighted that the worshipers can scarcely see the words in the song book and the leader can hardly see how to read the Scriptures. These same people would not dream of having such inconveniences and poor comforts in their homes. Church houses should be well located, well built, with comfortable seats, heat, ventilation, and the very best light possible.

But the main thing, and the most important thing of all, is to be a temple of God. This can only be done by and through a life of unreserved consecration of self to the service of God, a complete dedication of both soul and body to the Lord Jesus Christ, making personal sacrifices for his cause when and however demanded by his word. For such a life, which results in being a temple itself, it is folly to try to substitute imposing forms and ceremonies or unnecessary extravagance in architectural display in the way of meetinghouses. When it comes to putting money into anything merely to make a show before the world by professed Christians, it is an evidence of a lack of the true spirit of worship.

In conclusion, I desire once more to make an appeal for the building fund to provide a place of worship in Washington City. Brother F. B. Srygley, who has been to Washington, met with and preached for the saints there, has made an earnest appeal in behalf of the fund. He is satisfied it is a most worthy enterprise and that money contributed for that purpose will be well spent. There is no effort by the disciples in Washington at worldly display nor unnecessary extravagance. They are using the strictest economy and best judgment in procuring a suitable church house. Brother Srygley says that thirteen States were represented on the Lord's day he met with them. In the judgment of many, Washington is a most important center for the propagation of the truth. The churches should continue their offerings until the house is completed, free of debt. This can be done without any great burden on any.

Our Personal Responsibility.

BY J. H. HINES.

The Bible, the word of God, emphasizes nothing more strongly than the fact of our personal responsibility. Paul says in the Roman letter (14: 12), "So then each one of us shall give account of himself to God;" in 2 Cor. 5: 10, that "we must all be made manifest before the judgment seat of Christ; that each one may receive the things done in the body." I suggest that on that last great day we will not be judged in a lump or in the aggregate, but each one for himself and by himself; judged according to what we are, and not what we appear to be in the eyes of the world—according to our character, not our reputation. The basis of each verdict reached will be man's individual record.

Every member of the church is responsible to the church for his or her conduct—a truth very few realize. Paul compares the church to the human body. (1 Cor. 12.) In verse 26 he says: "Whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with it." Should a member live such a life as to bring shame and disgrace on himself, the whole church—the body—suffers. Furthermore, God will not bless his church as long as she harbors sin or sinners. The Achans must be dealt with.

But some one may say: "God is not dealing with us as a nation." True, but he is dealing with us as individuals and congregations. (Rev. 2; 3; 1 Cor. 5.)

Each member is not only responsible to the church, but for the church—her progress. She will never accomplish the work God has ordained her to accomplish till there is a forward movement (Ex. 14: 15) and every member steps into the front line. We have too many stragglers, camp followers. Every man to his place!

Nearly nineteen hundred years have passed since the apostle Paul declared the gospel to be "the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth;" yet two-thirds of the world are without God, Christ, and have no hope. Why so many without hope? It is God's will that all men be saved; but God has "committed unto us the word of reconciliation." (2 Cor. 5: 18-20.) He is depending on us.

It is the individual effort that counts. You may be a member of a large and prosperous congregation, one that is doing a great work. You may congratulate yourself on that fact. Your congregation may be giving thousands of dellars to support the truth. But what are you doing? If every member gave as much money, time, energy, etc., as you do, what would the congregation do? Christ is depending on you.

A Tribute to Virda Barry Baird.

BY CLARENCE D. BAIRD.

On the morning of December 12, 1919, Death entered our home, put forth his chilly hand and claimed for his own my darling wife, Virda Barry Baird. Dead? Nay, verily, not dead, but fallen asleep in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

Throughout her long illness and to the end she did not murmur or complain, but was patient, submissive, and wholly resigned. Peaceful and tranquil, with not a tremor, not a struggle, her dear life went out and her pure soul joined the angelic realm of that eternal city whose maker and builder is God.

We loved her—O, so very much! Words are inadequate to express our devotion. Our hearts are sick with sorrow; grief-stricken we stagger beneath the blow; yet, with a steadfast hope and unshaken faith, we humbly bow, submissive, and "sorrow not, even as others who have no hope." We are persuaded and know that our God is just and merciful, doing all things well, caring for his own. Believing with the whole heart that Jesus died and rose again, even so our darling, as well as all they which sleep in Jesus, will God bring with him.

She died as she lived-a devoted, faithful Christian. Though frail she was in body, her great and beautiful soul shone out with a "light like unto a stone most precious," luminant with the spirit of meekness, humility, abiding faith, and "that perfect love which casteth out all fear," which characterized her life and so beautifully graced it. She lived with a conscience void of offense toward God and men. She loved her home as only a true Christian can. Always the same; unassuming, reserved; a tender, patient, attentive, devout companion and mother, ever ready to succor and minister. Not only was she careful of her own, but equally so for her dear father and mother and entire family-these she loved ardently. As the strings of the lute are vibrant to the softest kiss of nature's breath, so the vibrant chords of her loving heart were to the sorrows, misfortunes, and infirmities of her fellows, ever reflecting the spirit of her Lord.

From out our garden of Life a flower rare and precious, a beauteous flower, has been plucked; yet its fragrant perfume of purity and loveliness lingers still, while within the sacred archives of memory's shrine are stored the graces of a devoted, faithful, and loving Christian wife and mother. She loved her Bible, and her daily study of it and her devotion to her God she deemed essential to her very being. She was devoted to the church and loved it fervently. At the early age of twelve years she obeyed the gospel of our Lord and has ever been faithful, loyal, and true to his cause. Her life was a benediction to all who knew her. Though absent in body, yet she lives. The influence of her pure life will endure with time. Especially did she leave her imprint on the tender heart and life of our darling little boy; for within him she, with patience and love, instilled the love of the truth, the teaching and principles of the gospel of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ; and in his life, and others as well. her spirit and example will be reflected to the honor and glory of God the Father and Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom be praise for evermore. Amen.

Brewer's Book.

BY C. E. HOLT.

Grover C. Brewer, of Winchester, Tenn., is the author of one of the most interesting as well as one of the most valuable books that has been written since Alexander Campbell's "Christian System" was produced. Brewer's book is a better work, for all practical purposes, than Campbell's book. Brewer's book is small in size, but wonderfully large in the information imparted therein. It would be a fine textbook in a Bible college. No one can appreciate the book without reading it. There is so much to commend and so little to criticize in the book that I can unreservedly commend it to all who want to know the truth. The title of the book is "The Model Church," and it sells for one dollar, single copy. A church organized and conducted as this book instructs would be about as close to the New Testament pattern as one could find in the present age. Send to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

The religions of the world are the evaporations of their dead founders. Christianity is the life of Jesus Christ in the life of the regenerated man. Christianity is Christ in action; consequently, it is the only dynamic which gives power, force, and permanence to one's life.—Dr. Matthews.

Training Little Children

Pets My Children Have Had.

The child on the farm has many opportunities to own pets and to live close to nature which a child in the city lacks. Nevertheless, there are a number of gentle and very interesting pets which a child in the congested city districts may have.

My children have taken a great deal of pleasure in caring for their different pets, of which they have had quite a variety. The first was a canary. Birds are always a joy, especially the canary, which is quite at home in a cage. and is content with a vessel of pure water and fresh seed each day. His cheery song gives pleasure to the grown-ups as well as to the children.

Then, too, goldfish are a never-ending source of wonder and interest to children. The fact that their environment is so different from our own and that they live constantly under water will start the child to thinking and asking innumerable questions. The fish need very little care, and two or three of them flashing about in a glass bowl are an attractive addition to any room. A small piece of especially prepared fish food broken and dropped into the bowl every other day and fresh water once or twice a week are all that is necessary for their comfort. Little shells or pebbles which the children may have gathered along the beach in summer can be put into the bowl, although they are not essential. A few water plants are also desirable and help to purify the water. Our goldfish have thrived for more than two years with very little care.

Our family of guinea pigs were more unusual, and were the cleanest little animals one could find. "Jack and Jill" were the original couple; but the children were delighted, upon going out to feed them one morning, to find three little baby guineas snuggled down in the hay. They were the tiniest, furriest little babies with the pinkest of pink ears, and just as lively as could be. They varied widely in color, so the children immediately claimed certain ones as their particular property and watched their growth, from day to day, with great glee. Their house in the back yard was a small wooden box, about three feet by four. It was partitioned off and covered with wire netting, and onehalf of it was sheltered from the storms with a piece of oil cloth. Their snug bed of hay was frequently replenished, for they not only slept and burrowed in it, but nibbled at it constantly. They liked cabbage leaves, lettuce, clover, and plantain; and also relished a cake made of corn meal, salt, and bran mixed with water, and baked in the oven till dry.

My children enjoy kittens and bantam chickens, too: but their favorite pet is a big Scotch collie. He is noble and intelligent, and is their constant companion. A dog not only needs food and water, but also craves kindness and companionship to a greater degree than almost any other animal, and, when he becomes attached to his master, is the most dependable sort of friend.

0 0 0

Intercession is not an effort to overcome any reluctance of God to help those who need him. He is ever yearning to reveal himself. It is not importunate asking, but the whole-hearted cooperation of mind and spirit in the purpose to be a channel of life and power. It is the sympathetic partnership which releases a divine force, operating through natural laws. We must not forget the fact that "we love, because he first loved us."-Exchange.

Disappointment-a Teacher in God's School.

In the school God keeps for his children there is one teacher, and he is one of the best of teachers. His name is Disappointment. He is a rough teacher, severe in tone and harsh in handling sometimes, but his tuition is worth all it costs us. We may not be very apt learners, but our best lessons have been taught us through life, and by this same old schoolmaster, Disappointment. One lesson we learned was not to be selfish or imagine that this world was made merely for us. If it had been, the sun would have shone just when our hay needed curing, and the rain would have fallen only when our garden thirsted for water. But we must not forget that God has ordered things to please himself and not us, and when our plans and schemes are broken up, our journey spoiled by the storm, remember that the old schoolmaster said: "The world was not made for you alone." O my friend, do not be selfish; your loss is another's gain! The rain that spoils your hay makes your neighbor's corn grow the faster. If there be a fall in wheat and it cuts down your profits, it will only help the poor widow in yonder cottage buy bread for her hungry little ones next winter. The working Christian that was removed from your church, the faithful Salvation Army soldier who was removed from your corps, will make some other vineyard glad. Your loss is another one's gain. O, don't be selfish! In the defeat of our plans of self-seeking we have heard the sharp teacher say: "Do not be selfish! God dld not just make this world for you only. Other people have rights as well as yourself." This lesson is worth all it costs us.

A second lesson which Disappointment has taught us is that our losses are not only a gain to others, but are very often the richest gain to ourselves. In our ignorance we may have devised a way and set our hearts upon it, If allowed to pursue it, we might have been led to ruin. We may have scolded bitterly because we could not have our own way, but by and by we found out that God could not have sent a more fatal judgment upon us than simply to have let us had our own way. "There is a way that seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof is death."

The record book of every Christian's life has some pages in it which were written at the bidding of that severe teacher, Disappointment. Tears may have blotted and blurred the page at the time, but as we turn over to that page now and read it in the light of experience we can write beneath it: "Thank God for those losses! were my lasting gain." Blessed be the God who has said in his word, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

If we ever reach our Father's house, we shall look back and see that the sharp, rough-voiced teacher, Disappointment, was one of the best guides we had to train us for heaven. His lessons were hard; he very often used the rod, and sometimes stripped us of a load of luxuries, but that only made us run more freely and faster upon our heavenward way. He sometimes led us down into the valley of death, but never did the promise read so sweetly as when spelled out by the voice of faith in that very valley! Nowhere did he lead us so often or teach such sacred lessons as at the cross of Christ.

Dear, old, rough-handed teacher! We will build a monument to thee yet, and crown it with garlands and inscribe upon it: "Blessed be the memory of Disappointment!"-S. E. Nungesser.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order. When changing your post-office address, toll us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.
Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

Denying Ourselves and Taking Up the Cross. BY J. C. M'Q.

As this is the season of year when new resolutions are made, it is well to impress upon ourselves the necessity and importance of denying ourselves and taking up our crosses. It is not possible to be a follower of Christ without doing this. Christ says: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever would save his life shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it." (Matt. 16: 24, 25.) To deny one's self is to crucify selfishness and to avoid ease and indulgence. To take up the cross is to endure reproach or dishonor in the eyes of the world. The latter expression is used by Christ from the fact that criminals who were to be crucified carried their own crosses to the place of execution. While Christ was not a criminal, yet he was treated as a criminal and was made to bear his own cross until his strength was exhausted and he could no longer carry it.

Peter had objected, as recorded in the preceding paragraph, to the contemplated death of Jesus, and now he and his fellows are taught by Christ that not only must this be endured, but that they themselves must take up the cross and follow his example; and so must all who would be his followers. We are very clearly taught the necessity of all disciples' denying themselves. Matt, 10: 24, 25 inculcates forcibly this truth: "A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his lord. It is enough for the disciple that he be as his teacher, and the servant as his lord. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of his household!"

If there is a murmuring disciple or a complaining preacher who is disposed to think that his lot is a hard one, he should reflect on the life of Jesus Christ. Christ was born in a manger, was reared in the midst of comparative obscurity, and was so poor that he had no home of his own. He says: "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." (Matt. 8: 20.) Christ was dependent on his followers for a home. He spent his life in doing good. When in the garden of Gethsemane, facing the agony of the cross, his sweat became as great drops of blood. He was unjustly tried as a criminal; and while Pilate found no fault in him, his judgment was not allowed Jesus, but he was mocked, persecuted, spit upon, crowned with thorns, and crucified. While suffering the terrible pangs of the cross he was denied water, but instead vinegar mixed with gall was given him. In derision his enemies bowed the knee to him and said: "Come down now from the cross." In his great humiliation and suffering his Father withdrew from him and left him to die alone. In the midst of such terrible suffering he prayed for the men who drove the nails through his tender hands and feet and pierced his side. Think of such terrible sacrifice and suffering, and then you will be ashamed to complain of the sacrifice and self-denial that you have been called upon to make for Christ. The disciple of Christ would not dread so much the self-denial that he must practice in order to be a Christian, if he could only keep his eyes fixed on the glories that Christ has in reservation for him. Annie Kearny truly says: "I believe if we could only see beforehand what it is that our Heavenly Father means us to be, the soul beauty and perfection and glory, the glorious and lovely spiritual body that this soul is to dwell in through all eternity-if we could have a glimpse of this, we should not grudge all the trouble and pains he is taking with us now to bring us up to that ideal which is his thought of us." The great problem that God has to solve in dealing with us is not to make life easier, but to make men stronger. In Matt. 16: 25 life is used in two senses. The man who saves his life temporally will lose it eternally, and he who loses his life temporally for Jesus shall save it eternally. Jesus tells us to deny ourselves and to take up the cross and follow him. While he requires us to deny ourselves all unholy pleasures, ease, and indulgence, he does not demand of us that we deny ourselves any good thing. The man who takes Christ as his Prophet, Priest, and King, and takes upon himself his yoke, really has more ease and happiness in this life than the man who lives simply for this world. A yoke always makes it easier to carry the burden. The ox could not carry his load without the yoke. Christ says of his yoke: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." (Matt. 11: 28-30.)

Christ's service is a reasonable service. While he demands of us sobriety, it is for our good that we shun drunkenness. There is a joy and contentment and peace which a child of God enjoys in the kingdom of Christ that is unknown to the man of the world. Rom. 14: 17 says: "For the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit." No disciple can fight the battles of life in his own strength. In the midst of the conflicts, heartaches, and storms of this life, all men must look to Jesus for help. When Paul was beset by the thorn in the fiesh, and which he besought the Lord three times to remove, the Lord said to him: "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect in weakness." Then Paul, appreciating the truth of this statement, said: "Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my weaknesses, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Wherefore I take pleasure in weaknesses, in injuries, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses, for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong." (2 Cor. 12: 9-11.)

When Stephen was being stoned to death, the grace of God was with him and made his weakness perfect in his strength. When Christians realize their own weakness, then it is that they are strong in the Lord. How glorious it is to die as did Stephen! It is also glorious to die as did Polycarp, the early Christian martyr. Upon being led into the theater to be burned to death, he was offered his freedom if he would "revile Christ," but he indignantly spurned this proposal and to it made this famous reply: "Eighty and six years have I served him, and he hath done me no wrong? How can I then speak evil of my King, who hath saved me?"

The satisfaction of doing one's duty, the joy and sunshine that come to a Christian in this life, far outweighs the self-denial, the burdens and crosses that he bears. Not so with the man who saves his life temporally and loses it eternally. While saving his life, he has a hard time, for "the way of the transgressor is hard." (Prov. 13: 15.) No man can go to perdition without having a hard time. God places obstacles in his way over which he must travel the downward road. The man who denies himself, takes up his cross, and follows Jesus is infinitely better off in this life, as well as in the life to come.

So I would encourage every disciple to set about denying himself at once, for the beginning is half the battle. God will be with us in the conflict, will soften our sorrows on earth, and will at last give us the peace and raptures of heaven.

The unfolding of God's plans—that is all that the Christian need ever to be concerned to know and to follow. God is sovereign, and God is all-wise, and God is all-sufficient. His work never falls; and if we are ready to let our work be his work only, we have his personal pledge that he will glorify himself through the fruit bearing.—Sunday School Times.

Book Notices.

Send us $1.25 for a copy of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study." Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in large, clear type. The book is substantially bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.

RELIEF FUND

__" Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

Mrs. Alber Clayton, Ridgely, Tenn $ 2.00
Mrs. Lizzie Sykes, Horse Cave, Kv
"A Friend," Donelson, Tenn
Miss Maggie Young, Moulton, Ala 5.00
Bethel congregation Greenwood Tenn 15 00
Sunday school at Bay Minette, Ala 5.00
Peter's Chapel congregation, Nugent, Texas 10.00
Church at Washington, D. C
Mrs. Mattie C. Glenn, Lebanon, Tenn
Mrs. Kate Killebrew, San Francisco, Cal 3.00
Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Massey, Lebanon, Tenn 4.00
Church at Ralls, Texas
Church at Pilot Grove, Texas
Arch P. Baker and family, Duck River, Tenn 10.00
Church at Rose Hill, Kan

Following is a letter of acknowledgment from the Near East Relief Committee, which is incorporated by Act of Congress and does its work under government supervision:

Mr. A. B. Lipscomb, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.—Dear Sir: It gives us very great pleasure to acknowledge the generous contribution of the readers of the Gospel Advocate to the Near East Relief, and we attach hereto official receipt for same. We are sure that the realization of how much this money will help these poor children in the Near East will be ample reward for the reader's generous action.

Mr. Morgenthau, in an address at Washington, recently, declared: "Nothing on earth except a miracle from heaven can prevent death by freezing and starvation of a million people in the Near East this winter. The greatest problem facing American people is this: Are we going to stand outside while Europe flounders in agony into dissolution?"

The New York World, in commenting editorially on this speech, inquires: "What holiday sermons on generosity would plead like those sad eyes deep-set in faces wan with starvation?"

Again thanking you and assuring you that we would hesitate to even try and relieve such frightful conditions but for the continued support of large-hearted people like yourself.

Sincerely yours.

C. P. Burgess.

Mr. W. O. Gorski, secretary of the Polish Victims' Relief Fund, sends us the following acknowledgment:

My Dear Mr. Lipscomb: Upon my return from Poland I find your two letters, one of November 5 and the other of December 24, and I wish to express my very heartfelt thanks to your readers for their continued generosity toward us.

Inclosed I am sending you our receipt for five hundred dollars just now received: but as I understand it, during my absence you have contributed another five hundred dollars. Your paper is one of our most stanch supporters, and we can assure you that we do appreciate it most cordially.

I shall be only too glad to send you some articles on Poland and bring out facts which I have seen with my own eyes, but must be permitted to ask for a little time: for upon my return I have found a great deal of work awaiting me, and before this is disposed of I shall be unable to devote any spare time to articles.

Once more thanking you for all you have done for us, I beg to remain, Most gratefully yours,

W. O. Gorski, Honorary Executive Secretary.

Mr. Gorski is the son-in-law of I. J. Paderewski, the late Polish premier. He has recently visited Poland and witnessed with his own eyes the terrible conditions now prevalent.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

It is at the point of human despair that one is nearest to victory, even as the apostle Paul, as he exclaims, "O wretched man that I am; who shall deliver me?" receives the immediate response of faith: "I thank God through Jesus Christ."

AT HOME AND ABROAD

I love to read the Gospel Advocate. It gets better all the time.—Mrs. Kate Killebrew, San Francisco, Cal.

I have been taking the Gospel Advocate about forty years, and like it fine.—Joe S. Barry, Alexandria, Tenn.

I enjoy the Gospel Advocate and think it is fine. I have been a subscriber fifty-one years.—T. C. Little, Fayetteville, Tenn

The Gospel Advocate is just fine. I enjoy the special numbers; but all are good.—Mrs. W. H. Hammack, 410 Sixth Avenue, South, Columbus, Miss.

The great need of the world to-day is not a new gospel, but the old gospel anew; such an exaltation of Jesus Christ before the vision of men as this age has never witnessed.

—Selected

From G. C. Parham, Oklahoma City, Okla., January 9: "I preached for the saints in Tuttle on the first Lord's day in January. Brethren desiring a meeting are requested to write me early."

Many friends will be grieved to learn of the death of W. J. Higdon on January 4. He had been living in Oklahoma and Texas for several years, but died near Etoile, Ky. The Gospel Advocate extends sympathy to the bereaved.

From Carl Barnett, Greenville, Ala.: "Who will furnish a tent for a twenty-days' meeting at Goodway, Ala., for July and August? Only a mission point. Only two members now; two have moved away since my last report. I would like to hear from some one who wants to plant the gospel."

From Lee Sanders, Miami, Texas, January 8: "We are still busy in the Lord's work here at Miami. We are expecting to do a good work this year. Our service last Sunday was good, everything considered, and our ladies' Bible class last Tuesday afternoon was just fine. We want the prayers of the faithful."

Wanted—To sell my farm, containing one hundred acres of land, five miles east of Burns, Tenn. Good roads and pikes. A short distance from the Bristol-to-Memphis highway. The land produces oats, wheat, and corn, and is especially adapted to grow tobacco, berries, and fruits. The very best of water. An excellent loyal congregation and a new high school near by. For prices and terms, address William P. Walker, Route 4, Clarksville, Tenn.

From T. M. Carney, San Angelo, Texas, January 6: "I am exceedingly joyous to be able to report that our work here is moving forward along all lines. Six were added during December. At our business meeting on last evening the treasurer reported that we are starting the new year in excellent financial condition and with our contributions increasing. The church of Christ in San Angelo has been very nice to me and mine since we arrived here."

From George W. Farmer, Cleveland, Tenn., January 8: "Work with the church here for 1920 starts off well. Services for the first Lord's day were well attended and with good interest. One sister has recently been restored to the fellowship, and also two have come into the fellowship of the church from McMinnville congregation. These all stimulate us, because they are good folks. W. C. Phillips was with the Union Chapel church at Rockwood last Lord's day. He gave a good report from there."

From C. H. Smithson, Ben Franklin, Texas, January 6: "I seldom report to the Gospel Advocate, as most of my work is in Texas. I have just closed one of the best years' work of my life, and have resolved to try to make this year even still better. I began this year at home with five fine services and the best interest we have had here. This church has been faithful to God and supported me well. Next Lord's day will be spent at Cottonwood, in Dallas County. I visited them the first time in 1912, and they have ever proven true. We are hoping for greater things this year. I wish you all a pleasant year, and believe that I can say the Advocate has a better tone than in former days."

From Will W. Slater, Mena, Ark., December 31: "This is the last day of 1919. The year, with all its blessings and opportunities, has passed and gone by forever. It has been a successful year with me in many ways. The last Sunday was spent with the Park Hill Church, at home (Fort Smith). We had a splendid day. This leaves me at Mena, teaching a singing class for the faithful few here and attending the normal singing school, which is being conducted by the great Dr. Herbert. I am trying to better prepare myself for the work of the Master. During the year I have worked three months with the American Express Company, preached every Sunday but three, held twelve protracted meetings and five singing schools, and baptized sixty-six persons. The brethren have supported me well for my labors. May we all strive to do more for the Master's cause during 1920 than we have ever done before. My address is 1600 South T Street, Fort Smith, Ark.

From Horace W. Busby, Fort Worth, Texas, December 30: "The work is fine at Glenwood, this city. This has been our best year's work. I have worked with the congregation for more than six years. When I began, we had a little more than one hundred members meeting in a little tabernacle. Now we have five hundred members, and a neat house of worship (brick veneer), all paid for. Besides my work with this congregation, I have been holding ten or twelve meetings each year, with an average of two hundred additions yearly. This year there have been more than three hundred additions to the congregations where I have labored, including more than a hundred at the Glenwood congregation. With the great future unfolding before us, we should all plan for a work worthy of the people of God, 'upon whom the ends of the ages have come,' and, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before,' we should 'press toward the mark."

From J. S. Dunn, Dallas, Texas, January 1: "This is the first day of January, 1920, and in looking over my books I find that I was in eleven meetings during 1919 and had one hundred and nine additions to the various congregations where I labored. During the winter and spring months I am to work with the Ferris and Bardwell congregations. At Ferris we are having good interest and aim to build a new house of worship this year, to cost about two thousand dollars. We have some good brethren at Ferris. The Bardwell brethren have the best church house in Ellis County, owned by the church of Christ, and some very fine folks, who are ever ready to aid in building the cause beyond the shadow of their church building. Carl Gardner lives at Bardwell. He teaches school during the week and preaches somewhere on Lord's days. Gardner is one of the best teachers to be found and there is more interest in his school than any place in the country that I have seen. One good man like Brother Gardner can keep alive the cause in almost any place, and the Bardwell brethren have been greatly helped by having this good man and worker. His influence is good, and he is always ready and willing to push the Lord's work. He will hold meetings during the summer of 1920. If any congregation needs a good, consecrated man, as well as a good preacher, write to C. A. Gardner, Bardwell, Texas. I have known the work of the church in Texas for twenty years, and feel sure we are growing more and doing more than ever before. We should all be thankful and try to do more."

BY J. C. McQUIDDY.

Brother J. A. Usrey, of Hedley, Texas, wishes to know whether I had reference to the taking of the Lord's Supper in my answer to Brother Fuqua when I said of the Roman method of computing time that I saw no reason why it should not be observed.

I had in mind the fact that we count our time now from midnight to midnight, which was not the Jewish mode of reckoning time. However, when it comes to the observance of the Lord's Supper, I have said it is proper to observe it from six o'clock Sunday morning until six o'clock Sunday evening. The Jewish day ran from sunset to sunset. It certainly suits the convenience of most Christians to meet sometime during the first day of the week from six o'clock A.M. to six o'clock P.M.

***** * *

Brother J. G. Malphurs presents the following questions: (1) "Can an elder scripturally resign his office when he has no reason save age and infirmity of the body or mind?" (2) "Who should take the lead in ordaining new officers in an established congregation—the preacher or the old elders?" (3) "Is it best and scriptural to fast with prayer and lay hands on the new officers?" (4) "Since the war is now over and our preaching brethren that joined the Y. M. C. A. have lost their jobs, is it well that churches or individuals continue to support that institution with their money and prayers?"

1. No man can resign a duty. If a man is a scriptural elder, he can no more resign the work of an elder than he can resign the work of a Christian. If a man has a right to quit being a Christian on account of the infirmity of the body or mind, then he has a right to cease to be an elder for the same reason.

2. In a church that is established and organized, I would think that the elders would take the initiative in appointing new elders or deacons. Paul left Titus in Crete that he should "set in order the things that were wanting, and appoint elders in every city." Where there are things that are lacking in the churches and order needs to be brought out of chaos, it is obligatory upon the scriptural evangelist to see that this work is done.

3. I do not understand that the Scriptures give any special or exclusive method of appointing elders or deacons. As some method of designation must be used, I do not see why there should be any objection to fasting and prayer and the laying on of hands, provided it be clearly understood that no gifts are conferred by the laying on of hands, as was the case in the laying on of apostolic hands. In the study of this subject, I have never been able to reach the definite conclusion that fasting and prayer and laying on of hands was the only method ordained of Jehovah for the appointing of elders and deacons.

4. It is undoubtedly true that the Y. M. C. A. does some good. It is also true that so many human organizations are a reflection on the efficiency and completeness of the New Testament church. The church of Christ as organized with elders and deacons is all-sufficient for the propagation of the truth. It is a mistake to turn away from the blood-bought church of Christ to a human institution to do the good works ordained to be done by the church. Christians should not be guilty of such conduct. On the other hand, they should not oppose the good work that the Y. M. C. A. is doing. They should be careful not to oppose human institutions in such a way as to make the impression that they are opposed to the good works of such institutions. "And John answered and said, Master, we saw one casting out demons in thy name; and we forbade him, because he followeth not with us. But Jesus' said unto him, Forbid him not: for he that is not against you is for you." (Luke 9: 49, 50.) Christians should encourage every one in the doing of good. It is sectarian to reject the good that people do simply because they do not do it in our way. We should go with and encourage them so long as they do good works in the name of Christ. When they cease to do good, Christians should part company with them. The young men who worked with the Y. M. C. A. during the war had to work with it or the Red Cross or not at all. They chose to do the work rather than not to do it. I am not informed as to whether they joined the Y. M. C. A. or not. If they did, it was because it was necessary to do the work and not because they doubted the efficiency and completeness of the church for the conversion of the world. No such necessity now exists. Human societies should be discouraged and the church of Christ encouraged.

0 0 0

Brother John Lawrenson, of Carman, Manitoba, Canada, wants to know the meaning of (1) Rev. 21: 24-27; (2) Matt, 19: 28. The passage in Revelation reads: "And the nations shall walk amidst the light thereof; and the kings of the earth bring their glory into it. And the gates thereof shall in no wise be shut by day (for there shall be no night there): and they shall bring the glory and the honor of the nations into it: and there shall in no wise enter into it anything unclean, or he that maketh an abomination and a lie; but only they that are written in the Lamb's book of life." The passage in Matthew reads: "And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that ye who have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit on the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

1. I understand that the redeemed of all nations enjoy the light of the city, the new Jerusalem. The gates of this city were never shut, which implies first that the city has no fears of any foes. These have been subdued. No enemies remain to invade the happy precincts of the city and its struggles have been ended forever. The fact that the gates were not shut, in the second place, implies that the nations of the saved always have admission to it. The obedient will always have free admission into this city. All nations will contribute to increase the glory of the city. All nations will pay homage to it just as nations pay tribute to an earthly capital. Nothing that is sinful, nothing that defileth, and nothing that worketh abomination, or maketh a lie, shall ever be permitted to enter there.

2. The word "regeneration" occurs only twice in the New Testament. In addition to the verse under consideration, it occurs in Tit, 3; 5. I understand that the word "regeneration" means just about what we mean by "the Christian dispensation," or "the reign of Christ." Christ told his disciples that when he came to his power and glory in heaven, they should receive power on earth. He entered upon his reign when he ascended to heaven, and they received power and authority when a few days later the Holy Spirit descended to the earth. Then began the regeneration, restoration, the reign of Jesus, the Christian dispensation. The word "regeneration" is used in the same comprehensive sense in Tit. 3: 5. The apostle calls baptism the laver of the new dispensation. While Christ is reigning in heaven, the apostles are represented as reigning on earth. They reign and rule through their teaching or writings. Whatsoever they bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever they loose on earth is loosed in heaven. They derive their authority as apostles and teachers from Christ, and by teaching only what he commands them to teach. The reference to ruling over the twelve tribes of Israel doubtless refers to spiritual Israel rather than literal Israel.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

Three Delightful Weeks in Los Angeles.

On November 9, 1919, it was my pleasure to step from the train in Los Angeles, Cal., where I remained for three weeks in a revival with the church at that place. To say that the stay was delightful hardly expresses it. This was one of the most enjoyable meetings of my life.

It was no little treat to meet G. W. Riggs, an old school-mate of mine, and who, with the assistance of Brother Michael Sanders, deceased, started the work more than seventeen years ago and has remained with it. I spent the most of my time there in his home, so far as a lodging place is concerned, and enjoyed every moment of it. It was my first time to meet Sister Riggs, and I am glad to say that I found her a most excellent woman, adorned with that "incorruptible apparel" that all godly women wear. Too, the seven children were very interesting to me, especially the two little fellows, the most nearly perfect exhibition of perpetual motion that I have ever seen: six boys and one girl, the three oldest children being members of the church.

Brother Riggs' work in California is very interesting. He is a man of sterling character, and knows not how to compromise God's truth or to waste time with "foolish and unlearned questions;" hence, the church, under his leadership, has had peace. At times, in the early days of the church, his support was inadequate; but he stuck to the job, quietly securing work on the side and supporting himself. He has done this more than once during the years he has been there, and never a murmur has been uttered by him. It was all a source of pleasure to him. He is held in high esteem by the brethren, and, with them, now is planning for an aggressive drive in that city of bove seven hundred thousand souls.

I was delighted with the members of the church there. I would be so glad to call every name and tell the impressons that were made, but time and space forbid this. Suffice it to say that I found them with a burning desire to taxe Los Angeles for Christ, so far as it can be done. They have a splendid board of elders and deacons, men who are cajable and willing to do with their might what their haids find to do. If ever a body of people did their best to nake one have a delightful time while with them, these people did this for me. My home for the last week of my stay was at Brother A. A. Godfrey's, one of the elders, and a most excellent man. His wife, three sons, and two daughters—all members of the church—certainly know how to make a visitor feel at home. This was as nearly a model home as I have seen anywhere.

I disliked to say good-by to these good people, but had to hasten on to Nashville, Tenn., where my son was under treatment of Dr. E. B. Cayce for a very serious ear, nose, and throat trouble; hence, I boarded the train at 9 A.M., December 1, for that place. On December 13 he underwent an operation, and I am so glad to say to all of my friends that it was a most wonderful success. He now seems to be a new man—bright, happy, and cheerful. Everythiag indicates that he will probably get entirely well. He is all we have, will soon see his twentieth birthday, and you may know what this means to us.

While in Los Angeles, I met Brother Felix G. Owens, of Santa Rosa. He came down and spent more than a week with us and helped much in the meeting. He is wide awake and is doing his best for the cause of Christ in that neglected State. I also had the pleasure of meeting Brother L. D. Perkins, of Armona. He is another one for whom the saints there are thankful. His noble life speaks loudly for the cause we all should love. I spent one pleasant Saturday afternoon and evening at Santa Ana, where I was given a treat on a sight-seeing trip by Brother C. C. Condra. We have one of the best congregations at that place, and I left them with a desire to return sometime. I very much desired to run over to Ontario and see Brother S. E. Witty, and up to Fresno and see Brother W. Halliday Trice, both old schoolmates of mine, and also to run out to Riverside and see Brother E. M. Borden; but I grew restless, on account of my son's condition, and left one week earlier than contemplated. But I am hoping to finish my trip in that great State at some later date, when Mrs. Hall and the boy will be with me to enjoy it and we can stay as long as interest demands. To one and all of the good people whom I met while there I have but one thing to say-namely: God bless every one of you, and keep you, and use you in his service, unto eternal life, shall be my prayer.

0 0 0

"Group Evangelism."

I very much enjoyed Brother Stubblefield's article on "Group Evangelism" in the first issue of the Gospel Advocate for the new year. I, with him, rejoice to see the Christian Standard now taking more interest in this kind of work than that done through the societies. But I would like to ask this question: Why call it "group evangelism?" Why not just call it "plain, old-fashioned, New Testament evangelism?" Why not call it a return to the Scriptures? No, those brethren do not want to admit that they have wandered from the teaching and practice of the apostles and early Christians; hence, they tack on this new name to what they now advocate and strive to hide behind it as they slip back to the practice of the preachers and churches of the first century. Indeed, I am glad to see them return; but I dislike to see them try to keep from admitting that they are returning, and to hide this, call what they are now pleading for "group evangelism," and throw kisses at the societies as they leave them, saying they are all right, but that they have found a better way-namely, group evangelism-which "group evangelism" they would have us believe is a child of their own, when, indeed, such was practiced in the days of the apostles. It seems to me that it is a great sin to take some practice that the New Testament certainly sustains and try to make it appear that it is an invention of our own. Why not take faith, repentance, the Lord's Supper, and other as plain-as-day teachings of the New Testament and give them a new name and claim them as our concepts? I rejoice to see this change for the better, but do not like this seeming unwillingness to say: "We left the truth, but now we want to come back to it." We can never have the union for which Christ prayed until those who claim to be his followers stand unitedly in the contention that the man does not live who can improve upon Jehovah's thoughts and ways. Whenever we have a plain precept or example about how things should be done, we should never think of trying some other way, thinking it will do just as well. Never, in all the work of the apostles, did they do one thing that indicated that the work of the local church could be improved upon by being placed in the hands of some organization other than itself with its God-ordained elders and deacons. Neither should we; and when we do, we are simply departing from their teaching and practice.

0 0 0

Help for the Work at McGregor, Ga.

The following donations have been received for a house of worship at McGregor, Ga.: From Mrs. W. R. M. McKissick, Tennessee, $5; Mrs. M. C. Chambers, Kentucky, $2: "A Sister," Texas, $1; Brother Prevatt, Georgia, $1.75; Mrs. W. M. Allison, Tennessee, $1; A. M. Strickland, Georgia, $2.

A lot has been bought and the deed is now in the hands of the faithful at that place. The West End Avenue con-

IS THIS YOUR CASE?

What You Should Do-Most Successful and Economical Treatment.

Do you have a feeling of general weakness day in and out? Is your appetite poor? Does your food fail to strengthen you and your sleep to refresh? Do you find it hard to do or to bear what should be easy? Have your ordinary duties and cares become great tasks and burdens?

If so, take Hood's Sarsaparilla-this great medicine revitalizes the blood, gives vigor and tone to all the organs and functions, and is unequalled for those who are in any degree debilitated or run down. Do not delay treatment-begin it today.

To rouse the torpid liver and regulate the bowels take Hood's Pills. They are purely vegetable.

WANTED-COMPOSERS of VERSE or MUSIC to write me at once. Brilliant opportunity for good talent. Address Bur-RELL VAN BUREN, Studio 18, Grand Opera House, Chicago, Ill.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked, and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

INTERSMITES

Sold for 50 Years FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER Also a Pina General Strengthening Tonic. At All Drug Stores.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

gregation will have a donation in their hands by the time this reaches our readers. Will not every other congregation and disciple in Georgia, who sees this appeal, hurry a donation on to Sister Vina Hooper, McGregor, Ga.? Please do not neglect this. Let us see that a house is built there at the earliest possible date and get ready for the next new congregation that we soon hope to organize at a very important town in this State. May our friends out of this State remember that their donations will also be appreciated. What you do, do it now. There are two other places waiting for a man to get to them.

0 0 0

J. W. Grant With Us.

We are so glad that we have Brother J. W. Grant and his excellent wife wintering in this State. They are making their home with Brother and Sister Fred Hinely, near Dasher, Ga. Sister Hinely is their foster daughter, and is one of our best workers. Brother Grant will keep busy preaching while in the State, and we hope he will get so busy he cannot get away.

We are glad to report that Brother Copeland, of the Dasher congregation, has moved to Savannah to live and work with the "faithful few" at that place. This means much to that work and makes its success a certainty.

Love First.

Christ teaches us that both toward God and toward man love goes first and duty follows after-not, indeed, that we are idly to wait for the feeling, and excuse the not doing on the plea of not loving. There is such a thing as worshiping, because I desire to love. So there is such a thing as doing good to my brother, if so be I may love him; a setting myself to every office of patient and self-denying charity, if by any means it may at last become not a labor, but a love, to me. But how can we love the unlovely? Surely whosoever sees with the eye of Christ can discern, if he will look for it, on the most tarnished, debased, defaced coin of humanity, that divine image and superscription in which God created, and for the sake of which thought it no waste to redeem. This is love's place in Christ's gospel. Love revealed; love reciprocated; then love handed on .- C. J. Vaughn.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

Sign Your Name Here

If you suffer with any curable disease that does not seem to be benefited by drugs such as dyspersia, indiges-tion, sick headache, neuralgia, rheu-matism, liver or kidney diseases, or any ailment involving impure blood, you are cordially invited to accept the liberal offer made below. It is a mistake to assume that your case is incurable simply because remedies prepared by human skill have not seemed to benefit you. Put your faith in nature, accept this offer, and you will never have cause to regret it.

I believe this is the most wonderful mineral spring that has ever been discovered, for Its waters have either restored or benefited tens of thousands who have accepted my offer. Match your faith in this spring against my pocketbook; and if the water does not relieve your case, I will make no charge for it. Clip this notice, sign your name, inclose the amount, and let this wonderful water begin its restorative work in you as it has in thousands of others.

Shivar Spring, Box 21A, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons of Shivar Mineral Spring Water. I agree to give it a fair trial, in accordance with instructions conin accordance with instructions con-tained in booklet you will send; and if it fails to benefit my case, you agree to refund the price in full upon re-ceipt of the two empty demijohns, which I agree to return within a month.

Name
Address	,
Shipping Point

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of sering the little church at Shivar Spring as pastor for years, and am, therefore, well advanted with Mr. Shivar and his associats, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived grat benefit from the use of the Shivar Mindal Water, and have knowledge of its benefidal effects in a great number and variety of cases."—Rev. A. McA. Pittman.

HAIR. For the

To make it soft, fluffy, and free from landruff, use

TETTERINE

60c at your druggist's or from the SIUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Safe but Promotily

relieves coughing. hoarse ness, sore throat, bronchial irritation and asthmatic discomforts. A little piece relieves a child's cold. Handy and dependable. Prices: 15c, 35c, 75c &$1.25. John I. Brown & Son, Boston, Mass.

FIRST WEEK 5 EGGS SECOND, 72; THIRD, 104

Hens Showed Steady Egg Gain for Mrs. Pierce in Winter Weather.

Mrs. Pierce in Winter Weather.

"The week before we tried Don Sung we got 5 eggs from 50 hens. The next week, from a 50-cent package of Don Sung, we got 72 eggs, and the next week 104. Some of our hens are mere pullets, and Don Sung has statted them laying."—Mrs. B. F. Pierce, R. F. D. I, Butler, Tenn.

Mrs. Pierce selected a severe time for her test—the middle of January. Yet she started getting the eggs promptly. Your hens can lay well, in cold weather, and we'll prove it. Here's our offer:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days; and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mall. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mail, prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Has Brought Relief to Thousands of Sufferers.

And what it has done for others it will do for you. Don't continue to suffer with rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff and sore muscles, cold in the chest, croup, coughs, and kindred aches and pains. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil), use according to directions, and know what it means to be free of pain.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil) is powerful and penetrating, yet will not harm the most delicate skin. In 30c, 60c, and $1 bottles. Ask for and insist upon the genuine Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil). Your money back if it doesn't do what we claim. For sale by all

TETTERINE

Ends Complexion Worries

Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

FROM THE FIELD

Alabama.

Brewton, January 1 .- As we enter the new year let us examine ourselves, and if we find any envy or hatred toward any one, let us cleanse our-selves from all evil thought and malice; for we are brethren. Let us not bite and devour one another, lest we be consumed one of another. Let all of our words, either spoken or written, be in the kindest manner, showing that we have the Spirit of Christ ruling in our hearts. Let all our actions be as the actions of a child of God, so that others may see our good works and glorify our Heavenly Father; for we know not how soon our opportunity to save the souls of poor, lost sinners will be forever gone and we shall come into judgment to receive according to our deeds. us talk more, love more, and pray more. Let us see how much we can do this year for the cause of Christ. Any correspondence will be appre-ciated.—G. W. Jarrett.

Arkansas.

Texarkana, January 5.-The College Hill work starts off in fine shape for the new year. Five placed their membership with us yesterday. Work on the concrete baptistery is under way and will be instrumental in advancing the cause of Christ in our city. Places used in times past have brought forth much criticism from the public, which served Satan well in hindering many from obeying the gospel. It is en-couraging to labor with Christians who realize the importance of being progressive and not digressive.-J. E. Wainwright.

Fort Smith, January 5.-The Park Hill Church began the new year with We had two great services yesterday. eighty-eight children in the children's classes yesterday; all told, we had about one hundred and forty-five in our Sunday-school and Bible classes. A large crowd attended the preaching We had the pleasure of services. having Brother J. D. Tant, who lives at Rogers, with us yesterday, and he preached for us last night. He gave us a grand lesson. Brother Tant is a great character, and is certainly a Bible student and teacher. May be come again. This congregation was come again. This congregation was set in order by Brother Kidwell, of Dallas, Texas, last January, and began meeting in a little store building, with thirty-three members. To-day we have a nice house of worship which cost us thirty-five hundred dollars and a membership of about sixty-five members; and we began the new year with more than one hundred and forty in our Sunday-school classes. We will have preaching three Sundays in each month. Pray for us that we may do greater things for God.—Will W. Slater.

California.

Tulare, December 28.—The work in Tulare is moving along nicely. We had a nice audience to-day. Brother We E. M. West, of Delana, is preaching half the time. He is thirty miles away, living on a ranch, which makes it very inconvenient for him. He is also principal of the Earlymart school. He has sold his ranch, and as soon as his school is out he expects to come nearer Tulare to buy a ranch, as we are trying to concentrate our forces, so many members are scattered so far away from the place of worship. Brother Davie Pinkley has bought a ranch near Pixley and expects to go out of the dairy business, so we are hoping that they may be able to attend more regularly. Any one desirtend more regularly. Any one desiring to come West will do well to stop in Tulare, as it is situated in the heart of a dairy and alfalfa section, and you can buy land as reasonably here as any place in the State. If any one desiring information will write me, I will gladly answer his questions. We have secured three nice lots with a frontage of seventy-five feet on which we plan to build a house of worship. We are now meeting in the Woman's Clubhouse, on Tulare Woman's Clubhouse, on Tulare street, just west of the Southern Pacific depot. My address is 129 South D Street.—L. Meade Williams.

Recipe for Gray Hair.

To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth of an ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off .- Advt.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000, 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 tor $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

You May Rend the Christian Herald HALF PRICE

8 Weeks at
THE CHRISTIAN HERALD is sacrificing all its immediate profits from subscribers in a big drive to extend its present 300,000 circulation (representing 1,500,000 readers) to the million mark (representing 1,500,000 readers) by making an irresistable half price trial offer. New subscribers may have the next

8	weekly issi	25°
20	scintillating crisp, liuman interest	Stories
20	pages of world news	Studies
50	inspirational otherational	Feature Articles
70	wonderful Interpretative	Editorials
70	helpful daily, devotional	Meditatations
10	short, pithy, worth while	Sermons
200	or more black and white	Pictures
8	beautiful covers usually in severa!	Colors and hundreds of other wenderful features, all now available to new subscribers at half price.

The Christian Herald is one of America's really great religious and social institutions. It is the best liver and most widely read interdenominational family magazine in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity.

IMPORTANT—During the 8 weeks for 25c period, another of those wonderful Courtenay Savage Serials, entitled "Moraing," will appear exclusively in the Christian Herald in advance of its publication as a $1.50 book.

(at the Christian Herald in declined to give and the strength of the now available to new subscribers at half price.
The Christian Herald is one of America's really great

The Inhalation Treatment for

modic Croup, Asthma Influenza, Coughs, Branchitis, Colds, Charth.

Don't fail to use Cresolene for the distressing, and often fatal affective factories for the distressing of the fatal factories for the paroxysms of Whooping Cough and relieves Spasmodic Croup at once. In asthma it shortens the affect and insures comfortable repose.

The air carrying the antiscrite vapor inspired with every breath, makes breathing easy, soothes the sore throat, and stops the cough, assuring restiful nights. Cresolene relieves the bronchial complications of Scarlet Fever and Measles and is a valuable aid in the treatment of Diphliteria.

Cresolene's best recommendation is its 40 years of successful use. Send postal for Descriptive Booklet 43.

FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS \(\)

The Vapo-Cresolene Co. 62 Cortlandt St., New York or Leeming-Miles Building, Montreal, Canada

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weakenend, run-down condition, get my "Electric Belt." For Weakness. Kidney Nervous Debility, Rheuma-tism Backache, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, postpaid, Dr. Frank M. Welch, Atlanta, Ga.

Upsets Nerves Go to Drug Store - Try DOSE AND IN BOTTLES - 10:30 8.60

Driving the Brain often Affects the Nerves, causing Nervous Irritation and Nervous Headaches.

When Nervous, try using

r.Miles ervine

The Standard Remedy for many years for disorders of the Nerves.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

The Working Church.

BY W. S. LONG, JR.

I hope this may be a great year for the church of the New Testament. In the Library of Congress is a copy of "The Model Church," written by G. C. Brewer. It is an excellent work, and I am glad that the greatest library in the United States will always have a copy of this useful book; and I hope, too, that it may find its way to the homes of Christians everywhere. Among the many good things Brother Brewer has suggested to the church, one is that each congregation should make out a budget the first Lord's day of the year and set before the church the amount of money the church should and could raise that year, and into what channel the finance would go. This would give the church an idea of her ability and a high mark toward which to strive, and encourage every member to do his or her best. If this could be done to-day and each member would give as the Bible directs, the ten thousand congregations in the United States would do more during 1920 than in any three years of the past. How many will give ten per cent?

Church at Clarendon, Texas, Needs Help.

BY W. W. BREWER.

Clarendon is a town of about seven thousand inhabitants, situated at the foot of the plains, on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, two hundred and seventy-eight miles northwest of Fort Worth, and is the county seat of Donley County.

Clarendon could very appropriately be called a Methodist town. They have a school of several years' standing, with an enrollment of nearly five hundred students this year. They have a thousand or more members and not less than a million dollars' worth of church and school property and are raising five hundred thousand dollars more to enlarge their buildings. So you can see, brethren, what we have to contend with in building up the cause which has been greatly neglected here.

We are few in number. I feel safe in saying there are not more than three hundred members in the entire county. We have a membership of about one hundred at this place, and our house will barely seat them comfortably. The interest in the cause of Christ demands a larger, better building. The one we now occupy is an old, remodeled school building. It is our aim to build a good, substantial house at a cost of about ten thousand dollars. We have subscribed and can raise about five thousand dollars among the brethren here. We have our lots paid for and the deed is made with the restrictive clause.

Now, brethren, you have the situation very clearly before you, and you who are able, financially, can readily see where you can step in and help us equip ourselves for this fight with sectarianism. We are determined to have the house, for we have to have a comfortable place to which we may invite the people to come and hear the truth, and we are going our limit to realize our aims. We appeal to congregations who have good houses of worship to help us to help ourselves. Can you not send us ten or fifteen dollars? Let individual brethren who are interested in building up the cause of Christ send us a donation. Let us feel that we are not alone in this work. And let us not let the Methodists show so much more zeal in contributing money toward advancing their cause than we who have the truth. Whatever the amount of the donation, be it large or small, it will be greatly appreciated. It will be deposited in the bank to our church building fund and will not be used for any other purpose. Announcements will be made regularly of amounts received and names given unless otherwise requested. Send all contributions to Bob McGowan, T. M. Little, or to me.

To Fortify the System Against Grip Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets which destroy germs, act as a Tonic and Laxative, and thus prevent Colds, Grip and Influenza. There is only one "BROMO QUININE," E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box

PILES permanently disappear three jars COCK'S PILE REMEDY, or we will refund your money. If your case is not severe, it is probable that one jar will relieve you. For all kinds of piles. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggist's or direct from HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY, Oxford, N. C. Druggists, write for liberal proposition.

RINE PILLOW

And Feather Beds. Order by parcel post right from this advertisement. Get good pillows—fine, new, gray goose feathers, big size, 5 lbs., $4.50 pair. Gray goose beds, 25 lbs., $21.72; 30 lbs., $24.60. Cheaper kinds. Pillows, 5 lbs., $1.80 pair. Beds, 25 lbs., $10.20; 35 lbs., $12.45. We have $500 deposited with the Security Savings Bank, Charlotte, N. C., to guarantee satisfaction or money back--you take no risk. Order to-day or write for cir-culars. Hygienic Bed Company, Dept. 28. Charlotte, N. C.

Who Should Take

Nuxated Iron

The Elderly Inactive Man

"The History of the Fall and Dissolution of Christendom."

The author in but one chapter gives any hint as to his denominational alignment. In his discussion of the "seed of man" he would lead one to believe that he is a pronounced believer in the doctrine of the reformation, or the doctrine popularly known as "Campbellism."

It is impossible to give anything like an intelligent review of the book without making the review too extensive. In spite of whatever defects an individual reader may find in the book, he will find it interesting, entertaining, readable, illuminating, and informing. In the author's own summing up of the book we have the following statements:

1. "A time will come before the coming of Christ when the spirit and power of democracy will be universal and supreme on the whole earth, and no man will be allowed to wear a crown or be called 'king,' 'prince,' or 'emperor.'"

2. "The first universal reign of democracy or republicanism will be a paternal government and will own every dollar's worth of wealth on the whole earth. This is the God-appointed destiny of popular sovereignty or democracy as introduced into the world by the Roman empire, and is appointed by God to take place before the coming of Christ."

3. "Two monarchial forms of government will follow a universal reign of democracy. The kingdoms or forms of government introduced by Greece and Medo-Persia will each have a universal reign before the coming of Christ, as we have seen in previous chapters."

4. "The kingdom or form of government introduced by Medo-Persia, with its immutable laws, will yet rule every tribe and nation and tongue of earth before the coming of Christ. With it will come the great prophetic tribulations referred to by Christ and Daniel and placed with the falling away by Paul. These are fully delineated by the great and beloved apostle John in the Apocalypse and found in previous chapters of this volume. They will be fulfilled before the coming of Christ."

5. "The kingdom or form of government, a monarchial government introduced by Greece, will be the last human kingdom to have universal reign on earth, and it will be here and will be destroyed by Christ at his coming."

6. "During the universal reign of these three kingdoms the earth will be ablaze with the most stupendous miracles, and they cover about twentythree hundred days, or nearly seven years."

IS YOUR BLOOD HUNGRY

FOR IRON?

Modern Methods of Cooking and Living Have Made An Alarming Increase in Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women

NUXATED IRON Helps Make Red Blood

The Kind That Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Force Strength and Courage Into Veins of Men.

"Is your blood starving for want of iron? Iron is red blood food. If you were to go without gating until you became weak, thin and emaclated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally go hungry for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into living itssue," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack from in the blood—and who never suspect the ecuse of their weak, nervous, run-down state. But in my opinion, you can't make strong, sturdy men and women by feeding them on metallic iron. The old forms of metallic iron must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic iron—Nurated fron—before they are to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Notwithstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insist in dosing themselves with metallic iron simply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nurated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nurated Iron in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nurated Iron) appears on the packages. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar iron wroducts and failed to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated Iron."

The Exhausted Business Man

The Run-down

Business Woman

If you are not strong or well you ove it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming fired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were afling all the while have increased their strength and endurance in two weeks' time while taking Iron in the proper form.

7, "Before the coming of Christ and before the rise of either of the three above-named universal reigns, the first great universal kingdom will arise. The duration of the time of its existence is not revealed. It may continue for many centuries. It will embrace every nation of earth. . . . It is a federation of all the kingdoms of earth under one and the same con-

8. "These prophecies, as is clearly shown in previous chapters of this volume, point to a time before the coming of Christ that the dominion of the Turk, the Japanese, the Chinese, and all other nonprofessors of Christian faith must be converted or lay down the scepter at the feet of the Christendom ruler."

stitution."

It can be seen at once, from even this brief statement of the author's views, that he is neither a post nor a pronounced premillenarian. He says emphatically in this book that it is impossible that Christ should come within the next seven years.

It seems to this reviewer that there is more sense and more scripture behind what this author has written than is to be found in any other single volume on the book of Revelation. -J. W. Gillon, in Baptist and Reflector.

The Inward Effects of humors are worse than the outward. They endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors, cures all their inward and outward effects. It is the great alterative and tonic, whose merit has been everywhere established.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Mrs. J. Christman Proved That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Remedy for this Trouble.

have anyone to see me. Doctor's medicine did not help me and Lydia E. Pink-h a m's Vegetable Compound was recommended. I took it and am now well. I recommend it to all afflicted with nervous prostration."—Mrs. J. Christman, 193 Oak Street, Binghamton, New York.

The success of T

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from nervous prostration, displacements, inflammation, ulcera-tion, irregularities, periodic pains, back-ache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion and dizziness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

If there are any complications about which you need advice write in con-fidence to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

OBITUARIES

Baird.

Sister Virda Barry Baird, thirty-eight years of age, died at her home, at Alexandria, Tenn., on December 12, 1919. Sister Baird was a daughter of Brother H. C. and Sister Mollie Barry. She obeyed the gospel of our Lord at the age of twelve years and lived a consistent, faithful, and devoted Chrisconsistent, faithful, and devoted Christian. Her companion, Brother Clarence D. Baird, and little son, O. P. Baird; her father, mother, and three sisters—Mrs. J. W. Rutland, Mrs. G. R. Lester, and Mrs. G. M. Oakley, all of this place; and two brothers, O. P. Barry and A. E. Barry, of Lebanon, Tenn., survive her. The funeral services were held by Brother S. P. Pittman, of David Lipscomb College, Nashville. The burial followed in East View Cemetery.

Lane.

Sister Phronie Lane, wife of Brother H. M. Lane, died at her home, near Duck River, Tenn., on December 29, 1919. 1847. She was born on December 25, 1847. She obeyed the gospel under the preaching of Brother Frank Davis and was baptized by Brother Jim Morton in October, 1865. She and her devoted husband had lived together fifty-two years. She was the mother of two children, one dying in infancy. She leaves her aged companion; one son, Enos; two brothers, A. M. Shelby and B. Shelby; and three grandchildren to mourn her loss. Brother Cathey Baker conducted funeral services at Old Well, in the presence of a large audience of friends and loved ones. "Blessed are friends and loved ones. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them.'

A FRIEND.

Cullum.

Norma Louise Nunnally was born in the State of Mississippi on June 21, 1891. On December 15, 1907, she was married to J. A. Cullum, at Grand-view, Texas. To this union three children were born, two of whom, one boy and one girl, survive. Sister Cullum was baptized by Brother W. K. Rose, at Rome, Texas, in 1909, and from that date to the day of her death (January 1, 1920) she lived in the faith. Brother Cullum has done much gospel work in Memphis, Tenn., and Sister Cullum greatly endeared herself to those who knew her here. She was known for her devotion to the truth and for her unselfish spirit. Her life was an encouragement to Brother Cullum. May the memory of her life be an inspiration to him. Funeral services were conducted by the writer, at Cordova, Tenn. Brother E. C. L. Denton and Brother F. L. Paisley, both of Memphis, were present and assisted at the services. ter Cullum had asked that one of the songs at the services should be "God Will Take Care of Yout." This song was in keeping with her faith. May the blessings of the Father of mercies rest upon the sorrowing and sanctify their grief to their eternal glory. C. A. NORRED.

Allison.

W. H. Allison was born on August 24, 1845, and died on July 10, 1919. He lived in this world seventy-three years, ten months, and sixteen days, and forty-three years of this time was spent in the home where he passed away. He was married on May 17, 1876, to Miss Nannie Mayberry, of Williamson County, Tenn. To this union were born three boys and two girls, a son, Hugh Allison, having preceded his father a number of years. Brother Allison was known to the writer for many years, being one of the faithful members of South Harpeth congregation, Davidson County, Tenn. I have visited his home many times, and preached through a number of meetings in which he was present. He was a quiet, gentle, and lovable man, attending to his own business, thus making not only a splendid citizen, but an exemplary Christian. I believe he was one of the most gentle and hospitable men I have known. If the world abounded with such men as Brother Allison was in all the relations of life, we would have a heaven on earth. He is survived by a heaven on earth. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Riser, of Colorado, and Mrs. Hugh Dodson, of Tennessee; a widowed daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hugh Allison, and a granddaughter, who reside in Memphis, Tenn.; and two sons, Mark and H. T. Allison, who live in this sec-May the good influence of W. H. Allison's Christian life continue to be a blessing to all with whom he came in F. W. SMITH.

Discontent may be an impulse of evil and may be a gift divine. Delve as you will in the much of evil, search amid the amusement life of vulgar or refined art, seek as you will in the love of the purest friend God ever gave, closest though this is to God and his life, yet not there may you stop; for never will that discontent God placed within you be answered or its demands fulfilled until God carries within you the fountain of life eternal .- J. H. Eccleston.

50 Eggs a Day

"Before using 'More Eggs' tonic I was getting only 12 eggs a day, and now get 50." writes Mrs. Myrtte Ice, of Boston, Ky. Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. "More Eggs" is a scientific tonic that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens lay all the time. "More Eggs." will double the production of eggs. Poultry raisers everywhere are making big profits by giving their hens 'More Eggs." The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you. If you send $i$ to E. J. Reefer the poultry expert, 2251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs." one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

I HAVE Just say It if you have it. I will send you a free. Just what you are looking for, just what you need, just what you must have to get rid of this dangerous disease. Inclose this slip and write

CATARRH booklet giving the final solution in a nutshell—

E. J. WORST, Box 22, Ashland, Ohio,

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

The Master's Vineyard

California.

Dinuba, December 28.-Yesterday was a glorious day with the church here. I baptized six more into Christ in the afternoon, and one more con-fessed the blessed Lord at the evening service. These additions are coming at our regular Lord's-day services. These additions are coming Our singing gets better at each gathering, and there seems to be a better among all the brethren. blessed old gospel is winning its way into the hearts of the people in spite of the combination of sectarian influ-The greatest work in the world is rallying souls around the cross.-E. W. Sewell.

Georgia.

Carnesville, January 6.-On last Lord's day, January 4, the Christians at Carnesville met in the courthouse and began keeping house for the Lord. This is the first time the church of Christ ever met here. The church has purchased a home for the evangelist, and all are looking forward to a good We will appreciate a call from any of the brethren who chance to be passing this way. Carnesville is the county seat of Franklin County, ten miles from Lavonia, the nearest railway.-R. L. Ludlam, Jr.

Kentucky.

Hopkinsville, January 5.-The work here is moving along nicely. We had two good services yesterday. young man obeyed the Christ and one young lady confessed her wrongs. believe the church has a vision of big things. It has done at least six times more this year than any previous I am at present giving all my vear. time to the congregation here.-J. H. Hines.

Missouri.

Springfield, December 29.-I closed a meeting at Center, near Carthage, on December 16. There were no additions, but it was a good meeting in many respects. I had a very pleasant home with Brother and Sister Kinney. I hope to be with the brethren at Center again sometime. Home from pro-tracted-meeting work till June.—M. S. Mason.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, January 6.-The largest audience we have had at Tenth Francis Streets assembled last 's-day morning. There was one Lord's-day morning. The evening service was addition. well attended also. We are hoping and working for greater things during 1920. Pray for us.—J. A. Hudson.

South Carolina.

Union, January 5 .- I returned home from a visit to the brethren near Woodruff a week ago after spending Saturday and Sunday with them. I preached three times while there to about forty souls at each service. One lady of ripe age expressed her desire to be with us, deferring baptism for a short time on account of her age and This is a working and recent illness. determined little band, with Brother L. R. Briggs at the head, and we are expecting great things for them in the near future, as they "have a mind to work." They are handicapped at present on account of not having a desirable place to worship, having to meet in the home of a brother. They have made several efforts to buy a lot, but their religious neighbors will not sell to them at any price; neither will they let them meet in the schoolhouse, saying that they "don't believe that saying that they baptism is essential and do not want such stuff preached in their neighbor-On December 30 I went to Charleston to visit the brethren, and found Brother Inabinett as determined as ever to press the work in that wicked city. We have only a few brethren with as much determination as this man, and very few who would do the work that he is doing with Brethfightings without and within. ren, he needs your prayers, sympathy, and encouragement. Write him and tell him that you are praying for him. You have no idea what we are up against in this State. If you think we are having easy sailing, come over and try it a while with us. We are not grumbling, for we are determined to stay with it until we are called Brother Inabinett's address is 579 King Street. The work here is moving along nicely, with about twen-ty happy children of the Heavenly Fa-Each man in the congregation is willing to do what he is called on to do. We also have scriptural women preachers. I have never seen such workers; and they are learning how to give, too. Several are giving a tenth, some give much more, and not one owns his home. We have almost paid for our lot and hope to build a house in the spring. This will be the first house owned by the church in this State. Don't you want an interest in it? If so, mail a check as soon as possible, and state that you want it to go to the lot and building fund, and we will acknowledge the same through the Gospel Advocate. Brethren, pray for us.-Thomas H. Burton.

Eggs Paid the Pastor

Mrs. Lena McBroon, Woodbury, Tenn., writes: "I've got more eggs than I ever did in my life, paid my debts, clothed the children in new dresses, and I paid my pastor his dues. I have money to spare now. More Eggs" is the remedy for me. I sold forty-two and one-half dozen eggs last week, set four dozen, ate some, and had one and one-half dozen left."

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, discovered the wonderful tonic, "More Eggs," that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens work all the time. You need this great egg producer. It means big egg profits for you. Don't delay.

hens work all the time. You need this great egg producer. It means big egg profits for you. Don't delay.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-duy, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs," one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

What Is a Miracle?

Each miracle in the history of revelation is only one tiny bit of power and blessed light that pierces through the walls of our human darkness and need from the great universe of love and power which incloses us on every side. Once the rift opened wide enough for a host of the heavenly choir to rush through and sing ere ft closed .- J. H. Eccleston.

To Prevent Influenza

Colds cause Grip and Influenza-LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets remove There is only one "Bromo the cause. Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on box. 30c.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM I FUCORRHEA

Write to This Trained Nurse For Full Information; How to Quickly End at Home

SENT FREE

Miss Anna Cavanaugh, Registered Trained Nurse, of Buffalo, N. Y., and a prominent memof the Nurses' Institute, of that city, has found a new method, easily and safely used at home, whereby leu-corrhea ("whites") may be quickly overcome in nearly any case.

A. Cavanaugh, R. N.

This method has proved so successful in work among her patients, and has brought so many women suffering from this annoying, unsanitary, and dangerous complaint from deep despair to joyful satisfaction that she has decided to offer the benefit of her experience to the women of the world.

Women and girls who are victims of this amazingly common, but little understood, disorder should certainly write her in confidence without delay and get her generous advice and full information how they may quickly and safely end their trouble at home in a pleasant and harmless manner. Send no money, but write name and address plainly (stating whether Mrs or Miss), and inclose with your letter the Free Coupon below, adding, if you like a two-cent stamp for her reply. Address her: Miss Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Institure, Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE COUPON This certificate entitles any reader of the Gospel Advocate to Miss Cavanaugh's free confidential advice and instructions (sent in plain sealed envelope) for the ending of leucorrhea (whites). Cut out and pin to letter, Good for Immediate use only, Address Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICE.-We earnestly advise every lady who has any trouble with leucorrhea, or "whites," to accept the above offer at once. The advice Miss Cavanaugh gives on this subject is sincere, genuine, and invaluable, the standing of the donor being unquestioned.

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. This calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustrations. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural Illustrations, such as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy Women." There are twelve of these monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustration on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sun-days. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of the twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, which enables one to select one of seven cal-endars for use in each of 200 years from 1800 to 2002.

The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers, the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the name of some prospective business student. In writing, mention this paper.

HOTEL LONGACRE

BROADWAY AND 47TH ST.

Convenient to everything. The refined air and good service of the Longacre are well established.

RATES PER DAY

Room with Lavatory. $1.00
Room with Private Bath $2.00
Room with Private Bath for two. $3.00
Two-room Suites. $3.00 to $4.00

SPECIAL WEEKLY RATES

The Best Value in New York City. Phone 7790 Bryant.

Golden Rule.

Children, do you love each other? Are you always kind and true? Do you always do to others As you'd have them do to you?

To do to others as I would That they should do to me Will always make me kind and good, As children ought to be.

The Golden Rule! The Golden Rule! O, that's the rule for me! To do to others as I would That they should do to me. -Selected.

Another Great Preacher Gone.

BY Z. D. BARBER.

Brother Oscar Dawson was born at Kingston, Autauga County, Ala., on June 19, 1865, and departed this life, on December 2, 1919, at Prescott, Ark. He lived to be fifty-four years, five months, and thirteen days old. He was married to Miss Ella C. Wildon on November 17, 1889. To this union were born five children: Mrs. J. C. Barlow and Mrs. W. A. Barlow, of Bluff City; and Herbert, Joe Wheeler, and Willie Barber, of Prescott. He obeyed the gospel at about the age of twenty years and lived a consistent Christian life until his death.

Brother Dawson, with his family, came to Arkansas in October, 1907, and established the Clay Bible School. In this school he made a great sacrifice for the cause he loved so well. A great many young men were trained for life in this school. He afterwards moved the school to Heber Springs, Ark., where he remained for one year: but, for lack of proper support from the brotherhood in supporting the school, he was compelled to give up the work.

I was a student in the first school he taught at Clay and the last one at Heber Springs. I believe I was acquainted with his life and manner of living. He was one of the best school men I ever knew, and as a preacher of the gospel he was second to none. He loved the truth and was willing to make sacrifices for it. He lived the gospel and taught it to his family. His children have all obeyed the gospel.

Brother Dawson's death came as a terrible shock to his family and many friends. He was well on Lord's day and went to worship as usual. He complained some on Monday, rested well Monday night, but passed away Tuesday at 5:20 A.M.

Brother Dawson has done lots of good and will be greatly missed in Arkansas. I can safely say that he did more for me than any man I ever knew. I have gone to him at the midnight hour for help, and was never refused. Thank God, his grand work still lives and will live. Eternity alone can tell the good he has done. He was a great preacher, a noble teacher, a loving husband, and a kind father.

"Be thou faithful until death, and I will give thee the crown of life." Brother Dawson has passed to rest and is done with this world and all of its troubles.

Sister Dawson has been a mother to my wife and children in time of need. May God's richest blessings rest on her in this sad hour. May she and her children find comfort in God's word.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHII TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle. 60c per bottle.

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL,

1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and sur-geons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife. X-Ray, radium, or acids. Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hos-pital, without the use of either. Physicians and surgeons treated free at-the hospital.

McShane Bell Foundry Co. BELLS Memorials a Specialty

The Silver Point School.

BY L. H. LANKFORD.

We are still striving to have a school at Silver Point, and have been successful this term so far. Although our way seems dark sometimes, yet our motto is, "Where there is a will, there is a way;" and with this for our watchword we are going on to success.

Our school has three hundred bushels of coal, which cost twenty-six cents per bushel, or seventy-eight dollars, of which amount Brother A. M. Burton gave forty dollars. We thank him very much. We are very glad of the interest Brother Burton has for the negro race and the grand work he is doing for us at Nashville. Now let us strive to do our part. But do not forget the little band at Silver Point.

"Will a Man Rob God ?"

BY WILLIS G. JERNIGAN.

In the Old Testament a prophet of God asked a question, one that should sink deep in the hearts of both young and old. This question is: "Will a man rob God?" Will we as children of God rob him? Brethren, this is the question. Great drives are being made by the sectarian world for the purpose of building up colleges to educate men to spread error in the hearts of men and women all over this land. What are we doing to overcome this great curse to the inhabitants of earth? Are we as willing to spread truth as they are to spread error? Brethren, do we expect sinners to come to us and beg us for the power of God unto salvation? If this question were placed before the individual, the answer would doubtless be "No;" but a great many of us are a living "Yes" to this question.

The apostle Paul heard the Macedonian call and answered it, and we know the result-many were saved. The Lord told Philip to go down the road to Gaza, and he arose and went; and what was the result? There is no need to answer. To-day, brethren, we are sending a Macedonian call from Southwestern Colorado. Not to the other fellow is this call extended, but to those who read this article. Will you answer this call? We do not mean in person, but will you answer it with your means? Or will you rob God? Will you rob these souls of eternal salvation? There are hundreds all around us who are dying, perishing-yea, being filled with error -for the lack of the gospel of Christ. Shall we give it to them, or shall they perish?

This is a desolate field. Only three meetings that we know of have ever been held here. Cannot you see the great need of Christian influence?

LAXATIVE Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Chamberlain's Tablets

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker. Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Piles Cured Dr. A. Upham's valuable electuary or internal remedy for PILES. CURES all kinds of PILES, old or new cases. It eradicates the disease from the system. If your druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 for trial treatment, 6 packages for $5.00. Guaranteed, if not satisfied money back. Thousands of satisfied patients all over the United States. References any Bank, Postmaster or City officials.

Why Suffer? Get CURED. J. G. & A. HALL, Oxford, N. C.

We are one hundred and fifty to two hundred miles from a congregation of disciples. Brethren and sisters who live in a country where there are congregations every few miles do not realize the great need of this country as we do, and I never realized the great need until coming to these parts. Some boast of the fact that we are the only ones who have the true gospel. Well, brethren, it seems that we pride ourselves on the fact, and want none others to have the benefits of it save ourselves. Let us wake up; let us do our duty. Let us all work together for the salvation of souls who are dying for the want of the gospel of Christ. Brethren, we are far away from others of the faith. We are struggling for existence. Shall we have assistance, or shall these souls die unfaucht?

Send all donations to A. W. Arnold, Dolores, Colorado.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic

restores vitality and energy by purifying and enriching the blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

FIELD REPORTS

Kentucky.

Eubank, December 31,-I wish to make a report of my work for the year 1919. I have done all I was able to do. I am now getting to be an old man, in my sixty-sixth year, but am just as willing to preach as I ever was. I have preached all I was able. My health is better now than for some time. I had preached monthly at Estesburg church of Christ, five miles east of Eubank, up until August, and, with the help of a young brother, my sister's son, J. C. Wheeldon, of Ætna, began a meeting there on the second Sunday in August, which the brethren and sisters say was the greatest meeting ever held there. I had the young brother to do all the baptizing, which was pleasing to him, for he had bap-tized only two up to that time. This meeting was a success and closed with a full house. I have preached for this people most of the time for twenty years. In November Brother Allen Ballow, of Burnside, and I held a short meeting at Briery, two miles south of Eubank. We had a good hearing. The brethren there raised money to repair their house of worship. A. Kenton Gouch.

Tennessee.

Henderson, January 7 .- On December 24 I began a "question meeting at Jacinto, Miss., and closed it on the following Lord's day. There were no additions, but a great interest manifested throughout the meeting .- E. L.

Memphis, January 4.—Last was a good year for the work at Harbert Avenue Church. Over five thousand calls were made, nearly hundred services were held, and one hundred and seventeen names were added to the list of membership. Harbert Avenue Church is striving to make herself useful in every good work. Strangers are always welcome at our services. Persons desiring to reach our place of meeting should ride the Fair Grounds car to Harbert Avenue. Our announcements will be found in the papers,—C. A. Norred.

Texas.

Waxahachie, January 5 .- The services were fine here yesterday. crowds and eight additions. The clerk presented a budget for local expenses of twenty-six hundred dollars for the year, and most of it was covered with pledges, with about one-third of the membership yet to be canvassed. The attendance is fine and interest good .-Ben West.

Fort Worth, January 5.-The services at Southside-Central Church were splendid yesterday and last night. fine young man took membership. The church is making some gains in spite of every drawback, and there have been many. I am preaching a series of sermons on "The Model Church," and they are well received. We have some very fine classes in Bible study here and some good teach-Brother John Straiton is conducting a class in Revelation with great interest. We invite visiting brethren, when in the city, to take a University car and come out to Southside-Central and worship with us. I have been almost down and out with cold lately, but never missed a service. My wife was very badly burned last week while in an epileptic fit, unconscious. She is better to-day.-Tice Elkins.

$1.00 Brings $200.00

Sterling, Kan.-Mr. A. S. Thode writes: I never used 'More Eggs' Tonic until last December; then just used one $1 package, and have sold over $200 worth of eggs from forty-four hens. 'More Eggs' Tonic did it."

Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. "More Eggs" is a scientificant that revisities the float and matter.

profits by doubling the egg production of his hens, "More Eggs" is a scientific tonic that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens lay all the time. "More Eggs" will double the production of eggs. Poultry raisers everywhere are making big profits by giving their hens "More Eggs." The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you. If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, $251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs," one package being absolutely free on the special ilmited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Frofit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today. CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY Dept. 74 Atlanta G Atlanta, Ga.

Eczema and other skin eruptions with

It is soothing pleasant, 50c and $1.00 at your druggist's. Ka-Dene Soap, applied first, cleanses and disinfects. Dealers write for special proposition.

THE KA-DENE MED. CO., Nashville, Tenn. "Just Put Ka-Dene on it."

CHURCH NEWS

Texas.

Paris, December 30 .- As I have been recreant about my reports of meetings, I beg you to now give me permission to make a general report. Through the winter, spring, and summer I engaged in preaching monthly at Telephone and at home-Moore's Spring. Two weeks in a month I had no particular place, but always preached somewhere. On the first Sunday in July Brother J. C. Foster and I began a meeting at Fort Towson, Okla., and continued it over three Sundays. Brother Foster did most of the preaching; I led in the song service and assisted otherwise. Three obeyed the gospel. On the fourth Sunday in July Brother Newton Reed and I began a meeting at Mars' Hill, in Hopkins County, Texas, and continued it over two Sundays. Two were baptized during this meeting. On the second Sunday in August I On the second Sunday in August 1 preached at Paris, Texas, for Brother Young. I then went to Fort Towson, Okla., to hear Brother J. W. Chism and Mr. Curtis (a Mormon) debate, and learned how rotten and filmsy is the foundation of Mormonism. On the third Sunday in August I began a meeting at Slim, Okla., which continued over two Sundays, with two baptized and one reclaimed. On Monday night after the fourth Sunday in August we began a meeting at Finley, Okla., and continued it till the first Sunday in September, with no visible results. On the second Sunday in September I began a meeting at Antiers, Okla., which continued till the first Sunday in October. One reclaimed. preached at Telephone, Texas, on the second Sunday in October. On October 16 wife and I left Texas for Ten-We arrived at Williams Cross Roads, three miles north of Lafayette, Tenn., on October 18, where I began a meeting that night, which continued one week, with fine crowds when not one week, with fine crowds when not raining, but no visible results. On the fourth Sunday in October I began preaching at White Oak, Tenn. I preached a week and haptized two persons. On Monday night after the first Sunday in November I began a meeting at Old Freewill, Emberton, Kr. and preached till Freewill. Ky., and preached till Friday night after the second Sunday. Four were baptized and two were restored. This was my old home, where wife and I were reared. On the third Sunday in November I preached at Tompkinsville, Ky. On Monday night following I began a meeting at Pleasant Hill, K twelve miles north of Tompkinsville, and preached at this place till the fourth Sunday night. One lady was baptized. This was the home of the lamented O. L. Hardin, one of our best preachers, who died in Missouri two or three years ago; also of George W. Hardin, who is the principal of the commercial school of Paris, Texas, and preaches as opportunity affords. I preached one sermon at Fox Hill, four miles west of Tompkinsville, on Monday night, as we returned. On the fifth Sunday I preached at Lafayette, Tenn. On Monday morning, December 1, wife and I started for our home, near Paris, Texas, arriving here on December 2. We are now resting.— N. W. Proffitt.

Our Plans and Hopes.

BY F. P. FONNER,

For some time we have been planning to build a house of worship at Buffalo, W. Va. We have saved and economized until we have partly enough to enable us to begin the building. Of course, a part of this was sent to us by noble-hearted men and women whose hearts the Lord opened. May God bless all such. We need some more just like them now. May God speed the day when they will come to our relief. One or two schoolhouses where we were doing much good are now closed against us through sectarian influences. At almost every point we must meet in private dwellings until we can build our house, and that must be very soon. The fact is, we have fought for every inch of ground we have gained since we came here, and we mean to fight on. Our hope, with your help, is to build our house soon, and then we plan to evangelize this territory as thoroughly as we can. We surely must have the house first as a base of operations, and then we can reach the children and evangelize contiguous territory at the same time. We have some excellent teachers in our own congregation. A part of us would take care of the church at home, and the rest of us would go into the "regions beyond "-that is, if we had the house and some additional means. I do hope that none will refuse to add to our church building fund now. Please do

KIDNEY

Is a deceptive disease TROUBLE thousands have it and don't know it. If you make no mistake by using Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney medicine. At druggists in large and medium size bottles. Sample size by Parcel Post, also pamphlet telling you about it. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. and enclose ten cents, also mention this send me your offering now. Address me at Buffalo, W. Va., Box 81. Brother George E. Hypes, of this congregation, is an excellent teacher and helps much in the work; but he has a large family to support. I would be glad to hear from congregations and individuals who are willing to help us to send him into the waste places. Please call him out and let him hold some meetings for you; but do not forget to reward him for it. There is plenty of work to do in this section, but our means are limited. Kind reader, you can further the interests of our work by helping us now. Our church property will be properly guarded against innovations. No one need fear as to that. Because we have no house of worship, our growth at present is being retarded to some extent. For this reason we should have the house now. A full statement of receipts and expenditures will be made later.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY Commissioned Salesmen

Thousands of unmarked graves and hundreds improperly marked. We have an elaborate collection of Marble and Granite designs, and for quality, beauty, and endurance recommend Elberton Blue Granite and Georgia, and the control of the gia Marble. Essential qualifications, perseverance and integrity. We have only limited local territory, which we offer subject to prior acceptance. Write immediately for particulars.

COGGINS MARBLE COMPANY

521 Main Street

Canton, Ga.

W SONG BOOKS Evangelists and Churches Attention.

A wonderful value: 83 familiar songs of the Gospel, words and music. Used all over the world. Only $8 per hundred, less quantities 10c each, for No, 1 or 2, round or shaped notes. No, 1 and 2 combined, round notes only, $15 per hundred, less quantities 18c each, 8 Bound in cloth. Sample copy 75c. Money back if not pleased. E. A. K. HACKETT, Dept. No. 2, FT. WAYNE, IND.

Men pay only for cures

People suffering from blood poison, catarrh, skin, liver, kidney, bladder and chronic diseases, eczema, nervous debliity, exhaustion, weakness of the lungs, heart and nerves should write me for free advice question chart and book describing their condition.

Plies and rectal diseases, such as fistula, fissure, stricture or variouse veins, which cause loss of vitality, nervousness and general debility, cured or no pay. Out of town people, visiting the city in need of treatment, consult me. Many cases cured in one or two visits. Consultation free and confidential. Twenty years successful experience. Hours 10a. m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1 only.

DR. A. B. MORRIS, Specialist Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts.

Atlanta, Ga.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste. Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the labora-tories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the high-enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wenderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoon of Aspironal and tell thin to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money the wind water if you cannot back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Adv.)

TETTERINE Drives Away Pimples

and leaves your skin soft and spotless. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

CHURCH NEWS

California.

Dinuba, December 22.-Four more made the good confession at the evening service yesterday. Many hearts were made to rejoice. Our singing is getting better every week, We are demonstrating that a congregation of disciples willing to work for the Lord can praise him with songs and not musical instruments. Our audiences are growing at every service. We are glad that nothing but the gospel presented in love and simplicity is the drawing power. When the four came down the aisle and the audience responded so beautifully to their obedience in its union of love and spiritual feeling, it stirred my heart with a yearning to enter the evangelistic work again. The greatest thing in the world is to rally souls around the cross. Christ wants us to plant and water, and he will give the increase. I thank God that he is using me in the field that is ripe for the harvest .-E. W. Sewell.

Towa.

December 28. — New Davenport. Year's greeting to the Gospel Advo-cate, all its force, and all its readers! May 1920 be a great one for all of God's people and his cause here on earth! Though about four of our little band were absent from services today, owing to sickness, it was a great day with us. There were several new ones present. Our little congregation is so small that it looks good to us to have a new one come in. And we hate so very much to have one of our number sick so he cannot be present at services any time; we sure miss him. If any one has a friend in Moline, Rock Island, or Davenport, whether a member or not, if you will send me his name and address, I will call on him and interest him in attending if I can. Considering everything, we are getting along nicely. I received two dollars last week to fellowship us in this work.—J. C. Estes.

Tennessee.

Nashville, January 2.-On fourth Lord's day in July I began a ten-days' meeting for the congregation worshiping at New Eden, in Williamson County, which closed with no visible results. On the second Lord's day in August I began a twelve-days' meeting at Bethel, near Coldwater, Miss., which resulted in ten confessions and baptisms. On the fourth Lord's day in August 1 began a mission meet-ing in a schoolhouse about eight miles from Clinton, Ky. The attendance was very good, but indifference on the part The attendance was of those present seemed to be the greatest barrier in the way of the cause there. I found six members of often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infantor Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

STOPS THAT DISTRESSING COUGH-checks it quickly and surely, clears the throat of phlegm and mucus, and coats the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing, soothing medi-

Don't Cough Until Weak

"I am an old lady, 75 years old, and I had a very bad cough from having la grippe. I thought it a good time to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and I sent and got a bottle, and it stopped my cough, and I got better. So now I am around the house again."

—Mrs. Mary Kisby, Spokane, Wash.

We can prove no imitation or substitute is as good as the genu-ine Foley's Honey and Tar.

Sprains! Rub Pains and Swelling Away

Don't Suffer! Go About Your Duties—Relief Comes the Moment You Apply "St, Jacobs Liniment,"

Don't stay crippled! Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sprain, ache, or strain, and out comes pain, soreness, stiffness, and swelling.

Nothing else penetrates, heals, and strengthens the injured muscles, nerves, tendons, and ligaments so promptly. It doesn't burn or discolor the skin and cannot cause injury. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store now. Limber up.

Rub the misery right out. A moment after "St. Jacobs Liniment" is applied you cannot feel the slightest pain or soreness and you can go about your regular duties.

"St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It has been used effectively for sprains, strains, soreness, and stiffness for sixty years—six gold medal awards.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM RemovesDandruff-StopsHairFalling Restores Color and Beautyto Gray and Faded Hair 50c and $1.00 at druggists. Hiscox Chem. Wks. Fatchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Cat-louses, etc., stops all pain, ensures confort to the feet, makes walking easy, bot by mail or at Drug-gists. Histox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

PALMER'S TabletS*

A tenic laxative containing from in organic form for regulating the digestive organs and building robust health with pure, fron-strong red blood. 25c. a box.

For eczema, liver splotches and other itching skin cruptions use "Skin Success" Soap and Olitament in conjunction with tablets. A wonderful combination for good health and good looks. Ask your druggist. Samples on request.

THE MORGAN DRUG CO.,

1521 Atlantic Ave. Broaklyn New York City.

1521 Atlantic Ave. Brooklyn, New York City

"PUT ME ON THE ROAD TO GOOD HEALTH"

was a misery for me to walk around. I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines, and they put me on the road to good health right away. I want to speak a good word for Dr. Pierce's remedies to all sufferers." HARRISON SHEPARD, R. F. D. I. Roy 18 sufferers."—HAI F. D. 1, Box 18.

sufferers."—HARRISON SHEPARD, R. F. D. 1, Box 18.

A REMARKABLE CASE

Memphis, Tenn.—"When my little girl was two years old, she had a serious illness that left her partially paralyzed. She was almost helpless when I first gave her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It was only necessary for me to give her the one bottle (in very small doses) when she was fully restored to health and strength. Since that time whenever my children seem sickly or run-down I find that 'Golden Medical Discovery' restores them to a normal condition of health very quickly and naturally. The 'Discovery' has become a household necessity in my home.

"While nursing my baby I am taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and it gives me renewed strength and, I believe, benefits the baby as well. It is a pleasure to recommend medicines as fine as Dr. Pierce's."—MRS. A. M. BOONE, R. R. 1, Box 389.

R. R. I, Box 389.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Bakerville, Tenn.:—"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription also the Golden Medical Discovery and find them to be as represented. After suffering with nervous prostration, 'Favorite Prescription' cured me when other medicines failed. I think it is a grand medicine and never fail to recommend it to suffering women."—MRS. ROSA LEE HOGAN. Send 10c to Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of any of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

the church of Christ in the community. There was one confession and htty. There was one contession and baptism. This meeting was supported by the Eleventh Street Church, of Nashville. On the first Lord's day in September I began a meeting at Corder's Cross Roads, in Lincoln County, Tenn. This meeting was well attended both day and night and continued ten days. The immediate results were clover confessions and beautiful to the confessions and beautiful the confessions are confessions and confessions and confessions are confessions are confessions and confessions are suits were eleven confessions and baptisms and two restorations. On the in September began at Corinth Church, near Port-land, in Sumner County, and con-tinued about fourteen days, with twenty-eight confessions and baptisms and two restorations. On the second Lord's day in October I began a meeting on Dog Creek, in Cheatham County. The rain and high water made it almost impossible to continue the meeting. Many of our services were rained out. There was one confession and baptism.—L. L. Yeagley.

Others.

Lord, help me live from day to day In such a self-forgetful way That even when I kneel to pray, My prayer shall be for-others.

Help me in all the work I do To ever be sincere and true; And know that all I'd do for you Must needs be done for-others.

Let "Self" be crucified and slain And buried deep; and all in vain May efforts be to rise again, Unless to live for-others.

And when my work on earth is done, And my new work in heaven's begun, May I forget the crown I've won While thinking still of-others.

Others, Lord-yes, others! Let this my motto be: Help me to live for others, That I may live like thee. -Meigs.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and Inspired for the next three months.

Big Salary For

The Government or business concerns will start you on $1,100.00 to $1,500.00 a year as bookkeeper or stenographer—this we guarantee—or $2,400.00 to $5,000.00 as accountant when we train you. Thousands of positions to be filled. By a new method, indored by business men, we train you by mail or at our office within half usual time. Three hundred thousand Draughon-trained have made good. Clip and send this notice for particulars. Address DRAUGHON'S COLLEGE, 210-T, Nashville, Tenn.

To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALST

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by fushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it five hundred grains of acid and waste; so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water; you can't drink too much. Also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

"THE SANITARY." Communion CUPS List of thousands of churches using our cups and FREE CATALOG with quotations sent upon request. Quotations sent upon request. Sanitary Communion Outfit Co., 71st St., Rochester, N. Y.

Ruptured?-

Throw Away Your Truss!

For Many Years We Have Been Telling You That No Truss Will Ever Help You---We Have Told You the Harm That Trusses Are Doing. We Have Told You That the Only Truly Comfortable and Scientific Device for Holding Rupture Is the Brooks Rupture Appliance-and That It Is

Sent On Trial To Prove It

If you have tried most everything else, come to us. Where others fail is where we have our greatest success. Send attached coupon today and we will send you free our illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing our Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, we use no salves, no harness, no lies.

We send on trial to prove what we say is true. You are the judge and once having seen our illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as our hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try our Appliance or not.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Pennsylvania Man Thankiul

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am, Yours very sincerely,

JAMES A. BRITTON.

Cured in Six Months After 18 Years

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I never wore the appliance a minute over six months and was cured sound and well—and I want to say no man ever did any harder work than I did while I was using it—I hanled 40 perch of rock, too big for any man to lift.

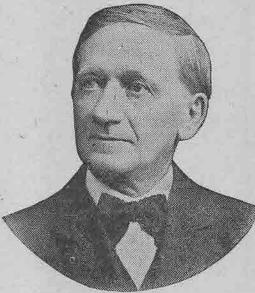

I was ruptured 18 years and words cannot tell how thankful I am. Use my name if you like.

Yours sincerely, RUFUS FIELDS, R. R. No. 1.

Others Failed but the Appliance Cured

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Str:—Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully,

The Above is C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks Cured Himself of Rupture Over 30 Years Ago and Patented the Appliance from His Personal Experience. If Ruptured, Write Today to the Brooks Appliance Co., Marshall, Mich.

No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

"Results are Marvelous"

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.
Dear Sir:—I tried all kinds of trusses without any relief until I bought your Appliance. The results are marvelous, and I praise God that you may live long and prosper, and may help suffering humanity as you did me. You can use this letter as you think best and I will answer any inquiry that is made with a stamped envelope enclosed.

My age is 65 years. Yours very truly,

Y. C. JUMP,

180 Linden Ave., Middletown, N. Y.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Brooks Rupture Appliance Co.
Gentlemen:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four mos, and has not worn it now for six weeks.
Yours very truly,
ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

Ten Reasons Why You Should Send for Brooks Rupture Appliance

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.

2. The Appliance for retaining the

2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.

Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.

4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.

7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least.

8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.

All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

and safe Apphance to wear.

10. Our reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and our prices are so reasonable, our terms so fair, that there certainly should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

We send our Appliance on trial to prove what we say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

Free Information Coupon

BROOKS APPLIANCE CO.

443-F Stale St., Marshall, Mich.
Please send me by mail in plain wrapper your illustrated book and full information about your Appliance for the cure of rupture.

Name

R. F. D. State State

Volume LXII. No. 4.

NASHVILLE, TENN., JANUARY 22, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

Studies in Church History 7	3
Our Contributors	4
Editorial 7	8
Relief Fund 8	1
Query Department 8	2
Training Little Children 8	3
At Home and Abroad 8	4
The Rogers-Sloan Debate 8	5
Evangelistic Report 8	5
An Explanation 8	6
Obituaries 8	7
The Potter Orphan Home Car 8	9
Christmas at Belle Haven Orphan Home 8	9
Answer to Brother Beasley's Questions 9	0
The Nature of Man (No. 2) 9	1
Realized Ambition 9	4
Montanian of a Cinton	æ

Studies in Church History

By A. B. L.

Study of the Greek.

We have seen that the Nebrew mind and genius were one-sided; that the race was not noted for its art, politics, or speculation. In striking contrast, we find that the Greeks were many-sided. Because of the element of variety in their character, the Greeks are the most interesting of all the ancient peoples. No nation ever had such a passion for the beautiful, which was the form in which they worshiped goodness. Their word "kalon" means both beautiful and good. But it was material beauty that enamored the Greek. He loved the great out-of-doors, the world with all its rational activities.

The Greek was keenly sensitive to the joys of life. They represent more than other people the love of youth with all youth names. Plato makes an Egyptian say: "No Hellene is ever old; in mind you are all young." The spirit of Greece was: "Youth, I do adore thee." They were an active race, featuring athletics, lively and excitable, energetic and restless. Consequently we are not surprised to find their history full of revolutions. The people were never sure of what they wanted. They could sentence the male population of an island to death, and immediately, overcome with remorse, rescind the sentence; they could condemn a Socrates and repent too late.

Because he was so keenly sensitive to the joys of life, the Greek was readily overtaken by melancholy or pessimism when joys were not present. No other literature contains such eloquent laments over the misery of our mortal lot, the brevity of life, the caprice of fortune, the ruthlessness of death. Here we must note a peculiar and a noble trait of Greek character. His idea of the frailty of life and of death, snatching away love and joy and ambition, became an impetus that spurred him to high endeavor. "I have but a short time to live," he philosophized; "therefore I must put forth every effort to make it complete." I must make my rating quickly before the books are closed." Jesus Christ gave this philosophy a nobler setting when he said: "We must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work."

0 0 0

Moderation and Thoroughness.

Moderation was a striking trait of the Greeks. To them this term meant proportion or symmetery rather than temperance. "Nothing too much" was one of their favorite mottoes. They understood the secret of how "the half is greater than the whole." They believed with Aristotle that a thing ought to have beginning, middle, and end in due proportion—a thing which, it seems, some preachers and writers can never learn.

We should not fail to mention the thoroughness of the Greek. It was one of his redeeming characteristics. If Demosthenes is the prince of orators, it is because he took the greatest pains in preparation. All are familiar with the old story of how he overcame an impediment in his speech by speaking with pebbles in his mouth. Isocrates is said to have spent ten years on his "Panegyric." After Plato's death a tablet was found in which the eight opening words of the "Republic" were copied out in every possible order. The Greeks never accomplished anything by happy chance, as the schoolboys imagine, but always with strenuous effort. Thucydides was a true Greek when he tells us that he wrote his history to be "a possession for all time." "The gods sell everything at the price of toil," and the Greeks were willing to pay the price. Many of us fall far short of the Greek ideal in this respect. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

* * *

Striking Originality.

The Greeks were intensely social. We often speak of our friends and our comrades. The latter is the more endearing term. Friendship was well known among the Romans, but comradeship was characteristic of the Greeks. They liked the company of their neighbors, and were given to gossip in the market place and in the theaters, using their homes only for shelter at night. "What's the news?" was their customary greeting. In describing the experience of Paul at Athens, Luke, who was well acquainted with the Hellenistic world, says: "Now all the Athenians and the strangers sojourning there spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell or to hear some new thing." (Acts 17: 21.) The first trait of Greek genius is its striking originality. Other nations borrowed their ideals, but the Greeks made their own. If they borrowed anything, they so thoroughly assimilated it that it soon became distinctly Greek. A patchwork system might satisfy some people, but it was an abomination to them. They were the first to ask the why of things and to dare to doubt. They were a very inquisitive and speculative race. In the fourth Gospel John tells how certain Greeks came to Philip of Bethsaida, saying: "Sir, we would see Jesus." They would see Jesus in order to question him. And in their questions they recognized no authority; they were not reverential. There was no holy of holies into which man endowed with reason was forbidden to enter. The ancient Hebrew settled everything by saying, "God has willed it;" the Jew of later date referred everything to the priest; the Arab said, "There is one God, and Mohammed is his prophet," and, "What Mohammed says is final;" but the Greek said, "I must see it for myself." Angus says the Greeks "were fearless mariners on the hitherto uncharted ocean of thought." "Like little wanton boys that swim on bladders," they launched forth, dreaming not of great deeps, the shallows, and the starless nights. They built theory after theory as steps to climb to truth. Like children, they were always asking questions, and one question led on to another until they came to a barrier they could not surmount. Leibnitz had the Greek spirit when he said that if an angel offered him knowledge in the one hand and the pursuit of knowledge in the other, he would choose the latter. Hamlet was a Greek when he said: "What a piece of work man How noble in reason! how infinite in faculties! in form and moving, how express and admirable! in action, how like an angel! in apprehension, how like a god! the beauty of the world! the paragon of animals!" Surely it was a momentous event in the world's history when the apostle stood in the midst of the Areopagus to declare unto such a people the unknown God and the unsearchable riches of Jesus Christ.

0 0 0

Successful Colonizers.

Christianity is greatly indebted to Greek influences for the favorable environment under which it made its start. The Greeks were the most successful colonizers of antiquity, and in this respect played an important rôle. At least two Greek colonies decided the course of world history-Syracuse and Byzantium (now Constantinople). Another Greek colony, Alexandria, became the first and chief center for welding the nations for Christianity. Furthermore, Greece rendered signal service to both the ancient and modern world in educating the two conquering peoples the Macedonians and the Romans. Had it not been for the influence of Greece, these peoples would have brought wholesale devastation with their conquests. Greece gave to early Christianity a world unified in language and culture. She brought the whole civilized world under one roof. It is a striking fact that the Hellenized world most eagerly accepted Christianity. The gospel did not take root in its own Oriental soil so quickly as it did in the Greek, and. through the Greek, in the Roman world. Several times in the book of Acts we are told how "a multitude of Greeks believed." (Acts 14: 1; 17: 4, 12; 18: 4; 19: 10; 20: 21.) There was plainly some strong affinity between Hellenism and Christianity. If we reckon up our secular possessions, the wealth and heritage of the past, a large share may be traced back to Greece. I do not wonder that Paul said with peculiar emphasis: "I am debtor both to Greeks and to Barbarians."

Behold us, the rich and the poor,
Dear Lord, in thy service draw near.
One consecrateth a precious coin;
One droppeth only a tear.
Look, Master, the love is here!
—Harriet McEwen Kimball.

Group Evangelism. No. 2.

BY C. M. STUBBLEFIELD.

Let me now state our own position on the subject of evangelism, as I understand it.

We believe and teach, and have always believed and taught, that the gospel of Christ should be preached "in all the world" unto "every creature." If this is true, and it is, the charge so often made by society officials and supporters that we are antimissionary is positively and absolutely false.

In order that the gospel be thus preached, we believe and teach that every Christian, as an individual, should (1) operate-that is, work. We have placed particular emphasis on this in the past, and must continue to do so. Our successes thus far are, for the most part, due to individual effort. Realizing, however, that there is much an individual Christian cannot do, working alone, we believe and teach that Christians should (2) co-operate-that is, work together. While this has been a capital item in our teaching of the past, my judgment is that we are not now stressing it as formerly, certainly not as much as we should. The benefits to be derived from the cooperation of individual Christians should be thoroughly impressed upon the minds of all our people. Moreover, we believe and teach that each congregation, as a unit, should (3) operate -that is, work diligently for the promulgation of the gospel. No congregation of disciples can live long without the spirit of evangelism. Each church should thoroughly leaven its immediate vicinity with the gospel. This we have always taught and believed. Realizing that there is much an individual church cannot do, operating alone, we believe and teach that churches should (4) co-operatethat is, work together for the proclamation of the gospel. Society officials, some of them, have a habit of telling people that we, like the Hardshell Baptists, are noncoöperative; and they have been fairly successful in making people believe it. In the sense intended by them, this charge is not true. We believe stoutly in the cooperation of churches, sometimes preach it, and occasionally practice it. But, though we believe in the cooperation of churches in the preaching of the gospel, there is a work in the doing of which we do not believe they should cooperate, and that is the support and maintenance of human organizations. In doing this work, we do not believe that churches should either operate or cooperate.

To illustrate and enforce this distinction, let it be sn posed that two or twenty churches agree among themselve to support a preacher in a given district for a given time to preach the gospel. These churches, thus working or operating together, are cooperating-cooperating in the preaching of the gospel. Let it be further supposed that these churches, after a year's cooperating thus, decide that, instead of employing a man themselves, they will turn their money over to some missionary society to be used by it when, where, and how it pleases. Do they, in so doing, cease to cooperate? They do not. They are as certainly cooperating as they ever were. But are they cooperating in the preaching of the gospel? They are not. They are cooperating in the maintenance of a human organization, doing a work for which there is not a particle of warrant in holy writ. Neither can it be truly said that they are preaching the gospel indirectly. They are simply and only maintaining a human organization; that organization does the work and gets the glory and honor. This, now, is the cooperation in which we take no part: and if society sympathizers want me to respect them, they must respect this distinction. The church of Christ evangelized the world once without the aid of human societies, and that in the face of the strongest opposition human wisdom could devise, and it can do it again.

But wherein does group evangelism differ from the cooperation of churches contended for by us? The Standard has not yet made the plan fully known; but if I have not misunderstood it so far, there is not a particle of difference, at least in theory. If "it is nothing more nor less than a common-sense cooperation of Christians and churches in multiplying and caring for their kind," it is most certainly "apostolic in spirit, in results, and in power," and is, therefore, the very thing for which we have contended all along. And if group evangelism as urged by the Standard and the cooperation of churches as held by us are the same, why do I say, as in a former article, that we should adopt the former, and that at once? For this reason: Except in a few isolated cases, we have "adopted" church cooperation in theory only. Though holding tenaciously to the theory, we too often fail to put it into practice. Ten thousand times have we told sectarians of the necessity for concerted action on the part of Christians, and driven the thought home by illustrations from observation as well as scripture citations: yet, the greater part of our work is on the everyfellow-for-himself plan. And considering this, our success has been simply phenomenal. Contemplating the failure of the society plan, the Standard exclaims: "What would the Cincinnati District have been on this plan (group evangelism) in a hundred years' history?" might we, borrowing its point, exclaim: What would the United States have been had we, instead of working singlehanded, as in most cases, followed a sane, systematic, businesslike method of cooperation?

A case in point: Five churches agree among themselves to employ a man to preach one year in a given community. Mind you, they are going to cooperate cooperate in a deserving enterprise. A good man is found, and he agrees to go into the field for the amount specified by the churches. Letters are written to the churches notifying them that the man has been secured and that they are now to get all things in readiness. Two of the churches write back to the enthusiastic promoter that "we have decided"-there now! "We have decided"-of course you have, but it was thought that you decided sometime ago to cooperate in the greatest work ever done by man, preaching the gospel to those who have never heard it in its simplicity and purity. "We have decided" to do something else. And what of the result? The chances are that the end of the year will find what they "decided" to do still undone, or done in a much modified form, and the other three churches, unable to support the man by themselves, have done nothing, either; and so the matter goes.

We find, then, that we object to the society plan for good and solid reasons, and consistently refuse to support it. We favor individual and cooperative efforts, both as to individual Christians and churches; as individuals we operate, and sometimes cooperate; as churches we sometimes operate, but seldom cooperate. We believe in the cooperation of churches, but practice it on too small a scale. In theory we are right; in practice, wrong; and in this consists a most serious weakness. Considering the lack of system that characterizes us, our growth has been marvelous.

As there are honeysuckled hills in the gardens of nature, so there are honeysuckled souls in the country of the Spirit-quiet, unaggressive, unobtrusive souls, who are always content to hide themselves in the background. Living suppressed lives, they also perfume the spiritual minds that cleanse and bless with their sacrificial sweetness. They are minstrels of the eternal goodness; they are gleams out of the face of God .- F. F. Shannon.

"The Spirit and the Word,"

BY F. W. SMITH.

The above is the title of a book of one hundred and forty-eight pages by Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, Ind. The author is too well known to need an introduction to the disciples of Christ. The Sweeney family has been prominently connected with the restoration movement for many years, and the preachers among them have been noted for their great ability in defending the fundamentals of the gospel against sectarian traditions. The book under review is the clearest and most comprehensive treatise on the Holy Spirit-his personality, divinity, and mission to saint and sinner-that I have ever seen. In fact, I hesitate not to say that it is the best book on any subject I have ever read, written by an uninspired man. It deals with a subject that has for ages on ages been wrapped in the fog and mists of superstition and supposed mystery. The author strips the subject of all the false ideas and teachings growing out of the misapplication and misinterpretations of the Holy Scriptures with reference to the work of the Holy Spirit in the redemption of man. With the exception of about two points, I believe the book is absolutely correct, and I am not sure that those two points are wrong. I am not sure the author is correct in making "Spirit" in 1 Cor. 12: 13 refer to the Holy Spirit. I am inclined to the view that "Spirit" here means the disposition of those baptized-that is, both Jew and Gentile, in one or the same spirit of faith, love, and hope, are baptized into the one body. Again, the author's position on the new birth, making "born of water" apply to the outer or physical man, is not clear to me. In this I believe he is mistaken. With these exceptions, I can indorse this book from lid to lid, and am rejoiced that such a book has been put before the public. The positions on the indwelling of the Spirit and the Spirit as a Comforter are what I have been preaching for twenty years, and I am glad one has come forward setting forth the truth on these with so much more force and ability than I have been able to command. Sweeney exalts the word of God to its proper place in the scheme of redemption, from which it has been wrested by the false teaching regarding the Holy Spirit. Every preacher in the land should have a copy of this book. It is sold by the Christian Standard Publishing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio; Z. T. Sweeney, Columbus, Ind.; and Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25, postpaid. Cloth binding.

Newness of Life.

BY B. P. CUFF.

Union with Christ involves all that is meant by Christian life. Men can only live in the true sense of the word as they are brought into right relations with Christ. Spiritual life is union with him; spiritual death is separation

The Bible presents to us two senses in which people may be united with Christ. They may be united with him first "in the likeness of his death." All Christians have become thus united with him. They have died with Christ to sin by having borne the punishment in him. In Christ they have endured the death penalty and are regarded as dead by the law. It would be a mistake, however, for one to reckon himself dead to sin and boast that he did not sin any more at all. That would be a reckoning based on falsehood. (1 Kings 8: 46; 1 John 1: 8.)

Does the man who has become united with Christ in the likeness of his death wait for the praise of men or allow his course in the world to be determined by the plaudits of the multitude? No. Praise and blame equally are nothing to him who is really dead and buried with Christ. Thomas à Kempis expressed the thought truly and well when he said: "Thou art not the more holy for being praised, nor the more worthless for being dispraised. What thou art, that thou art; neither by words canst thou be made greater than what thou art in the sight of God."

A second sense in which Christian people who are living true to the doctrine of their Lord are united with him is "in the likeness of his resurrection." They have risen with him into a justified condition and have reached a new life. Those who believe in Christ, in his divine mission, and in his sinless life, and who accept his sacrificial death as a means of deliverance from sin, are regarded as having died with Christ, and as having risen with him, sharing his triumph over sin and his "newness of life."

Having triumphed over sin, we must not permit it to reign in our mortal body. It must not have dominion over us. We cannot continue in sin that grace may abound. Sin leads unto death. That is the inevitable destiny of those who pursue it. If sin reigns, it proves us to be under death and not alive unto God. Having presented ourselves unto God for obedience, let us prove ourselves worthy of the distinction that belongs to the servants of obedience unto righteousness; let us depart from oldness of life and follow Christ.

To be more specific, what does newness of life mean? What is the comparison existing between the Christian life and the resurrection life of Christ? What is the significance of the scripture: "Like as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so we also might walk in newness of life?" When Christ had been raised from the dead, he began to live a new life. It is a lasting life. "I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore, and I have the keys of death and of Hades." (Rev. 1: 18.) "Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death no more hath dominion over him. For the death that he died, he died unto sin once: but the life that he liveth, he liveth unto God." (Rom. 6: 9, 10.) So it should be with the Christian. He should have died unto sin once-"once for all." Death should no more have dominion over him. That all depends on the Christian himself, whether he makes the new life a lasting life.

Another point of interest in Christ's resurrection life is that most of it is hidden from the eyes of man. This seems to be true during the forty days in which he appeared to his apostles and spoke things concerning the kingdom of God. (Acts 1: 3.) Of the eleven appearances that Christ is recorded as having made after his resurrection, five took place in one day. On thirty-three of the forty days there is no recorded appearance. Where was he during all that time? Very likely, enjoying communion with the Heavenly Father. At any rate, it is true now. There is a lesson for Christians in that. Friendships, families, public duties may lay claim to much of their time, but much of their life should be hidden from the eyes of the world. Sufficient margin must be left for secret and sincere prayer, for self-examination, for planting the feet humbly and firmly on the threshold of eternity.

God's Tithe.

BY WILLIAM P. WALKER.

Giving—or shall I say "paying?"—God at least a tithe, a tenth, of our income, or "increase," is an important element of Christian devotion. It is essentially a part of God's counsel. Ministers of Christ are solemnly charged to "preach the word," to "declare the whole counsel of God." If they neglect to earnestly teach the church all that God has revealed on the subject of "giving," they have failed to "preach the word," they have shunned to "declare the whole counsel of God."

OLD TESTAMENT TEACHING.

"Tithe," "tithes," "tithing" occur approximately thirtysix times in the Bible. The word "tenth" occurs sixtyseven times. In thirty-six of these it has specific reference to the proportion in offerings. If these are Bible words, evidently there is a Bible doctrine concerning them. Three distinct tithes are mentioned in the Scriptures.

The first tithe, "Tithe Terumoth," was "holy unto the Lord," for the support of his priesthood. This is the tithe that Abraham cheerfully paid Melchizedek about four centuries prior to the promulgation of the law from Mount Sinai. (Gen. 14: 17-20; Heb. 7: 4-10.) Jacob at Bethel, on his journey from Beersheba to Haran, made a vow, saying: "If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go: . . . of all that thou shalt give me I will surely give the tenth unto thee." (Gen. 28: 20-22.) Nearly two hundred and fifty years later this tithe was reaffirmed and incorporated in the Mosaic code of rituals. (Lev. 27: 30-34; Num. 18; 20-28.) The second tithe was purely national. It supported an annual feast at Jerusalem. (Deut. 14: 22-23.) Every third year an eleemosynary tithe was collected for the maintenance of the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow. (Deut. 14: 28-29.) Jehovah's tithes, the silver, gold, and vessels, were stored in the treasures of the temple until a need for distribution. (Josh. 6: 19; Neh. 13: 12.) Should the Israelite neglect to pay his tithes, he was accused of robbing God. (Mal. 3: 8.)

NEW TESTAMENT TEACHING.

Christ, in all his public teaching during his personal ministry, never condemned the law of tithing. The Pharisees were a religious sect of the Jews. They were tithers. Jesus denounced them for having their hearts filled with extortion and wickedness. On one occasion he exposed them, saying: "Woe unto you, Pharisees! for ye tithe mint and rue and every herb, and pass over justice and the love of God: but these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone." (Luke 11: 42.) "But these ought ye to have done"—that is, "tithe mint and rue and every herb." Thus, in language clear and forcible, Christ approved, sanctioned, and encouraged tithing.

Jesus and his company had a bag, or a treasury. Judas was the treasurer. From what source the money deposited in this treasury came, I am not able to state. It was used to defray current expenses incidental to traveling and to help the poor.

It is plainly evident from an unbiased, exhaustive study of the Acts and the Pauline Epistles that the early apostolic congregations had treasuries. One or more apostles, elders, or deacons served as treasurer. (Acts 2: 44, 45; 4: 34, 35; 1 Cor. 16: 1, 2.) The treasury, like the Lord's table, was placed in the church through divine arrangement. It is indispensable that our congregations have treasuries, to be apostolic.

Paul gave directions to the Corinthians on the subject of liberality. (1 Cor. 16: 1, 2.) This system is as old as the church. It is very simple, inclusive, efficient, and workable. Paul's plan has been analyzed and said to contain five essential elements worthy of a Christian's prayerful consideration.

"Upon the first day of the week," The Christian's "Sabbath;" the day upon which Christ arose triumphantly from the grave; the day upon which the church was established. It is the divinely designated time to deposit our contributions in the Lord's treasury. The collection is as much a part of the worship as the song service or the prayer service. We should attend the Lord's-day services regularly, and at every service be prepared to cheerfully make our contributions.

"Let each one of you." Christianity has the distinction of being individual and personal. It is no more scriptural to worship God in the collection by proxy than to worship God in the prayers, in the songs, or in the communion, by proxy. All Christians—young or old, rich or poor—who have an income, or "increase," should feel personally obligated to support the gospel.

"Lay by him in store." This apostolic injunction teaches that the Corinthian congregation had a treasury, and that all New Testament congregations at the present should have treasuries, or stores, in which the Lord's people can deposit the Lord's money. Christians have stores for their acquisitions, for old age, for their children; but where is the Lord's store in the majority of our congregations?

"As God hath prospered him." This is a fundamenal truth that God prospers Christians in their honorable and legitimate business. The Israelites lived and served Jehovah under a dispensation of darkness; we live and serve the same Lord under a dispensation of light and grace. They worshiped by the letter; we worship by the Spirit. They paid three tithes-made weekly, monthly, and annual sacrifices; in fact, a rigid observance of the Mosaic law required about one-third of the worshiper's income, or increase. God has not given us a definite scale as he did the Jews, but absolutely in no text of the New Testament does he teach that we should give less than the Jews. Every scripture in the Bible that teaches that the new covenant is superior to the old covenant teaches that we should give not less than a tithe, or a tenth, of our income, or "increase." My brother, are you guilty of contributing nickels, dimes, and quarters, when the Master has prospered and enabled you to give dollars? Do not give until it hurts, but give as God teaches, "as God hath prospered" you-not less than a tenth of your net income, or "increase."

"That no collections be made when I come." All Christians' contributing regularly to the church treasuries as God hath prospered them will eliminate all hurried irreligious collections under the pressure of emergencies. If all Christians should pursue Paul's plan in giving, there would be money in the treasuries to meet all demands. The number of our orphan homes, schools, colleges, and preachers would increase; the Macedonian calls from mission fields could be answered; and foreign and benighted lands would hear the gospel in its beauty, ancient simplicity, and power to redeem.

My brother, as a Christian, it devolves upon you to give deliberately, intelligently, not less than a tithe, or tenth, of your income, or "increase," to support the blood-purchased institution of Jesus Christ.

[This article in tract form may be had free by addressing the writer at Clarksville, Tenn.]

Missionary Activities of the Church at Cleburne, Texas.

The church at Cleburne is taking on now life in real earnest. We are now planning to sustain an evangelist in our home county for full time to preach at destitute places. We are also planning to support a missionary in India for all his time. This in addition to taking care of the home work. For all this work the church expects to expend something like five thousand dollars this year, and we are well along on the work of raising this fund. The members are enthusiastic over the prospects, and there is little doubt but that we shall be able to "go over the top" in the matter of raising the necessary fund for this work.

We are now on the lookout for a man to evangelize in this county. We prefer a young man for this county work, if we can find the right kind of a young man, for at least two reasons. First, a young man can be freer to go from place to place throughout the county in his work. Then, we purpose to expend only about one hundred dollars a month in this county work, and a man with much family would hardly be able to get along on this amount. However, we shall be pleased to hear from any brother who may care to consider this work. We want a man of good character, of course, as well as one who can present the gospel in a plain and forceful way. Hence, we request that applicants who are not well known send references with application.

Our missionary to India is Brother W. E. Pittman, one of our own members, and a faithful and loyal disciple of the Lord. Brother Pittman has been identified with this congregation for nearly two years, and no member of the congregation has been more faithful in the discharge of every duty than he. He has given up a good business that was paying him about two hundred dollars a month in order to enter the work of leading souls to Christ; and he only asks that he be given a bare living-just enough to sustain him. This congregation proposes to furnish this support. However, we shall have to ask that the brotherhood at large send Brother Pittman to his field of labor. We feel that, since this congregation will become responsible for his support, others will be glad to furnish the means to take him to his field of labor. This will require about five or six hundred dollars, and we shall appreciate contributions from individuals and congregations for this purpose. Brother Pittman has already applied for his passports and wants to sail not later than May. Hence, his expense money must be raised at once. Contributions for this purpose may be sent to either of the elders of this church, or direct to W. E. Pittman, Cleburne, Texas.

G. DALLAS SMITH, T. N. SELF, OTTO FOSTER,

Elders of church of Christ, Cleburne, Texas.

The Passing.

BY HERBERT SHOOK.

I stood in the Valley of Insignificance and looked wistfully up the Mountain of Human Greatness. It was as of ice, and from its foot to its summit I read the names of those who, in the eyes of the World, were without peers. There were poets, authors, sculptors, painters, conquerors, reformers. Moved by some strange impulse, I lifted mine eyes above the loftiest of them, and—behold!—a peak rose even higher, and it was as of rock. As I gazed, wondering, there came a bright light with a great heat, and—lo!—the icy Mountain of Human Greatness melted and was gone. But that other peak endured, became white, symmetrical, and beautiful. Then to my mind came the meaning. In the light I saw the Glory of God, and, in the Mountain, the Christ. And I was content to serve Him and dwell in the Valley of Insignificance.

Book Notices.

Send us $1.25 for a copy of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

For $1.25 you can buy a copy of "Life and Sermons of Jesse L. Sewell," by David Lipscomb. It is a good book.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study." Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in large, clear type. The book is substantially bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your fab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter. Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

Speculative Teaching Bearing More Fruit.

BY J. C. M'Q.

I announced to our readers in 1918 that the Gospel Advocate would no longer support the missionaries in India. In a lengthy article, published in the Issue of March 6, 1919, I emphasized our decision not to encourage the support of the missionaries, assigning as a reason, as well as other considerations, that some of the missionaries, McHenry and Martin, were indulging in destructive speculative teaching that had brought about a bitter division among the missionaries and threatened the destruction of the work itself. I have always been ready to give up any prejudices and preferences I may have had concerning the missionaries in India or elsewhere, but I am not ready to sacrifice the truth to gain the favor of any man. I owe more to the truth than to any human being.

It is clear that the warning to our readers was needed and timely, as is shown by an editorial, entitled "Full-Fledged Adventists," which appeared in the Firm Foundation of January 13, 1920. Read carefully the editorial of Brother Showalter:

It now appears that Brethren S. O. Martin and Hume McHenry, who went to India as missionaries for churches of Christ, have gone over to the Adventists. I was unwilling to accept this report till it became persistent and till I received information from those who are in position to know and who have no reason for misrepresenting the Churches of Christ will not be expected to continue to contribute to the support of these men. I am hoping to receive for publication a statement from them. I am sure they do not expect the churches of Christ to support them in observing the seventh day of the week and in teaching the doctrine of the Seventh-Day Adventists. If a change is made, the Firm Foundation shall be ready to announce accordingly. This statement I feel is necessary at the present time, however, as this paper has indorsed these men as religious teachers—a thing we cannot now do as long as present conditions obtain. The Highland Church, at Louisville, and the church at Allensville, Ky, have been the chief supporters of these two missionaries, and these congregations are to be commended for their zeal and interest in missions. It is hoped these brethren will in no way be discouraged. They should at once arrange to send out others to continue the work already begun. GHPS.

Long ago McHenry convinced the manager of this journal that he was in sympathy with those in this country who were teaching destructive speculative views and who did not heed the admonition of Paul concerning things not fundamental, to hold their faith to themselves before God. (Rom. 14: 22.) It is not surprising that he and Martin have formally gone to the Adventists, for their course is the natural and logical outcome of the speculative movement against which we have warned the churches and a complete vindication of the wisdom of our course. Their going is simply their faith completed in action. churches of Christ are better off without them so long as they observe the seventh day instead of the first day of the week and propagate Adventism. The Christian who fails to expose the erroneous teaching of an influential teacher. but winks at his error in order to save him, has too much respect for the good will of men and not enough for the truth. Christ does not save men in error, but saves them by leading them out of error into the light of truth. It is a positive injustice to a man in error to treat him as though he were teaching the truth. Instead of such a cowardly, ignoble compromise with error, a man should point his tongue on the anvil of truth.

Those who have led in the movement of teaching speculative views should be censured more than the missionaries who have followed their faith to its legitimate development. The leaders in the movement have the greater responsibility.

Don Carlos Janes, who has undertaken to manage the missionaries in India and elsewhere, has remained silent and has not made known the defection through the papers which he used successfully in securing contributions for their support. He is not ignorant of their action; for I am informed by a reliable brother, who has been told by a very close and dear friend of Brother Janes, that he has known of their going to the Adventists since early in September of last year. Unless he indorses their action and holds that the churches of Christ should continue to support them, I do not see how he can justify himself in withholding the facts from a long-suffering brotherhood. If he does not so think, he must undervalue promptness or the value of money that is given for the conversion of the heathen. Napoleon said: "The reason I beat the Austrians is, they did not know the value of five minutes." If Brother Janes in no way upholds or winks at their going to the Adventists and is still receiving contributions from the churches of Christ for them and forwarding to them, his failure to publish the facts is inexcusable and reprehensible. Truth, righteousness, and souls all demanded, and still demand, an immediate revelation of the facts. He should not have permitted any friend or temporal consideration to delay his publication of their departure from the faith once for all delivered to the saints,

"He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me; and he that leveth son or daughter more than me is not worthy of me." (Matt. 10: 37.)

Let us think that Martin and McHenry are men of too much integrity and honesty to accept funds from the churches of Christ, after having departed from the faith of the church, to propagate Adventism. A business man of integrity will not accept the money of his employer to use against the best interests of his employer.

Whenever, from any consideration, we bid a man Godspeed in teaching error, we become responsible for his error, for the influence we exert in leading others to accept such error, and, hence, culpable before God. In all such cases we should expose the false teaching and admonish the false teachers as erring brethren.

No man who is genuinely in earnest will be discouraged by the defection of these missionaries. False brethren were brought in unawares and made shipwreck of the faith in the days of Paul. Christians should vigorously oppose the teaching of speculative doctrines and should be more careful in the selection of the missionaries they send out. Grave blunders have been made here. Careless neglect and undue haste always bring disaster. In the conduct of our missionary endeavor we should be guided by the word of God, and should not leave the selection, the sending out, and the handling of the funds to a self-appointed secretary. The churches should be warned by this defection and in the future not allow any man or movement to usurp the authority and functions which belong to them. The churches should select new missionaries, men of ability and integrity, rooted and grounded in the faith of Christ, and send them to the foreign field. The missionaries should be amenable to the churches and should make reports to the churches sending them out. Let us hope that God is leading us in the storm as well as in the sunlight and that out of this defection he will bring great good to his faithful people.

Questions on Sunday Schools and Other Bible Schools. BY M. C. K.

The following queries have been submitted for consideration in the Gospel Advocate:

1. Is the Sunday school, as we have it to-day, any part of Is it the church? the church?

Is the Bible School, such as the Nashville Bible School or Thorn Springs Bible School, a church school?

3. If the Sunday school is a church school, is not the What is the difference? Bible School also a church school? What is the difference?
4. Is it right for a Bible School to have a baseball team?

Is it right for a Sunday school, as a Sunday-school class, to have a baseball team?

5. Is the Sunday school under and sanctioned by the commission in Matt. 28: 19, 20; Mark 16: 15, 16? T. B. CLARK.

These queries have been on hand a long time, but the delay in answering them has been unavoidable. gladly give them attention, and shall consider them in the order in which they are presented.

1. Of course, if those who teach or study in a Sunday school are "any part of the church," the Sunday school is a "part of the church." It may be the whole church, and is, if the whole church engages in it. A church, in a given locality, or any part of a church's membership, may properly meet at some hour on Sunday or any other day or night in the week and study and teach the Bible. If they do it on Sunday, it is a Sunday school; and if they should do it on Monday, it would, of course, be a Monday school taught by the church or by some of its members. It is difficult to see why there should be any confusion over this matter. As to whether a church, or any part of a church, has the scriptural right to thus meet to study and teach the Bible, we might as well ask if a church has the right to meet and have the gospel preached seven nights in the week, if it wants to do so, or whether it has the scriptural right to have a protracted meeting for that purpose of any other length. What Christians are taught to do on these lines is couched in general terms which include, in principle, the details of execution without the specification of the

- 2. Exactly what is meant here by "a church school" does not seem clear. The Nashville Bible School, now called "David Lipscomb College," was established to teach men and women the Bible and such other branches of learning as are necessary to their best equipment for usefulness in life. It is not a school for the exclusive work of preparing men to preach, but to assist in preparing them to better fill any position of usefulness in life. No matter what laudable calling a young man expects to follow in life, even though it be farming or the work of a blacksmith, the design of this school is to better fit him for usefulness in that line. From the legal point of view, it is the design that its charter and property rights shall protect it, as far as such legal measures can afford protection, against wrong teaching.
- 3. These terms, as here used, seem confusing. To speak of a church's studying and teaching the Bible at some hour on Sunday, which is all that a Sunday school necessarily means, as "a church school," seems about on a par, in principle, with speaking of a church as a church. If being required to teach the Bible, or to be conducted and taught by members of the church, makes such a school as the David Lipscomb College "a church school," then it and such schools are church schools.
- 4. Here the Latin proverb, omitting the Latin, that "the shoemaker must not go beyond his last," would apply. While those who attend a Sunday school or a college may, of course, very properly play ball or other innocent games if they want to, yet neither a Sunday school nor a college, as such, has any more right "to have a baseball team" than it has to do any other thing which, however innocent, it was not founded to do. Individuals who attend either school might, as individuals, do what neither school, as such, should do.
- 5. Here the querist might as well ask, which would involve precisely the same principle, whether a protracted meeting for preaching the gospel is "under and sanctioned by the commission in Matt. 28: 19, 20; Mark 16: 15, 16." Churches and individual Christians are commanded to preach the gospel and to study and teach the Bible, but the specific time or method of doing these things is not given: and hence they may properly do what is commanded at any time and by any method which does not anywhere contravene the Scriptures. Throughout the Old and New Testaments this principle is distinctly recognized, and it is illustrated by numerous examples. The details or precise method of doing what is commanded in general terms are seldom ever given; but we must be careful never to adopt, in the name of method, any measure which violates what is taught in the Bible. Hence, finally, to require Christians to show specifically when and in what manner they shall obey the command to study and teach the Bible is going beyond what is written, for the simple reason that no exact time and no exclusive method of so doing is given in the Bible. Let us not make laws where God has made Wherever there is eternal life, there is some apprehension of God; perhaps I should have expressed it better had I said there is some appreciation of God, some "awareness" of his all-encompassing presence. When our Savior says, "This is life eternal, to know thee." I do not think the primary centent of the word is mental illumination, although that will most assuredly be in the shining train; but it fundamentally refers to the intelligence of sympathy, the correspondence of kinship-if you will, the telepathic communion of spirits attuned to the same key. J. H. Jowett.

Our Boy.
BY E. A. E.

Blest be the tie that binds Our hearts in Christian love; The fellowship of kindred minds Is like to that above.

We share our mutual woes, Our mutual burdens bear, And often for each other flows The sympathizing tear.

It is not true that you weep alone. All who have the spirit of Him who wept with Mary and Martha weep now with those who weep. Nothing can be more encouraging and helpful than Christian fellowship. True, disinterested, unselfish friendship is a very dear and strong tie. "A friend loveth at all times, and is born as a brother for adversity." But deeper and broader and more binding is Christian fellowship. Our afflictions and bereavements bring us all thus closer together in Christian love and cause it, as the night the stars, to shine upon us in clearer and brighter rays.

All this is beautifully expressed in the numerous letters of sympathy and Christian love which we have received from various parts of our own State, from other States, and from Canada. It is not expected that we reply separately to each one of these; but in the fullness of our hearts we must be allowed in this way to acknowledge their receipt and to express our gratitude to all and our deep thankfulness to God.

Almost all these letters express in different ways the same thought-namely, that as we have carried the comfort of the gospel to so many hearts and homes in the gloom of bereavement, they would now console us by the same exceeding precious and great promises of God. And thus we are indeed comforted. Never were these promises to us more precious, the hope of the gospel brighter, faith in Jesus stronger, and the victory over sin and death more glorious. Knowing the life of our dear boy by daily contact, his unselfish service to his Master and to men, his deep reverence for the word of God, his courageous faith, his strong desire to be with his Lord, but his willingness to serve on here below until the happy time of his departure should come, in our sober judgment we feel that a purer young soul and more noble and loftier spirit has never gone from the earth. Feeling thus and trusting Jesus, who is "the resurrection and the life," we "rejoice greatly with joy unspeakable and full of glory."

From one of these many letters I quote:

He is just away!
With a cheery smile and the wave of his hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you, O you, with the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return,
Think of him, faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;
Think of him still as the same. I say
He is not dead—he is just away.

No, it is not a dream, but a glorious reality. It is not an unknown land, but "The glad homeland, not far away,

Where none are sick, or poor, or lone,
The place where we shall find our own;
And when we think of those we know,
Who there have met to part no more,
Our longing hearts desire home, too,
With all the care and trouble o'er."

"For we know that if the earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal, in the heavens." The beloved disciple was permitted to see into the hereafter—into the New Jerusalem—and to behold the spirits of just men made perfect as they live forever in the presence of God, and was commanded to write this for our hope and salvation. By faith we, too, endure, "as seeing him who is invisible" and across the brief years, or days, as the case may be, which intervene, into "the city which hath the foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

"Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
O, what a foretaste of glory divine!"

The same Christian friend for a Christmas card sent the following:

We shall rejoice if you are glad, And we shall weep if you are sad; No touch of pain can come to you But what our hearts must feel it, too; And so we ask of God to-night That he shall make your burdens light, And so protect you that you may Find happiness this Christmas Day.

We have but feeble gifts to give
To smooth your way the while you live;
We cannot stay the bitter tears
That fill your eyes when grief appears,
Nor change nor stop the cruel blow
That steals your joy and hurts you so;
We can but pray to God above
To help you with his boundless love.

Yet, if our will could rule on earth, No grief should ever check your mirth; Your fondest dreams should all come true, And joy and peace abide with you. And so this Christmas time we pray That God shall grant from day to day Those joys to grace the life you live Which only he has power to give.

Our side of the picture is dark only as viewed in the light and beauty of his side of it; and we "shall go to him, but he will not return to" us. We shall miss his kind ministrations, for he was constantly mindful of the comfort and pleasure of all. I think I never knew or learned of a young man more thoughtfully attentive to old and young and more promptly obedient to his parents or to God. He frequently quoted: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man." His prayers in the home or in the congregation-prayers of faith and trust and submission-were a benediction to all. It is a lasting pleasure and deep joy to record the fact that every member of the family loved him dearly and will miss him sorely. It was a comfort to all to serve him in return, and a joyous memory, embalmed in love, this is! The farm hands, white or colored, were most thoughtful of him, kind to him, and he was never happier than when he was doing something for them. A year ago last Christmas his uncle gave him five dollars for a Christmas gift, and with it he bought a pair of shoes for a faithful man on the place. This Christmas he requested us to give to him in money whatever we intended for him, so he could give it to the poor; and he had planned his gifts for them, which plan was carried out. He could not reconcile the way many do in making dinners or suppers with Jesus' instructions to "bid the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind," etc. There can be nothing closer to Jesus or closer to heaven than a life and home filled with tender, loving

He wrote to some excellent neighbors and friends upon the sudden taking away of their only boy a few years ago the following lines:

Death comes to all our friends,
Which makes us very sad;
But knowing we'll meet them again
Is the thought which makes us glad.

We think of streets we'll walk
When we meet them all again,
And how with them we'll talk,
If we're only free from sin.

We tell our friend good-by—
A good child has he been—
But being ready when we die,
We'll meet with him again.

You cannot know how deep the joy
Will be in that world above,
But there you'll meet your blessed boy
Whom you do so much love.

This was written in his childhood, and we give it, not as poetry, but to show the kind feelings and sympathy of his young heart.

This is not an obituary. I began it only to thank our so many Christian friends for their sympathy and prayers and God for his grace. It may encourage others and older ones. One of his favorite songs was "Meekly Wait and Murmur Not," and he frequently said: "It will be only a short while, mother."

We thank our Heavenly Father for the short visit to us of this consecrated, beautiful young life, which has left its lasting impress upon us all, and gratefully say: "Jehovah gave, and Jehovah hath taken away; blessed be the name of Jehovah."

My Relation to the Gospel Advocate.

BY B. C. GOODPASTURE.

I began my work as circulation manager of the Gospel Advocate on January 1. This is not unexpected to our readers, since Brother McQuiddy recently announced my coming. Although I am intensely interested in the editorial work of the Gospel Advocate, it is my purpose, primarily, to extend its circulation. In order to do this as effectively as possible, I am planning to make a number of trips out among the churches; in fact, I have already visited a few congregations, and have obtained results even beyond my expectations. The brethren where I have gone have been free to express their approval of the present management of the Advocate and have predicted for it a future of unusual activity and usefulness. The outlook is inviting. The circulation of the paper can easily be doubled through the cooperation of its readers. I believe they will help in this good work. The campaign for new subscribers has been launched and must be, and will be, carried on to a successful conclusion. To this end I am now giving my best efforts.

Men Still Do Count.

In a sense, that "every man has his price" is irreproachably true of honorable men; for though a man's integrity should be unpurchasable, certainly his services rightly command-or do not command-a market value. The world is currently supposed to be crowded, and all the places that pay a living wage are reported to be filled; but every now and then there come marching the undenlable, forceful people for whom room must somehow be made. They cut into the mob and through it, and the crowd is submissive to their personal force and does homage to their leadership. They need not do murder to accomplish their aim. They may even be kind and gentle as they go, but you and I can tell at a glance that these commanding personalities are good for something. We can see at once that they were born to rule. We feel their presence, whether they shout or are still. They are likely, in fact, to deal in masterful silences; but when their thought does fly to speech or act, something or somebody drops. Irresolutions vanish. There is a clear, straight path ahead of executive performance. The course is decided. The doubts are buried. The fears are beyond resuscitation.

Let none believe that machinery has made the mechanic superfluous or that the engine has "scrapped" (to use a pet modern word of the efficient) the engineer. Wheels going round and people moving quickly are, indeed, a sublime phenomenon. But the spectacle is not spoiled and the efficacy is assured when there is headwork going on somewhere to synthetize and concenter the whirring and the footwork. The trouble with some who are active is that they think they are doing something worth while if they are making a noise or raising a dust or running fast. But an escaping gas does not necessarily illumine or warm; electricity that splits an oak or fires a barn is not conferring a soul upon a power house; and all the banging of the old-style Fourth of July never channeled traprock for canal or railroad.

So, if a man comes into your presence and is merely a blustering big noise, you need not believe him or follow his lead; but if he is a fact and not a bubble, you will not disperse him by a tap. He has had the rough handling of fate before this, and he does not fear you; nor will closing your eyes melt him into space. He bides his time; he bides yours, too. The day will come when you will find your need of him, for the indispensable creature of all creation is a man.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

District Trans Chart Ditte Callery for	04 F - FA
Pleasant Home Church, Pike County, Ark
W. J. Hall, Halls, Tenn	2.00
S. C. Rudisill, Glencoe, Ark	10.00
L. S. Ivy, Nabors, Texas	50.00
Mrs. W. T. Mimms, Olmstead, Ky
Cucio Cuthouland Domona Co	10.00
Susie Sutherland, Pomona, Ga	10.00
J. F. Mansker, Ballinger, Texas	5.00
Bethlehem Church, Murfreesboro, Tenn	7.00
Robert M. Croft, Owen's Cross Roads, Ala	12.50
T. G. Lawrence, Anson, Texas
Church at Lavergne, Tenn	15.77
A. C. and Allie Stout, Stockdale, Texas	2.75
Mrs. C. A. Nettles, Vredenburgh, Ala	1.00
Mrs. Mary Draper, Defeated, Tenn
Church at Midlothian, Texas
K. E. Ball, Ellis, La.
W. M. B. Cox, Baldwyn, Miss
Mrs. J. W. Wardlaw, Jr., Cason, Texas
Friends at Pilot Point, Texas, Route 2	15.00
G. M. Scales, Iredell, Texas
S. C. Merritt, Mayfield, Ky
S. C. Merritt, Mayheid, Ky

Declaring that he believed the American people could not and would not permit the cradle of Christianity to perish, Henry Morgenthau, former United States Ambassador to Turkey, pointed out the dire need of the poverty-stricken and starving Armenians and others in the Near East.

"The condition of these people is appalling," said Mr. Morgenthau. "Four hundred thousand of the starving hosts of Armenia and Syria are children. Multitudes have already perished while their mothers stood powerless to help, while their dearest treasures died before their eyes—their own children for whom they would have given their lives.

"Upon these children, helped back to normal childhood, let us hope, by the generosity of the American people, must depend the perpetuation of a race that early accepted Christianity—a race that has been most cruelly persecuted by the barbarous Turks and has gone to Calvary for its belief.

"At Teheran and other cities, men, women, and children are prosptrated on the streets from exhaustion and dying from starvation. People are grazing in the fields like cattle. Children come to the rest houses with flesh hanging on their bones like rags, voices gone, but eyes pleading and imploring for a crust."

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

Query Department

By J. C. McQUIDDY

M. E. Smelser, of Russellville, Ala., inquires to know the meaning of Rev. 20: 12, which reads: "And I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne; and books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of the things which were written in the books, according to their works."

The point on which he wishes information is: What is the book of life? He states that some brethren think it is the New Testament. I understand that the "books" referred to are the records that contain all the deeds of men. "Another book" is the "book of life," in which the names of all Christians are recorded. From these books all men of every nation and country are judged according to their works. I do not see how the "book of life" could refer to the New Testament.

* * *

Brother C. T. Hall, of Tarpon Springs, Fla., objects to my answer to his query, in which I say the validity of baptism does not depend upon the administrator. It appears that he is not inquiring for information so much as seeking a discussion of the subject. He will please excuse me, as I cannot turn the query department into a debating society. He says, in speaking of my position: "Well, if that is so, will we let all sects—Catholics, Methodists, Baptists, or any other sect—baptize and send them over to us? Will that be all right? Please give me scripture for this, When did Christ authorize any one who was a sinner to baptize? Do you believe that other sects that are doing contrary to the Scriptures are in Christ?"

When I answered the query of our brother, I had in mind that the person who was being baptized was sincere, and that his sincerity would lead him to be baptized by a person whom he thought equally sincere. This being true, the candidate for baptism should seek a person to baptize him whom he believes is teaching and practicing the truth. Those who are baptized by Catholics, Methodists, Baptists, or any other sect, must certainly think that these people are teaching the truth, otherwise they would look elsewhere for an administrator of baptism. If people have no more sincerity than the argument of our brother suggests, then it would be well for them not to be baptized at all, for all such candidates' baptism will be worthless. The scriptural teaching is that the man who believes the truth, repents of his sins, and is baptized by the authority of Christ into the name of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, enters Christ, regardless of the character of the administrator. The candidate believes that the administrator is a good man, when in reality he may be a criminal and vicious. As I advise all men to associate with people whom they believe to be good and pure, so I would advise any candidate for baptism to select a scriptural teacher to baptize him. But in the event such a person cannot be and is not secured for the baptism, I do not believe that God will damn the candidate; neither does the querist, if he believes the

0 0 0

J. N. Twitchell, of Paducah, Ky., asks the following questions: "(1) Should elders and deacons be ordained by laying on the hands and by prayer? (2) By whom should this servce be rendered? (3) Should there be more than seven deacons chosen for any congregation? (4) Have any of the lay members a scriptural right to wait on the Lord's table when there are deacons present?"

I. I do not understand that God has ordained any particular method of appointing elders and deacons. From a careful reading of the New Testament I am constrained to believe that the laying on of hands was done for the impartation of the Holy Spirit and to confer blessings. This cannot be done now. But as some method of designating those who are selected for elders and deacons must be employed, I can see no reason why laying on of hands, with fasting and prayer, might not be used as well as any other.

2. In churches that are not properly set in order, scriptural evangelists are required to appoint those whom the church may designate for the work. Where elders are being selected in a well-organized congregation, the existing elders should appoint those the church designates for the work. I have always regarded the position of an elder and deacon as one of work and service rather than an office. "For even as we have many members in one body, and all the members have not the same office: so we, who are many, are one body in Christ, and severally members one of another." (Rom. 12: 4, 5.) The appointment of one to the position of an elder does not make him do the work of an elder. Men should show a fitness and adaptability for the work of an elder and thus have the scriptural qualifications before being appointed to the work, When men show such fitness and qualifications for the work, I understand that they are the God-appointed elders and should be selected by the church for the

3. The Greek word shows that there should be more than two elders. Just how many more, I do not know. The Bible does not limit the number of deacons that should be selected to serve the congregation. "Deacon" is derived from a Greek word which means "to serve." All members of the congregation should be ready to serve and should be servants of Christ.

From the teaching of the Bible I am constrained to believe that any member of the congregation should do anything that he has the ability to do in the service of the Lord. I do not approve of the idea that elders and deacons hold an office, and that, as a result of this holding, all other members are excluded from serving the church in any capacity. Every member of the church of Christ is solemnly obligated to do anything that he can do in the service of the church.

0 0 0

Brother T. W. Wallace, of Daver, Tenn., wants to know whether it is right for "a member of the church of Christ to call on a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church to lead the prayer at the Lord's day meeting."

The Bible teaches nothing in regard to a member of the church of Christ calling on a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church to lead in prayer. The Bible does teach that whoever believes the truth, repents of his sins, and is baptized becomes a member of the church of Christ. When one does become a member of the church of Christ, it is a mistake for him to join any human organization, thus becoming a member of two bodies instead of one. I understand that Christians should not uphold or encourage a man in such a mistake. Furthermore, a Christian should not reject the truth that a Methodist teaches simply because he is a Methodist. He should accept the truth, wherever found and by whomsoever taught, and oppose error in all its forms.

Training Little Children

By EVA MARCH TAPPAN

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

Concerning Manners.

"I assert confidently that it is in the power of one American mother to make as many gentlemen as she has sons."

(Marion Harland.)

My text is the manners of two little children who called upon me, each with her mother. When Three-Year-Old was introduced, she put out her tiny hand and said, with a charming smile: "How do you do? My mamma said you liked little girls." "Mamma" opened her bag, and out came Three-Year-Old's best beloved doil. In two minutes Three-Year-Old was playing happily in the bay window, while her mother and I had the long talk that we wanted.

When Four-Year-Old called and her mother said, "This is my little daughter," she made no response to my greeting, but promptly seized my prettiest sofa pillow, threw it on the floor, and trampled over and over its delicate silk with her dusty sandals. Her mother said nothing; but when she rose to leave, she was quite severe with little Four-Year-Old because she neglected to make the formal courtesy that she had been taught. "Evidently her home training in good manners consists in learning to make that courtesy," said a friend who was present. But I fancied there was something more than that back of the difference between the two children. Of course, calls on grown-ups are dull matters for small folk; but little Three-Year-Old had, by the thoughtful word of her mother, been put in a mood to please and be pleased, which is the foundation of pleasure in society. Poor little Four-Year-Old was "at odds with her environment," and her mother had not said the thoughtful word that might have helped her.

Whatever life may bring to a person, there is one thing certain-he will have to mingle with other people; and good manners, which have their rise in a kindly feeling toward others, will be a great help. Of whatever follies kings and queens have been guilty, they have generally realized that much of their popularity must rest upon the impression that their manners make upon people. Long before Queen Victoria could speak plainly she was taught to make a little bow and say, "Morning, lady," or, "Morning, sir," when any one approached her little carriage. Years later a sailor lifted her small daughter on board the royal yacht, saying as he sat her down: "There you are, my little lady." "I'm a princess," the child retorted; "I'm not a little lady." The watchful mother said: "That is true. Tell the kind sailor that you are not a lady yet, but that you hope to be one some day."

How can children be taught courtesy? The foundation, of course, is to teach them by word and example to feel kindly toward the people around them. Show them the little ways of thoughtfulness by which they can express this kindliness of feeling. Teach them not to save up their good manners for strangers, and emphasize this by treating them with the same courtesy that you wish them to manifest.

"I like to have the Blanks come to play with my children," said a mother, "for they are never rude and rough in their games." I was interested to ask the mother of the Blanks how she had brought this about. "I really believe it is due to our after-supper hour," she replied, thoughtfully, "For an hour after supper I do whatever the children choose, and as one of them. We read aloud; we go to walk; we make candy; we snowball one another; we play games—sometimes wild, rollicking games; and I do not ask for any special privilege on the ground of being a grown-up. But, of course, the children would not think of 'tagging mother' too roughly or making hard snowballs when one might happen to be thrown at her; and they won't quarrel about who shall stir the candy when they know that mother is waiting for her turn. If they practice self-control and courtesy with me, they will be more likely to practice it with others."

0 0 0

Distrust of self is a first step toward assured success. In every walk of life self-confidence risks disaster. The athletic trainer would rather see his man enter upon a contest in an agony of doubt as to the outcome than confident of his ability to win. The public speaker who sways great audiences by the power of his oratory is the man who steps upon the platform tortured by the fear that he may utterly fail. Self-sacrifice dulls the fine edge of endeavor; self-distrust sharpens it. In the realm of character, when a man realizes that, left to himself, he is bound to fail, he is ready to recognize his need of One who alone can keep him from failure.—Selected.

0 0 0

God's will will never be done here as it is in heaven, until the will of every man is so cultivated and quickened as to be energizing concurrently and harmoniously with the will of God; and that implies the activity, and not the passivity, of the will of man. It implies that we must be actively doing, and not simply meekly enduring, the will of the Father.—Arthur Chambers.

0 0 0

What does your anxiety do? It does not empty to-morrow of its sorrows, but it empties to-day of its strength. It does not make you escape the evil; it makes you unfit to cope with it if it comes.—Ian Maclaren.

000

"But Love Can Never Die."

What is it to the circling hours,
The life they take or bring?
What is it to the winds and showers?
They know not anything.

But somehow, ere I am aware,
There comes a hush and thrill,
For all the sunshine and the air
A Presence seems to fill:

And from the sudden opening sky,
A low voice seems to say:
"I am the Resurrection; I
The Life, the Truth, the Way.

This nature which you idly blame, Is but the robe I wear; From me the human spirit came, And all its griefs I bear.

The smile whose light thou canst not see, The grace that left thy side, Though vanished from the earth, with me Forever they abide,"

With Him I cannot be at strife;
Then will I kneel and say:
In love He gave me that sweet life,
In love He took away."

"And love's unfailing life, in Him,
Outlasts this arching sky;
For worlds may waste and suns grow dim,
But love can never die." —Selected.

W

AT HOME AND ABROAD

Q.

J. H. Moore, of Denair, Cal., is now in a meeting at Roseburg, Ore.

Change of address: F. M. Strickland, from Lepanto to Route 1, Jonesboro, Ark.

- A. B. Lipscomb will preach next Sunday for the Oakland congregation, near Clarksville, Tenn.
- A. J. Hogan wishes his correspondents to know that his new address is 1101 West Tenth Street, Sedalia, Mo.
- R. N. Moody has written two thoughtful articles on "Billy Sunday" that will appear shortly. Watch for them.
- W. V. Freiley, principal of the High School at Dunlap, Tenn., came to see us last week. He is a leader in the congregation there.
- E. P. Watson, of Browning, Mo., would like to get in touch with neighboring congregations who may need the assistance of an evangelist.

From Willie Hunter, Livingston, Tenn.: "I have preached two funerals and officiated at four weddings recently, and am preaching monthly at home."

I have been taking the Gospel Advocate since 1878. I am highly pleased with it. The last few numbers have been good, very good.—H. L. W. Gross, Alexandria, Tenn.

The church at Carman, Manitoba, Canada, would like to locate two good, strong evangelists in the West. Those interested should address Daniel Stewart, Box 18, Carman, Manitoba, Canada.

The church at Murfreesboro, Tenn., surprised their preacher, C. E. Wooldridge, by the gift of a new Ford car, with self-starter and all the trimmin's," to be used in the Lord's work. We commend this thoughtful action and rejoice with the preacher.

From Ben West, Waxahachie, Texas, January 13: "Despite the continued rain all day Sunday, we had good services. Price Billingsley spoke at 7 P.M. on the Phillippian church and Paul's greatness because he was contented in his great work."

About seventy-five members have been gathered together at Flint, Mich., the center of the automobile factory district. They have planned to build a house of worship and have asked for help. Address all mail to W. W. Laster, 2417 South Saginaw Street.

Herbert E. Winkler writes: "After an absence of two years, I am now back at my old home address; and having changed locations, I have not made all arrangements for monthly work. If any church desires my labors monthly this year, write me at 4504 Idaho Avenue, Nashville, Tenn."

Mr. Paul Hartman, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and Miss Florence Parman, a member of the Russell Street Church, in Nashville, were married in the church study on January 14 at 7 P.M., A. B. Lipscomb officiating. They are two of the finest young Christians I know and have the best wishes of many.

I have read the Gospel Advocate more than sixty years, If I could improve with age like it does, I would be glad. It is with a thrill of delight that I receive it each week. Best wishes for it and every other laudable effort to propagate the gospel of our blessed Savior.—M. A. Elder, Jonesboro, Ark."

From H. H. Turner, Altus, Okla., January 13: "I have just closed my first meeting for the year 1920 at Humphrey, Okla., embracing the first and second Sundays in January. There was one baptism, Snow from eight to sixteen inches deep. I have much work mapped out and promised for this year. Let us all work and pray that many souls may be saved this year."

John M. Rice writes: "I took regular work at Altus, Okla., on January 1. The work is starting off in fine shape and we hope to continue. We will have a business meeting once a month. We had the first one last Lord's-day evening. I long to see the time when all congregations will have them and all learn about the business side of Christianity. 'Be not slothful in business.'"

From E. W. Sewell, Dinuba, Cal.: "I have read a great many issues of religious papers, and some with beautiful and others with deep-thoughted articles, but the 'Jesus Said' issue of the Gospel Advocate is the crowning act of all in trying to preach the gospel by this method. It is lamentable that every member of the church of Christ cannot in some quiet hour seclude himself and read every word of it."

From William P. Walker, Route 4, Clarksville, Tenn.: "I am mailing hundreds of copies of my little tract on the subject, 'God's Tithe.' Brethren, the church of Christ will do more when it is taught more. Let us diligently search the Scriptures that we may earnestly teach the church all that God has revealed on the subject of giving. I will mail free, upon request, twenty-five or more copies of this tract to any one. Inclose two one-cent stamps to pay postage."

From John C. Taylor, Waverly, Tenn., January 16: "I began my work with the church here on the first Lord's day in January. We have a splendid congregation at this place. I find that they are all 'with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel.' (Phil. 1; 27.) All of my work this year will be with this church, here and at other places in this county where they think the most good can be done. We are arranging to be busy in meetings from the first of June till the last of October."

To Whom This May Concern—Greeting: This is to certify that we, the undersigned, elders of the church of Christ worshiping at Tenth and Francis Streets, Oklahoma City, Okla., do hereby take pleasure in recommending to the brotherhood our beloved brother, G. C. Parham, as being a faithful preacher of the ancient gospel of our Lord and being pure and exemplary in life. Brethren, receive him as such. Any favor shown him will be appreciated by us.—[Signed] A. W. Lee, L. E. Diamond, and I. M. Blackwell.

From Miss Olera Craig, Custer, Wash., January 8: "The Gospel Advocate is such a great blessing to us here in this distant land. As we very seldom get to hear any preaching, its timely teaching is a joy to receive. I am enjoying the 'Studies in Church History,' and the special numbers are splendid. We have often wondered if some of you Tennesseeans did not want to make your home in the West. This is a beautiful country, and fine in every way except the scarcity of Christians. Do you not know of some one (or more) who wants to cast his lot here? If so, we will give such all the information we can, both as to the country and the church."

From Andrew Perry, Pikeville, Tenn., January 14: "The Bible reading here at College Station is going on and is doing good. While not as many are in attendance as Brother Mosley and I would like, yet we are having quite a good interest. Yesterday J. L. Hines, of Meaford, Ontario, Canada, was with us, also Brother Gibbs and one of the elders of Pikeville, with some others, who seemed well pleased. On last Saturday night and on Lord's-day morning and afternoon I preached to good and attentive audiences on Cumberland Mountain, at Griffith. Then, coming down into the valley, I had a fine audience at Lee Station on Lord's-day night. I have work and calls ahead for work for Saturday night and Lord's days for some time."

From E. D. Shelton, David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn., January 19: "My friends and correspondents will please take notice of the fact that the above is my permanent address, and will be until school closes in May. I have recently been visiting the churches in Montgomery and Southern Alabama, where I held two short meetings. The churches in Covington and adjacent counties of Southern Alabama are anxious for a preacher to come among them who can give all his time to the work. Andalusia is the county seat of Covington County. It is a thriving town, which is coming to the front rapidly. There is a tolerably strong church there, which has a bright future. There are some of the finest people in Alabama that there are in the world. I hope to be among them again sometime in the interest of the kingdom of God."

From H. C. Odom, Steens, Miss., January 12: "I moved here about four years ago. There was no place to worship nearer than four miles; so, of course, when the weather was bad, we could not go. However, we did not give up worshiping; we worshiped at our home—my brother, his wife, my wife, and I—until others moved in. I was trying all this time to get a place in which to worship that would be convenient for all, so we could teach the world. We have at last succeeded in renting a small hall where we now meet, and I thank God for it. We now have a nice attendance, about twenty-four members enrolled, and hope by the grace of God to do some good here. We had preaching on the first Sunday in this month by A. D. Dies, which we enjoyed very much. We are going to have a meeting, beginning on the fourth Sunday in September, conducted by Brother Dies. This place has no church of any kind, but we hope to build one here."

ABOUT RHEUMATISM

What Thousands Have Found Gives Relief From This Painful Trouble.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, manifesting itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles. It cannot be cured by local or external applications. It must have constitutional treatment.

Take a course of the great bloodpurifying and tonic medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acid condition of the blood on which rheumatism depends, and gives permanent relief. This medicine combines, with excellent alteratives and tonics, what is generally conceded to be the most effective agent in the treatment of this disease.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed take Hood's Pills. Purely vegetable.

DANDRUFF QUICKLY DISAPPEARS WHEN

Is Applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

The Rogers-Sloan Debate.

BY J. M. DENNIS.

The debate between Brother F. J. Rogers, of the church of Christ, and A. J. Sloan, of the Missionary Baptist Church, was held in Siloam Baptist meetinghouse, three miles east of Westmoreland, Tenn. This debate began on December 2 and closed on December 5. The debate was well attended, and good order and the best of feelings prevailed throughout the discussion. The speakers, with little exceptions, were very respectful each to the other, which was as it should always be. I served as moderator for Brothers Rogers, and Elder C. B. Massey served for Brother Sloan.

Each morning the day's work was entered into with songs of praise to God and prayers and thanksgiving for his blessings and help, and each day a bountiful dinner was spread.

Brother Rogers made the opening speech and led for two days, affirming this proposition: "The Scriptures teach that penitent believers receive remission of their sins after baptism." He introduced a number of scriptures in support of his proposition which, to my mind, sustained his position beyond a doubt. I wish to commend him to the brethren in general as a good man, a consistent Christian, a good preacher, and an average debater. I have been associated with him in his home and elsewhere, and have learned to love him; and I pray that the brethren may hold up his hands, for he is worthy.

On the third and fourth days of the debate Brother Sloan affirmed the following proposition: "The Scriptures teach that the repenting sinner is saved at faith." Brother Sloan introduced the scriptures commonly used by Baptists in support of his proposition. He defined "at faith" to be the moment one believes. He said with reference to what he was pleased to style "saving faith:" "They never had it before, they never had it a minute, and will never have it again." He denied the genuineness of Mark 16: 9-20. He is skillful in the defense of Baptist doctrine, and both as a speaker and a debater he is gifted.

This debate was mainly conducted on a high plane, hence I predict that good will result from it. There were only a few preachers on either side in attendance.

Evangelistic Report.

BY M. KEEBLE.

The last week in October and the first week in November I spent at home-Nashville, Tenn.-in a very profitable meeting. Brother James Gant did the preaching. He has agreed to preach for the Jackson Street Church once a month in 1920.

I arrived in Detroit, Mich., on November 14, and found two small mission points here, and also division among them. I believe if those who profess to be Christian preachers would teach against division, we would have less of it. I came here to see if the change would help my boy's condition, and I am thankful that I can say he has greatly improved; and if he continues to improve, I will remain longer. While here I am laboring with my hands to support my family and preaching regularly at the mission. The brethren have made me welcome and extended much encouragement. I am making my home with Brother Bonner, a brother from McMinnville, Tenn.

A few days ago the Antoine Street Mission made up a contribution for Brother S. W. Womack to assist him in his declining days. A good number of the brethren and sisters here have known Brother Womack for years and were glad to remember him with a gift.

I am now arranging for the 1920 protracted-meeting season. My time from the first of July until November is engaged, and I will be glad to receive other calls from needy fields. As the old year closes we can see our failures and our successes. Let us pray that in 1920 our failures may decrease and our successes increase, and may our lives be more in harmony with our Heavenly Father's will. I want to thank all who have fellowshiped me in my labors in the past, and trust to have their continued fellowship and prayers in the future.

Though I am in Detroit for a while.

I am still a reader of the Gospel Advocate, which always revives and strengthens me. May its editors live long to bless the world.

I am glad to know that there is to be opened in Nashville, on January 5, a school in which the Bible is to be taught to the colored people. Brother A. M. Burton has always shown himself interested in the spiritual uplift of my people, so all ought to fall in line and show that we appreciate such a friend; and my prayer is that he may live long and see a great work accomplished. I have received several letters from him stating his purposes, so I see nothing but success in the work.

Eggs $15 a Dozen

Yes, $1.25 for one egg! And even at that price you can buy them only on two days a week. No more than three eggs sold to one family at a time. That's how scarce eggs week. No more than three eggs sold to one family at a time. That's how scarce eggs are in the war-bruised countries of Europe. Last winter eggs sold in America for $1 a dozen. We are just now informed by telegraph that, owing to the strike in New York, eggs are now selling at $1.25 a dozen. Europe must get eggs. America must supply them. It is entirely possible that, with Europe's enormous demand, eggs may be selling in America for as much as $4 or $5 a dozen.

dozen. Now is the time to get every egg possible a dozen.

Now is the time to get every egg possible from your hens.

The way to do it is to give the hens "More Eggs." a scientific tonic that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens lay all the time. "More Eggs." will double the production of eggs. It will make hens lay heavily, no matter how cold or wet the weather. Already over 400,000 poultry raisers are making big profits by giving their hens "More Eggs." The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, $251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs." one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk, Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

DON'T BE CUT Until You Try Ti Wonderful Treatment. wonderm reatment.

If you have piles in any form, write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets, and you will bless the day that you read this. Write to-day. E. R. Page, 430-D Page Building, Marshall, Mich.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs; corns, bunions, etc. After one application, joints; pain in the head, back, and limps; corns, bunions, etc. After one application, pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and Immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 30c, 60c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY, Jackson, Tenn.

A IRRITABLE, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach troubles by Chamberlain's Tablets after years of suffering. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Try them. They only cost a quarter.

Chamberlain's Tablets

An Explanation.

BY JOHN T. SMITH.

I have been thinking for some time that some explanation should be made as to why our stay was so short with the church at Dickson, Tenn. We were there only one year, as many of the brethren and churches know; and it may have occurred to some that something rather serious must have come up between us and the church. Well, it is good to be able to announce to all that such is not the case. The church at Dickson is one of the best and strongest in the State, and in some respects the best one for which I have ever labored. The people who compose it are, generally, a mighty fine body of people, and they did everything reasonable to make our stay among them pleas-

I am sure there are fewer "knockers" and more "boosters" in the Dickson church than in any other church for which I have ever labored. They are ready and willing for every good work and respond liberally to every worthy call. They are fortunate in having a body of elders who are ready to do their duty and to uphold the hands of the preacher who preaches the truth and condemns unrighteousness. They are not radicals, but try always to act with judgment and in harmony with the will of God.

No church in the land has been blessed with stronger and more faithful teaching than the Dickson church. Besides having the ablest men in the brotherhood for their meetings, Brother I. B. Bradley has lived with them and labored for them for about a dozen years. He was at home quite a deal during the year, and he and Sister Bradley did much to make the work both pleasant and profitable.

But we left Dickson because our physical condition required a change. We are here in this high altitude and with this fine breeze ever blowing, hoping soon to get well and strong.

The church here at Lubbock, Texas, is a good one, made up of some of the best folks in the world. They have shown their appreciation of us in every possible way. The work starts well and everybody seems delighted.

Don't think because you have taken many remedies in vain that your case is incurable. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured many seemingly hopeless cases of scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney complaint, dyspepsia, and general debility. Take Hood's.

28 IDLE HENS NOW LAY 27 EGGS A DAY

And This Was in Cold Winter Weather. Mrs. Davidson's Plan Is Simple.

"I fed a 50-cent box of Don Sung to my

"I fed a 50-cent box of Don Sung to my flock of 28 hens that were not laying. But they are laying now. I receive as high as 27 eggs a day, and never less than 22."—Mrs. Jennie Davidson, Yates Center, Kan.

Mrs. Davidson wrote this letter in February. Figure her profit on two dozen eggs a day from hens that wouldn't lay during January and February. We'll make you the same offer we made her. Here it is:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days; and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis. Ind.

TRAINED NURSE TALKS TO WOMEN

Tells How, Through Years of Practice in Women's Weaknesses, She Found Simple Home Remedy to Ends Leucorrhea.

It took years of professional practice for me and my two associate nurses in treating weaknesses associate nurses in treating weaknesses of women to find a simple, easy, certain way to end Leu-corrhea (commonly called "whites"). In our experience we called "whites"). In our experience we find that 75 per cent of all women are more or less distressed with this annoying weakness, which makes them pale, tired, fretful, wasting their feminine strength and often leading to serious illness. Working on our own cases and in conjunction with physicians, we had wonderful success with our own treatment. We brought many women from deep despair to joyful satisfaction. They wanted us to tell others all over the country how our treatment, named "Lukora," brought them out of distress and weakness to genuine feminine strength and health.

If you are a sufferer from Leucorrhea, stop carelessly letting it go on, but learn from me how it may be quickly ended in your own home. I will tell yon about this simple home method (without obligation by your simply writing to me, Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A The Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence and information sent will be confidential and forwarded in plain seaied envelopes.

NOTE—The Nurses' Institute earnestly advises every woman suffering with Leucor-forwarded in plain seated envelopes.

NOTE—The Nurses' Institute earnestly advises every woman suffering with Leucorrhea, who wishes to get rid of it, to write Miss Cavanaugh at once. This remarkable offer is sincere, and the fact that the discoverers of the treatment are themselves registered nurses and women makes it a safe and unquestionable treatment.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

OBITUARIES

Herndon.

Mrs. Jane Herndon, more familiarly known as "Aunt Jane," left the tabernacle of clay on January 3, 1920, and took up her abode in the realm of rest, where she sweetly rests from all earthly toils and cares. The writer of this conducted funeral services over the remains in the house of worship at Macclenny, Fla., where "Aunt Jane" had worshiped so long, speaking words of comfort to the relatives and friends and pointing sin-ners to "the Lamb of God, which tak-eth away the sin of the world." "Aunt Jane" was about seventy-eight years old. She was always kind, hospitable, and charitable to all, and never turned the needy away from her door unaided. She was a consistent and faithful member of the church at Macclenny for many years, even "faithful unto death," and will doubtless wear the crown of life promised to such at the resurrection. Her husband preceded her; but several children and stepchildren remain to whom I would say: Weep main, to whom I would say: Weep not as those who have no hope, but rejoice in the assurance that mother has conquered sin and is awaiting the resurrection to receive her reward—eternal life.

J. O. Barnes.

Green.

Miss Ann Clark Green was born on Miss Ann Clark Green was born on October 6, 1843, and died on Decem-ber 18, 1919. She was baptized by Brother Jesse Sewell in 1859. She was married to W. C. Green on December 23, 1871, to which union were born two girls, both of whom pre-ceded their mother to the better land. There are left, to mourn their loss, a husband, two grandchildren, one great-grandchild, three brothers, and one sister. To her grandchildren she has left the heritage of a good name; to her devoted husband, the memory of a devoted wife and God-fearing Christian; to her brothers and sister, a good example; to her neighbors, the fond remembrance of a loving friend; to the congregation at Bethel, the example and influence of a faithful member. The greatest event of her life was when she obeyed from the heart that form of teaching once delivered to the disciples. Then she livered to the disciples. Then she added to her faith all Christian graces added to her fath an Christian graces that so beautifully adorn the Christian character. She had been a subscriber to the Gospel Advocate for many years, and enjoyed to the fullest extent every number. We think of grandmother only as being "asleep in Jesus,"

S. W. PHILLIPS.

Bowers.

George Moore Dallas Bowers was born in Brownsville, Tenn., on March 19, 1844. In 1862 he enlisted as a volunteer in Ward's Battery, in Panola County, Miss., and served the Confederacy faithfully until the close of the war. He was in several active of the war. He was m several active engagements, but was never wounded. In March, 1874, he located in Henning, Tenn., and engaged extensively in general merchandising, erecting the first business house in the place under the firm name of Wilson & Bowers, where he continued in business until 1897, when he moved to Florida, locating in Bartow, where he led an active life until moving to Gainesville in 1906, where he has since resided. He was married on November 3, 1875, to Miss Edmonia Greaves, of Haywood County, Tenn., who, together with their three sons and two daughters, is left to mourn his daughters, is left to mourn and two daughters, is left to mourn his death, which occurred at the family residence on Thursday afternoon, January 8, 1920, after a short illness. Besides his wife, he leaves five children, as follows: J. Ben Bowers, Robert C. Bowers, Mrs. Barney R. Colson, and Mrs. Lyde B. Pearce, all of Gainesville, and Richard D. Bowers, of Mulberry, Fla., all of whom were present when he passed away. The deceased led a notably pure and consistent Christian life, a member of the sistent Christian life, a member of the church of Christ for many years, be-ing faithful to the last. The funeral ing faithful to the last. The funeral was held from the family residence, the services being conducted by Brother L. K. Harding, and the burial was at Evergreen Cemetery. X.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15e.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Pifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

TETTERINE

Makes hair beautiful, free from dandruff, and keeps the scalp healthy.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 500, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

FINE PILLOWS

And Feather Beds. Order by parcel post right from this advertisement.

Get good pillows—fine, new, gray goose feathers, big size, 5 lbs., $4.50 pair. Gray goose beds, 25 lbs., $21.72; pair. Gray goose beds, 25 10s., $21.72; 30 1bs., $24.60. Cheaper kinds. Pillows, 5 1bs., $1.80 pair. Beds, 25 1bs., $10.20; 35 1bs., $12.45. We have $500 deposited with the Security Savings Bank, Charlotte, N. C., to guarantee satisfaction or money back—you take no risk. Order to-day or write for circulars. Hyglenic Bed Company, Dept. 28. Charlotte, N. C. 28, Charlotte, N. C.

Great Believer In Black-Draught

Oklahoma Lady Tells How Her Husband Believes in Black-Draught and Uses it for Many Ailments.

Nowata, Okla.-Mrs. W. B. Dawson, a resident of this place, says:

"My husband is a great believer in Black-Draught, and thinks it cures about everything.

"It is splendid for headache, constipation (which usually causes headache), indigestion, or any kind of stomach trouble, and we just keep it for these troubles. I don't know when we haven't used it, and we always find it satisfactory.

"I know it has done us both a lot of good and saved us many dollars. I use it in teaspoon doses at first and follow with small doses, and it sure does make a person feel like new.

"It cleanses the liver better than any other liver tonic I have ever used, and after taking a thorough course nature asserts itself and you are not left in a constipated condition that follows a lot of other active medicines. This is one thing I like especially about it."

For over seventy years Thedford's Black-Draught has been in use for many simple ailments, and to-day is a recognized standard remedy in thousands of family medicine chests. It will pay you to keep Black-Draught in the house for use when needed.

Your druggist sells it.

DON'T DRUG KIDNEYS RUB BACKACHE AWAY

Instant Relief! Rub Pain, Soreness, and Stiffness from Your Back with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Kidneys cause backache? No! They have no nerves, therefore cannot cause pain. Listen! Your back-ache is caused by lumbago, sciatica, or a strain; and the quickest relief is soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment." Rub it right on the ache or tender spot, and instantly the pain, soreness, stiffness, and lameness disappear. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" from your druggist and limber up. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache, sciatica, or lumbago pain. "St. Jacobs Liniment" stops any pain at once. It is harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

It's the only application to rub on a weak, lame, or painful back, or for lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, sprains, or a strain.

CHURCH NEWS

Alabama.

Brewton, January 12.—I preached last Lord's day at Greenville, and made my home with Brother Tom Butts, who treated me with brotherly love. I also formed acquaintance with other brethren and sisters. I am in the evangelistic work, and I want to keep busy. Brethren, can we not open the eyes of our understanding and see the condition of the unsaved, and our own condition if we fail to do all we can to save them? I am giving my time wherever I can get an opportunity to preach Jesus Christ, and I want to be found working when I am called away.—G. W. Jarrett.

Florida.

Taft, January 8.—I came to this State last September. I began preaching on September 14 at Pinecastle in a union house controlled by castle in a union house controlled by the Methodists, but they ruled us out by taking our day. We now meet in Orlando in a private house. I preach every Lord's day. We hope to secure a larger house soon. Last Lord's day was the coldest day we have had this winter, but we had thirteen members present and quite a number of oth-ers. I met Brother Fountain, from Sanford, the first one of our preach Sanford, the first one of our preachers I have met in this State. We had a delightful service. I can accept work at other places. I have my pri-vate conveyance. I can reach any place within fifty miles of Orlando, or will go to any place for meetings. I have married since I came here, and live at my wife's country home, one mile from Taft. I would be glad to hear from brethren wanting meetings. Address me at Taft, Fla.—G. B. Lam-

Iowa.

Davenport, 1207 Pershing Avenue, January 4.—I would be glad to keep the place of our meeting before the readers of the Gospel Advocate to help guide Christians coming this way to the right place of worship. We meet at 510½ Brady Street. I hunted up a man and wife last night in Moline, Ill., who said that some one told them before they came here there was a little congrecame here there was a little congregation worshiping in a hall some-where in Davenport, but he did not know where. There are only a few of us, and we now have to pay eight of us, and we now have to pay eight dollars per month rent, and a sign, telling people who pass our way where we worship, cost us four dollars and fifty cents. Hence this month's expense has already been twelve dollars and fifty cents, besides my car fare hunting for every one I can hear of whom we think might come. So if there are any who may be interested to fellowship us in this be interested to fellowship us in this mission work, we will be thankful. Two persons were present to-day who had never been present before.—J. C.

Texas.

Fort Worth, January 12.—Yesterday was a cold, rainy day, and the attendance at all the services was light; but on general principles we are doing well at the Southside-Central Church. I preached at Nocona on New Year's Day, and never did I have so royal a welcome, after being away eight months. My wife is bedfast almost all the time now, and added to her other allments is a severe hear a present of the second of the seco vere burn received on December 30. She is gradually failing, it seems, and has about given up hope of getting well. May we not try for greater things this year and push the claims of our Lord into new terri-God bless you all.-Tice Eltory? kins.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

Our hands in His we place; Our faith's strong, piercing eye Looks up into His tender face Who whispers: "It is I."

And dauntless, where the fires are lit, And where death's sickles reap, We move along, for it is writ: "The Shepherd leads his sheep."

-Exchange

Minister Builds Church Out of Profits from "More Eggs"

Burkettsville, Ohio.—D. A. Schweitzer, a local pastor, writes: "Inclosed please find check for 'More Eggs' Tonic. My school sisters and myself have tried your tonic for chickens and found it extraordinarily good. I have about ninety farmers in my parish, and shall try to induce them to use 'More about the work." and shall try to induce them to use 'More Eggs' Tonic, which undoubtedly they will, if once used, keep up, for it pays well. The profits I make will be used for the new church I am building."

church I am building."

Reefer's "More Eggs" Tonic has made big egg profits for thousands of poultry raisers all over the United States. It revitalizes the hens, tones them up, and makes them lay all the time, no matter how cold or damp the weather. Get ready now and make big profits out of your hens this winter.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, $251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs." one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

Christmas at Belle Haven Orphan Home, of Luling, Texas.

BY MRS. JENNIE CLARKE.

On Christmas Eve the attractive scene presented will long linger on the tablets of memory. Around a stately live-oak tree clustered small evergreens; yet, with all the decorative power of the artist, everything paled when we turned our eyes upon the group of happy, chattering children made joyous by the tokens of love from friends at home and churches of Christ and friends in other sections of our country. Each was eager to receive some hoped-for gift. I thought of Jesus, who loved little children and so tenderly said: "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of heaven." For a moment I wished I were a child again, free from care; and suddenly the lines of a familiar poet flitted across my mind, who said:

Alas, how often back We turn on life's bewildering track To where over hill and valley plays The sunlight of our early days!

An interesting program was rendered, consisting of songs and recitations, by the little tots who had been well coached by our faithful and enthusiastic Christmas-tree worker, Sister Annie Peters.

We extend sincere thanks and appreciation to friends and the church of Christ for their gifts, and wish all a happy and prosperous New Year.

The Potter Orphan Home Car.

BY H. C. SHOULDERS.

Previously reported, $201.60. H. H. Adamson, Tennessee, $1; J. Luther Campbell, Ohio, $1; Goldie B. Cook, Ohio, $1; Mrs. Martha Pace, Kentucky, $2; Leon Pace, Kentucky, 50 cents; L. D. Hisle and wife, Kentucky, $1; Frank Townsend, Indiana, $1; Mrs. Lena Werner, Indiana, 50 cents; church at Salem, Ind., $7.50; church at Owen's Chapel, Tenn., $23.50; Mrs. T. N. Todd and Sundayschool class, Kentucky, $2; church at Red Boiling Springs, Tenn., $5; church at Beech Grove, Jackson County, Tenn., $7.50; "People," Lily Dale, Ind., $6; church at Danville, Ill., $25; church at Sugar Creek, Ky., $16; E. E. Kranz, Kentucky, $5; Lott girls, Indiana, $3; Mrs. George Leach, Indiana, $1; "In His Name," South Tunnel, Tenn., $2; church at Cookeville, Tenn., $10; M. J. Smith, Georgia, $1; church at Oakland, Tenn., $7.20; W. B. McQuiddy, Tennessee, $10; Mrs. W. T. McInteer's Sunday-school class, Kentucky, $7; Mrs. B. H. Vaughan, Kentucky, $1; through the Christian Leader, $7; J. M. Arterburn, California, $1; Mrs. Sarah A. Soper, Missouri, $15; T. M.

Let Them Starve and Die!—IF —you care nothing for the teachings of the Christ who was born only a few miles from the land where these 250,000 orphans are facing death from starvation-Armenia.

-you think you can enjoy for yourself the few dollars that may be the price of a baby's life.

-you can speak of the greatness of America and still allow your country to abandon these children whose fathers kept back the Turkish army and saved the Allied cause in the East.

-you can sleep in comfort in your warm bed while thousands of children wrap thin tattered rags about their shrivelled bodies when they seek a little rest in the roadside caves.

But You DO Care-You WILL NOT Let Them Starve

The offering for the aid of these 250,000 homeless victims of Mohammedan persecution will be taken in the Schools of your church as early in the new year as possible. See that your church is not silent when America responds to the appeal of the children of Bible Lands.

(Formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief)

CLEVELAND H. DODGE, Treasurer

1 Madison Avenue

New York City

This advertisement is privately paid for by a friend of the Armenian people.

Smith, Georgia, $1; R. P. Thurman, Tennessee, $2; church at Lamine, Mo., $21; Sister Lou Hockstettler, Indiana, 50 cents; Mrs. Belle Chaney, Indiana, $2.50; church at Worthington, Ky., $5.

Neutralizes Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. In order to be cured of rheumatism, it is necessary to neutralize this acid. RENWAR is a scientific combination of saits prepared to neutralize the uric acid in the blood. There is nothing in Renwar to injure the stomach or affect the heart. It acts solely upon uric acid, completely eliminating it from the blood and thereby relieving your rheumatism. It is harmless, but effective. Positively guaranteed by money-back offer. It is a Godsend to sufferers from rheumatism. Renwar also corrects constipation. Mr. J. M. Willis, of the Nashville Railway and Light Company, says: "I must say that Renwar far surpassed my expectations, for it gave me almost immediate relief. Too much cannot be spoken in behalf of Renwar for rheumatism." Sold by druggists (price, 50 cents) or by mail from WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Praying is the clearing of the blocked roads which are crowded with all sorts of worldly hindrances. It is the preparing of the way of the Lord. When I turn to the Lord in prayer, I open the doors and windows of my soul toward the heavenlies, and I open them for the reception of any gifts of grace which God's holy love may wish me to receive. My reverent thought and prayer perfect communion between my soul and God .- J. H. Jowett.

A peaceable man doth more good than he that is well learned.—Thomas à Kempis.

To Cure a Cold in One Day Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets.) It stops the Cough and Headache and works off the Cold. E.W. GROVE'S signature on each box. 30c.

Rheumatism

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY
ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remady after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this maryelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON,
No. 471F Gurney Bidg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Electric Vitalizer

Answer to Brother Beasley's Questions.

BY CHARLES L. TALLEY.

In the Gospel Advocate of December 18, on page 1273, in an article written by Brother W. T. Beasley, are three questions that he wants me to answer for him. Now, as it is a part of my nature to always do what I can for one that calls on me to do so, I very gladly comply with this request.

I have no desire to enter into any newspaper controversy with Brother Beasley or any one else over this matter, for our papers are already overburdened with things that are not very edifying to the saints; but it would be no little pleasure to me to thoroughly discuss this matter in another way or at another time.

So to the questions we turn our attention:

(1) "Please tell us, are you a Godappointed preacher or evangelist?" Yes.

(2) "If so, please tell us how, when, and where you received such an appointment." (a) I was sent out by the elders of my home congregation. (See Rom. 10: 14, 15; Acts 13: 1-5). (b) A.D. 1893. (c) My home congregation, in Lincoln County, Tenn. This congregation's letters of commendation I carried pasted to the lid of my Bible for twelve or fifteen years, or, at least, until I was quite well known to the brotherhood.

(3) "Please give us chapter and verse for salary-paid preachers." You will find it in the next verse, same chapter, where you find the authority to sing two songs, read a portion of the Scripture, have a prayer, another song, then a sermon, then an invitation, then an announcement, then a benediction. Now, if you do not find it all here in this chapter, please turn over to the chapter that authorizes you to go around and "settle four bad church troubles," thus usurping the work of the elders in any local congregation. You might read just here Christ's admonition in Matt. 18: 15-23.

I wish to say that I am not personally acquainted with Brother Beasley; hence, nothing personal; but the principle I call attention to.

For Colds or Influenza

and as a Preventative, take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

IS CURABLE. Write me to-day, and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the litching and heals permanently. DE. CANNADAY, 1226 Park Square, Sedalia, Me.

THE MISERY OF BACKACHE

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Muskegon, Mich.—"For six years I was so weak in my back at times that I could hardly walk.
Lydia E. Pinkham's

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recom-mended to me and it made me good and strong again so that I am able to do all my work. I highly my work. I highly recommend your medicine and tell everyone I meet what it did for me." -Mrs. G. SCHOON-

FIELD, 240 Wood Ave, Muskegon, Mich.

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

IS PLEASANT TO TAKE, and sooths the raw, inflamed surfaces; stops the rasping, strangling feeling in the throat. It is made of the purest, freshest and finest ingredients to be had, con-tains no opiates or other harmful drugs, costs twice as much to make as any imitation of it.

Every User a Friend

"My little boy had a severe attack of croup and I honestly believe he would have died if it had not been for Folcy's Honey and Ter. Two doses relieved him and he went to sleep and was troubled no more."—Mrs. W. H. Thornton, 3523 W. 10th St., Little Rock, Ark.

"I am in my eighty-seventh year and I was troubled with a tickling in my throat. I amvery glad to tell you that Foley's Honey and Tar has stopped that."—Geo. P. Randall, Dayton, Nev.

Foley's Honey and Tar is recommended for coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe and bronchial

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS.

BUY SERUM direct from the manufacturers and be assured of a fresh, ble product. United States Veterreliable product. United States Veter-inary License No. 114; long-distance phone. Main 2569, Nashville, Tenn. Write for 90-page Hog Book; it is FREE. WHITE SERUM COMPANY.

TETTERINE

Clears Baby's Skin

and drives off the rash and pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back, or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder week-

Jad Salts is inexpensive. It cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

The Nature of Man. No. 2.

BY TICE ELKINS.

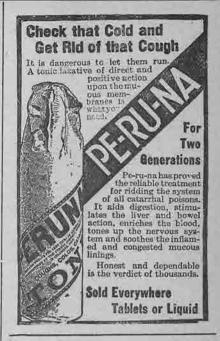

Science and revelation combine to assure us that the entire created universe of God is composed of both matter and spirit, two distinct and independent substances. Each of these possesses peculiar and striking characteristics which distinguish it from the other.

If it be asked what is meant by matter, or what matter is, we must confess that we know not what constitutes its essence. In this respect its ontology is beyond our reach; and the only advance we find it possible to make is to point out some of the properties of matter as discerned by our senses and to exhibit some of the laws by which it is governed. Thus we say it possesses extension, impenetrability, inertia, and form, and that it is subject to laws of gravitation and cohesive attraction. Behind these properties we cannot go to explore the essence of that in which they inhere; for these properties, as addressed to the senses, are the only media through which we become acquainted with its existence.

Matter thus defined and thus made known makes up the material universe. And the human body itself, though curiously and wonderfully made, is only one of the modifications under which matter exists. The spirit may claim affinity with the skies; but the body, though its form be erect and stately, its front bold and daring, may say to corruption, "Thou art my father," and to the worm, "Thou art my mother and sister," for the grave is its home and its bed made in darkness.

The gross earth on which we tread is the first and primal form of matter. The rank luxuriance of vegetation, which clothes the earth with new and living beauty, presents only a modification of the form under which matter exists. And if we advance still further and observe those bodies which are endowed with the peculiar honor of being the abodes of animal and sentient life, whether it be the body of man or beast, still it is matter, changed in form and relations and not in nature. It is matter still, only existing under a new and greatly modified form. Nor can the matter by any possible transformation be made to lose its distinctive characteristics and assume the higher prerogatives of spirit. Change it as

I HAVE Just say it if you have CATARRH booklet giving the final solution in a nutshellfree. Just what you are looking for, just what you need, just what you must have to get rid of this dan-Inclose this slip and gerous disease. E. J. WORST, Box 22, Ashland, Ohio.

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustrations. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural illustrations, such as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy There are twelve of these Women." monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustra-tion on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sun-days. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, enables one to select one of seven calfor use in each of 200 years endars from 1800 to 2002. The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers, the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the name of some prospective business student. In writing, mention this paper.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

Sage Tea Darkens Hair to Any Shade

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody Can Apply

The use of sage and sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded, or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Com-pound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Dilr Big Value Collection—25c postpaid—contains one packet of each of the following varieties: Sweet Alyssum, Dwarf Nasturtium, African Marigold, Fine
Mixed Petunia Single Mixed Portulaca, Double Mixed Zinnia, Phlox Drummondli, Giant Mixed Cosmos. The collection if purchased separately would cost 49c.

Send Today for Our Free Garden Guide Tells what, when and how to plant for best re-sults. Shows how to make your garden cut the cost of living.

Free Flower Seeds with Orders of 50c and over Robert Buist Co., Dept. R. L., Philadelphia, Pa.

NO JOKE TO BE DEAF

you may; condense, attenuate, or refine it as you please, it will be matter still. The essential properties of matter will still remain, while the higher indications of intellect will nowhere appear.

Man, then, possesses a body composed of matter under the various modifications of bones, flesh, and blood. The limestone that forms his bony substance is not different from that found in the mountain ridges of the earth and the coral beds of the ocean. Then, too, what are the softer elements of the body but a combination of oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, carbonic acid, with a little sulphur, iron, and quartz? From these are formed the fibrin of the muscle, the albumen of the brain and the nerves. the gelatinous substances and the fat of the body, and even the blood which circulates in the veins and arteries. Indeed, such are the materials entering into the composition of the human body, and such are the proportions in which these materials are combined, that of the whole weight, when its parts are separated, three-fourths are water. But, again, what is this wonderful structure, the human body, but a mechanical instrument? The bones are levers, the blood vessels are hydraulic tubes, and the muscles are the connecting links through which motive power is applied, and even the nerves are only the unconscious wires of telegraphic communication.

Then, too, in his mere physical organization, man has but little advantage of the brute creation. His symmetry is no more perfect than that of many species in the animal creation. His organs are no more perfectly adapted to their ends; his joints have no finer articulation, nor his sinews no firmer texture. Nay, even the organs of sense are often less delicate and acute in man than in the brute. A modern writer puts this matter in a very forcible light: "The body of man lacks the massy strength of the elephant and the whale; it cannot rival the muscles of the lion; the antelope and the greyhound are far more graceful. Man has no pinions to mount on high; he cannot live in the deep. The falcon has a keener eye; the grouse, a quicker ear; the dog, a more discerning smell; the bat, a more susceptible touch; and of all the beasts, the most hideous is that which resembles him most in form, gestures, and visage."

Nor is the body of man any more guarded against liability to accident and change. In none of these respects can we claim any advantage for poor human nature. The beasts of the field perish, and so does man. Indeed, in whatever form matter exists, it is liable to change. Even the granite bulwarks of the everlasting hills crumble away with the lapse of

Can it, then, be wonderful time. that the fine and delicate workmanship of the human body should wear away with the friction of time and use, or, when long exposed to the action of the elements, should fall into decay? How little honor, then, should be attached to the mere material organic body! This is not the man.

Did we stop here, much as we might admire the beautiful organism of our bodies, interested as we might be in its complicated machinery, and as important as might be the scientific theories evolved, still it would be but a sad account we could give of the nature and destiny of man. The purpose of his animal existence here may be accomplished in a few years, and then the worn-out machinery is laid aside and forgotten; it wastes away in the charnel house of the dead. "I said in mine heart concerning the estate of the sons of men, that God might manifest them, and they might see that they themselves are beasts. For that which befalleth the sons of men befalleth the beasts; even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, so dieth the other; yea, they have all one breath; so that a man hath no preëminence over a beast: for all is vanity. All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again." (Eccles. 3: 18-20.) But yet there is a wide and eternal distinction between the man and the beast. "Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, or the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?" (Eccles. 3; 21.)

In my next article I will take up the discussion of the soul of man and attempt to show what the great and wide distinction between man and brute is.

100 Eggs a Day in Winter

Miss Vera Bowman, of Rochelle, Va., writes: "I received my 'More Eggs' Tonic about the 5th of January, and am so well pleased with it I am malling you $1 for another box. I have about 150 hens and get anywhere from $0 to 100 eggs daily, one day over 100."

Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. "More Eggs" is a scientific tonic that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens lay all the time. "More Eggs" will double the production of eggs. Poultry raisers everywhere are making big profits by giving their hens "More Eggs." The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you. If you send $1 to E. J. Reeter, the poultry expert, $251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs," one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a doilar to-day on this free-package offer, Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

CHURCH ENVELOPES,
Double and single envelope systems.
Samples and prices sent upon request.
Double Envelope Corporation, Sessets, Is

FIELD REPORTS

West Virginia.

Buffalo, January 2.—During December I received additions to our church building fund as follows: From W. M. E. Walker, $3; E. H. Ward, $1; church at Chandler, Texas, $10; Charles T. Powell, $2; Mr. Watson, $5; Mrs. Katie Jones, $1; J. F. Boyd, $5; H. F. Mustain and others, $10; church at Greenfield, Tenn., $20; Mrs. Bertie Smith. $5; church at Mrs. Bertie Smith, $5; church at Castalian Springs, $15; Miss Dulcenia Purvis, $10; church at Peoria, Ohio, $25; O. C. Bradshaw, $1; church at Ink, Ark., $2; church at Greenwood, Tenn., $10; church at Corinth, Tenn., $3. Please note that certain personal donations are not included in the above. They will be reconstructed. certain personal donations are not included in the above. They will be reported later. If anything is left out, please notify me. Aside from this, I wish to report personal help as follows: From W. G. Lea, $1; Mrs. Sarah Drummond, $1; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith, $1; Aubrey Hunter, $1; Miss Bettie Robinson, $1; E. E. Johnson and Halen I. Hammack. $2; Roy. son and Helen J. Hammack, $2; Roy son and Helen J. Hammack, $2; Roy Robinson, 50 cents; "A Sister," Maury City, Tenn., $1; Mrs. E. M. Huffman, $1; Mrs. C. L. Camp and others, $2; A. M. George, $2; Mrs. M. E. Henry, $3; church at Dyersburg, Tenn., $15; Mrs. Laura V. Odom, $1; Mrs. Alice L. Miller, $5. We are very thankful for this help. Please let it continue until we are safe here. Address me at Buffalo, W. Va., Box 81. Always state what your offering is for. We are anxious to increase our church building fund.—F. P. Fonner. P. Fonner.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, January 12.—We had a good service yesterday despite the cold weather and the snow. There was one addition and one confession. A man forty years of age came forward with the request to be buried with his Lord in baptism next Lord's day. So it may be seen that we are making progress despite all hindering causes. On account of a sore throat, I did not preach in the evening. Brother G. C. Parham delivered a sermon then, and he did it well.-J. A. Hudson.

Sunday brings to many a busy man his best opportunity to show what he is. On week days, for the most part, one does what he must do; on Sundays, in greater or less degree, one does what he prefers to do. That is why his use of Sunday is profoundly significant.—Exchange.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price 60c.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

Praise.

BY B. F. M. SOURS.

To thee, O Christ of love, I lift my heart above. With thankfulness always, With happy songs of praise.

I give thee all my heart; O, take me where thou art! I sing to thee always; I lift my song of praise.

To thee, O Christ, to thee, Who art my victory, I bow, I sing always My psalmody of praise,

Life is most beautiful and noble, not when its environment is most splendid, but when it is nourished by the highest thought and the purest loves. -Selected.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST

Although there are hundreds of preparations advertised, there is only one that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Klimer's Swamp-Root is not recommendation constitutions.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything.

A sworn certificate of purity is with every potule. You may receive a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten eents.

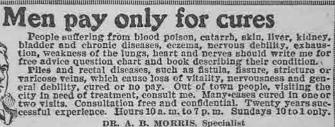

For sale at all drug stores in large and medium size bottles, also mention this paper.

Unurch Furniture WORK OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY AT REASONABLE PRICES Write for Catalogue BUDDE & WEIS MFG. CO.

Thou wilt always rejoice in the evening, if thou hast spent the day profitably.—Thomas à Kempis.

JACKSON, TENNESSEE

DR. A. B. MORRIS, Specialist Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts.

Atlanta, Ga.

SOLD FOR 50 YEARS For MALARIA, CHILLS and

Also a Fine General Strengthening Tonic. SOLD BY ALL DRUG STORES-

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the labora-tories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the high-enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new clixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoon two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.-Adv.)

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK

giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fail. Write for this book today. CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY, Dept. 74 Atlanta, Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Realized Ambition.

BY PRIDE E. HINTON.

When I was a boy thirteen or fourteen years of age, my highest ambition was to be a true gospel preacher; and how well I remember one of my very dearest friends, Brother J. Henry Horton, speaking encouraging words to me! On one occasion he was talking with an unreasonable sectarian, and I, standing by, could not refrain from quoting a verse of scripture which was needing. This man insulted me my saying that "little boys should be quiet "-that they did not know enough to talk on the Bible. And then how Brother Horton reproved him and encouraged me to study more and make a good preacher! And, brethren, I have always loved that man and held him as my ideal. But he could not be near me, and there was no active congregation near, no one to encourage me but my good father and dear old mother. With no encouragement except from home. my desire to preach the blessed truth became weaker and weaker, being supplanted by other ambitions, until I was called to the United States Army, and in that sad hour of parting with my precious loved ones Brother Horton again comforted me. I told him I absolutely would not use carnal weapons, and asked of him his prayers for the ordeal through which I must pass. How sweet was the comforting assurance of both his and Brother M. A. Creel's prayers, and, indeed, of the whole of my home congregation!

Well, I demanded a noncombatant service and obtained it. Last January I returned home; and during our meeting last August, Brother Horton again urged me to start preaching. I permitted him to announce that I would make a short talk on the third Sunday in August, and since that time I have been busy nearly every Lord's day.

Brethren, we need more men and women who "walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us" (Eph. 5: 2); who believe that "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance (Gal. 5: 22, 23); and who also believe these words of the blessed Christ: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mark 16: 15). Are we doing it? No, there are millions who have never heard the true gospel preached, and all because we do not strictly follow Christ and walk in love. Let's wake up! Read Ezek. 3: 18.

Old People Who Are Feeble and Children Who Are Pale and Weak

Would be greatly benefited by the General Strength-ening Tonic Effect of GROVE'S TASTELESS chir TONIC. It purifies and enriches the blood of a builds up the whole system. A General Strength-ening Tonic for Adults and Children. 60c.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made. Here's an easy way to saye $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why shousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how guickly

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at $16 Fourth Street. Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epilepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no good. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that cured me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned. I wish every one who suffers from this torrible disease would write to R. P. N. Lepso, 198 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, free to any one who writes him."—Advt.

GET READY FOR "FILL"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling. fine with a hearty appetite for break fast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

GALL STONES improved method of transition that is a full Madder and Gall Duck associated with Gall-Stones Remarkable results reported by hundreds of artificial gall-stones Remarkable results reported by hundreds of artificial patients, WHITE TODAY FOR FREE BOOM AND FRUE TRIAL OFFER.

OF The E. PADDOCK P. O. BOS VO Lansus City. Mo.

Memories of a Sister.

BY KATE KILLEBREW.

There is frolic and revelry of every description this New-Year's Eve.

The old year 1919 has brought sorrow unspeakable to our home and hearts, and we would gladly ring out the old year if it took the sadness with it; but-alas!-it does not.

One year ago there was nothing but happiness in our humble home. But Death came last July and robbed us of our darling Eva. She suffered so much and so long, but bore it with patience and Christian fortitude. We feel such a deep regret that she was taken so young and tender in years, and we are too human to look at it always from the spiritual side, and consequently our hearts are bowed down with grief. This life has not the charms for us that it had before she went. But we never knew heaven was so sweet till one of our treasures was taken there, and she stands before us in all we do as a guiding star and beacon light to bring us home. She lived such a beautiful, devoted, Christian life, and died the most beautiful death that we have ever

When she said, "I'm dying. Kiss me good-by. Don't cry; smile with me. I'm going home to rest with God, to walk the golden streets. All of you prepare to meet me there "-then in spirit the veil was lifted and we could see with her across the cold, dark river of death and see our dear Eva sweetly basking in the heavenly sunshine of God. We saw her frail little body and face (which showed to us how she had suffered), full, fair, and beautiful, and can see her outstretched hands beckoning us to come to the blessed home of the soul, where we, too, may be free from suffering and death and live there together, a reunited family, with God forever. This is a sweet consolation, and our only one.

While this great sorrow of our lives takes away our happiness here, this is but for a moment and will make our bliss sweeter in the eternal home, and Eva will be to us even more beautiful there.

Mother's Ally.

There is always one good remedy on the family medicine shelf that mother can use in all accidents and mishaps to the mem-bers of the family. Burns, bruises, cuts, stings, bolls, sores, and various forms of skin eruption are quickly soothed and steadlly healed with Gray's Ointment. Its constant use for a hundred years has made if a family word in every household. You should keep a box of it on your shelf for emergencies. If your druggist cannot supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Building, Nashville, Tenn., and a liberal sample will be immediately sent you

Renew Your Subscription to the Gospel Advocate To-Day.

SEVERE COUGH PAIN IN SIDE

tors for me and none of them did me any good. Some said I had comsumption and others said I would have to have an opera-have to have an operation. I was down—unable to sit up from the first of April to about the latter part of September—and was nothing but a live skeleton. My husband wrote to Dr. Pierce stating the case, and told what the doctors had said. He replied, advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. When I had taken one bottle of the 'Discovery' I could sit up for an hour at a time and when I had taken three bottles I could do my cooking and tend to the children. I continued its use and was then in good health.

"I recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all my neighbors and to everyone who suffers as I did."—MRS. W. DORN.

TIRED AND WORN-OUT

Memphis, Tenn.:—I can highly recom-mend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis-covery to any one in need of a tonic. I used to be very frail and delicate when I was young and whenever I would become exceedingly tired and worn-out I would take a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery'. It never once failed to put new life in me and restore me to perfect health."-MRS. CATHERINE SCHAEDLE, 2076 Carr

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., stands behind this standard medicine. When you take Golden Medical Discovery, you are getting the benefit of the experience of a doctor whose reputation goes all around the earth. Still more, you get a temperance medicine. All druggists. Liquid or Tablets.

Big Salary For

The Government or business concerns will start you on $1,100.00 to $1,500.00 a year as bookkeeper or stenographer—this we guarantee—or $2,400.00 to $5,000.00 as accountant when we train you. Thousands of positions to be filled. By a new method, indorsed by business men, we train you by mail or at our office within half usual time. Three hundred thousand Draughon-trained have made good. Clip and send this notice for particulars. Address DRAUGHON'S COLLEGE, 210-T, Nashville, Tenn.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Ruptured?

Throw Away Your Truss!

For Many Years We Have Been Telling You That No Truss Will Ever Help You---We Have Told You the Harm That Trusses Are Doing. We Have Told You That the Only Truly Comfortable and Scientific Device for Holding Rupture Is the Brooks Rupture Appliance-and That It Is

Sent On Trial To Prove It

If you have tried most everything else, come to us. Where others fail is where we have our greatest success. Send attached coupon today and we will send you free our illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing our Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, we use no salves, no harness, no lies.

We send on trial to prove what we say is true. You are the judge and once having seen our illustrated book and read it you will be as enthusiastic as our hundreds of patients whose letters you can also read. Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try our Appliance or not.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir — Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and sung, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted isself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly naver regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am, Yours very sincerely,

JAMES A BRITTION.

Cured in Six Months After 18 Years

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir —I never wore the appliance a minute over six months and was cured sound and well—and I want to say no man ever did any harder work than I did while I was using it—I hanked 40 perch of rock, too big for any man to lift.

I was ruptured 18 years and words cannot tell how thankful I am. Use my name if you like.

Yours sincerely, RUFUS FIELDS, R. R. No. 1.

Others Failed but the Appliance Cured

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectfully,

The Above is C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks Cured Himself of Rupture Over 30 Years Ago and Patented the Appliance from His Personal Experi-ence. If Ruptured, Write Today to the Brooks Appliance Co., Marshall, Mich.

WM. PATTERSON. No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

"Results are Marvelous"

C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I tried all kinds of trusses without any relief until I bought your Appliance. The results are marvelous, and I praise God that you may live long and prosper, and may help suffering humanity as you did me. You can use this letter as you think best and I will answer any inquiry that is made with a stamped envelope enclosed.

My age is 65 years. Yours very truly,

V. C. JUMP,

180 Linden Ave., Middletown, N. Y.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Jansen St., Dubuque, Iowa.
Brooks Rupture Appliance Co.
Gentlemen:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your Appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four mos. and has not worn it now for six weeks.

Yours very truly,

ANDREW EGGENBERGER.

Ten Reasons Why

You Should Send for Brooks Rupture Appliance

- It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that in-ventors have sought after for years.
- 2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.
- Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.
- Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumber-some or ungainly.
- 5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.
- The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.
- 7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes solied it can be washed without injuring it in the least.

 8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.
- bruising the flesh.

 9. All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

 10. Our reputation for honesty and fair dealing is so thoroughly established by an experience of over thirty years of dealing with the public, and our prices are so reasonable, our terms so fair, that there certainty should be no hesitancy in sending free coupon today.

Remember

We send our Appliance on trial to prove what we say is true. You are to be the judge. Fill out free coupon below and mail today.

Free Information Coupon

BROOKS APPLIANCE CO.

443-F State St., Marshall, Mich.

Please send me by mail in plain wrap-per your illustrated book and full in-formation about your Appliance for the cure of rupture.

Name
City

R. F. D. State.....

Volume LXII. No. 5.

NASHVILLE, TENN., JANUARY 29, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

Studies in Church History	97
Our Contributors	98
	103
At Home and Abroad	104
Editorial	105
Relief Fund	108
Georgia and the Far Southern Field	109
Louisiana Notes	111
Thoughts Along the Way	112
The Master's Vineyard	113
"Scarcity of Preachers"	114
Church News	116
Obituaries	117
The Dearth of Preachers	118
Revelation (No. 1)	119
A Good Man in Treuble	120

Studies in Church History

By A. B. L.

Greek Philosophy.

A study of Greek preparation for Christ would not be complete without reference to her philosophers. Greek thought is her most perennial contribution to all time. Hers is the most profound and comprehensive philosophy ever produced by one people, and is the result of twelve hundred years of seeking. We have its whole history before us: we can trace the steps by which they offered one solution of the problem of man and the universe after another, and finally how philosophy raised questions which only Christ could answer.

I do not have here to go into details further than to mention three of the leading schools. In point of discipline, the teaching of the Stoics was a splendid preparation of the empire for Christianity. They taught that only the inner values count, that Nature and God are one. In order to be happy, one must keep down the body. Repression is the secret of good fortune. Virtue is the one all-important requisite. Men should do right though neither gods nor men behold their action. Health, disease, pain, poverty, and wealth are neither good nor ill unless they are translated into character. Man's sufficiency is in himself, and there he must find it. Seneca says: "I do not obey God; I consent with him." We can readily see that this was a very fine philosophy for the strong, but it had no message for the weak. People are not saved by sermonizing.

The Epicureans, on the other hand, made pleasure the summum bonum. "Follow nature," they said; but nature prompts us to dodge pain and pursue pleasure. Salvation, as they saw it, was confined to this life; there is no place of repentance, no room for hope. The soul is a composite of the rarer and finer atoms which are to be dissipated at death. The inevitable conclusion was: "Eat, drink, and be merry; for to-morrow we die." The most evil consequent of this baneful philosophy was its cultivation of the sordid. If one follows it, he may live in a pigsty and call it heaven.

I should mention the Sophists, because from their teaching we derive our famous word "sophistry." They were the "don't-care" philosophers. They were skeptical of everything, yet ready to take every side and debate anything. They said that each may do what is right in his own eyes. They were skilled in making the worst appear to be the better reason. (Isa. 5: 20.) We are reminded of the question which a famous criminal lawyer asked his prospective client: "Are you guilty?" "Why, certainly," the man replied; "that is why I come to you. If I was innocent, I could afford to employ a cheaper lawyer." It was the Sophists who put Socrates to death. Sophistry is always despicable and unworthy of right-thinking men; for logic clipping has never been and will never be mental culture.

0 0 0

Three Great Names.

Three great names stand out in Greek philosophy above all others—Socrates, Plato, Aristotle.

Socrates exposed the shams of the Sophists by the dialectic method. He sought knowledge for the practical purposes of moral reformation. His philosophy is embodied in his famous formula, "Know thyself." Moral ideas must be reduced to deeds; self-acquaintance must be had in terms of right and wrong. He advocated the freedom of man's will and the right of private judgment. He held up before men a divine standard. "I must obey God rather than you," he said to his judges. And he died for the principle.

Plato found his only reality in ideas. To him there was no reality except in the ideal world. Man must have one crowning idea. This idea he called the "highest good." It was really a magnificent suggestion. Spell his key word with a capital "G," drop an "o," and you have "God." His conception of the highest life was to be "godlike." The main thing was the soul. The body he considered to be a handicap. Plato was often tormented by the dualism of human nature. How could spiritual man ever become so forgetful of his true home? Plato's answer was: "Because of the flesh, which we must put off to see God." It is the answer of Paul, who said: "The carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be." The words of Augustine are truly Platonic: "Thou hast made us for thyself, and our hearts are restless till they rest in thee."

Aristotle has been called "the sanest thinker of Greece." He was the enemy of the ascetic ideal as against the social and energetic. He varied from Plato in teaching that we are to find ideas in the concrete things around us. He insisted on workaday goodness and a rounded life. While Plato stressed otherworldliness, Aristotle brought the kingdom of God upon earth. He was the apostle of practical investigation. "Show me thy faith apart from thy works," he said, "and I by my works will show thee my faith." Thus we see how these three great philosophers brought their three great contributions to Greek thought, Socrates brought morality, Plato brought religious life, and Aristotle brought the practical quest.

0 0 0

The Supreme Defect.

While their names shall always have an honored place in our history and while their teachings shall always be fruitful for good in a measure, yet we cannot close our eyes to their supreme defect. It lies in the fact that they placed too much stress upon mental knowledge and believed implicitly that education will solve all the problems of life. Education apart from the Christian religion is too often a curse rather than a blessing. It is sadly true that some of the deepest thinkers have led the most shameful lives. Over against all their teaching I place in reverent gratitude the words of the blessed Savior: "I thank thee, Father, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes."

As we read the stirring history of the Greeks we are reminded in many ways of ourselves. The spirit of the restless Greek is the spirit of the restless American. There is manifest in every place the same emphasis upon natural beauty and individualistic gain. There is the same interest in athletics; the same inquisitive and speculative mind; the same old question, "What's the news?" the same danger of being carried away with every wind of doctrine; the same deceit of human philosophy; the same running after the pleasures of the world; the same Epicurean standard of morals; the same neglect of home, of duty, and of God. The only thing that could save the Greeks is the thing that must save us, if we are saved at all. "For the word of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us who are saved it is the power of God."

Book Notices.

Send us $1.25 for a copy of "Instrumental Music in the Worship," by M. C. Kurfees.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

For $1.25 you can buy a copy of "Life and Sermons of Jesse L. Sewell," by David Lipscomb. It is a good book.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study." Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company. Nashville, Tenn.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in large, clear type. The book is substantially bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.

The Personal Element in Mission Work.

BY F. W. SMITH.

The following letter became misplaced, else it would have appeared before now:

Petersburg, Tenn., December 12, 1919.—F. W. Smith.—
Dear Brother: I have just read your comment on "A Plea for Greater Missionary Effort." While I appreciate all you sentence: "I am more concerned about myself in this par-I have been ticular than I am about the other fellow." saying this a good deal of late in my preaching, and I have thought of it more in reading the articles on the dearth and support of the preacher. It looks like everybody is wanting the other fellow to do something. I know there is a great deal to be done. But what am I doing? With reference to the eleven missionaries of our plea. That may be correct when it comes to "our plea;" but when we turn to those who know and do "as it is written," does anybody know how many are at work? Elijah thought everybody had gone wrong but him, but there were seven thousand others there who had not bowed to Baal.

Just at this point I remember several years ago, "when you and I were in our knee breeches as preachers," one of those preachers that wanted to go all the gaits reported that there were only three churches in one of our Middle Tennessee counties. He was here a short while when he wrote this and sent it to the paper. A brother who had spent his life in the county told of thirteen churches in the same county. I could give names; but it has been so long that that some of the knowing ones would call it in question, and I do not want to hunt up the old papers. I often, when they begin to tell what they are doing, tell them about this case. They used to report our work with theirs to make it sound big. I know men who are doing mission work who are not known out of their immediate neighborhood.

I will not bother you longer. I wanted to say something, I am still in the war and expect to remain. May the Lord continue to bless you. B. F. HART.

The author of this letter is one of God's noblemen, a man who has done much in the maintenance of the simplicity and purity of New Testament doctrine. Without the sounding of a trumpet or any other "limelight" exploitation of himself and work, he has kept steadily to the task of teaching and living the gospel of the Son of God. There are many such men quietly and unostentatiously working in the Master's vineyard of whom the society brethren know nothing and who are left out in their comparison of work done. The brethren who prefer to work through the societies should be careful when they go to figuring on the number of missionaries and converts on the other side of the fence, lest they do themselves harm. Brother Hart's letter shows that one of these reporters used a very short arithmetic in his calculation, or else he did not know the difference between 3 and 13. But, as Brother Hart says, the main thing is, "What am I doing?" At this point it would be well for every one to ponder the following from an exchange:

FOUR QUESTIONS WITH MYSELF.

1. How long would it take to make my community really Christian if every other follower of Christ worked at it and prayed about it just as I do?

How long would it take to make my whole nation really Christian if all Christians gave their prayers and efforts and money toward it just as I am doing?

3. How long would it take to make disciples of all the nations if all other Christians were to give this great program of Christ the place in their lives that it has in

4. Have I any moral right to expect or demand of other Christians, or even of preachers and missionaries, any service or sacrifice for Christ that I am unwilling to give myself?

The work of winning the world to Christ is my work as really and as fully as it is the work of any one else. Let me not avoid or shirk it. (J. Campbell White.)

This sounds the keynote to the whole situation and brings the question home to the individual heart and conscience. Personal work in the matter of saving souls is one of the fundamental requirements of the gospel of Christ, and no amount of money can be substituted for it. There can be no shifting of responsibility on to the shoulders of "missionary boards" and human societies. Each one must put his or her hand to the plow and drive straight for the individual without folding arms and dreaming of a world conquest. To drop a few or many dollars into the missionary box while we go our way into pleasure seeking or money-making, neglecting or refusing to speak to the people we elbow every day about Christ and salvation, is a very poor sort of life for a professed Christian to live; and yet that is exactly the kind of life the majority of us are offering to God. We are depending too much or altogether on some one else to do what we ourselves should do. We are constantly trying to put double work on fellow Christians by wanting them to do their work and ours, too. A story is told of a church in the early days of this country who agreed to pay their preacher with a barrel of apple brandy. Each member was to put a gallon of brandy in the old brother's barrel, and a fine idea struck one of the members-viz.: "I will slip in a gallon of water; that will not weaken the brandy much, because there will be fortynine gallons of the pure stuff against my one gallon of water." But-lo and behold!-the other forty-nine had the same idea, and the old brother got a barrel of pure water-which, no doubt, was better for the inner man. But every one of those church members was expecting the others to bring the brandy, which left the preacher very dry. We cannot thus trifle with God concerning the things of the kingdom. Each one of us has a field to cultivate. and God demands that we do it to the very best of our ability. Churches should not be deluded with the idea that they can hire (or, more esthetically, employ) a preacher to do work God has assigned to the entire membership. If the world is to be converted by simply the speeches made in pulpits and what personal work out of the pulpits preachers may do, then it will be a long and tedious job. In fact, failure will be written large across the King's marching orders. That, beloved, is not God's way. His way is individual and personal work, with a large measure of sacrifice in the things we foolishly claim as our own.

Group Evangelism. No. 3.

BY C. M. STUBBLEFIELD.

If it be true that "as individuals we operate and sometimes coöperate; as churches we operate, but seldom cooperate"—and I see not how it is to be successfully denied—the paramount task is to work out and then work a systematic, businesslike plan of coöperation both as to individuals and churches. That the need of such is being felt by others is manifest from their recent utterances. I am submitting herewith certain suggestions, the whole of which, for the sake of convenience, I shall designate a "plan." They are not new, having been mentioned, the most of them at least, in these columns many times before, and constitute, substantially, what the Standard calls "group evangelism." They are offered in the hope that whoever favors them will act accordingly and that whoever does not will point out the deficiency and offer others.

1. Thoroughly indoctrinate all our members in the things which distinguish us from the denominations. Unless I am greatly mistaken, far more time and space are being used upholding things for which almost all denominations contend than is necessary. I do not mean that we should cease stressing the necessity for faith in the Lord Jesus, repentance from sin, baptism by his authority, or the regular assembly of the saints for worship. But, seeing that the denominations preach these matters just about as stoutly as we, my judgment is that we need just now to lay particular emphasis on the things that distinguish us from them. Time was when our members understood that denominationalism was fundamentally wrong, and that neither their time, influence, nor talent should be used in its behalf. To induce our members to take their children to hear a mean, sly sectarian preach, to sing in their choirs, and to take membership in their churches is becoming daily an easier task. Brethren are becoming unmindful of Paul's admonition to the Colossians: "Take heed lest there be any one that maketh spoil of you through his philosophy and vain deceit, after the traditions of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ." Forty years ago F. G. Allen said: "I believe that our distinctive principles are made less prominent in our pulpits than formerly." That they have been given less prominence since his day than before can be verified by a few questions put to the younger set in almost any congregation. Brother Allen further said: "If we have distinctive principles, in them consists our strength." Here is a great truth-a truth many have not yet learned-one we must learn and not forget. And while our strength lies in our distinctive principles, this is the exact place where the weakness of denominationalism is found. Moreover, denominational preachers have learned that their weakness consists in their distinctive principles; hence, the one-time popular "doctrinal sermon" is becoming but a thing of memory with them. "When people are led to believe that denominationalism is about as good as New Testament Christianity, their influence for the cause we plead is positively harmful." But this is exactly the condition in many instances, and out of it has come indifference concerning, and in some cases aversion to, mission efforts in sectarian neighborhoods. When all our people shall see, as they once saw, the superiority of New Testament Christianity to the Christianity of this age, they will become anxious that their wives, husbands, neighbors, and friends hear it preached. Until they do they will suffer, as many now suffer, grave fears that "our preacher will hurt" somebody's feelings; and will come, in time, not merely to be indifferent and lukewarm with reference to evangelistic efforts, but to actively oppose such, both in the home church and elsewhere. "Why should 'our denomination' antagonize 'other denominations?'" many are asking; and if we are a denomination in a "great sisterhood of denominations," no man can answer. Our people should know, as they once knew, that our principles lay the ax, keen and sharp, at the root of the whole denominational tree; that they mean a fight to the finish with it, and that there is to be no cessa tion of hostilities, no stacking of arms, until "the kingdoms of this world are become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ." When Christians and churches care nothing for evangelism, see no reason for mission efforts in surrounding communities, know you well that sectarianism-cold, narrow, bigoted sectarianism-is doing its blighting work, and that, so far as the plea to restore the church to the world in its simplicity and purity is concerned, they are well on their way to death. It is a neverfailing symptom; and the sooner the remedy is applied, the sooner the healing. Should there be those whom the remedy will not heal, and doubtless there are some, the sooner they slough off, the better. If we have distinctive principles, let every preacher in our ranks impress them deeply on the minds of all the people; if we have not, our principles demand that we cease our efforts and be swallowed up by the denominations. The people should understand why they occupy the position they do. "The better this is understood, the more it will be appreciated, and the more firm and consistent will be the Christian life."

2. Awaken each congregation to the necessity for thoroughly leavening its immediate community with the The threadbare assertion that "everybody around here knows our doctrine" is seldom, if ever, true. Our neighbors, for the most part, have but a distorted vision of it. How could it be otherwise, when, as above said, our own people do not know it? It is a mistake to scatter our efforts from "Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral Preachers, especially, need to learn this. Attempting to avoid the charge of "pastorating churches already pastorated," some have acquired the habit of evangelizing churches already evangelized. They seem to think that the difference between a pastor and an evangelist consists in the bare fact that one rides lots on the trains and the other does not. Pullman-car evangelism, beloved, is not always the best variety. It is wholly unnecessary to go halfway across the United States to hold an "evangelistic meeting." "Come over and help us" may be but an echo from your own neighborhood. Successful farmers have long since learned that a small plot of land, well tilled, yields larger returns than many acres half plowed. In our own homes, in our own town, among our own friends and neighbors, is the logical and scriptural place to begin our mission work. In doing mission work, the preacher sorely needs the cooperation of the local church. And let not any church deceive itself by thinking it is cooperating with the preacher when it merely consents that he absent himself from the pulpit one or two Sundays, especially if it "dock" his salary on account of such absence. Many of us have experienced such "cooperation" to our sorrow. Our preachers will hold more mission meetings, stay with them longer, and preach more enthusiastically while there when churches say to them: "Go, brother, do the work. We'll do the best we can while you are away, will attend your meeting all we can, and will pay your salary just as though you were here." There are very few preachers, beloved, so fixed financially that they can depend solely for a support on the meager offerings made in a mission meeting. It is not mere permission to be absent from the pulpit that a preacher needs-he needs co-operation; and if a church is going to cooperate, it must operate some. When churches think they have cooperated in a mission effort, when they have done nothing but consent for the preacher to be away one or two Sundays, they need preaching to rather than for. When the church operates, and the preacher operates, and they both operate together, they are cooperating; and that is "group evangelism."

Gospel Mission Work.

BY J. C. ESTES.

There is much said about mission work in this country and foreign countries. Sometimes I think there is more said than there is in reality done. We read of this brother and his wife making up their minds to go to some foreign field to do mission work, provided the churches and brethren will advance the necessary finance. Some two or three brethren go to writing and collecting means to start Brother and Sister So-and-So off on their long missionary journey, or perhaps a tour. After writing a year or two, maybe the two will go, and maybe they will not go. Sometimes they go and stay a year or two, and some one begins to write to collect money to bring them home. Maybe they get home, and maybe they do not.

After one man had been sent to a foreign field, supported for a time there, brought back home, buried his good wife, supported while he finished his education in a sectarian university, wrote more or less about doing mission work in the United States among the same class of people with whom he worked in the foreign field, receiving but little, if any, encouragement, he soon went to preaching for the "digressives," and declared to me and the publisher of one of our good papers that "the way in which 'you folks' [the church of Christ] propose doing mission work is a failure," adding: "I know; I've tried it." To him the entire thing was a failure when they would not support him in the mision field in the United States when he proposed doing this mission work among the same race of people. Many men, and even zealous members of the body of Christ, may and do often fail to do their duty in carrying out the Bible plan of mission work, but that is no sign in the least that the Bible plan is a failure. He did not seem to think that he might have been a part of that failure. Why did he not get up, go on, start the work, and thus show a willingness on his part? Then, perhaps, the church and brethren would have come to his assistance in due time. Perhaps the people-at least, many of them-who compose the church of Christ are more inclined to support the work in foreign fields than at home. At least, I am inclined to think so from what I have observed and experienced. It seems that "distance lends enchantment," and members of the church are only humans, and "to err is human." But this does not make the Lord's plan erroneous and a failure.

I have done much mission work at my own charges without saying anything about it, while wife and I have worked hard with our own hands for a support. One good brother who has much to say on church finances said to me in a kind, brotherly way, as he gently placed his hand on my shoulder, "Brother Estes, don't quit preaching when you take up that work," having reference to my coming to this school and taking up chiropractic. And as gently, calling him by name in a brotherly way, I said: "No, never, so long as God gives me strength and ability, shall I quit (at least trying) preaching his blessed word. I would not do anything that would cause me to quit." But Paul did other work to support himself and others while he preached the word. With all the present H. C. L. we see, hear, and know so much about, we have to do something to get a support; and yet we have not slacked in our efforts to preach the word and establish the cause of our blessed Lord wherever our lots may be cast.

When wife and I landed here-August 23, 1919-we found no church of Christ in this city. We had services two Lord's days in our room. On August 24 there was no other person present besides wife and me. On August 31 Brother R. H. Parrish, of Kentucky, who had just arrived to enter this same school, was with us, and by the first Sunday in September we had found Brother Pennock and family, three of whom are members, and they invited us to their home to worship till we could get a place in some public building. While worshiping there we found another brother and his wife. Later we rented a hall from the Odd Fellows. Since that time we have found another family, three of whom are members-father, mother, and son; but as the father has to work on Sundays at his job, he has not yet got the opportunity to meet with us. And now Brother Pennock has accepted a job which takes him away from home most of the time and cannot be with us more than once a month, if that often, he says. He says he hates very much to miss meeting with us, but everything is so high that he has to do the best he can to make a living for his family. His wife and three children will still be here with us. I have heard of two or three more members whom I am going to make an effort to-day, tomorrow, and Saturday-January 1, 2, and 3, 1920-to find. We have no school to-day nor to-morrow. Brother Pennock's folks are the only ones who have been attending who had any income till the last two or three Sundays a young Brother Moseley has been coming with his mother. He and Brother Pennock are only renters and working for wages. With the remainder of us, everything is going out and nothing coming in at all. Two of these few members are sick now, and we look after them as best we can-see after their needs. Looking after the sick, hunting for any whom we think may be interested at all, and especially any whom we hear to be members, leading the song service, teaching the Bible class, and preaching as best I can to the little band every Lord's day, together with my regular school work, leaves me but little time for recreation and relaxation. To this work two good brethren, one of Kentucky and the other one of West Virginia, and two good sisters, both of Dallas, Texas, have sent one dollar each. Four dollars in all have been gladly received to help us in this work. The hall costs us eight dollars per month, together with other incidental expenses. Wife and I make our regular contributions every Lord's day to help bear these necessary expenses. Where is the minister giving as much time, wholly at his own charges, to the building up of the cause anywhere? Where is any one who is doing so much personal work wholly at his own charges? One brother wrote asking me: "How do you know but that the Lord called you there purposely to do that work?" Anyway, we are here doing it the best we can, and we believe the Lord will bless us in doing it. We are not only praying him to bless us in our efforts, but we are working as best we can to that end and to please him first of all.

Now, if any one who reads this should become interested in the work here to the end that he wants to fellowship much or litle in this work with a freewill offering, he may either send it direct to me, at 1207 Pershing Avenue, Davenport, Iowa; the Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.; Christian Leader, 422 Elm Street, Cincinnati, Ohio; or Firm Foundation, Austin, Texas, mentioning what it is for, and I am sure it will be forwarded on to the work here; and I shall, the Lord willing, report through the papers every cent donated to this work. But please understand that, with the help of the Lord, we are going right on with this work whether or not you have any fellowship in it. But be sure of this also, that we shall be glad and thankful to have you fellowship us in this work.

An Echo From the Sermon Special. BY E. E. SEWELL.

This suggestion comes rather late for the "Sermon" special, but may not come amiss even yet. I have felt for some time that our preaching brethren would do well to give us more sermons on the life and character of Christ. John 20: 31 says: "These [things] are written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye may have life in his name." In what better way may our faith be increased and aliens be led to believe than by a frequent presentation of the sayings, the deeds, and the character of our Savior? Again, in John 17: 3, we read: "And this is life eternal, that they should know thee the only true God, and him whom thou didst send, even Jesus Christ." Since to know Jesus is to know God, how better can we know him than by becoming more and more familiar with the life and character of Jesus as presented in Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John? Again, in presenting his revelation to us, God has not given us a book of sermonizing or theology, but has given us the story of a life-a life which serves as a perfect example for us to follow and does more to inspire men to live better lives than all the precepts ever composed. Then, preacher brethren, why not imitate the divine example, and give us more and more sermons on the life of Him who, having been lifted up, draws all men to him?

I realize that this suggestion is more easily made than followed. It would require much study, perhaps, of photographs, Bible dictionaries, and books of travel, along with the gospel narratives themselves, in order for the preacher first to get clear pictures of the scenes in his own mind and then to present them to his audiences; but surely such a study would prove to be an interesting and profitable one.

Sam Webb Elam.

BY S. P. PITTMAN.

Sam Webb Elam, third son of Brother and Sister E. A. Elam, was born on April 20, 1900, and departed this life for a fuller life on December 13, 1919. He left a good home for a better one.

Although afflicted in body, Sam Webb possessed a clear mind, capable of calm reasoning, and a religious nature that was extraordinary. When only about seven or eight years of age, he obeyed the gospel, or rather began to obey it, not during the excitement of a protracted meeting, but calmly and deliberately, one Lord's day, at the Bible School. In his subsequent study of the Scriptures, he seemed never to doubt the validity of his childhood and childlike obedience.

Christianity was, to Sam Webb, his very meat and drink. Paul's words he often repeated and applied to himself: "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain." (Phil. 1: 21.) He seemed to feel it an imperative duty to lead others to the Christ life. When a mere lad, in school, he knelt and prayed in behalf of an older boy—that he might accept Christ. Some time after that, the boy became a Christian and acknowledged by letter his obligation to Sam Webb. That prayer of a little boy, in the quiet room of the dormitory, may have touched a spring that opened that older boy's heart to the reception of Christ.

Sam Webb was afflicted for several years with an incurable malady, but his disease seemed to bring out the best there was in him, and made him a more devout, unselfish Christian. Instead of complaining and bemoaning his lot, he was thankful that God had given him so many blessings. And, too, he wanted to share those blessings with others. When his uncle gave him five dollars for a Christmas present, once, he took the money and bought a pair of shoes for a poor man. Although every member of the family, as well as every workman on the place, was ready to go and come at Sam Webb's beck and call, he did not want to trouble any one. His wants were few. While there is a boy in the family younger than Sam Webb, his affliction made the father and mother look upon him as their "baby," and it was hard for them to give up their child, the special care of whom was their sweetest paternal and maternal de-

In every life there seems to be some outstanding characteristic; and in the short life of Sam Webb Elam, faith and submission to God was the salient point. He believed absolutely all things which the Bible teaches; he believed that all things work together for good to those who love God. To him, heaven was a real place that he was striving to reach. It was not a far-off fairyland of illusion, but the home of the soul. Upon the death of one of his elderly aunts, he wrote the following lines, which shows his taste for poetic expression and his unconquerable faith in God and heaven:

Gone from this world, but gone prepared
To reach that better land.
And when my race on earth is run,
I hope to be with her at God's right hand,
And walk with her upon the streets
That are paved with purest gold.
And live with her for evermore,
Within the Savior's fold.

For the second time Sam Webb has heard the call: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heaven laden, and I will give you rest." The devoted family will not cease to miss their "care," their "baby," till gentle Time shall bring them one by one to him, where there is perpetual love and devotion minus care and affliction and sorrow.

The winds of God are always blowing, but if you wish to go forward, you must keep your sails unfurled.—Old Eastern Proverb.

A New-Year Poem.

BY MRS. T. L. POARCH.

As the old year rings out and the new rings in, O let us strive harder to wrestle against sin, That we may not of sin be o'ercome, Debarring us from that heavenly home. But let us lay every weight aside—Yea, every weight that doth betide Our progress to that heavenly land To sing glad anthems unto the Lamb, E'en the spotless Lamb of Calvary, Who died to save both you and me—

And with patience run the mighty race Twixt folly's sins and heavenly grace; For we know that He who looketh down Upon our lives and hears the sound Of faint heartbeats so little and low—Beating funeral knells as they onward go On their daily cycles unto the tomb, Which to some may come too soon: Who never think to "watch," nor pray For divine guidance o'er life's rough way—

Standeth ready and waiting to give a crown, Yea, "a crown of righteousness," to every one Who is faithful—yea, faithful unto the end; For such did that blest apostle pen.

Then arise, O men, in thy strength of might, And take the wings of the eagle's flight; Or the swiftest wings of the morning take And fly away from sin and hate.

Yes, fly away from all things low, And onward, upward, swiftly go.

Thou first of all creation's dawn,
That was created to again be born,
But nevermore of flesh and blood,
For of such is not the kingdom of God—
O wilt thou not arise to-day,
And join His ranks in bright array,
And battle for all things just and right
With all thy strength and all thy might,
And never lay thine armor down
Till thou hast fought the battle and won the crown?

And thou, O blest of mother Eve—Who first did to temptation yield,
Who first did sin in Eden's garden—
O wilt thou not arise, and hearken
Ere 'tis too late?—too late we say,
For soon we'll meet the judgment day.
Yes, the purest thing beneath the stars,
Save a dear, sweet babe in its mother's arms,
Has oft through blindness missed the Way;
But will she not arise to-day,

And, with all the strength of a woman's will, Fight His pure and holy battles till Poor dying sinners are born again Through the blessed, holy, gospel plan? Yea, waft high His banner to the skies Ere the new year filts away and dies; For years speed onward one by one, And soon we'll reach life's setting sun. Then arise, O men and women brave, And help the Christ the world to save!

More Light on the Kingdom, Brother G. Dallas Smith.

BY F. B. SRYGLEY.

Brother G. Dallas Smith takes Brother Scobey to task in the Gospel Advocate of January 15, 1920, for giving his understanding of what the Scriptures teach and how he "feels" about it, rather than what the Scriptures say on the subject of the kingdom and the church being different. I indorse Brother Smith very heartily on that point. It is the Scriptures we want, and not what Brother Scobey or Brother Smith understands or feels or thinks about the matter.

Brother Smith expresses great surprise at Brother Scobey for not giving us the scriptures to support his understanding, and Brother G. Dallas Smith tells us in this review of Brother Scobey's article that his own mind is not made up on the point as to whether the church and the kingdom are the same. Hear the brother on this point:

"But imagine my disappointment and surprise when I read further into the article and found our aged brother assuming a position for which he gives not one iota of scripture. I refer to his position that the kingdom and the church are two different institutions. This may be true; I do not know. My own mind is not clear on the subject."

Indeed, Brother Dallas! Has your mind been made to hesitate on this question by any scripture which you have read? If so, will you please give us that passage? My mind is made up on the question that the church and the kingdom are the same; and if you know of any passage that would indicate that I am wrong, I would like to have it. Brother G. Dallas Smith is too well informed to plead ignorance on the question. While he talks about Brother Scobey as our aged brother, he is no boy. He is a mature man, and has made the Bible a study for many years, and has written a book on the general outlines of the Bible, and still he is not sure whether the church and the kingdom are the same. What scripture, brother, has caused your mind to "stutter" on this point? Remember, he has cut himself off from all understanding or feeling or think so's and from all statements or opinions of uninspired men. The task is now easy, Brother Smith. Where is the scripture that has cast this doubt or uncertainty in your mind? If you will allow the question, Brother Smith, would it not be well for you to make up your mind on this important question before you question as great and as good a man as you admit Brother Scobey to be?

Is the Church a Kingdom?

BY R. N. MOODY.

An answer to this question may be had by noting the form of government under which God placed the church. If he placed it under a democratic form of government, it is a republic; but if he placed it under a monarchial form of government, it is a kingdom. Jesus said: "All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth." (Matt. 28: 18.) Paul said: "According to that working of the strength of his might which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and made him to sit at his right hand in the heavenly places, far above all rule, and authority, and power, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and he put all things in subjection under his feet, and gave him to be head over all things to the church, which is his body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all." (Eph. 1: 19-23.) Again, he says: "And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the first-born from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence." (Col. 1: 18.) These scriptures show that Jesus as head of the church has absolute authority, and reigns over it as a potentate, monarch, or king. So it is apparent that the church is a kingdom by reason of the form of government under which God placed it.

More could be said, but I think this sufficient to suggest the thought I desired to present.

The preacher who uses most of his time in the pulpit to show that at some future time God will usher in a thousand-years' reign of perfect righteousness on earth is wasting his strength, when there is so much need to work for the increase of righteousness on the earth at the present time. The gospel of Christ is addressed to sinners, and is meant to rescue them from their sins here and now, and that preacher is trifling with holy things and losing precious opportunities to help his fellow man who devotes his sermons to the intermediate state, or when the end of the world will come, or when the millennium will dawn, or whether there are degrees in heaven, and a thousand other things of more or less importance that have no very vital connection with the salvation of men from sin.—Selected.

Training Little Children

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

Injustice Causes Pouts.

The Unbiased Observer was visiting the Heath family, in which there are three children-namely: Max, who is thirteen years old; Gwen, eleven years old; and Dolly, four years old. The boy and the baby are generally easy to discipline; but there seems to be constant friction between Gwen and her mother, so much so that continual pouting bids fair to spoil what nature intended to be a really beautiful little face. To the Unbiased Observer, the fault appears to lie largely with the mother, and if the case were an unusual one, it would perhaps not be worthy of record; but similar misunderstandings so often exist between parent and child that the consideration of the following incidents may be of value:

Gwen is not a bad child, but her mother seems to expect disobedience from her, or, at least, a lack of cheerfulness. For example: Gwen had been sent to bed at six o'clock Sunday evening, ostensibly because she was sulky, really because her mother thought she was tired and needed extra rest. The child was not given the real reason, however, and she went upstairs full of the rebellious feeling that a most unmerited punishment had been meted out to her.

Max, for his supper that evening, was given a large, fine banana, one of several which had been bought as a special treat. The next morning at breakfast two similar bananas were put at the places of the two older children. Gwen was particularly delighted; for she, of course, had had no banana the night before. She was smiling and happy when she took her place at the table, even though Max did announce triumphantly that he had already had one.

Then Dolly, the baby, arrived and began to whimper because she had been forgotten in the distribution of fruit.

"Give Dolly half of yours, Gwen," said her mother.

Gwen's smiles faded. "But, mother," she said, rather plaintively, "why can't Max give her some of his? He had one last night."

The mother did not think so, however. "Give me your banana, Gwen!" she demanded.

Gwen passed it over without a word, evidently having learned the futility of expecting justice from that quarter.

Her mother cut the fruit in half, gave one part to the baby and put the other on her own fruit plate, where it remained untouched until it was removed to the pantry. Max, in the meanwhile, devoured his prize with gusto.

Gwen made no comment of any kind; but she ate the rest of her breakfast with small appetite and with a face wherein sulkiness had replaced smiles, and with a very sore little heart she departed for school.

"Don't you think I did right?" asked the mother afterwards of the Unbiased Observer, who didn't feel so very unblased, after all. It was no time for polite camouflage.

"If you really want to know," came the reply, "I think you did entirely wrong. Gwen was quite logical in her question, and perfectly courteous. I should have thought she was lacking in intelligence if she hadn't objected."

The mother looked surprised, "But she is so sulky about everything," she complained. "I want her to learn to mind cheerfully."

"She'll never do that," remarked the Unbiased Observer, "while she feels such injustice in the 'powers that be."

'Do you think it was unjust to send her to bed last night?" the mother went on, in a slightly injured tone.

The Unbiased Observer paused; but she had been asked for an opinion, and she gave it.

"What heavier punishment could you possibly inflict if she is ever really bad?" she asked. "Social ostracismjust because she looked cross! What would happen if our sins were punished in the same ratio?"

And now the Unbiased Observer wonders if she will ever be invited to make another visit.

0 0 0

To believe and to be able to prove have little or nothing to do with each other. To prove with your brains the thing that you love would be to deck the garments of salvation with a fringe.-George MacDonald.

0 0 0

If We Only Knew.

BY LOUIA MARIE ADKISSON.

If we only knew The power that a certain wile Of Satan hath o'er another child-If we only knew-We would blame him less for falling, And the deed seem less appalling-If we only knew.

If we only knew, There'd be less unjust judging, Far less of the good begrudging-If we only knew. Instead, we'd run with friendly hand, With praise that valor doth demand-If we only knew.

If we only knew The keenness of the light word's sting, And the pain a careless word may bring; If we only knew The anguish that an unkind word may call, O, we would never let them fall-If we only knew.

If we only knew
The gladness that a smile may bring,
A loving word, or any kindly thing—
If we only knew— Sighing oft would turn to song, "Love's petals" would be strewn along-If we only knew.

0 0 0

The Boys We Like.

The boy who is never cruel.

The boy who never quarrels.

The boy who never hesitates to say "No!" when asked to do a wrong thing.

The boy who never lies. Even white lies leave black spots on the character.

The boy who never calls anybody bad names, no matter what anybody calls him.

The boy who never makes fun of a companion because of a misfortune he could not help.

The boy who never makes fun of old age, no matter how decrepit or unfortunate or evil it may be. God's hand rests lovingly on the aged head.

The boy who never forgets that God made him to be a joyous, loving, helpful being.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

0 0 0

If from all thy good gifts, O Lord, I may ask but one, let that one be the spirit of kindness .- Dr. Samuel Mc-Comb.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

John C. Graham is located with the church at Sheffield, Ala. He describes it as "a faithful little band."

The Gospel Advocate is very instructive and helpful. I enjoy reading it very much.—Fannie Kitchum, Dimple, Ky.

I love to read the Gospel Advocate. I have been a subscriber for twenty years. I enjoy the special numbers.—Mrs. D. L. Bunch, Kenton, Tenn.

A. B. Lipscomb greatly enjoyed his visit with the Oakland congregation, near Clarksville, Tenn., last Sunday. He was hospitably entertained in the home of Brother Lockert.

We are glad to report that Brother Freed, of Henderson, Tenn., has recovered from a serious attack of the "flu." He reports the school and church to be in a flourishing condition.

We would not know how to get along without the Gospel Advocate, as it is all the preaching we get here. The special numbers are fine. Pray for us.—D. W. Pope, Fort Laramie, Wyo.

This office enjoyed a visit from Z. T. Sweeney, of Columbus, Ind., last week. Brother Sweeney delivered five forceful sermons at the Vine Street Christian Church. He is spending the winter at Clearwater, Fla.

From Isaac C. Hoskins, Martin, Tenn.: "The weekly visits of the Gospel Advocate to my home are a source of great pleasure and profit. The great truths presented by its writers bring unceasing encouragement and edification."

A good, Christian woman who needs a home and who is fitted to be housekeeper for a family of six would do well to write M. M. Pitts, Hopkinsville, Ky. His wife has been sick for some time and is unable to attend to the house work alone.

We are grieved to learn of the death of Walter Harding, of Winchester, Ky. He died on Saturday, January 17. Funeral services were conducted by M. C. Kurfees and M. P. Lowery. He leaves a wife and two daughters, to whom we extend an expression of Christian sympathy.

Beginning on February 5 and continuing for two days, J. G. Malphurs will meet Mr. Elbert Winkler in a discussion of the use of instrumental music in worship. Brother Malphurs affirms that its use is sinful; Mr. Winkler denies. Brother Malphurs neglected to state where the debate would be held.

From H. H. Montgomery, Shreveport, La., January 19: "The church in Shreveport has nearly completed a neat frame meetinghouse on Velva Street, near the Fair Ground, in one block of the street car line, and we ask all who are loyal to the truth, when in Shreveport, to meet with us in our Lord's-day meetings,"

From R. H. Johnson, Campbell, Mo., Box 484: "I have two Lord's days in February not promised—second and fifth. Any congregation in reach of Campbell, either in Missouri or Arkansas, may write me, if they would like for me to visit them on either of these dates. Would be glad to spend a few days with brethren in Southeast Missouri or Northeast Arkansas. Write me at once."

The Gospel Advocate is worth its weight in gold, and I think we all should appreciate very highly the privilege of having such a paper to read and help us along our Christian journey. I enjoy it all—every piece in it. Such grand and good men to write for it. I hope its circulation and good work will spread to the uttermost parts of the world. This is my prayer.—Mrs. C. E. Hunt, Prospect, Ky.

From W. M. B. Cox, Baldwyn, Miss.: "L. L. Brigance is preaching for us on the first and second Sundays in each month along the line of practical Christianity. Something fine. The congregation has a mind to work. This is the first regular preaching the church has had since it was organized. When the weather will permit, we hope to use Brother Brigance at points near here on one of our Sundays."

From J. G. Allen, Muskogee, Okla., January 19: "We had two splendid services yesterday at Moose Hall, 318 West Okmulgee Street, and much interest was manifested. We have arrangements well under way to do some tent work this year, and want to begin just as soon as weather conditions will permit. We also expect to buy us a home this year, but will ask for no help until the purchase has been made. The money already received is in bank and will not be used for any other purpose. Moose Hall is near the center of the city and convenient to hotels and depots. Any one visiting this city is cordially invited to meet with us."

A clipping from the Sparta (Tenn.) News: "Elder E. A. Ellam, of Lebanon, Tenn., preached at the Christian Church last Sunday morning and evening and on Monday evening. Elder Ellam has been preaching in Sparta at intervals for forty years, and no preacher is loved and revered by the Sparta congregation more than he, and by the people in general. His once black hair has been tinged by the frosts of time, but his power to proclaim the old, old story grows with the passing years. He seemed to be at his best when with us this time, and we trust that he may be spared many years to proclaim the story of the cross in that plain, simple, yet beautiful and forceful, language of his that carries conviction to his hearers."

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE."

Please announce through your paper that Dr. W. C. Stephens, of Bagwell, Texas, has married, so that all of the dear ladies will discontinue their writing to him. He does not have time to write all of them a personal letter. I, Annie L. Young, daughter of H. B. Young, a loyal Christian preacher, of Evensville, Tenn., Route 1, am the one that won the victory over the other ladies and am the proud possessor of Dr. W. C. Stephens, through the advertisement in the Gospel Advocate. He received seventy-seven letters from girls in nine different States, as follows: Ohio, one: Missouri, five; Kentucky, eight; California, one; Virginia, three; Georgia, four; Alabama, six; Mississippi, three; Tennessee, forty-six. Your sister in Christ,

MRS. W. C. STEPHENS.

The Gospel Advocate extends congratulations.

From Thomas H. Burton, Union, S. C., January 20: "I preached last Saturday night and on Sunday and Sunday night at Cavins, near Woodruff, to three nice audiences. The work there is very encouraging, with a prospect for a large, working congregation. This shows what a man and his Christian wife can do in a destitute place when they have a mind to work. Brother Briggs and his wife moved into that neighborhood one year ago and began to teach the gospel, and in a short time they had some of their close neighbors interested; and when I pitched my tent in that community, many had already been taught the right way, and we baptized several. One of the number is now in the David Lipscomb College, and we are expecting great things of him in the future. He is full of zeal and is determined to prepare himself to tell the 'old, old story' to the natives of his native State. We are well pleased with the outlook for this year in the State, as we will have two or three new preachers to help us permanently, the Lord willing. We need two or three tents fully equipped for use in this work. Any congregation having one that they want put to a good use this summer would do well to communicate with me immediately; or if there is one or more that will have one made and furnish it, we would certainly appreciate it very much."

PEL ADVOCA

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask you postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.
Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

Missionaries Should Report to the Churches.

BY J. C. M'Q.

That the missionary must be sent and supported by some one is not a subject of discussion. That the Lord primarily selects and sends out the missionary will not be called in question. "How shall they preach, except they be sent?" (Rom. 10: 15.) The Lord does this sending, but he does it through his church and not through some human institution. The church is complete within itself. All the works of God are perfect. The church is efficient and completely adapted to the conversion of the world. When human organizations for the conversion of the world were unknown and men did their work in the church for the conversion of the world, the gospel was preached to every creature under heaven. The growth of the church was marvelous. The apostles and early evangelists, fearing God and having favor with the people, went about preaching the word. They were not hampered by human traditions, neither was their influence nullified in some degree by the human inventions that hinder and impede its progress to-day.

In the church at Antioch in Syria were prophets and teachers. Of these the Holy Spirit said to the church: "Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them. Then, when they had fasted and prayed and laid their hands on them, they sent them away." (Acts 13: 2, 3.) It is essential that the missionary be called of the Lcrd. Without this call, no amount of ability and money will make one a successful missionary. The Holy Spirit sent Barnabas and Saul away, using the church, God's institution for the conversion of the world, as the means for sending them. "So they, being sent forth by the Holy Spirit, went down to Selucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus." (Verse 4.) It would be interesting and profitable to the reader to follow them to Salamis and read of their preaching the word of God in the synagogue of the Jews; to follow them through the whole island to Paphos, from Paphos to Perga in Pamphylia, and thence to Antioch of Pisidia, and from Antioch to Iconium. From Iconium they fled unto Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia. It would be helpful to go into the details of their preaching and work, but the space allotted to this article forbids. I will pause long enough, however, to note a few of the things which occurred.

At Lystra, Paul healed a certain man, "impotent in his feet, a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked." Walking in the steps of Christ, Paul, in tender sympathy and compassion, healed the afflicted, always giving God the glory. But the people of Lystra would exalt Barnabas and Paul to the position of gods; but the apostles had too much respect and love for the truth to accept any such glorification and deification, and with words of truth and wisdom they restrained the people from offering sacrifice unto them. They set a high value upon God's approval, but esteemed lightly the flattery and praise of men. They knew that man is weak and fallible, ready to crown one day and to crucify the next day. This period of triumph and victory was not to last long. Men filled with bitterness, hatred, and envy followed from Antioch and Iconium and persuaded the people to stone Paul. This they did, and dragged him out of the city, supposing he was dead. How brief would have been the victory of Paul had he been false enough to accept the crown of men! Now the same hands that would crown him are pelting him with stones and dragging him out of the city and leaving his bleeding body to be preyed on by the vultures. But a mightier power than man was watching over and guarding that body. Man could only go so far. Right must eventually prevail over wrong. By the power of God, Paul rose up and went into the city; "and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe." The powers of darkness may seemingly triumph temporarily, but it is only transient, while God's power is destined to triumph eternally. Listen to this same Paul after a successful and victorious life: "For I am already being offered, and the time of my departure is come. I have fought the good fight. I have finished the course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give to me at that day; and not to me only, but also to all them that have loved his appearing." (2 Tim. 4: 6-8.) The crowns of men fade as the morning dews before the rising sun, but the crown of righteousness endures forever.

When Paul and Barnabas had preached the gospel to the people of Derbe, and had made many disciples, "they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God. And when they had appointed for them elders in every church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom (Acts 14: 21-23.) When they had they had believed." made disciples, they did not leave them alone to die. They visited them again to confirm and strengthen them in the faith and to appoint for them elders, so that the work might continue to grow. The record continues: "And they passed through Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia. And when they had spoken the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia; and thence they sailed to Antioch, from whence they had been committed to the grace of God for the work which they had fulfilled. And when they were come, and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed all things that God had done with them, and that he had opened a door of faith unto the Gentiles. And they tarried no little time with the disciples." (Acts 14: 24-28.)

Thus ends the first missionary journey. We have seen the church sending them out; we have seen a little of their trial, persecution, and victory; and we have also seen them returning to the local church that sent them and rehearsing to it all things that God had done with them. In all this the church is exalted as "the light of the world," "the pillar and ground of the truth." They had fulfilled their mission and wanted the church that had fellowshiped them in the work to know it. It was a protection to them for the church to know all things God had done with them. They did not assume the honor unto themselves, but gave God the glory, and never once thought that for the church to know of "all things" would rob God of the glory. They reported to the only "missionary board" (the local church) known to the New Testament.

There has been much discussion over the method of doing mission work. There is no place for such a discussion. Churches and Christians should use wisdom in selecting the most efficient methods. God does not excuse ignorance in missionary endeavor any more than he does in anything else. God will not overlook the ignorance that opposes missionary endeavor, neither will he approve the substitution of a human society for the blood-bought church of Christ. The first missionary journey reveals clearly that the local church sent and supported the missionaries. Churches to-day make a mistake when they depart from the New Testament example.

Different Important Things.

BY E. A. E.

THE WORK IN WASHINGTON CITY.

The following letter speaks for itself:

Brother Elam: I have been looking and hoping that I would see a few words of encouragement in the paper from your pen to get the coöperation of the brotherhood more fully, so the church of Christ could have a house in which to meet for worship in the nation's capital. A kind word from you would be a great influence to get the churches to help. We have been working hard at it for one year, but have only one-half of the needed amount. The Henderson school and the Lipscomb College raised twice as much in one day as we have raised in a year. One reason is, there are several hundred churches near you. The nearest one here is one hundred miles. There are two million people in Washington and in forty miles of here who are out of Christ.

Our brethren are not paupers by any means. Why canwe not have a place to invite the lost to hear the gospel? The hall we have is full. It will do no good to invite the sinner to come, for we would have no room for him when he came. Brother Srygley has a daughter here, and his son will be here next week, and Brother Davidson has a daughter and grandchildren here. Our brethren's children are here from everywhere. O, the opportunity that is being lost!

We have about ten thousand dollars on hand and twenty-five hundred pledged. This is about half that we must have to erect the building. I hope this will find you well and that you may live many years and have opportunity to preach and write many good sermons yet before you are called over the river.

W. S. Long.

I should be pleased to have both the time and space to commend every good and worthy work reported in this paper. This work in Washington City is a most worthy one. It has been justly presented by Brother Long. We commend him for his zeal in it. I can think of no reason why the many churches throughout the United States should not at once furnish the necessary money to pay for the much-needed house. I have often spoken of this work to congregations and urged liberal contributions to it.

We must not overlook the fact that contributions to the Lord's work must be made continually. Just as brethren continue to make money, they must continue to give to the cause of Christ. There can be no standstill, and we cannot go backward.

Some of us are requested to raise money for one good work and some for another; but thus all good works can be carried on. I rejoice to see the work in Washington City succeeding, and trust the churches will respond to these appeals in a sufficiently liberal manner to complete the work at once.

LATEST REPORT OF CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE FANNING ORPHAN SCHOOL.

Brother Elam: I beg to report donations received for the Fanning Orphan School since last report published in the Gospel Advocate, as follows: From W. I. Kline, Nashville, Tenn., $5; Chapel Ayenue Church, Nashville, Tenn., $50; Mrs. Ben C. Barry, Gallatin, Tenn., $100; Mrs. Ida Mackay, Franklin, Tenn., $5; Eleventh Street Church, Nashville, Tenn., $25; Charlotte Ayenue Church, Nashville, Tenn., $31.93; Mrs. P. Y. Ray, Route 2, Nashville, Tenn., $2; Mrs. F. Watkins, Fosterville, Tenn., $1; P. F. Vail, Glencoe, Ark., $5; Mrs. P. V. Ray, Detroit, Mich., $25; Mrs. W. A. Rainey, Madison, Tenn., $5; Miss Thelma Simmons, Belvidere, Tenn., $2; G. T. Mustain, Horse Cave, Ky., $25. Total, $281.93.

Our treatment of orphans and other poor is our treatment of Jesus. How would you treat Jesus were he on earth? Send all contributions to A. N. Trice, treasurer, care of Washington Manufacturing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

MANY QUESTIONS TO ANSWER.

These questions have been sent to me with requests for answers through the columns of this paper. I should be glad to answer all questions to the extent of my ability as promptly and as fully as requested to do; but I have only limited space in the paper and can do only the best I can and when I can. To learn more and more of the word of God and to assist others in doing so, in so far as I am able, is both a pleasure and a blessing.

COMMENDATORY.

Since the last reference to letters I had received commending my articles against Christians' engaging in carnal warfare I have received as many more. I refer to these letters both to acknowledge the receipt and to express appreciation of them. It is comforting to realize that one is not alone. Noah must have had a lonesome time. Elijah felt alone; yet there were seven thousand in Israel who had not bowed the knee to Baal. Brother F. W. Smith told me that he, too, had received not a few commendations of his recent article against Christians' going to war.

God's LEAGUE OF PEACE.

I appreciate and commend Brother C. E. W. Dorris' articles in recent issues of Tidings of Joy on the gospel as God's peace league.

In a copyrighted article in a recent issue of the New York Times I notice references to, and comments upon, Secretary Lausing's Christmas message by the Daily News of London.

The Daily News thinks it "an event with few parallels in history" that "a statesman who is responsible for foreign affairs" should make the declaration "that the relations of peoples should be governed, no less than the relations of individuals, by the teaching of Jesus of Nazareth."

This teaching is declared by Mr. Lansing "to be plain to every eye" and "must become the hope of the world." He asked that "the agony of the war" and "the peace that was to end all wars" be compared with "the ancient peace proclaimed over nineteen hundred years ago on the hills of Bethlehem." According to his judgment, "the failure of the men who made the peace of Versailles is patent to the world." and the peace taught by Jesus is the "hope of the world." The Daily News, London, thinks that "by the challenge of its faith, as well as the challenge of its hope, Mr. Lansing's message will rank among the great contributions of America to the search and the striving of the world."

I refer to this article to show what these influential papers and Mr. Lansing think of the teaching of Christ. Let me repeat these salient points: that Christ's teaching "is plain to every eye;" that "the relations of peoples"

(nations) should be governed by this teaching as well as "the relations of individuals;" that this teaching "is becoming the dominant force in the affairs of men and nations" and "must become the hope of the world." They contrast "the agonies of the war" and the peace league of men with "the ancient peace proclaimed over nineteen hundred years ago on the hills of Bethlehem." They say "the failure of the men who made the peace of Versailles is patent to the world," while "the essence of the teaching which the Secretary of State invokes is its message of eternal hope."

Mr. Lansing is right. By no principle of right on earth or in heaven are individuals bound by the New Testament as individuals, but released from following it as citizens of earthly governments.

President Wilson said in substance two or three years ago, before a Bible society, that to the extent the gospel of Christ is preached throughout the world the nations will come to permanent peace. This means that we must not wait until all the nations cease to fight and form a peace league before we preach to them "the gospel of peace," but we must preach "the gospel of peace" in order to stop war and bring peace.

I copied not long ago quotations from the Literary Digest that, upon taking the votes of seventeen thousand preachers, not more than one in twenty was found who disapproves of "the League of Nations," or the peace league, as proposed. It was found, too, that many churches of different denominations are for this peace league. No doubt the few who object for some reason to the one proposed league are in favor of peace and some sort of peace league. The reason given for so many thousand preachers favoring this league is, they have been reading their New Testament, studying the life of Jesus, imbibing the Spirit of Christ, following the Golden Rule, and are tired and sick of the military spirit and militarism.

The point I impress from all this is that President Wilson, Secretary Lansing, the Daily News of London, the author of the article in the Literary Digest from which I quoted, all know the teaching of the New Testament on peace.

It is a weakness of human nature to quote the Scriptures and uphold the New Testament when they appear to sustain its theory and to pass in silence over them when they do not lead in the direction which it wants to go. Men must not quote the Scriptures to sustain their theories, political views, and to carry their points, but to learn and to do and to teach the will of God.

The glaring inconsistency of all this is that while the enlightened nations of the earth call for some sort of peace league (to which no Christian objects), they are busy enlarging their navies, manufacturing munitions of war, cultivating the military spirit by turning schools into military training institutions, and talking of compulsory military training for boys. And not a few preachers are whooping them up. These many preachers of various denominations and some of no denomination who have learned so recently from the New Testament that it teaches peace, that Jesus is the Prince of Peace, that the angels sang gloriously of peace on earth and good will to men when Jesus was born, and that for this reason the Senate should confirm the pending peace league, should have read their Bibles during the war and before the war and have taught then all the claims of the gospel of peace. It is not only absurd, but, being so serious, it is also very grievous, that these preachers, whose business it is to preach "the gospel of peace"-"Christ, and him crucified"-when war is pending, after it has come, and when it is over-at all times-magnify some peace league formed by imperfect men above God's perfect covenant of peace. Why should they preach and write and make so much noise over a man-made peace league with covenants to fight still, when a few years ago they were as mum as mummies about the teaching of the New Testament on peace—the only real and lasting peace which renders war impossible? The peace which Jesus teaches says: "Turn your swords into plowshares, your spears into pruning hooks;" "put up the sword into the sheath;" "nations shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more;" "for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

Let every child of God say: "I am rejoiced and grateful to God that the nations want permanent peace; I shall do all in my power according to God's will to help them on to this permanent peace; I shall pray for it devoutly and in faith; but whether this peace ever comes or a more cruel and bitter war may arise, so long as I can use my tongue and pen, I shall speak and write forever, both in season and out of season, for the true and lasting peace of God.

In Memoriam.

BY T. B. LARIMORE.

Miss Maggie E. Gresham was born at or near Mars' Hill, Lauderdale County, Ala., Wednesday, December 11, 1839, hence would have been fourscore years old, if she had lived till December 11, 1919; but she passed away, Tuesday, October 28, 1919.

She was born, baptized, and buried where she lived all the years of her busy, useful life; hence, where the sweetly solemn summons found her, perfectly prepared to go, when the call came. No final preparation was necessary then.

Sister Maggie obeyed the gospel when she was a sweet little girl, and thenceforth lived as she believed she ought to live till she reached the end of life, doing as wisely and well as she could whatsoever she believed duty demanded. She was a Christian nearly threescore years and ten, and Christ and his cause were always first with her.

She was the last of a large and influential Christian family to leave this world of constant change, to go to that brighter and better world where changes never come. Many years ago every member of the Gresham family was a worthy member of the church of Christ; and, in that respect, the family never changed, all remaining faithful to the end. Maggie, as a ministering angel, did what she could to bless father, mother, brothers, sisters—all—till she saw their bodies buried in the family graveyard at Mars' Hill, and she was left alone. With becoming faith and fortitude, she murmured not, but continued to fight the fight of faith, faithfully and cheerfully, notwithstanding neither father nor mother nor brother nor sister was left to cheer her in her loneliness.

I was called to the old home last August—August, 1919—for probably my last meeting at Mars' Hill. As I have done in nearly all my meetings, as five and fifty years have come and gone, I preached twice every day and three times each Sunday. Sister Maggie attended every service, was always on time, and always sat on the front seat—the only seat I ever knew her to occupy in the assembly of the saints. She seemed to be in good health; but, when she told me good-by, she said, tears dripping from her face: "This is our final farewell. We'll never meet again, in this world; but we'll meet 'over there."

Notwithstanding my many mistakes, faults, and foibles, I am doing my very best, every day and every conscious hour, to be perfect and to live a perfect life, that I may be perfectly prepared to meet and to rapturously greet the hosts of friends and loved ones who have promised to meet me "over there."

I am nearing my seventh-seventh birthday—July 10, 1920—but, with gratitude to God, the gracious Giver of all good, with love for many, with sympathy for all and hatred for none, I hope to be able to preach the word till Heaven shall call me home.

Some Differences Between Samaritans and Jews.

[Because I believe it will be read with interest, and for the information of our readers, I am copying from an article, entitled "The Last Israelitish Blood Sacrifice, a Samaritan Rite in Palestine," by John D. Whiting, and published in the January issue of the National Geographic Magazine, some extracts, pointing out the differences between the Samaritans and Jews. Our readers have read much of the animosity that has always existed between the Samaritans and Jews, and doubtless remember where Jesus conversed with the woman at Jacob's Well at Sychar, an account of which is given in the fourth chapter of John. The entire article is good and instructive, but space forbids the publication of the whole article, as it is too lengthy.—J. C. McQ.]

The Samaritan religion is closely akin to that of the Jews, the chief differences being that the cult of the former centers about Gerizim, while that of the Jews centers about Zion, and that the Samaritan canon of Scripture is restricted to the Pentateuch, or "Five Books of Moses." The later writings, including the Prophets and Psalms, the Samaritans repudiate as uninspired.

In view of the similarity in their beliefs and practices, it seems strange that there exists and always has existed the fiercest animosity between Jew and Samaritan, but it is the animosity that invariably exists between an original and a schism.

The Samaritans maintain that they are the remnants and descendants of the once great tribe of Ephraim, and that the split between them and the Jews came about through the maladministration of the priesthood by Eli's sons. Followers of the Jewish Church are looked upon as dissenters from the pure faith of Israel, and the forming of a center of worship in Jerusalem by Judah is condemned upon the ground that the land of Ephraim, with Schechem and its mountains, figured in the earliest history of the Hebrews; that here the first Israelitish altars were erected, and that these were the only specific parts of the Land of Promise mentioned by Moses in the wilderness.

The most precious document of this sect is the renowned Samaritan scroll Pentateuch. This scroll is some seventy feet long, and toward the end its columns are divided vertically by a small gap, often occurring between the letters of the same word. Into this gap is carried and written any letter that occurs in the lines which fits into the writing of the date, so that when reading the text it fills its place, while on the other hand these separated letters when read collectively from the top of the column to the bottom, like the Chinese, spell out the name and date of the writer, etc., thus making it impossible for the date to have been of a later writing than that of the scroll itself.

The Samaritans assert that the scroll was written by Abishua, the great-grandson of Aaron, in the early years of the entrance into Canaan, but no impartial student will allow it this very remote origin, although it is believed to be the most ancient copy of the Pentateuch in existence.

So jealously guarded is this scroll that few non-Samaritans have ever seen it, and many of the Samaritans themselves have not seen it except as it is exhibited on rare occasions at feasts, rolled up and covered with a silken cloth and with but one column exposed.

The scroll has recently been photographed from end to end, and will soon be published for the benefit of Hebrew scholars.

It is, of course, impracticable to display this very fragile parchment continually, but it is unfortunate that the modern Samaritans impose upon their guests by showing them a scroll of much later date than the one which all so covet to see. The imposition has gone further, for all photographs made heretofore supposedly of the original Abishua scroll, as it is called, have in reality been of the later copy.

While the Jews have scattered all over the world since the captivities and have absorbed much that is foreign, in many instances adapting their religious practices to their new environment, the Samaritans have during the same lapse of time lived in the land of their forefathers, among Semitic peoples akin to the Hebrews, and because of this fact have handed down to the twentieth century a glimpse of the old Jewish Church almost in its purity. A notable instance of the survival of an ancient religious ceremony is the celebration of the Passover Sacrifice.

One of the distinctive differences between the Samaritan and the Jew lies in their methods of computing the calendar. Instead of adopting the lunar year solely, the Samaritans base their calculations on the moon, but they are at the same time also governed by the movement of the sun. The system is so complicated as to form one of the chief studies of the young priests. Basing their authority on the first chapter of Genesis for thus differentiating from the Hebrew calendar, they point out that, in the history of the creation, when the sun and moon are introduced, it is said of them jointly: "Let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days and years." (Gen. 1: 14.) For the above reasons the Samaritans some years celebrate their Passover with, or nearly with, the Jews, while at other times their fourteenth of Abib comes a month behind.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

Miss Fanita Watkins, Fosterville, Tenn$ Mrs. Mary Ellen Woodson and children, Bethpage.	2.00
Tenn.	3.00
Church at Boston, Tenn,	10.00
Mrs. H. M. Senter, Rogana, Tenn.	5.00
J. A. Nerren, Ruleville, Miss	2.50
Class No. 5, Sheffield, Ala	6.45
Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Nisbett, Murfreesboro, Tenn	5.00
Three members at Ethridge, Tenn	11.00
Miss Nellie Straiton's class, Fort Worth, Texas	10.00
Mrs. R. P. Milliken, Napier, Tenn	2.00
Grant Hale, Napier, Tenn	1.00
Mrs. H. M. McRae, Rockmart, Ga	1.00
Mrs. E. L. Whitaker, Henderson, Tenn	1.00
Church at New Providence, Ky	15.10
Mrs. T. Y. Pirtle, Toone, Tenn	2.00
Church at Smyrna Tenn	43.24
Sunday school at Charleston, Miss	15.00
A widow sister at Woodbury, Tenn	1.00
Church at Dickson, Tenn	100.00
Lochie Cole, Geyserville, Cal	1.00
W. Jack Paisley, Aspen Hill, Tenn	10.00

It is almost impossible to get an Armenian child in any of the Near East Relief orphanages to say that he is hungry, says a letter from a relief worker, just received at the headquarters of Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, New York City.

At first, relief workers did not understand this, but finally, a seven-year-old girl, Nevart Basmadjian at Aleppo, offered a solution.

"How can we say that we are hungry?" she demanded. "This is not like the great hunger."

By "the great hunger" the children mean that which they endured at the time of their deportation, when for days along the line of march they had no food, and when the Turks would beat them or try to kill them if they stopped to drink at the wayside streams. Nevart herself endured this common fate for days, and saw her mother die on the road of starvation.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

The Work at McGregor, Ga.

Since last report Sister Hooper writes me that she has received fifty dollars from the church at Dickson, Tenn. I am inclosing a check for fifty dollars in a letter to her to-day (January 20)-thirty-nine dollars from the West End Avenue congregation and eleven dollars from East Point-and more will follow in a few days. Brother Prevatt writes me that they need from eight hundred to a thousand dollars' help from others in order to get the house ready for a meeting by the first of May. The check from Dickson and the one I am sending make one-tenth of the amount needed. What congregations and individuals will hurry their checks on to Sister Vina Hooper, McGregor, Ga., and help us to soon report that we are "over the top" with this and ready for the next place? Please, brethren, help, and that now. Let the churches in Georgia learn now to join hands in putting new congregations on the map. Let us see how many new congregations with houses in which to worship we can have by the first of another year. Let our friends out of this State remember that we will also appreciate their prayers and help.

0 0 0

The McHenry-Martin Defection.

There has just fallen into my hands a tract, published by A. H. Williams, Seventh-Day Adventist Publishing House at Lucknow, in which I find what Brethren Mc-Henry and Martin have to say about a wonderful illumination they have received from above (?) on the Sabbath-day and Lord's-day observance. Doubtless, kind reader, you have had, at times, a feeling that it was difficult for you to express. Just such a feeling I now have.

In the first place, just how any one who has had even a smattering knowledge of the teaching of God's eternal truth could go off with such practices goes beyond my comprehension. Hence, I am constrained to ask some questions: What kind of men were they when they left the United States for India? What did they know about the Bible? Is it not time to call a halt in picking up just any one, on the authority of a few, and sending him abroad, and then calling on the brotherhood to support him? Had we not better look fully into this foreign missionary work, not only in India, but in Japan and elsewhere, and know a bit better the qualifications and character of the missionaries that are being sent out? I have heard of Adventists-quite a number of them-discovering their delusions and coming to God's truth; but this thing of people who claim to be identified with the church of Christ turning aside to such false teaching as our Seventh-Day Adventists teach on the Sabbath question is a thing new to me.

In the second place, I would love to know, if any one can inform the brethren, just how long they have been off on this question. Money has been going to them up till just recently. They could not have made this change and got out this little tract and sent it all the way across the waters in a week or so. I am left to wonder, not only about their soundness of faith, but of their honesty as well. No honest person would have continued to receive money from a brotherhood after turning their backs upon one of the most outstanding tenets of the faith of the followers of Christ. How long did they take and use our offerings after they had made this change? Will they tell? I do not believe there is a congregation of disciples of Christ on earth that would even receive into its fellowship a man from the Adventists, if it knew at the time that this man was keeping the Adventists in the dark on the question and continuing to receive and use offerings they were sending him.

In the third place, this recalls to my mind the news that was going, some time before Brother Jelley returned to America, about some very dirty treatment he received at the hands of these men, and especially McHenry, which treatment was known and approved by their principal supporters. At that time I thought, and came very nearly insisting, that a full investigation should be made in this matter. If what I have heard of their treatment of Jelley is true, then I am not surprised at their going to the Adventists, and would not be surprised that they received and used funds from a brotherhood, knowing at the time they were betraying it.

My answer to these brethren, so far as their tract is concerned, is: May the God of mercy pity you and spare you till your eyes are opened to the terrible sin you have committed, not only in turning aside after false teaching, but in deceiving those who loved you and made sacrifices to support you.

"Almost Startled."

One of the expressions that I find in this tract of Mc-Henry and Martin is: "We were almost startled at the light that shined down upon us, and desire in this communication to place before you some of the things that the Holy Spirit has impressed upon our hearts." Had you ever thought of the sameness of all false religions? Not one of them stands wholly upon the all-sufficiency of the word. O, they may claim that the Scriptures contain "all things that pertain to life and godliness," but many of their positions they will tell us they never thought of taking till a light came down upon them. That is, just the "grand old Book" alone was not enough to give them light; some extra light, some special power from above, must come down and help them to see the position. In other words, just to look at what the Book says about the question leaves it rather dark; but when this extra light comes, everything is plain. The position simply is this: there must be some operation or illuminating influence of the Spirit along with the word to enable us to see it. The Mormons claim this; the Adventists claim it; and the Holiness people claim the same. What false religion do you know of that does not lay claim to something like this? And the bad part about it is, a few of those who claim to be pleading for the restoration of apostolic Christianity say they have it; and I am very much afraid that it was this error, or something tantamount to it, that was the cause of McHenry and Martin's departure from the truth. Hence, I would beg the brethren to be charitable, and, instead of wasting too much time in talking and writing about their departure, get busy at home and see that our missionaries are taught before they are sent abroad to teach others. o o

"I Don't Know."

I find this expression in Brother G. Dallas Smith's review of Brother Scobey's article: "I read further into the article and found our aged brother assuming a position for which he gives not one iota of scripture. I refer to his position that the kingdom and the church are two different institutions. This may be true; I do not know. My own mind is not clear on the subject."

Of course, Brother Smith is correct in saying Brother Scobey did not give proof. Brother Scobey shows his greatness in replying by saying, "I confess to him I am unable to find such a statement"—that is, chapter and verse where the Scripture says so. I do not think Brother G. Dallas Smith expected Brother Scobey, or any one else, as to that matter, to give proof of such a proposition. But it is Brother Smith's "I do not know" and "my own

CATARRH DOES HARM

Whether It Is of the Nose, Throat, or Other Organs, Get Rid of It.

Catarrh of the nose or throat when it becomes chronic weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and may lead to consumption. It impairs the taste, smell and hearing, and affects the voice. It is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by purifying the blood removes the cause of the disease and gives permanent relief. This alterative and tonic medicine has proved entirely satisfactory to thousands of families in three generations.

If there is biliousness or constipation, take Hood's Pills,-they are a thorough cathartic, a gentle laxative.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys. like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean; and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious com-

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who bein overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

PELLAGI

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today.

CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY, Dept. 74 Atlants, Ga. Atlanta, Ga.

mind is not clear on the subject" that I am after. Brother Smith has had on the market "Outlines of Bible Study" for a number of years. It is a fine work. I have used them with great success in Bible drills. In that book he teaches that the church, or kingdom, was established on Pentecost. In these splendid lessons, I think students would come to believe that every baptized believer on Pentecost went into the church and kingdom at the same time and in the same way. Why does he now say, "I do not know?" There was a time when preachers seemed to speak with certainty about things. Why so much of this "I do not know" these days? There was a time when they spoke with certainty about the church or kingdom's being established on Pentecost. There was a time when they spoke with certainty about the church and kingdom's being coextensive, so far as the church and kingdom's existence on this earth is concerned: they were established at the same time; the same law that makes us members of the church makes us citizens of the kingdom; the same law of behavior in the church is the law of conduct in the kingdom; the head of the church is the King in this kingdom; etc. And if those who claim to stay with the Book will continue to speak as it speaks, they will throw all of these "I do not knows" away and continue to so preach. Of course, the Bible says that after we leave this state we will be received into the eternal kingdom of the Father. Whether there will be a difference in the church then is another question. It will be time enough for us to know this then.

There are no two men in the brotherhood that I love more than Brethren Scobey and Smith. Too, here let me say that I am pleased with the splendid spirit they both manifest toward each other. I simply wanted to take this occasion to ask for more certainty, more confidence, in our writing. If we do not know, let us stop teaching till we do know. "Prove all things" before teaching is the way we are taught to do. Brother Scobey made a mistake in presenting through the paper a position not based on the plain, simple teaching of our only guide-namely, God's revealed will.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. This calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustrations. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural illustrations, such as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy Women," There are twelve of these monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustration on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sun-days. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of the twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, which enables one to select one of seven calendars for use in each of 200 years from 1800 to 2002.

The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers. the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the name of some prospective business student. In writing, mention this paper.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes,

Try it right now for rheumatism, neural-

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs; corns, bunions, etc. After one application, pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 30c, 60c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mall from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY,

Jackson, Tenn.

HANCOCK'S PILE REMEDY.

Three jars are guaranteed to cure the severest case of piles, or your money will be refunded. One jar often gives the desired results. For blind, bleeding, itching, protruding, or ulcerated piles. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggists's or by mail from woods and needs. What Ginseng $20 lb., Seal $5.50. It will grow in your backyard in the shade. Book and prices free. BOTANICAL 18

HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY, Oxford, N. C.

WEST HAVEN, CONN.

Louisiana Notes.

BY A. K. RAMSEY.

Louisiana, with a population of more than fifteen hundred thousand. has less than one thousand (estimated) active, loyal Christians (French excepted); and these are scattered throughout the State, keeping house for the Lord in small bands. With the exception of the New Orleans congregation, so far as I know, there is not another congregation in the State financially able to support a preacher on full-time work. Besides keeping up its own work. New Orleans helps liberally in Louisiana work outside of the city. I have found Louisiana brethren ready to encourage any loval, faithful preacher, and to assist him financially to the extent of their ability. With as few as four preachers devoting full time to Louisiana work, only one congregation able to support its work, a few able to have monthly preaching, and a small number able to support continued meetings in the summer months, Louisiana is seen to be a vast mission field in which the gospel is being preached under difficulties. For example, there are five towns within forty miles of Forest Hill in which tent meetings should be held this year, and in none of them can we hope for financial assistance. This condition obtains over the entire State. If Louisiana is to be evangelized with its present working force with no assistance from out of the State, it must be done through sacrifice and hardships, from which, however, none of us flinch; but we do think that some one from out of the State could take care of a few mission meetings for us.

As to our teaching on missionary matters, the Forest Hill congregation, with only three active male members, during 1919 contributed three hundred and forty-four dollars and seventy-seven cents. Of this, only two hundred and thirty-five dollars was used locally, the balance being given to others. Justly could we have pleaded need of the entire sum. But at what price? The curbing of missionary zeal. God forbid! At Iota a better showing can be made by an older and stronger congregation.

Brethren, put Louisiana on your prayer list.

Recipe for Gray Hair.

To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth of an ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off .- Advt.

YOU KNOW that indigestion can be cured, permanently cured, so that you can eat any kind of food that you crave? It has been done not only once, but in almost every case when Chamberlain's Tablets are used. An instance: Mr. J. Pominville, Stillwater, Minn., who had spent over $2,000.00 for medicine and treatment was permanently cured by these tablets.

hamberlain's Tablets

ALSO A FINE GENERAL STRENGTHEN-For MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER Sold by All Drug Stores. ING TONIC.

> Men pay only for cures

People suffering from blood poison, catarrh, skin, liver, kidaey, bladder and chronic diseases, eczema, nervous debility, exhaustion, weakness of the lungs, heart and nerves should write us for free advice question chart and book describing their condition. Piles and rectal diseases, such as fistula, fissure, stricture or varicose veins, which cause loss of vitality, nervousness and general debility, cured or no pay. Out of town people, visiting the city in need of treatment, consult us. Many cases cured in one or two visits. Consultation free and confidential. Twenty years successful experience. Hours 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1 only. DRS. MORRIS AND HARRELL

Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts.

Atlanta, Ga.

When the Compass Fails.

Sometimes the position of a vessel at sea, when no observations can be taken of the sun or stars, is determined by what is called "dead-reckoning." Calculations are made, based on the distances recorded by the log and the indications of the compass, with due allowance for drift, leeway, and other influences. It is said, however, that few shins can make correctly by dead-reckoning the entrance into the river on which the Spanish town of Bilbao is situated. The reason assigned is that the immense mass of iron ore in the neighboring mountains deflects the needle and makes the compass untrue.

In the case of Judas Iscariot the love of gain had so swung his conscience that it no longer pointed steadily and constantly in the direction of the right and noble, but left him to be drawn aside to the false and base, with the sad result that he wrecked his life through the treacherous betrayal of his Lord and Master.

All around us in the world are influences threatening to draw men down from the path of the upward calling. He alone is safe who fixes his eye on the great Example and follows him at whatever cost.-The

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for the full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 30c.

How Shivar Mineral Water Relieves Rheumatism

According to the standard medical books, rheumatism is not a germ disease, but is the result of imperfect nutrition. The food is either imperfectly digested or imperfectly assimilated. Poisons accumulate, and these irritate and inflame the delicate linings of the joints, the heart, and other organs. To relieve rheumatism, it is, therefore, recessary to stop the formation of these poisons and get rid of those already formed.

The celebrated Shivar Mineral Water acts on the stomach and kidneys. It corrects the digestion and washes out the poisons through the kidneys. This is the opinion of physicians who prescribe it. If you suffer with rheumatism, dyspepsia, indigestion, disease of the kidneys, bladder, or liver, uric-acid poisoning, or any curable conditions due to impure blood, read the following letter, then sign it, inclose the amount, and mail it. Only two out of a hundred on the average report no benefit.

Shivar Spring, Box 21B, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons of Shivar Mineral Water. I agree to give it a fair trial, in accordance with instructions contained in booklet you will send; and if it fails to benefit my case, you agree to refund the price in full upon receipt of the two empty demijohns, which I agree to return within a month.

Name	28 43	100			 • • • • • •
Addre	B	55 F	*	9000
Shippi	ng P	oint

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of serving the little church at Shivar Spring as pastor for a number of years, and am therefore well acquainted with Mr. Shivar and his associates, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived great benefit from the use of the Shivar Mineral Water, and have knowledge

Skin Injuries

Frequently become infected and prove fatal.

At first sign apply

It soothes and heals—cuts, burns, bruises, stings, bites, old sores, eczema 50c and $1.00 at your druggist's. Ka-Dene Soap, applied first, cleanses and disinfects.

Dealers write for special liberal proposition.

THE KA-DENE MED. GO., Nashville, Tenn.
"Just Put Ka-Dene on it."

Renew Your Subscription to the Gospel Advocate To-Day.

Thoughts Along the Way.

BY J. Y. M'QUIGG.

The world "do move" right along in the same old way, regardless of the many predictions of so many would-be prophets all over our land. They now should see their folly and their nothingness when they attempt to unfold the future, which a loving Father has, in his goodness, sealed up, and has told us in his blessed word that no one knoweth the day nor the hour, not even the angels in heaven, when Jesus shall come again. Had they only studied that Book, the Book of all books, the best, and made themselves acquainted with the facts taught therein, they could have saved themselves from being the laughingstock of the world. They can never hope to undo the harm they have done to all those who were influenced by them to act so foolishly. It is folly to offer any word of advice to the former class of knowing ones; but to the latter class, especially those who claim to be Christians, I would urge a closer study of our waybill from earth to heaven; make it the man of your counsel by day and night, and then you will not be disturbed by any predictions that contradict any part of God's blessed word.

Did You Know That-

Every eighth person in the world is a Mohammedan?

French Africa is more than twenty times as large as France?

There are over two million wives in India under ten years of age?

South America has the largest unexplored area of any continent?

It is as far around the coast of Africa as it is around the world?

Three out of every four people in South America can neither read nor write?

In Persia, eighty-five out of every one hundred children do not live to grow up?

The Amazon River system has over fifty thousand miles of navigable waterway, enough to tie two loops around our planet?—Exchange.

Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts. Do not make the mistake of doubting your beliefs and believing your doubts.—Charles F. Deems.

Colds Cause Headaches and Pains

Feverish Headaches and Body Pains caused from a cold are soon relieved by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

AN OLD RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY, recommended for coughs, rolds, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe, and pronchial coughs, hoarseness, etc.

The First Dose Gave Relief

C. E. Summers, Holdredge, Neb., writest "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cough and cold due to exposure. My cough got so had I could hardly sleep for two or three nights. A friend of mine recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and I got a 60c bottle. The very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough once all night. By using as directed he next two days my cough was entirely gone, and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy and permanent recovery."

For more than thirty years Foley's Honey and Tar has been used with satisfaction and success.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

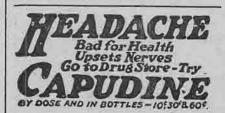

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy, and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded, or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all read to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied; it is so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft, and beautiful.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for $6c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

TOO WEAK TO DO ANYTHIN

A Serious Feminine Illness Remedied By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Casco, Wis. - "After the birth of each of my children I had displacement and was so weak I couldn't do anything I found a book about Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable ham's Vegetable Compound so thought I would try it, and after taking it I soon felt better. That was fifter. teen years ago and I have felt well ever since except that I had a slight attack of the trouble some time ago and took some more of your Compound and was soon all right again. I always recommend your medicine and you may publish my testimonial for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. Jules Bero, Jr., R. 1, Box 99, Casco, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills most successful remedy for female ills in this country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

PETTERINE

Makes low necks and short sleeves possible. It clears the skin

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

The Master's Vineyard

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, January 19 .- There were six additions at the morning service yesterday. Besides, I baptized the man who came forward last Lord's day. The audience was the largest we have had so far, I think. In the afternoon we had a business meeting. I never was privileged to see such fine deliberation by a body of men who were seeking the advancement of the cause of the blessed Redeemer a body of men, too, who are a real success in the world of business. At this meeting the brethren voluntarily raised my salary and offered me the work here for another year—that is, until September, 1921. The fourth month of the first year has not yet expired. We are expecting great things for God in Oklahoma City. things for God in Oklahoma City. Brother J. Will Henley was with us for the evening service and delivered an excellent sermon. We were glad to have him with us .- J. A. Hudson.

Tennessee.

Pikeville, January 16.-We have had an enjoyable visit from Brother J. L. Hines, now of Meaford, Ontario, Canada, at our Bible reading at the new church house here at College Station. He delivered three able sermons also at this point and one at Lee Station, also preached one night at Center Point and one day at Atpontley. I am sure great good has been done by his The Bible reading is being visited by brethren from Pikeville, Station, and other points, and I believe good is being done.-Andrew Perry.

Decherd, January 15 .- I preached at Morrison on the third Lord's day in November to a large audience. A little invalid girl made the good confession and was baptized. Her father drove his buggy out into the water at the ford of the creek, and I placed her Her father in a chair and baptized her. Morrison has one of the best congregations that On the fourth Lord's day in I visit. November I was at Lois, in Moore This is another good congre-County. This is another good congregation with about two hundred mem-On the first Lord's day in December I was at Fairview, my home congregation. This is where I congregation. This is where I preached my first sermon, a little over I have four and a half years ago. been holding meetings for them ever since and have baptized about sixty persons. Brother Tom Wedington is the leader there. On the second Lord's day in December I preached to a large audience at Tracy City. This congregation has been getting along real well ever since the preachers' meeting there last spring. They are supporting three preachers a part of the time. They have preaching three times a month, paying each preacher twenty dollars for each Lord's day. Brethren, if your congregation has grown cold and careless, have a preachers' meeting, and I am sure that it will be aroused to its duty. I was at Bridgeport, Ala., on the fifth Lord's day in November. There is a splendid congregation there. This is the home Brethren Holder and Jernigan. They are doing a good work evangeliz-I preached at Manchester, Tenn., on the first Lord's day in January.

ROOT. Is not recommended for everything; but if you have kidney. If you have trouble it may be found just the medicine you need. At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may receive a sample size bottle of this reliable medicine by Parcel Post, also pamphlet telling about it. Address Dr. Klimer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this pareer.

I will continue at these places until I begin protracted-meeting work in the early spring. On Tuesday night after the second Lord's day in December 1 was called to College Station, in Bled-soe County, to meet a so-called "Holy Roller" in debate. He affirmed that people to-day are baptized in the Hely Ghost like the apostles were; that people to-day can perform miracles, that signs follow them, and that they can speak in tongues. I denied. We spoke an hour each the first night, with the understanding that we continue the debate for a few nights; but at the close of the first night's discussion he backed down and refused to continue the discussion. While there I preached two sermons in the new meetinghouse,—R. E. L. Taylor.

Texas.

Kilgore, January 19 .- Yesterday was a good day for us at Will's Point. Our audiences were larger than usual and the interest was good. I go to Ponta next Lord's day. I am busy.— John W. Hedge.

Waxahachie, January 19.—Yesterday was a fine day here, with large, en-thusiastic crowds and two additions. The church is in perfect peace, and love prevails. We rejoice in the growing cause of Christ all over the country.—Ben West.

McKinney, January 16.—I am now located at this place. I am ready to arrange meetings for the summer and fall anywhere I am wanted or needed. My work last year was the most successful in every way I have ever had, and I wish to make this one the greatest of my life. Brethren can help me do so by keeping me busy in the Lord's vineyard.—A. N. Kennedy.

Eggs Paid the Pastor

Eggs Paid the Pastor

Mrs. Lena McBroen, Woodbury, Tenn., writes: "Twe got more eggs than I ever did in my life, paid my debts, clothed the children in new dresses, and I paid my pastor ins dues. I have money to spare now.
'More Eggs' is the remedy for me. I sold forty-two and one-half dozen eggs last week, set four dozen ate some, and had one and one-half dozen left."

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, discovered the wooderful tonic, "More Eggs," that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens work all the time. You need this great egg producer. It means big egg profits for you. Don't delay.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size
$1 packages of "More Bggs," one package heing absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weaken and run-down condition, get my "Electric Belt." For Weakness, Nervous Dehillir, Rheumatism, Backache, and Bladder Troubles, Special introductory price $1, postpaid. Dr. Frank M. Welch, Atlanta, Ga.

Rub It! Rheumatism Pain Stops. Try It

on't Suffer! Instantly Relieve Sore, Aching Muscles and Joints With "St. Jacob's Liniment." Don't Suffer!

Rheumatism is "pain only."

Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! the misery right away! Apply soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment" directly upon the "tender spot," and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Stop complaining! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" at any drug store, and in just a moment you will be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Liniment" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains, and swellings.

TETTERINE tor the COMPLEXION

60c at your druggist's or from Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

FREE Puncture 6.000 Miles Guaranteed

Free Reliner With Each Tire
In ordering he sure to state size wanted also whether a s, clincher, plain or non-skid. Send $2.00 deposit on each tire, balance C. O. D. subject to examination; 5 per cent discount if you send full amount with order. Rush your order teday.
Reliable Tire and Rubber Co.
3440 Michigan Ave.
Chicago, III.

"Scarcity of Preachers."

BY H. W. JONES.

I have been reading with interest what all the brethren have been saying, in recent issues of the Gospel Advocate, concerning the present scarcity of gospel preachers and the much-discussed question of supporting them, Brother J. W. Brents wrote a splendid article and said many good things, as did others; but, as I see it, Brother Beasley "hit the nail square on the head" and made some telling points in his short article in the Gospel Advocate of December 18. Look it up, preachers, and read it again.

Yes, brethren, I fear the trouble lies in the lack of preachers of the Pauline type. We need more tentmaking preachers, farming preachers, carpenter-preachers, merchant-preachers, doctor-preachers, fishermen-preachers, etc. God grant us more preachers like the old-time gospel preachers, who would take off their coats, roll up their sleeves, and work at some useful occupation part of the time and preach all they could! I have often thought. and have said a few times, that a preacher who could do nothing but preach can do no extraordinary preaching. Some of the best preaching I ever heard was done by men of a practical turn of mind who could (and did) "take hold" and do more than one thing well. Paul was that kind of man, and so was Peter and others of the infant age of the church; but not so many now since the age of the professional preacher has been ushered in. And if we had more of these old-time gospel preachers, we would not be led to "make elders out of pop guns" so often as we now attempt to do. And a revival of the oldtime preacher would make preachers less dependent than they now are. And, besides, it is better for one's health to engage in manual labor part of the time instead of "loafing round town, whittling boxes, telling jokes, and watching the trains pass." Yes, a good supply of the Pauline type of preachers to-day would remove many difficulties that now confront us.

So, here's to you, Brother Beasley! I, too, am a farmer, and preach part of the time, mostly at "mission" points, and have more "calls" from such places, near home, than I can fill. 'I held three "mission" meetings this year, besides other preaching (regularly and irregularly). At two of these "mission" places I was the first of our brethren to preach the gospel, and I did not go to any of these places backed up by some congregation elsewhere; for had I waited for that, I would likely not have gone. I went because one or two or three

WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM LEUCORRHEA

Write to This Trained Nurse For Full Information; How to Quickly End at Home

SENT FREE

Miss Anna Cavanaugh, Registered Nurse. Buffalo, N. Y., and prominent member of the Nurses' Institute, of that city, has found a new method, easily and safely used at home, whereby leucorrhea ("whites") may be quickly overcome in nearly any case.

A. Cavanaugh, R. N.

This method has proved so successful in work among her patients, and has brought so many women suffering from this anneying, unsanitary, and dangerous complaint from deep despair to joyful satisfaction, that she has decided to offer the benefit of her experience to the women of the world.

Women and girls who are victims of this amazingly common, but little understood, disorder should certainly write her in confidence without delay and get her generous advice and full information how they may quickly and safely end their trouble at home in a pleasant and harmless manner. Send money, but write name and address plainly (stating whether Mrs. or Miss), and inclose with your letter the Free Coupon below, adding, if you like, a two-cent stamp for her reply. Address her: Miss Anna Cav-anaugh, R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Insti-tute, Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE COUPON This certificate entitles any reader of the Gospel Advocate to Miss Cavanaugh's free confidential advice and instructions (sent in plain sealed envelope) for the ending of leucorrhea (whites). Cut out and plut to letter. Good for immediate use only. Address Anna Cavanaugh. R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Institute, Buffaic, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICE.-We earnestly advise every lady who has any trouble with leucorrhea, or "whites," to accept the above offer at once. The advice Miss Cavanaugh gives on this subject is sincere, genuine, and invaluable, the standing of the donor being unquestioned.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Removes Dandruff Stops Hair Falling Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair Soc. and Stop at druggists. Hiscox Chem. Whs. Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Cal-louses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. be, by mail or at Drag-gists, Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. X.

itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex-faithful ones at these places insisted on my going, and I was treated well at all these places, and had good meetings at all of them, and nothing but peace and harmony and love and good will prevailed among us at any of these places. At two of these places little bands of disciples promised to meet regularly. If this be insurgency on my part, make the most of it. The freewill offerings at one of these places amounted to about twenty-five dollars; at another, about thirty-five; and at the other, about sixty-five; and that did well for an eight or ten days' meeting at such places. It paid me fairly well for the time I was out; and I am trying to make a living here on the farm, and have not failed to produce more corn, hay, etc., than we consumed here at home since I have been farming, about seven years, and I am the main dependence to do the farm work, as I hire but little help. There are six of us in the familywife and I, three small tots, and my aged mother. I am not complaining at my lot. I like it, and chose farming after being engaged in schoolteaching for several years. We raise corn, hogs, chickens, and other good things to eat right here on the farm; hence, buy but little that goes on our table. So the preaching I do will be a "go" whether the brethren pay much or not. We are "running on the independent ticket;" and if it does not happen to suit any one (or more), then vote for the other man.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

I was talking along this line to an able preacher of nearly forty years' experience, this year, and he frankly told me that he had made a mistake in failing to learn some useful occupation to work at while he was not preaching the gospel. Had he learned to make tents, farm, or something else, it would not be with him as it now is. We know many congregations are behind in supporting the truth, but for preachers to wait and do nothing till they wake up only makes bad matters worse.

To Fortify the System Against Colds, Grip and Influenza

take GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC. It Purifies and Enriches the Blood, it Builds up and Strengthens the Whole System. It Fortifies the System Against Colds, Grip and Influenza. Price 80c

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL, 1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and sur-geons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife, X-Ray, radium, or acids. Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hos-pital, without the use of either. Physicians and surgeons treated free at the hospital.

"THE SANITARY" Communion CUPS List of thousands of churches using our cups and FREE CATALOG with quotations sent upon request.
Sanitary Communion Outfit Co., 71st St., Rochester, N. Y.

They Lift Their Eyes to God-and You

Babies in the Bible Lands born in exile.

These little ones torn from their homes before they had come to know what protection and loving care meant-

These children accustomed to home comforts and care, but driven now for five years from place to place; shivering, starving, dying along the roadsides.

Fatherless, motherless, homeless, helpless, these children, 250,000 of them, will die of starvation, exposure and disease unless they are given help. Several thousand of them already are protected in Near East Relief orphanages, but

Many Thousands Are Starving

Only your generosity can save them. Shall they die or will you do your part?

The time fixed for the offering in the Church School is as soon after the first of the year as possible. Your School should be represented in the work.

You make it your business to see THAT IT IS.

EAR EAST RE

(formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief.)

CLEVELAND H. DODGE, Treasurer

1 Madison Avenue

New York City

Pastors and church leaders should keep themselves informed regarding conditions among these most persecuted of Christian people. It costs you nothing to get the facts. For your own information send for our latest reports on present day conditions in the Near East.

This advertisement is privately paid for by a friend of the Armenian people.

in answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

114 EGGS A DAY NOW INSTEAD of 25 A DAY

That Means About $105 Extra Income Per Month for Mrs. Ropp.

"I have 200 hens, including late pullets not old enough to lay, and had been getting 25 to 30 eggs a day. Then I tried Don Sung in the feed, and am now getting 107 to 114 eggs a day."—Mrs. Essie B. Ropp, R. R. 2. Littles, Ind.

Mrs. Ropp got this increase of seven dozen a day in the middle of winter. At 50 cents a dozen, 30 days a month, this makes $105 extra income a month, The Don Sung for her 200 hens cost her about $2.50 per month. You can see how well it paid her, and we'll guarantee it will pay you. Here's our offer: Give your hens Don Sung, and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself, and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us, and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for thirty days, and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry-reimedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mall, prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Company, 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

CHURCH NEWS

Alabama.

Huntsville, January 20.—All my Lord's days are taken up preaching. I could use nearly as many more. have one midweek appointment. began a music class last night with the congregation at Dallas Mills, in Huntsville. I will soon be back in meeting work, singing and preaching. -E. Gaston Collins.

Jasper, January 18.—During last year I planted the cause in three new places. There were, in all, about seventy-five additions. I am still preaching, and have all my time engaged preaching among the poor people of Alabama and in destitute places. I have not received enough pay to supply all my needs, so I have decided to ask congregations and individuals for a small donation to get me a suit of clothes. The clothes, shoes, and hat will cost me about fifty dollars. small donation from each one would enable me to continue the good work. Brethren, I am sixty-nine years old and have been preaching for forty years, and I have spent all I ever made above a common living in preaching the gospel to the people. So I do not think it is asking too much to ask for a little help in my old age. Send all donations to me at Jasper, Ala., and I will continue in the good work as long as I am able.-C. A. Wheeler.

California.

Santa Rosa, January 15.—Last Sunday night closed a very interesting and successful meeting conducted by Brother Earnest C. Love at this place. He preached sixteen sermons, mostly on first principles, the equal of any I have ever heard in pure gospel teaching, in a style which was clear, forceful, interesting, and convincing. The attendance, interest, and enthusiasm were more than good. Much private teaching and personal work had been done and the time was just right for a harvest-time meeting. There were twelve baptisms, and one sister who had been baptized came forward and This may not took her stand with us. seem like an unusual meeting for most the readers of this report, but for California and the Pacific Coast it was a great meeting. About eight years ago this number would almost have doubled our membership. Thirteen newborn babes in Christ, and what will we do with them? Solomon says the day of death is better than the day of one's birth. This means a fearful responsibility upon parents. The responsibility upon the church to care for these little ones in Christ is just as great. The churches do not lay too much stress upon making new converts and baptizing them into Christ; but they do not give enough thought and work to keep them and to teach and help them to grow. Let us pray that the Lord may awaken us to a greater sense of duty toward the young members and toward making the church pure within.-Felix G. Owen.

Colorado.

Fort Collins, January 19.—I have been preaching in Fort Collins for two weeks. There was one addition the first night and another last night. We are averaging about one addition. a week this winter in the work in which I am engaged, which is good for mission work. Last night I baptized a lady who made the good confession at the little mission lately established in Loveland. Another has determined unite with us next Lord's day, at Bellvue, so I learned last night. try to preach each Lord's day at the three places—Fort Collins, Bellvue, and Loveland; and when I do not preach at Bellvue, I preach twice in Fort Collins. I manage to get to Love-land every Lord's day, "rain or "rain or shine." The meetings in Loveland are now conducted in the Mennonite meetinghouse, 2 East Seventh Street. We have leased this house for afternoons and evenings on Lord's days. We meet at 3 P.M. every Lord's day .-E. C. Fuqua.

Mississippi.

Water Valley, January 20.—1 filled my regular appointment at Quiner Chapel on the first Lord's day in this month. Our new meetinghouse is completed, and we have a good house. We had splendid services and a good crowd. Quiner Chapel is in Sunflower County, near Ruleville. The church is County, near Ruleville. very much alive at this time and is doing a great work .- A, Y. Howell.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic prop-erties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today and you can get it from any drag day, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

OBITUARIES

Brown.

Sister Emily Brown, widow of the late H. C. Brown, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Brown, on December 26, 1919. She was nearly eighty years old. She leaves four eighty years old. She leaves four daughters—Mrs. Tom Brown, Mrs. John Kobeck, and Mrs. Jeff Tidwell, who live in and near Lawrenceburg, Tenn., and Mrs. Will Rutherford, of Texas; and two step children-Mrs. A. Lutts, of Texas, and Gaston G. Brown, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn. All are mem-bers of the church. She was a faithful member of the church of Christ for thirty years. She died, as she had lived, "in the Lord." Funeral services were held at the home by the writer of this. She was buried beside her husband in the Brown graveyard.

THOMAS C. KING.

Grimes.

Eunice Anice Ballard was born on October 28, 1894, and departed this life on March 24, 1919. She obeyed the gospel when she was thirteen years old, and was faithful and loyal in her attendance on the first day of the week. She was married to Osborne Grimes on November 23, 1916, and was, indeed, a true helpmeet, as was manifested in their joint work during the few short years of their married life. She was woman of fine common sense, positive and firm in her opinions. She was loved and honored as one of the best Christian girls in her community. In my judgment, she was, indeed, a model girl. I do not mean that she was perfect, but she was truly an exception. She was loving and obedient to her stepmother, who, in turn, loved her sincerely and devotedly, always manifesting great interest in her welfare, and who is sad and lonely with-out her. We cannot but ask why she was taken so young, seeing that the world is so much in need of such women; but disappointment is written upon all the earth. She leaves a heartbroken husband, a father, a stepmother, a half-brother, together with many relatives and friends, to mourn her departure. May we all emulate her many virtues, and may God's rich blessings comfort the bereaved ones and help all to say: "Thy will be done." Mrs. W. R. Thurman.

Adkisson.

Brother Samuel Hampton Adkisson was born on July 22, 1852, and died at his home, at Donelson, Tenn., on Octo-23, 1919. He obeyed the gospel under the preaching of Brother E. G. Sewell in September, 1883. He lived a quiet, humble, patient, faithful, Christian life till he was called up higher. Brother Adkisson was mar-ried to Miss Tennie Greer on October 31, 1880. Three sons and three daughters were born to them. All three of the sons died in infancy. The three daughters, two grandchildren, and the faithful wife survive him. He was a faithful husband, a kind and tender father, a good neighbor, and a true Christian. To be a true Christian covers and includes all the rest. Brother Adkisson left two brothers

INFLUENZA LEFT HIS SYSTEM CHARGED WITH CATARRH

Clergyman in Missouri Finds A Remedy

The poisonous dregs of Spanish Influenza still remain in the body, a sinister promise of trouble, long af-ter the disease itself has departed. It is during this convalescent period that a health building, strength producing remedy is most needed, a rem-edy to sooth the in-flamed and congested mucous membranes, to tone up the nervous system and to purify the blood. Upon the in-telligent selection of the proper medicine at this time may depend the patient's future health and life.

The Rev. Joseph Dillard of Wilo. Dinard of Williamsville, Wayne Co., Missouri, writes feelingly and interestingly of his experience and recommends a remedy to those afflicted with catarrh or recover ing from Spanish Influenza. His letter is as follows:

"I had a case of Flu last winter, which left my whole system heavily charged with Catarrh. Having heard of Pe-ru-na for Catarrh I procured six boxes of the remedy in tablet form and took them as directed. Now, I am a minister of the Gospel and want to say, gentlemen, that I have never taken a medicine that did as much good as Pe-ru-na for Catarrh."

The Rev. Dillard's

experience could well be yours or any-one's. Spauish Inone's. Spauish In-fluenza is a terrible disease, ravishing the strength and vitality, leaving the whole system clogged with filthy, putrid wastes and sodden with impurities.

The value of Peru-na in thousands of such cases has been demonstrated just as positively and satisfactorily as in the in-stance of the Rev. Dillard. The results he obtained are but normal and what one naturally expects from a medicine that has stood the test for fifty years.

It matters not whether you buy Pe-ru-na in tablet or liquid (your dealer has both) you may expect the same satisfactory results.

also on this side, who are growing old and are no doubt getting ready for the reunion "over there." The im-mediate cause of Brother Adkisson's death was spinal trouble caused from a fall from his horse sometime since. While he suffered greatly from this trouble, he was not confined to his bed, and, therefore, his death came as a shock to his family and friends. While I have known Brother Adkisson for many years, his daughter, who knew him better than I, writes to me con-cerning her father that purity of life patience were two of his most striking characteristics. members to have heard him utter an impure word or to have seen him manifest any great degree of anger. He was always even-tempered and patient." He was uncomplaining and patient in pain and affliction. patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." This family has suffered a great loss, but may there be a happy reunion in the glory world.

F. B. SEYGLEY.

He that hath a pure heart will never cease to pray, and he who will be constant in prayer shall know what it is to have a pure heart.-La Combe, Convalescence after pneumonia, typhoid fever, and the grip is sometimes merely apparent, not real. To make it real and rapid, there is no other tonic so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands so testify. Take Hood's.

Most of the heresies and false doctrines which have sprung up in the church have resulted from the fitting over of theology to conform to a shrunken spirituality.-Selected.

"I Wasn't Getting an Egg -Now Get 10 a Day"

"I received your 'More Eggs' Tonic and started giving it to my hens. I wasn't getting an egg; now I am getting 10 a day." So writes Mrs Ernest Campbell, of Mineral, raiser can easily double his Any poultry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. Reefer's "More Eggs" is a scientific tonic that revitalizes the flock and makes the hens lay all the time. "More Eggs" will double the production of eggs. Poultry raisers everywhere are making big profits by giving their hens "More Eggs." The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you. Any poultry

The results of a few cents' worth will amaze you.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Bullding, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs," one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

Stop Itching

Skins with Tetterine 60c. at your druggist's or from SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga

BETTER THAN COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by Euro-pean and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities and proclaimed by enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new clixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoon of Aspronal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children .- Adv.)

The Dearth of Preachers.

BY T. M. CARNEY.

Many excellent articles have appeared in recent issues of the Gospel Advocate on this subject. The question has been asked: "Is there a dearth of preachers, and why?"

Brother J. W. Brents, in his article of December 11, presents the way to solve this important problem of making preachers and also their support. When Christians, or professed Christians, build their homes after God's eternal purposes and revealed will as taught in the Bible, then, and not until then, will we have the necessary number of real gospel preachers to 'carry on" as we should.

There is a troublesome spirit himdering many that otherwise might be useful-viz.: "My child should become 'a great man of the world?"" It seems that some imagine that the church is a small and insignificant affair, to which others must give their attention. The question, "What must I do to be saved?" seems to have never properly impressed itself upon the hearts of the shirkers.

The "big-Injun me" spirit must be killed before the ideal as presented by Brother Brents can ever be attained. But the message of the blessed Christ is the power and the only remedy for spiritual ills. And to the individual who is striving to become great, Jesus says: "But whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister; and whosoever will be chief among you, let him he your servant." (Matt. 20: 26, 27.) When all, including the rich and the poor, the high and the low, are conscious of their real Christian duty, there will be plenty of gospel preachers, and all of them will be supported in some way that shall please Jehovah.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15e.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Path-finder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

Tennessee Woman

RUN-DOWN NERVOUS COULD NOT REST AT NIGHT

Chattanooga, Tenn:—"About three years ago I was so broken down in health that I could scarcely get around to do my housework. My nerhousework. My nerves were in a terrible state—I could not rest at night and felt like crying all the time. I had had suppression for twelve months and my friends thought I was going into a decline. I was just as miserable as one could be when Dr. Pierce's be when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription Favorite Prescription was recommended to me and I am confident that this medicine not only restored me to perfect health but it saved my life. I took eight bottles and all my nervousness left me entirely. I weighed only 78 pounds when I started to take the 'Prescription' but I soon filled out until I attained my normal weight of 120 pounds. For womanly ailments Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a reliable remedy and I would not hestiate to recommend it to any woman who suffers from irregularity and I would not nestiate to recommunity to any woman who suffers from irregularity or suppression and nervousness."—MRS. or suppression and nervousness."-TENNIE KEYLON, 304 Flynn St.

FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Chattanooga, Tenn :- "In my early married life I was very frail and delicate. For eighteen months I was really an invalid, unable to-do any of my housework. At last one of my neighbors recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to me to take When I started to take it I as a tonic. as a tonic. When I started to take it I was indeed very miserable but my strength soon returned and I had a fine healthy boy. My health from that time on improved and I was stronger and better than I had ever been before. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak and ailing women, and as a tonic for young mothers."—MRS. ALICE HARRIS, 12 Cornelia St.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package of Favorite Prescription Tablets.

You May Bend the Christian Herald HALF

0	big satisfying
8	weekly issues
-	for
20	scintillating crisp. Stories

20	scintillating crisp, human interest	Stories
20	pages of world hews	Studies
50	inspirational educational	Feature Articles
70	wonderful interpretative	Editorials
70	helpful daily, devotional	Meditatations
10	short, pithy, worth while	Sermons
200	or more black and white	Pictures
8	beautiful covers usually in several	Colors

and hundreds of other wonderful features, all now available to new subscribers at half price.

now available to new subscribers at half price. The Christian Herald 1s one of Ametica's really great rel glows and secial institutions. It is the best leved and most widely read interdenominational family magazine in the world. It is dedicated to the service of humanity.

If aims to make of overy members of overy denominations, another of those wooderful Courtenay Savage Scrials, entitled Morning," will appear exclusively in the Christian Herald in advance of its publication as a $1.59 book.

In the Christian Herald risk) is guaranteed to what word more and better literature than you were contained to the contained of the service of the Christian Herald in all the Christian Herald's goal. 25 cents for our word and better literature than you were contained to religiously the contained of the co

Revelation. No. 1.

BY J. J. VANHOUTIN.

This is the name of the last book of the New Testament, supposed to have been written after the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in the year 70. The apostle John is recognized as its author. The past, the present, and the future are the themes of which it treats. Over fifty men have written books trying to explain the unexplainable mysteries of what God is going to do, and how and when he will accomplish his work. While there are many things in this book very easy to comprehend, God never intended that any common man should find out what he was going to do. Many people are anxious to know what has transpired, and also what is going cn, and very desirous to know what is going to be done. As this is true of things which pertain to this life and our nation, it is equally true in that which pertains to the church and our spiritual life and future destiny. By this wonderful book we can see what God has done and much of what he is doing; and by the light of this prophetic book we can see that much will be done in the future, but the how it will be done is the prophetic secret known only in the divine mind. This book abounds in warnings and admonitions, and calls upon the people to hear what it says. As this call is in the last of the twenty-seven books and the last one written, and by divine guidance, and all are combined together in the one New Testament, "he that hath ears to hear" is to hear and give heed to the entire New Testament. In the first chapter John speaks of Jesus as the faithful witness through whose blood they had been redeemed, and the firstborn of the dead. Then he places him in an immortalized state, alive forevermore. In the second and third chapters John rebukes the wickedness of some of the church rulers who had so apostatized that Satan through them had obtained the seat of government and ruled according to the doctrine of Baalim, taking a part in idol worship and eating to the honor of idols and marrying foreigners, also following the doctrine of Nicholas of Antioch, a Gentile by birth. First he embraced Judaism, then apostatized; then he accepted Christianity, but soon apostatized, and with the help and teaching of Mrs. Jezebel established "free-lovism" and

Night and Morning. Have Strong, Healthy Eyes. If they Tire, Itch, Smart or Burn, if Sore, YOUR EYES Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Hurine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

Vapo (resolene, modic Croup, Asthma Influenza, Coughs, Bronchith, Colds, Catarrh.

The Inhalation

Coughs, Bronchin, Colds, Catarrh.

Don't fall to use Cresolene for the discressing, and often fatal affective and the fatal stressing, and often fatal affective and drugless treatment. Vaportzed Cresolene stops the paroxysms of Whooling Cough and relieves Spasmodic Croup at once. In asthma it shortens the attack and haures comfortable repose.

The air carrying the antiscptic vapor inspired with every breath, makes breathing easy, soothes the sore throat, and stops the cough, assuring restful nights. Cresolene relieves the brenchial complications of the reatment of Diphtherta.

Cresolene relieves the brenchial complications of the reatment of Diphtherta.

Cresolene's best recommendation is its 40 years of successful use. Send posts for Descriptive Booklet 43. FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS

The Vapo-Cresolene Co. 62 Cortlandt St., New York or Leeming-Miles Building, Montreal, Canada

Attacks come when least expected. Directly some ill feeling makes you aware that you have a Heart is the time to commence taking some treatment.

Dr.Miles Heart Treatment is a Tonic and Regulator recommended in Functional Heart Disorders.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Pretty Tac

PALMER'S SKINSUCCESS OINTMENT

makes and keeps the complexion clear, white and soft and quickly vanishes sunbirn. fart, freekles, pi mples, blackheads, and co-

If your druggist cannot supply you send for a free sample to

THE MORGAN DRUG CO., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION the plurality of wives. Mrs Jezebel was of bad repute, so were Nicholas and Baalim. Here was the first rise of one form of what some call "socialism." No wonder that John called upon the church to repent. In the fourth and fifth chapters the majesty of God is revealed, and the honor of our Savior

A Good Man in Trouble.

BY TICE ELKINS.

Everybody in Texas and Oklahoma who knows gospel preachers at all knows Brother U. G. Wilkinson, of Comanche, Okla. Brother Wilkinson is sick. He has brought himself down to broken health and the need of our assistance by going through cold and heat, rain and sunshine, preaching the gospel, often without compensation, actually doing more mission work than any man among us; and now. when he needs us the most he ever did, we dare not fail him. Every truehearted child of God, instead of making such appeals as this the object of ridicule, hails them with joy as an opportunity to obtain the blessing of hearing One say in the last great day: "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me." The church at Comanche carries many burdens; and while a church that is able to care for its worthy preachers when in distress should do so, we know that many of them fail to do it. Brethren. let us not allow such men to suffer. Send him money, love, and good cheer; but always remember that it takes the cash to pay the grocer and fuel man. Do not wait for another call, but heed this one, and send "once and again" to his relief.

160 Hens-1500 Eggs

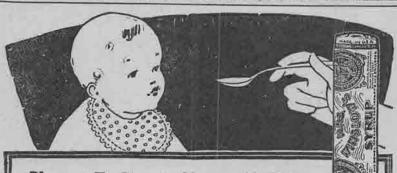

Mrs. H. M. Patton. Waverly, Mo. writes:
"I fed two boxes of 'More Eggs' and got 1.500 eggs from 160 hens in exactly twentyone days." This scientific tonic has made big egg profits for thousands of poultry raisers all over the United States. It revitalizes the hens, tones them up, and makes them lay ell the time. Get ready now and make big profits out of your hens this winter.

make big profits out of your hens this winter.

If you send $1 to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3251 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., to-day, he will send you two large-size $1 packages of "More Eggs," one package being absolutely free on the special limited offer he is making now. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied, your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Send a dollar to-day on this free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

Pleasant To Give — Pleasant To Take

Thoughtful parents are having most gratifying and astonishing results by using this safe, agreeable preparation which quickly stimulates baby's digestion and regulates bowel movements. It is a fact that babies and children like to take

MRS. WINSLOW

C

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

A few drops, depending on age, added to each feeding keeps baby's bowels regular. This finest combination of vegetable ingredients promptly overcomes diarrhoea, relieves wind coil's, flatulency, constipation and other disorders—especially good at teething time.

The open published formula appears on every label—always know what you give your baby. Mrs. Winslow a Syrup costs more to make—yet costs you no more than ordinary baby laxatives.

At All Druggists

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO., 215-217 Fulton St., New York General Selling Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Inc., New York-London-Toronto

Volume LXII. No. 6.

NASHVILLE, TENN., FEBRUARY 5, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE,

CONTENTS

Studies in Church History	21
Our Contributors 12	20
Relief Fund	25
Journeyings Often 12	26
Editorial 15	27
At Home and Abroad	32
Georgia and the Far Southern Field 13	33
Tribute to Mrs. J. C. Wilkinson	35
A Tribute to Edward G. Hall 13	36
Acknowledgment	37
A Mississippi Field and Opportunity 13
Obituaries 1	39
Church News 14	10
Neal-Record Debate 18	10
West Tennessee Notes 1	13
Thompson Bogard Dobots 1	15

Studies in Church History

By A. B. L.

Characteristics of the Romans.

If by "common sense" we mean a calculating worldly wisdom without any tinge of idealism and mysticism, then we may truly say that the Romans were a common-sense people. They were a grave and dignified and self-confident race. They had in their natures a large element of what we call "bulldog grit," If they could do a thing now, they did it with directness. If the attainment required years of struggle, they kept hammering away until the goal was reached. In their outlook upon the world, they were conservatives. They did everything in an official way and were the originators of all "red-tape" systems. They believed not only in law, but in forms. Their religion was political and utilitarian. They were born soldiers, more patriotic than any ancient people, and zealous of military honor. On a thousand battle fields, and for a longer period than any other people, the Romans poured out their blood ungrudgingly "for the Senate, the people, and Rome." The Romans had no fear of death. The Hebrew could die because of his faith in the resurrection. The Greek, while brave in battle, regretted death because it took him away from this delightful world. The Roman, with innate stoicism of character, could die without emotion for the good of Rome. The martyr's ecstasy had no place in his dying hour. His was a keen sense of duty. As an example of the dogged steadfastness of character already referred to, when the ruins of Pompeil were uncovered, the remains of Roman sentinels were found at the gates. They dled at the post of duty.

Modern Idea Like That of Rome.

Recently I have been impressed with the idea that our modern idea of patriotism is not far removed from that of Rome. People do not stop to question whether the soldier slain in battle led a moral life or not. To most minds the question of the soldier's relation to the gospel does not occur. The only point recognized is that the soldier "died for his country." This, to the popular mind, makes him a hero irrespective of every other consideration. By many it is assumed that the soldier by his death worked out his own atonement. Mothers have comforted their hearts and builded their hopes upon a sheer fancy that has not the slightest ground for scriptural support. If, as John Oxenham, of England, tersely puts it, blood that is shed in the cause of right "has power of old to wash souls white," then, of course, according to the allies' view, the death of German soldiers meant nothing to them, since they did not die for the cause of right. The theory makes God a respecter of persons, belittles the blood of Christ, and vitiates the whole gospel plan of redemption. To me it is sacrilegious. The editor of the Ladies' Home Journal printed as the leading feature of the November (1919) issue an article bearing the caption, "Thy Son Liveth." It was a reproduction of letters purported to have been written by a young man to his mother after he had been slain in battle. In these letters he would send the message to all sorrowing mothers that their sons slain in battle are not dead. Such an article would seem to be far more appropriate for a Spiritualists' journal than to have a place in that magazine which thousands of women consider to be "next to the Bible" and which some women place first in their affections. As an example of the ingenuity of the unknown writer who conjured it from the web of fanciful imagination, it may be worth reading; but if taken seriously, it is a colossal literary fake.

0 0 0

Thoroughness of the Romans.

The genius of the Romans was not original. Its classification is that of "high mediocrity," While the Greeks scorned to borrow anything from other people, the Romans borrowed everything. Like the Japanese of to-day, the Romans were very imitative and good paymasters, always willing to buy or borrow or steal anything they could find from other peoples—be it gods, art, or philosophy. They were excellent organizers. Order was their first law, Historians tell us that the establishment of the Roman empire was the grandest political achievement of any era. As the Greeks turned everything into art, the Romans turned everything into an institution. The Roman Catholic Church is a standing example of their organizing power. They were thorough in their work. Cato revealed the typical Roman spirit when he closed every debate with the words, "I warn you, Carthage must be destroyed;" and it was destroyed. In their devastations they proved even more drastic than the modern Germans. They blotted out almost without a trace the civilizations of Etrusia and Carthage, annihilated the Samnites, burned Corinth and Jerusalem to the ground. But they were as thorough in good works as in bad works. Their buildings were built for all time. The streets of modern cities last only for a little while before they are torn up and built again, but some of the streets of London are old Roman roads. Many of their bridges are still standing, and the sewage system of Timgad is in wonderful preservation.

0 0 0

Rome's Contributions to Christianity.

God's hand may be seen in the fact that while the Roman empire was founded in aggression and bloodshed, it proved to be the greatest blessing to its subjects. Even before Christians received the promise, things were working together for their good. Is it not one of the most comforting promises of the Bible, and one abundantly illustrated in the course of human progress, that the darkest days contain the elements of glad surprise? Many of the Cæsars were vicious men, but they were unconsciously the instruments of God's purpose in history. Its rulers are an illustration of Cromwell's saying that we never rise so high as when we are unconscious of what we do.

The mission of Rome may be briefly summarized under three heads. 'The first is "universal citizenship," It was the immediate mission of the empire to consolidate and civilize, to call order out of chaos. As we have seen, Rome had a genius for order and organization. Her ambition was world-wide. She "bored with a big auger." Had the civil strife been protracted much longer, the whole fabric of ancient society must have fallen hopelessly to pieces and the newly conquered provinces lapsed into anarchy. But the empire that had pulled down now proceeded to build up. She gave to the weary world a period of rest and recuperation from untold suffering and social upheavals. She forbade nations to go to war, and removed diversity of governments; she put an end to the bitterness of city rivalry, and extended means of communication; she blended the nations in preparation for the gospel. The justly celebrated Roman peace was the first world peace, and it lasted for more than two hundred years. What that peace meant to the apostles and the early Christians in spreading the gospel can hardly be realized.

The second great contribution of Rome to Christianity is covered by the term "universal safety." She kept order and acted as policeman while the emissaries of the cross preached. The apostle Paul, driven into a close place by his own brethren according to the flesh, appeals unto Cæsar, and that appeal must be recognized. By their wonderful system of good roads every city was made easily accessible. When we begin to recount the terrible crimes that have been laid at the door of Rome, let us not forget that the same mighty power that could ruthlessly destroy could also turn the desert into a rose. It was not Greece, but Rome, that threw around the early disciples the protection of the law. How do we account for a people whose history had been written in blood for hundreds of years suddenly turning from the savage practices of war to the useful arts of peace? In answer to this question, I lift my eyes toward heaven and make Him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift the cause.

Rome's third contribution is expressed by the term "universal religion." I do not mean that Rome created a universal religion, but that she formed the political framework for Christianity. Had the Judaic section of the early church been in political control, Christianity would have developed into another form of Judaism. The Jewish Christians, we will recall, made desperate efforts along this line. But the empire was a standing challenge to the Christian religion. It enlarged the horizon of Christian missionaries. It helped them to see clearly the meaning of the great commission. Surely Christ must reign over a dominion as wide as that of Cæsar. If the Roman empire embraced all men, why should Christianity aim at less?

0 0 0

The Answer to the World's Need.

Now that we have briefly considered the contributions made by the three great nations whose languages were written upon the cross and to whom the gospel was first preached, the Hebrew, the Greek, the Roman, I think we are better able to appreciate the fundamental truth with which we began that Jesus came "in the fullness of the time." He came at the moment when the world most needed the driving power of his personality. He is the answer to Seneca's question: "Where shall He be found whom we have been seeking for so many centuries?"

The End of the Trail.

BY LOULA MARIE ADKISSON.

O, say, when we come to the end of the trail-To the end of the long, long trail, maybe— Or a shorter way—O what will avail? How much of joy and gladness we've known, How much of sadness, of sorrow and pain, We've borne-O, little it will matter then! How much of wealth or of worldly gain We've obtained-O, little 'twill matter then! And the laurel wreath with its shining leaf Will be needless then. O what will avail when life's golden sheaf Is garnered at the end of the trail? O, have we been true, and have we been pure? With a name marred not by a darkening strain? And have we resisted the tempter's lure-To follow in the ways of the world? And have we been merciful and just and kind, As we turned to the world a friendly face? And, too, have we had the love that doth bind All men with the same great brotherly bond? Or have we been brave in the battle's strife-Though the battle was flerce, the battle long-And have we fought as only the dauntless fight? Have we borne with meekness unmerited blame, That leaped as a flame from a pitiless tongue? And smilingly passed, with a kindly word, The one from whose lips the words had sprung? Did we, as David, have a godly heart, With a faith that ne'er could falter nor fail? And a soul that was ever attuned to the right? O, these are the things that will avail When at eve we come to the end of the trail!

Book Notices.

We have left a few copies of "Folk-McQuiddy Discussion on the Plan of Salvation." Price, $1.25.

For $1.25 you can buy a copy of "Life and Sermons of Jesse L. Sewell," by David Lipscomb. It is a good book.

We are now ready to deliver a new edition of "Uncle Minor's Stories" and also "Outlines of Bible Study." Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Every church should know its membership. In order to keep informed as to the residence and membership of your church, you should have a church record. Our Church Record is the very thing you need. Price, $1.50.

"Salvation from Sin." This book is composed of the editorials of David Lipscomb, collated by J. W. Shepherd, and contains many of the best and most profound thoughts of its author. It contains an index to subjects and an index to scriptures. Contains 440 large pages; printed in large, clear type. The book is substantially bound in cloth. Price, $1.50.

Our Contributors

Questions Asked Brother R. H. Boll.

BY F. B. SRYGLEY.

In September of last year Brother R. H. Boll held a meeting on Joseph Avenue, this city. He had a question box, and gave a general invitation to any one who desired to ask questions, and he promised to answer all scriptural questions as best he could. I asked him some questions; and, that every one might know who asked them and exactly what they were, I asked the privilege to read them to the congregation, which was granted. The questions, with the answers as given by Brother Boll, follow. I do not claim to give his exact words in his answers or to mention everything he said.

After Brother Boll had answered all these questions—that is, after he had answered all he would answer of them —I read the following request to the elders of the Joseph Avenue Church: "Without any desire to injure the meeting, and in the spirit of the Master, I want to ask the elders of this church if I may have any time now to register my protest against what I believe to be an error in the interpretation of the word of God by Brother Boll last night and to-night." To this I got a very emphatic refusal from the elders. I then asked permission to review his answers in the Joseph Avenue Church, but have not yet received permission to do so.

But these are the questions, and, in substance, his answers follow:

- 1. "Was Dan. 2: 35-45 fulfilled at Pentecost?" Answer: He admitted that the king of Babylon represented the head of gold, and that Medo-Persia, the Greek and Roman empires completed the figure; but he said nothing had ever happened in the past that could have fulfilled the figure. The image collapsed at once, but Rome did not collapse all at once as the figure did.
- 2. "Is Christ now on David's throne?" Answer: "No. David never sat on the throne that Christ is now on. David was God's king; but David's throne was here on the earth, while Christ is in heaven."
- 3. "Was David's throne God's throne when he sat on it?" Was it not God's throne when Solomon sat on it?" Answer: "Yes."
- 4, "Did David ever have an independent rule?" Answer: "No."
- 5. "Was it not God's throne all the time?" Answer:
- 6. "When Christ comes again, will he set up a kingdom on earth different from his rule now?" Answer: "Yes, he will rule the earth; now he rules only a portion of it, but then he will rule the earth."
- 7. "Men enter the kingdom now by a birth of water and the Spirit, or by believing and being baptized. Will the laws of induction into the kingdom be the same as now?" Answer: "The gospel is eternal and will, no doubt, continue in that age, but he is to rule with a rod of iron then."
- 8. "Will there be new revelations then?" Answer: "I have expressed myself only one time privately on this point, but never publicly, and will not do so to-night."
- 9, "Will the tabernacle be rebuilt and animal sacrifices revived?" Answer: "I have never expressed myself on this point either publicly or privately, and will not do so to-night."
- 10. "Will the saints reign with Christ on his throne different from any position which they fill now?" Answer: "Yes, they will be corulers with him on his throne when he comes again."
 - 11. "When Christ comes again, will he not turn the kingdom over to God, the Father, since Paul says: 'Christ the first fruits; afterwards they that are Christ's at his coming. Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father?'" Answer: "The Greeks had two words where we have only the one English word 'then.' One means 'at that time;' the other, 'next in order.' This is the one in which means next or after."

12." There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.' Are not all these dead?" Answer: "I have said, and I yet say, if it were necessary for God to catch away some of these and preserve them without death in order to fullfill this promise, he would do so. It is a difficult passage. Some say it was fulfilled on the mount of transfiguration; others, at the destruction of Jerusalem; but I see no reason for so believing." (Leaving the impression on me that he thought this would be fulfilled when Christ comes again.)

13. "Will you answer these questions to-morrow night and give an equal division of time, should I desire it, to show that your answers are not in harmony with the Bible should I not think they are?" He said this was not a Bible question and, therefore, he would not answer it; but from his actions every one could see what his answer to this question was—it was very emphatically, no.

In answering question No. 1, Brother Boll was very emphatic that nothing had ever happened in the past that would indicate that Dan. 2: 35-45 had ever been fulfilled. I so much wished to say that Brother Boll did not know everything that had happened in the past and that he, therefore, should not be so emphatic. More timid men, perhaps, would have said: "Nothing known to me has happened in the past." Brother Boll's very positive statement would indicate that he knows everything that has happened in the past. Brother Boll might know all written history, and still he could not be so positive. Things may have happened in the past, especially as far back as Daniel's day, which are not recorded on the pages of history, and even as well-read a man as R. H. Boll might not know all history. Others who are better informed than he know of things that have happened in the past which show the fulfillment of Dan. 2: 35-45; for instance, Adam Clarke. I am sure it is no reflection on Brother Boll for me to say that Adam Clarke knew more of the history of the past than he does. Commenting on this very passage, Mr. Clarke says:

(1) That Jesus Christ has been represented by a stone, we have already seen; but this stone refers chiefly to his church, which is represented as a spiritual building, which he supports as a foundation stone, connects and strengthens as a corner stone, and finishes and adorns as a top stone. He is called a stone also in reference to the prejudice conceived against him by his countrymen. Because he did not come in worldly pomp, they therefore refused to receive him; and to them he is represented as a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense.

(2) But here he is represented under another notion—

(2) But here he is represented under another notion viz., that of a stone projected from a catapult or some military engine which smote the image in its feet—that is, it smote the then existing governments at its foundation, or principle of support, and by destroying these brought the whole into ruin.

(4) As the stone represents Christ and his governing influence, it is here said to be a kingdom—that is, a state of prevailing rule or government; and was to arise in the days of those kings or kingdoms. (Verse 44.) And this is literally true; for its rise was when the Roman government partook of all the characteristics of the preceding empires, was at its zenith of imperial splendor, military glory, legislative authority, and literary eminence. It took place a few years after the battle of Actium, and when Rome was at peace with the whole world, September 2, B.C. 31.

B.C. 31.
 This stone, or government, cut out of the mountain, arose in and under the Roman government, Judea being at the time of the birth of Christ a Roman province.

As to his answer to question No. 2, that Christ is not on David's throne, because David's throne was here on the earth and Christ is on God's throne in heaven, I would like to say that changing location does not necessarily change the throne. His answer to questions 3, 4, and 5 ought to show that his position on question 2 is wrong. In answering questions 3, 4, and 5, Brother Boll says David's throne was God's throne when David sat upon it, it was God's throne when Solomon sat on it, it was God's throne all the time. Very well, is it not God's throne yet, and is not Christ on God's throne? Then why, pray, is it not David's throne now? It is the same. Things that are equal to the same thing are equal to each other. If Christ was not raised up to sit on David's throne and was not on it at Pentecost, why did Peter on that day refer to God's oath on this very question? Hear him: "Therefore being a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his throne." (Acts 2: 30.) Was not Peter a little premature in quoting this oath of God, if he knew that Christ would not sit on David's throne till he comes again?

In answering question 6, Brother Boll said that Christ would rule the whole world when he comes again, but is ruling only a part of it now. He is ruling now all who willingly submit to his government. I wonder if he will have unwilling subjects then? If so, his rule cannot be a spiritual rule. Does he believe that Christ will come down from his spiritual rule and establish an earthly, temporal government? He is now exalted; this will debase him.

In answering question 7, Brother Boll admitted that the gospel is eternal and the birth of water and Spirit would still be a way of entering the kingdom of heaven then. If that be so, and there is no other way of entering that kingdom then, how can it embrace more than it does now? It now embraces all the willing subjects, all that are born of the Spirit. How could it embrace more unless there be other ways to enter it? His reference to a rule with a rod of iron in this connection would indicate that he believes in a mixture of power—physical and spiritual; but let me say these two powers cannot be mixed in the same government. It must be one or the other.

Brother Bol! lay down completely on questions 8 and 9 by refusing to give an answer to either of them. Well, if he and his sympathizers can stand it, I can. To my way of thinking, these questions demand an answer.

In his answer to question 10 he says the saints will be cornlers with Christ on his throne then, very different to any position they occupy now. This is Charles Russell's little flock, or the church, which Christ is now gathering out of the world to make rulers when he comes again. The apostles are saints, and they occupy a very important place in the government of Christ to-day. These apostles, or saints, are cornlers with Christ now, and those who suffer shall have an influence in his government now. There is no reason for placing these things in the future.

As to Brother Boll's statement in answering question 11, that the Greek word "then" means "next in order," I want to say that I agree with him. I think, with him, that it means that Christ comes, and next in order he turns the kingdom over to the Father; but, according to his position, this is not next. There must be a thousand years before it is done, and, therefore, it is not next either in Greek or English.

As to his statement in answering question 12, that God could have caught some of those men away without their dying, I want to say that it is not a question of what he could do, but of what he has done. The apostles stood there. Which one, I wonder, does he think was thus caught up, or away, to be preserved for this purpose? This is really too weak to argue.

Now, since we have Brother Boll's answer to these questions, does any one believe that we do him an injustice when we say that his position on these questions is the same as that of the Adventists and Charles T. Russell? And is it not the very foundation of Adventism and Russellism? I see no hope for those brethren who have espoused these positions, except to renounce their faith and return to the truth. It is not a personal matter with me, but a desire to see the truth prevail, that causes me to oppose them.

I cannot—I will not—stand for their errors. 1 am glad to say that there are very few of our brethren in this city who stand for these things. There are only a very few sympathizers with these false interpretations at Joseph Avenue, and they will give these things up as soon as they see where they are leading.

Gospel Trumpet Blasts.

BY A, A. BUNNER.

"Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you." (1 John 3: 13.) "If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you." (John 15: 18, 19.) "But as then he that was born after the flesh persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so it is now." (Gal. 4: 29.) "He that hateth his brother," though it does not break out in words or actions, "is a murderer;" "and ye know," continues the apostle, "that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him."

Love and hatred are principles implanted in the human heart by our Creator, and it is just as right to hate as it is to love; and it only becomes sin when we love the things God has commanded us to hate, and hate those God has commanded us to love. God commands us to love him, and, in addition thereto, to love the brethren, and our neighbors as ourselves, along with our most inveterate enemies. Jesus did all of this perfectly; and if we cannot do what Jesus did, we cannot be his disciples. "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." To love my neighbor as myself. Who is my neighbor? I answer, every child of our apostate race, and in these are included our enemies as well as our friends and brethren. O, how far short have we all come in times past of rendering acceptable obedience to God in these commands! But says one: "It is too hard; I cannot love my enemies." Jesus says: "My yoke is easy, and my burden is light." If you cannot obey this command, then Jesus not only did not tell the truth, but he acted out a lie even on the cross (see Luke 23: 34); and Stephen did the same thing (see Acts 7: 59).

I am now in Cleveland, Ohio; and if God wills me the strength and the time, I expect to strive to do much mission work in this great city. In all ways and for all purposes, this is one of the greatest cities in this wide world. We have all nations gathered here, and it is my intention to go from house to house distributing religious literature, such as books, tracts, and religious papers. As it takes money to print and publish these, any good brethren and sisters who may feel in their hearts that they would like to have fellowship with me in purchasing good books, tracts, and religious papers suitable for this great work can send their offerings to me at 1800 West Fifty-fourth Street, Cleveland, Ohio. One of the things that the love of our neighbors and enemies requires is to give to all such the gospel of Christ in its simplicity and purity;

hence, if furnished the means with which to do so, I am sure that I have mind enough to select the right kind of literature for this great field. My aim will be to give the people the best and that which is most suited to their wants and needs. The Gospel Advocate is a fine missionary document and should be in every household, both saint and sinner. Its editors know how to rightly apply the word of truth to all who need the truth. O Lord, give us all strength and a willing mind to "redeem the time" in these days of evil. I expect to meet with opposition in this work from the enemies of the truth.

Notice.

To all the churches of Christ: W. B. Young, a preacher for the Christian Church, and who resides at Bradentown, Fla., is calling on and preaching to our loyal congregations throughout Florida, and collecting money from them to build a house of worship for the Christian Church at Bradentown, and has named it the Central Church of Christ in order to make his appeal misleading and to deceive our loyal brethren, thereby obtaining money to build up a cause contrary to the teachings of Christ. He also is collecting money to build a Christian College in Manatee County for educating young preachers to go out and build up Christian Churches everywhere. Several of our loyal congregations have received him and made donations of various amounts to build up his work here, and we, the brethren of the loyal church at Bradentown, ask you to withhold your money and influence from this man and his purpose; keep your money until you know it is being spent for that which you intend it.

[Signed] W. M. Brumit, Evangelist; D. B. Whittle, Elder; Lloyd M. Hicks, J. F. Estes, A. A. Pickard.

What a Layman Can Do.

Editor's Note: Brother H. N. Mann is one of the busiest men I know. He is an energetic and successful merchant and farmer at Riverside, Tenn., but he is never too busy to serve the Lord. The worth of every man's message is determined by the plus or minus sign of his character. There is no minus sign in this case. Our dear brother lives his religion. He really intended for the following report to occupy a modest place in our columns, but I think it is an object lesson worthy of every reader's attention. His report reads:

I rejoice to see the good all are doing, in the name of the Lord; and as Brethren Srygley, Austin, and others have reported me, as a preacher, to the elect, I will say that I am busy all the time, and my work for the year 1919 seems to indicate that I am doing some good. For three years I have visited weak places of worship and schoolhouses, or out under a tree, or at a cave spring, where people could be called together, in Wayne, Lewis, and La vrence counties, besides meeting the past year with sor e established congregations, as Centerville, in Hickmay County, County Line and Ethridge, in Lawrence may County, County Line and Ethridge, in Lawrence County, and Salem, in Franklin County, and made monthly visits to four points, five miles from our home. As visible results for the past year, I baptized nineteen, restored nine, conducted six funerals, and was called to ten mar-I conducted services at Riverside from Monday night to Saturday night, beginning on November 10, also from Monday night to Saturday night through the Christmas week. In the three years' work the Lord has blessed me with health to labor among, mostly, poor people, and lead many to Christ, buy a house for the brethren when they were locked out of one, and convert two preachers in the meantime. I work every day in the year, and have met for worship each Lord's day in the past two years. Keep the good work going.

You will see the pools and standing waters frozen through the winter, when the little running streams are bounding along between fringes of icy gems. Why is this? The streams have something else to do than stand still to be frozen up. Be you like them. Keep your hearts warm by feeling for others, and your powers active by work done in earnest.—John Hall.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

P. M. Dodd, Vienna, Ill.	$ 1.00
Mrs. W. H. Ashley, Manchester, Tenn	10.00
Alice B. Waters, Minor Hill, Tenn.	2.00
W. W. and Alba A. Jackson, Burkburnett, Texas	10.00
Mrs. Alice Monroe, Saint Jo, Texas	5.00
Mrs. Leslie Shore, Rives, Tenn.	2.00
H. W. Jones, Hardin, Ky	6.00
Miss Marulla Patrick, Jamestown, Tenn	4.50
Maida Austin, Scott's Hill, Tenn.	2.50
Church at Itasca, Texas	7.14
Elsie Morris, York, Ala	2.00
Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hart, Petersburg, Tenn	20.00
J. B. McCully, Athens, Ala	10.00
"Two Friends," Smyrna, Tenn	10.00
Miss Carrie Lindsey's class, Bardwell, Texas	2.05
"A Sister," Martin, Tenn.	2.00
Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Francis, Nebo, Ky.	5.00
Mrs. Nora Killebrew, Guthrie, Ky.	10.00
Mrs. H. K. Edgerton Lebanon, Tenn	10.00
Mrs. R. K. Edgerton, Lebanon, Tenn	11 (0-11)
Joel Button, Lagrange, Ky	20.00
Mrs. W. A. and Ina Moody, Buchanan, Tenn	7.50
C. P. Dobson, Lockney, Texas	20.00
"A Sister," Maury City, Tenn	1.00
Mrs. W. C. James, Friendship, Tenn.	5.00
T. W. Bullington, Lexington, Ala	5.00
Black's Schoolhouse congregation, Valdosta, Ga	14.65
P. C. Breeden, Terrell, Texas	5.00
G. M. Whitaker, Gainesboro, Tenn	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jones, Hardin, Ky	5.00
Mrs. Mary P. Jones, Hardin, Ky	5.00
THE RESERVE TO SERVE THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPE	2

In acknowledgment of our last remittance of one thousand dollars to the Near East Relief, we have received the following:

New York, January 28, 1920.—Dear Mr. Lipscomb: Please accept our very sincere thanks for the generous contribution of your readers toward the relief of the distressed people of the Near East. We are attaching hereto official receipt for this kind gift.

Major General James Harbord, head of the American Military Mission, states that on his recent travels through the Near East he found that a large portion of the destitute peoples of the Near East would have died of starvation and disease but for the contributions from America.

There are practically no foodstuffs available in the Caucasus except those brought in by the American Rellet. Many will die from starvation unless supplies continue to come in. In addition to food supplies, the hospitals, orphanages, and soup kitchens must be supported. Hospitals are without window glass and adequate equipment. Most of the refugees are huddled in concentration camps.

The Near East Relief is working with splendid courage in spite of inadequate funds to save these thousands of little children, many of whom have lost both parents and do not know their own names.

Again thanking you, and assuring you that we would hesitate to even try to relieve such frightful conditions but for the continued support of large-hearted people like your readers.

Sincerely yours, C. P. Burgess.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

The self-emptying of Christ was not a single loss or bereavement, but a growing poorer and poorer, until at last nothing was left him but a piece of ground where he could weep and a cross whereon he could die. He renounced all that heart and flesh hold dear, until, without friend or brother, without one tone of love, amid the mocking laughter of his slanderers, he gave up the ghost. Surely he tread the winepress alone.—A. Kuyper.

The nearer we get to heaven, the heavier this world's goods become.—Exchange.

ourneyings By B. C. GOODPASTURE.

"What thou seest, write, . . , and send it to the churches."

The Name and the Purpose.

In keeping with an old custom relative to christening, I have selected a Bible name for my department. Although Paul employs the expression, "journeyings often," in enumerating the sources of his afflictions (2 Cor. 11: 26), I do not use it in that sense. My trips have been free from the perils that characterized the missionary tours of the great apostle. There is more of kindness and hospitality in the world than some think. The heading simply indicates the nature of one feature of my work-that is, visiting the churches in the interest of the Gospel Advocate. While I shall expect to report the history, news, and plans of the congregations where I go, making any comment or suggestion that the occasion may demand, I shall studiously and carefully refrain from everything that is intrusive and censorious. I shall endeavor always to gather my data from the elders or some other responsible persons of the respective congregations. So, brethren, when you hear that I am on the way, "lay by in store" your items of church news, "that no collections be made when 1 * * *

A Golden Candlestick.

The first congregation reached on my initial trip wears the name of the second church to which the exiled apostle wrote-Smyrna; and, like the church made famous by the Revelation, it received its name from the city in which it was established. There is always a certain obligation resting upon a namesake-that he live up to the character and ideals of the person from whom he received his name. The congregation that faithfully follows the example set by the church in the ancient port on the Ægean Sea will be a "golden candlestick." No word of criticism is voiced against it. Evidently, the brethren at our modern Smyrna are aware of their obligations and appreciate the high standard left for them, and for all, by a persecuted people of the apostolic days. They have not been unmindful of the oppressed and suffering poor, having ministered to the needs of the starving children of Syria and Armenia. This is "pure religion and undefiled." (James 1: 27.) A good, sound preacher could do a great work at Smyrna; the resources and possibilities there are unusual. From that point the word could be sounded out into a number of destitute places. It was my pleasure to preach monthly for these people when I was a student in David Lipscomb College. 0 0 0

The Professors.

Not professors in the sense of pretenders, but sure-enough professors. The principal of the County High School, L. H. Elrod, a former teacher of David Lipscomb College, and Warmath Peebles, a teacher in the public schools, have classes in the Sunday school. These men are held in high esteem for their work's sake. They have had experience in the schoolroom, and know how to teach; they have diligently studied the Scriptures, and know what to teach. It is God's will that there be men ably qualified to give instruction in the knowledge of things spiritual. The original command embraced preaching, baptizing, and teaching. (Matt. 28: 19, 20.) All Christians should eventually become teachers. "For when by reason of the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need again that some one teach you the rudiments of the first principles of the oracles of God." (Heb. 5: 12.) The situation that called forth these lines from the pen of the apostle Paul obtains in many places now. We need efficient teachers-and more of them. When every assembly of the saints has the right kind of instructors, the dearth of preachers will disappear. These brethren have some good material with which to work, and it is to be expected that young preachers will be made as a result of their labors. Brother W. V. Smith is a stanch friend of, and worker for, the Gospel Advocate; he helped me in securing a good list of new subscribers.

* * *

An Appreciation.

Dear reader, we appreciate you and the support that you have given us. We need you and could not succeed without you; you are a member of the Gospel Advocate familya part of us. Doubtless you know that we are pressing the campaign to double the circulation of the paper. Many of the denominational papers, through the cooperation of their readers, have greatly and, in some instances, wonderfully increased their circulation. With your help, we can do it, too. You can help us in the following ways:

(1) If you are in arrears, renew your subscription. Not long ago a good brother said: "I have been taking the Gospel Advocate since 1876. My time is not out until August, 1920. I want it as long as I live. Here is two dollars for my renewal." You do not have to be notified that your time has expired before you remit. "He who gains time gains everything."

(2) Do a little missionary work in 1920. Send the paper to a friend or a needy brother; lead a soul into the light or make a desolate home glad. "Turn over a new leaf."

(3) Send us a list of new subscribers. Let us carry the gospel into new fields; we have fought on the defensive alone too long. Secure as many as five, and we will surprise you.

(4) If you can devote considerable time to this work, write to the circulation department for particulars.

$ $ $

It Really Happened.

Mother: "Henry, you must not make kites on Sunday." Henry: "Why?'

Mother: "Because it's wrong to work on Sunday."

Henry: "Well, mamma, if I make me a kite out of the Gospel Advocate, it won't hurt, will it?"

* * *

News From Printland.

"Adventism and the Bible," by J. Henry Monk, who was eight years an Adventist, is the title of the latest book from the McQuiddy press. It is a timely and original discussion of a vital theme. This book should be in every home. Send $1.25 to the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn., for a copy. (An extended review will appear later.) 日 日 日

"Happy is he that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding: for the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold." The writer of this proverb took this way of setting forth the value of common sense. Those who have it not and who make no effort to acquire it, because they are too slothful in mind to do so, will always be among the foolish ones of the world; and bear in mind that "wisdom is ofttimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar."

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearges paid in full. If you wish us to stop yeur paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the dote on the day payment is received, but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindiers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifting disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.

Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

More Light.

BY J. C. M'Q.

It is indeed a pleasure to publish Brother Gill's statement in full, as he has been in close touch with Brother Janes and quotes freely from his letters. His letter confirms instead of discrediting the facts which I have already published from a reliable source. The facts contained in Brother Gill's letter make Brother Janes' conduct far more culpable than I had thought. I bespeak for his article a careful and prayerful consideration by every reader of this paper. Accepting the facts as true as revealed in the article, the reader is asked to judge whether I have been a "litle rash" in my statement. Here is his letter:

Allensville, Ky., January 23, 1920.-Mr, J. C. McQuiddy, Manager, Nashville, Tenn.—Dear Brother McQuiddy: This week's issue of the Gospel Advocate has reached me, and I have just read your article, "Speculative Teaching Bearing More Fruit."

I am not writing to give my views on speculative teaching, though I will say just here that I am opposed to speculation in any form, and I think we should all be very careful in this respect.

I notice a few statements in your article that are somewhat misleading to those who do not know the facts in the case, and I only wish to give a few facts, then leave it for the readers to decide whether or not the church of Christ at Allensville, Ky., Brother Don Carlos Janes, or any one here has done wrong in the McHenry matter.

First, you condemn Brother Janes for not publishing the matter in the papers, and accuse him of keeping the facts from the brethren; and I think you are a little rash in these statements, as I have communications from Brother Janes since the last of September, 1919, which I think will convince you of this fact.

On the last day of September, 1919, I received a telegram from Brother Janes, as follows: "Advise not sending McHenry funds until you hear from me. Letter follows. [Signed] Don Carlos Janes."

I could not imagine what this meant, so waited patiently for his letter, which reached me on October 9, 1919 (dated October 8, 1919), which read as follows: "In connection with the telegram I sent you, will say that word has come that Brethren Martin and McHenry have gone to the Adventists. Mail from India has been scanty for some time. Brother Martin wrote a friend that he had explained fully to me, but his letter has not arrived, though I have waited some for it. I do not know whether they are noti-fying their donors directly of the change of faith or not. Please inform me what the Allensville church intends to do in the matter of support. Do you think funds should be sent them without the knowledge and approval of the donors? [Signed] Don Carlos Janes."

I mentioned this to several brethren, and none of them could believe the report to be true; so we decided to send our September (1919) contribution on to Brother McHenry, which we did, writing him that we had just heard that he was leaning toward the Seventh-Day Adventists, and while we could not believe it, should it be true, that we would expect him to return the New York draft, also any other contributions which he had received from us since his change of faith.

I wrote Brother Janes practically what I wrote Brother McHenry, adding that the report doubtless was no more than a rumor, and that I could not believe the report true until I had further evidence. In reply to this letter to Brother Janes, he writes:

"Replying to yours of the 14th inst., it was not exactly rumor that caused my telegram and letter regarding the brethren in India. I had letters from Brother Martin, or extracts from them, read to me. In July Brother Martin McHenry as having taken his stand for reported McHenry as having taken his stand for the Seventh-Day Adventists, as he put it. Later (July 28) Brother Martin wrote from the Sabbath side of the question, and said: 'Will send a booklet later, gotten out by McHenry and Martin, showing our stand on the Sabbath.' He also said he had explained fully to Brother Janes, but no such letter has ever reached me, and it may be that he decided, after writing that, to hold it off till the booklet is out. Putting all together that I have, I believe they are both keeping the Sabbath. are both keeping the Sabbath.

"After reading of your course in forwarding support, I consulted with some close friends here, and we reversed our former judgment and decided it would be wisest and best under the circumstances to remit September funds as you did yours, asking the return of the draft if there had been a change of faith that would make the donors unwilling to supply funds. I also let it be known that I did not know what I would feel like doing at the end of the month with October funds. It seems to be their plan to wait now to divulge the situation till the tract is out and wait now to divuige the situation till the tract is out and send broadcast, or at least to the donors. In my judgment, they are greatly erring in this. I wish to do the wisest and best thing for them and for the Lord's church, and will appreciate being kept informed of any developments you may know of in India, as well as the best advice of the church or interested parties at Allensville. [Signed] Don Carlos Janes." (Dated, October 23, 1919.)

After getting the above letter, we were led to believe that something surely was wrong; so I wrote Brother.

that something surely was wrong; so I wrote Brother Janes that we would not forward any more funds to Mc-Henry until we heard directly from them. Letter from Brother Janes, dated November 20, 1919, as follows:

Within the recent past I have had a letter from Brother Martin, who is coming home, in which he makes reference again to the change he and Brother McHenry made. Have also had a letter from Brother McHenry without explanation of his position. In reply, I have ad-dressed to them jointly (though Martin may not be there when it arrives), in which I make it clear to them that I am their friend and wish the work of New Testament missions to prosper there, but that they cannot expect support from us, if they continue as Adventists, and that they are honor-bound to return funds contributed for them since they changed their faith. If they have seen the error of their course and have retraced their steps to the scriptural position, that would change the matter, so far as I am concerned. It seems that we should both write them in the same strain, and I take it we are of the same mind on the support question. Quite a bit of corrective teaching has been sent them and prayer is being made for their restoration. Please keep me informed. [Signed] Don Carlos Janes."

As to Brother Janes' being a self-appointed secretary, we do not know anything about that, as he has had no connection with our work in India further than the above communications. We have sent our contributions direct to McHenry, and have gotten direct reports from McHenry.

We have had no direct information from McHenry in regard to his change in faith until this week. I have a letter from him stating plainly that he is identified with the Seventh-Day Adventists, also a twenty-seven page argument, together with other literature. I have kept his letter, argument, and one copy each of his literature, which I thought possibly some would like to read.

September, 1919, is the last contribution sent McHenry by the church at Allensville, and he failed to return any funds as requested.

We have given freely and willingly to this work, and felt much attached to the McHenrys and the work in India; and while we are grieved to get this sad news, I hope and pray that some good will result from this labor of love.

Kindly give this publication and if Brother Janes has acted unwisely, unscriptural, etc., and if we are in error in any way, we will take the rebuke kindly, I am sure.

Yours faithfully, BEN F. GILL, JR.

The reliable evidence that I have in a letter from a thoroughly trustworthy brother shows that Brother Janes has known of the defection of McHenry and Martin since early in last September. The facts as now gleaned from quotations from Brother Janes himself shows that the defection was reported early in July, 1919. Brother Gill quotes from Brother Janes' letter to him as follows: "Replying to yours of the 14th inst., it was not exactly rumor that caused my telegram and letter regarding the brethren in India. I had letters from Brother Martin, or extracts from them, read to me. In July Brother Martin reported McHenry as having taken his stand for the Seventh-Day Adventists, as he put it."

At a later date, July 28, 1919, Brother Martin wrote a letter defending the observance of the Sabbath instead of the first day of the week. The point I made in my former article, and which I wish now to emphasize, is that, as Brother Janes had assumed the rôle of managing the missionaries in India, and also in Japan, he should not have permitted the churches of Christ to continue to contribute to their support, when he knew they were Adventists, without making the fact known to the churches. I called attention to the fact that no publication of the defection had been made through any of the papers which Brother Janes had used so successfully in collecting funds for the missionaries in India. When I wrote, I understood that the church at Allensville had heard of the defection and had discontinued their support. I did not doubt that Brother Janes had had a consultation and conference with his associates in the work. It is now clear that Brother Janes did not even notify the Allensville church for almost two months after he had definite information that McHenry had gone to the Adventists. This was reported early in July, and on the last day of September he advised the Allensville church not to send funds to McHenry, but to await definite information which would be given in a letter. His telegram instructed Brother Gill not to send funds to McHenry "until you hear from me." The recipient of the telegram waited in ignorance and patience until October 9 to know what was the trouble. When the promised letter came, it did not remove all doubt, but it simply said: "Word has come that Brethren Martin and McHenry have gone to the Adventists." The Allensville church, supposing that the "word" was nothing more than rumor, forwarded their September contribution to Brother McHenry with instructions that he return it if he had really gone to the Adventists. It is needless to say that this contribution has never been returned. When Brother Janes found that the church at Allensville had sent their September contribution, he reversed his former decision and sent funds contributed by the churches of Christ to men whom he knew to be Adventists. He did not have a doubt about it.

The Allensville church acted nobly in giving the missionaries the benefit of the doubt, and not giving credence to a "word" that they considered no more than a rumor, Brother Janes acted ignobly in sending the funds contributed by the churches of Christ to these missionaries who had already informed him that they were Adventists; but, worse still, after he had recommended these missionaries and had led the churches to believe that they were loyal members of the church of Christ, he allows the churches still to make contributions for them and send to them without even giving them the slightest intimation of their change of religious affiliation. He printed a report that would make it appear that they were still loyal members of the church of Christ.

In the September Word and Work, on page 279, he publishes a condensation of Brother Martin's semiannual report. When he published this, he knew that McHenry and Martin were Adventists; yet he remains silent as to this fact. In the November, 1919, issue of Word and Work, on page 341, writing under the title, "On Foreign Fields," with the subhead, "Missionary Notes," he says: "Brother S. O. Martin has had the measles." He might have truthfully added, "and is now worse broken out with Adventism than with the measles." In the same article he says: "Brother McHenry reports that his trip with his family to the mountains has helped wonderfully." Not the slightest intimation that Brother McHenry was an Adventist even in November, when he had had the knowledge, from his own admission, since early in August, 1919.

Assuming that Brother Janes loves the doctrine of Christ as presented by the churches of Christ and that he is working vigorously in order to propagate primitive Christianity and nothing else, I will leave it to him to explain his long silence in failing to make known the defection of these missionaries. Certainly he did not have the right to use funds that were contributed for the advancement of the gospel of Christ for the purpose of propagating Adventism; it is strange he asked for advice on the subject. We should be perfectly frank, fair, and just in all things; but as the matters with which we are dealing pertain to eternal life, we should be doubly so. pleaded in defense of Brother Janes that his reason for not giving out the information concerning the defection of these missionaries is that he was asked by a young lady of sterling worth, who is more than a friend to Brother Martin, to withhold the information until he returned to America. She hoped that on his return, if he was not severely criticized beforehand, that she could win him back to the truth, although Brother Martin had boasted that he would convert her to his new doctrine inside of thirty days. Instead of this being a justification of Brother Janes' course, to me it is a condemnation. Why should any man place such a consideration above the value of souls? If we do not put Christ above father, mother, brother, sister, or any one else, our religion is vain. I would be glad for him to explain to the patient and waiting churches of Christ just what he did with the funds received in July, August, October, and even until now. He says it was reported in July that they were Adventists. While he tells McHenry and Martin he does not know how he will feel about sending them the October contribution, he does not tell us what he did with the funds of all the intervening months from July until the present, excepting that he did send them the September contribution. Funds contributed by the churches have been sent regularly until very recently, as reported through the papers.

I have no word of censure for the Allensville church. The liberality of this church in supporting missionaries is to be commended, and it is to be hoped that they will not tire in the good work simply because these missionaries have gone wrong. There were false brethren in the days of Paul, and there will be false brethren now. I wish to impress upon the brotherhood the danger of speculative teaching and to admonish all "to hold fast the pattern of sound words." "If any man speaketh, speaking as it were oracles of God." (1 Pet. 4: 11.) "But foolish and ignorant questionings refuse, knowing that they gender strifes." (2 Tim. 2: 23.)

If any man teach not the doctrine of Christ, we should not bid him Godspeed. Whenever we uphold men in their errors and contribute to their support, we become partakers of their sin. Teachers who do not condemn speculation and show its evil fruit are not guiltless. May God help us all to love the truth and to cling to the truth and work for the truth until in his goodness he calls us to that land where error is unknown and where sin will trouble no mere.

Questions About Orphans' Homes, Colleges, and Church Ownership of Property.

BY M. C. K.

The following queries have been on hand for several months, but other things have crowded them out till now. That our brother's case may be seen in his own way of putting it, we print his letter in full, which is as follows:

Dear Brother Kurfees: A recent issue of the Gospel Advocate contains a query and answer which relate to a question upon which I have thought long and earnestly. Inasmuch as the phase of thought involved is one upon which you have frequently touched in your editorial writings, I am presuming to write you in regard to this question.

The query to which I refer reads as follows: "Is it scriptural for the church to own and control a college or an orphans' home, since both are organizations separate from, or in addition to, the church? If such are to do the work of the church, what would be the difference between such and a missionary society?"

The querist, in referring to a college or orphans' home owned and controlled by the church, says: "Both are organizations separate from, or in addition to, the church." Is the querist correct in taking such position?

I have a case in mind. Early this year Brethren Freed and Hardeman announced a desire to sell the National Teachers' Normal and Business College to the "brotherhood." A deed has been prepared which will transfer the A deed has been prepared which will transfer the property from Brethren Freed and Hardeman to church of Christ." Now, here is a college which is deeded to the church. Is it necessary to look upon this college as something separate from, or in addition to, the church? The word "church" is used in reference to a local congregation of Christians (1 Cor. 1: 2) and in reference to the world-wide church of Jesus Christ (Matt. 16: 18). The circumstances involved certainly show that the Freed-Hardeman College is separate from, or in addition to, the local congregation of Christians at Henderson; but is it necessarily true that the Freed-Hardeman College is separate from, or in addition to, the general church? pears to me that we might think of the Freed-Hardeman College as an organization within the church, but not separate from the church. (If it is said that such reasoning would justify the missionary society, I reply that my objection to the missionary society is not that it is an organization, but that its organization is such that antiscriptural practices are involved.) I want to know if organizations can be arranged within the general church in such way that these organizations are not separate from, or in addition to, the church. If such organizations are necessarily separate from, or in addition to, the church, I should like to have the point of separation pointed out.

The answer to the query hereinbefore mentioned contains the following statements: "The Scriptures does not warrant a church, as such, in owning or controlling property aside from the house in which it meets. God has ordained the church for the conversion of the world, but has not ordained that it shall, as such, teach school or own orphans' homes. However, individual Christians as trustees have a right to charter orphans' homes and colleges."

Can the statement, "The Scripture does not warrant a church, as such, in owning or controlling property aside from the house in which it meets," be sustained by the Scriptures? It appears to me that the only argument to be offered in favor of a church, as such, owning the house in which it meets is the proof that the successful prosecution of the work of teaching requires a certain and available meeting place. If such reasoning establishes the right to own and control a meetinghouse, can we not, by the same reasoning, justify church ownership of anything else necessary to successful work? If the church, as such, can own certain things and cannot scripturally own other things, I should like to have you point out the rule that determines just what a church, as such, may own and what it may not own. Can the distinction between the work of "the church, as such," and the work of "private individuals" be sustained by the Scriptures? I am aware that there are certain things to be done when the church assembled together," and that there are certain things which are not necessarily to be done by the church "assembled together;" but the distinction between the church, as such, and the private individual is not clear to me.

I will explain my difficulty by saying that it seems to me that the distinction is illogical. If the private individual is a Christian, is he not a part of the church? It seems that such is Paul's teaching in Rom. 12: 4-8. New, if a member of the church is engaged in work authorized by the Head of the church, does not his work represent the work of the church? Does not the whole include the part? I cannot see how a work which is authorized by the Head of the church, done by one who is a member of Christ, and which receives financial support from other members of Christ, can be looked upon as the work of a "private individual."

If the distinction between "the church, as such," and the "private individual" is sustained by the Scriptures, I should like to have you explain fully the meaning of the phrases, "the church, as such," and "private individual." Further, if there are certain things which are to be done by the church, as such, and there are certain other things which are to be done by private individuals, I should like to have the line of separation pointed out.

I want to assure you that I have not written you in a spirit of controversy. I have written you in a spirit of carnest inquiry. Certain movements in the church to-day thrust these questions before me in such way that I cannot escape them. I have written at length in order that you might get my exact point of view. I have used the query and answer for the sole reason that they illustrate the exact point at issue.

I realize that you are a busy man. Be governed by your own convenience in any reply that you see fit to make.

Yours in his kingdom, C. A. Norred.

It is the purpose now to notice such points as will cover the ground of his inquiry,

- 1. Whether the querist was correct or not when, referring to a college and an orphans' home, he said, "Both are organizations separate from, or in addition to, the church," depends on whether or not he referred to their organized capacity. If he did, the answer is "yes." A committee, appointed by a local church and organized to do a special work is, in its committee or organized capacity, "separate from, or in addition to, the church" as an organization; but this in no wise affects the fact that the work done by such a committee is the work of the church.
- 2. Again, whether it is "necessary to look upon" the Freed-Hardeman "college as something separate from, or in addition to, the church," also depends on what the querist means by "separate from, or in addition to." If he means, not the work the college is doing, but the college in its organized capacity, then it is "separate from, or in addition to, the church" as an organization whether it be contemplated in relation to "the local congregation of Christians at Henderson" or to "the general church;" but this again in no wise affects the fact that the work done by the college is the work of the church in the sense that it is done by individuals as members of the church. It is useless to ask for scripture passages which authorize, in the sense of specifying, anything whatever in the way of a committee, a board, a publishing company, an orphans' home, a widows' home, a college, or anything else in the way of a business arrangement or method of doing what churches are divinely authorized to do, for there are no such passages. Whether any such committee, board, publishing company, orphans' home, widows' home, college, or any other arrangement or method of doing what churches are authorized to do is right or wrong depends entirely on the functions with which it is endowed. In numerous instances throughout the Bible, God issues commands, but says absolutely nothing on the manner or method of obeying them. On the latter, human judgment must decide the course to be pursued, and the only divine rule for its guidance is that it must not adopt any manner or method which anywhere contravenes the law of God.

3. The querist has much to say about organizations being "separate from, or in addition to, the church," and seems to feel, or at any rate to look upon others as feeling, that in that fact lies the one fatal defect; but it does not follow that an organization is wrong because it is "separate from, or in addition to, the church." It depends altogether on what the organization is and what it does. All kinds of committees and numerous other things in the details of the church's work come under this head. The organization of forces for the most efficient conduct of a protracted meeting comes under it. For the sake of system and orderly procedure, an organization in the way of a committee for a special work might be formed of individuals in a local church; and, as an organization, it would be "separate from, or in addition to, the church," but it would not be wrong on that account. The missionary society is not wrong because it is an organization "separate from, or in addition to, the church," but because it has vested in it authority and control over the churches in a way which interferes with God's order. It may properly be observed here that the much-needed opposition to the missionary society is sometimes brought into disrepute by the unfortunate attitude and course of reasoning adopted by its opponents who either do not understand the real and only issue that is properly involved, or they are unfortunate in expressing themselves, one or the other. The Gospel Advocate itself, throughout its whole history, has waged unceasing opposition to the society, but not because it is an organization "separate from, or in addition to, the church," nor yet because it is a method of operation not specifically mentioned in the Scriptures. More than once this journal has conceded that, in point of business method and system, the society advocates often have exhibited better judgment than its opponents. But the missionary society is not only "separate from, or in addition to, the church" as an organization, but it transfers the authority and control which God placed in a board of supervisors and managers appointed by himself in each local church to a general board of supervisors and managers appointed by man. It thus changes God's order and sets it aside for man's order. If a college, a publishing company, an orphans' home, or a committee should be invested with such authority and control, it would be wrong for the same

4. To the question, "Can the statement, 'The Scripture does not warrant a church, as such, in owning or controlling property aside from the house in which it meets,' be sustained by the Scriptures?" we reply that the Scriptures say nothing about a church owning either "the house in which it meets" or any other property which it may be right for it to buy or rent for use in successfully carrying on its work. These are business matters necessarily involved in what churches are commanded to do, but the specific method or manner of doing which, like the hour of meeting on the first day of the week, is not revealed by the Lord, but left to human judgment. Hence, there is no divine "rule that determines just what a church, as such, may own and what she may not own." She may own, of course, whatever may be necessary in order to do "decently and in order" what she is commanded to do. (See 1 Cor. 14: 40.)

5. The question is asked: "Can the distinction between the work of 'the church, as such,' and the work of 'private individuals' be sustained by the Scriptures?" Properly speaking, the query would be better without the word "private." What we want to see is the distinction, if there be any, between the work of "the church, as such," and the work of "individuals, as such." On the hypothesis that "church, as such," in the query, means the local church as an organized body or unit, on the one hand, and an "individual, as such," means one who is a member of the church, on the other hand, the facts compel the answer that, while the work in both cases might be identically the same in kind and degree, yet two capacities of action would be represented, unless, in the case of the "individual," the body or "church, as such," had authorized the action. Without such authorization, while the work done by "the church, as such," would, of course, be the action of the church, the work done by the "individual, as such," would be the action of the individual. Both classes of actions are recognized in the Scriptures. An instance of action by "the church, as such," is found in the mission of Barnabas to Antioch. The Jerusalem church, as such, sent him. (See Acts 11: 22.) Another instance is found in the mission of Judas and Silas, who were sent to Antioch by "the apostles and the elders with the whole church," meaning the Jerusalem church, (Acts 15: 22.) Still another is found in Phil. 4: 15, 16, where we learn that the Philippian church, as such, sent contributions to and sustained Paul as a missionary. An instance of work done by an "individual, as such," is that of the good Samaritan who ministered to the man who "fell among robbers." He "bound up his wounds, pouring on them oil and wine; and he set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him." (Luke 10: 30-37.) Another instance is found in the work of the widow, or any other Christian, who "hath used hospitality to strangers," or in the same way done any other "good work." (1 Tim. 5: 10.) Of course, in the case of all such work by individual Christians, the church of God in general-the divine institution founded by the Son of God-is represented in the fact that they are members of the church and in that capacity are doing whatever work they do. Finally, under the injunction. "As we have opportunity, let us work that which is good toward all men" (Gal. 6: 10), both churches, as such, and individual Christians, as such, should be at work. Churches, as such, should be at work all the time; and yet, in addition to work in that specific capacity, an individual Christian coming upon a man who has fallen "among robbers" has the obligation and a fine opportunity to do a good work, though the church, as such, of which he is a member, knows nothing about it.

There is but one safe guide for the conduct of our life. An earnest Christian worker is troubled because everything is not clear to her, and because she cannot believe as the majority of Christians do. There is no cause for this trouble. Christ never bade us to be clear on "everything," nor did he tell us to believe as the majority of Christians do. Christians are not our guide. Christ is. He will not reveal everything to us here and now, but he will give us just as much light to-day as we need for to-day's duties.—Exchange.

An Earnest Missionary.

BY J. C. M'O.

For some time I have intended to publish something relative to Brother Fuqua's financial condition and his work in Colorado. I had thought of condensing the facts from his letter, with the explanation that I had asked him for a statement of his indebtedness. I should have given attention to this sooner, but so many other matters of importance have demanded my attention that I could not give his letter due consideration till now. On reading his letter a number of times and after a prayerful consideration of its contents, I have decided that I can do no better than publish his candid statement in full. It breathes a spirit so full of humility, love for souls and the truth, and such a trust in God and his tender care for his people that I am confident it will be helful and encouraging to all who are servants of Christ. If there should be those who take the position that he should not have spent money in the work of winning souls to Christ, they should remember how few people would do anything for Christ if they waited until they were entirely free from debt. Again, they would do well to reflect how many Christians spend money extravagantly in selfish and sinful indulgences that never make the world any better. Furthermore, Brother Fuqua has the promises of God back of him, for he assures his children: "I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." David says: "I have been young, and now am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread." (Ps. 37: 25.)

Brother Fuqua is a forceful preacher of the gospel and a successful evangelist. He is doing a great work and should be encouraged by Christians. May we not hope that the brethren will so cheerfully fellowship him in his work that his small indebtedness will be lifted at once, and sufficient funds provided to enable him to give all his talents and time to the great work of preaching Christ, and him crucified? Read with a prayerful heart what he says, and then do unto him as you would have others do unto you:

Fort Collins, Col., November 10, 1919.—J. C. McQuiddy, Nashville, Tenn.—Dear Brother: I have your most interesting and good letter of the 7th inst. We are glad to hear from you, for we have thought and talked a good deal about your esteemed visit to our humble home. I am glad to note that you are still interested in the humble work I am trying to do here in Colorado, as is manifested in your articles referred to.

I note your request that I give you a statement of my total indebtedness, which I gladly comply with. the first man that ever asked me this question—that ever showed this interest. The Lord will reward you for the interest you have shown relative to his work in my hands

I shall state my indebtedness under two heads: That which is already past due; (2) that which is owed, but which is to be paid in monthly installments.

(1) $ 25.00 for coal.

75.00 an old Greeley doctor bill.

25.00 an aggregate of old Greeley debts.

25.00 owed at Colorado Springs.

25.00 owed to the H. G. Lipscomb estate (Nash-ville, Tenn).

15,00 on a Denver doctor bill.

70.00 to a brother at Spencer, Ind.

$260.00

(2) $240.00 on our secondhand furniture (payable at Three months twenty dollars per month). behind. One firm furnished our entire house. Everything we have on earth is represented in this furniture deal, save the $350.00 on our little car (payable at twenty-five dollars per month). Keeping paid up on this. The sixty dollars due the furniture people should be added to the first (1) catalogue above, since it represents the amount I am behind with them. Otherwise, the second (2) catalogue cannot be entered as "debts due." These 1 can handle, I believe, if my income does not drop below what it is at present, and also live out of debt. For food and clothing I owe nothing.

Omitting the first item in the first (1) catalogue, these are debts on which I try to pay something each month mainly; on some I pay something each year, as I can. It has been a long, serious struggle; but every dollar represents what I secured from individuals to meet the expenses of my work unmet by the brethren at large, save, of course, the doctor bills. These were many times larger, but I have gradually taken them down to what they now

I feel that I owe also a few other small debts, though the debtors forgave. I feel, however, that they forgave because they felt they had as well do so, as I could not pay. These I shall yet pay; but, of course, they are not pressing me, and never will. I want to pay them as I am enabled in the future. These "debts" are due to means I have means I have needed, furnished by individuals until I could become able to pay back. I owe nothing for anything except the expense of the gospel work I have done, which the brethren, if they had fully known, would have gladly supplied at the time.

Just here, let me say, I have learned to do only according to the means at hand. I have been led into attempts to do more work than financially able to do, on promises of brethren that, so far, have never materialized. I have learned to not trust this method too far. However, I am still weak, in that I cannot refuse to go to a place where am sure a congregation can be established just because I have no earthly guarantee of means to meet the needs. Hence, I am now behind some with monthly obligations Hence, I am now behind some with monthly obligations here. Three times this summer I have taken my monthly payments in furniture to meet tent-meeting expenses. creditors were aware of this, however, feeling more interest in my mission work, it seems, than some brethren; hence they are not pressing me for what I am justly due them in overdue payments, for they know what I did with their money.

The sixty dollars on overdue furniture payments and the The sixty dollars on overdue further than the sixty dollars for coal, you will see, is all I owe in Fort Collins. Of course this does not speak of my "home" which I hope to manage next year in some way. This cannot yet I hope to manage next year in some way. This be called a "debt." I have given "debts" only.

I have given you an accurate statement, Brother McQuiddy, as far as I can at present recall. If I remember correctly, and I think I do (I feel certain), this is a total of my circumstances (small delinquency on monthly expenses will be met on first of month, as usual.)

My regular living expenses must include, for a few months, twenty dollars per month on furniture and twentyfive per month on car. I must arrange to live and keep out of debt on the balance of what I receive. I am doing fairly well, by close living. In other words, forty-five dol-lars of my income cannot be used toward living expenses at all. If I received regularly one hundred dollars, I would have only fifty-five dollars out of which to support a family of three. I do not believe the brother lives who could do better on what I have to do with than I have Still, I have no room nor dis-I know I cannot. position to grumble. I often feel that my food alone is more than I am worth to my Maker or my fellow man. I am so situated that I can fully appreciate every assistance given me.

I trust the above will serve to help you to know what you seek. If I am not fully clear on anything, write me again. I want the brethren who are interested in this work to fully know all they should know; but I have refrained from publishing these things to the world at large. because I felt that they would not be properly interested.

We are fairly well. In the grip of a terrible blizzard, but we had a nice audience yesterday and last night in Fort Collins. Your humble brother in Christ, E. C. FUQUA.

If the brethren will send Brother Fuqua five hundred dollars, all pressing obligations will be relieved. Fifty dollars per month in addition to the amount he is now receiving would meet his living expenses and enable him to prosecute his work more vigorously. He will be glad to report every dollar received, and will keep his receipts and expenditures in such a manner as to have an audit by a competent accountant that will satisfy the most exacting.

The Russell Street church of Christ, in Nashville, will give two hundred dollars for lifting the indebtedness and to support the work. Send your contribution to E. C. Fugua, Fort Collins, Colorado. The Fort Collins church of Christ indorses Brother Fuqua and will cooperate with and fellowship him in his missionary efforts.

W

AT HOME AND ABROAD

叫

J. H. Murrell reports one baptism at Rogers, Ark.

I enjoy reading the Gospel Advocate very much,-T. B. Clark.

From William P. Walker, Clarksville, Tenn.: "The work in Montgomery County moves along nicely."

- A. B. Lipscomb is recovering from a serious attack of the influenza. This will explain some delay in correspondence.
- S. T. Nix, of Lebanon, Tenn., has gone to Union, S. C. He will labor with T. H. Burton in establishing the cause of Christ there,
- W. M. Brumit reports the marriage of Miss Mary Loretta Shawl to Mr. George E. Betts, at Bradentown, Fla. Both are excellent young Christians.
- T. B. Clark, of San Antonio, Texas, writes: "I am to conduct some meetings in Middle Tennessee and in Haleyville, Ala." We failed to learn when.
- J. S. Moores, of Wetumpka, Ala., wants to hear from any Christians who want to worship "as it is written" and who will help organize a congregation there.

John M. Rice, of Altus, Okla., January 27, writes: "Last Sunday night a young man came from the 'progressives' and a young lady made the good confession."

The Gospel Advocate gets better. I subscribed for it the day I was baptized, twelve years ago, and I hope to continue taking it as long as I live.—J. O. Rushing, Henry, Tenn.

I feel that I could not do without the Gospel Advocate. I appreciate every copy of it. I believe it to be worth while and full of the blessed truth.—Mrs. J. B. Hamilton, Coalinga, Cal.

I can afford to miss a meal, which I eat for the satisfaction of my temporal body; but to miss an issue of the Gospel Advocate is to miss a spiritual feast. I wish it continued success.—R. O. Kenley, Wichita Falls, Texas.

From H. W. Sherman, 603 Floribraska Avenue, Tampa, Fla.: "Please send me your splendid, valuable paper another year. We cannot and will not think of doing without it. You have my sincerest wishes for your continued success."

From Coleman Overbey, Murray, Ky., who recently sent us twelve new subscribers to the Gospel Advocate: "I took advantage of the club rate—one dollar and fifty cents. I rejoice in the privilege of extending 'the borders' of this splendid paper."

Occasionally I miss a copy of the Gospel Advocate, and it is like missing my breakfast, or even worse; for in a few days I forget that I had missed my breakfast, but never forget what I lost by not getting the Advocate.—Carl Barnette, Greenville, Ala.

We regret to announce the death of John B. Stong, of Shelbyville, Tenn., last Friday morning, January 30. The church there loses a stanch member in the passing of this good man. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved. B. C. Goodpasture conducted the funeral services.

John T. Smith, Lubbock, Texas, January 26, writes: "There were two great services yesterday. The church work moves on in an excellent way. We have just secured a desirable lot and are now planning to build a new meetinghouse, which will cost about thirty thousand dollars."

From W. L. Oliphant, Muskogee, Okla., January 20; "We had two splendid services at East Okmulgee Avenue last Lord's day. The church is in fine condition. Wife and I are teaching a Bible class composed of young people in our home every Saturday afternoon. Twenty-nine were present at our last meeting."

Loyal members in and around Jackson, Miss., will meet regularly for worship on Sunday afternoons at three o'clock and for preaching at night at the Odd Fellows' Hall, on President Street. If you know of those who should be interested, have them get in touch with M. C. Cayce, at 352 Fortification Street, Jackson, Miss.

From F. S. Vance, Nocona, Texas, January 25: "I have been suffering from a sore throat, but was able to preach to-day. The cooperative movement of all the congregations in this county is growing, with much interest manifested. At a meeting in Bowie last Sunday, one hundred and fifty dollars was contributed for the work."

Words are too feeble to express my gratitude to you for the encouragement, strength, and comfort I have received from the Gospel Advocate during the year 1919. I anxiously await its coming every week. May the new year be the best that has ever come to you.—Mrs. J. P. Miller, 22121/2. Toberman Street, Los Angeles, Cal.

Wanted—A good doctor to locate at Thyatira, Miss. A single man, and one who is a member of the church of Christ, preferred. If interested, write Cathey & Dandridge, Thyatira, Miss. Any doctor locating at Thyatira will have all that he can do, and, in addition to a good-paying practice, will live among as good people as can be found on earth.—J. P. Lowrey.

From O. E. Phillips, Eastland, Texas: "It might be worth mentioning to say that the church here is just completing a church building that will cost sixty-five or seventy thousand dollars and a five-thousand-dollar residence for the preacher, all on property worth about ten thousand dollars. The church is growing, and we pray that we may be of usefulness to the cause at large,"

Thomas H. Burton writes from Union, S. C., January 26; "We are happy at this time. Last week we paid the balance due on our lot, and had almost ten dollars left for our building fund. I am now ready to acknowledge that contribution you have been contemplating for our meeting-house. There are too many souls in this town within our reach to let the cause drag for the lack of a suitable place in which to worship. I baptized two precious souls yesterday. Pray for us."

From W. S. Long, Washington, D. C., January 24: "Brethren A. B. Comer, Hill and son, and Clyde Shackleford, all of Nashville, Tenn., were with us last Lord's day. Brother Shackleford preached a timely sermon on 'The Barren Fig Tree.' We were pleased to have these brethren with us. A mission, which promises success, was opened at Alexandria, Va., two weeks ago. Send all contributions for our building fund to J. W. Gibson, Twenty-eighth Place, S. E., Washington, D. C., or the writer, 110 Second Street, S. E., Washington, D. C."

J. P. Lowrey writes: "I have moved to Memphis, but will continue to preach in Tate County, Miss., and it is my purpose to visit and preach for every church in the State during the year. I have just returned from Ruleville and Belzoni. We have a splendid congregation out from Ruleville that has just completed a splendid meetinghouse, and the brethren there are determined to press forward. At Belzoni we have only a very few brethren, and some of them are moving away, to the regret of those who remain. No better Christians are to be found than those at Belzoni, and we hope to see a strong church there some day. There is so much work to be done in Mississippi and so few to do it."

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

Brother McCaleb's Visit.

The Atlanta churches were favored, the last Lord's day in January, with a visit from Brother J. M. McCaleb, our missionary from Japan. He spoke on Sunday morning at West End Avenue, and the report of his work for the twenty-eight years he has been a missionary was very much enjoyed by those present. In the afternoon he spoke at South Pryor-Vassar Streets, and his address was enjoyed equally as well. At night he spoke at East Point on "What Can Women Do as Missionaries?" It was a cold, rainy day, and the attendance was cut considerably, but great good was done. It is the prayer and hope of the Atlanta churches that we may soon have our own missionaries in Japan, India, and other fields where the dark night of ignorance is reigning.

Georgia needs more workers, and arrangements are being made for her to have them. Not a State in these United States but that needs more work. I was impressed while in Los Angeles, Cal., with the need of missionary work among the Japanese, Chinese, and other nationalities that live there, who are as much in heathenism, so far as a knowledge of Christ is concerned, as those who have never been to this country. Why not make more effort toward these people? It seems to me that it would be amazingly inconsistent for a member of the church in Los Angeles to appear to be burning with a desire to go across the Pacific to save the Japanese, while seeing them every day in his own city and making not one effort to save them, nor indicating any desire to make an effort here. Will we not put forth a greater effort to save the heathen at our own doors, and pick from those who show their worthiness by what they do here the ones we think should be sent across the seas? Let us send those who have been tried and proven. We cannot always know men, but should endeavor to send over the seas the best we have. Here I give the words of a song for children (which is also good for grown-ups), entitled "You Can Shine Where You Are."

Not upon some hilltop do you have to live, That your light may send its golden beams afar; If you burn it steadily, Other lives your light will see-You can brightly shine for Jesus where you are. In the valley you may spend your earthly days, On your life may sorrow leave its deepest scar; Yet, if you but burn your light, God will guide its rays aright-You can brightly shine for Jesus where you are. There are many groping in darkness still, Many who from you are never very far; So crave not a high place— Give it out, the light of day-You can brightly shine for Jesus where you are. You can shine, shine, shine where you are; You can shine, shine, shine like a star. O, you do not have to be In some land beyond the sea-You can shine, shine where you are.

How true are these words! Yes, we can shine where we are, and it is only those who have been shining where they are that are prepared to shine somewhere else. In selecting missionaries for the foreign fields, I would suggest, therefore, that we look more into what those who offer themselves have done here. If we all would only shine where we are, and had been doing so, we would have no waste places in America; hence, "home missions," as it is sometimes called, would not have to be thought of. Brother, sister, shine where you are, and soon you will have filled the place you occupy with light and can go elsewhere.

I Want to Know.

I have been preaching for years that the scripture, "And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole world for a testimony unto all the nations; and then shall the end come," refers to the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 70, and I think I can remember when no minister of the church of Christ thought of giving It any other application. But I sometimes read of or hear a minister of the church making this apply to the present time, and they tell us that the door to all nations is now open for the first time since Christ said this; hence, the gospel can now be preached to all the world, and the end will soon come. I want to know more about this. All that I have ever heard as proof is just some one's saying so and absolutely nothing from Matt, 24 that shows it. When I was debating with an Adventist in this city, he took this position, and I made it uncomfortable for him in pressing him for proof.

When we go back to verse 3, it is very easy to see that the disciples thought that the destruction of the temple, Christ's second coming, and the end of the world would take place at the same time. Christ had just said to the disciples: "There shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down." They came back at him with the question: "Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?" But certainly Christ, in his answer, made a difference in the time of the destruction of the temple and his second coming and the end of the world. If you will take the words that immediately follow, I see no room for getting so mixed up on this scripture. "When therefore ye see the abomination of desolation, which was spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place [Luke (21: 20) says, "Jerusalem compassed with armies"] (let him that readeth understand), then let them that are in Judea fiee to the mountains," etc. Christ also speaks of those who are to be pitied because of their physical condition, and tells the disciples to pray that their flight be not in the winter nor on a Sabbath; "for then shall be great tribulation, such as hath not been from the beginning of the world until now, no, nor ever shall be." "Jerusalem compassed with armies" was a visible, tangible sign that the faithful Christian could see, and by this know that he should get out of the city as quickly as possible and go to the mountains. Christ did not want the faithful to be destroyed with that city, and tells them how they will know when to get out. Now, would you be surprised if, in reading the history of the movement of the enemies' army, you should find that history saying that the army compassed the city and then withdrew before the final attack and siege that meant its destruction? Well, that is exactly what Flavius Josephus, who was there and an eyewitness, says. On page 283, Volume 2, he says: "It then happened that Cestius was not conscious either how the besieged despaired of success, or how courageous the people were for him; and so he recalled the soldiers from the place, and by despairing of any expectation of taking it, without having received any disgrace, he retired from the city, without any reason in the world." But we know why he retired. Christ had given this as a sign to the faithful to get out. The hand of Him who "is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" was in it. But when Christ comes again and the world ends, fleeing to the mountains will have no safety for us; neither does it matter what day of the week or season of the year he comes; nor will our physical condition have any disadvantages. But not so then. It would have been difficult to have gone to the mountains in the winter season. If the time of their flight had been on the Sabbath, they would have found the gates closed. Jerusalem was then under control of Jews who had not accepted Christ; hence, Jews who observed the Sabbath. A woman with child was to be pitied because she was in no

HAVE YOU SCROFULA?

Now Said to Be as Often Acquired as Inherited.

It is generally and chiefly indicated by eruptions and sores, but in many cases it enlarges the glands of the neck, affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.

It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwholesome food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the medicine that has been used with so much satisfaction by three generations, is wonderfully successful in the treatment of scrofula. Give it a trial.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed, take Hood's Pills,-there is nothing better for biliousness or constipation.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up, and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or the kidneys are not acting right, or if the bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure any one. makes a delightful effervescent lithlawater drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get I cunce of parmint (double strength), and add to it 4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take I tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists, or sent on receipt of price, 30 cents, by Chas. A, Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

condition to make such a flight. When Christ comes the second time, he will catch up into the air all the faithful before fire and brimstone are rained upon the earth. There is no sign necessary to protect us; he will do this with his own power, and neither the season of the year nor our physical condition will inconvenience him. It is interesting to notice that Josephus speaks so much like Christ in describing the fearfulness of what the Jews suffered. He says: "It appears to me that the misfortunes of all men from the beginning of the world, if they were compared to those of the Jews. are not so considerable as they were."

But some will say that the gospel was not preached in the whole world before Jerusalem was destroyed. Well, we will let one who spoke as the Spirit guided him settle this. Paul, in A.D. 63, just seven years before Christ's prophecy of the destruction of the temple was fulfilled, said to the Colossian brethren: "If so be that ye continue in the faith, grounded and steadfast, and not moved away from the hope of the gospel which ye heard, which was preached in all creation under heaven; whereof I Paul was made a minister." (Col. 1: 23.) Never mind about there being some nations now who have not heard the gospel. It is a fact affirmed by the inspired writer that every creature under heaven in the first century had the opportunity of hearing it, and that before Jerusalem was destroyed. If we were as zealous as those first Christians, desired that souls be saved as they desired it, we, too, would give every soul the opportunity in our day and generation.

But enough. May the day soon come when all will stay with the Book, when there will not be seen so much of this tendency to leave the plain and natural interpretation of God's holy truth.

* * * News Items.

In spite of the fact that the last Lord's day in January was bad, as to weather conditions, one more soul was baptized into Christ at West End Avenue and another at East Point. The aim and ambition of the West End brethren is to double their membership this year and give more than ever before.

We are sorry that Georgia has lost Brother W. M. Brumit, but rejoice with Florida in obtaining him. another page you will find his name, with others, warning the churches of that State against a "wolf in sheep's clothing." May the brethren everywhere forget not the command: "Prove the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world."

TRAINED NURSE TALKS TO WOMEN

Tells How, Through Years of Practice in Women's Weaknesses, She Found Sim-ple Home Remedy to Ends Leucorrhea.

It took years of professional practice for me and my two associate nurses in treating weaknesses of women to find a simple, easy, certain way to end Leucorrhea (commonly called "whites"). In our experience we experience our experience we find that 75 per cent of all women are more or less distressed with this annoying weakness, more or less distressed with this annoying weakness, which makes them pale, tired, fretful, wasting their feminine strength and often leading to serious illness. Working on our own cases and in conjunction with physicians, we had wonderful success with our own treatment. We brought many women from deep despair to joyful satisfaction. They wanted us to tell tothers all over the country how our treatment, named "Lukora," brought them out of distress and weakness to genuine feminine strength and health.

If you are a sufferer from Leucorrhea, stop carelessly leiting it go on, but learn from me how it may be quickly ended in your own home. I will tell you about this simple home method (without obligation) by your simply writing to me, Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A The Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. All correspondence and information sent will be confidential and forwarded in plain sealed envelopes.

NOTE.—The Nurses' Institute earnestly advises every women suffering with Leucor-forwarded in plain sealed envelopes.

NOTE.—The Nurses' Institute earnestly advises every woman suffering with Leucorrhea, who wishes to get rid of it, to write Miss Cavanaugh at once. This remarkable offer is sincere, and the fact that the discoverers of the treatment are themselves registered nurses and women makes it a safe and unquestionable treatment.

Free Eczema Remedy

Such wonderful results in eczema and all skin diseases instantly follow the soothing application of Krano-Zema, the new scientific treatment, and so confident is the Krano-Zema Co. that they will gladly send any reader a full-sized $1.00 treatment by prepaid mail without one cent in advance, If satisfied after using the treatment two weeks, pay $1.00; but if not, you do not pay one cent. Take advantage of this amazing free offer to-day. Send no money—just your name and address to the KRANO-ZEMA CO., 95 Phillips Building, Girard, Kan.

AGENTS $6 a Day

Should be easily made selling our Concentrated Non-Alcoholic Food Flavors, Soaps, Ferfumes and Toilet Preparations, Over 100 kinds, put up in collapsible tubes. Ten times the strength of bottle extracts. Every home in city or country is a possible customer, Entirely new, Quick sellers, Good repeaters, Not sold in stores, No competition. 100 per cent. profit to agents. Little or no capital required. Elegant sample case for workers, Start now while it's new. Writestodayapost card will de-FREE for full particulars. PRODUCTS AMERICAN PRODUCTS CO., 1956 American Bldz. Cincinnett &.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

Tribute to Mrs. J. C. Wilkinson.

BY HELEN F. HULL.

Tabitha Alice Wilkinson was born on November 7, 1859; died, of pneumonia, January 1, 1920; aged sixty years, one month, and twenty-four days

As the new year came in, with its hopes and fears, its prophecy and promise, this pure, sweet soul drifted out from the stormy billows of life, into a quiet haven of peace and rest.

"Softly, as falleth the snow on the mountains;

Sweetly, as stealeth the lilies' perfume:

So she went out from the gloom and the shadows,

Into the garden of sunlight and bloom."

Sister Wilkinson was the wife of Brother J. C. Wilkinson, of Hustburg, Tenn., and their devotion to each other was something so touching and beautiful that all hearts unite in sympathy and grief for the bereaved husband, whose irreparable loss becomes our common sorrow.

Sister Wilkinson obeyed the gospel in early life, and always thereafter was most zealous for the cause of Christ. She had a faith which nothing could shake, a courage that never faltered. No matter how dark, at times, the outlook for the future of the church at Hustburg, whose membership is very small; no matter how hard became the struggle to keep the little band of disciples from giving up, in the face of persecution, prejudice, and a growing indifference among the members, she was never willing to admit that we should be justified in relaxing our effort to establish the cause at this place.

Her place was rarely vacant at the Lord's table, for she delighted in thus honoring her Savior. We feel keenly her loss in the church now that we are starting in with fuller attendance, greater zeal, and more of promise than at any time since Brother T. B. Thompson established the congregation some five years ago. Her faith and courage were an inspiration; her sweet face and cheery smile were things we loved. But she has gone from a life of loyal service to her eternal reward.

The home where she was so loved and honored-that home which was always open to ministers of the gospel, whom she and Brother Wilkinson always received joyfully-will know her no more. Her feet have left life's rugged highway to walk the golden streets of the city of God. The dear hands that delighted in loving service are folded softly above a heart that stirs no longer with the throb of life; but her immortal spirit-pure, beautiful, free-has returned to God who gave it. By and by, when, at the glorious appearing of the Christ, land and sea give up their dead in worldwide resurrection, may we all come forth with her, rejoicing in the wonderful new life we shall have won through obedience to Him who is our Savior.

Sister Wilkinson leaves five devoted daughters to mourn her loss. One of them, Mrs. Mattle Scarboro, lives in Denver, Col.; the other four reside in Tennessee-Mrs. Pearl Scarboro, of Waverly; Mrs. Bertha Folk, of Dover; Mrs. Robbie Hargis, of Bumpus Mills; and Mrs. Ruby O'Gwin, of Hustburg. Their mother's blameless life will be to them forever a beautiful and hallowed memory. True wife, tender mother, generous neighbor, loyal friend; "simply a Christian, and a Christian simply "-a favorite expression with her-we know she shall inherit the Christian's reward, even eternal life.

May the Christ, in whom she lived and died, comfort the hearts that loved her and impart to them the peace that passeth understanding.

We know thou art gone where thy forehead is starred

With the beauty that dwelt in thy soul:

Where the light of thy loveliness cannot be marred,

Nor thy heart be flung back from its goal."

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic prop-erties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a bedy-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily pre-pared, and saves about $2. Zaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily pre-pared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granu-lated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes fight to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosons the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swellen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs; corns, bunions, etc. After one application, pain usually disappears as if by magic.

pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the mest penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 30c, 60c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY,

Juckson, Tenn.

Jackson, Tenn.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at 916 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epilepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no goed. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that cured me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned. I wish every one who suffers from this terrible disease would write to R. P. N. Lepso, 193 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, freto any one who writes him."—Advt.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISE PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICAT

Rheumatism

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent: simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON,
No. 477F Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Your Strength By Conserving Your Nervous Energy

For Nerveusness or Sleeples ness, Try

A Nerve Sedative containing Ingredients recognized by Specialists as having weat value in the Treatsent of Nervous Diseases.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

機能,据8 MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

TETTERINE

Ends Complexion Worries

ealing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant it your druggist's or from the SHUP-E CO., Savannah, Ga.

A Tribute to Edward G. Hall.

BY G. C. BREWER.

Edward G. Hall was born in Carroll County, Tenn., on September 12, 1847. He enlisted for service in the Civil War at the age of seventeen and served in the Seventh Tennessee Cavalry, commanded by Col. Isaac R. Hawkins. Although his native State seceded, he was loyal to his nation's flag and fought for the preservation of the Union, and that "government of the people, for the people, and by the people, might not perish from the earth." But in later life this same sense of lovalty and devotion to duty led him to acknowledge the supremacy of a higher cause and to bury the issues of the bloody sixties and serve as an elder of the church with men who had just as valiantly fought for the "lost cause" Such is the transforming power of the gospel of Christ.

At the age of nineteen Brother Hall was baptized into the Baptist Church by one Mr. Willoughby Pugh, and for a number of years he was a faithful member of that denomination; but under the preaching of the simple gospel at Roan's Creek Church, in Carroll County, he became convinced that all denominationalism is wrong and decided, therefore, to sever his connection with the Baptists and be a Christian only. Some time later he moved to Huntingdon, Tenn., where he helped in establishing a congregation and in building a house of worship. He served as an elder in this church till the time of his death. When the unfortunate division came in that body, he contended earnestly for a continued loyalty to the New Testament simplicity of work and worship. He, therefore, was charged with a large part of the blame for the division, being looked upon as ringleader of the "antis." However, all he insisted upon was adherence to the principles upon which the church was built and for a continuation of the manner of worship in which they had always engaged. But he found himself a leader of the minority, and he saw the house taken from under the control of its builders and pass into the hands of another people "who knew not Joseph." This brought a grief to his heart from which he never recovered. It was especially poignant to him, as the division seriously hurt the influence of the church over his own children, as well as everybody else in the town. But, with his faithful wife and a few others, he remained loyal to the Lord to the end. He was fond of saying: "Let others do as they will; but as for me and a part of my house, we'll serve God." He always regretted that he could not use the language of

Joshua without change, and it is yet

Folev's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

CLEARS THE THROAT of phlegm and mucus, stops that tickling, opens the nir passages for easier breathing and coats the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing, soothing medicine.

Grateful Father Tells What It Did

W. E. Curry 130 Up 6th St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "I have a little girl 6 years who has a good deal of trouble with croup. I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, giving it to her according to directions, and obtaining instant relief for her. My wif and I use it whenever bothered with a bad cold or cough, and I will say that it is the best vamedy for a bad cold, cough, throat trouble or croup that I ever saw."

Parents who use Foley's Hone and Tar know it is safe and no harm will come even if an overdose should be given by accident. It tastes good and children like it. It won't upset the deli-cate stomachs of young children, delicate persons or elderly people.

NR Tablets tone and strengthen organs of digestion and elimination, improve appetite, stop sick headaches, relieve biliousness, correct constipation. They act promptly, pleasantly, mildly, yet thoroughly.

N Tonight, Tomorrow Alright

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

to be hoped that the memory of a fond father's faith, anxiety, and prayers will avail to save his whole house.

Brother Hall was married to Elizabeth Jane Woods on January 16, 1873, and for nearly forty-seven years they traveled the road of life together. Together they plucked the rose of pleasure from life's flower garden, and often their hands were torn by the same thorn of sorrow. Their fidelity and devotion to each other was beautiful and represented an ideal all too rare in this generation. They were one not only by the marriage ceremony, but by the ties of love and by the bonds of fellowship in a long experience of the joys and sorrows of life and in the all-consuming desire to rear their family in the principles of integrity, truth, and righteousness. To them were born ten children, seven of whom, with their mother, survive to mourn the loss of the head of the home. These children are: William H. Hall and Joe M. Hall, of Nashville, Tenn.; Benjamin H. Hall, Denver, Tenn.; Alaska E. Hall and Mrs. Guy Hall, of Huntingdon, Tenn.; Mrs. Frank J. Lawler, of Charlotte, S. C.; and Mrs. G. C. Brewer, of Winchester, Brother Hall's home was always the home of preachers, and many prominent brethren have enjoyed his hospitality. He loved all the servants of the Lord and took a great interest in the work of the church everywhere.

Although he had never had the advantage of an extended course in school, Brother Hall was a voracious reader, and he was well informed on the issues of the day. He was a constant reader of the Bible and could recite long passages from memory. He cherished its precious promises and fell asleep trusting in his Savior, December 22, 1919. May God grant us all grace to bring our lives to such a peaceful and triumphant end.

Acknowledgment.

BY W. J. JOHNSON.

The following contributions have been received for the church at Amite, La., since our last report: From Mrs. Bertie Smith, Enloe, Texas, $5; church at Albion, Neb., $25; E. E. Johnson and daughter, Harrah, Okla., $5; C. C. Johnson and George R. Witherow, Bethel, Tenn., $2; D. W. Hunter, Good Springs, Tenn., $1; some brethren at New Orleans, La., $2; a church in Nebraska, $5.50; church at Iota, La., $51.48; Miss Cora Brooks, New Orleans, La., $5; G. A. Leach, Sellersburg, Ind., $15; J. G. Malphurs, Kentucky, $1.

This fellowship has encouraged us much in the work that lies before us and which we desire to complete as

Physician Explains Who Should Take Nuxated Iron

Practical Advice on How To Help Build Up Great Strength, Energy and Endurance.

Commenting on the use of Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood builder by over three million people by over three million people annually, Dr. James Fran-cis Sullivan, formerly phy-sician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York, and The Westches-ter County Hospital, said, "Lack of iron in the blood not only makes blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fallgued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of irritable. I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles without ever realizing the real and true cause of their trouble. Without iron in your blood your food merely passes through the body something like corn through an old mill with rollers so wide apart that the mill cant grind.

For want of iron you may be an old man grind.

For want of iron you may be an old man at thirty, dull of intellect, poor in memory, nervous, irritable and all "run-down," while at 50 or 60 with plenty of iron in your blood you may still be young in feeling, full of life, your whole being brimming over with him and arresty. life, your was.

Ine accompanying article of Dr. Sullivan should be carefully read by every man and woman who wants to possess perfect health, great physical endurance and a strong, keen mentality. Dr. Sullivan tells how to increase the iron in our blood and thereby gain greater physical and mental power, brighter intellects and better health.

thereby gain greater physical and mental power, brighter intellects and better health.

But in my opinion you can't make strong, vig-orous, successful, sturdy from men, and healthy, rosy-checked women by feeding them on metallic from. The pild forms of metallic from must go through a digestive process to transform them into organic from—Nux-ated from—before they are ready to be taken up and assimilated by the human system. Not-withstanding all that has been said and written on this subject by well-known physicians, thousands of people still insimply, I suppose, because it costs a few cents less. I strongly advise readers in all cases to get a physician's prescription for organic from—Nuxated from—or if you don't want to go to this trouble then purchase Nuxated from in its original packages and see that this particular name (Nuxated from) appears on the package. If you have taken preparations such as Nux and Iron and other similar from products and falled to get results, remember that such products are an entirely different thing from Nuxated from.

Manufacturers' Note.—Nuxated Iron which is used by Dr. Sullivan and others with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended sorce by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic from products it is easily assimilated and does not induce the teeth, make them black now upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely estificatory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Men pay only for cures

People suffering from blood poison, catarrh, skin, liver, kidaey, bladder and chronic diseases, eczema, nervous debility, exhaustion, weakness of the lungs, heart and nerves should write us for free advice question chart and book describing their condition.

Piles and rectal diseases, such as fistula, fissure, stricture or varicose veins, which cause loss of vitality, nervousness and general debility, cured or no pay. Out of town people, visiting the city in need of treatment, consult us. Many cases cured in one or two visits. Consultation free and confidential. Twenty years successful experience. Hours 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1 only.

DRS, MORRIS AND HARRELL

tree and Walton Sts.

Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts.

soon as time and means permit. Every gift, of any quantity, will be greatly appreciated, and will aid us in the task we have started. I trust that others will remember that we are in need of their assistance in bearing this burden, which, when completed, will enable us to make a more successful campaign in spreading the glad tidings of neace.

A Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head

Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) can be taken by anyone without causing nervousness or ringing in the head. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

A bottle of ink uncorked may let loose upon the world a brood of more pestilential powers than ever leaped from Pandora's box .- Bryan G. Collier.

SEX PROBLEMS

Every marriage should own a complete Book of Life, of 1,000 pages, handsomely bound, such as the "Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of marriage happiness, often revealed too late. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life, History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, First Aid to the Injured.

Special Offer For a limited time we

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for five dimes (or stamps), to readers of this paper. Address Medical Press, 640% Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Remarkable Case Given Up By Five Doctors

East Chattanooga, Tenn.:—"Two years ago Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Our Neighbors Suffer from Colds

Alton Park, Tenn.:—"About three years ago I caught a very heavy cold and my limbs ached and pained me terribly. I took several different kinds of medicines but nothing gave me the relief that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery did rightfrom the first few doses. I took two bottles of it and consider it an excellent tonic and builder. My cold cleared up nicely and then the aches and pains left me—that is why I recommend Dr. Fierce's Golden Medical Discovery so highly."—MRS. ELIZABETH BLACK, Union St.

Long ago Dr. Pierce combined certain valuable vegetable ingredients—without the use of alcohol—so that these remedies always have been strictly temperance medicines. Send 10c for trial package of any of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

For the HAIR-

To make it soft, fluffy, and free from dandruff, use

TETTERINE

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

A Treat for the Skins

A Treat for the Skins
Freckles, tan, sunburn, pimples, eczema, all can be easily and delightfully vanished with the use of Falmer's Skin Success Ointment. Used for over 80 years. Rev. A. E. Ballard, D. D., President Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, Ocean Grove, N. J., writes: "Your Skin Success Ointment completely cured me of an irritative fiching eczema and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be similarly afflicted." It is not only delightfully antiseptic and cleansing, soothing and softening to the skin, but also immediately effective in bleaching the complexion and in vanishing blackheads, freckles and all skin eruptions. Ask your druggist or send for free sample to The Morgan Drug Co., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A Mississippi Field and Opportunity. BY S. P. PITTMAN.

In speaking of a State's being "destitute," we may leave the wrong impression and unintentionally ignore the labors and sacrifices of men who have devoted the best part of their lives to service in that particular

I do not mean to speak disparagingly of many who have labored faithfully and effectually in Mississippi, nor of the cause, well established in some sections of the State; but I wish to call attention to a neglected part of the State and to an effort that is being made to accomplish something in that section-the section south of Several years ago Brother T. F. Dunn, known as Dr. Dunn, formerly of Nashville, moved to Copiah County, near Hazlehurst. He has put forth an effort to establish primitive Christianity in his neighborhood, having had several protracted meetings held and continuing to keep up the worship, sometimes in his own home. Very little headway, apparently, has been made; so he desires to try another place. By getting a tent and holding meetings in various places. both in towns and in the country, Brother Dunn feels that the people can be reached. Hence, he is putting forth an effort to purchase a tent and accessories. Several have shown an interest in the work and promised to contribute toward the purchase. There should be enough persons interested in that particular field to contribute amply to this effort.

If friends of Dr. Dunn and the cause of Christ will write to him at Hazelhurst, Miss., and send a donation or the promise of a donation to thiswork, it will encourage him to go on in the effort. Just a letter of encouragement will doubtless help to stimulate him.

I have held two meetings at Martinsville, a railway station on the Illinois Central Railroad, near the Dunn home, and hence am personally acquainted with and interested in this field.

Renwar vs. Rheumatism.

Renwar vs. Rheumatism.

It is certainly a pity that so many people suffer year after year the intense pains of rheumatism, when it can be so easily expelled from the system by the simple treatment of taking Renwar Rheumatic Salts. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood, and in order to effect a complete cure it is necessary to entirely eliminate this acid from the blood. Renwar is guaranteed to relieve, or your money is refunded. It contains no injurious drugs. It is the one sure remedy, and it does not in the slightest degree injure the stomach or affect the heart. Mr. Joseph L. Boehmer says: "One 50-cent bottle has done me more good than all sanatorium treatments, and what it did for me—why should it not do the same for others? Should any one doubt the virtue of Renwar and the certainty of curing this malady, refer them to me." For sale by druggists (price, 50 cents) or by mall on receipt of price from WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.

FREE TO Pile Sufferers

Den't Be Cut—Uatil You Try This New Home Cure that Any One Can Use With-out. Discomfort or Loss of Time. Simply Chew Up a Pleasant-Tasting Tablet Occasionally and Rid Yourself Per-manently of Piles.

LET ME PROVE THIS FREE.

My internal method for the treatment and permanent relief of piles is the correct one. Thousands upon thousands of cured cases testify to this, and I want you to try this method at my expense.

No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is chronic or acute, whether it is occasional or permanent, you should send for this free trial treatment.

No matter where you live, no matter what your age or occupation, if you are troubled with piles, my method will relieve you promptly.

I especially want to send it to those apparently hopeless cases where all forms of ointments, salves, and other local applications have failed.

I want you to realize that my method of treating piles is the one infallible treatment. This liberal offer of free treatment is too important for you to neglect a single day. Write now. Send no money. Simply mail the coupon, but do this now—TO-DAY.

PREE PILE REMEDY

E. R. 430- Plea metho	F Page	Bldg., free	Marsh: trial	all, of	Mich.
*****	******		*****
*****				****
322355	*******	*****

STOP LUMBAGO PAIN RUB BACKACHE AWAY

Instant Relief! Limber Up! Rub Pain, Soreness, Stiffness Right Out with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

When your back is sore and lame, or lumbago, sciatica, or neuritis has you stiffened up, don't suffer. Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand, and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty the soreness and lameness are gone.

Don't stay crippled. This soothing, penetrating liniment takes the ache and pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, and lame-back misery so promptly and surely. It never disappoints.

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS.

BUY SERUM direct from the manufacturers and be assured of a fresh, ble product. United States Veterracturers and be assured of a rest, reliable product. United States Veter-inary License No. 114; long-distance phone, Main 2569, Nashville, Tenn. Write for 90-page Hog Book; it is FREE. WHITE SERUM COMPANY.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weaken and, run-down condition, get my 'Electric Belt.'' For Weakness, Nerrous Debility, Rheumatism, Backache, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Special introductory price $1 postpaid. Dr. Frank M. Welch, Atlanta, 6a.

OBITUARIES

Parham.

The subject of this sketch had been a sufferer for months before she found relief in death, January 8, 1920, at her home, in Leiper's Fork, Tenn. Before her marriage to Brother Oscar Par-ham, December 25, 1903, her name was Mary Sue Vaughan, of Rutherford County, Tenn. She was born on April 6, 1883; and when about fifteen years of age, she was "born again" into the family of God, being baptized by Brother J. W. Shepherd. A marked characteristic of Sister Parham's was her devotion to her family and to the cause of Christ. She was ever ready to sacrifice for both, as was evidenced by her readiness to undergo hardships and bear the burdens in order to encourage her husband in preaching the word—a work that he delights in doing, in addition to his teaching school. To him is now left the care and training of five children, three boys and two girls, ranging in age from four to fifteen. All the children, with the exception of the youngest, seemed to feel sensibly their great misfortune in the taking away of their dear mother. Time will dry their tears and bring relief, but they will learn the lesson so many have bitterly learned—that no one can take mother's place. May that vacancy in their home and their hearts be filled with Christ and his love, and may these dear children be reared to useful manhood and womanhood, is the wish of their many friends. S. P. PITTMAN.

Pope.

Recently a very dark shadow has fallen over the family of our dear, departed friend and brother, James D. Pope. He had gone to Florida to engage in business. Sister Pope was on the eve of her departure for Florida to be with her husband. Her son had gone to the station to purchase a ticket for her. In the meantime a telegram was received saying that James D. Pope had been suddenly killed in an auto-truck accident. He went to Florida, but he never returned. His body was brought back to Nashville, but his spirit returned to God who gave it. On December 27, after funeral services at the home of his son-in-law, Cecil Noel, we buried his body in Mount Olivet Cemetery. He was a robust, energetic, aggressive worker in all his undertakings. He earnestly strove for success, that he might serve his family, his friends, and humanity. He was a devoted husband; a kind, considerate, indulgent father. So far as I know, his integrity was never questioned nor his honesty impeached. Better still, he was a Christian gentleman, warmly interested in the work and worship of the church. While his dear wife and children sorrow for their loss, let them and all his friends and brethren sorrow in hope that their loss is his eternal gain. James D. Pope was born in Williamson County, Tenn., on April 11, 1859, where the greater part of his life was spent. In 1890 he married Miss Ninia Chisholm, daughter of our dearly beloved Brother L. C. Chisholm, who departed this life some years ago.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN suffer miserably from periodic attacks of headache, never dreaming that a permanent cure may be had. Headache nearly always results from some disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will correct these disorders and there will be no more headache. Many have been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Tablets.

Chamberlain's Tablets

Brother Pope had been a devoted, faithful member of the church of Christ for twenty-nine years. He died in Arcadia, Fla., on December 24, 1919. Of his immediate family, he leaves his wife; two sons, Louis and James; and his daughter, Mrs. Katherine Noel. He also has three sisters and two brothers who survive him. May the good Lord help us all to be ready to depart the shores of time and to have the comforting hope of eternal life in the sweet by and by. James E. Scobey.

Hard Colds.—People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as are others. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, and this great medicine recovers the system after a cold as no other medicine does. Take Hood's.

God's Conquering Presence.

If we find our tasks mean, it is because we have within us the promise of tasks that shall be mighty. If we feel within us the sense of sin, it is because there is growing there the conquering sense of the presence of God.—W. H. Blake.

As Influenza

is an exaggerated form of Grip, LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) should be taken in larger doses than is prescriber for ordinary Grip. A good plan is not wait until you are sick, but PREVENT by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUIN Tablets in time.

Send NO Money!

The Comfort, Style and Quality of these Nurse's Comfort shoes make them the greatest ladies' shoe value ever offered. That is why we gladly send you a pair os approval. Simply state size—we take all the risk that the soft, gio will delight you. Note their robber heels. Flexible wenuine aus bloom soles will give you close will give you not seen to much. You save by huying the shoe Market of the World. ston Mail Order House, Dep. 8066, Bankly and my Nursea Comfort about Boston Mail Order House, Dep. 6066. Boston, Wass. Send my Nursea Comfort shoot on approach. I risk nothing!

Address

CHURCH NEWS

Arkansas.

Fort Smith, January 26 .- I was with the church at Atkins on the third Sunday in this month. We had three splendid services. Brother Eades, from Morrillton, was with us and preached an able discourse in the afternoon. Brother Eades is an able speaker and a good debater and should be kept busy all the time. I am to be with them again on the third Lord's day in next month, the Lord willing, and am to be with them in a meeting in July. We had a good day at Park Hill Church yesterday, with large attendance at all services. Prospects are fine for a good year's work .- Will W. Slater

South Carolina.

Union, January 15 .- Our work is looking more encouraging now than it has ever looked since we came here eleven months ago. Brother Sam Nix, of Lebanon, Tenn., will be here the first of February to take up the work at some place in the State, Brother Nix is a good preacher and is well reported of by all who know him, and we are expecting him to do much good in this destitute field during years to come. Bethlehem, his home congregation, is supporting him. I think this very commendable both in the preacher and the congregation. Usually, when a congregation wants a preacher to do anything, they look away from home to find him. But not so this time. This congregation leves Brother Nix and expects great things for him in this new work which they are undertaking. This is one of the oldest congregations in the South, and the step they are taking in supporting this brother all the time and still doing other work should be an example to other congregations to do more in the future in helping preach the gospel to those who have never heard We are glad to report that the Twelfth Avenue congregation, of Nashville, is preparing to support a preach-er full time in this State. We also We also have one other congregation that wants to support a man. I find it some trouble to get the preacher who is willing to make the sacrifice necesary to come down and do the work in ils destitute field. Brother J. M. Caleb will be with us three days, inning on January 28. I will preach near Woodruff next Sunday. the Lord willing. This little band is getting along nicely. Watch them grow. We lack only twenty dollars having our lot paid for. Now for the building. Brethren, we are depending on you to help us build. We are not able to do it by ourselves, but by your help and the help of God we mean to build early in the spring. Do not go to bed without first mailing a check for this fund, or write me and tell me what you will pay on demand between this time and the first of July. Breth-ren, pray for us, and then ask God to help you do something that will help carry on the work. May God bless you .- Thomas H. Burton.

Tennessee.

East Lake, January 19.—Yesterday was a fine day for all of the congregations in this section. Hoover was at Central. with overflowing Twenty-five have taken membership with the congregation during the past month. Brooks was at Cowart Street. with fine audiences and four addi-tions. Bradley was at St. Elmo, with good attendance and interest. Clark was at Rossville, with fine audiences Fridell was at East and one addition. Chattanooga, and reports a fine service. The East Chattanooga congregation has recently closed a deal for the house of worship formerly controlled by the society brethren. Ridgedale and North Chattanooga report good attendance and fine interest in their work .- Aruna Clark.

Texas.

Fort Worth, January 19.—Yesterday was another good day at Southside-Central church of Christ. Two fine Two fine young ladies took membership with The work is good and growing 1 went with many others to better: Northside in the afternoon to hear Price Billingsley, of Tennessee. sermon was an inspiration to us all. There will be a meeting at old Central Church next Lord's day, in which all the congregations in the city are to be represented, for the purpose of unifying our efforts to evangelize the city and county. I am glad to report that my wife is again better, her burn healing, and she can again walk some. -Tice Elkins.

Got 117 Eggs Instead of 3

Says One Subscriber

Any poultry raiser can easily double his profiles by doubling the egg production of his hens. A scientific tonic has been discovered that revitalizes the flock and makes hens work all the time. The tonic is called "More Eggs." It has already been used by 400,000 chicken raisers, and literally thousands of letters have been received telling of its marvelous results. Give your hens a few cents' worth of "More Eggs." and you will be amazed and delighted with results. If you wish to try this great profit maker, simply write a post card or letter to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 5252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., and ask for his special free-package $1 offer. Don't send any money, Mr. Reefer will send you two $1 packages of "More Eggs." You pay the postman upon delivery only $1, the price of just one package, the other package being tree. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk write to-day for this special free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Pass the Critical Period Safely and Comfortably by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Summit, N. J.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life and I think it is a good remedy in such good remedy in such a condition. I could not digest my food and had much pain and burning in my and burning in my stomach after meals. I could not sleep, had backache, and worst of all and worst of all werethe hot flashes. I saw in the papers a bout Vegetable Compound so I tried it. Now I feel all right and can work better. You have my permission to publish this letter."

—VICTORIA KOPPL, 21 Oak Ridge Ave., Summit, N. J.

If you have warning symptoms such as a sense of suffocation, but flashes as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backache, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, incident and imperior of the strength of the inquietude, and dizziness, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin taking the medicine at cace. We know it will help you as it did Mrs. Koppl.

Neal-Record Debate.

BY COLEMAN OVERBEY.

This debate was held at Blue Spring Church, near Fort Henry, Tenn., on January 20-22. Elder Neal (Baptist) affirmed the impossibility of apostasy; Brother Record affirmed baptism to be one of the conditions of salvation from past sins. The best of spirit prevailed throughout the discussion. Elder Neal had the advantage in experience and tact, yet it was interesting to note how busy he was kept and how hard he labored. Brother Record is to be commended for his work. In spite of mud, rain, and ice, the debate was fairly well attended. I kept time for Brother Record; W. O. Hargrove (my father-in-law) moderated for Brother Neal. Much good is expected as a result of the debate.

The Strong Withstand The Winter Cold Better Than The Weak

Old people who are feeble and younger people who are weak, will be strengthened and enabled to go through the cold weather by taking GROVE'S
TASTELESS chill TONIC, which is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Notes from West Tennessee.

BY JOHN R. WILLIAMS.

Paul said: "For as touching the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you: for I know your readiness, of which I glory on your behalf to them of Macedonia, that Achaia hath been prepared for a year past; and your zeal hath stirred up very many of them." (2 Cor. 9: 1, 2.)

Congregations, preachers, and individual members of the church can be "stirred up" by the zeal, energy, devotion, spirituality, and liberality of others

When I listen to some godly man preaching the old, old gospel, teaching, warring, and pleading with sinners to obey the gospel and be saved, I want to get up and go; if I cannot go in person, by my means I want to go through some one else. 'I want the people to hear

Solomon says: "Wisdom is better than weapons of war: but one sinner destroyeth much good." If one sinner can destroy much good, then one righteous person can destroy much evil.

Lately I have been reading, from religious papers, what leading men have to say of the city and rural congregations. As I live in Hornbeak, and Hornbeak is not a city, only a small village on the roadside, securely quarantined by four deep mudholes, I know nothing of the doings of city congregations, only as I read what others say. But, situated as I am and have been all of my life as a preacher, I believe I know something of the rural congregations, their mistakes and needs. It is no uncommon thing, however, for some young brother just out of some city school to come along and tell us old country fogies how to do. They will tell us all about how they do in the cities and try to get us to do likewise; but, somehow, we just cannot fit in or adapt ourselves to the pattern presented. then, what is to become of us old, outof-date, antiquated preachers and members? Having spent thirty-five years in the "sticks" in the backwoods, along the banks of Reelfoot Lake, in an effort to preach the gospel and build up rural congregations, certainly I should know something of the needs, deeds, and mistakes of the "country church," and, by permission of the editors of the Gospel Advocate, shall call attention to some of these things.

For every wrong, for every mistake, for every failure, there is some one that is responsible; but it is, sometimes, a very hard matter to get that one to see and acknowledge the responsibility. We should not forget the fact that as individuals we are responsible for the mistakes in society, the errors in religion, and the corruption in politics. Too often we overlook the personal responsibility and place the blame on others.

Look at the congregations once in a flourishing condition, but now down and out. What is the matter? What is the cause? Men die, men are killed; congregations die, and congregations are killed. If I kill a man, there is a severe penalty to undergo; and if I kill a congregation, there is a greater punishment that I must undergo. We are astonished and made to wonder at man killing his fellow man, but condone the one who kills a congregation. It is a greater crime, in the sight of God, to kill a congregation than it is to kill my fellow man; at least, if not a greater crime, the punishment is greater. The church killer needs to be pointed out and warned of the greatest of crimes in God's sight.

We may say what God has done for us. It is scarcely less than blasphemy to say what he cannot do for us .-Slattery.

At Last A Real Remedy for Piles

No More Nasty Salves or Ointment; No Knife Cutting. A Simple Treatment That Simple Treatment Works While You Sleep.

6 Day Treatment

Thousands of people suffer from bleeding, protruding or suppurating piles. Having tried all kinds of ointments, salves or doctor's prescriptions without permanent benefit they naturally feel discouraged and think they must carry misery to the grave—yet their case is not boneless.

urally feel discouraged and think they must carry misery to the grave—yet their case is not hopeless.

Here is good news for all such sufferers. A prominent western physician has discovered a remarkable, harmless compound known as HEM-RoID. Taken internally it quickly begins a cleaning, soothing healing of all affected parts. It helps drive out all the thick, impure blood that is clogging the hemorrhoidal veins and causing piles. It so livens and strengthens the intestinal muscles and howel walls that in many cases of years standing all distress and misery soon disappears and does not return.

Don't say "Can this be true?" Give us the chance to prove what we say. Write at once, using the Coupon below, and we will send you, postpaid, a full six-days' treatment of wonderful Hem-Roid. We feel confident that Hem-Roid used as directed will help to free you to take our word for it. Prove it for yourself. If a pile sufferer and sincere don't delay but mail coupon at once, to Dr. Leonhardt Co., 226 Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y. Make the decision now that you are going to end all pile misery.

Gospel Advocate PILE COUPON 6-DAY TREATMENT

This coupon, with full name and address and 10 cents in stamps to help pay distributing expenses entitles holder to our 6-day treatment of Hem-Roid. Dr. Leonhardt Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

Our Part.

There before the door Christ waits. he who has come to knock, and asks to be admitted that he may come in and sup with us and we with him. But he will not (shall we say "cannot?") lift the latch. We must do that from within. So also upon the highway he meets us when perhaps we are forlorn; our hope is almost dead, for we have had many falls, and our strength is spent. He says, "Follow me;" but the choice to follow still rests with us .- H. H. Montgomery.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid Illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

In answering advertisements, mention the Gospel Advocate.

FREE

Samples &

Roofing Bool

LOW PRICED GARAGES

Lowest prices on Ready-Made Fire-Proof Steel Garages. Set up any place. Send postal for Garage Book showing styles.

* THE EDWARDS MFG. GO., 2330-2380 Pike St. Cincinnati, O.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, au-thoritatively guaranteed by the labora-tories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the high-est authorities and produined by enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children .- Adv.)

TETTERINE Drives Away Pimples

and leaves your skin soft and spotless. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Thompson-Bogard Debate.

BY J. WILL HENLEY.

Brother W. M. Thompson, of Ada, Okla., engaged Ben M. Bogard in a four-days' debate at the Plover Schoolhouse, near Shawnee, Okla., beginning on December 30. Four propositions were discussed. Each speaker conducted himself in the most orderly and praiseworthy manner. Moderators had nothing to do but open and close each session. Every one knows Mr. Bogard to be the strongest Landmark Baptist debater in the entire country. Will Thompson proved himself to be equal to the task Mr. Bogard laid upon him. Some brethren came to the debate feeling that we were possibly not well fortified with a man to meet Bogard, but went away singing Thompson's praises and declaring that Oklahoma churches need not order preachers to meet opposers of the Lord's way so long as Will Thompson lives.

Bogard led, affirming that "sinners are saved by grace, through faith, before and without baptism," The affirmative arguments were of the usual sort, and nothing new was presented in support of the contention. Brother Thompson easily met him at every turh. He told the folks that he believed with all his heart that sinners are saved by grace, through faith, but that when Bogard tacked on the other words, "before and without baptism," he then had to deny the whole thing; for neither God, Christ, apostles, nor the Holy Spirit ever said such a thing, or, if such a thing ever happened, the Holy Spirit forgot to mention it. Mr. Bogard was asked repeatedly to show one case where any one was said to have been saved by grace, through faith, before he was baptized. Of course, it could not be done. The debate closed and the case was not shown. Mr. Bogard ran off to Acts 10 to find persons upon whom the Spirit fell before they were baptized, and argued that this was an answer to Brother Thompson's de-

Brother Thompson led on the establishment of the church, on the second day, and did as fine work as any living man could have done. He used all the strongest of the old arguments and introduced some new ones. One new argument to Mr. Bogard was Isa. 66: 5-8, upon which Brother Thompson proposed to stake the whole issue. Mr. Bogard publicly stated that the

BITTER TASTE SOUR STOMACH

Pills and Strong Medicines Made This Lady's Troubles Worse, but Thedford's Black-Draught Improved Her Appetite and Took Away Her Bile

Nancy, Ky .- Mrs. Cora Waddle, a resident of this place, gives out this statement: "I have taken Black-Draught and found it to be the best liver medicine I ever used. It has just been fine for indigestion, sour stomach, and a bitter taste in the

"I used to get bilious and constipated, and had to take something. Pills and other strong medicines would only tear my stomach up and leave me in a worse fix than before taking. I began to have sick headache.

'After learning of Black-Draught, I took it and was cured of sick headaches. One or two doses a week, or a pinch after meals, kept the bowels open and took away all bile. I have a good appetite, due to my use of Black-Draught."

If your liver is not acting properly, you may suffer from such symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, Indigestion, etc.; and unless relief is obtained, serious trouble may result.

In its seventy years of successful use, Thedford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve these ailments and stimulate the liver to do its work.

At all druggists'.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneystillze an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeone are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant. Clinton, S. C.

PELLAGR

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today.

CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY, Dept. 74 Atlanta, 6s.

GET READY FOR "FIII"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty america for break-fine with a hearty appetite for break-fast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss, and Attractiveness

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly com-pounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked, or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sul-phur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and eyenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

INTERSMITES CHILL TONIC

Sald for 50 Years FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER. Also s Fine General Strengthening Tonic. At All Drug Stores.

argument was new to him and showed his utter inability to handle it.

On the third day Bogard led on impossibility of apostasy. He took his usual course in efforts to cover up his opponent with scriptures having the words "live forever," "never die," "everlasting life," "eternal life," "shall not see death," etc., calling them arguments. The "boy" was too much of a match here. He asked Bogard to tell us what became of the twenty-three thousand who fell in the wilderness. Mr. Bogard said they all died and went to hell, but that they never did have faith, and quoted Heb. 3: 10 as proof. He wrote it on the board this way: "They have always erred in their hearts, and have never known my ways." Thompson was ready, and showed that three words were written by Bogard that were not in the verse, then cited Heb. 11: 9 and 1 Cor. 10: 1-13 to show they were in touch with the divine hand and had all been under his care. Some real debating took place here.

On the fourth day Thompson led on "baptism for (in order to) remission of sins." Much interest was manifested in this proposition. Many had come to learn the truth on this great question. Thompson introduced ten Baptist scholars who agreed with us on this important question. He begged Bogard to try to write a sentence with a compound predicate connected by the conjunction "and" in order to obtain an object, and have one verb pointing forward and the other backward. It was not even attempted.

Mr. Bogard showed himself to be a jolly, good entertainer at the noon hours, eating dinner with Brother Thompson and his brethren and holding pleasant conversations with them. About a dozen gospel preachers attended the debate, and every one of them stands ready, anxious, and willing to indorse Will M. Thompson to meet any Baptist debater on earth. Heaven alone will reveal the lasting good accomplished in this debate. May God bless all who are satisfied with his wonderful truth.

Old Sores

SHOULD NOT RUN ON FOREVER.

While it may not look dangerous and may not rapidly grow larger, its progress may fool you. Dirt and millions of germs will attack it every day. Blood poison is likely to set in at any time. Buy a box of Gray's Ointment. It immediately soothes the pain, cleanses the wound, kills the germs, and begins healing. It is immediately effective with sores, boils, cuts, stings, burns, bruises, eczema, and the many similar forms of skin eruption. If your druggist cannot supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Building, Nashville, Tenn., and a liberal sample will be sent you free.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Men and Women

Women as well as men are made miserably kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney medicine, is highly recommended by thousands.

Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that so many people say it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands of even the most distressing cases.

At drugglests in large and medium size bottles. You may receive a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post, also a pamphiet telling you about it. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. This calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustrations. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural illustrations, such as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy News," "These are twolve of these Women." There are twelve of these monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustration on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sun-days. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of the twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, which enables one to select one of seven calfor use in each of 200 years from 1800 to 2002.

The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers, the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the name of some prospective business student. In writing, mention this

Cuticura Soap is Easy Shaving for Sensitive Skins The New Up-to-date Cuticura Method

FROM THE FIELD

California.

San Francisco, January 20 .- On the first Lord's day in this month Brother T. B. Larimore began preaching here, and it gives us courage and hope that we may accomplish a greater and better work than ever before. We meet in Richmond Hall, corner Fourth Avenue and Clement Street.-Mrs. T. J. McRae.

Colorado.

Dolores, January 22.—I was with the church at Olathe last Lord's-day morning. In the afternoon some of the brethren drove me over to Delta, eleven miles distant. The church at Olathe numbers about seventy-five members. Delta is a very promising mission point, with a membership of about fifteen. I am to begin a series of meetings with them on February 1. The work here is moving along nicely, although very slowly; yet we are very greatly encouraged over prospects greatly encouraged over prospects which point to better things in the future - Willis G. Jernigan,

Kentucky.

Louisville, January 27.—The work at Cedar Spring and King's Hall is moving along with good interest. We expect some good work to be done this year. The King's Hall brethren have purchased a lot and expect to erect a building soon. The work in Louisville is not what it should be. The division has in a large measure hindered its progress. Brethren would do well to progress. Brethren would do well to abide in the plain teaching of the Master. I sincerely hope that the missionary situation in foreign fields will be cleared up to the satisfaction of God-fearing men. Under existing circumstances I cannot lend my influence to foreign missions. I hope a move-ment will soon be brought about that will improve the present very poor condition of choosing missionaries and sending them .- R. A. Craig.

Oklahoma.

Muskogee, January 23.—Our services last Sunday were well attended, both morning and evening. While several have been unable to attend on account of sickness, yet our attendance is gradually on the increase. Last Sun-day we located a new family who had recently moved here, and the husband met with us and took part in the work. It is our practice to develop talent in the congregation. Every new member is immediately put to work, and it helps to make our services much more interesting. We are still meeting in the Moose Hall, 3181/2 West Okmulgee, and laying plans for a successful meeting in the early spring.-C. Maynard.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price 60c.

"THE CROSS AND RESURRECTION"

Every Song Will Sing. Have you ever noticed that more than half the songs in books are never used? Why sell something that is not usable? In bringing out this "revised and enlarged" edition of "The Cross and Resurrection" (in song), we have used nothing that will not sing, that will not be liked by those who try to sing. Hence no waste in this book. You have 309 selections; more than a hundred of the old songs that will never die; only that music that has been written in recent years, that has shown its worth by the way it has stirred souls; and same of the sweetest new music, never before published. The idea of endurance—a book you can use for years—has been our aim. Our confidence in the book you will see when we say: Send us 35 cents for sample copy in limp cover, try each song, and if you say the book is not worth our price, we will refund the money. We can't make any reduction for samples in board.

in board.

This book is offered at the following reasonable prices; Limp cover, 45c, prepaid; $5.25 per dozen, prepaid; $30.60 per hundred, by express, not prepaid. Board cover, 55c per copy, prepaid; $6.00 per dozen, prepaid; $45.00 per hundred, by express, not prepaid. Fifty at the hundred rates. Don't send stamps. Send all orders to

S. H. & FLAVIL HALL, 28 Ashby Street, Atlanta, Ga.

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker. Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

This Baby Found a Home

He is one of the Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand children who faced death from starvation in the Near East. Somebody in the United States is giving the $5 a month which makes him happy.

There are thousands of others who depend on you to save them from death.

The Offering in the Church School should be taken as soon after the first of the year as possible. Be sure your school is represented in this great work. Your contribution means Life to the suffering Christian children of the Near East. Pastors and church leaders should keep themselves informed regarding conditions among these most persecuted of Christian people. It costs you nothing to get the facts. Send for our latest reports on present day conditions in the Near East.

(formerly the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief.)

> CLEVELAND H. DODGE Treasurer

1 Madison Avenue New York City

This advertisement is privately paid for by a friend of the Armenian people.

Send us a new subscriber to the Gospel Advocate.

Volume LXII. No. 7.

NASHVILLE, TENN., FEBRUARY 12, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE,

CONTENTS.

STUDIES IN CHURCH HISTORY
OUR CONTRIBUTORS
JOURNEYINGS OFTEN
TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN
GEORGIA AND THE FAR SOUTHERN FIELD
AT HOME AND ABROAD
EDITORIAL
RELIEF FUND 157
REPORT FROM HOWE, OKLA
AN EARNEST APPEAL
WORK IN THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY 162
THOUGHTS BY THE WAY 163
THE MASTER'S VINEYARD 164
OBITUARIES
THE NATURE OF MAN (NO. 3)

Edifying as the Need May Be

Christ the Trouble Maker.

We can never get a true picture of our Savior's life unless we study its striking contrasts and balance one side of his character with the other. A recent critic who wished to prove that Jesus was less than divine stated that there were only five absolutely credible passages about Jesus in general. These are his refusal to be called "good," for "none is good save one, even God" (Mark 10: 17, 18); the blasphemy against the Son of man which "shall be forgiven" (Matt. 12: 31, 32); his relation to his kinsfolk when they said he was beside himself (Mark 3: 21); the profession of ignorance as to the day and the hour which were known only of the Father (Mark 13: 32); and the cry of desertion on the cross (Mark 15: 34). It is hardly necessary to say that this man was juggling with the Scriptures. In a very ingenious way he selected the five passages that bolstered up his proposition Jesus is describing his limitations as the Son of man. To treat the matter justly, he should place over against these five passages five other passages in which he presents his highest claims as the Son of God. (1) He fulfills the law and the prophets. (Matt. 5: 17, 18.) The law and the prophets denote the Old Testament, the collective revelation to collective Israel. This Jesus came to fulfill-that is, to realize its idea, to actualize its dream. He conceives himself to be more than the law, greater than the prophets. The scribes explained the law, but Jesus gives a new law and a higher prophecy. (2) He comes "not to call the righteous, but sinners," to repentance. (Mark 2: 17.) The idea in Matthew takes the form of an irresistible appeal. "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." (Matt. 11: 28.) What does this mean? It means, "I am all-sufficient for the saying of the lost." (3) The command addressed to his disciples, "Come ye after me," or, "Follow me." Some interesting contexts show the absolute authority implied in this command. Thus to the scribe: "Follow me, and leave the dead to bury their dead" (Matt. 8: 18-22); and to the rich young ruler: "Go sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and come, follow me," Jesus Christ will brook no rival; the thing man loves most he must surrender if he would obey. (4) He affirms his charge to the twelve, (Matt. 10: 16-42.) They are to be persecuted for his sake; but if they endure, he will confess them before the Father. To lose their life for his sake is to find it; to do the meanest service in his name is to win an everlasting reward. (5) His preëminence toward man is reflected in his uniqueness toward God. He is the Son; all things have been delivered of the Father. No man knoweth the Father save the Son and he to whom the Son shall reveal him. This one is still more scientific. You are now prepared to appreciate my point about Jesus the trouble maker. True enough, he is the Prince of Peace. He comes bearing an olive branch, the white truce of God; but "out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword," and, "I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother." (Matt. 10: 35.) What striking contrasts are found in Jesus! An olive branch and a sword, a lamb and a lion, a flower and a fire, a peace giver and a trouble maker!

Jesus began to make trouble for some people as soon as he was born. (See Matt. 2: 3.) "When Herod the king heard it, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him." Here was a case where conscience made a coward of a king-Herod knew his insecurity. His kingdom was honeycombed with fraud. The pillars which supported it were violence and crime. Is a man in the way? Strike him down. Is a province in the way? Blot it out. Is a prophecy? Kill all the little boy babies in the land. race in the way? Put your heel on their neck. "Down Eros; up Mars!" A little later on Nicodemus is troubled by the mystery of the new birth; the rich young ruler, by the necessity of self-denial. The Pharisees were troubled by his plain speech about hypocrites and whited sepulchers. The scribes were troubled by his condemnation of their slavish literalism. Truly this is a troublesome man. Let us put an end to our troubles by putting him to death. So they crucified him and put him away in a tomb, and before it they set a great stone and had a guard of soldiers. Jesus was dead, but locked securely in. But the third day after he is buried the trouble breaks out again. The grave in Joseph's garden could not hold him. All Jerusalem is troubled again. A new spirit is in the air. It spreads to Antioch and Damascus and Joppa, to Ephesus and Corinth, to Philippi, to Athens and Rome, and men say to one another: "They that have turned the world upside down have come hither also." But the thing to remember is that Christ troubles us to purify and save us. From real trouble he delivers.

Our Contributors

Youthful Days.

BY W. HALLIDAY TRICE.

Youth is the dewy morning of life; and he who comes "to the end of a perfect day" must spend the fresh and fragrant forenoon well. Youth is the bright and beautiful springtime of one's career; and he who goes into the golden autumn with honor and passes into the snowy winter with glory must labor while the year is young. Youth is the sowing season; and as we reap what we sow, if we would have a glorious ingathering and go to "the harvest home" with joy, we must guard with vigilance the planting time. Young people should dream dreams, and then row heroically to "come at last, unbeaten, into the port of dreamscome-true." This is the period in which plans should be made, to be worked out in after life. The mind is plastic and the memory is retentive in youth; hence, impressions are more easily made and are more lasting. The habits of life are usually formed in "the sunny days of youth." Man is a bundle of habits. Repeated acts become habits, habits make character, and character determines destiny: therefore, the habit-forming period should be carefully watched. Good habits are powerful allies in the battle of life, and will assist in gaining the victory over the archive of human interests; but evil customs are mighty enomies in the fierce struggle, and will surely cause defeat and Solomon said: "Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thy heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment. Therefore remove sorrow from thy heart, and put away evil from thy flesh; for youth and the dawn of life are vanity. Remember also thy Creator in the days of thy youth, before the evil days come, and the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." Again, he says: "The glory of young men is their strength." The apostle John says: "I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong." These verses of sacred Scripture show that strength is a characteristic of youth, and that the young should rejoice in this glory, but that they must render an account for the way they use this flood of energy. It is no sin to possess and enjoy a vigorous and exuberant vitality. Physical health and bodily strength should be coveted, and personal beauty and charm should not be discouraged. The keen wit and roving imagination of youth should not be quelled or allowed to run riot; but they should be harnessed, held in check, and made to do the bidding of their master. With ability always comes responsibility; with opportunity comes obligation. This is a fundamental and unchangeable law, and he who disregards it will not be held guiltless. Hence, to his physical powers, intellectual shrewdness, bouyant hopefulness, and fresh enthusiasm, the youth should add undaunted courage and virile plety. The robust body and brilliant mind may serve as wings upon which you may soar to the mountain peak of purity or perpetual snow, or they may be as weights to drag you into the very pit of misery and wee. Electricity, under the control of a skilled hand, lights our homes and cities and propels our public and private cars; but electricity, uncontrolled, may, and often does, work havoc and destroy life and property.

The young person in whose veins rich, red blood flows must not parley with sin or dally with temptation; there must be no wistful longing for the forbidden, no yielding for once. You had better cut off your right-hand passion and pluck out your right-eye lust than to stain your character or soil your soul. You may be cured of a wound in your flesh and forget the pain it caused, but the scar may remain. A sapling was backed by a careless woodman; it became a tree and the bark grew over the cut; but when the log was sawed at the mill, the damaged lumber showed the effect of the cruel ax. Hezekiah Butterworth shows the effect sin may have upon the young in the following beautiful lines:

I walked through the woodland meadows,
Where sweet the thrushes sim;
And I found on a bed of mosses
A bird with a broken wing.
I healed its wound, and each morning
It sang its old, sweet strain;
But the bird with a broken pinion
Never soared as high again.

I found a young life broken
By sin's seductive art;
And touched with a Christlike pity,
I took him to my heart.
He lived with a noble purpose,
And struggled not in vain;
But the life that sin had stricken
Never soared as high again.

But the bird with the broken pinion Kant and the And the life which sin had stricken Raised another from despair,

Each loss has its compensation,
There is a healing for every pain;
But the bird with the broken pinion
Never soars as high again!

The secret of happiness, the key to success, the solution to the problem of human existence, and the answer to the riddle of life is found when an individual learns to make his wants his needs. It is not failing to secure the indispensable that causes so much worry and discontent; but it is the vain effort to obtain what we think is essential that makes us so unhappy. Neither is it always the money we spend for the necessities of life that empties our pocketbooks and materially interferes with our financial success; but it is that which we imagine we must have that takes our cash and makes and keeps us poor. We are everlastingly desiring things that are not only unnecessary, but such things as, in many cases, are positively harmful to us. Millions of dollars are worse than wasted, thousands of characters are wrecked and hundreds of human lives are lost annually, all because man's wants are larger than his needs. This perversity seems to be born in the race, and it is easily developed by abnormal practices. The tiny infant wants to play with the beautiful, blazing fire, and he is very unhappy because he cannot do so. Older children are anxious to play with the scissors, the butcher knife, or any other sharp or dangerous instrument, and they often make others miserable if they do not get them. A boy once cried for the moon. To be sure, he did not need it; and had he secured it, he could not have managed it successfully. Adults are children grown older, and some of them howl for things that are just as useless and harmful as the things for which the children cry. The toper craves his toddy and "the doper desires his dope." not because they will benefit them, but to gratify abnormal appetites acquired by evil practices. So the supreme task of life is to make our wants our real needs; and in order to accomplish this, we must discipline ourselves while young. Then, let us remember that life is not a collection of things, but a set of relations. It is not a realm of having, but a realm of being. Somewhere, sometime, and in some way man must learn the lesson of self-restraint; and the sooner he learns it, the better it is for him and for the race. It is a fragment from the wisdom of the ages which declares: "It is good for a man to bear the yoke in his youth." The person who takes the yoke of self-denial and self-control while young in years will learn to delight in doing his duty, and will thus get happiness out of Diving a righteous life. So, while in the golden days of youth, learn to control your thoughts and desires, and you can live a fine, full, and fruitful life, and the sun of your existence will go down in a halo of glory.

No Room for Jesus.

BY R. D. SMITH.

"And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn."

A mighty stir is in the land of the Jews; for Augustus Casar has sent forth a decree that all the world shall be taxed; "and they go every one into his own city."

Taking our stand with the traveler upon the mountains of Northern Samaria, we behold at our feet, and just to the north, the beautiful plain of Esdraelon, stretching from the Jordan river to the Great Sea. Across this plain to the north, at a distance of about fifteen miles, rise the gray hills of Southern Galilee, in the midst of which nestles the little town of Nazareth, the home of our Savior for about thirty years.

On the above-mentioned occasion might have been seen a small party leaving the gates of Nazareth and descending into the plain, the woman mounted on an ass and the man walking at her side. Probably we may say without presumption that they take the Jordan road, for this seems their custom. They have a long journey before them, and their mode of travel is exceedingly slow. Day after day the little caravan moves southward, the woman sitting wearily upon the toiling animal and the man trudging patiently at her side. But the long journey is about to end. They pass ancient, historic Jericho, and ascend to Jerusalem, which holds every Jewish heart. They pass from her gates upon the road leading south. A few miles will bring them to the end of their long journey—the home of David and Jesse, the home of Ruth and Boaz.

Worn and weary from their long journey, they are turned away from the inn, only to find what were probably the roughest quarters in which to lodge. But on that never-to-be-forgotten night came the Christ child to dwell among men; for we read: "She brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn."

Thus two thousand years ago came the Child of heaven to dwell among men; but the world was so occupied with its own things that there was no room to receive him. The blessed Mary was crowded out of the inn; and He who had been heralded by prophets and whose presence was announced by the angels was laid fresh-born in a manger. "because there was no room for them in the inn;" and this while those for whom he came to give his life went about their business and pleasures, living in palaces and sleeping upon comfortable beds. It is a remarkable fact that the world's Redeemer was forced to have, for his first bed, a manger, "because there was no room for them in the inn:" but this incident serves to suggest others that followed in his life, and these all taken together show how unholy was the reception accorded our Savior by the world when he came. There was no room for Jesus.

Not only is there no room in the inn at Bethlehem for a birthplace for Jesus, but it soon appears that there is no room in Bethlehem, nor in all the coast; for Herod plans the slaughter of the "innocents," and they must flee to Egypt for safety. There is no room for Jesus. Although Joseph has been summoned by the Lord to return to his own land, when he reaches her borders and finds Archelaus in the room of his bloodthirsty father, Joseph dares not trust Jesus in the jurisdiction of one whose father had sought to take his life. Hence to Galilee, beyond Samaria, to despised Nazareth, for a safe retreat.

Here for the larger part of his earthly life he finds a home; but no sooner does his public ministry begin than they refuse him room in Nazareth. Returning from the Jordan, where he had been baptized, he stood up in their synagogue to teach as he was wont to do; but his words were displeasing to them, and they grew so angry they thrust him out of their city, and were about to cast him headlong from a precipice, and he departed from their midst, and went to Capernaum, thus turning his face from the scenes of his childhood, because there was no room for him at Nazareth.

One day he went with his disciples across the Sea of Galllee to the land of the Gadarenes, but he was unwelcome. He cast out the evil spirits from some men, but because some swine were destroyed they asked him to quit their country. No room for Jesus here. And so he returns and goes about, just doing good-cleansing lepers, casting out devils, healing the sick, and preaching the acceptable year of the Lord; but there was no room for him in the land of the Jews. He is followed from place to place by evil men sent out by the rulers of the Jews, that they may find some excuse against him. One day he was so burdened with the thought that he was not wanted in the land that he said: "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man bath not where to lay his head." There is no room for him in the land of the Jews.

The growing hatred of the Jews for him has now reached the point of intolerance. They follow him to Gethsemane in the dead of night, arrest him, and draw him before their rulers. No room for Jesus in Gethsemane, where he is wont to retire for comfort and rest. At the unlawful hours of night they draw him into their courts for trial.

He is conducted by the mob, first, to the court of Annas, former high priest, where Annas permits him to be abused shamefully; from here to Caiaphas, where he is blindfolded, mocked, struck upon the face, and asked in derision to prophesy, with many other acts of shameful treatment; and from Caiaphas to the Sanhedrin. But they would make short work of him. They say he is worthy of death, and rush him to Pilate for trial. No room for Jesus in the courts of the Jews.

In the court of Pilate the Jews stir up the people, that they will not permit Pilate to show him favor. He is then sent to Herod; but neither has Herod room for him. He arrays him in royal robes, and, with his men of war, mocks him, and sets him at naught, and returns him to Pilate. But the Jews storm the court of Pilate, and are instant with one voice, crying for his blood, till Pilate says, "Take ye him, and crucify him;" and he turns him over to the mob.

There is, indeed, no room for Jesus now. Mock him, smite him, spit upon him, scourge him, and crown him with thorns, for there is no room for him. Lead him forth bearing his own cross. Out! Out! "Without the gates" to Calvary, for there is no room for him in Jerusalem. Nail him hands and feet to the cross and lift him up from the earth, for there is no room for him among men.

Veil now thy face, O mighty God, and clothe the king of day in robes of night! Send forth the awful earthquake and shake the world! Tear in twain the veil of the temple and rend the rocks of Jerusalem! Let thy disturbed saints come out of their graves and patrol the streets of the holy city! For the Son of God has come to the world he created, and there is no room for him.

Doubtless the blackest crime charged against the world is that it had no room for the Son of God. The story of this unholy reception has aroused the resentment of good men everywhere for two thousand years. And yet, as little as we think of it, the world to-day is guilty of the same gross crime against the Christ. There is truly no room in the hearts of the majority for Jesus to-day. His blessed cause is neglected for almost everything. The sinner has no room for Jesus; he is engaged in business and pleasures, and so shuts the door upon the Master. Jesus pleads with him, "Come unto me, and I will give you rest;" but he, so occupied with the things of the world, answers by actions, if not by word, "I have no room for Jesus." But in this matter the majority of professed Christians are no better, for we permit our business and our pleasures to occupy all and thus shut out the Christ. This we do when we neglect the great cause for which he died; when we find little or no time and means available for his service. When we become so wrapped up in world affairs that we neglect our duties to God, then truly we say: "No room for Jesus."

"The lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life"—these are the things that have barred the door of the heart against the Master always.

O poor unworthy! Is there no room in your heart for Jesus? No room for Him who had room in his heart for all the world? He is gone to yonder wonderful world to prepare mansions for his own, and is coming back some day to take them to that wondrous palace. If we have had no room for him here, he will have no room for us there. Let us open wide our hearts to receive him, that we may have room with him in the Father's house.

Martin and McHenry Sabbatarlans.

BY G. C. BREWER.

Some days ago I noticed a statement in one of the religious papers that our missionaries to India, S. O. Martin and Hume McHenry, had turned Adventist. I gave little heed to it then, as I supposed this was simply a repetition of the charge made against them of speculating on prophecy; but now, greatly to my astonishment, there comes to me through the mail a pamphlet written and signed by these two brethren in which they contend for an observance of the Sabbath. This brings a grief to my heart that I cannot easily express, and I will make no effort to advise the brethren in general in reference to these two missionaries, but I do want to use this unfortunate circumstance to point a moral.

1. No church should indorse, send out, or support any man to preach the gospel till that man shows some qualifications for the work. We have long contended that any man may "take this honor unto himself" who so desires, and that he needs no "license" or ordination ceremony; but, in spite of all that, a man does not go far or preach much without the moral and financial support of the churches. Let the churches, therefore, demand that those they support be qualified. Why should so much be required of the elders and nothing of the preachers? Some young men who could have made good preachers and useful men in the service of the church have been spoiled by the churches. They were put out as "big preachers" before they finished grammar school and before they had ever studied the Bible as a whole at all. A few sermons on first principles fairly well delivered puts them into the front rank of "big preachers," The churches ought to encourage every young man who wants to preach the gospel; but, instead of encouraging him to quit school, they ought to insist that he continue in school, and they ought to furnish both the boys and the schools with money for the work of preparing for greater usefulness in the service of God. And let the schools teach the things that these special servants of God need. We have been so afraid that we would turn our Bible schools into "preacher factories" that the preachers have received no special preparation. They do not even have a systematic course of Bible study in the schools.

2. Furthermore, we should not fall under the maudlin sentiment of the present day that the "time of religious controversies has passed." The world is full of religious controversy, and the things that were wrong in the days of Campbell, Stone, Smith, Sweeney, Sewell, and Lipscomb are all still here and still wrong. While it is now difficult to get a man to defend his doctrine in public debate, they all, nevertheless, endeavor to overthrow the truth and establish their claims from pulpit and press and in personal work from house to house. The people of God need, therefore, to read more than they do; to read the Bible more, and also to read religious books, histories, debates, pamphlets, papers, and tracts. They are not interested in these things now, and, therefore, fall easy victims for false teachers. It has been predicted that Martin and McHenry can be reclaimed by their friends in America; but my fear is that they will make Adventists out of those friends, for most likely they are not informed on the question.

The time was when any member of the church of Christ could have routed the whole Adventist conference, but—alas!—some preachers now fall victims to them. Many of our pioneer preachers were uneducated men, but they were not uninformed. Men like John Smith or Jesse Sewell could not have made high-school entrance, but they were more than a match for any of the D.D.'s of sectarianism. They knew the arguments, tricks, and quibbles of their opponents, and, above all, they knew the Bible. Any of the preachers of those days could tell you all about Calvinism, Arminianism, Socinianism, Arianism, Trinitarianism, Unitarianism, or Deism, but many of our young preachers of these days who have degrees from the colleges will have to consult the dictionaries to learn what these terms mean.

In the tract which the two deluded young brethren have sent out to the churches of Christ, they earnestly appeal for a hearing, and they seem honestly to think that the arguments which they make are new, convincing, and even conclusive. But, in fact, they are the same old, worn-out, "stock-in-trade" arguments made by all Adventists; but any Adventist who had ever tried the venture would as soon jump into a furnace of fire as to defend them with a competent opponent.

Having had several debates with leaders among Adventist preachers, I may be thought competent to say that the points made by Martin and McHenry are not well presented even from an Adventist's viewpoint. They do well for beginners, however. They have even taken up the chief Adventist characteristic in debate—that of garbling. They all quote from Alexander Campbell, Clark Braden, Grubbs, and others whose works they have never seen. All Adventist preachers have a book of quotations compiled by J. N. Andrews, and these they use, but they could not tell the subject of the chapter from which they are taken.

Alexander Campbell caused quite a disturbance among the Baptists of his day by preaching that the Ten Commandments had been abrogated. His "Sermon on the Law," still extant, was denounced by the Red Stone Association; but in one of Campbell's lectures on the Pentateuch, in a rhetorical flight, he spoke of "the eternal Ten," and he has ever since been quoted by the Adventists as favoring the keeping of the decalogue. The principles of the decalogue are certainly eternal, and they are inculcated in the New Testament, Martin and McHenry, getting the quotation from the Adventists and not from Campbell, exclaim triumphantly: "Alexander Campbell called them 'the everlasting Ten!" What a pity these brethren had not read Campbell and a few other able writers before they went to India to preach Christ! Then, perhaps, they would not have become entangled in the yoke of bondage from which Christ made us free.

I wonder if these brethren swallowed the "no-soul" doctrine of the Adventists also. Very likely they took the whole dose without a capsule, even. Well, if they actually think their arguments cannot be met, there is a great disillusionment awaiting them.

A Study of Billy Sunday. No. 1.

BY R. N. MOODY.

Just now Billy Sunday's sun is in the zenith of its glory, and no preacher's praise is sung by more admirers than his. One could choose no surer way to call down on himself public censure than to call in question his work as an evangelist; but, at the risk of incurring public criticism, I have somewhat to say against him.

In the first place, his copious use of the slang of the street; his flippant use of Bible names, speaking of Abraham as "Abe," of David as "Dave," of Zacharias as "Zack," representing Jehovah and Jesus Christ as using these abbreviated forms of their names while conversing with them in a dickering way as to what they should do; and his clownish mannerisms are calculated only to tickle the ears of the rabble, amuse the thoughtless, and to thus lower the dignity of the pulpit and create a spirit of irreverence for God and sacred things. Such conditions make it hard for a preacher who would maintain the reverence, dignity, and respect for his audience and himself that his calling demands, to reach the people. His preaching, no matter how instructive, seems dry and insipid to them.

Mr. Sunday ignores the plan of salvation as taught by Jesus and his apostles. Jesus said: "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matt. 28: 19, 20,) Mr. Sunday does not "make disciples" according to this rule, but, instead, has them to do something he calls "hitting the trail," about which Jesus said not one word.

Again, Jesus said: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned." (Mark 16: 15, 16.) Of one thing I am morally certain; and that is, that Mr. Sunday never has his hearers to "hit the trail," or seek the pardon of their sins, by believing and being baptized as Jesus requires. I dare say that no one ever heard him tell sinners that "he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved."

Again, Jesus said: "Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer, and rise again from the dead the third day; and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name unto all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem." (Luke 24: 46, 47.) Guided by the Holy. Spirit and speaking as he gave him utterance, Peter, according to Jesus' order, began to preach repentance and remission of sins in Jerusalem on the first Pentecost after the ascension of Jesus. He first preached the death, burial, resurrection, and exaltation of Christ (Acts 2: 22-36), and concluded by saying: "Let all the house of Israel therefore know assuredly, that God hath made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom ye crucified." (Acts 2: 36.) "Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and the rest of the apostles, Brethren, what shall we do?" (Verse 36.) The Holy Spirit, through Peter's preaching, reached their hearts, converted them to Christ, and changed their purpose of life, and they are now asking to know what they shall do. Peter, clothed with authority from Christ and qualified by inspiration of the Holy Spirit, is prepared to answer their question, and for the first time preached to them repentance and remission of sins, saying: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." (Verse 38.) This is what he bound on them in order to the remission of their sins, and he had the assurance of Jesus Christ that it would be bound in heaven. This commandment has never been repealed, but Mr. Sunday sets it aside, and, instead, has them to "hit the trail," a thing not once hinted at in the Bible.

The result of Peter's preaching was that "they then that received his word were baptized: and there were added unto them in that day about three thousand souls." 2: 41.) As Mr. Sunday would say, about three thousand "hit the trail" that day, and that would be a great meeting even for him; but no one ever heard of his converts' "hitting the trail" as the Pentecostians did. No one ever heard of one being baptized in Mr. Sunday's meetings. It is not supposed that any one will be baptized in his meetings; and in building tabernacles and making other arrangements for his meetings, no place is prepared for baptism. When Philip preached Jesus to the Samaritans, "when they believed Philip preaching good tidings concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women." (Acts 8: 12.) Thus we see that preaching Jesus to them led them to be baptized; and when men preach Jesus as Philip did, the same results will follow. No such results follow Billy Sunday's preaching. How unusual it would sound to hear it announced that Mr. Sunday and his crew would meet at the creek to baptize five hundred "trail hitters!"

Philip "opened his mouth" and preached Jesus to the eunuch (Acts 8: 35); and as they went on their way and came to a certain water, the eunuch asked what hindered him to be baptized (verse 37). Preaching Jesus to him caused him to think of being baptized; and no man preaches Jesus as Philip did that does not lead people to be baptized.

Other examples could be cited, but these are sufficient to show that Mr. Sunday does not preach the same gospel that Christ authorized and the New Testament preachers preached; and Paul said: "Though we, or an angel from heaven, should preach unto you any gospel other than that which we preached unto you, let him be anathema." (Gal. 1: 8.) If Mr. Sunday were the only one involved in this gross and shameful perversion of the gospel, it would not be so bad; but the thousands whom he has led to "hit the trail" are made to believe they are saved, when they have not complied with the terms of salvation authorized by Jesus Christ. It is as certain that not one of them is saved as it is that the apostles preached the truth; yet the great majority of them will go on under this delusion to the judgment, only to be "turned away from the beautiful rate."

There has been such a wave of sentiment created against the plan of salvation set forth in the New Testament, and especially against baptism, that the public will not stand for a preacher to say much about it. They have the world so bluffed on the subject that a lot of weak-kneed Christians had rather preachers would not say much about it; and some preachers, for fear they will be classed as "first-principle preachers," touch very lightly on it.

When my little child smiles up into my face, there is the Babe of Bethlehem, waiting for me to see him. When my needy brother seeks my help, Jesus says to me, as he did to Philip: "Whence shall we buy bread?" When my friend bids me to his home, Jesus says: "I will live with you, and you with me." When crowding cares press thick and fast, Jesus says, from the inner sanctuary of my soul: "Come unto me, and rest,"—Selected.

JOURNEYINGS OFTEN

By B. C. GOODPASTURE.

"What thou seest, write, . . . and send it to the churches."

And Going Forward.

I came to Bellbuckle on January 9. There is quite a bit of speculation concerning the name of the town. An atmosphere of uncertainty overshadows its origin. Some say that a band of pioneers, who kept their herds there, one day "fell out" and fought among themselves over a bell buckle that was found, and ever after knew the place of their strife as "Bellbuckle;" others say that when the site of the town was being selected and "laid out," a bell buckle was picked up, which suggested the name. These are the principal versions according to the best authorities. Occasionally, however, one finds a "doubting Thomas" who entertains grave misglvings relative to the matter; in fact, no one can be absolutely sure of the "historicity" of these explanations. Personally, I shall not express my views further than this:

> "I know not how the truth may be; I only say the tale as it was said to me."

> > 0 0 0

Unlike the Dead Sea.

A live church differs from a dead one in essentially the same respect that the Sea of Galilee differs from the Dead Sea. The former is fresh, clear, and limpid; the latter is stagnant, slimy, and bituminous. The birds sing and the fisherman's children sport and play on the shores of the one; gruesome desolation broods undisturbed over the barren borders of the other. The Sea of Galilee receives the waters of the Jordan and, in turn, passes them on to refresh the valleys of the lower plain; the Dead Sea receives them, but beyond its limits they never go. Just so, the church that fails to communicate its blessings to others thwarts God's plan and purpose to bless it and the worldit is dead. Jehovah said to Abraham: "I will bless thee, . . and be thou a blessing." (Gen. 12: 2.) Thus the father of a multitude is taught that the benedictions of heaven are upon him not merely for his own sake, but also for the sake of the remote and distant generations of the earth. He alone is blessed who shares his blessing, The evangelization of the world is the church's only adequate expression of appreciation of its salvation. It was purchased by the blood of Christ, and constituted the divine organization to present to all men the pleading appeal of the uplifted cross. In this connection, the church at Bellbuckle does not remind me of the Salt Sea. The brethren there have been uncompromising in their advocacy of the ancient order of work and worship. During the past year they have contributed regularly to the Tennessee Orphans' Home, the Georgia work, the Japan missions, and local charities. This Philippian fellowship is commendable. They are planning to do more in 1920.

0 0 0

Looking Backward.

There has been a church of Christ in Bellbuckle for more than forty years. During all of this time it has exercised an influence for good. Among those who have conducted protracted meetings there are the following: J. W. Grant, J. D. Tant, F. B. Srygley, G. B. Hoover, C. M. Pullias, G. C. Brewer, E. A. Elam, and R. P. Cuff. Those who "tend the flock of God, . . . exercising the oversight," are Dr. J. K. Freeman, D. E. Hoover, and W. B. McQuiddy. W. R. Mingle and W. B. Bingham "serve as deacons."

The Angels of the Church.

If, as some contend, the "angels of the seven churches" were simply the preachers of the respective churches, Brethren Gleaves and Pryor might be styled the angels of the church in Bellbuckle. Be this as it may, these men are faithful ministers of the word. Brother Gleaves is a farmer-preacher who conducts funeral services, officiates in marriages, proclaims the word on Sunday, and holds meetings during the summer and fall. Brother Pryor is a student in the David Lipscomb College. He is preparing himself to preach more effectually the "unsearchable riches of Christ."

As I Go West.

Before the Gospel Advocate of this week reaches its readers, I shall be in Texas. We are carrying the campaign for new subscribers to the panhandle of the "Lone Star State." Our readers are responding nobly to the call. A good brother from Arkansas writes: "There are some big drives being put on by the denominations; why not put on one for the Gospel Advocate? I would suggest that each subscriber make an effort to secure one new subscriber (and some can get more) to the Gospel Advocate during the month. That would double its circulation. If we could only realize the good that is being done through the Advocate and the good that might be done by placing it in the homes where it is not read, I believe we would make a strong effort to increase its circulation." Evidently this brother has the right idea concerning the matter. The sphere of the Advocate's usefulness grows with every extension of its circulation. The combined efforts of all its readers would in one day increase its circulation more than the labors of one man through a generation. There is a dearth of preachers; yet the world must hear the gospel. If a few men can set a nation aflame with their political ideas through the secular press, why could not a few faithful men stir a brotherhood of disciples with the everlasting gospel of Christ through the religious press? Can it be true that "the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the children of light?" Campbell shook denominationalism to its very foundations through the columns of the Harbinger. A perfected postal system gives the religious paper a greater opportunity than it had a century ago. Shall we let the hour pass? Let every reader catch the spirit of the brother's letter and send us a new subscriber.

Among the Books.

The brethren who have read "Adventism and the Bible," by J. Henry Monk, commend it without reservation. It is a complete and convincing refutation of Advent doctrines. Price, $1.25, delivered. Send your order to-day to the Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn.

8 8 8

0 0 0

On that day when our Lord Jesus Christ was lifted up, all sorts of people were drawn to him. There were those who loved him dearly at the foot of the cross; there were scribes, and learned men, and aristocrats, and priests, and common people; there were simple peasants from the country, shepherds from the hills, and a motley crowd from the city streets; there were Roman soldiers and Galilean pilgrims. It was a crowd representative of all the world's people. And to-day when he is lifted up, even as of old, he draws to himself the hearts of men.-Exchange.

Training Little Children

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

Consistency.

Consistency is one of the fundamental qualities of discipline, and from my own experience I have found it to be most important. It should always be accompanied by kindness. More mothers have trouble with their children because of their own inconsistency than for any other one Johnnie comes home from school and asks, "Mother, may I go over to Billy Baker's to play?" and mother, knowing that Billy's influence is not good, refuses. Johnnie displays more or less temper; but mother is firm, and Johnnie stays at home. A few days later, however, Johnnie makes the same request, and mother, who is entertaining a caller, lets him go for a little while. This is a case of inconsistency; and in order to save one scene, mother is laying a good foundation for many more. The probability is that had she replied, "Mother has told you before," the matter would have ended there; or even if he had cried a little and "made a scene." the son would have had a valuable lesson and learned that mother meant what she said. His love for the moment might have been shaken, but eventually Johnnie would have been a happier boy and his love and respect for his mother would have been greater.

The value of consistency cannot be overestimated. The tiniest baby should be dealt with kindly, but firmly. A mother can develop the teasing habit in her child while he is still in his cradle if she lacks this quality of consistency. At one time when her baby cries she does not pick him up, for she says: "It is not good for him, and he is forming bad habits." But the next day, if she is nervous and unwilling to endure his noise, she yields "just for once." The result is that she gives in to her child more or less through his later childhood.

Again, with an older child, the mother will partially concede, a sort of compromise; and the child is keen enough to know that he has gained his point, and each time he will seek to gain a little more, until the mother realizes. when it is too late, that her problem is great and her word really has very little weight.

My advice is: be considerate in your requirements of a child, and then be consistent in seeing that these requirements are carried out. Irritable, nagging mothers and unattractive, nervous children would be almost unknown if the former could realize the importance of kindness and consistency. Lack of sympathy and strained relations between parents and their older children often spring from habitual inconsistency.

Perhaps the most important thing of all is this: When you make a legitimate request, you must know within yourself that you expect it to be carried out. Then, if you are disobeyed, you must calmly, but definitely and emphatically, see to it that your request is complied with. This method cannot be practiced to-day and neglected to-morrow, but must be consistently followed.

The future happiness, character, and well-being of your little one depends entirely upon firm, wise, and consistent guidance. It is these fundamental qualities of mother discipline that train the strong-willed little sons and daughters into splendid men and women.

* * *

A pure, gentle friendship becomes in its influence like a holy presence, in which we cannot do anything unworthy. -J. R. Miller.

The Story Mother Told.

This is a true story about when grandmother was a little girl, long ago, named "Caroline." It is about the Indians, too; so, of course, you will like it very much.

It was the year when great-grandfather sold all his corn and made enough money to buy a set of mahogany chairs for the parlor, upholstered with horsehair. The chairs had to be brought a long way from where grandmother lived; so great-grandfather hitched the pair of grays to the farm wagon, and said that great-grandmether and Caroline might go, too.

It was a pretty ride in the early morning. There was no one out except the birds and the wild rabbits and a fox or two. The sleepy flowers beside the long road were just beginning to open their eyes, and Caroline thought that she had never felt so happy in all her life.

They came to town at last and ate their luncheon on the common, and then they bought the beautiful mahogany chairs, upholstered with horsehair, for the parlor. It surprised great-grandfather very much, indeed, that he had some money left over after he had paid for the chairs.

"O, see, father!" Caroline said, as she ran to the back of the store, where there was a little wooden rocking-chair painted yellow. Then she sat down in it and began rock-

"It just fits me," she said. "How nice it would be to sew my patchwork squares in it!"

Great-grandfather smiled; and then he whispered to the shopkeeper, who smiled, too. When they started home, the six parlor chairs were in the back of the cart; and grandmother, in her pink calico dress and sunbonnet, was in the back of the cart. She sat and rocked in the little rockingchair as the cart jogged on.

Before they reached home, it began to grow dark. The trees beside the road made long, black shadows, and it was very still.

"I wonder if the Indians have been seen about here lately," great-grandmother asked.

Great-grandfather did not answer, but he urged the horses on. Just then a great figure in a blanket and feathers rose in the road in front of them. Behind him were others. They were Indians, and they wanted the farm wagon and the horses.

But just as the Indian chief started to lay hold of the bridle, he saw grandmother in the little yellow rockingchair in the back of the wagon. "Wow!" he said, in great fear; and then he turned and ran back into the woods, followed by all the others. The Indians had never seen a rocking-chair before, and it frightened them.

So grandmother reached home safely; and she sewed a great many patchwork squares as she sat and rocked in her little yellow rocking-chair.-Selected.

* * *

The Unknowing.

They do not know the awful tears we shed, The tender treasures that we keep and kiss; They could not be so still, our quiet dead In knowing this.

They do not know what time we turn to fill Love's empty chalice with a cheaper bliss;
They could not be so still—so very still In knowing this.—Theodosia Garrison. In knowing this.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

S. T. Nix Joins South Carolina Forces,

We were all glad to see Brother S. T. Nix last Lord's day (February 1), who stopped over with us on his way to join Brother Burton in the South Carolina field. Brother Burton is to be congratulated for securing the services of such a man. We have longed to have Brother Nix with us again. After working with us for a short while, he left on account of failing health. We are so glad to see him able to enter vigorously into this great work. It is a compliment to him and speaks well of his home congregation-Bethlehem, near Lebanon, Tenn.-that he is sent out and supported by them. This means more joy in that church. How sorely do we need to stir all our congregations to a sense of their duty and get them each to find a man and send him out as their "angel of light" to those who sit in religious darkness! In our talks at West End Avenue last Lord's day, Brother Harwell, one of our elders, said the time had come when we should not only support one man for all of his time in and around Atlanta, but should put a man in the field and be responsible for his support. He said merely helping with the second man is not enough. I am sure he is right about this, and to this end we shall work and pray. The regular offerings last Lord's day went above sixty-six dollars. West End Avenue is poor in this world's goods, but we can make our offerings go to one hundred dollars per Lord's day, and this end must be reached. O, if all the congregations would get down to business and give as they are prospered! Will not the leaders in all the congregations take this to heart and go to work stirring up their forces for effective service in the ranks of the army of our Lord and Savior? Brother Nix preached at East Point in the forencon and at West End at night. 0 0 0

"Preachers of the Pauline Type."

Much has been said recently of the need of preachers of the Pauline type. To this I want to give my most hearty indorsement. But what does it mean to be a preacher of the "Pauline type?" I am sure we do not have enough such preachers; and I am just as sure that we have many who think they are, that are not of this type.

It is said that "Paul was a 'tentmaker' preacher." At times he was. But was he like the modern "tentmaker" preachers? I think not. Paul's business was not that of tentmaking, but that of preaching the gospel of Christ. He certainly knew that trade, and, when he chose, could use it successfully. There can be no question about this. Please read Acts 18: 1-3. It mattered not where Paul went, if he were in need of funds, he could join tentmakers at any time and place and make an honest support. But did he follow this, at times, in order to increase his bank account, pay for a home in which to live, or have more money to buy oil stock or to make some other investment that meant a splendid return for funds invested? I certainly do not understand that he did. All that he made was put at once into evangelizing the towns and villages where the gospel was not known. If Paul ever owned a farm, a home, and had plenty of corn, hogs, chickens, and other good things to eat, they lasted but a short season for him. He says he knew how to abound as well as to be in want. From this we must believe that, at times, he abounded and had no fear of hunger. But certainly his abundance soon ran out; for the only reason he had for making tents was to be enabled to preach the gospel without charge where it had not been preached. I contend, therefore, that if we want to be in the Pauline class of preachers, not much concern must be given to owning a bome; in fact, I do not believe that you can, If you follow Paul. All he made was put directly into the work, and not to the buying of a home or stocking a farm. This is the way the matter looks to me.

If I may be pardoned for this reference, I will say that I admire no apostle more than I do Paul, and I have tried to follow his teaching and example. For this reason, when I joined the faithful few in the great city of Atlanta more than thirteen years ago, I did not give any thought to owning a home, but my whole heart's desire was to build up a church that would speak well for the cause of our Lord in this section. I nad practically nothing of this world's goods then, and I have but little more now. I do not own a home, and am not able to buy one. I have had to "make tents," so to speak, along, to enable myself to stay on the field. All that I have made in some line of work was made with the idea of helping this work, and not for the purpose of buying for me and mine a home or starting and increasing a bank account. The work has been such that I had to give it my all-my time, talent, money, and, at times, almost my life. I think Paul would have done the same; but, of course, he would have made a better job of it. This is what I understand to be the "Pauline type" of work. What say you, my brother? I do not believe this work could have succeeded as it has, if I had been thinking too much about buying a home and had been miserly stinting myself and holding back money from the different lines of work we were pressing here. But, thank God, it has succeeded-gloriously succeeded-and I had rather today look back over the time and think of our "ups and downs," the many times I and mine have gone actually needing some of the comforts of life, and now behold the three splendid congregations we have in this city and the number we have started or helped to start away from here, than to own the finest home on earth.

Now, a word to the preachers who think they are of the "Pauline type," who have saved money and bought them a home and are now surrounded with the good things of life (a thing Paul did not do)—just a word to you. I love you, and want to say that you have done no wrong, so far as I know. Paul repeatedly states that there are certain "rights" in the gospel that the other apostles embraced that he did not. One of those rights was to "forbear working." Read carefully 1 Cor. 9: 1-12. Now, Paul did not dub the other apostles "pastors," "time killers," etc. If he ever intimated that the other apostles were making the slightest mistake, I do not know where the intimation is to be found. I sometimes fear that there is too much of this wanting others to be "my type" of a preacher rather than the "Pauline type,"

While Paul worked with his hands to support himself, he taught Timothy to give himself wholly to the work of an evangelist. He says: "Be diligent in these things; give thyself wholly to them." (1 Tim. 4: 15.) Again, he says: "Be thou sober in all things, suffer hardship, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill thy ministry." (2 Tim. 4: 5.) It has ever been my understanding that Paul, when he states that "no soldier on service entangleth himself in the affairs of this life" (2 Tim. 2: 4), means nothing more nor less than that soldiers of a government are not expected to do anything but press the battle for their country, and that they do not have to think about carrying a side line for a support. This the earthly governments do for their soldiers, as we all well know. This seems all the more evident from his language in verse 6: "The husbandman that laboreth must be the first to partake of the fruits." This is identically Paul's teaching in 1 Cor. 9: 7-14. Let us read it: "What soldier ever serveth at his own charges? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the

(Continued on page 160.)

AT HOME AND ABROAD

J. S. Moores would like to get in touch with Christians living in or near Wetumpka, Ala.

C. M. Pullias will begin a series of sermons at the David Lipscomb College on Monday, February 16, at 7:30 P.M.

Change of address: J. Leonard Jackson, from 1105 Montrose Avenue to 715 Fifth Avenue, South, Nashville, Tenn.

C. W. Holley, of Childress, Texas, writes, February 5: "Tice Elkins, of Fort Worth, Texas, is critically ill here with pneumonia."

The Gospel Advocate gets better all the time. I wish it was in every Christian home.—Mrs. J. B. Schuler, 3155 Alta Avenue, Fresno, Cal.

James A. Hardison is located at Greenville, S. C., and would like to get in touch with Christians in that vicinity. Address him in care of the Central Y. M. C. A.

From R. W. Jernigan, Bridgeport, Ala., February 4: "I preached at home last Sunday. One was reclaimed. I am glad to note that the Gospel Advocate is gaining friends along the way."

John M. Rice, Merkel, Texas, writes: "The gospel still has its power. Last Lord's day at Altus, Okla., we had occasion to rejoice. At the evening service a young man came to us from the 'progressives,' and a young lady came for baptism."

I do not want to do without the Gospel Advocate. The teaching is splendid and great good is derived from its pages. I am glad to help out in the paper when I can. May it continue to grow and be a power for good.—H. M. Phillips, Tuscumbia, Ala.

From Thomas H. Burton, Union, S. C., February 3: "J. M. McCaleb delivered three interesting addresses here last week on 'The Religion and Customs of Japan,' which were highly appreciated by all who heard them. I preached on Sunday afternoon and at night for the brethren at Cavans. One person made the good confession."

From T. B. Clark, San Antonio, Texas: "I am to conduct some meetings in Middle Tennessee and at Haleyville, Ala., and in the Haleyville section of that State. I enjoy the Gospel Advocate very much. I especially enjoy the spirit of the paper now. All the writers seem to desire to treat each other kindly, and this is right. Address me at Box 620."

From G. C. Parham, Oklahoma City, Okla., February 2: "Please state in the Gospel Advocate that I am ready to go anywhere that I am needed for evangelistic work. I would be glad to locate in some town where there is a good working congregation and evangelize. Brethren in need of a preacher are requested to write me at once. My address is 611 West Fourth Street."

From Thomas J. Wagner, McMinnville, Tenn., January 24: "I have since April been preaching monthly for five churches of Christ in Warren County. Besides this, I have for several months followed teaching school as a means of remuneration. Realizing the great need of religious services, I am resolved to preach a great deal more this year than before. I could hold some meetings this summer for congregations desiring my services."

Every Christian home should have a good, religious paper. It gives spiritual food to every hungry soul. The one who reads journals seasoned with the word of God will read the Bible also. The Gospel Advocate and the Gospel Advance are published in Tennessee, and every Christian home should open a wide door for one or both of these papers in the home State. May this be a glorious year for a great revival of many good things in the churches throughout this great country.—F. C. Sowell, Columbia, Tenn.

The friends of J. W. Grant will be interested in knowing that on account of the ill health of Sister Grant he took her to Southern Georgia to spend the winter. She grew rapidly worse, and at the suggestion of the physician he hastened to Nashville with her and placed her in the Protestant Hospital under the care of Doctors Cowden and E. M. Cullum. However, in a few days her physicians pronounced her condition improved. She is now being tenderly cared for in the home of C. E. W. Dorris, 613 Ewing Avenue.

From J. C. Pendergrass, Wynne, Ark., February 4: "I held my first meeting for this year at Hickory Ridge, beginning on Saturday before the first Sunday in January and continuing eighteen days. Large crowds and fine interest, but no additions, but good done otherwise. I found a loyal band of Christians there. They are wide awake. They know how to make a preacher feel welcome and do not forget that it costs him something to live, as well as other folks. They are few in number and not rich in this world's goods, yet they supported me well for the time I was with them. I am thinking of working in Overton and Jackson counties next summer. I was born and reared there, but have been away twenty-four years."

H. C. Shoulders writes: "Just about three months ago I made an appeal for money to buy a Ford car for the Potter Orphans' Home, at Bowling Green, Ky. The 'goal' has been reached and all are happy. The last few days the fund has been growing so very fast and is now over the top and still growing. I now have in hand seven hundred and sixty-two dollars and twelve cents with which to pay for the car. This will give a good little sum to turn over to the treasurer to be used for any expense he and the trustees of the Home think best. The car has been ordered and will be delivered just as soon as the Ford people can furnish it. The people have been very generous in their gifts for this much-needed car. I want to extend to every individual and congregation the heartfelt thanks of the superintendent, the children, and every promoter of the Home. "God is love," and to him be all the praise through Jesus Christ."

Writing of the India missionaries, Foy E. Wallace, Sr., of Longview, Texas, says: "I am surprised at the outcome of the two last missionaries to India. This whole affair is the outcome of overzealous men and women hunting up and down the country getting men to go to foreign fields without any regard to age, experience, Bible knowledge, etc. Even some of the men who are the most active are not as well established in the one faith as they might be, There are too many self-appointed people to send and raise money for these men. When the brethren who can be depended on take the matter in hand and churches select good and tried men who are established in the faith, then you will see more churches fall into the missionary spirit. Again, we have encouraged these departures by apologizing for men in our ranks who have departed in principle nearly as far as the McHenry-Martin departure. I have become sick and tired of some in Texas who have tried to apologize for, and even hold up the hands of, these speculators, who are fast drifting away and are leading others away, and will finally lead them to even as dangerous positions. I am glad that the Gospel Advocate has so valiantly and faithfully contended for the truth against these heretics. If it had not been for the Advocate's bold defense of the truth, these false positions would have spread more rapidly. May God put it into the hearts of his children to make up the loss by putting good, competent men in India who can and will defend and save the cause. For God's sake, brethren, do not send a speculator nor a novice."

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell,

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance: to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries. $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, toll us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is malled regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, $17-$19 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we balleve, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS. Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.

Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

Justifleation is Not by Faith Alone. BY J. C. M'Q.

That the doctrine of justification by faith is clearly taught in the Bible will not be denied. The Holy Spirit, through Paul, clearly states in Rom. 5: 1: "Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

I have no disposition to raise any question over anything that is so clearly revealed as the doctrine of justification by faith. The only point that has ever been raised is whether it is a faith that works, that speaks out and comes out in action, that justifies, or simply a dead faith that bears no fruit that justifies. It seems that to ask this question would be sufficient, for the Bible so clearly teaches that a dead faith is fruitless that I can see no need for argument. James 2: 20-24: "But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith apart from works is barren? Was not Abraham our father justified by works, in that he offered up Isaac his son upon the altar? Thou seest that faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect; and the scripture was fulfilled which saith, And Abraham believed God, and it was reckened unto him for righteousness; and he was called the friend of God. Ye see that by works a man is justified, and not only by faith." The Scriptures warrant the position that God saves, but justifies when that faith is perfected in obedience. In the very beginning, when man was in the garden of Eden, God commanded the man: "Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it; for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." (Gen. 2: 16, 17.) So long as man had implicit faith in God, and that trust was manifested in obedience, there was union and communion between God and man; but so soon as Eve believed a lie, and that belief was embodied in disobedience, disunion sprang up between God and man. So, to reëstablish union and fellowship between God and man, God sent his Son to this world to die in order to redeem a lost and ruined race. When the divine philanthropy had accomplished its work, Christ commanded his apostles: "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and Io, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matt. 28: 19, 20.) In the commission as recorded by Mark (16: 16), the Savior says: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned." When the Christian church was established, the Holy Spirit, through Peter, said to men of faith: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." (Acts 2: 38.) The Holy Spirit sald to Saul of Tarsus, who was a penitent believer, and was so penitent that he refused to take any nourishment for three days, waiting to know just what God would have him do: "And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on his name." (Acts 22: 16.) "We were buried therefore with him through baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so we also might walk in newness of life. For if we have become united with him in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." (Rom. 6: 4, 5.) "For in one Spirit were we all baptized into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether bond or free; and were all made to drink of one Spirit." (1 Cor. 12: 13.)

That no justification is attached to a dead faith, or simply the bare assent of the mind that Jesus is the Christ, is evident from Gal, 3: 26, 27: "For ye are all sons of God, through faith, in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as were baptized into Christ did put on Christ." The Galatians who had faith in Christ were baptized into Christ. We find nowhere in the New Testament where people with a dead faith became members of the church of God. It is evident from the New Testament Scriptures that persons who had a living, active faith were always baptized in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Hence, we read in Col. 2: 12: "Having been buried with him in baptism, wherein ye were also raised with him through faith in the working of God, who raised him from the dead." We also learn that baptism does save us. "Which also after a true likeness doth now save you, even baptism, not the putting away of the flith of the flesh, but the interrogation of a good conscience toward God, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ." (1 Pet. 3: 21.) This does not mean that baptism without faith saves; but it means that when a man has sufficient faith to obey God he humbly submits to baptism, and in that act God saves him, since God has commanded him to be baptized. Men may believe in a way on Christ, yet from worldly considerations they may refuse to obey him. This is clear from John 12: 42, 43: "Nevertheless even of the rulers many believed on him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess it, lest they should be put out of the synagogue: for they loved the glory that is of men more than the glory that is of God." These rulers believed on God; but because they loved the glory of men more than the glory of God, they did not confess him, they did not obey him.

It is needless to claim that a man may have faith in his heart and not in his life; the faith that is in the heart comes out in the life. So surely as a man believes with all of his heart that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the living God, so certainly will he be found giving his life in obedience to the requirements of Jehovah. "Either make the tree good, and its fruit good; or make the tree corrupt, and its fruit corrupt: for the tree is known by its fruit. Ye offspring of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. The good man out of his good treasure bringeth forth good things: and the evil man out of his evil treasure bringeth forth evil things." (Matt. 12: 33-35.) Purity of thought gives purity of life. Men who dwell upon things that are holy, just, righteous, and virtuous will have clean, godly lives that will win others to Christ Jesus. The eleventh chapter of Hebrews enforces beautifully the thought that the faith that justifies is the faith that obeys. "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, through which he had witness borne unto him that he was righteous, God bearing witness in respect of his gifts." (Verse 4.) He could not have made his offering in faith if God had not commanded him what to offer. His faith led him to obey God, and such faith always brings justification. The children of Israel were told to march around Jericho one time for six days and seven times on the seventh day; they were commanded to blow their trumpets and to shout. It was only when they had faith to take God at his word and do just what God commanded them to do, after they had accomplished every act just as God required, and when at last they shouted, that the walls fell flat down before them. If they had not had faith that worked, that came out in action and obedience, the walls of Jericho would never have fallen. Naaman was commanded by the prophet to go and dip seven times in the river Jordan. So long as his faith did not lead him to do this, and so long as he thought the waters of Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, were better than all the waters of Israel, he was not healed; but so soon as his faith led him to obedience, and when he had dipped seven times according to the saying of the man of God, his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean. Abraham was justified when his faith led him to go out into a strange country, and not before. Again he was justified by faith when he offered Isaac, his son, upon the altar.

The Bible abounds in such teaching, and so it is entirely unneccessary to continue this investigation, as there is no passage in the Bible which says we are justified by faith alone, and as every conversion and every case of obedience on record shows that men who were justified by faith had a faith that came out in action, that spoke out. It is hard to conceive how any one can imagine that there is any ground in the word of God for the doctrine of justification by faith alone.

Many of God's most distinguished workmen have been called from scenes of the humblest labor. It was when toiling over a shoemaker's bench that Carey's soul was filled with zeal for missionary enterprise. John Williams, of Enomanga, was called from the blacksmith's shop; Dr. Livingstone from working in a cotton mill. Our Savior called some of his disciples from among the fishermen.—J. L. Nye.

God's Peace League.

BY E. A. E.

Continuing from the last article, let me say that the only right motive one can have in preaching and writing is to teach the will of God and to persuade others with oneself to obey it. The only right spirit in which to do this is the Spirit of Christ, and the most successful way is by example. But for love of truth and justice, love of men and God, this article would not appear.

As was seen in the last article, no one can doubt that Jesus teaches peace first, last, and all the time, and that the New Testament is the only covenant of peace which will make war between both individuals and nations impossible for all time. It has been admitted that nations as well as individuals should be governed by the Golden Rule and all other teaching of "the Prince of Peace," and that this will remove war of every form forever. According to the New Testament, war is impossible,

GOOD WILL COME FROM THE WAR.

We know that to them that love God all things work together for good, even to them that are called according to his purpose. (Rom, 8: 28.)

This is absolutely true. We may not love God and may not be the called according to his purpose, and for this reason come short of this promise. We do not always see the good at first; but if we commit our way unto God, trust in him (see Ps. 37: 4, 5; Prov. 3: 5, 6), and "meekly wait and murmur not," the good will come. God makes the wrath of men to praise him. (See Ps. 76: 10; Ex. 9: 16, 17.) We may be able to point this out at some future time.

INCONSISTENCIES.

All inconsistencies cannot be noticed here.

The wisest and strongest men are weak when they espouse the cause of error.

Jesus cannot be the God of war and "the Prince of Peace." "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." "No man can serve two masters."

If the thousands of preachers are now serving God who are advocating the ratification of "the League of Natious," or some other peace league, or peace in any form or way, and are so abundantly quoting the New Testament to sustain their contention, then were the preachers who recently contended that Christians should engage in war also serving God in that contention?

Since it is antichristian to be against peace (and it is). it is equally antichristian to engage in war. Since all Christians should work for peace, no Christian can favor and engage in war or encourage strife and bloodshed, Love that even thinks no evil can never engage in or even encourage other Christians to engage in the great evil of making widows and orphans, cripples and homeless ones, plundering, devastation, and carnage. Since all Christians are all one in Christ in opposing all war in all forms and under all circumstances, then there can be no circumstance whatever under which they can in any way fight and kill and engage in war with all its sins and horrors and "hell on earth"-not even by way of supporting governments when they are engaging in this awful and terrible business. Can preachers of "the gospel of peace," followers of "the Prince of Peace," having the spirit of the meek and lowly Jesus, who, when he was reviled, reviled not again, want to go, encourage others to go, and help to send others into "a hell on earth," even "in cases of emergency?"

It is not for Christians to sit in judgment and to decide upon the men and measures of the nations in carrying on war, making for the conquered the terms of peace, and readjusting forms of governments; but it is their duty to keep out of sin of all forms and under all circumstances and to be one in maintaining the peace of God forever.

The older readers of this paper learned from the clear and strong teaching of Brethren Lipscomb and Sewell the vast difference between "the manifold wisdom of God," "manifested through the church," "according to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Eph. 3: 10, 11), and the wisdom of men manifested through missionary societies or any other human religious institutions. Let us learn now the equally great difference between the wisdom of men in their peace leagues, with provisions for war, and the wisdom of God in his peace league, which forbids war. The wisdom of men may be great (and let us encourage all nations to form peace leagues), but the wisdom of God is greater. Paul declares that "the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God."

We are familiar with the unjust charge that because we cannot work through missionary societies we are antimissionary. Let no one even intimate now that because Christians are governed by the New Testament-God's covenant of peace-under all circumstances and contend for that at all times as superior to all the leagues of peace men can form with their provisions for war, that they are opposed to peace. This is another strange thing! God's peace requires all to "put up the sword into the sheath," to turn weapons of war into useful agricultural implements, and to learn war no more. Christians are not and can never be against peace, neither are they ever for war. They are not afraid to say they are for peace, not only when war-worn and war-destroyed nations want peace, but when they are engaged in war. If the nations of earth can never form a peace league. Christians are still for peace, and they will preach it and die for it-all because God teaches it. The teaching of God never changes to suit the conditions of ambitious men and barbarous, bloodthirsty nations, but is contrary to all such. Christians are always faithful to God, loyal to Jesus, and seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, because their citizenship ls in heaven. (Phil. 3: 20.) Hence, Christians follow the Golden Rule at all times, regardless of the course nations may pursue; they are governed by the will of God, not by the will of men; and, when the test comes, they obey God rather than men. (Acts 4: 19; 5: 29.) Regardless of favorable or unfavorable conditions, of war or peace, Christians live and teach always all the claims of Jesus.

The truth of God is always consistent, and so are all who obey it. Inconsistencies spring from lack of faith and from disobedience to God.

WHEN MUST THE TRUTH BE TAUGHT?

Are Christians by the gospel ever limited to times and conditions-war and peace-in declaring the whole counsel of God? For instance, when should they teach honesty, truthfulness, temperance, purity, virtue, abstinence "from every form of evil," and implicit obedience to God-when all men and women are sober, just, temperate, virtuous, honest, and fully obedient to God, or when lying, stealing, rascality, greed, covetousness, drunkenness, adultery, and licentiousness with their foul waters flood the land? Just so, when should Christians preach and practice peace and teach against war with all its cruelties, carnage, and other sins-after war has ceased and nations have signed peace leagues, or when war is brewing and even raging? When war is threatening or has come with all its sins and sorrows, the question with all Christians is not so much how to support their respective governments in time of war as how to obey God, to be loyal to Christ, and to support his government. They submit to "the powers that be" in obedience to God, which is a higher motive than supporting governments in time of war or peace. When the two conflict, they obey God rather than men. God, Christ, the church, and heaven are first with them always. Their supreme duty is to God.

THE TRUE LIGHT.

The moon reflects the light of the sun; so peace leagues of nations and their other acts of righteousness and mercy reflect the light of "the Sun of righteousness," "the light of the world." But Christians walk in the sunlight, not in the shadows of the moonlight.

If we say that we have fellowship with him and walk in the darkness, we lie, and do not the truth: but if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus his Son cleanseth us from all sin. (1 John 1: 6, 7.)

Paul puts it thus: "Law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and unruly, for the ungodly and sinners, for the unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for fornicators, for abusers of themselves with men, for menstealers, for liars, for false swearers, and if there be any other thing contrary to sound doctrine; according to the gospel of the glory of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust." (1 Tim. 1: 8-11.) Christians will do right-not steal, not lie, not commit fornication, not kill, not engage in carnal warfare, and will keep the peace under all circumstances-anyway. They need no "league of nations" to prevent their engaging in war. The governments of earth are God's ordained powers to restrain evil doers, and that, too, by the sword and other ways of punishment. If in this way he restrains nations from war, Christians will "rejoice and be glad." (See Rom. 12; 17 to 13; 10.)

Let the nations of earth, then, under God's overruling power and mercy, form a peace league, and such a league as will reduce the possibility of war to the minimum, or the possibility of war to an impossibility; Christians will encourage it, work for it, pray for it, and rejoice in it with exceeding great joy. But suppose the nations in rebellion against God fail and plunge headlong into war again, Christians will still stand for the peace of God, contend for it, and pray for it. God commands them to pray as follows:

I exhort therefore, first of all, that supplications, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings, be made for all men; for kings and all that are in high place; that we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity. This is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior; who would have all men to be saved, and come to the knowledge of the truth. (1 Tim. 2: 1-4.)

God further commands Christians to "study Imake it their aim] to be quiet," to attend to their own business, to have some useful employment, and to "walk becomingly toward them that are without." (1 Thess. 4: 11, 12.) This does not mean to sit still in the meetinghouse, but to endeavor to lead a quiet life. This is the life preachers and elders should have taught all the church to lead during the trying and perilous times of war as well as during all other times, and here is where some have failed to obey God. Christians keep the peace, "follow peace with all men," are "peacemakers," do not avenge themselves, do not render to any man evil for evil, follow the Golden Rule, whether the nations are in war or at peace, and pray God to overrule the governments of earth so as to be able to lead this tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity. They pray to "be delivered from unreasonable and evil men; for all have not faith." (2 Thess. 3: 1, 2.) They do not dictate to God, or tell him what they want done, but they pray that his will, not theirs, may be done, and that his will may be done on earth as it is in heaven. They know "that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the lowest of men." (Dan. 4: 17.) God makes autocracies or kingdoms, empires or democracies, to serve his purposes.

God chastens his children because he loves themscourges and prunes them-and his chastisement always yields in them the peaceable fruits of righteousness when they are properly exercised thereby or lay it to heart. Let Christians cleanse their hands and purify their hearts, and draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to them. Let them humble themselves in the sight of the Lord, and he will exalt them. (James 4: 8-10.)

THE UNITY OF THE SPIRIT IN THE BOND OF PEACE.

The unity for which Jesus prayed, he himself states as follows: "Even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they may be also in us: . . . that they may be one, even as we are one." (John 17: 21, 22.) In this very way Christians in every government on earth are one. All Christians on earth are commanded at the same time to give "diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace." 'They are to speak the same thing and to be perfected together in the same mind and the same judgment. They are all in one body, the church, of which Christ alone is head. If one member suffers, "all the members suffer with it," weeping with those who weep and rejoicing with those who rejoice. They are all citizens of one kingdom, of which kingdom Christ is King. How can Christians bite and devour, fight and butcher one another, or those who are not Christians, or even their enemies? Christians are not commanded to be one in some great league of nations, or on some great international political question (political, if not confined to one nation or to one political party in a nation). The wisest and best statesmen in the most enlightened governments of earth differ on "the League of Nations;" then, who can think Jesus' prayer means that his disciples must be one on such issues? Let statesmen settle all such questions, overruled by Jehovah so that "we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity," and let Christians keep "the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace"-be one in Christ, as he and God are one. Christians are one in all that is involved in the great question of peace on earth, good will to men, and the glory of God in the highest, and on all other "things that pertain unto life and godliness. They can be one only as they speak the same thing-speak as the Bible speaks, all it speaks and no more-hold fast the pattern of sound words, have the Spirit of Christ, and teach all men of all nations to live as God directs. Christ commands his preachers not only to preach "the gospel of peace"-"the word"-but to be "urgent in season, out of season;" to "reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and teaching." Also, he forbids their knowing anything "save Jesus Christ, and him crucified." In this all must be one, and are one in so far is all obey Christ. We have lost our bearings as preachrs of the gospel and teachers of Christianity when we ecome insistent upon all others accepting our opinions, r judgment on any great national or international political testion. This is out of our province. We must preach e word, teach Christianity, keep unspotted from the rld, have the Spirit of Christ, worship God in spirit and th, and set a good example in all good works, that we both save ourselves and those who hear us. We must th Christians to rely upon God, not upon munitions of wand mighty armies.

THE CONCLUSION.

fear God and to keep his commandments is our whole duind whole happiness, here and hereafter. Godliness has mise of the life that now is and of that which is to com Let us cheerfully submit to God, trust him, study to hiet, to be contented in the service of "the Prince of P:" let us not fret and worry; and all will be well.

In hing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplion with thanksgiving let your [our] requests be made, wn unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth anderstanding, shall guard your [our] hearts and your || thoughts in Christ Jesus. (Phil. 4: 6, 7.)

The Rochester (N. Y.) Mission.

BY E. A. E.

Our readers have heard something definite of our work in Rochester, N. Y., last July. A congregation of about fourteen members was started, with about as many more children and others meeting for Bible study on Sunday. A convenient hall of meeting was secured and the congregation has continued its meetings and work since.

This large city of over three hundred thousand inhabitants is purely a missionary field, so far as work and worship of the New Testament order are concerned, and it is a promising one. It needs an active, earnest, godly man at work there continually. After trying for several months, such a man was secured in the person of Hugh Miller, lately of Ashland City, Tenn., but whose home is in Corsicana, Texas. Brother Miller is a comparatively young preacher, but not without several years' experience. He is worthy, true, and faithful to the gospel. He has been there since the second week in January.

This work must be supported, and will be cheerfully so soon as the churches learn of its needs. It needs immediate help. We are first appealing to individuals and churches for immediate contributions to place it upon a solid foundation, and then we are seeking churches to contribute so much per month for this year.

We want of this a clear-cut scriptural work and liberally (scripturally) supported.

The man is on the ground and is all right; the work is important; the field is white unto the harvest; the churches are abundantly able; then what is the matter? "Nothing," you say. Well, your congregation will be one to support the work.

When the amount necessary to carry on this work has been raised, no more will be asked or received.

It is needing immediate help, and then this regular support.

One good woman has already voluntarily promised a dollar a month for the year.

This is all purely for the salvation of souls and advancement of the cause of Christ.

Let us hear at once what you can do, and we will direct you how to send your contribution.

Relief Fund.

Mrs. J. D. Pepper, Rock Springs, Texas$	310.00
L. N. Gray and family, Mayfield, Ky.	15.00
Character Mount Olive Ver	2.50
Church at Mount Olive, Ky
Bessie Daniel, Trenton, Ky	6.00
Bethel congregation, Route 5, Mount Pleasant,
Texas	15.50
Mrs. R. M. Eades, Tinsman, Ark	5.00
Big Spring congregation, Christiana, Tenn	12.00
May C W Herman Course Tonn	5.00
Mrs. G. W. Haynes, Smyrna, Tenn	1.00
Fred Blanchard, Friendship, Tenn.	1.65
Women's class at Fountain Creek, Tenn,	200 1000
Charles T. Powell, Pulaski, Tenn	1.00
Emily Dunn, Woodridge, D. C	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Moore, Caddo, Texas	10.00
Three friends in Flat Rock congregation, Wilson
Constant Con	11.00
County, Tenn.	5.00
Miss Maggie Young, Moulton, Ala	5.00
Mrs. H. Z. L., Nashville, Tenn	0.0000000000000000000000000000000000000
Church at Richmond, Tenn	20.00
Mrs. W. J. Hogan, Speigners, Ala	2.00
Mount Pleasant congregation, Franklin County, Ala.	15.00
Mrs. Lizzie Morgan, Valdosta, Ga	5.00
WIS, Dizzie worgan, valuosta, Ga.

Poland needs medical supplies, hospitals, doctors, for typhus is decimating the population. Entire villages have already been wiped out of existence by that plague. In many cities mortality is in excess of the birth rate. Poland also needs clothing and shelter to protect her inhabitants against exposure. Her industries are so far at a standstill, the German invader having destroyed or crippled every factory. The civil population is unable to earn a livelihood.

IS THIS YOUR CASE?

What You Should Do-Most Successful and Economical Treatment.

Do you have a feeling of general weakness day in and out? Is your appetite poor? Does your food fail to strengthen you and your sleep to refresh? Do you find it hard to do or to bear what should be easy? Have your ordinary duties and cares become great tasks and burdens?

If so, take Hood's Sarsaparillathis great medicine revitalizes the blood, gives vigor and tone to all the organs and functions, and is unequalled for those who are in any degree debilitated or run down. Do not delay treatment—begin it today.

To rouse the torpid liver and regulate the bowels take Hood's Pills. They are purely vegetable.

BEAUTIFUL 1920 SCRIPTURE TEXT CALENDAR FREE

The Georgia-Alabama Business College, Macon, Ga., is sending out absolutely free of charge a lovely scripture text calendar for the year 1920. This calendar is illustrated with extremely beautiful full color scriptural illustra-tions. Each monthly page carries one of these scriptural illustrations, such as "Jesus Blessing the Children," "The Star of Bethlehem," "Jesus Stilling the Tempest," "Christ and the Holy There are twelve of these monthly page illustrations in full color, besides the full-page illustra-tion on the cover of the calendar. Every Christian worker should have one of these calendars. Each day in the month is shown in large figures, and immediately under the figures is given the text for the day, except on Sundays. Each Sunday date gives the subject for the Sunday-school lesson, Scripture Reading, and Golden Text. On the back of the calendar is given the standard time for each of the twelve divisions, and also is carried a 200-Year Reference Calendar, which enables one to select one of seven cal-endars for use in each of 200 years from 1800 to 2002.

The price of these calendars is thirty cents, and they are very cheap at the price; but they are being sent absolutely free to Christian workers, the only return courtesy that is asked being the sending to Georgia-Alabama Business College of the name and address of some prospective student who desires to take a business course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial English, etc. Write at once and get your calendar, giving the of some prospective student. In writing, mention this paper.

NO JOKE TO BE DEAF

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Report from Howe, Okla.

BY W. F. LEMMONS.

The church of Christ at Howe wishes to acknowledge the following help received on their building fund to date: From Vossa Morrow, Topeka, Kan., $2; Brother Gazway, Hartford, Ark., and others, $15.

Brethren, I wish to say that all are thankful for this help, and that we would appreciate any other help the faithful in Christ see fit to render the struggling band of about a dozen members, all women but three, and all poor. We have up a forfeit on this house; and if we can secure a little immediate help, we can do the rest. We do not want any help in things we can do ourselves. We just want to raise a little outside help to relieve the present situation and save this forfeit, and we will do the rest.

After making this first payment, we have a plan that will place the cause on a safe basis. The church members have rented ten acres for cotton, and they are determined to plant, work, and gather this crop, which will be used as a common fund to finish paying out the house and rebuilding it in the fall. Therefore, we are not asking you to place us on "easy street," but to help us to where we can get on ourselves. The sisters say they will hoe the cotton and help to pick it.

Am I doing my part? I hope so. I am preaching for them three Lord's days in the month without money and without price and boarding myself. I am taking that which was contributed to me at other places for work and spending it here. Why? Because the cause here could not be built up and placed on a sound basis unless some one made the very sacrifice I am making. Whether the Lord sent me or not, I am the one who came and started up the work by holding a mission meeting in Miners' Hall, because we were denied the use of the churches. That is all I have to say. We are loyal to the core. This is a fine country, and we would be glad to have you come here and help us.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

Is Applied. Fragrant and Scothing. 66c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-RINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

NOW FREE FROM PAIN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Frees Another Woman From Suffering.

Bayonne, N. J.-"Before I was maried I suffered a great deal with periodical pains. I had pains in my side and back and also headaches, and got so weak I could not do weak I could not do anything. I took

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt better. Now I am married and have two little boys. Be-fore the first one came I was weak and nervous, could not eat and was dizzy. After I took the Vegetable Com-pound I could work and eat. Now I am strong and recommend your medi-cinetomy friends."—Mrs. ANNA SLEVA. 25 East 17th Street, Bayonne, N. J.

Women who recover their health, naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends.

If you need a medicine for women's ailments, try that well known and successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

Rheumatism Is Pain Only, Rub It Away

Instant Relief! Rub Pain, Soreness, ar Stiffness from Your Back with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Kidneys cause backache? They have no nerves, therefore cnot cause pain. Listen! Your baache is caused by lumbago, scian, or a strain; and the quickest reliis soothing, penetrating "St. Jobs Liniment." Rub it right on the he or tender spot, and instantly the in, soreness, stiffness, and lamenes is-appear. Don't stay crippled! t a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobiniment" from your druggist andaber up. A moment after it is plied you'll wonder what became the backache, sciatica, or lumba pain. "St. Jacobs Liniment" st any pain at once. It is harms and doesn't burn or discolor the ...

It's the only application tib on a weak, lame, or painful ba or for lumbago, sciatica, neuralgi heumatism, sprains, or a strain.

Christian Herald HAL

Weeks at the CHRISTIAN HERALD is sacrificing all its immediate profits from subscribers in a hig drive in extent its present 300,000 circulation (representing 1,500,000 readers) to the million mark (representing 5,000,000 readers) by making an irreducible half price trial offer. New subscribers may have the next

8	big satisfying
	weekly issues
	for
20	activitiating crisp.

20	scintillating crisp,	Stories
20	pages of world news	Studies
50	mapirational educational	Feature Articles
70	wonderful interpretative	Editorials
70	helpful darly, devotional	Meditatations
10	short, pithy, worth while	Sermons'
200	or more black and while	Pictures
8	beautiful covers usually in several	Colors

and hundreds of other wonderful features, al now available to new subscribers at half price.

now available to new subscribers at half price. The Christian Herald is one of America's really great religious and social unsitutions. It is the best level and mast widely read introduced to the service of humanity.

It is the best level and mast widely read introduced to the service of humanity. It aims to make of every demonstration of the service of the service of every demonstration, another of those wonderful courtenay Savage Serials, another of those wonderful the free of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was out the soon of every denomination, but the organ of soon. You was out the soon of every denomination, but the organ of every denomination.

PILE RELIEF.

No matter what kind of plies you may have, no matter how serious the case, if three jars of Hancock's Pile Remedy does not cure you, we will refund your money. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggist's or

HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY, Oxford, N. C.

Druggists, write for liberal proposition.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weaken and, run-down condition, get my 'Electric Belt.' For Weakness, Nervous Debility, Rhienma-lam Backache, and Bladder Troubles, Soelesia introductors price $1, postpaid. Dr. Frank M. Weich, Atlanta, Gu.

An Urgent Appeal.

BY J. OSCAR PAISLEY.

The church at Metropolis, III., is yet in a hard financial struggle for life. We are all working in harmony with each other, keeping house for the Lord each Lord's day. We raised the money among ourselves to buy a piece of ground, forty by seventy feet, for which we paid two hundred dollars. Then we bought an old house, and borrowed one thousand dollars with which to move it to our lot and repair and seat it. The moving of the house, buying some lumber and some concrete blocks for the foundation, and hauling gravel have consumed the borrowed money, except sixty-three dollars. With donations from faithful brethren and sisters at various places sent us in the past, amounting to thirty dollars and fifty-five cents, and a check for five dollars from Sister Maida Austin, of Scott's Hill, Tenn., just received, we have now less than two hundred dollars with which to finish the house on the outside, plaster it, build the flue, and buy the seats. We are expecting to have a meeting in the spring, the Lord willing, if we can get the house ready. But we have to meet this debt of one thousand dollars borrowed money, or the mortgagee will take the house from us. We thank the brethren and sisters in the name of Christ for their kind remembrance of us and for help extended us in the past. Brethren, let us not allow the world to put the church of the living God in the background, but let us wake up to our duty as servants of the most high God and put the world behind us, leading out with a strong zeal and loving heart for the souls of men and women.

Send contributions to J. Oscar Paisley, Metropolis, Ill.

One topic is peremptorily forbidden to all rational mortals-namely, their distempers. If you have not slept, or if you have slept, or if you have the headache, or the leprosy, or a thunderstroke, I beseech you by all the angels to hold your peace and not pollute the morning. Come out into the azure. Love the day.-Emerson.

Within thine own heart, by means of internal recollection, and with his heavenly grace, thou mayest look for silence in tumult, solitude in company, light in darkness, forgetfulness in pressure, vigor in despondency, courage in fear, resistance in temptation, peace in war, and quiet in tribulation. -Exchange.

For That CHILLY Feeling

Take Grove's Tasteless CHILL Tonic. It Warms the Body by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

EVERY MARRIED COUPLE

and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete book of life, such as the "Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, so often revealed too late. No book like it to be had at any price, 1008 pages—bound in cloth. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, etc.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for 5 dimes, to introduce book to readers of this paper. Address Medical Press, 640 % Washington St., Buffalo, N. V.

IS CURABLE. Write me to-day, and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. DR. CANNADAY, 1226 Park Square, Sedalia, Mo.

You Will Write a Letter Like This

I wish I knew which one of the thousands of letters I receive would have the most weight with you, my friend. I cannot quote all of them here, but I am going to ask you to read these carefully and then give me a chance to renew your health and make you write me one very much like them:

Barnard Street, Savannah, Ga.

Mr. N. F. Shivar, Shelton, S. C.

Dear Sir: I was suffering with indigestion, stomach and liver disorders, and all its train of horrifying phenomens for several months. I had lived on milk, soft-bolied eggs, shredded wheat—a very insufficient diet for an active working man—and, of course, from disease and starvation was in a very low state of nervous vitality and general deblity. I ordered ten gallons of your Mineral Watsr, which I used continuously, reordering when necessary, and in four months gained twenty-nine pounds, was strong and perfectly well, and have worked practically every day since. It acts as a general removator of the system. I prescribe it in my practice, and it has in every list in my practice, and it has in every list in my practice, and it has in every list in my practice, and it has in every list in use this water in as large quantity as possible, for its properties are so happily blended and in such proportion that they will not disturb the most delicate system. It is purely Nature's remedy.

A. L. R. AVANIT, M.D.

Leeds, S. C.

A. L. R. AVANT, M.D.

Leeds, S. C.

I have tested your Spring Water in several cases of rheumatism, chronic indigestion, kidney and bladder troubles, and in nervous and sick headaches, and find it has acted nicely in each case; and I believe that if used continuously for a reasonable time it will give permanent relief. It will purify the blood, relieve debility, attimulate the action of the liver, kidneys, and bladder, siding them in throwing off all poisonous matter.

C. A. CROSBY, M.D.

These are not selected cases, nor are the results unusual. I receive thousands like them from physicians, ministers, lawyers, merchants, farmers, manufacturers, and every conceivable profession. I want the satisfaction of receiving such a letter from you. No matter what your complaint may bedyspepsia, indigestion, nervous headache, rheumatism, kidney or liver disease, or any curable allment that has not responded to drugs. I invite you to match your faith in the Spring against my pocketbook. If the water fails to benefit you, simply say so, return the empty demijohns, and I will promptly and willingly refund your money-every cent. Sign below.

Shivar Spring,

Box 21C, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons of Shivar Mineral Water. agree to give it a fair trial, in accordance with instructions contained in booklet you will send; and if it fails to benefit my case, you agree to refund the price in full upon receipt of the two empty demijohns, which I agree to return within a month.

Name.....

Address

Shipping Point.....

(Please write distinctly.)

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of serving the little church at Shivar Spring as pastor for years, and am, therefore, well acquainted with Mr. Shivar and his associates, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived great benefit from the use of the Shivar Mineral Water, and have knowledge of its beneficial effects in a great number and variety of cases."—Rev. A. McA. Pittman.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field. (Continued from page 152,) flock? Do I speak these things after the manner of men? or saith not the law also the same? For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn. Is it for the oxen God careth, or saith he it assuredly for our [the preachers'] sake? Yea, for our sake it was written: because he that ploweth ought to plow in hope, and he that thresheth, to thresh in hope of partaking. If we sowed unto you spiritual things, is it a great matter if we shall reap your carnal things? If others partake of this right over you. do not we yet more? Nevertheless we did not use this right; but we bear all things, that we may cause no hindrance to the gospel of Christ. Know ye not that they that minister about sacred things eat of the things of the temple, and they that wait upon the altar have their portion with the altar? Even so did the Lord ordain that they that proclaim the gospel should live of the gospel."

We need to stir the churches up to supporting more men for all of their time. Never mind now about the men that preach two sermons on Sunday and whittle on goods boxes through the week. Those men are not the Pauline kind. Churches should not support such preachers. And the preacher that preaches two sermons on Sunday and is busy getting rich through the week is not of the Pauline kind. If any man can show me how to follow Paul as an example and get rich, even to the extent of owning a nice, comfortable home, I am willing to be taught. By this I am not saying that it is wrong to own a home. I am thinking seriously of taking steps to buy me a home somewhere. My wife desires such, and I owe it to her to give her this satisfaction for which she has longed. Paul would not condemn me in this. Neither does he condemn me for having a wife. But if I were wholly in the Pauline class, I would not have a wife. He said he had that right, but denied himself of it for the gospel's sake. I tell you it means much to get into this Pauline class. We need more such preachers; and if we had them, we would have more men going to cities, with their thousands of souls who never heard of Christ, and working and preaching till they all had an opportunity of knowing Jesus.

Now let the final word be the admonition for all of us preachers to stop trying to "knock the other fellow" because he does not do just like we do, and let us get busy stirring up the churches-a thing all of us know needs to be done-and let us stir and

WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM LEUCORRHEA

Write to This Trained Nurse For Full Information; How to Quickly End at Home

SENT FREE

Miss Anna Cavanaugh, Registered Trained Nurse, of Nurse. Buffalo, N. Y., and a prominent member of the Nurses' Institute, of that city, has found a new method, easily and safely used at home, whereby leucorrhea (" whites") may be quickly overcome in nearly any case.

A. Cavanauch, E. N.

This method has proved so successful in work among her patients, and has brought so many women suffering from this annoying, unsanitary, and dangerous complaint from deep despair to joyful satisfaction, that she has decided to offer the benefit of her experience to the women of the world,

Women and girls who are victims of this amazingly common, but little understood. disorder should certainly write her in confidence without delay and get her generous advice and full information how they may quickly and safely end their trouble at home in a pleasant and harmless manner, Send no money, but write name and address plainly (stating whether Mrs. or Miss), and inclose with your letter the Free Coupon below, adding, if you like, a two-cent stamp for her reply. Address her; Miss Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE COUPON This certificate entitles any reader of the Gospel Advocate to Miss Cavanaugh's free confidential advice and instructions (sent in plain scaled envelope) for the ending of leucorrhea (whites). Cut out and pin to letter, Good for immediate use only. Address Anna Cavanaugh, R. N., Room 221A, Nurses' Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICE.-We earnestly advise every lady who has any trouble with leucorrhea, or "whites," to accept the above offer at once. The advice Miss Cavanaugh gives on this subject is sincere, genuine, and invaluable, the standing of the donor being unquestioned.

TETTERINE

Makes hair beautiful, free from dandruff, and keeps the scalp healthy.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

stir till they awake to their sense of duty and open their purses and give as they should give. I know this is needed. May the Lord hasten the day when such a revival shall be fully on among the churches

Our Best Wisdom.

It may be true that the success of life depends quite as much on our capacity and ability for receiving as it does upon our fight to attain. The influences of God beat upon our lives without our asking, and our best wisdom is to know the time of their coming and to be ready for them. There is, perhaps, no profounder mistake than the belief that the good things of life never came our way, and that we must still look for them in some fortunate turn in the future. They have come every day of our lives. We do not need to scan the coming day with anxious eyes as if by a bare possibility it might bring something to us. It cannot fail to bring something. The disasters we fear will not mainly take the form of a poverty of events or a scarcity of opportunities. They will be far more likely to take the shape of neglect. There can be little question that by far the greater part of all our trouble comes from failure to seize and appropriate the advantages which are ever with us.-Selected.

Great Difference in Cost.

Think of the difference in cost between taking a professionally prescribed medicine and taking Hood's Sarsaparilla! You know that ordinarily it is considerable. In times like these, when everybody should be economical, it is well worth saving.

Hood's Sarsaparilla affords the least expensive of all treatments for the common everyday diseases or ailments of the blood, stomach, liver, or kidneys. Many physicians use the same substance as its ingredients for these diseases and ailments, but these substances are better compounded in Hood's Sarsaparilla than they can possibly be in a prescribed medicine which is put up in a small way, with fewer facilities; and when the physician's fee is added it costs a great deal more.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by skilled pharmacists in one of the largest and best-equipped laboratories in the world, is wonderfully successful, and highly recommended to those who would recover health and strength with the minimum necessary outlay.

Worship is that fellowship with God whereby we learn his will. Work is that fellowship with men which carries out God's will.-Exchange.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Let the weakest, let the humblest, remember that in his daily course he can, if he will, shed around him almost a heaven. Kindly words, sympathizing attentions, watchfulness against wounding men's sensitiveness -these cost very little, but they are priceless in their value,-Selected.

Got 117 Eggs Instead of 3

Says One Subscriber

Any ponitry raiser can easily double his profits by doubling the egg production of his hens. A scientific tonic has been discovered that revitalizes the flock and makes hens work all the time. The tonic is called "More Eggs," It has already been used by 400,000 chicken raisers, and literally thousands of letters have been received telling of its marvelous results. Give your hens a few cents' worth of "More Eggs," and you will be amazed and delighted with results.

If you wish to try this great profit maker, simply write a post card or letter to E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., and ask for his special free-package $1 offer. Don't send any money. Mr. Reefer will send you two $1 packages of "More Eggs." You pay the postman upon delivery only $1, the price of just one package, the other package being free. The million-dollar Merchants' Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., guarantees if you are not absolutely satisfied your dollar will be returned on request. So there is no risk. Write to-day for this special free-package offer. Profit by the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

WHO IS Women as well as men are

WHO IS TO BLAME?

BLA

God, the Great Creator.

God is the great Creator, and those who are workers together with him share, in some limited sense, the joy and dignity of his creative work. We are his workmanship, and yet he works through us, as truly as we work by him. The two conditions on our side of such divine cooperation may be thus stated: He expects us to yield ourselves to him in the spirit of filial obedience, and to claim his power in the spirit of unwavering faith. When these conditions are complied with, we cannot be failures; for we have, as it were, liberated his creative energy, and he, who was able in creation to gaze with complete satisfaction on all that he had made, will not find himself incapable of producing what he desires in us .- W. Hay Aitken.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

LOOSENS THE PHLEGM AND MUCUS, clears the air passages, coats inflamed and irritated membranes with a healing and soothing demulcent, eases hoarseness, stops tickling in the throat and makes refreshing, restful sleep possible.

Banished La Grippe Coughs

Lawis Newman, 5063 Northrand St., Charleston, W. Va.: "I am glad to tell you that Folay's Honey and Tar is the best remedy for line trouble I have ever used. I have been down side ever since January and nothing would do me any good. I was full of cold. Thad the grip all winter until I get two 60c bottles of Folay's Honey and Tar. I used 125 bottles. Tam glad to say I can't feel may more cold in my chest."

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt relief from coughs, colds, hourseness, tickling throat, whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchial coughs.

Free Eczema Remedy

Such wonderful results in eczema and all skin diseases instantly follow the soothing application of Krano-Zema, the new scientific freatment, and so confident is the Krano-Zema Co. that they will gladly send any reader a full-sized $1.00 treatment by prepaid mail without one cent in advance. If satisfied after using the treatment two weeks, pay $1.00; but if not, you do not pay one cent. Take advantage of this amazing free offer to-day. Send no money—just your name and address to the KRANO-ZEMA CO. 95 Phillips Building, Girard, Kan.

FREE Puncture 6,000 Miles Guaranteed

For a limited time only we are offering absolutely free a puncture proof take guaranteed 6,000 miles, with every purchase of one of fire and often give 8,000 to 10,000, miles, and often guaranteed 5,000 miles without a puncture!

2-5xve repair oilie!

3-5xve contire cost of tine!

5xve two-initial cost of fire!

Free Reliner With Each Tire in ordering be sure to state size wanted, also whether s. s. clincher, plain or non-skid. Send $2.00 deposit on each tire, bulence C. O. D. subject to examination; 5 per cent discount if you send full amount with order. Rush your order teday.

Reliable Tire and Rubber Co. 3440 Michigan Avo. Chicago, III.

E proves Superiority in bringing prompt relief from coughing, tickling in the throat, inflammation, hoarseness and other bronchial discomforts. Guaranteed safe, Prices: 15c, 35c, 75c and $1.25 JOHN I, BROWN & SON, Boston, Mass.

Work in the San Joaquin Valley. BY L. D. PERKINS.

It has now been four and a half years since I left Southern California for this valley. On coming here, I located on a ranch at Corcoran, Kings County. I first preached at Exeter and Hanford. Then I did considerable preaching at Corcoran; but there were no members there, and I only made friends of some of the denominations.

At my coming there was a small band at Hanford, Dinuba, Fresno, Madera, and Exeter, besides at Patterson, Dos Palos, and Tranquillity. My labors have been confined to Fresno, Hanford, Madera, Dinuba, and a few sermons at Exeter. In this time I have established a new congregation at Tulare. None were even meeting there when I came into the valley. Before I preached there, Brother and Sister Williams quit meeting with the Christian Church and were having services at their house-just the two. At their invitation I went to their assistance and preached twice each month for about three years. This work developed into a very nice congregation. There were no preachers in the valley when I came, save Brother J. A. Craig, of Patterson, and Brother J. E. Sniffin, of Dos Palos, so far as I now remember. In this four years' time I have succeeded in baptizing a number of worthy people, and also influenced Fresno in locating Brother W. Halliday Trice; Madera, in locating Brother W. W. Pace, from Texas; and Dinuba, in locating E. W. Sewell. I have influenced the churches in having Brother J. W. Dunn to assist in a meeting at Tulare, also Brother C. A. Norred and Brother T. B. Larimore; at Hanford, Brother Trice and Brother Larimore. Also, Brother G. W. Riggs, of Los Angeles, and Brother E. M. Borden have preached some in the valley. The church at Madera has taken on new life and bids fair to be one of the best in the State. Fresno has three times as many as when I came. Dinuba is in a growing condition; and a letter from Brother Williams, of Tulare, says Tulare is in better condition than at any previous time. Brother E. M. West, a noble man, is preaching two Lord's days each month for them. I have encouraged one young man to begin preaching-Brother J. E. Plummer; and a true and noble workman he is, and he has done a splendid work. In looking back, I feel that but little has been done in comparison to what should have been; and yet, when I look at the condition when coming here and the advance made. I have a cause to rejoice. I have not preached to please men, nor for the amount of money in Cought, Bronchitis, Colds, Catarrh.

Don't fall to use Cresolene for the discression, and often fails aftercons for which it is recommended. It is a simple, safe, effective and drundess freatment. Vaporized Greenies stops the industry of Whoching Cought and relieves Spaniolic Crosip at once. In asthma it shortens the attack and instress comfortable repose. The art carrying the addisence report by the cought which was a summary of the cought, makes broadling restrict mights. Crosolens releves the bronchial complications of Simple Fover and Meales and is a valuable aid in the treatment of Diphtheria. Crosslene's best recommendation is its 40 years of successful use. Send posted for Descriptive Besklet 43. FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS.

The Vapo-Cresolene Co. 62 Corfland St. New York or Lesming-Miles Building, Moutreal, Canada.

Miller's Antiseptic Oll, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes,

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; puln in the head, back, and limbs; corns bunlons, etc. After one application, pain usually disappears as if by magic.

pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza, sore throat, diphtheria, and tonslitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penerating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 29c, 69c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY,

Jackson, Tenn.

The Threshing Problem

Solved beans from the mown vines, wheat, oats, rye, and barley.

A perfect combination machine. Nothing like it. "The machine I have been looking for for twenty years,"—W. F. Massey. "It will meet every demand."—H. A. Morgan. Director Tennessee Experiment Station. Booklet 29 free.

Koger Pea and Bean Thresher Co., 18 Koger Street, Morristown, Tenn.

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL,

1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and sur-geons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife, X-Ray, radium, or acids, Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hos-pital, without the use of either. Physicians and surgeons treated free at the hospital.

"THE SANITARY" Individual GUPS List of thousands of churches using our caps and FREE CATALOG with contain and the course of the cou Sanitary Communion Outlit Co., 71st St., Rochester, N. Y.

The Itching and Burning of the various forms of eczema is immediately soothed and the cruptions healed—when you use

Excellent for Eczema, burns, bites, bruises, cuts, stings, old sores. 50c and $1,00 at your druggist's. Ka-Dene Soap, applied first, cleanses and dishifects. Dealers write for special proposition.

THE KA-DENE MED. CO., Nashville, Tenn.

"Just Put Ka-Dene on it."

it, for I have not begun to take enough to pay the traveling expenses; but I have worked every day with my hands to make my way, and believe I can say I have given it cash ten dollars to where I have taken one. But the Lord has attended to the pay. Over and over again has he made it possible for me to have pay in abundance in blessing the fruit of my hands. With the noble and excellent preachers associated with me in this work, yet we have not been able to begin to baptize as many as the brethren have in Japan. It is true that thousands of dollars have been sent into Japan, and nothing here. Even California has helped other fields. This statement being a fact, the disciples of California should open their eyes to this truth and work as never before. I have stayed clear of speculative preaching and have confined my time to the plain word of the Lord as to what to do to become a Christian and then what to do to stay one and to live one. I have never found any time to preach on unfulfilled proph-The apostle Peter said, "No prophecy of the scripture is of private interpretation," and I have tried to take him at his word; and if others had done likewise, it would have saved lots of time, wasted ink, and trouble.

I look forward for a greater work in the next four years, full of courage and hope, and the prospects seem so much brighter. At Madera, Fresno, Dinuba, Tulare, and Hanford we have some as noble and true men and women as are in the world; and with all this and the nice start, we must and will accomplish a greater work.

Thoughts by the Way.

BY J. Y. M'QUIGG.

To say that I am well pleased with the Gospel Advocate does but half express my appreciation of it. Its weekly visits are a comfort and help to me, and have been for many years-yea, even fifty-two. What! Is it possible that it has been that long? Yes, 'tis too true; for I have been a reader of it since 1867. May a loving Father's richest blessings attend both editors and contributors, and may they be spared for many years of usefulness in thus faithfully serving Him, is the prayer of a fellow soldier in his army.

To Fortify the System Against Grip

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets which destroy germs, act as a Tonic and Laxative, and thus prevent Colds, Grip and Influenza. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box

When writing to advertisers, please say you saw their "ad." in this paper.

Mrs. Belle DeWitt, Gainsboro, Jachson County, Tenn., at the age of seventy-three boasts of her physical fitness and activity and tells the reason for her good health in the following letter: "I have been using Pe-ru-na for twenty years. My age is seventy-three and I have been relieved of a lot of bad sickness by it. I had the Flu and I was so weak I thought I would die. I used two bottles of Pe-ru-na and a box of Pe-ru-na tablets. Now I am active as a cat. Your medicines are just fine for coughs and colds. They relieve me as soon as I begin to take them. I had catarrh of the stomach and bow els, and your medicine cured me after I had spent lots of money with doctors. I know one woman who was cured of serious bowel trouble after the doctors.

I know one woman who was cured of serious bowel trouble after the doctors had given her up to die. She took Pe-ru-na and is alive and perfectly well lam, a strong believer in Pe-ru-na because it has always cured me. Mrs. DeWitt is just one of many thousands, who attribute their health to this old and tried remedy. For nearly one half century Pe-ru-na has been the main dependence in the American family for every-day ills such as coughs, colds, catarrh stomach and bowel disorders and all caterrhel conditions. It is colds, catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders and all catarrhal conditions." a wonderfully good practice to keep Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies.

Sold Everywhere.

Tablets or Liquid.

Men pay only for cures

People suffering from blood poison, catarrh, skin, liver, kidaey, bladder and chronic diseases, eczema, nervous deblity, exhaustion, weakness of the lungs, heart and nerves should write us for free advice question chart and book describing their condition.

Piles and rectal diseases, such as fistula, fissure, stricture or varicose veins, which cause loss of vitality, nervousness and general debility, cured or no pay. Out of town people, visiting the city in need of treatment, consult us. Many cases cured in one or two visits. Consultation free and confidential. Twenty years successful experience. Hours 10 a.m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1 only.

DRS. MORRIS AND HARRELL DRS. MORRIS AND HARRELL

Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts.

Atlanta, Ga.

SOLD FOR 50 YEARS

For MALARIA, CHILLS and

Also a Fine General Strengthening Tonic. SOLD BY ALL DRUG STORES-

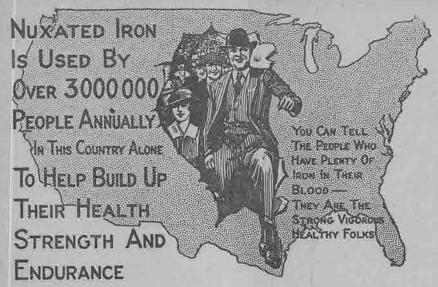

Potter Orphans' Home Ford. BY H. C. SHOULDERS.

The fund has been growing some of late, but we still need about two hundred and fifty dollars before we can place the order for the car. Brethren and sisters, this is a work that belongs to each and every one of us. The Home needs the car very much, Brother Hugh Potter, the superintendent of the Home, has much work to do, and the car would save him many hours during the month. There are many brethren and sisters who will read this. Let me appeal to every one of you to take this matter up among the brethren where you worship and make a donation for the children's car. Just a small contribution from each congregation will put this fund "over the top" and have some left to turn into the regular treasury to help feed and clothe these little ones. Read Ex. 36: 2-7. Let us have it said of us one time that we had sufficient and too much. Help make it possible for me to announce in a very short time that the car has been ordered. Send contributions to me-Box 194, Sellersburg, Ind.

Catarrh is an excessive secretion, accompanied with chronic inflammation, from the mucous membrane. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, reduces inflammation, establishes healthy action, and radically cures all cases of batarrh.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Cat-loness, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy, loc. by mail or at Drug-gista, 'Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, M. Y.

Look around at the men and women you meet in a increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, single day. One glance is enough to tell the ones with plenty of rich, red blood, strength and physical energy to back up their montal power and make them a success in whatever they undertake.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hespital (Outdoor Dept.). New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says that to help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing to valuable as organic from—Nuxated Iron. It often where.

The Master's Vineyard

Arkansas.

Texarkana, February 1.—To-day was well spent in the Lord's service. services were attended by large and apparently appreciative crowds. strangers were in our midst at both hours than ever before; and this is encouraging. By invitation, I spoke encouraging. By invitation, I spoke at the local Cotton Belt Hospital in the afternoon to a fair-sized audience. I will begin a series of meetings at De Queen to-morrow night, to be continued for a week or more.- J. E. Wainwright.

Fort Smith, February 2.-Yesterday was a good day with us at Park Hill The influenza hindered us some, but we had good attendance and good services. One addition at the morning service. We are at peace and the work is moving along nicely, have been teaching a singing class at night in order to improve our singing, getting ready for our meetings this spring and fall, as we plan to have two meetings this year. One year ago to-day I preached my first sermon in Fort Smith. We then had a little congregation of thirty-three members and We then had a little conworshiped in a little storeroom; day we have a nice house of worship, with seventy-two members, and all is well with us, and we are proud of our work in every way. Pray for us.-Will W. Slater.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, January 28.-I was with the church in Tuttle last Lord's day. This church needs a spiritual awakening. 1 am ready to answer all calls for meetings. Address me at 611 West Fourth Street .- G. C. Parham.

Marietta, January 22.—We wish to announce our plans for the year. We meet every Lord's day, as we have for several years, and spend an hour in Bible study, striving to grow in the knowledge of the truth as the Lord directed. We have arranged with Brother J. W. Denton, of Roxton, Texas, to hold a meeting for us the first of June, and have secured Brother Tice Elkins, of Fort Worth, to spend two weeks with us the latter part of August. Brother Elkins preached for us last night. We would be glad to have visiting brethren with us during each meeting .- T. V. Askew.

Tennessee.

Fayetteville, January 27.—The work in the church here is moving along The congregation treated us nicely. royally upon our arrival, and there is a concentrated effort to push forward to a great amount of work. Much of the good here is due to the leadership and work of Brother T. C. Little. J. M. Galner.

Cleveland, February 3.-1 preached three times last Lord's day—at Cleve-land at 11 A.M. and 7:15 P.M. and at Black Fox at 2:30 P.M. A fine attend-ance at all of these services. The largest attendance in the Bible school at 10 A.M. of any in the history of the congregation. We have two meetings that we wish to note and recommend as being very interesting and helpful One is the young people's training meeting, which is proving to be very interesting and instructive. This meeting is held every Lord's-day evening just before the preaching service. The other one is the ladies' meeting that is held every Friday evening in some one of the homes. In this meeting they come together to study the Bible and to plan to care for the poor and the sick. This brings the sisters together in a social way and is proving to be helpful in many ways. Last Tuesday at the noon hour I spoke to the molders at the large stove foundry, and last Friday I spoke to the men and women in the sewing and cutting department at the woolen mill. These people all seem to appreciate talks from the Bible. The church here is planning for greater things for the future,-George Farmer.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region, it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them -like you relieve your bowels-re-moving all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

OBITUARIES

Austin.

Sister Cora Myrtle Bagby was born in Henderson County, Tenn., on March 16, 1871. She obeyed her Savior in baptism in 1892, and gave her hand in marriage to Brother H. W. Austin on June 23, 1897. To this union were born nine children, six of whom are still living—two girls and four boys. Sister Austin departed this life on Wednesday morning, January 14, 1920, at Mireral Wells, Texas. She had left her home at Melrose, N. M., hoping to get relief from her suffering, but all that could be done did not benefit her. She passed peacefully to rest, dreading not the future. We weep not for her as those who have no hope. We fear nothing for her safety. May the Lord sustain the lonely husband and comfort the bereaved children.

G. F. MICKEY.

Poster.

Brother Sam Foster was born fifty years ago, lacking until March 24; on January 21, 1892, he was married to Miss Minnie Forester; in August, 1894, he was baptized into Christ, by the writer, at Rives, Tenn.; and he died on January 16, 1920. He leaves a wife, one child, five brothers, and a host of friends and brethren and sisters in the He was one of the best men I ever knew, and one of my very best friends. He was a husband and father in every sense of the word; was a faithful and devoted Christlan, and loved the church and the worship. Such men are sadly missed, not only by their relatives, but by all who know them, and their places hard to fill. His life was one for his wife, child, and all his friends and relatives to be proud of-one worthy of imita-tion. What more can be said? What more is necessary to be said? We love the memory of Brother Foster and hope to meet him where no said partings come. John R. Williams.

Garratt.

"Precious in the sight of Jehovah is the death of his saints," (Ps. 116: 15.) Brother D. B. Garratt was a soldier in the Civil War, and one of the oldest members of the church of the Lord at Lynnville, Tenn. He was a member of the one body when the church met at Old Lynnville (Waco). He spoke frequently of entertaining in his hospitable home while at Waco such grand men of God as Knowles Shaw, David Lipscomb, Harding, and others. Brother Garratt had his shortcomings and imperfections the same as we all, yet he loved the Lord and his precious word and died triumphing in the joys of the hope laid up for him in the heavens. Just before he died he spoke to me about the vanity of all things earthly and the futility of working alone for the food that perisheth, and the great importance of working for the food which abideth unto eternal life, which the Son of man shall give unto all who come unto At the funeral services I spoke on Phil, 1: 21, emphasizing the fact that "to die is gain." Paul does not look at death as a calamity to him-self. Truly death to some is a great and overwhelming catastrophe, but not to the Lord's people. Brother Garratt has left here for his wife and children the faith which he held in Jesus as a priceless legacy, even more precious than gold that perisheth. Let us hold fast the beginning of our confidence firm unto the end, that we may lay hold of the hope set before us and see Jesus face to face, together with those who have preceded us to that blissful abode where we shall know fully even as we are fully known.

H. N. RUTHERFORD.

10 HENS LAY 8 EGGS A DAY, HOWIT'S DONE

Mr. Davis Shows How to Wake Up Idle Hens—Easily Tried.

"I have 10 hens and was getting 1 and 2 eggs a day. Since using Don Sung, my hens have improved so much that I am now get-have improved so much that I am now get-ting 7 and 8 eggs a day. The results have been wonderful," — Henry Davis, 1324 Thirtieth Street, Newport News, Va. Mr. Davis wrote this letter in February, after a severe test in the coldest weather. Try it, as he did, and watch your heas stop

Try it, as he did, and watch your heas stop loading and start laying. Here's our offer:
Give your heas Don Sung, and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself, and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us, and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the fead, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for thirty days, and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mall. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry-remedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mall, prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Company, 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis; Ind.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2,25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c. 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $2. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money re-$1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders snipped promity; satisfaction guaranteed or money funded. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

Drink Coffee

IF IT CAUSES INDIGESTION, A COUPLE OF STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS WILL PROMPTLY GIVE RELIEF

Indigestion caused by coffee is the same as indigestion caused by anything else. It eating food or drinking coffee makes you dyspeptic, all you need is Stuart's Dyspepsia

"I Surely Do Enjoy My Coffee! I'm Not Afraid to Drink it, Either, for I Have a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

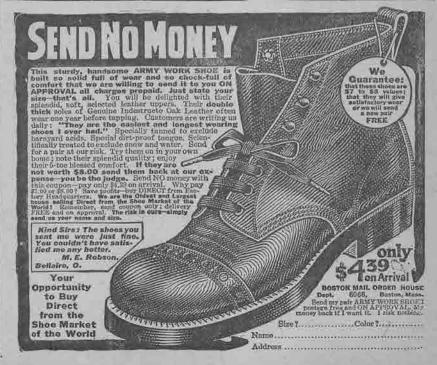

Box of Stnart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Stnart's Dyspepsia Tablets mix with the food you eat. The stomach, by its peristaitic action, churns and moves the food around the stomach walls, and the powerful ingredients in these tablets instantly begin digesting the food as they are forced through it and around it.

The use of one of these tablets after meals will in a very short time restore your appetits to its normal condition and you will enjoy your food with an old-time relish.

Every drug store carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Price, 50 cents.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal. Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the high-set authorities. est authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to store into the pagest drug store. you have to do to get rut of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bettle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money head in two minutes if you cannot back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.-Adv.)

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

The Nature of Man. No. 3.

BY TICE ELKINS.

As the crowning work of creation was the production of man, so the crowning work in the formation of man was the imparting from the living God a soul, or spirit, that was to animate the material temple. The temple of old was not left without the indwelling glory of God; so also this fair structure of the human body received its complement in an indwelling soul. "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." This is a distinct announcement that the soul of man is something different in its origin and distinct in its character from the body. The one is formed from the dust of the ground; the other emanated from the breath of the Almighty. The one is dust; the other is a living soul. The soul is not a part of the physical structure, does not grow out of it, but is superadded to it. The mysterious blending of these two elements in man completed the work of his crea-

"Breathed into his nostrils the breath of life," The Hebrew word is plural-"breath of lives." Whether, as some have supposed, this implies that man is endowed with the life of animal, vegetable life, also a life of higher magnitude, or whether there is any special significance to be attached to the mere circumstance that pluralizes this word, is difficult to determine. Nor is its solution essential to our purpose, as It now only concerns us to show that to man was imparted a higher nature than that which is merely animal. In fine, we claim that it was the intention of Inspiration to assert for man all that we understand to be implied in the term "living soul," breathed from God, and "a spirit" inspired with understanding from the Almighty.

'And man became a living soul." The Hebrew word, "nephesh," is in other places applied to living animals, reptiles, creeping things, and also to other things; but this does not prove that it cannot here be employed to express what we mean by the word "soul," or "living soul." Even with us, though the word "soul" has come to have a technical and definite meaning, nothing is more common than to use it outside of that meaning; as, when a vessel founders at sea, we say

Night and Morning. Have Strong, Healthy Eyes. If they Tire, Itch, Smart or Burn, if Sore, YOUR EYES Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobedy Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you will get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, be-cause it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth, haired, unattractive folks are not wanted around; so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night, and you will be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay sured—write for giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, scaled envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today.

FREE BOOK

CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY, Dept. 74 Atlanta, Ga.

Women Who Suffer From Backache and Headache

Nashville, Tenn.;—"Dr. Pierce's Favor-ite Prescription is the best medicine I have ever taken. I suf-fered for a long time with woman's trou-ble. I would become so nervous that I would have to give up and lie down. I suffered with backaches and pains in my side. I would have periodical spells of sick-headaches. I of sick-headaches. I could not eat or sleep and I got where I was a physical week when I saw the Favorite Prescription' advertised and decided to give it a trial. It completely cared me of the feminine trouble and restored me to good heath."—MRS. ALICE McCLOUD, 1819 6th Ave., N.

Many of Your Neighbors Can Say The Same

Memphis, Tenn.:—'For many years I have depended on Dr. Pierce's medicines to keep me well and healthy. I was once restored to health by the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' when other medicines and doctors had falled to give me any help. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has no equal as a woman's medicines; the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is one of the best spring tonics or blood medicines I have ever taken; and I always keep Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets in the home for use when needed. They are a fine system regulator, acting on the liver, stomach and bowels,"—MRS. E. C. WHLSON, 660 N. 6th St.

Any medicine dealer will supply you with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription or Golden Medical Discovery in either liquid or tablet form.

or tablet form.

All women who suffer from femining disorders are invited to write the Faculty of Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. for free confidential consultation and advice, no charge being made for this high professional service. This will enable every woman to benefit by the advice of these distinguished physicians.

A tonic haxative containing from in organic form for regulating the digestive organs and building robust health with pure, fron-strong red blood. 25c a box.

For eczema, liver splotches and other itching skin accuptions use "Skin Success" Soap and Ointment in conjunction with tablets. A wonderful combination for good health and good looks. Ask your druggist. Samples on request.

THE MORGAN DRUG CO.,

1521 Atlantic Ave. Brocklyn, New York City

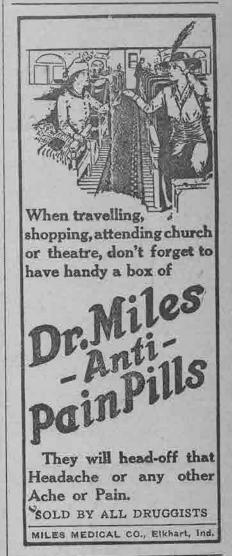

that every soul on board perished, meaning simply that every person on board lost his life. The fact is, there is no single word in biblical Hebrew answering in fixed and definite import to either of the English words "soul" and "body." The same is true of the Greek, also of the Latin. But both body and soul, as distinguished from each other and as embodying the ideas attached to these words in our current English, are distinctly recognized and taught in the Bible. If, then, the intrinsic nature of the soul is not disclosed by the import of the Hebraic terms used to denote it, it is not because that nature is not recognized, but because human language was then destitute of an appropriate word which might thus be employed. The same remarks, in a greater or less degree, are applicable to the other Hebrew words, "ruahh," "Neshamah," etc., expressed by the words "soul," "spirit," etc. And is it not thus also with the English word "soul?" Even the question of its origin is unsettled, much less has its philological import been made to appear. And yet it has come to have a known and acknowledged signification, or by gradual process come to be appropriated to this use; so that now, whenever used, we take it to mean the spiritual and immortal nature, unless the connections in which it stands determine some other signification.

Whatever, then, may be said of the philological import of the Hebrew term rendered by the word "living soul." the connections of the term when used in relation to the creation and endowment of man fully establish the high sense in which it is used. In the creation of unintellectual animal life, nothing is said about breathing into them the breath of life. Then, too, man was to be modeled after a higher type. "Let us make man after our own image and likeness." Higher purposes were to be accomplished in his being. He was to have dominion over the animal creation. It was to be a wide dominion, including all animal life in the sea, in the air, and upon the earth. That dominion, too, was to spread over every tree bearing fruit and every herb bearing seed upon the face of the whole earth. The circumstances and the objects of man's creation are such as would indicate a new and higher order of endowment. This is still further confirmed by the importance attached to his creation in the councils of the Creator. The persons in the Godhead, and it may be the higher order of angelic beings, seem to have been summoned into council over his creation. Nothing can be clearer than that all this is implied in the expression, "Let us make." If by the breath of lives is meant only that at that time man began to use his respiratory organs, why is the case mentioned in contradistinction from the creation of all unintellectual animals? While, then, man is possessed of the breath of animal life, the plan, the design, the circumstances of his creation, and especially the divine origin of the higher principle of the life that is within him, proves that he possesses an immortal soul.

Recipe for Gray Hair.

To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth of an ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy. and does not rub off .- Advt.

Corpus Christl Building Fund.

BY C. W. SEWELL.

We have received on our building fund to the present date, $3,597.39. A small amount of this was used for relief work just after the storm.

Our new house is to be thirty-eight by forty-six feet. It will have two classrooms and a baptistery. The floor will be inclined and the entrance will be from the corner, with vestibule. It is to be built of hollow tiles. This is because it is cheaper, stronger, and more durable than wood. It will have a flat roof and will be about twenty-three feet high. The seating capacity will be about the same as the old house. We are not planning a large house, because we think best, when we overflow our seating capacity, to build in another part of town. In this more people can be reached than by trying to maintain one large congregation.

Our architect estimates that the house will cost about seven thousand dollars. The material saved from the old building is estimated at one thousand. We are going to build by day labor, and hope thereby to save something. We have some of the material on the ground, but as yet are unable to start the work, because we have not yet been able to procure brick and sand for the foundation.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

TETTERINE

Clears Baby's Skin

and drives off the rash and pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

PELLAGRA

FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated auccessfully at home. Sent in plain, scaled envelope. Write for yours to-day. Dept. F-29.

Dr. W. J. McCrary, Inc., Carbon Hill, Ala.

WHEN you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be as well as ever. There is nothing better.

Chamberlain's Tablets

What more passive than words? A breath! What very, very few words of ours rest with us! We forget them as soon as spoken; God does not forget them. They do God's work or Satan's work on others; they pass in act; they abide in effect.—E. B. Pressey.

To Prevent Influenza

Colds cause Grip and Influenza—LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets remove the cause. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on box. 30c.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of parmint (double strength), and add to it is pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the muous step dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists, or seent on receipt of price, 90 cents, by Chas, A. Smith Drug Co., Allanta, Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Volume LXII. No. 8.

NASHVILLE, TENN., FEBRUARY 19, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

EDIFYING AS THE NEED MAY BE 169	9
OUR CONTRIBUTORS	5
EDITORIAL 170	6
AT HOME AND ABROAD	i
RECORD-NEAL DEBATE	2
AMONG THE COLORED FOLKS 18: HOW MANY INTERESTED? 18:
ACKNOWLEDGMENT FROM LAKE CITY, FLA	5
BETTER SINGING IN THE WORSHIP 189	6
NOTES FROM SOUTHERN KENTUCKY
WINKLER-MALPHURS DEBATE 18

Edifying as the Need May Be

The High Cost of Living the Christian Life.

It is no uncommon sight to see a poster in a conspicuous place inviting young men to join the army or navy and exploiting the many educational and recreational advantages. Perhaps there is a fascinating picture of an attractive girl wearing a sailor's cap and blouse and a very winsome smile, or again it may be the picture of a dashing uniformed officer riding a fiery horse, or a patriotic appeal; but there is always the representation of good food, good pay, free services of physicians, and many other comforts. I have never seen one yet that went on to explain about the discomforts of the soldler's life; about drills, and guard duty, and kitchen police; about hardtack, pork and beans; about homesick boys; about danger and death. These things are invariably omitted. I have noticed that the boys who have seen service do not linger very lovingly before the posters. They only catch the green boys. The wise ones know that it is only a bit of camouflage; they know that the average soldier's life is not what it is cracked up to be.

Jesus Christ needs recruits for his army. He needs them badly. Things are now as when he walked upon the earth. "The fields are white unto the harvest, and the laborers are few." But Jesus Christ would have no one enlist under a false impression. He would have every one stop and count the cost. Once when Garibaldi's forces were utterly discouraged, he made this ringing appeal; "Soldiers! what I have to offer you is fatigue, danger, struggle, and death; the chill of the cold night in the open air, and heat under the burning sun; no lodges, no munitions, no provisions, but forced marches, dangerous watch posts, and the continual struggle with the bayonet against batteries. Those who love freedom and their country, follow me!" And the men did follow Garibaldi. They had been shown the cost of following, yet they responded as one man. In a still nobler spirit, and certainly in a still nobler cause, Jesus Christ always appeals to the heroic. He said: "Now there went with him great multitudes: and he turned, and said unto them, If any man cometh unto me, and hateth not his own father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. Whosoever doth not bear his own cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple. For which of you, desiring to build a tower, doth not first sit down and count the cost, whether he have wherewith to complete it? Lest haply, when he hath laid a foundation, and is not able to finish, all that behold begin to mock him, saying, This man began to build, and was not able to finish. Or what king, as he goeth to encounter another king in war, will not sit down first and take counsel whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand? Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and asketh conditions of peace. So therefore whosoever he be of you that renounceth not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple." (Luke 14: 25-33.) The pathway of the Christian life is no smooth, easy road. We have read of an express train being wrecked on its way to the Pacific Coast, and how the president of the railway company hurried forward and saw the engineer, who had remained faithful to the last, pinned under his engine, and heard the dying man repeating to himself these words: "I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." "Jim," said the president, with a broken voice-"Jim, I would be willing to give my life, with all that I have, for such faith as that." "Yes," said the dying man, "that is just what it costs." That is just what it cost Christ. That is just the price of discipleship. One must surrender all. Do not, then, fall to count the cost. Do not lightly say you will build your tower, acquire a Christian character, in the mistaken thought that it will build itself without effort on your part. Dr. Me-Laren expressed a great thought when he said: "The most expensive of all sorts of building is the building up of Christian character." The apostle Paul gives us the moral exhortation in a few well-chosen words: Be ready to "endure hardness, as a good soldier."

Jesus teaches that life, real life—the life of the soul, not the body—is of greatest value. And like all valuable things, it costs high; but it is worth the price. It cannot be gotten cheaply. For it one must pay self-denial, painful effort, worldly possession, even bodily life. He teaches as no one ever taught before "the soul's high cost of living." I have been reading a book on sociology which claims that the fundamental law of every psychic, and especially of everything that is affected by intelligence, is the law of parsimony. Briefly stated, the essence of this law is the greatest gain for the least effort. It means that everybody is trying to get all he can with just as little trouble and sacrifice as is possible. The author asserts that this is the universal law. He admits that there are individual exceptions determined by circumstances, but that most men are actuated by this motive. When Henry Clay said (if he did say it) that "every man has his price," he was but stating the law in a new form. I am not a sociologist, nor am I a Henry Clay, but I do not believe this doctrine. I repudiate it as unworthy of our race. Self-preservation is not uniformly nor universally the first law of nature. We had a striking refutation of this theory in the late war. There it was abundantly shown that saying one's life was not the first thing thought of in a crisis. When this war thrust millions into the most terrific crisis that had ever been known, the instinct for taking care of one's own safety proved to be neither first nor second, but very low and remote, among men's native impulses. Here is a fine lesson for Christian teachers to take account of. The old proverb about self-preservation and the sociologist's law of parsimony have been utterly exploded. People may no longer excuse moral ducking and dodging by calling it "natural." Other folks may call it "craven." Courage in its highest form is not a dare-devil delight in danger. The sensible soldier is not ashamed to be cautious when caution deducts nothing from his fidelity to duty; but he fairly hurls himself into danger when danger and duty confront him together. He will not be safe at the price of shirking. Just so Jesus teaches that it is folly to make the body safe and comfortable at the expense of the soul. Life is not a thing to be saved, but a thing to be spent. It is not a terrible loss to die, if the thing you spend your life for is worth the expenditure. Every man who thinks knows that he cannot save his earthly life in any broad and final sense, anyhow. A piece of it is lost to him every minute. The time is coming when it will all be gone. The task of the church, therefore, is not to convince men that life must be spent. They are spending it everywhere and constantly -spending it foolishly, recklessly, aimlessly, resultlessly. They are spending it in winter resorts and summer resorts; they are spending it in idleness, in leisure, in playing, in gambling, and in riotousness. The tremendous task of the church is to arrest the blind, silly, passionate waste of life and persuade men of a more profitable outlay. It is right and proper to consider the cost of living the Christian life, but it is none the less imperative to consider the cost of not living the Christian life.

But Jesus invites us to consider the loss that is all gain. "Whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it." If the spirit of the Christian life were merely self-renunciation, there would not be any great difference between It and Hinduism, Buddhism, and other religions which teach renunciation in a more exacting form-where men hold their hands clasped until the finger nails grow through them, and where they make beds of spikes and lie upon them. We should never be one-sided in our appropriation of our Savior's teachings. It is historically true that great religions have been built upon a false interpretation of a single passage of scripture. The machinery of Catholicism was built on a false interpretation of Matt. 16: 16. Monasticism, with its caves and monasteries, was built upon a false interpretation of the Savior's command to the rich young ruler: "Go and sell all that thou hast, and give it to the poor; and come, follow me." Now, this passage before us teaches not only the loss of one life, but the gain of another. It is the laying down of life for the sake of the harvest. It is the grain of wheat falling into the ground to die in order that it may not abide alone. It is the lower life surrendered for the higher. If more than a hundred years ago we could have stood beside that little cot in that solitary hut in the heart of Africa where a white man, David Livingstone, was dying alone, except for the black servants who peered in occasionally to see if he needed them, and who, when they did come in to wake him, found him dead upon his knees, do you think we would have found him complaining of losing his life as the candle burned low beside his bed in that solitude? To be sure, he had lost his life—one of his lives—in that wilderness; but he had found another, a life which spread through Africa, which abides still in Africa, and which molded the world's thought of her darkest continent.

There are, then, two questions that we need to consider.

(1) What is the cost of living the Christian life? (2) What is the cost of not living the Christian life? And when we have pondered them, there is the one supreme question: "Is it well with my soul?"

Book Reviews.

"Adventism and the Bible." By J. Henry Monk. Published by the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25.

The author begins his work with a brief but succinct history of Adventism in the United States, tracing it from its founder, William Miller, to the present time, giving the work of Snow, Starrs, White, Howland, and pays special attention to the vagaries and vaticinations of Mrs. E. G. White. He shows the union of Adventism and Seventhdayism under the teaching of Joseph Bates in 1846 A.D. He then discusses "the law" in a most illuminative and elucidative way. His analysis of "the law" and its relation to the new covenant is the most complete that I have ever seen. He next discusses the Decalogue, and proves most conclusively that it is "neither perfect in character, eternal in duration, universal in application, nor unalterable in nature." Then follows a review of the Lord's day in both sacred and profane history. He closes with an analysis of the Apocalypse" which may or may not be correct-I don't know which-but it has little or no relevancy to his main contention and could have been omitted from the book without weakening the work. To use an illustration from my boyhood days, Seventh-Day Adventism reminds me very much of the trail of a fox. It has certain "corners," "doubles," "side leaps," and "takings to fences and streams." To follow up the illustration, the author struck "the scent" on the first page and followed it with inerrant accuracy to "the death." He answers every argument and demolishes every position held by the cult. He does so with remarkable clearness, because he has run the course for many years "as a fox," having been a preacher of Seventh-Day Adventism himself. The great weakness of the system is that it reverses a well-known principle of interpretation which requires us to reach the controvertible through the incontrovertible. This system begins with the controvertible and attempts thus to reach the inconvertible. I have nowhere seen so compact and well-arranged statement of the subject; moreover, the author presents it in a pleasing literary style, and altogether it is a book well worth while. It should be in the hands of every one who has to deal with Seventh-Day Adventism either as a body or with Advent views among the members of other bodies. Z. T. SWEENEY.

"Adventism and the Bible." By J. H. Monk. McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25.

The author of this book is a graduate of a Seventh-Day Adventist college and was for two years a pastor of an Adventist church. In this book he takes up the biblical grounds for the claims of the Adventists and answers these claims by the Bible, showing that the Adventists are in error. We know of no other book like it. Those who wish to know what the Adventists teach and how to answer their teaching would do well to secure a copy of this book.—Christian Advocate.

Our Contributors

Is There a Dearth of Preachers?

BY C. E. HOLT.

Some say that preachers are scarce, that fewer men are giving their entire time to the work than in former years. This may be true. I have not the data from which to decide. But I know there are large sections in which no preachers whom we would recognize are in evidence. They are conspicuous by their absence. In many regions their voice is not heard. In some of the towns and cities, such as Florence, Ala., and Nashville, Tenn., there are some few congregations that employ preachers to preach for them all of their time. Brethren from country churches have drifted to the towns and cities, thus strengthening the city churches, while the country churches are gradually disappearing. Many preachers see these facts and flock to the cities and avoid the country.

Our first churches were built up in the country by country preachers, and they all had country ways and customs which would not be tolerated in the cities. In former years the majority of our preachers avoided the cities; now they are in search of city churches. It is no trouble to get a man to locate with a city church if the support is adequate. It is true that some people who are members of city churches are quite hard to please, so far as the "ministerial accessories" are concerned. They no longer inquire if a man preaches the gospel, but they are interested in the "style" in which it is preached. "Is he a good mixer?" "Is he jolly?" "Does he visit all the members?" "Does he go to baseball?" "Is he popular with the other churches?" These and a number of other like questions are heard when an up-to-date church is on the 'lookout" for a "minister."

Gospel preachers of the best quality and of the best qualifications always have been scarce, and perhaps always will be. I accuse the churches, the majority of them, for present conditions in regard to the lack of preachers both in number and efficiency. It is easy to throw the blame and responsibility for every mistake on other shoulders than our own. But I submit the proof in support of the charge thus made.

The proof is the undeniable fact that preachers who are engaged in secular work which pays them a wage or salary sufficient for their living are sought after by the churches to do their preaching. These preachers whose secular business secures them a living are glad to do all the preaching they can do without interference with their regular business and take whatever amount the churches are willing to give. This is very hard on the preachers who give all their time to preaching the gospel. Some preachers teach school at a good salary and preach for different congregations on Sundays. Some farm or sell goods or follow some other lucrative business, and preach for well-to-do congregations on Lord's days for a small amount, as they can well afford to do it. The churches soon come to feel that preachers who devote their whole time to the work should preach for the same amount for which the preachers of the former class preach.

"But," you ask, "cannot the farmer-preacher, the merchant-preacher, the school-teacher-preacher, and other preachers who follow secular pursuits, do acceptable preaching?" Yes, sir; many of them are fine preachers, according to our standard of preaching. I do not attack or question the ability of those preachers. But my point is, they give no time to preaching that can be otherwise used. Do you get my point? The time they use is what we usually term "spare time." Their preaching in no sense interferes with their secular business. They finish their week's work at the week's end, and Monday morning finds them back at their regular business. In one of the best cities of the Lone Star State I conducted a very successful meeting. One Monday morning a business preacher said to me: "Brother Holt, I preached to a fine audience yesterday at ——. They think they are not able to pay much for preaching, although they have a great deal of wealth among them, and they have employed me to preach for them once a month. They pay me only fifteen dollars a trip. They are well able to support a man for all of his time." My reply, in substance, was: "If you and others would stop helping them to be stingy, they might do what you say they are well able to do."

Complaints are frequent in our papers and among our people that few young men are preparing themselves to preach. This complaint is well founded. Great men among us are fast disappearing. Men of experience and men of superior ability are no longer in demand. In everything else in this world ability and experience counts. Among us, so far as preaching is concerned, it counts for nothing. Do you wonder that young men hesitate to prepare themselves for preaching, so as to give their whole time and talent and life to the work? We are the only people on earth, except the Primitive Baptists, that follow this very unscriptural method. In another article on this theme I shall show the unscripturalness of the method herein criticized.

More Light on the Church and the Kingdom.

BY JAMES E. SCOBEY,

I wish to say a few things more in reference to the kingdom and the church, since reading in the Gospel Advocate some statements made by Brethren Hall and Srygley. The latter criticizes Brother Dallas Smith because he does not know whether the kingdom of heaven and the church are one and the same institution. I suppose Brother Smith cannot find the chapter and verse which says they are. Neither can Brother Srygley. But Brother Srygley is firmly convinced that the church and kingdom is one. Brother Hall, in referring to my article which Brother Dallas Smith criticized for want of scriptural proof, simply says that Brother Scobey is mistaken. I fail to be convinced that I am mistaken because my good brother says so. In what follows I give scriptures and the reasons for my position on the subject. If I have made a statement contradicting the Scriptures, and it is pointed out to me, I will most cheerfully withdraw it. Now please read what I have to

If the kingdom of heaven mentioned in the Scriptures and the church spoken of there are one and the same institution, then they must have the same characteristics-that is, whatever is affirmed of the one in the Scriptures may also be affirmed of the other. If not, why not? It seems to me, if the church is the kingdom of heaven, then only those who are members of the church are in the kingdom and are to be finally saved. It is said that Jesus shall reign in his kingdom until he shall put all enemies under his feet, and then he will deliver up the kingdom [church?] to God, even the Father. (1 Cor. 15.) God promised to give Jesus a kingdom. If he did, the kingdom must have been in existence when it was bestowed. God had a spiritual kingdom, and he promised it to, and bestowed it upon, his Son, Jesus Christ; and his reign began on the day of Pentecost; and that is the time when God "set up" the kingdom Daniel prophesied he would bestow on Jesus. (Dan. 2: 44.) It came with power, as evidenced by the wonderful, supernatural manifestations of power observed on that occasion.

If the church is the kingdom, then the prophecy of the angel to Mary, as recorded in Luke 1: 31-33, will hardly apply. "Thou . . . shalt call his name Jesus. . . . And the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David; and he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end." I cannot by any stretch of imagination see how this language can be applied simply to the church as we see it to-day. The church will end.

God raised Jesus from the dead "and set him at his own right hand, . . . far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church, which is his body." (Eph. 1: 20-23.) So far as church work and worship are concerned, he is the "yea" and the "amen."

Jesus Christ is "King of kings, and Lord of lords." God's spiritual kingdom embraces all who had died in covenant relation with God, as well as all others living in harmony with his laws, whose sins have been blotted out of God's book of remembrance by the blood of Jesus. All these became the possession of Christ when he received the kingdom from the Father. All the saved, both the living and the dead, belong to the kingdom of heaven. Jesus said the kingdom of heaven was of such as the infants, or little children. Jesus came to save the lost—sinners.

I hear brethren and others talking about the time when, and the place where, Jesus "set up" the kingdom. Jesus "set up" no kingdom. He received a kingdom. There is no such expression in the book, the New Testament, as setting up a kingdom, nor of setting up a church. Neither did Christ establish a church or a kingdom. I find in the Book no such language, and, therefore, no such thought, save from the language of those who discuss the questions of the "establishment" or "setting up" the church or kingdom with the Baptists. Christ said he would build his church, and he did, on the day of Pentecost, put together the prepared material and formed a glorious church. He is still building into the church lively stones, men and women prepared by being translated out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of God's dear Son.

Christ's kingdom embraces more than the church. The church is a part of God's family. There are other thousands who have lived in some of the churches, but are no longer in them; they have passed away, but still are the possession of the Christ and are members of his kingdom, and entitled to all the honors and glories belonging to the heavenly kingdom above.

No man can be in the church until he is in the kingdom. To get into the kingdom now, a sinner, under the law of the Spirit, must be born again. Jesus stated the law when he said to Nicodemus: "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of heaven," Every one in the kingdom, or entering it, becomes a member of the body, the church, which Jesus has ordained as an institution to train the subjects of his kingdom for service in enlisting others to become citizens of the kingdom. The church is the active, energetic, living workers in the kingdom and patience of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The church is for time and time things. It belongs to the living, or, rather, the living belongs to it. I do not read of an eternal church, nor of an everlasting church, nor of a church that shall have no end; but I do read of a kingdom with those characteristics and with still others that cannot be applied to the church.

The church is a part of the kingdom, and an important part to all of us who are living now; for in it and through it we are to be prepared for a better inheritance than this world can afford. Christ did not build the church to save Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; and yet it is stated: "Many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 8: 11.) It seems to me quite plain that these great and worthy men, while in the kingdom, never were, and are not now, in the church of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Now, if all the faithful dead, who lived before Christ built his church, are in the kingdom, then how can it be concluded that the church and the kingdom are one and the same institution? The church is in the kingdom, and every member of the church is in the kingdom; and all who have faithfully lived the Christian life and have died in the Lord are still in the kingdom, but do not belong to the church—are not members of the congregations, or churches.

It seems to me that many of our preaching brethren have been so much engrossed in discussing the question of setting up the kingdom and establishing the church, endeavoring to show that both took place at the same time and at the same place, that they have come to believe that the kingdom and church are just one thing, or identical.

Without prejudice or prepossession hear all things, and hold fast to that which is true; and nothing is true on any spiritual subject but what the Book teaches.

Now, I confess, as I have confessed, I cannot give chapter and verse stating that the kingdom and church are not the same institution; neither can my brethren give chapter and verse stating that they are. My belief is derived by inferences from all that is said that I have read in the Scriptures. I leave the matter with the firm conviction that most readers who will study closely the inferences I have drawn will be able to form just conclusions as to whether I am mistaken.

Preachers' Meeting at Mount Pleasant. BY C. S. AUSTIN.

At the church of Christ, Mount Pleasant, Tenn., beginning on the third Sunday in March, will be held a preachers' meeting. It will continue until Friday night following the third Sunday. Two sessions will be held each day—at 11 A.M. and 8 P.M. The invitation is hereby extended to all the preachers of the church of Christ in reach of Mount Pleasant to be present and participate in the programs. Entertainment in Christian homes will be provided for all who come. We would be glad, however, for those who intend to be with us to write in advance, so arrangements as definite as possible may be made.

It is hoped that the preaching brethren of this section will respond and that a goodly number may be present. The aim of the congregation here in an effort of this kind is (1) to get acquainted with those who are at present the leaders of New Testament Christianity in this section; (2) to cultivate a spirit of cooperation and brotherly kindness among the congregations represented; and (3) to get some inspiration and encouragement locally. Association and communication among those interested in the same great cause cannot be otherwise than helpful. The problems, temptations, and general workings of all our congregations are very similar, and we can find encouragement by holding counsel together. A closer cooperation of God's people, especially at this time, seems not only beneficial, but absolutely necessary. There is nothing intended in the way of binding anything on anybody or any congregation. Nothing authoritative or binding on any congregation or individual will be done. It will simply be a meeting of preachers and others interested for the purpose of giving and getting encouragement and advice in the great work of the kingdom of Christ.

The programs will consist of prayers, talks, sermons, etc., interspersed with good spiritual songs. The brethren who will be expected to take a prominent part in the discussions will be notified and the subjects assigned, so special preparation can be made. We expect to have in the course of the meeting some three or four strong sermons preached by our able brethren. We shall have also short talks and discussions on the practical and everyday problems of the church. One-half day during the week will be spent in showing the visiting preachers some of the splendid country around Mount Pleasant. We want every one who comes to enjoy the time with us and carry back some enthusiasm to his home congregation.

The social feature of this kind of a meeting is perhaps its greatest good. I have attended a number of religious discussions in the past. Of course, it was a matter of supreme satisfaction to me to witness a defense of the truth, to see an able man with "the sword of the Spirit" put to silence and to shame the false doctrines of men; but the greatest good that ever came to me from attending a discussion of this kind was the association of the preachers. It is like a big family reunion. I wish we had more opportunities of friendly and fraternal intercourse. The deliberations of kindred spirits, with mutual desires, aims, and hopes, give courage and strength in life's hardest battles.

While this meeting is called a preachers' meeting, any others who desire to come will be welcome. I would be glad if we could have present the elders and leaders of many of the congregations. I would be especially pleased if each of the twenty-six congregations of Christians in Maury County would have a representative here. Come along and spend the week with us. Do not forget to write me in advance, so you will have a home prepared and will be met at the train when you arrive.

Relief Fund.

Church at Lavergne, Tenn$15.	80
Mrs. M. C. Green, Demorest, Ga 2.
Mrs. Ellen Ramsey, Hillsboro, Tenn 2.	00
Friends at Selma, Ala., by Mrs. Pierson Cosby 47.	50
Mrs. S. J. Merritt, Match, Tenn	00
Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ramsey, Henryetta, Okla 10.
W. M. Pearson, Bells, Tenn 5.
M. M. Combs, Prairie Grove, Ark 5.	00
Janie Stout, Stockdale, Texas 2.	00
Class No. 2, church at Russellville, Ala 6.	00
R. Hill, Atlanta, Ga 2.	50
A. O. Ring, Jefferson City, Tenn 1.	00
Clara Whitfield, Coxburg, Tenn, 4.	50
Church at Kettle Mills, Tenn	86
L. H. Havill, Norman, Okla 5.

A housekeeper supervising hundreds of servants, a school superintendent under whose watchful care thousands of young minds are being prepared for the future, a Sunday school numbering over 41,200 little ones in its folds, a workshop where 82,291 persons are happily employed, a hospital ministering to numberless sick and afflicted, a home of refuge for over a thousand girls whose lives have been blighted—in a word, the Near East Relief, at work in those districts of Armenia, Syria, the wind-swept Caucasus, where the Turk has had his cruel will.

"Just what is this Near East Relief?" is a question that many people are asking, whose interests have been awakened to the terrible conditions existing in Turkey to-day. In prosaic facts, the Near East Relief is a body incorporated by Act of Congress the object of which is "to provide relief and to assist in the repatriation, rehabilitation, and reestablishment of suffering and dependent people of the Near East and adjacent areas; to provide for the care of orphans and widows and to promote the social, economic, and industrial welfare of those who have been rendered destitute, or dependent directly or indirectly, by the vicissitudes of war, the cruelties of men, or other causes beyond their control."

The aim of the organization is one hundred per cent relief, the relief which puts those aided on a self-supporting basis, which instills in them a confidence for the future, places in their hands the means with which to begin life anew and in their hearts the courage to go on. Work—that is the prescription subscribed and provided by those loyal men and women who have journeyed into perilous places for the sake of their fellow-men. To make these people independent for the future, to encourage the flickering fire of national pride, is the aim.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

A New Brand of Infidelity. BY WILL W. SLATER.

J. F. Rutherford, president of the "International Bible Students' Association," was in Fort Smith, Ark., recently and lectured at the Labor Hall. It will be remembered that he took the place of Charles T. Russell after Russell died. He was in prison a few months last year, charged with sedition. Among other things, he stated that the world came to an end in 1914. He also stated that 1925 would mark the beginning of Christ's kingdom or reign here on earth; that the "Golden Age" would enter in then, and all labor troubles, restlessness, greed, graft, sin, etc., would be banished from the earth; and that we would have no courts, no laws, and no government, save that of Christ. He also says that there are millions of people on the earth now that will never die, but will be alive when Christ comes, and that all the dead will be raised, and then they will have an opportunity to repent and be saved eternally. He said that God told his people, when they entered the land of Canaan, that they must rest their land every seventh year, that every fiftieth year was to be a jubilee year, and that there were to be seventy of these jubilee years before the kingdom should come, or before Christ should return, at which time the restitution of all things would take place. He said that God's people entered the land of Canaan in the year 1575 B.C., and seventy jubilee years, or a period of thirty-five hundred years, would bring us down to 1925 A.D. At that time, he said, Christ will come, the kingdom will be established, and the one-thousand-year reign will set in.

A Study of Billy Sunday. No. 2. BY R. N. MOODY.

In common with all modern revivalists, Mr. Sunday teaches that after one "hits the trail," or, to use a more decent phrase, is converted, he has the right to join any church he may choose, a right to be of whatever faith he may choose. This is, of course, based on the hypothesis that one church is as good as another and that the divided state of the religious world is right. This compromise attitude meets the demands of public sentiment and accounts largely for his great popularity. But let us see if it meets the demands of God's word.

Jesus said: "Upon this rock I will build my church [not "churches"]." (Matt. 16: 13-20.) Paul said: "And gave him [Christ] to be head over all things to the church, which is his body." (See Eph. 1: 20-23.) Again, he said: "For he is our peace, who made both one, and brake down the middle wall of partition, having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; that he might create in himself of the two one new man, so making peace; and might reconcile them both in one body unto God through the cross, having slain the enmity thereby." (Eph. 2: 14-16.) Here we see that Jesus gave his life on the cross that he might destroy the enmity between the Jew and the Gentile and reconcile them both in one body unto God. Again, he says: "I therefore, the prisoner in the Lord, beseech you to walk worthily of the calling wherewith ye were called, with all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love; giving diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body, and one Spirit, even as also ye were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all, and in all." (Eph. 4: 1-6.) Again, he says: "For the husband is the head of the wife, as Christ also is the head of the church, being himself the savior of the body. But as the church is subject to Christ, so let the wives also be to their husbands in everything. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself up for it; that he might sanctify it, having cleansed it by the washing of water with the word, that he might present the church to himself a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing; but that it should be hely and without blemish." (Eph. 5: 23-27.)

The foregoing scriptures, with others that might be cited, speak of the church in the singular number, showing us that Jesus established only one church. This church being, necessarily, divided into local congregations, we read of them as "churches," which is the only sense in which we read of more than one church in the New Testament.

We are told that the conflicting denominations of the world are so many different branches of the church. Let us see if God so intended.

On the night Jesus was betrayed, he offered up the prayer recorded in the seventeenth chapter of John. After praying for his apostles, he looked down through the cycles of time and included in his petition all believers to the end of time, saying: "Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be in us: that the world may believe that thou didst send me." (John 17: 20, 21.) Most assuredly this prayer is in harmony with the will of the Father; and he who teaches so as to justify or encourage the divided state of the world, as it now is, is out of harmony with his will and disrespects the prayer of Jesus.

Paul said: "Now I beseech you, brethren, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment." (1 Cor. 1: 10.) Again, he says: "And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, as unto babes in Christ. . . . For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you jealousy and strife, are ye not carnal, and do ye not walk after the manner of men? For when one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not men?" (1 Cor. 3: 1-4.) Again. he says: "For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, being many, are one body; so also is Christ. For in one Spirit were we all baptized into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether bond or free; and were all made to drink of one Spirit." (1 Cor. 12: 12, 13.) It cannot be said of Mr. Sunday's converts that they were all baptized into one body; for, if ever baptized at all, they are baptized into whatever church they may choose, hence into different bodies, and can, therefore, have no fellowship one with another. So we know that the Spirit of which Paul spoke is not the one that works in Mr. Sunday's meetings.

These scriptures show us that Jesus established one church; that there is one Spirit to dwell in it, and one Lord over it, one faith, one baptism, and one God and Father. So it is certain that all God's children believe the same thing, are the same thing, and belong to the same thing.

Last, but not least, by any means, is Mr. Sunday's and the whole denominational world's attitude toward the Lord's Supper. The Scriptures, as well as contemporaneous historians, show that the early Christians met on the first day of the week to break bread. Instead of this, those who make up the denominational world observe the Lord's Supper only as their creeds direct, and are not very careful about that. I dare say that in all the five Lord's days that Mr. Sunday recently spent in Chattanooga the Lord's Supper was not observed a single time. It is exceedingly doubtful whether it was ever observed a single time in all of the many meetings he has held.

Many may insist that his preaching is a moral uplift to a community, and perhaps he does induce some to live better lives morally, but at the same time he sets aside the plan of salvation taught by Jesus and his apostles and deceives the people by making them think they are saved by some other process called "hitting the trail." He leaves people thinking a human denomination is as good as the blood-bought church of Christ; that partyism among Christians is right; and that the Lord's Supper is an unimportant thing; and this more than offsets all the moral good he may do. For over forty years I have been preaching the gospel as best I could, and have found by disappointing experience that the influence of such preaching as Mr. Sunday and the whole denominational fraternity are doing is one of the greatest obstacles to be encountered in preaching the gospel as taught in the New Testament.

"Adventism and the Bible."

BY F. W. SMITH.

"Adventism and the Bible" is a book of two hundred and fifty-one pages from the pen of J. Henry Monk, who for eight years believed and taught the doctrine of Seventh-Day Adventists. Mr. Monk is a graduate from the Southwestern Junior College, Keene, Texas, which is an Adventist school. He is well educated and has had every opportunity to study and know the doctrine of Seventh-Day Adventists. book is written in an easy and fluent style, interesting from start to finish. He early convinces the reader that he has his subject well in hand, and that he not only knows what he is writing about, but that he speaks from profound conviction. It is one of the best expositions of the false doctrine advocated by the sect known as "Seventh-Day Adventists" that has come to my notice, and the author deserves the thanks of the public for bringing forth such a needed volume. Adventism is a mixture of Judaism and Christianity, with the former element predominating. They are an untiring, zealous, bold, and arrogant sect, who deceive many uninformed men and women on the Bible, and should be exposed wherever they are. With the exception of the chapter on the book of Revelation, I believe the book to be sound in its teaching. While he claims the book of Revelation is no puzzle, to my mind, his effort at exposition does not make it clear that it is not a puzzle. Mr. Monk's book is a most complete refutation of their teaching and should be in every home. The book is from the press of the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn., and its mechanical make-up is in keeping with the finished work of that well-known establishment. It is cloth-bound, and sells for $1.25 per copy. Send for one at once.

Lecture Week at Abilene Christian College.

The annual week of lectures will be given in Abilene Christian College, February 23-28. The series will be given this year by Brother M. C. Kurfees, of the Gospel Advocate staff. All in two or three hundred miles of Abilene can well afford to come just to hear him in his series on fundamental matters of the Restoration movement. There will also be eight or ten other lectures by as many men. The subjects will be announced later, but they are of vital interest and timely.

Lectures of last year are now available in book form, published by the Christian Leader, Cincinnati, Ohio. This series will also be put in book form. W. W. FREEMAN.

Training Little Children

By ELLEN EDDY SHAW

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

Our All-the-Year-Round Garden Family.

The best-behaved fall-garden child I know is Daffodil, and next to her is her little brother, Jonquil. Sometimes great, big, fat Hyacinth behaves; but small, brown-coated, smooth-looking, long-nosed Daffodil is quite the nicest. So buy a few daffodil and jonquil bulbs and get acquainted with these two good children.

Notice particularly how similar little Jonquil's coat and nose are to his sister's.

I would let our new friends stay on the table for several days before I planted them, so that we might get to know them by sight and by name—as we learn to know real flesh-and-blood children. But I would be very careful to place these little comrades so that the rounded part or base was down and the pointed face sticking up, and I would never squeeze their noses.

By and by the day will come when Jonquil and Daffodil must be planted. There are several ways of doing this. Suppose we use a glass jar first. It may be a little fern bowl, like the one in which partridge berries are sometimes planted. We fill the bowl almost full of fine, white sand; and if we have no sand, we take some baskets, or our little carts, and go to a house that is being built and ask the builder if he will give us just a little sand for our garden. In this bowlful of sand we plant our daffodil or our jonquil bulbs. They must nestle down so that only a little bit of their noses stick out. Two bulbs must never touch each other. They would not be comfortable that way. Two little girls would not like to sit so close to each other at the breakfast table that neither one could move. We must always make our plant children as comfortable as we are ourselves.

Next, give the bulbs a big enough drink to soak the sand thoroughly, but not enough to have water standing on the surface. Now put the bowl away in the dark. The place does not have to be cool, but every little while the sand should be moistened.

In about ten days or two weeks—lo, and behold!—you will notice long, white roots struggling all around and through the sand close to the glass where you can see them, and the noses have put forth some white leaflike shoots. It is now time to bring our little garden to the light. Then in just a few days a miracle takes place. The roots have shot back into the sand; they do not like the light, and want always to remain cool and covered. The noses have turned green; and within about three weeks Daffodil and Jonquil blossom.

Sometimes, instead of using the sand, place some small stones in a low, pretty bowl, and arrange the bulbs on top of them. This bowl should be put away in the dark for about ten days or two weeks and then brought out into the light. There should always be enough water to touch the base of the bulbs, but never to come around them. This, you see, is just the way we start Chinese lily bulbs; but Daffodil behaves better than the Chinese lilies, because her blossoms rarely blast.

If you like, Daffodil and Jonquil may also be planted in a pot or soil. Even so, leave their noses sticking out, and you must put them in a dark, cold place for five or six weeks. It is better, I think, to use the sand or the stones with Daffodil and Jonquil, because then you do not have to wait so long for them.

After you have planted your first two or three daffodils and find out just how long it takes in your home for them to blossom, you could start some for father's birthday, timing them just right. Of course, it is understood that father will be kind enough to have a birthday this fall. If he will not, then mother or grandmother or baby surely will. I cannot imagine a family without at least one birthday in the fall or early winter.

To the parent: Just what does a child get out of this little garden? One lesson is a lesson of observation, and another is one of care—careful handling, careful planting, and careful watering. The greatest lesson is the lesson of life. How out of something apparently lifeless there springs into being something living, beautiful, and sweet! It is a great revelation to any one, young or old, to handle life and to be able to produce something living; to care for it, and to make it comfortable and happy; and then you can have such fun planting bulbs! Make a ceremony over it. Fuss about it a little. Use your imagination. Make a picture of the ugly little brown bulb, and, later, another of the child which comes from it.

Of course, there are other bulbs one may plant; but I am choosing two perfectly satisfactory, absolutely responsible ones. I believe that in work with very little children one should rarely choose what may be a failure. So, in our all-the-year round garden we pick our successes. Do not forget the names of our fall children—"Daffodil" and her little brother, "Jonquil."

$ $ $

A Little Sermon on Little Sins.

Henry M. Stanley tells that when he was passing through the forests of Africa the most formidable foes he encountered, those that caused the greatest loss of life to his caravan and came near defeating his expedition, were the Wambutti dwarfs. These diminutive men had only little bows and arrows for weapons, so small that they looked like children's playthings; but upon the tip of each tiny arrow was a drop of poison, which would kill an elephant or a man as surely and quickly as a rifle. Their defense was by means of poison and traps. They would steal through the dense forest, and, waiting in ambush, let fly their arrows before they could be discovered. They dug ditches and carefully covered them over with sticks and leaves. They fixed spikes in the ground and tipped them with poison. Into these ditches and on these spikes man and beast would fall or step to their death. One of the strangest things about it was that their poison was made of honey. It is thus that Satan wages his destructive warfare against God's people. Stealthily, under cover of darkness, by treachery, with weapons seemingly harmless, through the sweets of life, he comes clothed as "an angel of light." Yet how deadly are the little honey-coated sins which he administers, how sure the destruction of him who is deceived into wandering from the straight and narrow path!-New York Observer.

0 0 0

A gardener had a rosebush that he valued highly. There came a severe storm and broke off five of its branches. But one branch was left, and the gardener found that it was alive. "It will grow a new bush," he said, "from that stem." That is a symbol of what love does for a lost man. It takes what is left of him, the remnant, and by the grace of God makes a new man of him.—Selected.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order. When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is malled regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask your postmester to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.

Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

J. N. Armstrong's "Challenge" and More on the League of Nations.

BY M. C. K.

In an article in the Gospel Herald of January 22, 1920, written by Brother J. N. Armstrong and headed, "Brother Kurfees' Charge Against Some Preachers," he quotes from an editorial in this journal the following paragraph:

It is certainly an unenviable disposition to be ready to criticize when there is something to blame, and then to say nothing when there is something to praise. On the ground that their consciences compelled it, some preachers in Kentucky and elsewhere got themselves into trouble by criticizing the government for going into war; and yet, so far as we know, not a word of encouragement for the League of Nations to preserve peace has been spoken by this class. Think of it! Men on conscientious grounds criticize the government for going into the war, and then when the government is trying with other governments to effect an arrangement to prevent war, they have not a word to say! Consistency, thou art a jewel! If for any reason such men during the war appeared to government officials as inconsistent, as this course makes them appear now, it is not surprising that their "conscientiousness" sometimes failed to impress the government.

Then, among other things, he says:

Brother Kurfees here lays a serious charge at the door of "some preachers in Kentucky and elsewhere." preachers, whoever they be, are guilty of the things here charged, they did a wrong against the government and, in their effort to occupy the Christian's position relative to the governments of the world, failed. . . While I mean to be respectful to Brother Kurfees, at the same time I challenge the charge and call for the proof.

First of all, just a little common-sense reflection is enough to show, as every properly thoughtful person knows, that the reference to "some preachers" in the editorial in question was not of a character to make the mention of names necessary in order to protect innocent preachers, nor to make the omission of them an improper reflection upon the innocent. I am not in the habit of writing as I wrote in this instance until I know what I am writing; but the glaring inconsistency of "some preachers in Kentucky and elsewhere," since the beginning of friction and disturbance in some of the churches over the very unnecessary and pernicious agitation of speculative doctrines, is wholly unaccountable on any ground whatever that would seem to be the proper ground on which to estimate preachers. Even here the mention of names is not necessary in order to prevent improper reflection upon the innocent, but, nevertheless, I gladly mention Brother J. N. Armstrong as a conspicuous example. Indeed, not only is he an example of inconsistency in this case, but there seems to be something extraordinarily peculiar and significant about this particular call for proof which makes it signally proper to decline to gratify his curiosity. For instance, what strange motive could lead him to single out this one little paragraph in one little editorial because it referred to "some preachers" without giving their names as "criticizing the government for going into war," and to pass over and pay no attention to numerous other paragraphs in numerous other editorials which, without giving their names, have freely and conspicuously referred to the war record of "some preachers" and charged them with doing vastly worse things than "criticizing the government for going into war?" For example, in a strong and vigorous article by my faithful colleague on the Advocate editorial staff, the very unbecoming and wicked conduct of "some preachers" during the war is thus justly and properly referred to without giving their names: "All able-bodied brethren, and especially preachers, who urged the tender boys to go, ridiculed the conscientious convictions of these boys, and called them 'slackers' and 'unpatriotic,' etc., should have volunteered to lead the way to the trenches, even if they were past thirty-one years of age." Without occupying space with all the charges that have been made against "some preachers," in another equally strong and true editorial, "some preachers," without giving their names, are thus charged: "While the enlightened nations of the earth call for some sort of peace league . . . they are enlarging their navies, manufacturing munitions of war, cultivating the military spirit by turning schools into military training institutions, and talking of compulsory military training for boys. And not a few preachers are whooping them up." And "these many preachers," whose unchristian and wicked conduct is thus referred to without giving their names, are "of various denominations and some of no denomination."

Now, anybody who understands such matters at all knows that it is a far more terrible reflection upon the character and good sense of preachers to charge them with "whooping up" the nations in the awful and most regrettable work of "enlarging their navies, manufacturing munitions of war, cultivating the military spirit by turning schools into military training institutions, and talking compulsory military training for boys," than it is to charge them with "criticizing the government for going into war;" and yet, here is a brother who, by the latter, is so convulsed and stirred with emotion and tender solicitude for the reputation of preachers that, herolike, he rushes into print with a "challenge" to protect them, but by the more shocking, terrible, and wicked things charged against them he is not moved in the least, remains perfectly quiet and meek as a lamb, and "not a wave of trouble rolls across his peaceful breast."

The truth of the matter is, the charges in both cases can be truthfully and properly made either with or without giving names, and no preacher, who has properly behaved himself on both lines, or has made a consistent effort to do so, is injured by anything that is said in either case. It is freely granted here that it is not always the easiest thing, in certain emergencies, to know just what duty requires, and sometimes equally loyal men differ, There are, indeed, critical moments, in times of war, when it is difficult for the very best and truest of them to maintain the precise balance between speech and silence demanded by the law of expediency, and on this point they have not always During the recent horrible war the management of the Gospel Advocate strove, and I think it succeeded in its effort, to maintain loyalty to God, but in doing so to be "wise as serpents and harmless as doves."

Let it be observed here that one of the most common weaknesses of men in the realm of reasoning, liable to show itself in any of us If we are not very careful, is the adoption of incorrect premises leading to incorrect conclusions, or the deduction of incorrect conclusions from correct premises. Some men, including some preachers, have not a very high opinion of the value and importance of the study of logic as a science; but such a study properly prosecuted, especially by preachers, would not only be otherwise helpful, but it would save them from ever making certain criticisms in which, without such help, they are in the habit of indulging with painful freedom and frequency. In illustration of this truth, we may observe the fact that, because many faithful preachers have pleaded earnestly for the adoption of the Versailles League of Nations, to emphasize the importance of which the paragraph quoted in the Gospel Herald was written, the conclusion has been drawn that they have either turned aside from God's league of peace or that they are guilty of invidious comparisons of it with the Versailles League. This is wide of the mark. I do not here engage to speak for other defenders of the League, but I speak for myself when I say that I have never said anything nor thought anything that necessitated such a conclusion. The Versailles League of Peace is not only not God's league of peace, nor the peace in its fullness proclaimed by the angels to the shepherds on the plains of Bethlehem, but it is very far from it. However, it is a peace vastly nearer and much more like God's league of peace than the horrible international maelstrom of blood and carnage into which the nations were so ruthlessly and sadly plunged a few years ago. Moreover, if the nations will maintain even that sort of peace instead of war, it will afford an opportunity to present not only the Christian attitude toward war, but all the claims of the Prince of Peace, which it is impossible to present, with propriety, when the people are in the frenzy of excitement and commotion attendant upon the prosecution of war; and here again the incorrect conclusion is drawn that this means a surrender of the Christian attitude toward war in time of war, but it has no such meaning to those who know the proper connection and relation between premise and conclusion.

If, concerning faithful preachers who merely tried to be prudent and to act as demanded by the law of expediency during the war, our government at Washington had held a council, as was done in the case of Peter and John—an example which has often been misapplied—and had determined upon the permanent suppression of the doctrine of Jesus as was done in their case, saying, "That it spread no further among the people, let us threaten them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this name," and had accordingly "charged them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus" (Acts 4: 17, 18), then no doubt the same faithful preachers, with the same faithfulness of Peter and John, would also have replied: "Whether it is right in the sight of God to hearken unto you rather than unto God, judge ye" (Acts 4: 19); and, "We must obey God rather than men" (Acts 5: 29). But there was no such parallel, as our government made no such demand, and it would have been both rash and foolish for the said preachers to make such a reply under such circumstances. Our very great and considerate government demanded what Christian prudence could consistently and gladly grant, even showing its consideration by furnishing what is called "noncombatant service" for those who, on account of their views, could not conscientiously engage in any other.

The Christian attitude toward war and the extent to which the Christian shall go either in maintaining silence or in standing by a government when it is engaged in war are not the same question. I refrain from entering into any argument of the matter here because, as stated in a recent editorial, I think all such argumentation, under existing circumstances, is untimely and hence unwise. On the contrary, if the influence of every Christian in the whole civilized world could be exerted, in all legitimate and prudent ways, in encouraging the nations throughout such a period to adopt either the Versailles League or some similar league of international peace, it would not only indirectly accomplish vastly more for the cause of God than constantly arguing such matters, but I am profoundly convinced that it would be discharging a duty in the realm of expediency imposed by God himself.

Should Have Published the Article. BY J. C. M'Q.

Below I give a garbled extract from an article of mine which appeared in this journal on November 20, 1919. Out of an article of about two columns and a half, D. Austen Sommer clips the following and publishes it in the Review:

As the apostles were Jews and were trained in the synagogue schools, it is but natural and reasonable to suppose that Christ in the commission gave them authority to organize Bible schools everywhere as the very basis or foundation of the church. . . . When the Savior commands us to teach, and leaves the method of teaching open to our judgment, he leaves us free to use any method that does not contravene his law.

Had he published all that article, I would have been satisfied to leave it with his readers without another word. His sense of justice and fairness is dead, if he thought when he published what he did that he was fairly representing the position of the article. Omitting all the reasoning that led to the conclusion and leaving out a part of the conclusion, he skips almost to the middle of the next paragraph, clips a sentence, and ties it on as though it were the conclusion of the preceding paragraph. I quote where he began, the part he left out, and close with the sentence he did:

As the apostles were Jews and were trained in the synagogue schools, it is but natural and reasonable to suppose that Christ in the commission gave them authority to organize Bible schools everywhere as the very basis or foundation of the church. Whatever else is added, the feature of teaching the word of God to children and the child-like in classes under skilled teachers must not be lacking.

Frequently, however, people who are not accustomed to reasoning imagine that there is no authority for teaching the word of God in classes in a Bible school unless the Savior had specifically said "teach in classes." But, if such people would only reflect a little, they would see at once that, if Christ had said this, no man would be allowed to teach the word of God except in classes. This would reduce such a position to an absurdity. When the Savior commands us to teach, and leaves the method of teaching open to our judgment, he leaves us free to use any method that does not contravene his law.

I congratulate myself that he cannot answer the reasoning therein presented, so he elects to answer a perversion as follows:

Let us see how this reasoning applies to some things which Brother McQuiddy condemns. Infant church membership was more prevalent among the Jews than were their schools, and it was ordained of God. "As the apostles were Jews and were trained to infant church membership, it is but natural and reasonable to suppose that Christ in the commission gave them authority to have infant church membership as the very basis or foundation of the church." (Infant Sprinkler: "Shake hands, Brother McQuiddy; we are in the same boat, we are one!")

They had instrumental music among the Jews; therefore with Brother McQuiddy we can say: "As the apostles were Jews and were trained to instrumental music in their worship, it is but natural and reasonable to suppose that Christ and the apostles, having worshiped where it was used, thus gave authority to use it." This was one of the strongest arguments used by J. B. Briney in the Louisville debate. (Briney and other digressives: "Shake hands, Brother McQuiddy; we stand together in our reasoning, we are one!")

Infant church membership is not ordained of Christ; and as there was no church in the days of the Jews before Pentecost, but only the commonwealth of Israel, so there was no church membership until after Pentecost, and then no infant membership. I am surprised that Brother Sommer did not know this. The commission forbids infant membership in the church of Christ. Christ commanded the apostles: "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matt. 28: 19, 20.) They were to teach the disciples, or taught, to observe all things commanded by him.

Under Christ, teaching is ordained, but not "infant church membership." Teaching is in both Jewish and Christian dispensations. It is strange that a fair-minded Christian gentleman would select two things as a parallel when he knows that neither is in the Christian dispensation. Before making such an attempt at reasoning, he should give us chapter and verse showing where Christ ordained infant membership or instrumental music in his worship.

We may apply the same reasoning to instrumental music that I have applied to the manner of teaching. As they had instruments of music in the old dispensation, they naturally enough would have brought them into the new dispensation had they been told to play as well as to sing. So, as the Jews had Bible schools, had taught in classes in the synagogue, when the Savior commanded them to teach, they naturally understood him to command them to organize Bible schools everywhere as the very basis, the initial form, of the Christian church. Grouping scholarsthe child and the childlike-in classes, under skilled teachers, for the study of the word of God by means of an interlocutory cowork between teachers and scholars-that is the starting point of Christ's church as he founded it. In commanding them to teach, and binding on them no exclusive method of teaching, he gave them the power, "derived from opinion, respect, or esteem," to organize Bible schools-that is, congregations in which the Bible is taught in classes. Having esteem and respect for the methods of their fathers and of their childhood, they would naturally cling to them unless Christ forbade them to do so. Schaff sums up the whole case at this point when he says concisely: "As the Christian church rests historically on the Jewish church, so Christian worship and the congregational organization rest on that of the synagogue, and cannot be well understood without it."

Fisher also says with explicitness: "The synagogue served as a model in the organization of churches." It would be remarkably strange if the Christian church, while retaining the other main features of the synagogue, had ignored its very chiefest feature, the Bible-school service, especially as the great commission laid preëminent stress on the work therein included. It is evident that this feature was not neglected, as is seen from Acts of Apostles and the Epistles. From these we see that teaching after the pattern of the synagogue Bible schools was a recognized agency for the extension of the church of Christ. Just here I quote from Trumbull an appropriate extract:

It is said of "Peter and the apostles" in Jerusalem, that, every day, in the temple and at home, they ceased not to teach and to preach Jesus as the Christ. These apostles were Jesus before they were Christians, and it was as Jesus that they had learned how to teach. That they realized the distinction between "teaching" and "preaching" is evidenced in their frequent antithetical use of the one term over against the other. Paul and Barnabas, again, "tarried in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also." The truth taught by these Christian teachers was very different from that which had been there taught as truth before, but the method of the teaching was in all probability the same." A careful reading of the Epistles will reveal the same truth.

Matt. 28: 19, 20 is authority for teaching the word of God in any place and everywhere. In that it does not specify a method of teaching to the exclusion of others, it gives one the right to teach in classes or in any efficient way that does not contravene God's law. This commission was given to the apostles before the church was established. They taught before the church was founded, and then they went into new fields and taught and founded congregations in which the word of God was taught in classes by means of questions and answers. Does my critic deny the scriptural authority to teach the Bible in a school, in a saloon, in a Bible school, in classes, or anywhere else? If so, he should cite the scripture that denies the right. When God has not bound a method on individual Christians, he should bind none. He should furnish the proof or cease to bind Christians where the Holy Spirit has not bound them.

His allusions to my visit in Denver, Col., are amusing. I am sure he would have made no reference to my work in Denver had he been correctly informed. I went to Denver and other points in Colorado on the advice of my physician. I paid my own way to and from Denver. I paid my board while there and did what good I could in serving the Lord. I have been told by a number of good people that I succeeded in accomplishing some good while in Denver. For this the Lord should be glorified, and not man. The greatest mistake that was made while I was there was made by Brother Sommer's admirers and friends. They presented a paper in which they proposed that the congregation select six men to be the spiritual managers of the church. These six men they had selected were not qualified and fit to be elders and deacons, so they stated; for so soon as they exhibited the qualifications which would fit and qualify them for elders and deacons, they were to be chosen to this position. The greatest part of my efforts was to dissuade Brother Sommer's friends from doing such a thing-a thing which is wholly unknown to and unauthorized by the New Testament. I was really astounded that men who claimed to be guided by the word of God would seriously entertain and propose such a proposition. Brother Sommer's friends called for a vote in the very beginning by presenting a paper which called for a division. I discouraged this; and when it was seen that they could not elect their man chairman, I requested them to make the choice of Brother Evans, as he had been suggested by some one, unanimous. I neither voted nor encouraged voting. It was seen, however, that the brethren were overwhelmingly in favor of Brother Evans and those selected to be associated with him for elders and deacons. It appears that Brother Sommer's friends got beat at their own game; and when they saw they were woefully in the minority, they chose not to press their paper any further. While in Denver I preached as much as I deemed advisable, considering the state of my health. It was indeed a pleasure to be there, and I hope by the grace of the Lord that it may be my privilege to go again and help in whatever way I can to advance the kingdom of Christ. "They therefore that were scattered abroad went about preaching the word." (Acts 8: 4.)

"For the League of Nations."

BY E. A. E.

Under this heading, I clip from the Christian Courier, of Dallas, Texas, January 22, the following:

A resolution was unanimously passed, reaffirming the faith of the Federal Council in the League of Nations and calling upon the ministers and churches of the nation to exert every possible influence upon the President and Senate to secure the immediate ratification of the covenant of the League of Nations with such reservations only as are necessary to safeguard the Constitution of the United States and which shall not substantially alter the character of the covenant and shall not require its resubmission to the allies and Germany, nor hinder in any way the full and equal participation on the part of the United States in all the activities of the League.

Here it is again.

Why did not this Federal Council reaffirm its faith in Christ and pass a resolution calling upon all "the ministers and churches of the nation" to preach "the gospel of peace" and to determine to know nothing, "save Jesus Christ, and him crucified?" We all know as well as we know our names just what God charges us to preach and what he charges us not to preach. Do we not all know that we discbey God when we refuse to preach what he commands to be preached or preach what he forbids to be preached? We must obey God's will in preaching what he commands to be preached and in refusing to preach what he forbids to be preached as much so as in being baptized in faith and penitence or in refusing in unbelief to be baptized. The responsibility of preachers is most fearful. They made neither God nor the gospel. They must obey God or be lost.

THE CONSTITUTION.

Our attention has been called to the Constitution. I have thought all my life that the Constitution of the United States is the greatest uninspired document in the world. Its chief corner stone is liberty—both civil and religious liberty. Upon it has been established the greatest government of earth.

I was reared on the prayers of the religious people around Fosterville, Tenn., where Willie Williams (the editor of the Christian Courier) and I were brought up. Some of these good people were Methodists; some were Cumberland Presbyterians; some were Baptists, both Missionary and Primitive (Hardshell); and some made an effort to worship God "as it is written" only in the New Testament and to be in name Christians only. I think I can repeat now almost all of Uncle Joe Myers' (as he was familiarly called) "ark sermon" and relate old Brother Frost's experience. Uncle Joe Myers was "of the Methodist persuasion" and Brother Frost was a Primitive Baptist. I shall in gratitude to God carry into the great beyond the good impression I received from these many religious friends-their songs and prayers and exhortations. Some of these songs were: "I am bound for the promised land," "O how I love Jesus!" "I will arise and go to Jesus," "O thou Fount of every blessing!" "How firm a foundation!" etc.

Brother Williams is younger than I; his parents were older. His parents and the older people of the community

(how they appear in vision before me now!) were all my friends. I had then, as I pray I have now, a good feeling and kind word for everybody, and I do not recall any one as an enemy. I even respect and honor the fortunate boy who got my girl. In every step onward I met with encouragement, and at every rough place in the road I found a helping hand. If the neighbors were not glad to listen to my first efforts at preaching and if they are not now glad to hear me, I have not found it out. They love the same old story of the unchangeable gospel, and I trust I have not been blown about by any strange winds of doctrines.

But Brother Williams and I are more or less apart now otherwise than geographically. I appreciate his sending me copies of his paper, and I trust he receives in due time the Gospel Advocate; but he talks in his paper of so many things not in the New Testament, and his language, therefore, is so different from the language of that ancient book, that I cannot appreciate his paper as I should like to. He belongs to "the Disciples" with the big D, but I do not know whether or not to "the open membership" number. His paper says "the Disciples" have taken "a new step in unity and democracy." "E pluribus unum" is a great thing; but "unity and democracy" are not Christianity. Unity and democracy can exist without God, Christ, or the Bible. Satan's forces are united. They are one in him, as Christians are one in Christ. Jesus never sent out his apostles to preach and never made his church "the pillar and ground" of "unity and democracy." All that sort of talk may be buncombe, but it is not the gospel. He has an editorial on "The Pre-Easter Campaign." He knows there is no such thing in the New Testament as Easter, still he urges this campaign. He says "the Disciples of Christ" in the past "paid little more attention to Easter times than to other seasons in their campaigns;" but now he thinks "this year is witnessing an Easter campaign among our people that far surpasses any other contemplated by us before, and brethren are taking time by the forelock and are making great preparations in advance." We are commanded in the Bible to prepare to meet God. and are taught that to-day is the day of salvation. He urges women to pay their poll tax, to vote, and to take part in the affairs of government, coming forward with his "reasons why." And he has no little to say about "church machinery." One can find only a very few direct quotations of scripture in his entire paper. He seems not to depend upon a "Thus saith the Lord." The first sentence on the first page of his paper is this: "The Bible writers grasped the idea of the power of God working in the affairs of men that it seems not many have been able in our time to grasp." J. B. Lehmon is the author of this. "The Bible writers" did not record their ideas, which they grasped; they wrote by inspiration and recorded the revelation which God made of himself and his will. One would as well say the apostles "grasped the idea" of the Christ, the necessity of his shed blood, of eternal life, etc. The wisdom of man never invented and never discovered the remedy for sin and death. This could be known only by revelation. Most certainly the almighty and all-wise and only true God works "in the affairs of men." All that is necessary to grasp this idea is to believe the Bible. God sees the sparrow fall, hears the raven cry, numbers the hairs on his children's heads, works all things together for good to those who love him, and "ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will, and setteth up over it the lowest ["basest"-Authorized Version] of men" (Dan. 4: 17)—a Nero, an Alexander, a Cyrus, a Nebuchadnezzar, a Pharaoh, or the rulers of our own times. He rules now. He is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. But we know all this because God tells us so through "the Bible writers." I believe God.

(To be continued.)

QQ

AT HOME AND ABROAD

W

William P. Walker reports a baptism at Clarksville, Tenn.

Change of address: S. T. Nix, from Lebanon, Tenn., Route 2, to 52 West South Street, Union, S. C.

The Gospel Advocate is good, and I shall endeavor to have every family in town who has membership with us take the paper.—W. M. B. Cox, Baldwyn, Miss.

Friends should bear in mind that the new meeting place in Denver, Col., is at 125 South Sherman Street. We will print a newsy report from John D. Evans soon.

I do not know what words to use to express my appreciation of the Gospel Advocate and its editors. I do not want to miss one number.—H. A. Lashley, Jasper, Fla.

The visit of B. C. Goodpasture, our circulation manager, to Texas was cut short by the "flu" epidemic. Many of the churches are closed and some deaths are reported.

From T. M. Carney, San Angelo, Texas, February 5: "I am just recovering from a stubborn attack of 'flu,' and will not be physically able to do much corresponding for several days."

Married, T. B. Harris to Mattie V. McRoy, on February 14, 1920, at 1003 Maxwell Avenue, Nashville, J. C. McQuiddy officiating. The entire Gospel Advocate force offers congratulations.

Fred K. Jones, real estate dealer and Notary Public, 43 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville and Tennessee property for sale and exchange—will endeavor to accommodate those desiring his services.

The special numbers are fine. In fact, I haven't received a single copy that was void of good reading. I hope the good work you are carrying on will continue to prosper.

—Miss Lillie Fireline, Comer, Ky.

From Mrs. Belle C. Scharnagel, Tuscaloosa, Ala.: "I do not want to miss a copy of the Gospel Advocate. I have sent in more than twenty new subscribers since summer, and feel that that is the best service I have done in the Master's vineyard."

From Mrs. Gus Cornolli, Del Rio, Texas: "I don't want to miss one number of the Gospel Advocate or get behind with my subscription. I can't afford to do without it. I pray that it may grow better and have a wider circulation through the coming year."

From W. J. Johnson, Amite, La.: "If any contribution has been sent to the work at this place that has not been acknowledged, I desire the one sending it to write me concerning it. I have been informed by letter that a certain church sent a donation that has not been received. There may have been others."

From Andrew Perry, Pikeville, Tenn., February 11: "At our meeting last night a noble young man came forward and made the good confession, and at the Bible reading this morning his wife also made the same noble start, and both were baptized to-day. We look for others. J. C. Mosley is working with me."

From Mrs C. A. Dean, Clinton, Ky.: "We have moved five miles north of Clinton, near Spring Hill. Very few members of the church of Christ here. We have no house to preach in. We have a lot, and it is paid for, but the little band is not able to build. I wish some one could hold a meeting here sometime this summer."

From D. W. Nichol, Temple, Texas, February 9: "C. R. Nichol was operated upon this morning for ulcerated stomach; serious, but resting nicely. Surgeons say 'entire success.' If no complications arise, he should be all right in a few weeks."

The Gospel Advocate joins with many others in prayers for Brother Nichol's recovery.

T. B. Thompson, of Avon Park, Fla., writes us that there is a movement on foot to teach winter Bible classes at this delightful spot. I. B. Bradley has bought property in this vicinity, and an effort will be made to have him supervise the work. Such an arrangement will enable Christians who spend the winter in Florida to take a special Bible course under good Bible teachers.

From F. J. Rogers, Jackson, Tenn., February 12: "We want to make a change on account of my wife's health. We would like to get a place where the altitude is higher. We would like to hear from some church or churches in a good town where I can work and preach all the time. Let any one knowing of such a place write me at 522 Highland Avenue. I would like to hear from some place near Nashville."

R. B. Neal writes from Grayson, Ky.: "I heartily join in with the commendation of E. C. Fuqua. He has few equals and no superiors with tongue or type as an advocate of New Testament Christianity and an opponent of all hurtful isms. He is one of the too few men posted on Russellism, Eddyism, Mormonism, and is one of the very few able to meet the advocates of these isms. As a tract writer, he is an expert. Untie his hands, put him on his feet, and he will do a work that few men can do."

The death of Harve Chenault, on February 11, at his home in Wichita Falls, Texas, occasioned deep regret. He was one of the original Chenaults of Sumner County, Tenn. His father, David Chenault, came from Kentucky and settled on a large farm in Sumner County. The deceased was a man of fine Christian character, having obeyed the gospel in his youth. He leaves four sons and one daughter, to whom we extend sincere sympathy. Brother Elam conducted the funeral on Friday at Union Church, in Sumner County.

From W. S. Long, Jr., Washington, D. C., February 12: "Churches of Christ that desire a well-versed, consecrated, and godly gospel preacher for a meeting in August would do well to write to E. L. Mills, of Washington, D. C. Brother Mills is now holding a position with the government in this city, also taking a postgraduate course at George Washington University. His annual leave of thirty days will come in August, and he is willing to give his time to preaching the gospel and saving souls. Write him in time, so his arrangements can be made. Address E. L. Mills, 2421 Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest."

There is a prophet among the Porto Ricans. No less than Sr. Emilio del Toro, Judge of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico, recently gave a message to the Puerto Rico Evangelico, of which the following is an English translation: "If I had the privilege of communicating with all of the mothers of Latin America for only one moment during my lifetime, I would employ it entirely in recommending that they place in the hands of their children the New Testament, being sure of obtaining for them the most noble and enduring influence of all the influences which could exercise themselves in the human conscience of this world."

There is an opening at Cleveland, Tenn., for a loyal Christian doctor, one who is strictly up to date. There is also an opening for the same kind of a dentist. We need, too, a young man who is, first of all, a missionary and willing to do whatever his hand findeth to do, who can lead in the song service. The whole church will back up the right man in getting work and pulling for him. The right man will have courage, be industrious and full of 'pep,' ready with a grin at knocks as well as boosts, full of love for God's church and his work. If there is such a man interested, write to Mrs. Fred M. Little, Cleveland, Tenn.

II. C. Cayee writes from Jackson, Miss., February 14: "To-morrow I am to begin a meeting in the new house in Senatobia, Miss., after which I will return to Jackson. I have found one more member in Jackson—F. W. Walthall, whose home is in Brower, Miss., where he says we have a few members who meet in a private home. Carl Barnett, of Greenville, Ala., held a meeting for them last summer and is to do so again next summer. We have begun cottage prayer meetings. These meetings will be continued during my absence. When tent time comes, I hope to reach many more people with the truth. My address for the next week or two will be Senatobia, Miss., care of E. D. Dinkins. We need and must have a congregation in Jackson. Mississippi has been too long neglected."

The Southern Christian Citizenship Conference, under the auspices of the National Reform Association, will convene in Nashville, March 7-12, Sunday to Friday, inclusive. The purpose of this organization as announced by its leaders is "to help Christianize America—her laws, customs, institutions; to awaken the conscience of the American people on civic questions: to assert the right of Christianity to be heard in the councils of the nation; to give emphasis to the conviction that Christianity is the only solution of the many perplexing problems of our national life, and that no question is ever settled till it is settled in accordance with the teachings of Christ; to further the effort to establish a just and lasting peace among the nations of the earth; to promote the great and growing cause of Christian internationalism."

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

Keep on Climbing.

"Keep on Climbing" is the title of one of the songs the Atlanta brethren love most to sing, and I rejoice that it is being put into practice. Something was said in last week's issue on this page about the West End Avenue brethren's desire to make our donations average at least one hundred dollars each Lord's day. Our collections the Lord's day this was announced amounted to above sixty-six dollars. The collection last Lord's day amounted to above eighty dollars, with five dollars handed in as a special donation. The one-hundred-dollar mark we think we see for next Lord's day.

I am not writing this to boast of what is being done, but for the purpose of helping to stir all the Georgia forces to give as the Lord prospers, to bring the whole tithe and stop robbing God, and see if the windows of heaven will not open and such a blessing come that we will not be able to receive it. (See Mal. 3: 8-10; 1 Cor. 16: 2; 2 Cor. 9: 6, 7.) And, of course, if I should learn that our "zeal hath provoked very many" even out of Georgia, I would rejoice all the more. (See 2 Cor. 9: 2.) Just as certain as I am writing these lines, just that certain is it true that we have not got very far into the religion of our Lord, if we have not learned the spirit of giving, the spirit of sacrifice. When we consider the fact that the religion the Father has extended to us is founded upon his giving the dearest and nearest thing to his own heart-namely, his only Son-and that this religion has come to us through the centuries because of the sacrifices of the faithful, some of whom suffered even unto death, we should be ashamed of the little we do.

It is not hard to see the secret of the spread of the gospel in the first century. Look at the spirit of giving, the spirit of sacrifice that then existed, and the secret is before you. Paul says: "Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." (Rom. 8: 9.) If some one knows how I can have this Spirit and at the same time not have the giving spirit, I would be glad for him to step forward and try his hand at showing me. No, brethren, it cannot be done. The spirit of our Lord was, indeed, the giving spirit.

Then, we should remember that we must give till we feel it. I doubt God's accepting a sacrifice that cost us nothing. Do you remember when David was seeking to stay the pestilence that was destroying Israel by the thousands? When he came to the threshing floor of Araunah, the Jebusite, Araunah proposed giving David everything necessary for the sacrifice, but David answered: "Nay; but I will verily buy it of thee at a price; neither will I offer burnt offerings unto Jehovah my God which cost me nothing." (See 2 Sam, 24: 15-25.) The sacrifice was made and the pestilence ceased. If the church of our Lord to-day would make a sacrifice that cost them something, the spiritual pestilence among us would cease and the "joy that is unspeakable" would come into us. Many congregations are so doing, and these are the joyful and outshining congregations of the churches of our Lord. Will not the elders of every congregation take this subject up and drive it home to their respective congregations? What could mean more?

0 0 0

Brother Templeton's Work.

As many of our readers know, Brother Silas E. Templeton lives in Atlanta and is being used for general evangelistic work in this State. He is visiting monthly, during the winter months, the congregations at Trion, Rockmart, and Borden Springs. We have some most faithful members at each of these places, and they are helping us with his support. A fourth of his time is being devoted to Cedartown, where we have a few faithful members. This is a mission point, and it is our desire to stay with it till a congregation is fully established. A good brother at Borden Springs has promised us a lot, and more than one thousand dollars was pledged toward the building fund last Lord's day (February 8) while Brother Templeton was with them. Will not the faithful at other places find time to remember this work in their prayers? You may rest assured of the fact that Brother Templeton will do his best.

0 0 0

The Work at Savannah.

It was no little pleasure to see and be with Brother Rawlings, of Savannah, a few days ago, and talk with him about the Savannah work. He has his whole heart in that work, and it is certain to succeed. When it comes to intense interest and getting out into the homes of the people, he could put many of our preachers to shame. He loves the church, and knows that the church has a message that we need not be ashamed of; hence, in this consciousness, he can meet the people. Like Paul, he is "not ashamed of the gospel of Christ."

I was delighted to learn that the little congregation is meeting its twenty dollars a month rental, with some to spare. Brother Rawlings made a good report of Brother Copeland as a helper, and we are expecting to have the best of news from this town of above one hundred thousand souls. We should have got the Savannah work started before this; and if we had been like the early Christians, we would. Let us see to it now that it goes onward and upward to glorious success. I sometimes wonder, if the early Christians should arise from the dead and visit some of the churches that claim to be following the apostles, if we would not look like a strange set of people to them. What think you, my brother?

* * *

Another Call.

I have on my desk a good letter from Brother Strickland. He writes about the sore need of work in the splendid town where he now lives. He proposes to give fifty dollars and a home to the preacher who will go there and preach the gospel in its purity. Shall we go? Well, we must. He is a poor man, lives by the sweat of his brow, and such calls deserve attention.

Then, too, on my desk is a call from a good sister; and even others—more than we can answer with our present forces. But we are praying for more laborers. Do we not need to say to many of the churches and individual Christians: "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall shine upon thee?" (Eph. 5: 14.) And it would not be amiss to also say: "Awake to soberness righteously, and sin not; for some have no knowledge of God: I speak this to move you to shame." (1 Cor. 15: 34.)

0 0 0

Have You Forgotten McGregor?

I am taking the liberty to give our readers the last letter from Sister Hooper, of McGregor, Ga. It speaks for itself. As you read, think how God must look at the burning desire in this sister's soul for a fully established church at that place. Here is the letter:

McGregor, Ga., February 3, 1920.—Brother Hall: Your letter containing check received, and we wish to express our many thanks for same. May the Lord bless each contributor. We now have one hundred and forty dollars in the building fund. I feel that if each member could realize how sad it is to be without a place of worship it would

ABOUT RHEUMATISM

What Thousands Have Found Gives Relief From This Painful Trouble.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, manifesting itself in local aches and pains, inflamed joints and stiff muscles. It cannot be cured by local or external applications. It must have constitutional treatment.

Take a course of the great bloodpurifying and tonic medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the acid condition of the blood on which rheumatism depends, and gives permanent relief. This medicine combines, with excellent alteratives and tonics, what is generally conceded to be the most effective agent in the treatment of this disease.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed take Hood's Pills. Purely vegetable.

Stop Itching

Skins with Tetterine 60c. at your druggist's or from SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga

only be a short while until we would have a sufficient amount to build a house. It is hard for those who have houses of worship and a number of leaders to realize the conditions of a new congregation, few in number and no place of worship. One of our members, a very ambitious man, said to me a few days ago that at times he felt almost like giving up. I tried all I could to encourage him and told him he should not consider some things that are being said about our slow progress.

Brother Colson, of Valdosta, filled Brother Prevatt's regular appointment last Lord's day, as he was in Florida in a meeting. Brother Colson preached two good sermons. We hope to have him with us again.

Your sister in Christ, VINA HOOPER.

In connection with the above, I wish to say to those at McGregor: Let no member become discouraged. Continue to work and pray, and victory is a certainty. Pay but little attention to what people say. Read and believe Matt. 5: 10-12, and remember that the people who endure such things are the ones who become the "salt of the earth" and the "light of the world" spoken of in verses 13-16.

But is it not true that, when we start the work at a new place, we too often just drag along in our interest for the "faithful few" and do not get wide awake to their needs until they are discouraged? Then, all of a sudden, we get busy and send them the needed help after the day of victory is past. It costs us no more to send the help now than it will later, and to send now may mean the conversion of dozens; but if we put it off, those who are now interested may lose confidence in the effort and drift beyond our reach. Brethren, help McGregor, and do it now! Send all donations to Miss Vina Hooper, McGregor, Ga.

The greatest prosperity that a man can have from God is the gift of a heart that loves to give.-Selected.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

Record-Neal Debate.

BY T. W. WALLACE.

A debate between Brother W. A. Record, of the church of Christ, and Jesse Neal, of the Missionary Baptist Church, was held at the Blue Spring church of Christ, Fort Henry, Tenn., beginning on January 20 and closing on January 23. Brother Neal made the opening speech and led for one day and a half, affirming that the Bible teaches that a regenerated child of God cannot so apostatize as to be finally lost in hell. Brother Neal is an experienced debater, but failed to prove his proposition. Brother Record showed that it is possible to fall away and be lost. The next day Brother Record affirmed that the Bible teaches that since the death of Christ baptism is one of the conditions of salvation from past (alien) sins. Brother Record proved his proposition. Neal denied the genuineness of Mark 16: 9-20. The church is well pleased with Brother Record as a debater and loval Christian and defender of the cause.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

PFLLAGR

FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated successfully at home. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. Write for yours to-day. Dept. F-29.

Dr. W. J. McCrary, Inc., Carbon Hill, Ala.

Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment. If you have piles in any form, write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets, and you will bless the day that you read this. Write to-day. E. R. Page, 430-D Page Building, Marshall, Mich.

DON'T BE CUT

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON, No. 477F Gurney Bilgs. Syracuse. N. Y.

MARK H. JACKSON, No. 477F Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true,

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Class of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid, which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from over work, become sluggish, the elimina tive tissues clog, and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness, and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts, or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

Among the Colored Folks

Report of Meetings for 1919.

BY ALEXANDER CAMPBELL.

My first tent meeting began at Delrose, Tenn., on May 19 and closed on June 5. Two very old persons accepted the gospel. One of them was a hundred and six years old; the other, seventy-eight. My second tent meeting began at Pulaski, Tenn., on the second Lord's day in June and closed on the third Lord's day. Two obeyed the gospel. My third tent meeting began at White's Chapel on July 27 and continued two weeks. There were two additions. My fourth tent meeting began on August 10, at Corinth Church, near Caney Spring, Tenn. This meeting continued two weeks and resulted in seven additions. My fifth tent meeting began at Scott's Chapel on the fourth Lord's day in August and continued two weeks. One young man accepted the gospel. My sixth tent meeting began on the first Lord's day in September, on Brother R. P. Thurman's front lawn, College Grove, Tenn., and continued two weeks. This dear brother and his wife and children did something for the colored people in that part of the country I had never seen before. Brother Thurman helped me and some other colorded people put the tent up on his front lawn, visited the meeting and supported it financially, and said for me to come back and conduct another tent meeting in 1920 for my people. My seventh tent meeting began on the third Lord's day in September, near the farm of Brother S. M. Christman, and continued one week. One young lady accepted the gospel, Brother Christman wants me to conduct another tent meeting this year. My eighth tent meeting was held out from Thompson's Station, Tenn., near Burwood. This was a good meeting, but there were no additions. I promised to conduct another meeting for them this year. My ninth tent meeting was about one mile from Ashland City, Tenn., and continued two weeks. One lady obeyed the gospel, and another made the good confession. I began a meeting in a house at Lynnville, Tenn., on Monday after the third Lord's day in July and continued it six nights, with good interest, but no additions. I conducted a week's meeting in a house at Petway, Tenn., beginning on the fourth Lord's day in September. Interest was very good, but no additions. On Monday after the fifth Lord's day in June I began a week's meeting in the Methodist meetinghouse in Spring Hill, Tenn., and they put me out before I had preached one time. I finished the meeting standing in a two-horse wagon in the streets. There was good interest, but no additions. On July 9 1 began a two-weeks' meeting in Sister Mary Jones' house, on Clifton Avenue, Nashville. Interest was very good, but While her husband no additions. lived, he had meeting conducted in his house, and she is keeping it up. On Monday night, December 8, I began a week's meeting in the schoolhouse near Brother Sam Christman's farm. It was cold and rainy, but I preached God's power to save. One person-a Baptist preacher, sixty years oldmade the good confession and was baptized.

I am very thankful to all the people, both white and colored, that supported me financially in this work among my people, and I hope they will continue to support this great work.

The Test of Time

When an article is without merit, public sentiment condemns it. It immediately dies a natural death. When an article has merit, it will be everlastingly in demand. Gray's Ointment has now been used for a full round century. No greater proof can be offered of its effectiveness. One hundred years of honest, good, old-fashioned value for money received has made it a family word in every household. Effective for sores, boils, burns, cuts, bruises, stings, zema, and the many forms of skin eruption. Ask your druggist. If he can't supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Building, Nashville, Tenn., and a liberal sample will be sent you free.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express; 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped prompts, artifaction, puranteed or money resatisfaction guaranteed or money red. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weaken nd, run-down condition, get my "Electric Belt." For Weakness, Nervous Debility, Rheuma-tism, Backache, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, postpaid. Dr. Frank M. Welch, Atlanta, Ga.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Surre geoeeeeeeee

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annowing throat tidels and Thousands of housewives have found heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known fig worrd over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Free Eczema Remedy

Such wonderful results in eczema and all skin diseases instantly follow the soothing application of Krano-Zema, the new scientific treatment, and so confident is the Krano-Zema Co. that they will gladly send any reader a full-sized $1.00 treatment by prepaid mail without one cent in advance. If satisfied after using the treatment two weeks, pay $1.00; but if not, you do not pay one cent. Take advantage of this amazing one cent. Take advantage of this amazing free offer to-day. Send no money—just your name and address to the KRANO-ZEMA CO., 95 Phillips Building, Girard, Kan.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neural-

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgla, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs;
corns, bunions, etc. After one application,
pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza,
sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts
at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops
on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 30c, 60c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY,
Jackson, Tenn.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

How Many Interested?

BY T. B. THOMPSON.

It is in the hearts of some Christian men to open up a series of Bible classes for the winters in the beautiful scenic highlands of Southern Florida. It is to be a kind of short-term Bible school, occupying January, February, and March of each year, beginning on January 1, 1921. Not only will the Bible be taught under competent instructors, but vocal music will also be taught. We believe there are many in the Middle and Northern States who would gladly avail themselves of the opportunity to visit Southern Florida with the added attraction above mentioned. There are many who feel unable to attend our regular Bible schools, for lack of time or means, whose needs we believe a short-term school will meet. There are many preachers, possibly, who would be glad to attend such a school at that time of the year when little is possible in the way of meeting work where winters are severe. there are who, for the sake of health, need to spend their winters in the invigorating, health-giving atmosphere of this beautiful climate. We believe there are many reasons why our young brethren might want to spend a winter under the circumstances above mentioned.

The motive prompting this scheme is to promote the kingdom of God by teaching the Bible to young men. We do not expect to make money, for expenses will be put on a minimum basis. This leads us to now urge an immediate answer to the interrogation at the heading of this article-" How many interested?" In order that arrangements may be made for boarding those who might possibly attend this school, we must know about the number who are prospective students. We want your name now so we can begin in time to arrange for your boarding quarters. With this knowledge in time, we feel that we will be able to secure board and room at a great deal less than regular boarding rates. And we will further say, if there are those who are actually unable to pay their way in money, arrangements will be made for them, as we could not turn any away who are worthy.

Come to Avon Park, nestling amid the vast citrus groves, studded with the most beautiful lakes, kissed by the sun, and fanned with coast breezes; pleasant, healthful, and invigorating. One of Tennessee's very best preachers has bought property in Avon Park, which really begot the idea of the school here mentioned; a man well known and highly esteemed in the Christian brotherhood. He was delighted upon seeing the vast possibilities afforded by the varied resources of Southern Florida, and immediately said: "I want to build me a home and cast my lot with my Master's cause in this land whose natural beauties are constantly whispering of nature's God." We expect to make the religious surroundings of Avon Park such that one will be loath to leave. Let all those who are interested write at once to either Homer H. Hinton, or T. B. Thompson, Avon Park, Fla. We will answer all your questions and send you literature concerning our town and community.

Ousts Rheumatism.

Ousts Rheumatism.

Here it is. Those awful pains of rheumatism so common during the cold, rainy weather are completely forgotten, and the rheumatism is expelled from your system, by the very simple treatment of taking Renwar Salts, which neutralizes the uric acid in the blood, and Renwar attacks the very cause of this malady and expels the uric acid from the system. Renwar is entirely dependable. It does not in any way injure the stomach or affect the heart. It is prescribed by the best physicians, and your money is refunded if Renwar falls to relieve you of rheumatism. Give Renwar a trial, and you will never regret it. Mr. Benagh, of the Nashville Railway and Light Company, says: "Within two or three days after using Renwar my rheumatism disappeared." Price, 50 cents. Ask your druggist for it, or write WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.

Grandma Used Sage Tea to Darken Hair

She Mixed Sulphur, With it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked, and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revela-tion if your hair is fading, streaked, or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractive-ness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft, and luxuriant.

Acknowledgment from Lake City, Florida.

BY J. O. BARNES. We gratefully acknowledge receipt of the following contributions for the church building at this place since our last report: From Wiley C. Berry, Illinois, $3; T. D. Bibley, Florida, $2; S. P. Taylor, Tennessee, $8.13; Mrs. Ewing Farmer, Kentucky, $1; Mrs. H. H. Tidwell, Texas, $1; A. A. Hufstutler, Texas, $5; O. A. Eastip, Oklahoma, $5; J. D. Crabb, Florida, $10; church at Commerce, Texas, by C. C. Niff, $8; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Barker, Mexico, $1; church at Warner's Chapel, N. C., by W. L. Warner, $7; church at Pomona, Cal., by D. C. Cox, $6.75; church at Summerville, Pa., by J. W. Stiggers. $5; W. M. Mikeman, Okla., $3; church at Texola, Texas, by G. L. Dodgen, $5; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Evans, California, $5; C. G. Hunt, Florida, $4; Doula Payne, Kentucky, $2; Charles Mankin. Tennessee, $5: A. M. Burton, Tennessee, $25; J. D. Crabb, Jr., Florida, $10; church at Charlie, Texas, by J. M. Gower, $14.25; Jay E. Johnson, Iowa, $1; church at New Salem, Va., by E. T. Showalter, $6; Mrs. L. L. Loop, Texas, $2; church at Springtown, Texas, by J. B. Banks, $3.05; church at Thompson, N. M., by Louis O. Ballard, $5; Salem, Ind. (cash), $1; church at Sweeney, Texas, by J. G. Arrington, $10; church at Sellersburg, Ind., by H. C. Shoulders, $15; T. L. Chancy, Florida, $1; T. W. Gobbel, Texas, $1; A. F. Harkins, Texas, $1; S. F. Porter, Texas, $1; Mrs. J. B. Sculer, California, $2; by Mrs. G. A. Waters, Florida, $5; by W. H. Dozier, Tennessee, $5; church at Richmond, Tenn., by J. W. Nelms, $6; church at Parkersburg, W. Va., by C. A. Parker, $22; J. H. Moore, Oregon, $1: church at Shady Grove, Tenn., by J. M. Ivanbub, $11; Charles T. Powell, Tennessee, $2; church at Pilcher Avenue, Nashville, Tenn., by J. S. Larkin, $10; Sabinal, Texas, $1; Rena Carpenter, California, $2; church at Chapel Avenue, Nashville, Tenn., $15; G. W. Taylor, Texas, $1; J. E. Walker, Missouri, $1; E. C. Brown and wife, $1; church at Bailey's Mills, Ohio, by Sam Lucus, $6.50; church at Rising Star, Texas, by J. H. Rhone, $7.52; church at Spruce Pine, Ala., by W. S. Little, $5; church at Forest Hill, La., by G. M. Johnson, $5: church at Campbell Station, by J. E. Hobbs, $5; church at Fairview, Ohio, by B. F. Williams, $8.40; Mrs. C. A. Rodgers, Texas, $3.

Identified by His Bible.

Many a man has found himself through his Bible. A striking instance of the establishment of the identity of a shell-shocked soldier by means of his Testament was recently disclosed by a Red Cross worker.

A letter came into the Bureau of Communication at Washington from an anxious mother in Oklahoma, begging for information regarding her son, of whom she could learn nothing except that he was in some hospital in this country. Careful searching of the records of various army hospitals did not reveal the name of the soldier. At length a Red Cross visitor was dispatched to a hospital where mental cases are treated. A man by the surname of the soldier sought was discovered; and although the first name differed, the searcher decided to see him.

Tall, blond, and clean-cut, the youth, who was ushered into the receiving room, at first appeared quite normal; but, upon conversing with him, the visitor discovered that his mind wandered perceptibly and he could give little definite information about himself. Collecting his possessions to show his caller, the boy brought forward, among other things, a well-worn Testament. On the flyleaf was a name identical with that of the soldier sought.

The Red Cross worker begged the young man to loan the Bible to her, and he willingly complied with her request. She immediately dispatched the precious packet to the mother, asking if it belonged to her son. By return mail came a letter full of thanksgiving and praise of the Red Cross. The Testament was one which the Oklahoma boy had treasured from early childhood.—Exchange.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic

restores vitality and energy by purifying and enriching the blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

TETTERINE for the COMPLEXION

60c at your druggist's or from Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS.

BUX SERUM direct from the manufacturers and be assured of a fresh, reliable product. United States Veterinary License No. 114; long-distance phone, Main 2569, Nashyille, Tenn. Write for 90-page Hog Book; It is FREE. WHITE SERUM COMPANY.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

DO YOU NEED A KIDNEY MEDICINE?

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it may be found just the medicine you need. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle healing herbal compound—a physician's prescription which has proved its great value in thousands of the most distressing cases according to reliable testimony.

At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may have a sample size bottle of this always reliable preparation by Parcel Post, also pamphlet telling about it. Address Dr. Kilmer. & Co., Bindhamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

BLACK-DRAUGHT A FAMILY MEDICINE

Some Kind of Stomach Trouble
With Cramps and Terrible
Pains Made This Oklahoma Man's Life Miserable Until
Black-Draught
Relieved Him.

Chickasha, Okla.—Mrs. J. W. Walker recently said this: "We use Black-Draught as a family medicine, and think it is the only liver medicine made. My husband makes it up and uses it as a tonic as well as a laxative. I use it for headache, sour stomach, a full, heavy feeling after meals, which I suppose is indigestion, and it certainly does me a lot of good.

"My husband had some kind of stomach trouble—we don't know just what. It would strike him just any time in the day and cramp or pain him just terribly bad. Some one told him how to make a tea of the Black-Draught, which he did. It did him so much good, it removed the cause and cured him. Since then we have praised the Black-Draught to our friends, and gladly do so."

Seventy years of successful use has made Thedford's Black-Draught a standard household remedy. Every member of the family at times needs the help that Black-Draught can give in cleansing the system and preventing or relieving the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, lazy liver, etc.

Try Black-Draught. Sold by all druggists.

SEX PROBLEMS

Every married couple and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete Book of Life, of 1,000 pages, handsomely bound, such as the "Medical Adviser," It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, often revealed too late. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, First Aid to the Injt red.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for five dimes (or stamps), to readers of this paper. Address Med. at Press, 640½ Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

IS A TIME-TRIED REMEDY that can be relied upon to get rid of coughs and colds that lead to serious illness if neglected.

Every User a Friend

"The only remedy we ever use for coughs and colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It has been our standby for years, and it never fails us. T. H. Foley, Marquette, Mich.

"I surely know the worth of Foley's Honey and Tar, as I have taken it with good results. Also have sold hundreds of bottles."—A. L. Stansbury, Parkersburg, W. Va.

Children like Foley's Honey and Tar. It contains no opiates, and will not injure a delicate stomach.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at 916 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epilepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no good. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that cured me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned. I wish every one who suffers from this terrible disease would write to R. P. N. Lepso, 198 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, free to any one who writes him."—Advt.

Impurities from your body as you would dirt from your home.

Constipation is the cause of much disease.

Keep your system clean by using

Dr.Miles Liver Pills

Safe-Mild-Sure

Highly recommended for Torpid Liver, Biliousness, Constipation and Indigestion.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Better Singing in the Worship.

BY W. W. SLATER.

It seems to me, generally speaking, that our singing is on the decline. It is not what it should be, by any means. We need to have more and better singing. The Lord commands us to sing; and when we fail to sing, we fail in one important part of the worship. I have recently been in school, studying under the great, teacher, Dr. J. B. Herbert, and it has caused me to have a greater and higher estimate of sacred song than I have ever had before, and I am convinced that we, as a church, are not putting forth as much effort or manifesting as much interest in the singing as we should. My experience has been, since I have been trying to preach, that the better the singing, the better meeting we can always have. The best meeting I had last year, or the best one of my life, was at Spaulding, Okla. I had taught a singing school for them in the spring, and one brother there had kept up the interest, so that when the meeting came on the singing was fine, and the result was a great meeting. The preaching was the best I had ever done. Brethren, let us wake up and have schools taught, improve our singing, and our meetings and church worship will be improved fifty per cent or more. I am sometimes persuaded that it would be best for me to go back to the profession of teaching and let those who cannot teach do the preaching. O, if the brotherhood would only realize the importance of sacred song! Dr. Herbert says the only real way to learn to read music and sing as God would have us sing is in the old-fashioned singing school. Thank God for the singing-school work. Brethren, will you not have a school taught this year before your meeting comes off? If you cannot have both, then have the singing school first; then, when you do have the meeting, it will amount to something. We have plenty of good, loyal brethren who are in the singing-school work. Brother Frank Grammar, of Bonham, Texas, and Brother Lorin Manley, of Clayton, Okla., are postgraduates in our school, and can do the work to your satisfaction. Brother D. C. Hamilton, of Checotah, Okla., is a graduate. Brother Silas L. Cox, of Lamar, Okla.; Brother B. B. Slayton, of Tipton, Okla.; Brethren J. A. Taylor, Earl McCord, and C. E. Mc-Cord, of Palatka, Ark., are all preachers, and all graduates of our school, and would be glad to teach for you. Brother C. C. Davis, of Braggs, Okla., is a young man in the work, and would be glad to do some teaching for the church. I will not have much time for teaching, as my time is practically all taken until October; but I would like to devote the winter to teaching and especially do some normal work next winter. Why can you not arrange for a winter normal just like you arrange for the summer If you want to improve meeting? your singing and have a school taught, write me, and I will see that you get a good teacher. May the Lord help us to awake to our duty along this line of work. My address is 1600 South T Street, Fort Smith, Ark.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

Count Fifty! Pains and Neuralgia Gone

Instant Relief! Rub This Nerve Torture and Misery Right Out with "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sore, inflamed nerves, and, like magic, neuralgia disappears. "St. Jacobs Liniment" con-quers pain. It is a harmless "neural-gia relief" which doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Don't suffer! It's so needless. Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and gently rub the "aching nerves," and in just a moment you will be absolutely free from pain and suffering

No difference whether your pain or neuralgia is in the face, head, or any part of the body, you get instant re-lief with this old-time, honest pain destroyer. It cannot injure.

Notes from Southern Kentucky. BY EMMETT G. CREACY.

The work in Hart, Barren, and Metcalfe counties seems to be growing some. There are many obstacles and some lukewarmness among the brethren; but regardless of all this, I think much can be accomplished this year, if the work is properly pursued. We have about twenty-five loyal churches in these three counties, and there are four "digressive" churches. Brethren F. H. Woodward, D. H. Friend, J. D. Smith, W. T. Dunagan, and J. W. Reneau live in this boundary. They are all busy, and I think there are only about eight congregations without a regular preacher this year. I desire so much to see the cause we love grow in this field. I am doing all I can to build up the work and preach the blessed gospel of our Savior to the lost.

About four years ago, at the age of seventeen, I began to preach the gospel in this field, and have been here ever since. I have had calls to come to other places, but I find here all I can do. In my four years of work I have baptized about one hundred persons and set in order two congregations. I have been able to go to destitute places and preach the truth without money. The Lord has blessed me with a home and two good aunts, who reared me from They have been mothers to me, and I am indebted to them for whatsoever success may crown my life.

I am having some tracts printed on important Bible subjects which I want to place in every home I possibly can. The Adventists have strewn their literature all over this country, and I find many good people being led astray by reading the trash. Brethren, will you stand by me in placing in these homes good literature that will point people to the Christ, the church we read about in the New Testament, the plan of salvation given by our Lord, etc.? Any one wishing to help me in this work-that is, help pay the expenses, cost of printing, etc.-may send his or her contribution to Brother Rufus Mitchell, Smith Grove, Ky., Route 4, or to me.

I expect to get a tent this year and do quite a lot of evangelistic work in destitute places. I hope to hear from the brethren and get our program arranged, so when the weather is favorable we can go right on with the good work. I am preaching regularly for the following churches this year: Fairview, Center, Coral Hill, and Mount Vernon. The work is moving on nicely. I am preaching a series of sermons on "The Model Church," which I believe will do good, I hope to see the day when we will be more systematic and have more inter-

Constipation

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Chamberlain's Tablets for constipation. When the proper dose is taken their action is so agreeable and so natural that you do not realize that it is the effect of a medicine. These tablets possess tonic properties that aid in establishing a natural and regular action of the bowels. Chamberlain's Tablets have cured many cases of chronic constipation.

Chamberlain's Tablets

est in the Lord's work. The Fairview Church is doing well. They do quite a lot of missionary work and send a contribution to the Potter Orphan Home every month. The Center Church has had a hard time. They are in the midst of all kinds of sects and isms. But everything is more favorable now. There is not so much prejudice, and the people are coming out to hear the gospel preached. Coral Hill has had a struggle, too; but they have a new meetinghouse now, and every one seems to want to follow the Lord. There are some noble Christians there. We mean to have our protracted meeting in July. The work at Mount Vernon is growing, too. Brethren, let us be diligent, always busy for the Lord, and Satan will not have a chance at us. The promise is only to the faithful.

For Colds or Influenza

and as a Preventative, take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

When writing to advertisers, please say you saw their "ad." in this paper.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?

Modern Methods of Cooking and Living Have Made an Alarming Increase in Iron Deficiency in Blood of American Men and Women for want of iron? If you were to go without eating until you became weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to rourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into living tissue," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dejt.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

Why Nuxated Iron so Helps Build Up Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks - Over 3,000,000 People Annually Tak-ing It to Increase Their Strength, Their St. Energy and Power, Endurance.

New York, and the Westchester County Hospital.

"Modern methods of cooking and the rapid pace at which people of this country live has made such an alarming increase in iron deficiency in the blood of American men and women that I have often marveled at the large number of people who lack iron in the blood, and who never suspect the cause of their weak, nervous, run-down state. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life.

"I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood-bullder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you don't want to go to this trouble, then purchase only Nuxated from in its original packages and see that (i.s. particular name (Nuxated Iron) apiers on the package."

In commenting upon the value of Nuxated Iron as a means for creating red blood strength and endurance, Dr. George H. Baker, formerly physician and surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital, New Jersey, says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the spring-time of life into the step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs, but plenty of rich pure red blood. Iron is one of the greatest of all strength and bloodbullders and unless this iron is obtained from our food it must be supplied in some form that is easily assimilated if we want to possess power, energy and endurance. I have found nothing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy red-blooded men and women as Nuxated Iron.

Manufacturer's Note: Nuxated Iron which assantiaeurer's Note: Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to drugg as everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Notes from West Tennessee.

BY JOHN R. WILLIAMS.

In my last "Notes from West Tennessee" I promised to call attention to some of the causes, in this country especially, for loss of congregational activities and spirituality.

Everything must have a leader, and without a leader it goes down. This is true of congregations. I know some congregations in this county that are down and out-all for the lack of a leader. At one time there were men in these congregations that kept them alive, kept them at work, kept them growing; but these men, desiring to better their condition financially, sold out and left these congregations to die. Is it not a fact that when a man will do such a thing, he is thinking more of the things of this world than he is of the growth, development, and usefulness of the church of God-yea, the salvation of souls? They will say: "I am going to where there is a congregation so my family can worship." That is true; but what of the congregation you are leaving? Others will say: "I must educate my children, and we have no school here in which I can do that." When an influential member thinks more of the literary education of his children than he does of the spiritual welfare of the congregation he is leaving, he certainly does not place Christianity above all else. A man should think more of the good he can do in spiritual things than of the good he can do in temporal things.

Well do I recall that at one time in my life, as a preacher, I was called by a brother into a new field for a meeting. I went. About thirty were baptized. The congregation was put to work, with that brother as a leader. Never did a congregation start off with brighter prospects. At the end of the year that brother decided he could do better financially at another place. He moved away. Result: that congregation soon died out, all on account of that one man. That man placed the things of this world above the things of God. When he settled in the new neighborhood, he called me for another meeting. I went. We had a good meeting. The congregation was left under his leadership. Soon he decided that he could make more money at some other place. He went, and so did the congregation.

I shall call attention to some other things later.

Winkler-Malphurs Debate.

BY EMMETT G. CREACY.

Brother J. G. Malphurs, of Sinai, Ky., engaged Mr. Elbert Winkler ("digressive") in a two-days' debate at Fairview, Ky., beginning on Thursday, February 5. Mr. Winkler had the advantage of Brother Malphurs, because Brother Malphurs had to affirm that the use of instrumental music in Christian worship is sinful. Winkler should have affirmed his own practice. Brother Malphurs did well in the discussion. Winkler could not meet the arguments, so he took up his time appealing to the sympathy of the audience and misrepresenting the church of Christ. About ten important questions were given him, which he deliberately ignored. However, he was a pretty good talker, and probably some were made to think that he was a debater. Mr. L. F. Martin, of Clay City, was Winkler's moderator. He tried to impress us as a "big" debater in behalf of the practices of the Christian Church. Brother Malphurs tried to get Mr. Winkler to continue the debate, but he would not. He wants to meet me. Well, he shall have the privilege, the Lord willing. But I am afraid I will never hear from him. I moderated for Brother Malphurs and found him to be a good man, a loyal Christian, and true to the word. I have no idea Mr. Winkler will ever want to meet Brother Malphurs again.

To Cure a Cold in One Day Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets.) It stops the Cough and Headache and works off the Cold. GROVE'S signature on each box. 30c.

TETTERIN

Makes low necks and short sleeves possible. It clears the skin

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Three Heroes.

BY FLAVIL HALL.

In the book of Daniel we read of three heroes-Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. There are three women at Tyner, Tenn., who possess the kind of faith that makes heroes and heroines -Mrs. W. W. Major, Mrs. Harris, and Miss Bessie Edmondson, of Nashville, who is now teaching in the grammar school at Tyner. These sisters worship faithfully each Lord's day in the home of Sister Major, except the fourth Sunday, when I visit them and we have our services in the Methodist house of worship.

On the fourth Lord's day in January several of the disciples from Ooltewah were with us and cheered us by the interest they manifested in the work. It is to be hoped that the Ooltewah congregation and the disciples in Chattanooga will continue to encourrage by their presence and otherwise the work of faith at Tyner. It is impracticable for those sisters to get to worship regularly at Chattanooga or Ooltewah; but if they could go, it would be far more commendable for them to do as they are doing-keep house for the Lord and have the seed of the kingdom sown in the community where they live and thus try to build up a congregation there. No disciple had ever preached there until I went there in November, 1919.

Whether those sisters ever realize all that they have set their hearts and hands to do or not, the Lord's blessings will surely rest upon their efforts.

Professor Major, principal of the High School and husband of Sister Major, takes a very encouraging interest in the services.

Congregations in Wilson County, Tenn., are assisting materially in the work. Services on the fourth Lord's day are at 11 A.M, and 7 P.M. The sisters meet on other Sundays in the

Why Chicks Die

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 9252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhea, and How to Cure It." This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhea, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terrible disease overnight and actually raises 98 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists or sent on receiptof price 30c by Chas, A. Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full halve found in these NOTES." helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker. Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

"THE CROSS AND RESURRECTION"

(IN SONG, REVISED AND ENLARGED)

- Contains 367 songs, and they will every one sing. It has 100 of the most-loved old songs.
- It has only the new songs of recent years that have proven their worth by the way they have been used.
- It has as sweet new music as has ever been written.

 It was compiled with the idea of endurance, and will be liked the more it is used.
- It is well bound.
- Money refunded if after careful examination you do not like it.

This book is offered at the following reasonable prices: Limp cover, 45 cents, prepaid; $5.00 per dozen, prepaid; $30.00 per hundred, by express, not prepaid. Board cover, 55 cents per copy, prepaid; $6.25 per dozen, prepaid; $45.00 per hundred, by express, not prepaid. Fifty at the hundred rates. Send all orders to

S. H. & FLAVIL HALL, 28 Ashby Street, Atlanta, Ga.

People suffering from blood poison, catarrh, skin, liver, kidaey, bladder and chronic diseases, eczema, nervous debility, exhaustion, weakness of the lungs, heart and nerves should write us for free advice question chart and book describing their condition.

Piles and rectal diseases, such as fistula, fissure, stricture or varicose veins, which cause loss of vitality, nervousness and general debility, cured or no pay. Out of town people, visiting the city in need of treatment, consult us. Many cases cured in one or two visits. Consultation free and confidential. Twenty years successful experience. Hours 10 a, m. to 7 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1 only.

DRS, MORRIS AND HARRELL

Cor. Peachtree and Walton Sts. Atlanta, Ga.

NERVOUS DISEASES

We have reprinted from a leading Health Magazine a series of articles by Dr. Biggs, treating on Nervous Debility, Melancholla, all forms of Neurasthenia, Nervous Dyspepsia, and other nervous diseases. The articles explain the cause of these aliments and fully describe the treatment employed at the Biggs Sanitarium

A copy of the pamphlet will be sent FREE to any address on request.

THE BIGGS SANITARIUM, Asheville, N. C.

Piles Cured

Dr. A. Upham's valuable electuary or internal remedy for PILES. CURES all kinds of PILES, old or new cases. It eradicates the disease from the system. If your drugglst cannot supply you, send $1.00 for trial treatment, 6 packages for $5.00. Guaranteed, if not satisfied money back. Thousands of satisfied patients all over the United States. References any Bank, Postmaster or City officials.

Why Suffer? Get CURED. J. G. & A. HALL, Oxford, N. C.

The consciousness of God's presence with us is a very delicate thing. At the bottom there is only one thing that separates a soul from God, and that is sin of some sort. Remember that very little divergence will, if the two parties are prolonged far enough, part their other ends by a world. There may be scarcely any consciousness of parting company at the beginning. Take care of little divergences that are habitual .-- A. McLaren.

Aches and Pains of rheumatism are not permanently, but only temporarily, relieved by external remedies. Why not use an internal remedy- Hood's Sarsaparilla, which corrects the aciasty of the blood, on which rheumatism depends, and cures the disease?

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.—Adv.)

PELLAGRA

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK

rrefer book giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today. CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY, Dept. 74 Atlanta Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

FROM THE FIELD

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, February 2.—Since last report the influenza has raged a great deal in Oklahoma City. Many of our members are sick. Nevertheless, God has been good to us. While others have been called upon to pay the sacrifice to sin, none of our members have. Last Sunday there were three additions. A lady requested to be baptized next Lord's day. Sunday before last there were three added.—J. A. Hudson.

Tennessee.

Hohenwald, January 26.-I write to tell of some of our work in Lewis County. I preach at Indian Creek, five miles east of Hohenwald, on the first Lord's day in each month; on the second Lord's day, at Grander's Creek Church; third Lord's day, at Little Swan Creek; fourth Lord's day, at McDonald Schoolhouse, near Napier. All these are small congregations, but are doing very well and are planning greater work for this year. from house to house and preach the word on Lord's days. I have a little time not yet taken—the first week in July and the last two weeks in Au-Any one wishing my services gust should write me at Hohenwald, Route 4, Box 28. I held eight meetings in the summer and fall of 1919. Paul told Timothy to "preach the word," and I am trying to heed the admonition.—L. W. Hinson.

Henderson, January 30 .- I am just in from Arkansas, where Brother Colley and I went to attend the Nichol-Bogard debate. Brother Nichol was unable to be there on account of sickness. Mr. Bogard preached most of the time. They allowed me one sermon. They are arranging a debate between a Mr. Jackson and me. Mr. Jackson seems to be a nice man among them. This is a neglected place. Dallas County has not a loyal congregation. I am planning to spend the month of June and the first half of July in that field. The various churches of Arkansas should respond to this work. Fordyce, the county seat, is a splendid town of about five thousand population. Bearden and Thornton are good places near. this work we will need a tent, a singer, and plenty of good literature. What congregation will send me a bundle of tracts? I need a tract that will contrast the truth with sectarian doctrine, a good tract on valid baptism. not send some good tracts for distribu-I will see that they are handled right. We can stir an interest in that way that we could not do otherwise. Tracts do not cost much. Almost any church could send two or three dollars' worth. Jesus said: "Go preach the gospel to every creature." Do not be slow in this work. Send tracts to me at Henderson, Tenn. S. O. Allen.

Texas.

Whitewright, February 2.—I began regular work with the church at Whitewright yesterday. There was one confession at the night service.

GET READY FOR "FLU"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

ned and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make money—atlize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE bookiet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton S C.

The church here is a good one. I have some time for summer meetings not engaged. Those desiring my services should write me at this place. I will be in Tennessee for some meetings in August. Let all correspondents please note that my address is Whitewright, Texas.—L. F. Mason.

Waxahachie, February 2.—I spent four days last week in El Paso, preaching three nights, with one addition. I greatly enjoyed my visit with Brethren Lee P. Mansfield and W. A. Schultz. They are men who love God and know and preach the primitive gospel of our Lord. The El Paso Church has had marked growth, and they are an enthusiastic crowd. We had large crowds at home yesterday, with two additions.—Ben West.

Fort Worth, January 28.—For one year I have cared for a sick wife, and during that time have done the work of two men or more all the timewatching, waiting, hoping, and working, doing house work, cooking, washing, and all; and at last it has overcome me, and I am broken down. My doctors tell me to-day that my recovery depends on getting away, resting, and a change of climate. I shall leave to-night, and my friends will address me at San Angelo, Texas, until further notice. I go there for my cough and lung trouble, and will be compelled to submit to a double mastoid operation in thirty days, or as soon as I can return to Fort Worth. My wife has not walked for four weeks, and it will be three weeks more before she will walk. Dr. R. H. Gough, ear and throat specialist, and Dr. William Trimble are treating me, and I am acting on their advice. Please take notice, dear brethren, this is not an appeal for money. The work will go on here at Southside-Central Church just the same while I am away, and I will resume it when I am able.—Tice Elkins.

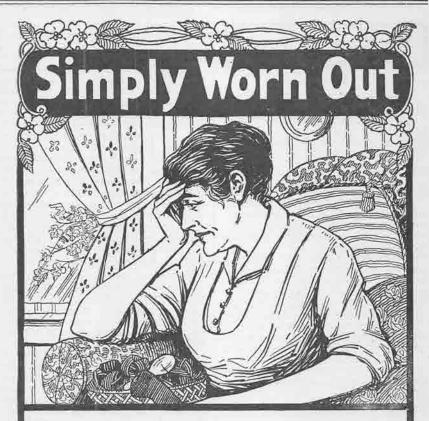

West Virginia.

Buffalo, Box $1, January 27.—I have received help in my work as follows: From E. H. Ward, $1; "A Sister in Christ," Stephens, Ark, $1; Mrs. Katie Jones, $1; J. F. Boyd, $3; H. F. Mustain and R. T. Smith, trustee, $5; Mrs. Ira C. Hardesty and Mrs. Ardie Teets, $5; John F. Kemp, Sr., $1; church of Christ at Castalian Springs, $10; Bethel church of Christ, Greenwood, Tenn., $5; A. M. George, $2. I am very thankful for this assistance. Please let it continue until we are safe here. In sending help to me, please state what it is for. This is necessary in order to prevent mistakes in making credits. If I should make any wrong credits, let any donor notify me at once. We want to increase our church-building fund as rapidly as possible.—F. P. Fonner.

Chick Food Free

If you are really interested and expect to raise some baby chicks this spring, then by all means write to day to E. J. Reefer, poultry expert, 8252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., who will send you full information about the care of baby chicks and tell you the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact.

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would unfit me entirely for my housework. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic ulcers and I would have to have an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by your medicine any time. I am fortyfour years old and have not had a day's illness of any kind for three years."—Mrs. H. Koenio, 617 Ellis Blvd, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sandusky, Ohio.—"Afterthe birth of my baby I had organic trouble. My doctor said it was caused by too heavy lifting and I would have to have an operation. I would not consent to an operation and let it go for over a year, having my sister do my work for me as I was not able to walk. One day my aunt came to see me and told me about your medicine—said it aired her of the same thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and they have cured me. Now I do my own housework, washing and ironing and sewing for my family and also do sewing for other people. I still take a bottle of Vegetable Compound every spring for a tonic. I recommend your medicina to others who have troubles similar to mine and you can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Paul. Papenfuse, 1325 Stone St., Sandusky, Ohic.

All Worn Out Women Should Take

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E DINKHAM MEDICINE CO. LYNN, MASS.

The Master's Vineyard

Florida.

Avon Park, January 28.—I am to close a meeting to-night at Plant City, where I am at this writing. There have been two accessions to the church—one by statement and one by baptism.—T. B. Thompson.

Missouri.

Springfield, January 31.—Since last report I have filled regular appointments, preached and assisted in several funerals, performed one marriage ceremony, accepted one from the Christian Church on South Side, and baptized one on North Side. The congregations where I go are holding their own, at least, and some are gaining ground. I wish to begin my protracted-meeting work on April 1, and would be glad to have work for April, May, and June. If any brethren can use me for that time, I would be glad to hear from them. I am neither "broke" nor out of work; I am just simply making the step I consider best for the cause.-M. S. Mason.

Oklahoma.

Muskogee, February 10.—I was with the Tulsa brethren last Lord's day. We had two good services. While there I had the privilege of meeting the grand old soldier of the cross, Brother J. C. Frazee, of Van Buren, Ind. Brother Frazee is eighty-two years old, but is still active in the Master's work. He will preach for the Tulsa church next Lord's day. The first Sunday in February was a good day with the church on East Okmulgee Avenue, this city. Any brethren coming to Muskogee should telephone 4172 or come to $25 North H Street. We shall be glad to entertain them.—W. L. Oliphant.

South Carolina.

Union, February 9.—I reported recently that the Twelfth Avenue congregation, of Nashville, Tenn., was planning to support a man in this field. This is a mistake. It is the Eleventh Street congregation instead. Brother S. T. Nix arrived last week to put in full time, and seems very much at home and very much enthused over the prospects in his new field of labor. We are expecting Brother Utt, of West Virginia, this week, to look over the field with a view of taking up the work permanently. The outlook is very encouraging, and we are planning and expecting great things in this field this year.—Thomas H. Burton.

Tennessee.

Memphis, February 6.—The work at Harbert Avenue, this city, was seriously hindered during January by the influenza epidemic. After the third Sunday all meetings were discontinued, with the exception of a short communion service each Sunday morning. The situation shows little, if any, improvement. However, during last month we held sixteen services and received thirteen additions.—C. A. Norred, Decherd, February 9.-I preached at Pikeville on the first Lord's-day morning in February, at Lee's Station in the afternoon, and at College Grove at night, with large crowds at each service. The College Grove brethren are starting off nicely in their new house. On my visit there the house was filled, and yet there were some on the outside. On my return home, I met Brother Newton Chitwood on his way to Knoxville to get married. At his request I went with him and performed the marriage ceremony for him and Miss Sudie Wrinkle, at the home of the bride, in the presence of a few witnesses. I was at Tracy City on the second Lord's day. On account of sickness in many of the homes, the crowd was not large. The brethren there are doing a splendid work. R. E. L. Taylor.

Pikeville, February 10.—Brother Mosley and I closed our Bible read-ing at College Station on Thursday night of last week. In getting people all to read and to take part in the work of the church we did a great deal of good. Four of the books of the Old Testament were closely studied, also seven of the books of the New Testament. Some of the students committed to memory a good deal of scripture, one repeating seventeen chapters and a great number of verses from other chapters. On Friday I came to Beaver Hill, where I have preached four times. Brother Mosley preached at Cold Springs on Friday night, when one person made the good confession. This required his staying and attending to the baptism on Saturday. He also preached on Saturday and Saturday night. He then came on to Beaver Hill, where he has preached once, and together we are having a few-days' Bible reading and singing.-Andrew Perry,

Texas.

Waxahachie, February 9.—We had delightful services here yesterday. Three were added by transfer from Columbia, Tenn. All services are well attended and the membership is at work daily.—Ben West.

Cleburne, February 6.—Our work here is moving along nicely. The church, "they say," is in the best condition that it has ever been, and we are arranging to do much more work than ever before.—G. Dallas Smith.

Sick Chicks Saved

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 5252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhea, and How to Cure It." This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhea, and tells how to prepare a simple home so lution that cures this terrible disease overlight and actually raises 98 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

. A WELL-KNOWN INSTITUTION

Probably no institution in America is more widely known than Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. Altho established many years ago it is to-day a modern sanitarium, having all the latest facilities for the correct diagnosis of diseases and their successful treatment thru medicine or surgery.

It was Dr. Pierce, its founder, who over 50 years ago gave to the world that wonderful stomach tonic and blood purifier, "Golden Medical Discovery," and that famous non-alcoholic medicine for women, "Favorite Prescription."

In his early professional career, Dr. Pierce realized that every family, but especially those who live remote from a physician, should have at hand an instructive book that would teach them something about First Aid, Physiology, Anatomy, Hygiene; how to recognize differ nt diseases, how to care for the sick, what to do in case of accident or sudden sickness, etc., so he published that great book, the "Medical Adviser," an up-to-date edition of which can be procured by sending 50 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

Later, Dr. Pierce added another link to his chain of good works by establishing a bureau of correspondence to which any one can write for medical advice, without any expense whatever, and if necessary, medicines especially prepared in Docton Pierce's Laboratory will be sent by parcel post or express for use at home, at a reasonable cost. Thus those who have symptoms of disease need not suffer mental agony fearing that they have some serious ailment, but can have a diagnosis made free by a physician of high professional by a physician of high professional standing. Write to Dr. Pierce relating your symptoms if you need medical advice for any chronic disease. All letters regarded as confidential

Barbarous or civilized, pagan or Christian, catch a man at his best and he is in prayer.—Marshall P. Talling.

WINTERSMITHS WINTERSMITHS WINTERSMITHS

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER ALSO A FINE GENERAL STRENGTHEN-

Volume LXII. No. 9.

NASHVILLE, TENN., FEBRUARY 26, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTRACTO

tions and reserve a significant	20200
The Menace of Bolshevism	193
Our Contributors	194
Book Reviews	198
Journeyings Often	199
Query Department	200
At Home and Abroad	201
Editorial	202
Relief Fund	205
Georgia and the Far Southern Field
Freed-Hardeman College	209
Fishing	210
Revelation (No. 2)	211
Money Received for the Potter Orphan Home Ford	212
From the Field
The Church of Christ Will Do H (No. 9)	214

The Menace of Bolshevism

When the majority of people in all civilized lands set the stamp of their approval upon a movement, social, political, or religious, that is a strong, but not sure, presumption in favor of its inherent goodness. If, on the other hand, the same majority betrays a decisive opposition to a great movement, that is just as strong a presumption that the movement is opprobrious and reprehensible. The voice of the people is not always the voice of God. But when the people's voice is raised in defense of well-recognized principles of fair dealing and national integrity, we may rest assured that there is no contradiction. On the essentially immoral character of Bolshevism the civilized world has made up its mind. The only dissenting voices seem to be found among the professional social reformers and their followers. They asked us to suspend judgment on "Bolshevism, as the reports of the daily press are utterly unreliable; they originate in prejudicial sources and then are censored to support a particular policy." Now that this charge against the daily press has been disproved by the revelations before the Senate committee, we are asked to suspend judgment on the "location and degree of responsibility for these acts." At the same time it is intimated that the Bolshevik government has no culpable responsibility for them, that they are "the inevitable anarchic acts of individuals and bands in a country which has passed through revolutions;" and that the present undemocratic and ruthless suppression of political opponents in Russia is only "a temporary exercise of the right of every established government to defend itself against armed rebellion." Such attempts to confuse the public mind may temporarily perplex the uninformed and mislead some into doubting as to whether the prevailing opinion concerning Bolshevism is correct.

In dealing with this evil, our first task should be to acquire a full and intelligent understanding of the nature of our problem. We can never successfully oppose Bolshevism unless we first of all understand it. Bolshevism is a political and social disease and must be treated as such. Some years ago, when we heard much of the hookworm, a woman physician said that the first thing to do was to find the hookworm's eggs and then we might easily get rid of the disease. It is only the thoughtless who believe that Bolshevism was invented by German propaganda. It is equally stupid to regard it as something distinctly Russian or as the vicious product of the perverted genius of Trotzky and Lenine. Bolshevism is not to be condemned upon the ground that it has had intimate associations with strikes. Strikes are as old as the world itself, and there were times, no doubt, in our history when it was right to strike. Nor is Bolshevism to be condemned for the reason alone that it has occasioned much bloodshed and wanton destruction of property. On that same ground we would be compelled to condemn every war in history. And if I clearly understand the teaching of the New Testament, Jesus Christ does condemn all wars. Our own country has been rent and torn by civil strife; but no one would dare compare the Lost Cause of the Confederacy with that of the Red Menace. No, there must be some deeper reason than that which lies upon the surface for the universal hatred and protest against Bolshevism. I am not content to believe that the Bolshevistle movement is confined altogether to a vicious and degenerate class of society. Bolshevism is a species of Nihilism, and Nihilism springs from the despair of beneficent change. It is a native of countries which are governed by despotic rule. That is why we so easily think that Bolshevism is exclusively Russian. Political and economic conditions in that country are worse than in any other. Mr. John Spargo offers the explanation that "the black terrorism of the Czars brought about the red terrorism of the Bolshevlki. The only substantial difference between Bolshevism and Czarism is that whereas the latter represented autocracy and tyranny from the top, exerting its pressure downward, the former represents autocracy and tyranny at the bottom, exerting its pressure upward." We are not surprised to find revolutionary movements in Russia under such conditions. We may take it as a certain law of history and society that where the mind feels unable to modify the system under which it lives it will inevitably plan the dissolution of the order which dooms it to impotence.

But how can one explain the spread of Bolshevism in America, where we boast of our political and economic democracy, freedom, and equality of opportunity? We are ready to condone its presence in darkest Russsia, and with no misgivings of conscience we are sending the Red agitators "back to the place where they belong" upon the theory that ours is not a congenial soil for such movements. But why is it here at all?

Without entering into any exhaustive statement and analysis of the situation, we may summarize the chief reasons for the extension of Bolshevism to America as follows:

First—The large per cent of the population of alien birth in our industrial centers. It has been estimated that in many of the large industrial plants eighty per cent of those who work are foreign born. One manufacturer of Bridgeport, Conn., stated that among his employees forty-six languages were spoken.

Second-A large per cent of this foreign population are unnaturalized, and practically all of them are unassimilated into our national life. As a noted manufacturer said: "They neither comprehend America nor love it." In most cases they come here full of faith in our democracy, expecting far too much of it. We have taken them into our industrial life, but we have failed as yet to win their affectionate trust and confidence. Our first duty toward them is educative. We must dispel their ignorance. We must as quickly as possible naturalize them. We must enthuse them with our ideals. Christians must do more; they must carry the gospel to them. We must show them in some substantial way that conditions here are in no sense like, and never can be equal to, those in Russia. We must convince them that whatever mistakes may have been made were honestly made and that the efforts of our true statesmen and the best thought of our citizens is now centered upon the amelioration of economic conditions in this country. We must demonstrate that the positive and constructive side of our government is vastly different from the destructive system so earnestly advocated by our enemies. (To be continued.)

Our Contributors

A Most Important Appeal From Louisville.

The King's Hall congregation, for the past year and a half, has been meeting in a rented hall in the Highland section of Louisville, Ky. This is one of the very best residential sections of the city with a growing population which it is impossible to reach with the many disadvantages necessarily involved in meeting in an upstairs hall. However, in spite of these disadvantages, we have made some growth, having increased in numbers from forty-one to fifty-one members.

Though few in numbers, with but little of this world's goods, our faith'in God and in the generosity of our friends is strong, and we have therefore undertaken to secure a new church home.

Among our own members we have raised, in cash and promises, a little over thirty-two hundred dollars. We have purchased in the Highland neighborhood a very desirable lot for nineteen hundred dollars on which we hope, with the help of friends, to erect a small house of worship within the next few months.

The deed to our lot was drawn with special care. It not only contains the "restrictive clause," but we believe it is so worded as to provide against the possibility of having the property taken from us through majority rule, in case we, or our successors, be so unfortunate in later years as to have developed in our congregation again a sect willing to thus take property to which they have no just claim.

The readers of the Gospel Advocate will recall that we were driven from our church house by the autocratic course of Brother E. L. Jorgenson and Brother Don-Carlos Janes, who, we believe, persuaded a majority of the Highland Church to stand with them in their refusal to respect our conscientious convictions when we could not support Brother Jorgenson in teaching his dangerous and hurtful Advent and Russellite theories.

Since, as just stated, these erroneous doctrines have been introduced into the congregation from which we were driven, we are convinced that uncorrupted Christianity will not be maintained in this important section of Louisville, except by some such effort as we are now trying to make. Hence, prompted by these high motives, we make this appeal to all lovers of the truth who may be inclined to bear fellowship with us in thus standing against ruinous speculative theories and in standing for the simple doctrine of the New Testament.

Kindly mail all contributions direct to W. T. Kannard, 2222 Slaughter Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

R. O. RUBEL.
M. S. JEAN.
E. F. TUCKER.
HENRY ROSE.
C. A. TAYLOR.

For the past year 1 have given part of my time to the King's Hall congregation, and am, therefore, in a position to know well the members of this church, their trials, and the needs of this particular field.

This congregation is composed of as faithful members as one could find anywhere; they aim to worship in the simple gospel way as revealed in the New Testament. While they have met severe trials and persecutions, yet they have unfalteringly pressed onward in their determination to hold aloft the sacred banner of our King.

Considering these faithful brethren as a nucleus around which to build up the cause of Christ, I can safely say that this field presents one of the most promising opportunities of any field of which I have any knowledge.

The King's Hall brethren can be trusted to use wisely and effectively any gifts the brotherhood may send in response to the above appeal, and I most heartily, with wellplaced confidence, bespeak for them a sympathetic hearing and a generous response.

Situated on the second floor of a business house, it is extremely difficult for the older members, and at times impossible for the two oldest women, now about eighty years of age, to climb this long flight of stairs. This sad condition alone should present a compelling appeal to the readers of the Advocate. It is indeed sad for these old soldiers of the cross to have to meet for worship in this uncomfortable structure, while across the street is their former comfortable home, paid for largely by themselves and long ago dedicated to the service of God, but which has been taken from them by unscriptural force; for it is a noteworthy and significant fact that less than a dozen members of those now worshiping at King's Hall gave three times as much money to provide the church house now used by Brother Jorgenson and the Highland church of Christ as did all the members together who now worship there. The injustice of this, as well as the loss of their home by the King's Hall brethren, is enough to touch the hearts of all Christians. I have looked into the hearts of these brethren and know their worthiness and the pain and anguish they have suffered. My purpose at all times is to speak nothing but facts, and it is from my personal knowledge of the situation that I call upon the brethren everywhere to weigh well this worthy appeal of the King's Hall Church, which assuredly merits the fellowship of brethren everywhere.

R. A. Craig.

A Sincere Regret.

BY JOHN T. SMITHSON.

If I mash my hand, the whole body feels the pain and suffers from the wound. The church of our Lord Jesus Christ is his body and he is the head. Christians are "the body of Christ, and severally members thereof;" and when one member suffers, the whole body suffers with it. I do not know whether brethren realize this as they should. It seems now to me that the feeling one for another that we should have is forgotten. It seems that we have lost sight of the high calling whereby we have been called. Brethren, are we depraved in mind and heart? Are we void of the Spirit of Christ? There is something wrongbadly wrong-somewhere and with some one. It would be a delightful thing, indeed, if all the brethren would dwell together in unity and let all things be done in the open. Why should Christians do anything in the dark, or use the tactics of a shrewd politician? There has been much evil done by the political schemes of brethren in many congregations. It is always the case that trouble and lasting enmity exist through wicked and undermining works of members of the church. When anything comes up to mar the happiness and break the peace of the members of the church, it always hurts me, and I am grieved at heart over the wrong done. The pain does not stop here with us as members of the body, but it goes to the head, who is Christ, our Savior.

I notice that the editors of three leading religious papers -the Christian Leader, the Firm Foundation, and the Gospel Advocate-have announced to the brotherhood that S. O. Martin and Hume McHenry, missionaries to India, have embraced and are teaching the doctrine of the Seventh-Day Adventists. I am very sorry and deeply regret that it is true. But such is the result of not having been taught the way of the Lord perfectly. Speculative teaching, human theories, and the doctrines of men concerning the word of God will always result in a shipwreck of the faith. It is time now to take warning. Let us take our bearing, having the word of God as our chart and compass. Let us send out warnings of the present evil among us and show the direful result in traveling in the wrong direction. Let us build by the line and plummet, or our work will be in vain and our building will fall.

It will be remembered that Brother Jelley was a missionary to India for a long time; and after the two brethren who are now with the Adventists were sent to India to help Brother Jelley, it was not long till complaints were received over here about the work there. Brother Jelley finally came back to America, thus leaving the work in India in the hands of Brethren Martin and McHenry. Now they are gone to the Adventists, leaving India without a missionary. Of course, as Brother Rowe says, "this announcement will be sad news to our brethren, and somewhat disheartening." Brother Showalter says: "The Highland Church, at Louisville, and the church at Allensville, Ky., have been the chief supporters of these two missionaries, and these congregations are to be commended for their zeal and interest in missions. It is hoped these brethren will not be discouraged. They should at once arrange to send out others to continue the work already begun," While I agree with Brother Showalter that others should be sent to India to continue the work, yet I do not think another "Timothy without a Paul" should be sent. No one "being scarcely more than a boy" should be sent, for he will "not be able to stand up against the overwhelming onslaught of sectarianism." With these facts stated, I must say that, to my mind, the brethren who selected and sent these brethren to India showed poor judgment. Why should one "scarcely more than a boy" in years, and, of course, young in the cause of Christ, be sent to a heathen land as a missionary? Now, since this is the case, and we see the result, I am wondering what the missionaries in Japan are going to do, since the brethren who selected these and sent them to India have also selected and sent those who are in Japan. Will they be "able to stand up against the overwhelming onslaught of sectarianism?"

There is, brethren, something more serious involved in this matter than the youth of Brother Martin. It is evident that teaching is involved, and this defection is the effect of speculative teaching done by those brethren who have been propagating a system of speculative teaching. Brother McQuiddy says: "Long ago McHenry convinced the manager of this journal that he was in sympathy with those in this country who were teaching destructive speculative views and who did not heed the admonition of Paul concerning things not fundamental, to hold their faith to themselves before God. (Rom. 14: 22.) It is not surprising that he and Martin have formally gone to the Adventists, for their course is the natural and logical outcome of the speculative movement against which we have warned the churches and a complete vindication of the wisdom of our course. Their going is simply their faith completed in action." Now, since this departure from the truth is the "natural and logical outcome of the speculative movement" featured by the brethren who sent Martin and McHenry to India, need we but look-though sad it be -for "more fruit" of the same kind from the missionaries in Japan, who are sent there by the same brethren? After seeing the fruit of their labors, will they, in view of meeting God in judgment, continue to teach this speculative system, or will they with renewed minds preach the faith and peace which they have been destroying?

Brother Rowe says that "personal friends of Brother Martin . . . believe that he can be rescued;" and Brother Rowe himself seems to be somewhat hopeful of rescuing him since he is "more than willing to let the matter rest until he [Brother Martin] gets back to America among his friends." I do not know what evidence they have to cause them to believe that Brother Martin can be rescued, unless it is that Brother Martin "being scarcely more than a boy," they may be able to teach him better. I would be glad if that could be done. Without saying anything that would shake their faith in rescuing him, let us remember that grain will grow from what we sow, and a bountiful harvest it will yield. Should the "personal friends" of Brother Martin rescue him, what about the harvest that will grow from what he has sown in India? I am quite sure that the trouble growing from the false teaching of these two men will confront the missionaries in India for some time. We cannot tell how much it will do in the future. I sincerely regret that it ever happened. I may never live to see the end of the evil resulting from this speculative teaching.

What these men will do when they return to America is to be seen. I would rejoice greatly if all the differences and trouble here among us could be settled before they get back, so that when they arrive they may find a united, strong, and faithful brotherhood. This will do more to rescue them than anything else.

These men have to be supported while in India, even after going to the Adventists. They will have to have money to come to America. Where will they get it? Will they use the money that has been contributed by the churches of Christ for this purpose? Brother Showalter says: "I am sure they do not expect the churches of Christ to support them in observing the seventh day of the week and in teaching the doctrine of the Seventh-Day Adventists," How is it that Brother Showalter can say he is "sure" they do not expect the churches of Christ to support them, since he has never received a statement from them for publication as to what they will do? Brother Rowe says: "We feel confident, also, that any funds forwarded to them since September will be returned." This statement fixes a date of their known departure from the teaching of the church of Christ to Adventism. Who is it that knew these men were preaching the Adventists' doctrine in September of last year? If they were in last September preaching Adventism, why was any money from the churches of Christ sent them since September? There is something wrong somewhere. Not a penny from the churches of Christ should have been sent them after it was known that they had embraced the Adventists' doctrine. This is enough to discourage congregations that were supporting these missionaries. It is bad enough for these missionaries to turn away from the faith and teaching of the churches, but it is still worse to take money from these churches and send it to them after it was known they had gone over to the Adventists.

Who knew of this in September? Brother McQuiddy says: "Don Carlos Janes, who has undertaken to manage the missionaries in India and elsewhere, has remained silent and has not made known the defection through the papers which he used successfully in securing contributions for their support. He is not ignorant of their action; for I am informed by a reliable brother, who has been told by a very close and dear friend of Brother Janes, that he has known of their going to the Adventists since early in September of last year." This makes Brother Janes knowing of the action of these brethren for about four months before any public statement was made concerning them-and Brother Janes did not make this statement. Just why Brother Janes would keep silent for nearly four months before anything was made public about these brethren, and all the time collecting and sending funds to them, I do not know. Let Brother Janes tell the brotherhood why he has so acted. My heart is sad and my spirit is grieved that these things are so. May God guide and bless us, that we may do the right thing all the time," and never at any time yield to the wrong in anybody. in any way, at any time.

More Light on the Kingdom.

BY G. DALLAS SMITH.

In the Gospel Advocate of January 29 Brethren Srygley and Hall express great surprise because I said I did not know absolutely that the church and the kingdom are one and the same institution. Under present conditions my language was perhaps unfortunate, for Brother Srygley and Brother Hall both seem to have misunderstood me; but, as fair-minded men and Christian gentlemen, they will, of course, allow me to place my own construction on what I said, and not try to force me to occupy a position which I stoutly disavow.

First, I have absolutely no sympathy with the idea that Christ came into the world to set up his kingdom, but, because the Jews rejected him, set up the church as a substitute. Neither have I any sympathy with the idea that makes the church a kind of "vestibule" to the kingdom. And I have never had any sympathy with such views.

Second, I confidently believe that the kingdom spoken of by Daniel (2: 44), and announced by John the Baptist, Jesus, the twelve, and the seventy as being "at hand," was the church. And I understand that this kingdom, or church, was set up, established, on the first Pentecost after the resurrection of Jesus. This I have always believed and taught, and, as far as I am able to foresee, I shall so continue to my dying day. In other words, there has never been a question in my mind as to the kingdom, as used in many places in the New Testament, meaning the church and nothing else.

But there are some other references to the kingdom in the New Testament about which I am not so sure, and it was this phase of the subject which I had in mind when I said "I do not know" and "my own mind is not clear on the subject." For instance, in Matt. 8: 11 we read: "That many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven." Does the "kingdom of heaven" here mean the church? I think not. And again: "Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father." (Matt. 13: 43.) And does the "kingdom" here mean the church? Again I think not-"do not know." In Matt. 25: 34 we read: "Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father. inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Here again I am unable to see how the word "kingdom" can be applied to the church; but I am ready to be taught, if any one thinks it can be done. "I do not know." And the apostle Paul, addressing Christians, as reported by Luke (Acts 14: 22), said to these Christians-to those who were already in the church, or kingdom: "We must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God." I cannot say that I know the "kingdom" of this passage means the church. In fact, I do not think so. But if either Brother Srygley or Brother Hall can show from the Scriptures that the "kingdom" of this passage is the church, then I shall gladly accept it; for I have absolutely no pet theory to bolster up, if I know my own heart. And once more, the apostle Peter, writing to Christians-subjects of the kingdom which is the church -after urging them to add to their faith the Christian graces, said: "For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." (2 Pet. 1: 11.) Now, I cannot see how the "kingdom" of this passage can mean the church. It may; but until I get more light on the subject. I am unable to see it. And this is all I meant by saying: "I do not know. My own mind is not clear on the subiect."

Furthermore, I have always thought that there were two states of the kingdom—the earthly or temporal state, and the heavenly or everlasting state. And I have always thought, and I still think, that the earthly or temporal state of the kingdom is coextensive with the church; but the heavenly or everlasting state is heaven itself, and therefore we cannot properly apply the term "church" to this. I may be wrong about this. "I do not know. My mind is not clear on the subject." But if any brother can furnish the light, I am ready to accept it, whether it favors this position or is against it. I simply want the light.

But why should Brother Srygley and Brother Hall be so shocked that I do not know everything about the kingdom? Brother Scobey is a much older man than I am, and he knows but little about it, according to these brethren; for he says the kingdom and the church are not the same. Then there is Brother David Lipscomb, of sacred memory, who, according to Brethren Srygley and Hall, knew mighty little about the kingdom. Brother Lipscomb is admittedly the greatest scholar-Bible scholar-the brotherhood ever produced, and yet he did not know all about the "kingdom," according to Brother Srygley and Brother Hall; for he taught that the kingdom and the church are not the same institution. On page 247 of "Queries and Answers," by D. Lipscomb, is found this question: "Does the kingdom and the church mean the same thing or not?" here is Brother Lipscomb's answer: "Not exactly. The kingdom embraces the church, but is, I think, more extensive in its signification. The church embraces the disciples of Christ separated from the world by obedience to Christ. . . . The kingdom of God embraces everything and person in the universe over which God rules as King. The term 'kingdom' is not only more extensive in its reach, but it is viewed from a different standpoint." I am not citing this quotation from Brother Lipscomb as authority for any one. I have cited it simply to show that much greater Bible scholars than I ever hope to be, and men who have written more books than I have, did not know all about the kingdom, according to Brother Srygley and Brother Hall. Then why be shocked and surprised that I am not able to speak with absolute certainty on the kingdom question?

I have not the least idea that there is any real difference in what I believe and teach on the question and what Brother Srygley and Brother Hall teach on it. But I may be mistaken. They may speak for themselves.

REPLY BY F. B. SRYGLEY.

The above from Brother Dallas Smith sounds much better than his former indefinite statement that he did not know whether the church and the kingdom are the same. This shows that he is very certain about it. But he asks: "Why should Brother Srygley and Brother Hall be so shocked that I do not know everything about the kingdom?" I was not shocked that he did not know everything about the kingdom, but I was about to be shocked because he did not know the church and the kingdom are the same; but now he has by this explanation unshocked me and I feel better. He admits himself that his language was unfortunate under present conditions; and as present conditions are all the conditions we have at the present, he could just as easily have said that his language was unfortunate, and I think he might have said "unscriptural." He was not talking about the eternal state of the kingdom. He said that he did not know whether they were the same institution or not. Neither was that state under consideration by either Brother Smith or Brother Scobey. The tense of the verb he uses in the very first sentence in this article shows that he was talking about the church and kingdom now and not in eternity. As to what he had in his mind, I could not know. Neither did I undertake to criticize what he had in his mind; it was what he put in the Advocate that I objected to. What seems to bother Brother Smith is that there will be some in the eternal state of the kingdom that are not in the church here. But neither are any of these in the kingdom here, for Brother Smith and I are agreed that the church and the kingdom are the same.

Brother Smith's allusion to Brother Scobey's position and his quotation from Brother D. Lipscomh do not go in this investigation, because he cut that all out when he was arguing with Brother Scobey. He did not want Brother Scobey's "think so's" or the opinion of any uninspired man. It was the Scriptures he wanted then, but now he seems to be willing to take help from any source. He himself set the game, and he ought to play it according to his own rules.

A Better Ministry.

BY S. F. MORROW.

On August 28, 1919, we had the "Better Ministry" Number of the Gespel Advocate. I want to thank the one who suggested this subject. Certainly he sees the need of a better ministry. Many good things have been said on this all-important subject. As I see it, it is one of the most vital subjects to be scripturally settled before the church of God to-day. "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for Instruction which is in righteousness: that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work," (2 Tim. 3: 16, 17.) This scripture proves to my mind that we have a perfect rule by which to settle every good work. Everything we do should be done in love.

Several have written from the date of this number to December 18. It seems to me after carefully reading all the writings, that most of them think it is for lack of support. I am afraid, dear brethren, it is a lack of faith in God and his holy word. I want to commend to all the life and perfect example of Jesus, the only perfect pattern in all the Bible. Think of the great work he did in his three years' ministry. He lived a life of hardship, toil, hunger, and at last closed it on Calvary's cross with the shedding of his precious blood for the sins of the world. "My flesh trembleth for fear of thee; and I am afraid of thy judgments," (Ps. 119: 120.) Dear brethren, I fear we want to wear the crown, but are not willing to carry the cross. Paul teaches that we should endure hardships, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. How many are making any sacrifice worth while? Just here I am afraid most of us are deceived. Let us measure ourselves by the perfect pattern, Jesus Christ. I sincerely believe if all will do this in the love of the truth and the hope of saving our own souls, and if all will hear the words of Jesus, a great reformation will follow; and all who know the condition the churches are in know a great reformation is needed.

Many congregations are dying for want of teaching. They never were established in the faith as the Bible directs. These are mostly poor congregations. The wealthier congregations are dying for lack of being put to work. They are being preached to death on Sunday and Sunday night; cannot have prayer meeting without a preacher. What does the Bible teach here? That the elders should teach and look after the flock. One of our writers said that some of our elders are "deadhead elders," and another says that some are "popgun elders." Who is responsible for such elders? Certainly the preacher who has taught them. What is more selfish than the way our preaching is done?

Can a man go to heaven living in selfishness? "Though he was a Son, yet learned obedience by the things which he suffered; and having been made perfect, he became unto all them that obey him the author of eternal salvation." (Heb. 5: 8, 9.) If the good Lord had to suffer to learn obedience, what are we? Where is the man that has made a success at any worthy calling without some hardship? We have many good preachers to-day, both old and young, who are doing well. The old ones have reared good children; the young ones are following their example. We have never heard them complain. Think of what our beloved David Lipscomb has given to the cause. Think, also, of B. F. Coulter, of Los Angeles, Cal., under whose preaching I obeyed the gospel. At his death the property he had given to the church was valued at one hundred and fiftythousand dollars. It was thought by some that he was digressive. No. He worshiped where there was an organ, but he said to a brother who now lives in Nashville, Tenn., in his last years, that he would put it out if he could. Since his death, I am told, the church has put in a large pipe organ. A. L. Johnson, one of the great men to preach to the poor, preached to one poor congregation seven years, rode twenty-five miles horseback, and never missed an appointment. I went to see him at Fort Worth, Texas, after he had passed eighty. He was still preaching. I insisted on giving him something, but he said he had plenty. F. B. Srygley said to me the other day that he had been paid for all he had done. He has preached as many sermons in the last thirty years as any one, I would think. He goes to rich and poor alike. I refer to these good brethren to show that the trouble is not in the work the Lord has given us to do; it is in the ones who fail to do the work and endure hardships.

I want it understood that I believe the Bible teaches that elders and preachers who give their time to the churches, preachers going to destitute places, should be well supported, and will be if they will follow the commands of Jesus. Those preachers who are preaching to the rich congregations to the neglect of the poor and who never go into places where the gospel has never been heard are not worthy of a support. Brother David Lipscomb said to me, a short time before he passed to his reward, of one of our preachers, that he wished he would just hold one mission meeting. Jesus says: "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matt. 28: 19, 20.) If we believe the great commission, preach the word, live righteously and godly, all will work together for our good.

Since commencing this artice I notice others have written. Brother Talley has answered as well as any one could some of Brother Beasley's questions. We should all let the Bible settle all questions. I will say to Brother Talley that I have known Brother Beasley from a schoolboy. He was a student of the Nashville Bible School. I have heard more than one of his neighbors say he stands as high as any one for truth, honesty, and industry. May the Lord bless us all in doing more and complaining less.

Lying.

BY DR. G. N. MURPHEY.

I did not know when I began writing this article that it had been made the object lesson for our Sunday schools for Sunday, January 25. The selection of this subject for an article at this particular time may have been purely a coincident or it may have been telepathic—most likely the latter, as I believe there is such a thing as mind transference.

I believe that minds act upon minds at great distances, even on opposite sides of the earth. I have had many personal experiences in such mental phenomena and do not question its action. Solomon says that countenance sharpeneth countenance as iron sharpeneth iron.

Lying is a grievous sin, and the Bible puts in the same class with murder, theft, and adultery. It further says that God hateth a liar.

King David said that all men are liars. Jeremiah says that the heart is deceitful above all things and is desperately wicked. Hence, it behooves us to ever be on our guard in all our statements and business transactions, lest we transgress against the laws of truth.

Word of mouth or a written statement is by no means the only way to tell a falsehood. There are as many different ways to falsify as there are different minds to think.

Many lies are implied. For example, the groceryman or huckster who fills his measure with potatoes, and puts the indifferent or bad ones in the bottom and the best ones on top, tells a falsehood by implication without saying a word.

There is no difference in the principle of the one who tells a falsehood, whether it is spoken or implied.

I asked a market gardener why he put his best vegetables on top of his measures. He promptly replied, because he wished to sell them. Whereas his answer was a truthful statement, yet there was nothing in his heart to prevent him from practicing a fraud in his dealings.

I believe some people have the idea that a little lie thus practiced does not count much. The Bible says, however, that he that is unjust in the least is unjust in much. The same condition of heart that will allow one to tell a little lie will allow him to tell a big one if he wishes to do so.

I once heard the great evangelist, Sam Jones, say that the smallest lie on earth was bigger than hell and that the whitest lie was blacker than hell. That was a pretty strong way of putting it, yet we are bound to admit of its truth.

Again, the Bible says: "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man; but the end thereof are the ways of death." This quotation, no doubt, has reference to the small, wicked transactions of life that are disregarded by man on account of their seeming insignificance.

Some years ago I was passing through the city market house and saw a woman industriously turning some stale, wilted strawberries from one box to another, thereby placing the indifferent or wilted berries in the bottom of the box and putting the fresher-looking ones on top. That may have appealed to her in a business sense as being legitimate. However, I took a different view of the matter and said to her: "Sister, turn your heart and not your berries." I hope she heeded my advice.

The following story may or may not be true, but, at any rate, it shows how the world regards a liar.

The story is that there was a man who had a son who seemed to possess about all the bad characteristics that the flesh is heir to. His father, like most other fathers, was very anxious to have his boy reform and make a good man. When his son was ready to enter upon his higher education, his father accompanied him to a university and sought an interview with the president of the school before matriculating his son in the institution. He told the president of a goodly number of his son's bad habits, among which were gambling, drinking, stealing, swearing, etc.; then he paused and asked the president if he thought he could bring any influence to bear on his son that would possibly reform him. The president replied that he thought he could. Then the father said: "I forgot to tell you that my son is a terrible liar." The president shook his head and said disconsolately: "You had better take your son home with you, as I fear I can do nothing with him."

Book Reviews.

"Adventism and the Bible." By J. Henry Monk. Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25.

The author has inside information on the subject of Adventism. Elder T. W. Field, president of the West Texas Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, says of him: "Mr. Monk was a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church for eight years; attended one of their schools for five years under the tutorship of ordained ministers; attended church every Sabbath during these school terms, besides many more meetings; attended our camp meetings and heard some of our ablest ministers preach-from the president of the General Conference down. . . . He read much of our literature and spent several summers selling the same. He also taught two terms in one of our schools, and, in doing so, he taught the things that are in our books; besides, he was a licensed minister for two years, and preached the things he now condemns." Before refuting a theory, it is necessary to understand it. His former associates being witnesses, he has had ample opportunities for knowledge on all phases of Adventism. But its doctrines became more and more untenable the more deeply he studied the Scriptures, and the final result is this volume in refutation of the things he once believed. The books shows a painstaking, truth-loving spirit, and ought to be of real service in communities where Adventism is giving trouble.-Christian-Evangelist.

Never divorce yourself from the thought that to worry and yield to a feeling of depression when adversity comes is an admission of a lack of faith. Remember, too, that worry is a prolific breeder of ills and often kills. Trust implicitly, do your duty, and he will provide.—Selected.

25

JOURNEYINGS OFTEN

By B. C. GOODPASTURE,

"What thou seest, write, . . and send it to the churches."

A Few Names.

If the apostle John were writing to the church at Tuliahoma, he could use, with perfect propriety, one statement made in his message to the church in Sardis-namely: "Thou hast a few names . . , that did not defile their garments." (Rev. 3: 4.) A few years ago a tidal wave of digression struck Tullahoma and swept the greater part of the church into the maelstrom of modern ecclesiasticism. The brethren who remained true to the "ancient order of things" have "fought a good fight" for "the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints." As a result of this commendable stand, they have been persecuted and styled "a narrow and insignificant few." To be called "narrow" is no disgrace. There is a certain narrowness which is necessary, since it is "the narrow gate . . . that leadeth unto life." (Matt. 7: 13, 14.) Some people are entirely too broad-minded to enter it! Almost every crisis in the history of the religious world has found God's people in the minority. Noah and his family may have been ridiculed and unpopular, but they alone survived a race all but lost in the deluge. When the kingdom of Israel divided, only two tribes continued to worship the living God in Jerusalem. After the last judgment is over and the final separation is made, the Lord's minority will be safe, unharmed, and unafraid in "the kingdom prepared for them from the foundation of the world."

0 0 0

Jeroboam's Magnanimity.

In the division referred to, the loyal brethren lost their meetinghouse. It was nothing new or unusual. This is one of the early numbers on a regular "progressive" program. In this setting, one trait in the character of Jeroboam shines with a peculiar radiance. He introduced new and modern ideas into the worship, raised images in Bethel and Dan, and "made Israel to sin;" but when he carried ten tribes away into idolatry, be it to his eternal credit, he did not try to take the temple in Jerusalem from those who preferred to worship there. It is difficult for a man to be wholly devoid of some good. With a zeal possessed only by those who are conscious of the righteousness of their cause, these brethren, "rejected and despised by men," set themselves to the task of securing a house in which to worship God. They have built a splendid meetinghouse and paid for it. The opportunity for a faithful preacher of the gospel in and around Tullahoma is great. Some good brother who wants to preach part of the time for a congregation and do general evangelistic work would do well to consider this while looking for a place to make his home.

0 0 0

With Christ in White.

The Judge of all the earth does right; his judgments are just. Men fail to reward according to merit, but Jehovah never does. The sweetest words of consolation and hope have been given to souls suffering in the trials of some Gethsemane or returning victorious from some wilderness of temptation. Those who came through the hour of tribulation with garments unstained and undefiled were told that they should walk with Christ in white. (Rev. 3: 4.) It was a helpful assurance. A glimpse of the future helped them to keep heart and faith for the present. Let all who labor and suffer for "the word of God and the testimony of Jesus" read this promise, "thank God, and take courage. The Jehovah who kept and protected Daniel, Elijah, and Paul will not forsake his people now. "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life." (Rev. 2: 10.)

0 0 0

Personal.

The church in Tullahoma suffered a distinct loss in the death of J. D. Floyd. This venerable brother spent the last few years of his life there. His wisdom and godly life were a great asset to the congregation. Charles R. Brewer, professor of English, of David Lipscomb College, preaches monthly in Tullahoma. He is doing a good work which the brethren appreciate. J. H. Moore, V. C. McQuiddy, and A. L. Fisher showed me much kindness in making my visit both pleasant and profitable, despite the fact that it was Saturday (January 10) and a busy day for all. I enjoyed the hospitalities of R. H. Mitchell's home.

* * *

Out West.

On account of adverse prevailing conditions, the "flu" situation especially, my sojourn in Texas was rather brief, but pleasant, nevertheless. In Dallas, Sunday afternoon, February S, A. O. Colley, who preaches for the church at Pearl and Bryan Streets, met us-my wife, who went with me to visit relatives, and me-and transferred us to the interurban station. We appreciated the kindness of, and enjoyed our association with, Brother Colley between trains. While in Sherman, L. S. White, who labors with the church there, took great pains to show me their new meetinghouse which is in process of construction. The plan of the house is one of the best that I have ever seen. Brethren who have it in mind to build a new house would do well to get the particulars concerning the arrangement and structure of this building. From Sherman I went to Celina, a little town filled with Tennesseeans, who are always glad to see one from the "old country." I lived in Tennessee while there. Leaving Celina, I returned to Sherman, and finally to Nashville. There is a peculiar inspiration which fills one when he surveys the great plains of the spacious West. I sincerely hope to make my visit more prolonged the next time.

0 0 0

Notice.

To every one who sends us two new subscribers to the Gospel Advocate we will give a "Teachers' New Testament." This is a very popular edition of the New Testament with notes and helps suitable for Sunday-school workers and Bible students. "The notes and helps were prepared by a joint editorial board of the foremost biblical scholars in the world. The introductions were written by men of international reputation. The text is that of the American Standard Version-the latest translation-with proper names marked for pronunciation and the words of Christ emphasized in heavy-faced type." This is the book for the family circle, home study, and Bible class. If you want to get the Testament in connecction with your own renewal or one new subscriber, add fifty cents to the regular price of the paper. Send your order to-day to the Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

BY J. C. McOUIDDY.

Brother J. T. Daniel, 1917 West Lake Street, Chicago, Ill., writes to know if a brother can hold the position of a teacher in the Bible school and be a policeman at the same time. He says some of the members are not pleased because a brother is a policeman and is a teacher in the Bible school.

These members have no scriptural warrant for their displeasure. We learn from reading the New Testament that members of the church sometimes held positions in city governments and that members of Cæsar's household were members of the church of Christ. We learn from Rom. 16: 23: "Erastus the treasurer of the city saluteth you, and Quartus the brother." This was Erastus, the chamberlain, and hence a man of high position. His name occurs in Acts 19: 22 and in 2 Tim. 4: 20. The church should encourage this policeman to persevere in the work of serving the Lord and do all in its power to develop him into a first-class teacher of the word of God. A policeman has as much right to serve God and to worship him as does any other individual. God is no respecter of persons.

0 0 0

Brother T. H. Matheson, of Bowie, Texas, inquires to know about the coöperation of churches. He says: "The congregations in this (Montague) county are trying to do mission work by coöperation. It has been suggested that a representative (elder) from each congregation that takes a part manage the work by employing a preacher, paying him, etc. Do you think this plan would be scriptural?"

I can see no objection to the congregations' cooperating as suggested by Brother Matheson. Of course, the elder who is selected by his brother elders, with the approval of the congregation, to select and direct the labors of the evangelist, should have the hearty cooperation and support of the entire church. In handling the funds thus, the funds of each congregation would be handled by the elders of that congregation, and not by the elders of some other congregation. The funds would not be taken out of the church and placed in the hands of some outside body to be managed. This manner of cooperation preserves the autonomy of the church and encourages the individual members of the congregation to do mission work through the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. If the churches would work and labor thus to preach the gospel of Christ in destitute fields, doubtless the kingdom of God would grow more rapidly in the world.

0 0 0

W. D. Cox, of Louisville, Ky., asks that I tell through the Gospel Advocate what is the "holy kiss" mentioned in Rom. 16: 16, which says: "Salute one another with a holy kiss."

This was a common form of salutation in New Testament times, and it is still common in the East as a form of salutation. That it was prevalent in New Testament times is evident from Luke 7: 45, where Jesus says to Simon: "Thou gavest me no kiss; but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet;" also in 1 Pet. 5: 14, which reads; "Salute one another with a kiss of love." The custom is still prevalent in the Greek Church. There was no more thought of the kiss in the days of the New Testament than we now think of the handshake. As our custom is different, and this was simply a matter of custom, a form of salutation, we should not use this form now in saluting each other. It should not be practiced among the sexes unless perfectly free from lust and passion. This scripture certainly is not to be taken as authority now for using the kiss promiseuously and in a way that is calculated to incite the animal nature rather than to elevate and purify. If there are those who would make it a form of salutation now, let them begin on the old men and women.

0 0 0

C. A. Lancaster, of Allen's Creek, Tenn., wishes to know the meaning of the word "twain" in Matt. 5: 41. He also asks an explanation of John 10: 4, 25-30. He is concerned about who is Christ's own sheep that none can snatch out of his hand.

If the querist had referred to the Revised Version of the Bible, he would have seen that the reading is "two," which is the meaning of "twain." The verse states in language as clear as can be stated: "And whosoever shall compel thee to go one mile, go with him two." I do not see how any comment can make it plainer.

John 10: 4 reads: "When he hath put forth all his own, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice." The good pastor, the shepherd, led his sheep and did not drive them. He gave them a good example; his sheep, those who knew his voice and obeyed him, followed his lead or guidance. It was the custom in the Eastern countries for the shepherd to go at the head of his sheep, and they followed him from pasture to pasture. Those who were not his sheep and heard not his voice were not his sheep because they refused to hear and follow him. Even so it is with Christ, the good Shepherd; those who refuse to hear and obey Christ are not his sheep, not because they do not have evidence enough to hear and believe, but because of their own will they refuse to hear and accept the evidence that he gives. This I understand to be the teaching, briefly stated, of the passages referred to.

. . . .

Brother W. R. Willcut, of Bear Creek, Ala., inquires: (1) "Is it right for women to teach in the Bible class? If so, what did Paul mean in 1 Cor. 14: 33, 35 and 1 Tim. 2: 11, 12?" He also asks: (2) "Is it right to use literature in the church?"

1. In answer to the first question, it all depends upon whether teaching in a Bible class is public teaching. I do not understand that it is public teaching when a few go off in a quiet place to themselves and study the word of God. If the same people were cut off in separate rooms to themselves, as in the case of the Bible school in many church houses, no one would consider it public teaching. The only difference is, in one case there is a partition, while in the other there is none. I cannot see that the difference simply of a partition makes it public teaching in one case and not public in the other. Paul meant exactly what he said in 1 Corinthians and in 1 Timothy relative to women teaching in public. Conybeare & Howson, in their translation, translate teaching "public teaching." Christ did not commission any woman to go into all the world and preach the gospel. It is clear that the teaching that is forbidden is public teaching. Absolute silence is not enjoined. If so, a woman would not be permitted to sing or even rustle her dress during the public worship.

2. In answer to the second question, permit me to say that the Bible is literature, and the very best literature in the whole world. There is no other literature equal to it. It is certainly right to use literature in teaching, and to use any other method that can be used efficiently for the propagation of the truth. Christ said, "Go, . . . teach," but did not enjoin any method of teaching. If he had said teach by a certain method, this would have excluded all other methods; but as he did not give any particular method, he leaves to the judgment of man to use the best and most efficient method under existing conditions.

W

AT HOME AND ABROAD

W

Change of address: J. L. Glover, from Colt, Ark., to Route 5, Corinth, Miss.

G. A. Dunn will begin a meeting for the church at Haleyville, Ala., on August 15.

The Gospel Advocate is the best paper published by the brotherhood.—J. W. Clark, Sumner, Miss.

I enjoy reading the Gospel Advocate. It is like good gospel sermons.—Mrs. Sallie Cole, Michie, Tenn.

The Gospel Advocate gets better all the time. I can't do without it. It is food to my soul.—L. H. Havill, Norman, Okla.

I don't want to keep house without the Gospel Advocate. Long live the editors!—Mrs. J. W. Dodd, Hurricane Mills, Tenn.

A. B. Lipscomb reports a fine service at Russell Street Church, this city, last Sunday, with a young lady to be baptized on Wednesday evening.

From William P. Walker, Clarksville, Tenn., February 19: "I preached at New Providence last Sunday. Two took membership with the congregation."

I am now seventy-five years old, and I have read the Gospel Advocate many years. Long may it live to do good!

—W. H. Riley, Caney Springs, Tenn.

The church at Portland, Tenn., plans an open meeting for general discussion of important subjects, beginning on March 15. The program will be announced later.

Change of address: J. S. Dunn, from 127 Pembroke Street, Station A, Dallas, Texas, to 204 South Clinton Street, Station A, Dallas, Texas. This will be his permanent address.

The church at Ashland City, Tenn., wants the services of a good vocal-music teacher to teach a term of twenty nights, beginning about July 1. Address J. D. Barfield, Ashland City, Tenn.

Fred K. Jones, real estate dealer and Notary Public, 43 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville and Tennessee property for sale and exchange—will endeavor to accommodate those desiring his services.

I like the Gospel Advocate fine. Father has taken it ever since I can remember. I am sending my daughter's subscription, making three generations taking the Gospel Advocate.—N. F. Holland, Tolbert, Texas.

Married, on Wednesday evening, February 18, at 715 Fifth Avenue, South, this city, Mr. Edwin Hoskins and Miss Mabel Hill, J. Leonard Jackson officiating. Both are Christians and members of highly esteemed families of Lavergne, Tenn

Fred M. Little offers his services for evangelistic work during the coming summer. He teaches school at Yuma, Tenn., during the winter. Churches would do well to secure Brother Little for a meeting. Address him at Cleveland, Tenn.

From Lee Sanders, Miami, Texas, February 15: "We are still meeting for worship, though the influenza is very bad here. I preached in the forenoon to-day to a nice audience. Met with the church at Lakton this afternoon and had a good lesson."

From W. Clarence Cooke, Route 1, Lewisburg, Tenn.: "I am now devoting all my time to preaching and singing. The Lord willing, I shall begin a singing school with the church here on the first Monday night in March. Any congregation needing my help should write me at the above address. The Gospel Advocate is fast going from better to best."

- J. C. Mosley writes from Whitwell, Tenn., February 18: "I have just closed a good meeting and Bible reading at Beaver Hill. Four persons were baptized. I also baptized one at Cold Springs on Saturday. The snow was falling fast and the wind was blowing hard, when a girl four-teen years old rode up to the gate, came in, and demanded, baptism, which was attended to immediately."
- J. K. Walling writes us that he is endeavoring to build up the cause of Christ at Palestine, Texas. This is one of the best towns in East Texas. The few brethren there have bought a lot in the central portion of the town and are endeavoring to build a suitable house of worship.

They would appreciate the fellowship of other Christians. Send your gift to J. H. Richards, the church treasurer.

From C. E. Holt, Florence, Ala., February 19: "In 1919 there was only one mission meeting held in Lauderdale County, Ala., so far as my knowledge extends. That meeting was held by L. T. Farrar, of Florence. He just went and held the meeting. About one dozen were added. I nat was four miles from Florence. That is too near hore to be supported. We prefer sending our money to India to build up Adventism and other isms. What a pity!"

Mrs. Jennie Clarke, superintendent of the Bell' lieven Orphans' Home, Luling, Texas, writes, February Jee Lost year when influenza was prevailing in Texas, to:s institution escaped without a single case, but this time we are not so fortunate. It struck this Home a heavy blow. We have had twenty-five cases up to date and new cases are being added daily. We have some very sick children, but we hope to save them all. Do not forget these dear chlidren in your prayers."

Many of our readers will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. William Henry Cox, the sister of R. V. Cawthon, of Mount Juliet, Tenn. She died in California, where she had been taken in the hope of restoration of health. The deceased was a beautiful Christian character in every respect. She was a devoted wife, daughter, and sister. The funeral service was conducted in Nashville on Monday and the interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, at Lebanon, Tenn. The Gospel Advocate expresses sympathy for all the bereaved.

D. S. Ligon writes from Denton, Texas, February 19: "I am getting stronger all the time, but have have held no meetings since my sickness in Alabama and am still at home. I have a meeting to hold in Oklahoma as soon as the 'flu' conditions get so the brethren think the people will attend. I have some time for meetings in the spring and summer not yet engaged. Brethren, write me if you need me to assist you in a meeting, but remember that I cannot get to every place during the moonlight nights in July or August."

From a brother at Fort Worth, Texas: "Brethren will regret to learn that Tice Elkins, of the Southside-Central Church, of this city, has been seriously ill with pneumonia. He became ill while on a visit to Childress, but it is expected that he will soon be sufficiently recovered to return to his home. During his absence Brethren Straiton and Draper have filled his place. Last Lord's day Brother Straiton preached at both services. One young man and two young ladies made the good confession and were baptized at the evening service. The interest continues good, for the brethren have a mind to work."

From C. Maynard, 635 Park Avenue, Muskogee, Okla, February 12: "Our meetings here are continuing with interest. J. G. Allen gave us a fine discourse last Sunday on the subject, 'The Great Salvation.' Our evening meetings for the past three Sundays have been devoted to Bible drills in the Old and New Testaments and much interest is manifested. The children are taking an active part. On February 1 a brother some seventy years old took membership with us. We received some good tracts from some one at Rogers, Ark., which we have read and passed on to others. I would appreciate the donor's writing me."

Following is the program for Bible Lecture Week at Abilene (Texas) Christian College, February 22-28: Sunday, February 22—Morning, "How to Live," R. C. Bell; evening, "Christianity in Japan," J. M. McCaleb. Monday, February 23—Evening, "Training for Christian Service," W. W. Freeman. Tuesday, February 24—Morning, "Church Discipline," A. O. Colley: afternoon, to be supplied; evening, "The Throne of David; or, The Reign of Christ," J. B. Nelson. Wednesday, February 25—Morning, "Church Finance," L. S. White; afternoon, to be supplied; evening, "The Supreme Authority in Religion; or How God Speaks to Man," M. C. Kurfees. Thursday, February 26—Morning, "God, Man, and Revelation," J. W. Chism; afternoon, "Emphasis Where it Belongs," Foy E. Wallace, Sr.; evening, "Faith and Opinion; or, The Divine Creed vs. Human Creeds," M. C. Kurfees. Friday, February 27—Morning, "The Financial Outlook of the Churches," Judge Allen D. Dabney; afternoon, "Who Is the Greatest?" J. W. Dunn; evening, "The Church Revealed in the New Testament," M. C. Kurfees. Saturday, February 28—Morning, subject to be selected, J. M. McCaleb; evening, "The Union Movement; or, Seeing Things Alike," M. C. Kurfees. Sunday, February 29—Morning, "The New Testament Law of Worship," M. C. Kurfees; evening, "Missionary Work in the New Testament Churches," M. C. Kurfees.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipseomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries. $2.50, in

$2,00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries. $2,50, in advance.

Remittences will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask you postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by tristworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate:" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.

Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

The Churches Should Know the Truth.

BY J. C. M'O.

Sometime ago Brother McCaleb, under the caption, "My Position," sent us the following for publication in the Gospel Advocate:

Inasmuch as my attitude toward the prophecy controversy has been and is up for consideration, I deem it proper hereby to make a statement relating thereto.

I find myself, as I go among the churches, differing from many brethren on various questions which need not be mentioned in detail; but to specify by way of example, so as to make myself clear, I find some things taught on prophecy which I do not indorse. On the other hand, there are some other things taught by others in regard to the Christian's relation to war that I do not indorse. But at the same time I do indorse and uphold the brethren, whether in error on prophecy or war, in so far as I believe them to be in accord with the Scriptures, bearing with what I believe to be their errors. Christ bore patiently with warlike Peter, and Paul had patience with the error of the brethren at Thessalonica in regard to prophecy. The error of some in regard to war is, in my judgment, no less serious, to say the least, than the error of others in regard to the prophecy. If I should cease to fellowship and cooperate with the one, I should for an equally good reason have to do the same in regard to the other. Toward both sides I endeavor to follow the rule: "Let your forbearance be known unto all men." A more diligent and prayerful reading of 1 Cor. 13 might help us all the more successfully to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of J. M. McCaleb.

We withheld the publication of the above and sought a private interview with Brother McCaleb in the hope that it would not be necessary to publish anything on the subject. Brother McCaleb, for reasons satisfactory to himself, did not grant an interview; so, as we have published nothing concerning his position or attitude on "the prophecy controversy," we publish the above in justice to the truth and the public. Furthermore, numerous inquiries have come to this office concerning his position, and some have written that they would not support the work in Japan unless they were convinced that he was not in sympathy with the speculative movement. I give an extract from the letter of a strong preacher which is an example of the letters we are receiving. This preacher

I am going to broach a subject that I consider a very grave one. The subject is missionary work. For some time I have not looked at the missionary work in Japanand India, too-as being very successful. At the present I am of the opinion that it is a failure. Brother McCaleb, with all the help he has had for the last twenty-five or thirty years, has not built up the work in Japan very substantially. I am under the impression that even now the work there cannot stand alone. If this is not a failure, it is close to it. Furthermore, I noticed in the Gospel Advocate of December 25 that he is traveling through the South, visiting congregations, I presume, to solicit funds for the work in Japan.

I feel this way about it: I cannot indorse the work in Japan, and therefore I cannot support it. I believe Brother McCaleb is in sympathy with the movement lately known as the "Boll movement." I do not indorse that; and, besides, if I am correctly informed, there are no missionaries in Japan except those who have been sent there by the brethren of the above-stated movement. [Sişter Sarah Andrews and Sister Lillie Cypert were not sent to Japan by these brethren. The churches of Christ should select, send, and support more and better missionaries-missionaries of faith and full of the Holy Spirit.—Editor.] I cannot support the missionary work overseas for this reason. When we can find a good missionary with the Bible as his guide, and who will adhere strictly to its teachings and let speculations go, I will rally to his support, but until then I cannot assist in any way in the work.

I very much regret that such a condition has arisen, and shall rejoice to see Brother McCaleb clear it up to the satisfaction of all and in a way to protect the truth. I am sure he does not have any very serious objections to "speculation," as is evident from an article which he sent us for publication. In an article on "Should We Teach Unfulfilled Prophecy?" among other things, he says: "There seems to be an impression abroad with many that we should teach only those prophecies that have been fulfilled, passing over untouched those that point to the future." I know no one who teaches that every inspired word of God should not be studied, but there are many who teach that no one should give the meaning of unfulfilled prophecy when the Holy Spirit has not revealed it. No man was reproached for not understanding the prophecy of the fiftythird chapter of Isaiah before Christ fulfilled it. No man could understand it before its fulfillment by Christ. Christ charged slowness of belief on those who did not understand it after he fulfilled it. How can a man teach a thing he does not know? Can a man teach the Greek language who does not know one letter of the Greek alphabet? Men may draw unwarranted conclusions; they may speculate and teach their speculations; but they cannot teach a secret truth, one which has not been revealed. "The secret things belong unto Jehovah our God; but the things that are revealed belong unto us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law." (Deut, 29: 29.) This proves that we may "do all the words of this law" without attempting to teach unfulfilled prophecy. Unrevealed things are secret, and our questionings concerning their meaning are foolish and ignorant. The Spirit commands: "But foolish and ignorant questionings refuse, knowing that they gender strifes." (2 Tim. 2: 23.) That Brother McCaleb indorses. "speculation" as to the meaning of unfulfilled prophecy is further evident from the following: "The most remarkable things of all history are now taking place among the nations. I do not have reference simply to the great war, but there are numbers of other great questions of world-wide interest that mankind has never had to face before. All these things have been spoken of beforehand by Ezekiel, Daniel, John, and others, and they must fit in somewhere." If the prophecies are unfulfilled, how does he know the events transpiring have reference to what was prophesied? He guesses the events must fit in the unfulfilled prophecies somewhere, but he does not tell where. All he says is simply a guess. He continues: "Without dogmatism or theory, but with our minds free to accept the facts in whatever form they may work out, and even after we have reached a conclusion concerning what any particular prophecy may mean, holding that conclusion subordinate to the cardinal gospel facts of present-day duty, let us not cease to study most prayerfully all that the prophets have spoken, lest when the time does come when we ought to be prepared we shall be found asleep with empty vessels." The casual reader will note that in this, the best part of the whole article, he says "study," not "teach." He started out to prove that we should teach unfulfilled prophecy. The Spirit warns against drawing conclusions as to the meaning of unfulfilled prophecy. He instructs us to refuse them. Men do not depart from the truth in one great leap, but it is a gradual process. McHenry and Martin began in upholding speculation, as was announced over a year ago, but now they have developed into full-fledged Adventists. They did not develop into full-fledged Adventists overnight. "First the blade, then the ear, then the full grain in the ear." (Mark 4: 28.) Better "hold fast the pattern of sound words."

He seeks to find a parallel between the "speculative movement" and the position of some brethren on war, which has absolutely nothing to do with his position. Those who are opposing this movement have not advocated war. But even if brethren did favor the war, one wrong would not justify another. He should not seek to build a parallel on a misrepresentation. But even if he can find some who really advocated war, the cases would not be parallel. There was not and is not a war movement taught by anybody in a way to create strife and division either in general or in any local congregation, but merely the government's own action in going into war, with individual Christian citizens left to support the government as each might feel bound to do; whereas this speculative movement is a settled and accepted system of doctrine which its advocates are endeavoring to spread among the churches. No matter who advocates war, that does not make it right, and no man who can defend his position with the truth attempts such an argument.

He seeks to make it appear that he is on neither side; but precisely in his case as in the case of different ones who, for fifty years, have attempted to play that rôle in the organ and society controversy, it definitely locates him with the speculative movement as it definitely located them with the organ and society movement; and, precisely like them, he puts all the blame for strife and division on the opponents and not on the advocates of the innovations in question. The issue is too plain and the principles involved are too vital, fundamental, and far-reaching, with some of them already gone formally to Adventism to admit of any such attempt to figure in the rôle of a neutral. "He that is not with me is against me" (Matt.

12: 30) applies here as surely as it ever applied in the organ controversy, the controversy over destructive criticism, or any other controversy involving vital principles. The Lexington college destructive critics have been attempting for two or three years to play the same game. They are "neutral," but all the time pursuing a course that undermines Christian faith.

The universalism of Christianity transcends all partyism. Christians should be joined together in the same mind throughout the whole world. The Spirit condemns in unmistakable language the division of Christians into parties, factions, and inner circles. In the "Louisville movement" there appears to be an inner circle, whose operations are not known outside of the initiated, save as now and then something leaks out and becomes proof of what is here said. The defection of Martin and McHenry served a good purpose in bringing out some statements that emphasize the truth just stated. After the defection had leaked out without the aid of the "Louisville movement," a leader of the movement-and doubtless in the inner circle-publishes the following: "And while we were making every private effort to restore them to their sound mind, and also privately informing contributors of whom we knew about the lapse of these brethren, we yet refrained from public announcement of their defection, lest it prove a barrier to a possible restoration." The same writer also says that Brother Janes "promptly notified the chief contributors." Also from the Janes-Gill correspondence the information is gleaned that the Allensville church was notified of their having gone into Adventism and that prayer was being offered for their restoration. Reliable information is also furnished that Brother John Glenn, sonin-law of Brother McCaleb, advised Brother Janes to forward to these erring missionaries the September contribution, which he did, and also that Brother McCaleb was praying for McHenry and Martin and asking the church at Florence, Ala., to pray for them. It is but reasonable to conclude that both the father-in-law and the son-in-law were component parts of the inner circle. While it thus appears that the initiated and those within the inner circle knew what was going on, the brotherhood was ignored and not given a faint suspicion of the errancy of these missionaries selected and sent out by this combination and its sympathizers.

There appears to be too much secret-service and confidential work kept strictly within the inner circle to be pleasing to the Lord. Where the churches are involved, they should be taken into confidence and all reliable information should be furnished to them. As a rule, those composing this combination hold meetings for each other and no one else. The spirit and genius of the Christian religion condemns the forming of such parties or combines. Christ says: "What I tell you in the darkness, speak ye in the light; and what ye hear in the ear, proclaim upon the housetops." (Matt. 10: 27.)

Brother McCaleb has always manifested uniform sympathy for those connected with the "Louisville movement," and, so far as my knowledge goes, has blamed and censured those who have vigorously opposed this combine. I have information which I have no right to doubt that he is thoroughly aligned with the "Louisville movement." Brother McCaleb should tell the churches why Sister Lillie Cypert pulled out from the school with which he is connected and started an independent work. Is there not already friction brewing between the workers in Japan because of his sympathy for the speculative movement? Brother McCaleb is associating with him parties who hold the same views as did McHenry and Martin before going to Adventism. He knows that this movement teaches the missionaries to stress the imminence of Christ's second coming, to teach and emphasize the meaning of unfulfilled prophecy, and to advocate the future setting up of the kingdom, all of which is distinct Adventist doctrine. Mc-Henry and Martin, holding these views, did not have far to go to become full-fledged Adventists. It is not Brother McCaleb's loyalty to sides that is under fire, but his loyalty to the truth. He does not love those who are propagating their peculiar views any more than do I; neither do I believe that he is making half the effort to save them that I am making. While I love the deluded, misguided ones, those who know their delusions and uphold them are unworthy of confidence. The truth is the only issue at stake. I have written kindly because "nothing is so strong as gentleness, nothing so gentle as real strength."

The churches of Christ should decide whom they will select, send, and support in the mission field. It is not the prerogative of any individual or paper to do this. We would encourage, however, the churches to send new missionaries and to make greater efforts for the conversion of the world.

"For the League of Nations."

BY E. A. E.

But what about the prayers which went up from the hills and hollows and flatwoods around Fosterville? Almost every one of these prayers, by whomsoever offered, contained the one set expression of thanking God for religious liberty in the land, where every man can worship God "according to the dictates of his own conscience, under his own vine and fig tree, none daring to molest him or make him afraid." I say, "I was raised on this," and I cannot now get away from it and from the Constitution—its civil and religious liberty. But above that, we have liberty in Christ—the freedom wherewith God has set us free—freedom to be what we understand he teaches us to be and do all he commands us to do—"without let or hindrance."

As the Constitution of the United States is violated, the government goes down. The Constitution must govern or the government falls. Just so, as the New Testament is violated, the church is destroyed. Some other form of government—an autocracy, for instance, and not a democracy—cannot be "the United States," built upon the Constitution. Just so, some other religious organization, however huge and grand and imposing, governed by some other rule than the New Testament, cannot be the church of God.

But the church and State are two separate and very distinct institutions. The Constitution must govern the United States; the New Testament must govern the church. The church, governed by the New Testament, can exist in any form of government. The church must submit "to the powers that be" in any form of government. The church must not try to run the government, and the government must not infringe upon the conscience and rights of the church. It was a glorious day when church and State were separated.

Let the church, then, with all her thousands of preachers, devote all her energies to preaching "the gospel of peace;" to extending the kingdom of Christ among men, and, therefore, to the salvation of the race; to seeking first God's kingdom and his righteousness; to filling the earth with the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea: to edifying herself in love; and to keeping unspotted from the world. "Last, but not least," let her touch not, taste not, handle not anything which God commands her to let alone. If the thousands of preachers and churches in the world had been united heretofore or were united now in teaching the nations to turn their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks, etc., war now would be impossible. Do these preachers and churches not know that God will hold them responsible for this warlike, bloodthirsty civilization (!)? In truth, they have not been on their job. Is it not now as it was in the troublesome days of Israel when God's people were "destroyed for lack of knowledge," when the priests rejected knowledge, fed upon the sins of the people, and it was "like people, like priests?" (Read Hos. 4: 6-10; Jer. 5: 31; Isa. 24: 2.)

But, referring again to the ratification of "the League of Nations" with such reservations as the above resolutions recommend, let me say, this is a very great international movement. It is more important than international prohibition, or international abolition of slavery, according to my judgment, and I have as much right to express my judgment on so great and grave an international political issue as the other man. For what are our sons but slaves, when forced to train for war and forced into war? I would rather be an ignorant slave, allowed to worship God in peace and according to conscientious convictions, than to be one of the most enlightened youths in the most civilized government on earth and forced to engage in war with all its horrors and sins. So, if in the chastisement, mercy, and goodness of God the day is dawning when nation will no longer lift up the sword against nation, let us praise the name of Jehovah forever.

But suppose such a league of nations is never ratified, what must the preachers and the church do? Is there no law higher than the law of nations to govern Christians? Preachers of the gospel and the church of God do not stand for and preach peace because it happens to be a law of nations, but because it is the law of God. They stand for and preach it when nations are at war in order to influence them to obey God and cease to shed blood.

COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING.

In the Nashville Banner of January 27 it was stated that "the new army reorganization bill," which may be called up in the Senate soon, "provides for compulsory military training for boys between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one, inclusive."

Can the government be consistent in joining "the League of Nations" and fighting militarism, while at the same time it inaugurates a huge system of militarism? To be consistent, the President would have to veto this bill should it pass. But these are matters for the government to settle. But, to be consistent, all the preachers and churches urging the Senate to ratify the peace league must likewise be as urgent against compulsory military training. They should urge the government not to make a law compelling people to violate their conscientious convictions.

Compulsory military training is not only militarism, but it means that all Christian boys of the nations will be forced, without their choice and against their consent and consciences, to train for war-for devastation and carnage and all that war is-or be placed in the unpleasant attitude of resisting the government. It means that these boys, with all others, are to be forced into this training before they are allowed to vote or to express a choice. Those who can vote do not vote compulsory military training upon themselves. One of the most unrighteous, unjust, and horribly cruel things is for rulers or lawmakers to vote or declare war, exempt themselves, and to force helpless and tender boys, who know nothing of its causes and who had nothing to do with bringing it about, to fight. This means, therefore, that these boys are to be treated only as the property of the government, as "dumb driven cattle," as educated animals, as slaves. It means, that while God commands parents to nurture their children in his chastening and admonition and to train them up in the way they should go, the government takes this training out of their hands and forces a training contrary to the will of God. It means that the spirit of war-of bloodshed and cruelty otherwise, and all that war embracesis to be drilled into the youth of the land until the nation becomes a nation of warriors and that the warrior is to be the highest ideal or type of manhood.

It is time to pray for rulers and all in authority in civil affairs, that Christians may be permitted to lead the "tranquil and quiet life in all godliness and gravity" which God commands, and to be "delivered from unreasonable and evil men; for all have not faith." (2 Thess. 3: 1, 2; 1 Tim. 2: 1-4.) President Wilson has several times requested all religious people of the nation to join in prayers to God on certain days for certain great things—namely, on the second Sunday in October, 1914, for the peace of the nations, and, later, that the allies might be victorious. Now, let all Christian people unite in prayer to God to save the youth from compulsory military training, the spirit of war, and attendant immoralities and sins. Now is the time to pray. Let us pray in faith, and let us live and teach as we pray.

In Behalf of the King's Hall Congregation at Louisville, Ky.

BY A. B. L.

The appeal from the brethren who worship in King's Hall, at Louisville, Ky., printed in this issue, deserves careful and sympathetic consideration. I was one of the original charter members of the Highland Church and preached for them for many years before moving to Nashville. I recall with unfeigned pleasure the zeal of those who gave liberally of their means to build the meetinghouse in which they can no longer worship. I know the spirit of Christian fellowship which prevailed in Louisville before the deplorable introduction of speculative and divisive teachings which have rent them asunder. It was at my suggestion that we arranged frequent union meetings where unity really prevailed. In these meetings members from Campbell Street, from Portland Avenue, and from the Highlands met together in glad and soul-uplifting fellowship. The contrast between then and now is painful indeed. Members have been estranged toward one another and union meetings are not to be considered. Inspired by Brethren Jorgenson and Janes, the Highland Church has withdrawn fellowship from Brethren Rubel and Taylor for no other reason than that they have stood courteously, but consistently, for the teaching of the word of God as against the exaltation of human opinions. They might with equal propriety have withdrawn from the other charter members, for they were equally opposed. But as the matter now stands, those who are opposed to the speculative views of Brother Jorgenson are put to the inconvenience of worshiping in a second-story hall, while those who made their departure necessary are sitting complacently in the original house of worship almost opposite and speaking of love and humility and missionary enterprise. Yet there are some brethren who continue to affirm that such teachings are not divisive!

It is encouraging to know that despite ill treatment the little band worshiping at King's Hall intends to go forward with the Lord's work and to succeed in the face of every adverse condition. It is significant that before making any public appeal they raised quite a tidy sum through personal sacrifice. I feel duty bound to write these words of encouragement in behalf of these brethren. They deserve the hearty and unstinted support of every reader who believes in standing up for the right at any cost.

Whose Testimony Will You Receive?

BY J. C. M'Q.

Brother Showalter and Brother Janes do not agree as to what was done with the September funds. Brother Janes tells it was reported in July of last year that McHenry and Martin had united with the Adventists. Brother Showalter says in the Firm Foundation of February 10, 1920: "I do not think that Brethren McHenry and Martin have received or used funds from the churches of Christ after they turned away to the Adventists, nor is there any ground for the intimation that Brother Don Carlos Janes and other brethren forwarding money to these missionaries have done so since the departure of McHenry and Martin to the Adventists." He also publishes in his issue of February 17 the following: "I do not think that Brother Janes has been forwarding funds to Martin and McHenry since he learned that they had gone to the Adventists. I understand that Brother Janes has received some money to be forwarded, but has been holding it and has advised with the donors as to how they desired it used under present conditions." Brother Janes, in a letter dated October 23, 1919, to Brother Gill, says: "After reading of your course in forwarding support, I consulted with some close friends here, and we reversed our former judgment and decided it would be wisest and best under the circumstances to remit September funds as you did yours, asking the return of the draft if there had been a change of faith that would make the donors unwilling to supply funds. I also let it be known that I did not know what I would feel like doing at the end of the month with October funds."

Brother Janes is better authority on this subject than Brother Shewalter; and as there is no ground for denying Brother Janes' statement, it is a matter of surprise that Brother Showalter would do so.

I have endeavored simply to state the facts concerning what was done as I learned them from Brother Janes and others, and have depended on our readers to draw their own conclusions. It is evident that men are not qualified to handle the funds of the churches who do not know that it is not proper to send funds to those who have departed from the faith of the churches of Christ, when it was known that these funds were contributed for them in the belief that they were loyal Christians. I have sought to emphasize that no individual or combination of individuals should usurp the work of selecting and sending the missionaries, which is the work of the churches of Christ. I have been contending for the New Testament teaching and practice without seeking to uphold or criticize unduly any individual or set of individuals. I had understood that the Firm Foundation was also committed to this principle; hence my surprise at the course of Brother Showalter is even greater than it would otherwise have been.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

Church at Oakland, Miss	10.20
"A Friend," Florence, Ala	1.00
Mrs. Nora Killebrew, Denison, Texas	5.00
J. D. Harvey, Nugent, Texas	5.00
Mrs. Helen K. Hayes, Athens, Ala	2.00
"A Friend," Oakman, Ala,	2.00
Mrs. J. P. Miller, Los Angeles, Cal	3.00
Church at Brownsboro, Ala.	19.00
S. B. Jones, Kansas City, Mo.	25.00
	10.00
THE ST NAMED AND DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTY OF	2.00
Josie Means, Lebanon, Tenn.
Church at Albany, Texas	25.00
Billie Young, Sparta, Tenn.	1.00
	10.00
Church at Stevenson, Ala	25.25
"A Friend," left at office	5.00
L. D. King and family, Drumright, Okla	10.00
Mrs. George W. Webb, Cedar Vale, Kan	5.00
Mrs. M. M. Pitts, Hopkinsville, Ky.	5.00
Park Camp congregation, Stephens County, Texas	15.00
Mrs. B. P. Sloan, Humboldt, Tenn	1.00

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. I should be glad if more of the contributions were designated for use in providing for orphans in this country, since there are constant appeals from destitute families close to us. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

"Lord, What Wilt Thou Have Me to Do?"

BY HUGH E. GARRETT.

Sever this text from its context and let each of us ask this question as individual Christians: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

When we consecrated ourselves to Christ, we laid our entire being on his altar; we presented our bodies a living—not a dead—sacrifice; we declared ourselves to be Christ's, having no right or title to our bodies, souls, properties, time, or talent; we professed to be dead unto sin and alive unto God, and set out with the above inquiry in our hearts. How have our lives corresponded with this profession and inquiry? How in the matter of separateness from sin? What would an honest answer be?

There was a time in the days of the martyrs when a Christian would not throw a grain of incense on a pagan altar to save himself or herself from the flames. Are we thus ready to resist every form of evil to such an extent—if need be, even unto blood?

How have our lives been in the matter of Christlike devotion to others' good? What would an honest answer be?

Are we doing our part toward the conversion of the community in which we live? Are we helping to daily add to our number the "such as should be saved?" How many professing Christians on this earth to-day who have never led a soul to Christ! Where is there a Christian on earth who cannot rationally hope, by humble, prayerful prosecution of every opening and opportunity by personal Christian influence, to be the means of leading one soul to Christ? And is it not possible for each of us to do this, at least, once a year?

We see men dying by the hundreds and thousands every year—dying "without hope and without God!" The number is so great that it is overwhelming. How can we see them thus perish and our sleep be never disturbed—no vision of their awful doom staring us in the face, no cry from their lost souls ever turning our peace into bitterness? Would it not be wisdom on our part to read Ezek. 3: 18-21 just here?

When the cause of Christ is buried so deeply in our hearts that we do not think of ourselves and are willing to die for it, if necessary, then will we reach our fellow man; then will we become fruit bearers indeed; then will we become instruments in God's hands to succor and bless humanity—not only to succor and bless, but to save. Then, and only then, can we have the hope and assurance that we will be numbered with the ones to whom the Lord will say: "Come, ye blessed of my Father."

We must either bear fruit or not bear fruit. We are bearing fruit, else we are letting the "dry rot" destroy the life that is within us. Which is it, my brother? Every one of us can answer this question. All we need is self-examination. (See John 15: 1, 2; 2 Cor. 13: 5.)

Paul says: "Awake, thou that sleepest, and rise from the dead, and Christ shall shine upon thee. Look therefore carefully how ye walk, not as unwise, but as wise; redeeming the time, because the days are evil." (Eph. 5: 14, 15.) Do we find ourselves in this state of lethargy spoken of by Paul? If so, is it not best—eternally best—to arouse ourselves into a state of activity? Which is better—to be counted singular or peculiar in the judgment of men, or faithful in the judgment of God? What is our answer?

Good Thoughts From R. N. Moody.

The following excerpt is taken from an article by R. N. Moody in the Gospel Advance. It is well that we read it carefully and thoughtfully. Brother Moody usually says something when he speaks or writes.

The worst external obstacle is Protestantism, which, to my mind, is the greatest hindrance to Christianity there is. With most of us, "Protestantism" is the synonym of "Christianity," when, in fact, there is not an item of the Christian faith and practice that Protestantism has not perverted. It has the world "bluffed" on the plan of salvation as taught in the New Testament, till many have not the courage to contend for the faith once delivered to the saints. The danger here is in being intimidated by the wave of public sentiment created by Protestantism against the gospel as preached by the apostles, so that we shun to declare the whole counsel of God.

Our brother has certainly struck the most hurtful influence of Protestantism. While it has done much in combating Roman Catholicism, it is certain that the plain, simple gospel of Christ is not taught by Protestantism, as a rule. The easiest and most natural thing for Bible teachers to do, if they would just let themselves be natural and normal, is to tell aliens exactly what the Bible says for them to do. But Protestants, as a rule, will not do this. Like Rome, whom they have fought, they went into the lawmaking business themselves, hence have many ways of being sayed and a multiplicity of churches into which people, by choosing, may go. If they would stay with the Book, they would have but one answer for sinners who want to be saved and but one church into which to invite hungry souls, and that would be the church Christ and the apostles talk about.

This sad defect in Protestantism makes it all the more necessary that the churches of Christ everywhere feel the impelling need of more and more of the plain, simple teaching of the apostles, untouched with changes from human hands. Will not the elders in the local congregations realize this and stir the congregations into "sounding out the word?" Will not all the preachers stir the churches wherever they go to this end?

Protestantism has its serious defects: Roman Catholicism has more; but that body of people who claim to be the church of Christ, that is not endeavoring to give the fullness of the gospel to the people of the earth, is worse than either and has a poorer chance of heaven.

0 0 0

Will a Person Who Fails to Do the Best He Can be Saved?

BY S. E. TEMPLETON.

"She hath done what she could." This quotation is the saying of Jesus in Mark 14: 8. When we read the whole of the story (Mark 14: 3-9), we learn that through real love "a woman" anointed Jesus' "body beforehand for the burying" with "ointment of pure nard very costly." In this she did her very best, and from this story the question above, as a subject, is suggested. Let us study the question, "Will a person who fails to do the best he can be saved?" with care. At first the question may suggest too high a standard to some of us, and we exclaim, "Who really does the best he can?" and: "If salvation depends upon people's doing the best they can, who then can be saved?" But suppose we study the question calmly.

First let us study the question from the alien sinner's viewpoint. A person who fails to believe that God is, and that Jesus is the Christ, God's Son, cannot be saved (John 8: 24; Heb. 11: 6); and this "belief cometh of hearing, and hearing by the word of Christ" (Rom. 10: 17). One failing to believe has not done the best he can—for "these are written, that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye may have life in his name" (John 20: 31)—and certainly will not be saved. A

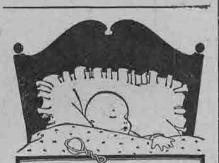

CATARRH DOES HARM

Whether It Is of the Nose, Throat, or Other Organs, Get Rid of It.

Catarrh of the nose or throat when it becomes chronic weakens the delicate lung tissues, deranges the digestive organs, and may lead to con-sumption. It impairs the taste, smell and hearing, and affects the voice. It is a constitutional disease and requires a constitutional remedy.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by purifying the blood removes the cause of the disease and gives permanent relief. This alterative and tonic medicine has proved entirely satisfactory to thousands of families in three generations.

If there is biliousness or constipation, take Hood's Pills,-they are a thorough cathartic, a gentle laxative.

Comfortable, Healthful Nights for Baby follow the use of the safe, pleasant, purely vegetable, guaran-teednon-alcoholic, non-narcotic preparation

MRS. WINSLOW'S

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

Medical skill has never devised a safer or more satisfactory remedy for over-coming colic, diarrhoea, flatulency, constipation and similar disorders, Thousands of parents owe baby abounding health to Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. They find it never fails to bring quick and gratifying results. Pleasant to take, pleasant to give. Open published formula appears on every label.

At All Druggists

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A.B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tel-

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the discressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists or sent on receipt of price 90c by Chas. A. Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

soul that does not repent of his sinfulness and rebellion against God and Christ has not done the best he can. for God "commandeth men that they should all everywhere repent" (Acts 17: 30); and one failing to do the best he can in this respect will surely "perish" (Luke 13: 5). Jesus has promised to confess all before his Father who confess him before men. (Matt. 10: 32.) A soul that fails to confess Christ has not done the best he can; "for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom, 10: 10); and so sure as God is, the soul that does not do his best in confessing Christ, both by words and actions, can never be saved. In order to be saved, a person that has truly believed, sincerely repented, and gladly confessed Christ must be baptized; for it is written, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mark 16: 16); and: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2: 38). A person that is scripturally baptized is "buried." (Rom. 6: 4.) Just what the New Testament teaches people to do in regard to all the foregoing is true, and those who have done these things as God's word directs have done the best they could, and will surely be saved, "if ye [they] hold fast the word." (1 Cor. 15: 1, 2.)

The quotation just used suggests that one having done the best he can in obeying "the first principles of the oracles of God" needs to do his best to "hold fast the word." So we must study our question, the subject of this article, from the Christian's viewpoint. Jesus says: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." (Luke 10: The best that one can do is to love just as this scripture teaches us to. If we cannot do this; then Christ has commanded us to do the impossible, and, therefore, brings upon himself the criticism that he spoke foolishly; "for he himself knew what was in man." (John 2: 25.) But we can love just as Jesus says for us to. When we love God with all the heart, all the soul, all the strength, and all the mind, and our neighbors as ourselves, please tell me, how much better can we do? But to love God with all the heart, soul, strength, and mind certainly means that one does not "love the world;" for when one loves the world, "the love of the Father is not in him." "The world" consists of "the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eyes and the vainglory of life."

15 EGGS A DAY FROM 23 HENS, IN WINTER

Mr. Duni's Hens Increased Every Day-

"We have 23 chickens and hadn't had an egg all winter. In five days after feeding Don Sung we got four to five eggs a day; in three weeks we were getting 10 to 12 eggs a day; in five weeks we got 15 to 19 eggs a day; "—John Duni, Box 102, Cherry Valley, Pa.

Mr. Duni started giving his hens Don Sung in January in representations."

Valley, Pa.

Mr. Duni started giving his hens Don Sung in January, in zero weather. He now keeps his hens busy in cold weather, when hens usually stop laying. A trial costs nothing. Here's our offer:

Give your hens Don Sung, and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself, and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us, and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for thirty days, and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mall. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry-remedy dealer, or send 50 cents for a package by mail, prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Company, 477 Columbia Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

Skin Tortured Babies Sleep Mothers Rest After Cuticura

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c, everywhere, Forsamples address; Cuticura Laboratories, Dept V, Malden, Mass.

Sold for 50 Years FOR MALARIA CHILLS AND FEVER. Also v Pine General Strengthening Tonio. At All Drug Stores.

zema.

If your druggist cannot supply you send for a free sample to

THE MORGAN DRUG CO., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

EVERY MARRIED COUPLE

and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete book of life, such as the "Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, so often revealed too late. No book like it to be had at any price, late. No book like it to be had at any price, 1008 pages—bound in cloth. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life, History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, etc.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for 5 dimes, to introduce book to readers of this paper. Address Med-ical Press, 640 % Washington St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Drink Coffee

IF IT CAUSES INDIGESTION, A COUPLE OF STUART'S DYSPERSIA TABLETS WILL PROMPTLY GIVE RELIEF.

Indigestion caused by coffee is the same as indigestion caused by anything else. If eating food or drinking coffee makes you dyspeptic, all you need is Stuart's Dyspepsia

"I Surely Do Enjoy My Coffee! I'm Not Afraid to Drink it, Either, for I Have a Box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets mix with the food you cat. The stomach, by its peristatic action, churns and moves the food around the stomach walls, and the powerful ingredients in these tablets instantly begin digesting the food as they are forced through it and around it.

The use of one of these tablets after meals will in a year short time restore your and the store of the second of the seco will in a very short time restore your appetite to its normal condition and you will enjoy your food with an old-time relish.

Every drug store carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Price, 50 cents.

PELLAGR

FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated successfully at home. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. Write for yours to-day. Dept. F-29.

Dr. W. J. McCrary, Inc., Carbon Hill, Ala.

SOOTHES

Eczema burns, bites, stings, bruises, old so, and other skin injuries.

50c and $1.00 at your druggist's, Ka-Dene Soap, applied first, cleanses and disinfects. Dealers write for special proposition. THE KA-DENE MED. CO., Nashville, Yenn.

"Just Put Ka-Done on it."

HEA

(See 1 John 2: 15-17.) To so love the Father means that we also love the Son, for God loves the Son; and whenever we love God as we should, we love whatsoever and whomsoever he loves. When a child of God does the best he can, he loves God to the extent that he does whatsoever God says. "For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous." (1 John 5: 3.) And since we cannot love God, the Father, without loving the Son of God, we will do our best when we love the Son so whole-heartedly that we do whatsoever he says. "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments." (John 14: 15.) Please remember that there is no such thing as loving God and Christ and doing the best we can without keeping their commandments. God's commands are the commands of Christ, "All things that are mine are thine, and thine are mine," (John 17: 10.)

With the above strong truths before us, may the Father, through the Christ, help us to ask and answer, and be edified as the need may be by, the following questions:

1. Do we do the best we can in loving our enemies? Remember: "If thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him to drink." (Rom. 12: 20.)

2. Do we do the best we can in loving our neighbors? Remember: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

3. Do we do the best we can in loving "the brethren?" Do not forget: "Hereby know we love, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3: 16.)

4. Do we do the best we can in loving our fathers, our mothers, our wives, our husbands, our brothers, our sisters, and our children? Remember, if we do love our kin as we should, we will do the very best we can for them, even though that appears to be not in their favor and not according to their "whims." Read Matt. 12: 46-50 and learn how Jesus thought of loved ones.

5. Are we doing the best we can in our efforts to win souls to Christ? If to this the answer is "no," we need to carefully study John 15: 5. May God help us to realize the importance of winning souls to Christ.

6. Are you doing the best you can when you fail to meet on the first day of the week to partake of the Lord's Supper? My brother, my sister, if you are guilty of willfully neglecting "to eat the Lord's Supper," may God help you to see that Jesus commands you to observe it when he says, "This do in remembrance of me." Also read Heb. 10: 25: 1 Cor. 16: 1, 2,

7. Do we do the best we can in giv-

Rheumatism and Indigestion

Practically all physicians and medical writers are agreed that there is a close relationship between indigestion and rheumatism. This view is sub-stantiated by the fact that Shivar Spring Water, which is probably the best American mineral water for dyspepsia and indigestion, relieves rheumatism and the rheumatoid diseases, such as gout, sciatica, neuralgia, and nervous headache. All of these diseases are probably related and all are probably due, in whole or in part, to imperfect digestion or to imperfect assimilation of food. Physicians who have studied this water and who have observed its effects in their practice believe that it relieves these maladies by rendering the digestion complete and perfect and thereby preventing the formation of those poisons which inflame the joints and irritate the nerves, and also by eliminating, through the kidneys, such poisons as have already been formed.

The following letters are interesting in this connection:

The following letters are interesting in this connection:

Dr. Crosby, a South Carolina physician writes: "I have tested your Spring Water in several cases of rhoumatism, chronic indigestion, kidney and bladder troubles, and in nervous and sick headaches, and find that it has acted nicely in each case, and I believe that, if used continuously for a reasonable time, it will give permanent relief. It will purify the blood relieve debility, stimulate the action of the liver, kidneys, and bladder, siding them in throwing off all poisonous matter."

Dr. Avant, of Savannah, writes: "I suffered for years with a most aggravating form of stomach disorder, and consulted a number of our best local physicians; went to Baltimore and consulted specialists there; and still I was not benefited. I had about despaired of living, when I began to use Shivar Spring Water, and in a short time was entirely relieved."

Mr. Rhodes, of Virginia, writes: "Please send me ten gallons of Shivar Spring Water quickly. I want it for rheumatism. I know of several who were relieved of rheumatism with this water."

Editor Cunningham writes: "The water has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken for rheumatism. I am entirely free from pain."

Mr. McClam, of South Carolina, writes: "My wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism, and, after drinking twenty gallons of your Mineral Water, was entirely relieved of the horrible disease."

Mr. Carter, of Virginia, writes: "Mrs. Carter has had enlarged joints upon her hands, caused by rheumatism. Shivar Spring Water removed every trace of the enlargement. The water is simply excellent."

If you suffer from rheumatism or from any curable disease, accept the

If you suffer from rheumatism or from any curable disease, accept the guarantee offer below by signing your name. Clip and mail to the Shivar Spring, Box 21D, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons (two five-gallon demijohns) of Shivar Spring Water. I agree to give the water a fair trial, in accordance with instructions which you will send; and if I report no benefit, you are to refund the price in full upon receipt of the two empty demijohns, which I soree to return promptly

APPENDING S
Name
Addre	88

Shipping Point.....

Shipping Point.

(Please write distinctly.)

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of serving the little church at Shivar Spring as pastor for years, and am therefore well acquainted with Mr. Shivar and his associates, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived great benefit from the use of the Shivar Mineral Water, and have knowledge of its beneficial effects in a great number and variety of cases."—Rev. A. McA. Pittman.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for im-Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties. Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

For the HAIR-

To make it soft, fluffy, and free from dan druff, use

TUDINIDERINE

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Gs.

Wanted COMPOSERS of VERSE or MUSIC to write me at once. Brilliant opportunity for good talent. Address

> BURRELL VAN BUREN, R17 Grand Opera House, Chicago.

FREE Puncture 6.000 Miles Guaranteed

Free Reliner With Each Tire
In ordering be sure to state size wanted, also whether s. s. clincher, plain or non-skid. Send 800 deposit on each tire, balance C. O. D. subject to examination; 5 per cent discount if you send full amount with order. Rush your order teday.
Reliable Tire and Rubber Co.
3440 Michigan Ave. Chicago, III.

ing of our income to advance the cause of Christ? It seems to me that if people who were looking forward to the first coming of Christ could afford to give a tenth, that we who are looking for the glorious second coming of Christ could afford to give at least as much. May the Father help us to read and fully understand 2 Cor. 8, 9. God certainly means for people who expect to be saved to do what is taught in his word, and has so arranged all things that all of his commands can be obeyed. Then the best we can do is to obey God, the Father, and Jesus Christ, the Son.

May our God, through Christ, help each one of us to do the best we can, that we may be saved from condemnation and may enter the holy city.

The Freed-Hardeman College.

BY F. O. HOWELL.

Brother I. A. Douthitt, of Wingo, Ky., is in the midst of a campaign raising money for the promotion of Freed-Hardeman College at Henderson, Tenn. We had him with us at Obion, Tenn., on the second Sunday in February. He preached two splendid sermons that every one enjoyed very much. With my assistance, he made a personal canvass of the membership of the church. We sent him on his way with a contribution to the school of fifteen hundred and five dollars. This was my regular appointment, so I was with him to do all I could. Freed-Hardeman College has Brother Douthitt employed to do this work. They pay him and defray his entire expenses. Preachers and churches need not hesitate to have Brother Douthitt visit them at their regular appointments. This is the very best time for the accomplishment of great things. Preaching brethren, write to Brother Douthitt when you can go with him and help him work the churches you preach for in this campaign. Do not be soft-hearted about it. Brother Douthitt is a money getter. It will greatly increase the scope of your usefulness to catch the spirit and learn the art.

Freed-Hardeman College and David Lipscomb College should have the financial support of every true Christian in the States. These are our institutions, and we must make provision for them.

Chick Food Free

If you are really interested and expect to If you are really interested and expect to raise some baby chicks this spring, then by all means write to day to E. J. Reefer, poul-try expert, 8252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., who will send you full informa-tion about the care of baby chicks and tell you the experience of a man who has made a fortune out of poultry.

When writing to advertisers, please say you saw their "ad." in this paper

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with dis-placement and irregularities and I did not know what to do.

My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."

Mrs. A. KWARCINSKI, 3627 W. Oakdak Aye., Chicago, Ill.

Ave., Chicago, Ill.
For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving back-ache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

Women who suffer are invited to write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

It is the presence and power of Christ we need and seek now. The din, cruelty, and sorrow of the past four years have made us feel the need of God. The problems that lie on the horizon stagger the bravest heart and stoutest mind. To begin the new era we need God's help, just as God's power and presence among men at the incarnation and birth of our Lord began the new era for the world. -Canadian Churchman.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

Foley's Honey and Tar
COMPOUND
IT IS JUST WHAT CHILDREN

ought to have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles," and that tight, wheezing breathing. It stops croup, too. It eases and checks whooping cough, measles cough and bronchial coughs. It stops croup, too. It eases

Every User a Friend

"My little girl had been having the croup overy few nights, so I began giving her a few drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every two or three hours. That night she slept well, never coughed any, and next day her cold was gone."—Mrs. R. M. Ranley, Stanford, Ky.

"My three children had a very severe ettack of whooping cough. The first few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar gave them great relief, and it did them good."—Mrs. E. C. Hostler. Grand Island, Neb.

Foley's Honey and Tar has been used for more than thirty years in thousands for more than thirty years in thousands of homes for relief from coughs, colds, spasmodic croup, tickling throat, hoarseness, whooping cough, bronchial coughs and the coughs that follow influenza or

Send NO Money

The Comfort, Style and Quality of these Nurse's Comfort shoes make them the greatest regiadly Send you pair os approse imply state imply state ize—we take all for risk that the oft glove-fitting either will deght you. Note the rubber heels, be easy, fexible online or abion oles will give you on make our fort int Sen or Sen unch.

-- No Money! Send Coupon ONLY Boston Mail Order House, Dep. 6066, Boston, Mass. Send my Nurses Comfort shoot on approximation artisk nothing!

Address

Fishing.

BY J. W. ATKISSON.

The disciples of the Lord were to become "fishers of men." Some are successful fishers; others, otherwise. Some are persecuted until they become discouraged and quit. "It is impossible but that offenses will come: but wee unto him through whom they come!"

My father was not a "fisher of men," but he was an excellent fisherman. When a boy, he caught fish in Duck River, in Middle Tennessee. He grew to be a man in that part of the country and married there. He moved to the little town of Licking, Texas County, Mo., in 1859, the year I was born. That part of Missouri was new then, and he and his family suffered all the hardships of pioneer life. Pretty soon the Civil War broke out and almost destroyed what little civilization and improvement there was in that country. There was one small meetinghouse in the town belonging to a congregation of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. There were several kinds of Baptists-Primitive and anti-Primitive and Freewill-that held their meetings in groves and in private homes of the crude pioneer The Restoration movement people. had never been heard of in that part of the country at that time.

There was no mill in the town; therefore, everybody had to go twelve or fifteen miles to the crude water mills off on the Big Piney River or the Current River. My father used to load his ox cart with sacks full of shelled corn and go away to mill and stay all night, for it would take the little water mill until late into the night to grind his grain; and he would fish until bedtime, and usually would catch a string of fine fish, and-O joy!-what a fish fry we would have when he would get home the next day!

I wanted to go with him to mill on a certain day; but he said that I was too little to leave mother then, but that he would take me when I got older and grew larger. I felt the disappointment keenly, but said nothing more about it. So he loaded the cart and went away to mill, taking my two older brothers with him; and he caught a big string of fish as usual. So when they came back home the next day, my brothers felt very proud of the fact that they had "been to mill" and had also learned something about catching fish. They had much to tell me about the water mill, the river, the big dam across the river, the roaring of the water that poured over the dam; and last, but by no means least, they told how the fish were hooked and drawn up out of the water. One of the brothers undertook to thoroughly demonstrate the whole process to me. He got father's hook and line, put the hook into his mouth, and then told me to take hold of the line and jerk it, which I did, and the fishhook stuck through his upper lip. He cried and screamed with pain, which scared me almost to death, and my mother almost fainted at the sight, and father had to split his lip open with the razor to get the hook out. I got a whipping for my folly; but that was my first lesson on how to eatch fish.

Old People Who Are Feeble and Children Who Are Pale and Weak

Would be greatly benefited by the General Strength-ening Tonic Effect of GROVE'S TASTELESS chi' TONIC. It purifies and enriches the blood ab builds up the whole system. A General Stre-ening Tonic for Adults and Children.

permanently disappear after using three jars of HAN-PILES COCK'S PILE REMEDY, or we will refund your money. If your case is not severe, it is probable that one far will relieve you. For all kinds of piles. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggist's or direct from

HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY,

Oxford, N. C. Druggists, write for liberal proposition.

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills: You can't feel so good but what will make you feel better. Get a 25c.

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured write for FREE BOOK

FREE BOUN
giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today.

CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY,
Dept. 74 Atlanta, Ga.

Revelation, No. 2.

BY J. J. VANHOUTIN.

In the sixth chapter of Revelation we have the opening of the seven seals. I will not aim to guess them off as to what they represent, like many have done; but if the fifth one was opened during the ten great persecutions, we may expect something terrible when the beast prevails so that all must worship as it directs. The seventh chapter tells of the redemption of one hundred and forty-four thousand which had been redeemed from the earth and from among men; and if I had the time and space, I could show to my own satisfaction that they were the many saints which followed Christ when he came up out of the grave alive. Never was there such a transaction before that time; and as that was a resurrection, it was, therefore, the first. The eighth chapter speaks of the altar of incense, the golden censer, and the prayers of the saints, which show that the righteous of all ages worshiped God in an orderly manner. The ninth chapter speaks of a fallen star who opened the bottomless pit, which might have been the spirit of false teaching, as there arose the spirit of every abominable thing contrary to the word of God like smoke from a fiery furnace. tenth chapter shows what will occur at the end of time, and wondrous things of which John was not permitted to write. In the eleventh chapter we have the measuring of the temple, the two witnesses, the two olive trees, the two candlesticks, the Kingship of Christ, his reign, and the judgment day, The twelfth chapter tells how Satan made himself a devil by rebellion and then persecuted the Lord's people. The thirteenth chapter tells of the great beast, or human organization powers upon a money basis, and that no man could buy or sell or get any work unless he belonged to the power and had the grip of the hand or countersign in the head; and Solomon is the only man spoken of in the Bible whose name is connected with the number six hundred and sixty-six. The fourteenth cha pter should be read in connection with the seventh chapter. Here John again speaks of the one hundred and fortyfour thousand and tells of their redemption and of the song which you and I cannot now sing because we are not yet redeemed from the earth. Here rests our hope, waiting for the adoption-to wit, the redemption of our bodies. (See Rom, 8: 21-23.) God has revealed to us the happy state of those whom Jesus raised from the dead at his wonderful resurrection; and we, if faithful, will eventually join their number, and then we can join in the song of praise for our eternal redemption.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness. nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILI TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIII TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same to-day, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL, 1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and surgeons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife. X-Ray, radium, or acids. Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hespital, without the use of either.

Physicians and surgeons treated free at the hospital.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Treatment for modic Cronp, Asthma International Tough, SparCoughs, Broachitis, Colds, Catarrh.

Don't fail to use Cresolene for the distressing, and often fatal affective and drugless treatment. Vaportzed Cresolene stops the paroxysms of Whooping Cough and relieves Sparmodic Cronp at once. In asthma it shortens tha attack and insures comfortable repose.

The air carrying the antiscpite vapor inspired with every breath, makes breathing easy, soothes the sore throat, and stops the cough, assuring restful nights. Cresolene relieves the bronchial complications of Scarlet Fever and Measles and is a valuable aid in the treatment of Diphtheria.

Cresolene's best recommendation is its 40 years of successful use, Send postal for Descriptive Booklet 43, FOR SALE BY DRUGGISTS

The Vapo-Cresolene Co. 62 Cortlandt St., New York or Leeming-Miles Building, Montreal, Canada

The strain of modern business life is too much for the nerves. You need a nerve sedative. Try

A Nerve Sedative that is recommended for Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Epilepsy, Hyateria, Chronic Headache, Nervous Irritation, and for use by those addicted to the Alcoholic or Drug Habit.

SOLO BY ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Free Eczema Remedy

Such wonderful results in eczema and all skin diseases instantly follow the soothing application of Krano-Zema, the new scientific treatment, and so confident is the Krano-Zema Co, that they will gladly send any reader a full-sized $1.00 treatment by prepaid mail without one cent in advance. If satisfied after using the treatment two weeks, pay $1.00; but if not, you do not pay one cent. Take advantage of this amazing free offer to-day. Send no money—just your name and address to the KRANO-ZEMA CO., 95 Phillips Building, Girard, Kan.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you are in a weaken nd, run-down condition, get my "Electric Belt." For Weakness, Nervous Debility, Rheumatism. Backache, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Marked Price $5. Specia. introductory price $1. postpaid. Br. Frank M. Weich, Atlanta, Ga.

Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Chamberlain's Tablets

RHEUMATIC PAIN Rub It Right Out-Try This!

Rheumatism is "pain only."

Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub the misery right away! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly into the sore, stiff joints and muscles and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" conquers pain. It is harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and does not hister. never disappoints and does not blister.

Don't suffer! Relief and a cure awarts you. Get it! "St. Jacobs Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

Money Received for the Potter Orphan Home Ford.

BY H. C. SHOULDERS,

Previously reported, $404.30; Paul R. Gray, Michigan, $25; church at Utica, Ind., $8.25; Mrs. H. M. Phillips, Alabama, $5; Mrs. Addie Bush, Kentucky, $1; J. E. Henry and wife, Kentucky, $2; church at Sweeny, Texas, $3; Mrs. G. W. Stephens, Kentucky, $1; J. B. Lynn, Kentucky, $1; M. D. York, Kansas, $100; church at Borden, Ind., $75; church at Gamaliel, Ky., $6; J. N. Isham, Kentucky, $1; Mrs. Ed. A. Woodson, Tennessee, $1; F. J. Fort and wife, Kentucky, $2; Bailey Toole, Kentucky, $1; Mrs. S. T. Botts, Kentucky, 50 cents; J. R. Kidd, Kentucky, 50 cents; J. M. Frazier, Kentucky, 50 cents; Dewey Botts, Kentucky, 50 cents; W. M. Totly, Kentucky, 50 cents; J. H. Harlin, Kentucky, $1; Mrs. J. H. Beals, Kentucky, $1; Mrs. H. W. Jolly, Kentucky, $1; J. P. Wilkinson, Kentucky, $1; J. C. West-brook, Kentucky, $1; Donald Haas, Indiana, $1; Helena Haas, Indiana, $1; Mrs. Irene Ruby, Indiana, $1; Carlos Haas, Indiana, $1; Georgia Haas, Indiana, $1: church at Parksville, Ky., $11.07; George Haas, Indiana, $5; Mrs. Lina Martin, Indiana, $1; Miss Olive Bright and sisters, Indiana, $3; Byron Varner, West Virginia, $5; B. A. King, Florida, $2.50; William F. Fierbaugh and wife, Ohio, $2; Ladies' Bible class, Vinewood Avenue, Detroit, Mich., $20; children's Bible class, Coal City, Ind., $1.50; Mrs. Belle Chaney, Coal City, ind., $1.50; H. O. Worsham, Kentucky, $1; E. E. Henderson, Kentucky, $1; H. H. West, Kentucky, $1; church at Gyreen's Chapel, Kentucky, through Christian Leader, $3.50; Roy E. Smith and wife, Kansas, $2; church at Green's Chapel, Kentucky, $5: church at Allensville, Ky., $34: Andrew J. Skinner, Indiana, $1; church at Cleveland Avenue, Hopkinsville, Ky., $2; Bessie and Nellie Womack, Oklahoma, 60 cents; "A Sister in Christ," somewhere, $1; Mrs. Victoria Hurst, Kansas, $1; church at Dasher, Ga., $25.75; church at Gunter, Texas, $2.

Only One "BROMO QUININE"

To get the genuine, call for the full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 30c.

TETTERINE Drives Away Pimples

and leaves your skin soft and spotless. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

FROM THE FIELD

Arkansas.

Texarkana, February 13.-I closed a ten-days' meeting at De Queen last night, leaving some twenty-four noble souls to keep house for the Lord. The cause at this point has suffered much in times past because of hobbies and unscriptural preachers. Several splendid families have recently banded together with the firm determination of doing things decently and in order. They extend a hearty welcome to zeal-ous Christians to be with them; also, a warm reception will be afforded soulloving preachers who are free of schismatic inclinations. The cause here continues to prosper.-J. E. Wainwright.

Georgia.

Carnesville, February 14.—I have worked for three months in this 14.—I have field, with some encouragement as to results. Services have been established at Carnesville and a title to property has been secured and is on record in the name of the church of I have visited two country places and held services, and have arranged to hold meetings in both places as soon as the conditions will permit. These people thought they could not sing without the instrument, but now they see the beauty of the worship without any aid. They responded when taught that it was our worship that was acceptable and not our ability to perform on an instrument. The first Lord's day in February was spent at Baldwin. Here is the first place I have found a building with the name of the church of Christ on the corner stone or any part of the building. They have a good, well-furnished building, but have never purchased an They still owe sixty dolinstrument. lars on their building. I will hold a meeting with them, beginning the latter part of this month, giving a course of twenty-eight Bible readings. I have visited Toccoa, the county seat of Stephens County, and found twenty-eight who are Christians only. I will hold a meeting with them and set the church in order. I wish to secure the aid of some one who can teach the rudiments I have six places where of music. teaching of this kind is greatly needed. They will welcome an instructor. the survey I have made thus far I find fifteen counties in Northeast Georgia without the church of Christ. I have never found a more willing people to work with. They are being faught to meet on the first day of the week as the Lord's day for worship in keeping the Lord's memorial and lay by as God They will suphas prospered them. port the missionary efforts as churches of Christ and not give to the societies.-R. L. Ludlam, Jr.

Sick Chicks Saved

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 5252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhosa, and How to Cure It". This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhosa, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terrible disease overnight and actually raises 98 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

The Gospel According to You.

You are writing a gospel-A chapter each day By the deeds that you do And the words that you say. Children read that gospel, Whether faithless or true. Say! What is the gospel According to you? -Selected.

Recipe for Gray Hair.

To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and one-fourth of an ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off .- Advt.

TETTERINE

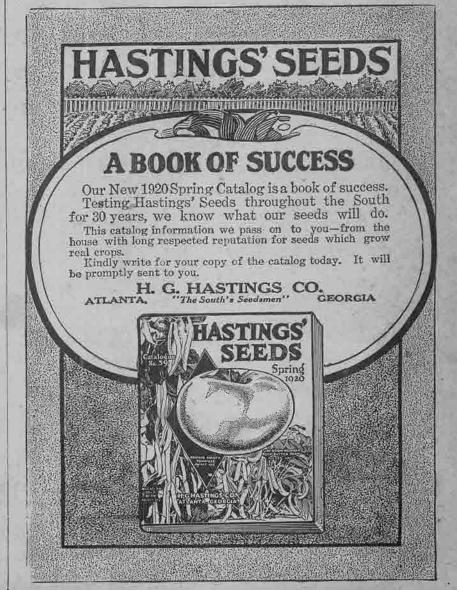

Ends Complexion Worries

Healing, Antiseptic, Scothing, Fragrant. 50c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

MEN Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness often disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. For good results use Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the great kidney medicine. At druggists in large and medium size bottles Sample size bottle by Parcel Post, also pamphlet. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, When writing, mention this paper.

We are told that an artist once drew a picture of a wintry twilight, the trees heavily laden with snow, and a dreary, dark house, lonely and desolate, in the midst of the storm. It was a sad picture, indeed. Then, with a quick stroke of yellow crayon he put a light in one window. The effect was magical. The entire scene was transformed into a vision of comfort and good cheer. The birth of Christ was just such a light in a dark world.-Exchange.

You Needn't keep on feeling distressed after eating, nor belching, nor experiencing nausea between meals. Hood's Sarrapprilla cures dyspepsia. It strengthens the stomach and other digestive organs for the proper performance of their functions. Take Hood's.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal. Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highenthusiastically endorsed by the high-est authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wenderful new clixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the pearest drug store.

you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children .- Adv.)

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant. Clinton S C.

McShane Bell Foundry Co. BALTIMORE, MD.
CHURCH, CHIME and PEAL BELLS Memorials
a Specialty

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION The Church of Christ Will Do It. No. 2. BY S. WHITFIELD.

Let us remember that the church of Christ is made up of the best people that are in the world-a people that have been called out of the world, that have been converted, and that have put on Christ and have been brought into the kingdom of God's dear Son. These people are true and tried, and are those that want to serve the Christ with all the heart, mind, and strength.

We must not feel like Elijah did when he thought that he was alone in serving the Lord, for even in this pleasure - loving and money - seeking age of the world God has a people. These people are made up of a few here and a few there; and, like Lot, they are vexed day by day with the horrible conduct of this wicked gen-They have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal and do not wish to.

If the devil could make us believe that the church will not do good works, he would be well pleased. He would then be in a good position to lead us to adopt the institutions of men. Let us always be satisfied with the old paths and the good way of the Lord, for this is the only right "For I have no man like-minded, who will naturally care for your state. For all seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's." (Phil. 2: 20, 21.) Here lies one of the troubles-too many are seeking their own and are not interested in the welfare of the cause as they should be. But maybe some one is ready to say that a preacher has no more right to sacrifice and suffer for Christ than any other Christian has. Well, that is very true; but if we never do only what we have a right to do, we will not do or sacrifice very much. If we are going to wait until other Christians sacrifice before we do, we may die waiting. Let us go ahead and set others a good example. Sometimes a preacher may do more and give more than all the rest of the congregation; but even then, is he doing as much as Christ did, or is he doing more than Christ wishes him to do? A preacher's work is not all in trying to save others, but also in trying to save himself. We need to preach and sacrifice to save ourselves.

Jesus suffered on the cross to bring about man's redemption, and suffering has always attended the carrying forth

Have Strong, Healthy
Eyes. If they Tire, Itch,
Smart or Burn, if Sore,
Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Scothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago

To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked, and faded hair is grand-mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

NO JOKE TO BE DEAF

TO TONE UP THE SYSTEM

weight. It's fine to tone up the system, better I think than cod-liver oil."—J. WAL-TER TUTTLE, Route 2.

WOMEN WITH BACKACHE

WOMEN WITH BACKACHE
Chattanooga, Tenn.:—"Dr. Pierce's remedies were a great help to me, I had become all rundown in health due to my having inward weakness. I was nervous and weak and could not eat or sleep. I suffered with backaches and dreadful pains in my head. I was miserable when I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and also Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and from a physical wreck these medicines restored me to health and strength. I could eat and sleep well and was in better health than I had been for a long time previously."—MRS. A. D. COCHRAN, 105 Whiteside St.

BRONCHITIS

Alton Park, Tenn.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used a great deal in my family with the very best of results. I had a girl that had chronic bronchitis and I never found anything that would give her relief until I began giving her Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it gave her more real help than all other medicine put together. I have taken 'Golden Medical Discovery' for stomach trouble and it was excellent for this ailment; it purifies one's Discovery for stomach trouble and it was excellent for this ailment; it purifies one's blood and seems to act upon, and build up one's whole system in a good healthy state. 'Golden Medical Discovery' is a splendid family medicine and I take pleasure in recommending it."—MRS. J. A. BEAN, 1500 Highland Ave.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Paln in a Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neural-

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgla, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs;
corns, bunions, etc. After one application,
pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza,
sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts
at once. As an illustration, pour ten drops
on the thickest piece of sole leather, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-red color only. Every bottle guaranteed, 30c, 60c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUICE MEDICINE COMPANY,
Jackson, Tenn.

Jackson, Tenn.

BY DOSE AND IN BOTTLES - 10:30 8.60 .

of the great plan of salvation; and the greater the sacrifice and suffering, the greater the success. If we want the suffering and sacrifice to stop, then let us remember that the success must stop, too. Jesus has set us the example, and we must follow in his steps. The New Testament shows us that Paul followed in the steps of his

"And in all things I have kept myself from being burdensome unto you, and so will I keep myself." (2 Cor. 11; 9.) "For ye remember, brethren, our labor and travail: for laboring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God." (1 Thess. 2: 9.) "Yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me. I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive." (Acts 20: 34, 35.)

Paul realized the importance of conducting himself in such a way that he would do the greatest good in the cause of Christ, and that he would not give the brethren any chance to think that he was more interested in himself than he was in the good of the church. He wanted to hold the confidence of the Lord's people that he might do them good. Surely every true gospel preacher to-day should be just as anxious and interested in these things as Paul was, for there is the same need!

It is very evident from the teaching of the New Testament that Paul did not get a salary. This word has been used several times recently in speaking of the preacher's support, and 1 do not know why brethren use it unless it is, as Brother Elam said, that some are trying to make a denomination out of the church of Christ. Certainly brethren should see that the faithful preacher and his family are cared for. The church that does not give more now than it did before the high cost of living is not doing its duty. Common honesty among some infidels would do better than that.

Colds Cause Fleadaches and Pains

Feverish Headaches and Body Pains caused from a cold are soon relieved by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

ECZEMA

IS CURABLE. Write me to-day, and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the ltching and heats permanently. DR. CANNADAY, 1226 Park Square, Sedalla, Mo.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it five hundred grains of acid and waste; so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water; you can't drink too much. Also get from any pharma-cist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy, be, by mail or at Druggists, Hiscox Chemical Works, Fatchogue, N. X.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

ů

Will You Urge Your Pastor to Attend?

OVER 100,000 pastors have been invited to attend what is probably the most important series of State Conferences in the entire program of the Interchurch World Movement.

Your pastor has doubtless accepted. Be certain of it. He will tell you that your church can get the important facts of the Interchurch World Movement in no other way.

Your church, as a part of the Interchurch World Movement and participating in its activities, should be represented by its pastor, because:

1—This is the first time that the evangelical churches have ever come together in a unified effort for Christ and the first time all the pastors in your State have ever been assembled for a common program.

- 2—Complete plans for the program of the Interchurch World Movement at home and abroad will be discussed.
- 3—The exact relationship which your church and your denomination bears to the Interchurch World Movement will be presented.
- 4—Full details will be presented covering the evangelistic, stewardship, and financial campaigns of which your church is a part.

This conference will stimulate the spiritual inspiration and supply the information necessary for the successful conduct of that part of the great evangelistic work assigned to your church.

DATES OF THE PASTORS' STATE CONFERENCES

	TOTAL PARTY NAME OF
Trenton, N. JFeb. 25-27	Birmingham, AlaMar. 3-5	Denver, Col Mar. 3-5
Rochester, N. Y Mar. 1-3	Grenada, MissMar. 8-10	Oklahoma City, Okla Mar. 8-10
Providence, R. IMar. 3-5	Hattiesburg, Miss Mar. 10-12	Little Rock, ArkMar. 10-12
Boston, MassMar. 8-10	New Orleans, LaMar. 15-17	Los Angeles, CalFeb. 25-27
Bangor, Me Mar. 10-12	Louisville, Ky Mar. 17-19	San Francisco, CalMar. 1-3
Lansing, Mich Feb. 25-27	Mitchell, S. DFeb. 25-27	Portland, OreMar. 3-5
Indianapolis, Ind Mar. 1-3	Minneapolis, Minn Mar. 1-3	Seattle, WashMar. 8-10
Parkersburg, W. Va Mar. 3-5	Grand Forks, N. D Mar. 3-5	Spokane, Wash Mar. 10-12
Baltimore, MdMar. 8-10	Chicago, Ill Mar. 8-10	Richmond, Va Mar. 1-3
Dover, Del Mar. 10-12	Helena, Mont Feb. 25-27	Atlanta, Ga Mar. 10-12
Nashville, TennMar. 1-3	Douglas, Ariz Mar. 1-3	Jacksonville, FlaMar. 15-17

If you are a church official, telephone or see your pastor, urging his attendance. His railroad and Pullman transportation will be paid where necessary.

Field Department

The INTERCHURCH World Movement of North America

45 West 18th Street

New York City

Election is election to the service of others. How many of us, then, have been elected? Are there any exempt from the election? We are all known, all elected, all called—for the election is a call to individual faithfulness, and our response will determine whether the election shall issue in sunshine or in fire. Each life has its own peculiar mission. God appoints for each a special and individual task. My mission is my election. I may not know what my mission is. That matters not. God knows. My part is to discharge the duty that lies nearest, and then the next, and God will control and guide the connected purpose and mission. How can I turn the election into a glad consciousness of protecting providence and eternal security? By a spirit of obedience; by faithfulness in that which is least,—J. H. Jowett.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation, Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price The consciousness that you are improving, that you can do some things now better and more easily than you did a year ago, that you now see some things clearly which were once perplexing and confusing, is a wonderful source of encouragement.—Selected.

Why Chicks Die

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 9252 Reefer Building, Kansas City, Mo., Is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhoas, and How to Cure it." This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhoa, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terrible disease overnight and actually raises 38 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

Volume LXII. No. 10.

NASHVILLE, TENN., MARCH 4, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS.

	217 218 221
OTERV DEPARTMENT
QUERY DEPARTMENT JOURNEYINGS OFTEN	223
EDITORIAL	224
AT HOME AND ABROAD	229
	230
CHURCH NEWS	231
DECOM THE BIRITS	236
	240

The Menace of Bolshevism

Having briefly discussed the origin of the Bolshevistic movement, we are now better prepared to consider some things relative to its miserable lack of moral fitness. As we have already suggested, these agitators are not to be condemned merely for the fact that they have stirred up the country. It is the principles they are fighting for that bring them into disrepute.

Bolshevism stands for the immoral principle that might makes right. True enough, might may be on the side of right, but it never makes right. The first Russian revolution was morally justified because it rested on the manifest will of the majority of the people. But the second or Bolshevistic revolution rested on the autocratic power of a conscienceless minority. Democracy, which was represented by the constituent assembly, was tyrannically overthrown, and in its place was put "the dictatorship of the proletariat." And yet we are told that Bolshevism is "an experiment in direct democracy in the control of both industry and government." In reality it is an experiment in a new form of tyranny. It is the very essence of Bolshevism that it depends on the minority and does not require the adhesion of the majority. We are told that there has not been a moment since the overthrow of Kerensky when the Bolsheviki were supported by as many as ten per cent of the population. In Germany the Spartacides openly boasted that they were only a minority, but were determined to rule, nevertheless.

Bolshevism represents the immoral principle of class hatred. It derives its entire inspiration from the theory that the wealthy are inevitably and unutterably opposed to the poor, and consequently the poor must in self-defense be inevitably and unutterably opposed to the wealthy. That has been the staple of Lenine's teachings for years. There is no such thing as class harmony. The saving middle class is an impossibility. The great "brotherhood of man" is a joke as he sees it. In "A Letter to American Workingmen" Lenine writes; "The soviet republic repudiates the hypocrisy of a formal equality of all human beings. . . . Since we are here concerned with the task of overthrowing the bourgeoisie, only fools or traitors will insist on the formal equality of the bourgeoisie." Lenine's philosophy overlooks the important fact that there may be competition and antagonism between classes; but this does not exclude unity, contract, and cooperation. Lawyers are competitors and not always lonely fighters at the bar; yet even there, arrayed on opposing sides, contending for vast moneyed interests, for honor and success, they seldom forget to call each other "brother." It is not all form. Physicians are competitors for business; and yet they have clubs and associations where their science and their professional art make them forget the meaner instincts of rivalry. Newspapers fight each other with vituperative editorials; yet when one loses its equipment by fire, the other hastens to the rescue. Wage workers are competitors for places; and yet they are building up great societies for mutual benefit, and it is no unusual thing for employers and employees to sit down in brotherly conference. With one fell stroke Lenine would cut "brother" from the language of human endeavor, or, rather, limit its application to a few malcontents. In contrast with his pessimistic note we would present the glorious sentiment of the immortal Lincoln in his first inaugural address: "We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break, our bonds of affection. The mystic cord of memory, stretching from every battle field and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

Bolshevism is immoral because it violates the sanctity of ownership. It transgresses the commands, "Thou shalt not covet" and "Thou shalt not steal." In a world where everybody owns everything there could be no such thing as theft. The Bolsheviki have neither founded new states nor made any other addition to the constructive powers of mankind. It is their plan to take something that others have built up. Not a single institution or principle of enduring value can be discerned in the whole mass of this propaganda. It is a negative, destructive, disintegrating force. Whatever the American apologist for Bolshevism may say, Lenine himself does not for a moment disclaim responsibility for the destruction of industries and the reign of terror in Russia, but rather glories in it. Hear him; "When the workers and the laboring peasants took hold of the powers of state, it became our duty to quell the resistance of the exploiting classes. We are proud that we have done it, that we are doing it. We only regret that we did not do it at the beginning with sufficient firmness and decision. We realize that the mad resistance of the bourgeoisie against the social revolution in all countries is unavoidable. But the proletariat will break down this resistance and in the course of its struggle against the bourgeoisie will finally become ripe for victory and power." This virtually means that Lenine is proud of anarchy and bloodshed, the wholesale burning of buildings and throwing of bombs. (To be continued.)

A. B. Lipseomb and M. C. Kurfees on Teaching the Bible.

BY A. M. GEORGE.

In the Gospel Advocate of October 2, 1919, Brother A. B. Lipscomb had a long article on this subject; and in the same paper of October 30, 1919, Brother Kurfees gave an article on the same subject.

They both were trying to defend the "Sunday school." They and all advocates of the "Sunday school" contend that we are commanded to teach the Bible. I and all Sunday-school opposers agree with them.

Brother Kurfees made a statement that I wish to consider a little. He said that the silence enjoined in 1 Cor. 14: 34 "was specifically limited to the church come together in one place, when it is, of course, a promiscuous assembly of both men and women." This is true as to the church. Then, taking 1 Tim. 2: 11, 12 and 1 Cor. 14: 34 together, he concludes that Paul meant only that the women should not make public speeches or speak in such a way as to dominate the men; that she is not prohibited from all teaching under all circumstances. This is the argument made by all "Sunday school" men. The women can talk and teach where they please, so that they do not dominate the men.

Brother Lipscomb went away back to Methuselah, Abraham, Melchizedek, and others, to prove that teaching was done and is right, and that they had schools. This may all be true; but what was done before the flood or the advent of Christ cuts little figure in this case. We all agree that both men and women are commanded to teach, and should do so, but not in every place.

Brother Lipscomb says: "The work and influence of the "Sunday school" gleams from the history of every church and from the analysis of every useful character." I would like some references, as I have never found any such in the Bible.

It is strange that all of these Sunday-school men spend so much time trying to justify the women talking and teaching in the public assembly, but never have anything to say about the thirty-fifth verse of 1 Cor. 14, which lets all the wind out of their sails, just like a hole punched in an inflated bladder. This verse is a part of the sentence they use so much, beginning with verse 34, but they hardly ever get to it. Do they see a pit in it? It is there in their way, and balks them as completely as the angel of the Lord balked Baalam's ass. They cannot get by it. Will they tell us that a woman bosses a man when she merely asks of him a question to learn something? No use to run back to Methuselah and the Talmud; just tell us what this clause of this sentence means.

Now I wish to notice, a little, another article from Brother Kurfees on this subject in the Advocate of January 22, 1920. T. B. Clark asks Brother Kurfees if the Sunday school is the church, and then wishes to know if it is sanctioned by the commission (Matt. 28: 19 and Mark 16: 16). Brother Kurfees replies, "If those who teach in the Sunday school are members of the church, the Sunday school is the church;" and he tries to show that a church has a scriptural right to meet and study and teach the Bible, which is entirely unnecessary, as no one questions the right to do so. But he tries to justify the "Sunday school," with its classes, female teachers, etc., by the often-repeated statement that no specific method of studying and teaching the Bible is given, and so we can use the "Sunday-school" method, provided we do nothing that violates anything that is written in the Bible. Then all we have to do is to find out whether the "Sunday school," as they operate it, violates what is written in the Bible or not.

Now, brethren, I call upon you to take up the fourteenth chapter of First Corinthians, begin at the beginning and follow it through carefully, especially from the twentythird verse, and see if you cannot find a "specific method" for teaching the Bible in the church come together in one place. If no method is revealed, let all speak with tongues, whether there be an interpreter present or not. (Verses 23-28.) If no method is revealed in verses 29-31, let all the teachers (prophets) teach at once, as is done in the "Sunday school." If no method in verse 33, let confusion riot, as in the Sunday school. If no method in verses 34, 35, let the women talk, speak, and teach as much as they please, as they do in the Sunday school, and let them ask all the questions they wish, at church, at home, or anywhere they please. If nothing is revealed in verse 40, let us lay aside decency and order and go rough-and-tumble. If nothing is revealed in 1 Tim. 2: 11, let the women make themselves as conspicuous and "bossy" as they will.

Now, if our "Sunday-school" brethren find it necessary to throw 1 Cor. 14 out of the Bible, as some have tried to do, let them consider verse 37: "If any man thinks himself to be a prophet [teacher], or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things that I write unto you are the commandments of the Lord."

Missionaries and Sound Doctrine.

BY E. C. FUQUA.

Hume McHenry's and S. O. Martin's betrayal of the cause of truth in India confirms an idea I have long held-viz., that no man is qualified as a missionary for Christ who has not had occasion to defend the truth against all manner of sectarian opposition. One who has been forced to fight his way against human doctrines comes out of every battle with a stronger faith in the truth and with a greater determination to hold it up at all costs. A prospective missionary representing the churches of Christ needs first to learn to struggle with the truth against all forms of opposition at home, thus qualifying for encounters certain to develop on the foreign field. If this is not done at home, when the foreign field is reached and the foe presents itself, the missionary will be largely helpless in defending the truth, and will also be exposed to being carried away with the error he is supposed to oppose. This, if I understand it, is exactly what our India missionaries did. They were manifestly ignorant of Adventism and its radical difference from the gospel of Christ, and, like so many others in this helpless condition, they were unable to see where the two dectrines conflicted. This is the charitable construction I am pleased to place upon the unfortunate situation in India.

Assuming that this is a correct diagnosis of their malady, it is clear that missionaries should be posted with reference to all aggressive doctrines, like Adventism, Mormonism, Russellism, Christian Science, and Spiritualism; that they should know what these doctrines are and how to show the people what they are. In other words, a good debater will unquestionably make the best missionary, other things being equal. Men like F. B. Srygley, F. W. Smith, I. B. Bradley, and many others, who have long defended the cause against all sorts of opposition, are the men to represent the cause of Christ on foreign fields, or anywhere, as to that matter, that the cause is made to depend upon one man's ability and faith and loyalty. The churches need to know of the dependability of the man sent out-his ability to defend the cause against every onslaught of error.

 Missionary fields are already overrun with every form of modern sectarianism, especially Adventism, Mormonism, and Russellism, and the missionary who is ignorant of these isms will find himself largely at their mercy, and the truth he represents will be in danger of being betrayed through the missionary's own pure ignorance of the tactics employed by the isms I have mentioned. A man who is friendly toward, and who moves along smoothly with, these human doctrines at home is not the man to oppose them abroad, and they know it as soon as such a man is known to be placed on any mission field. They first seek his friendship, then his cooperation, then the fruit of his labor. Friendship for any human doctrine is enmity toward Christ. The best missionary is the man whom the sects hate the most, provided they hate him for his loyalty to the truth and his enmity toward their false systems of religion. The missionary should soon be known as the enemy of every human doctrine and speculation on the field where he has cast his lot. This singles him out and makes his cause a "peculiar" cause on that field, and this alone will draw attention to his plea and give him an advantage at the very start of his work. On account of this enmity the sects will warn, work, and pray against the missionary's efforts; and this, too, will help to distinguish his work from the Babel that cries against it. If an opportunity is presented for a good debate (and these will come), the cause of truth has nothing to fear, but much to gain, through such a discussion; and after two or three debates, properly conducted, the enemy will retire to a safe distance and content itself with hurling harmless epithets and stigmatizing with offensive appellations, This will all spell victory for the truth.

It is surprising and discouraging to see how little many of our preaching brethren know of Adventism, Russellism, and Mormonism, the three most aggressive and enterprising of the false religions to-day poisoning the minds of innocent believers in Christ. Such men are not qualified to act as missionaries for Christ, McHenry and Martin could not have selected a religion that had less of Christianity in it than Seventh-Day Adventism, It is essentially unchristian in warp and in woof; but this is known only after thorough examination of its teachings in the light of the word of God. Here is where the unfortunate men just mentioned were entrapped: they were ignorant of "the deep things of Satan" which form the foundation of Adventism, and they accepted it upon its surface value. I have hope yet that after they see it as it really is they will renounce it.

But let the churches learn from this to place only trusted and tested men in the field-men who know these doctrines and who are known to have defended the truth against them and all other forms of opposition. Everything depends upon a lone missionary. He can protect the truth on his field, or he can sell out to error and force the loss of all his labors upon the churches that have supported him. As steward of the combined strength of the churches supporting him, he holds a most responsible position, and a misstep on his part plunges all his supporters into the support of error. I know of no stake or post where we should more carefully see to it that one be firm and loyal to truth than in selecting a missionary. Truly we need "only Americans on guard" when we select and send a missionary to a strange country where everything rests in his hand. Out of the unfortunate turn of affairs in India, may this lesson be impressed upon all the churches.

Funds for Sister Lillie Cypert. BY NELLE STRAITON.

The following contributions, which had been sent to me for transmission, were forwarded to Sister Lillie Cypert, in Japan, on November 30: From R. V. Hamrie, Texas, $5; Miss Amanda Few, Tennessee, $2; Bible School, Texas, per Miss G. Blair, $1.10; Mrs. B. B. Miles, Texas, $1; church in Texas, per H. L. Meeks, $5.56; church in Texas, per Mrs. E. B. Clardy, $2.85; J. R. Wilmore, Texas, $2; J. F. Boyce, West Virginia, $1; Sunday-school classes in Oklahoma, per Mrs. Lucy Todd, $5; Miss Laura Cooke, Texas, $2; Mrs. M. A. Roach and Sunday-school class, Alabama, $10; F. L. Russell, Florida, $2; Mrs. V. G. Stuart, Georgia, $2; V. B. and George Christopher, Texas, $3; Mrs. Anna L. Hill, Texas, $1; church in Texas, per Mrs. J. E. Thompson, $2.30; Mrs. A. W. Bowman, Pennsylvania, $5; Mrs. J. G. Jackson, Georgia, $2; G. H. R., $2; Miss Alma Ivy, Texas, $1; Mrs. G. W. Sosebee, Texas, 50 cents; Mrs. Ella Julian, Illinois, $2; Mrs. Esther L. Booth, Nebraska, $2; Mrs. Wes Dunham, Texas, $1; Mrs. E. Emberson, Texas, $1; Mrs. A. E. Perry, Louisiana, $5: classes 1, 2, Texas, per Mrs. F. Miller, $1.04; Misses N. and A. Broyles, Kentucky, $5: Floyd H. Henderson, Canada, $2; Mrs. Pearl Hendrix, Kentucky, $2; brethren in Indiana, per W. E. Dillman, $5; church in Texas, per Mrs. B. Gaulden, $6.01; Nellie Straiton, Texas, $4.64. Total. $95.

Sister Lillie Cypert wrote to me a short time ago: "Only one rocking-chair, a typewriter table, and a little bit of bedding and linen are all that belongs to me in the house. You might say just the things I brought with me, because Miss Andrews and I have lived together all the time, and she was supplied with household needs to the extent of our home's capacity until we came here, and this house was furnished with the Vincents' furniture. But Miss Andrews, of course, took hers to Okitsu when she went, and the Vincents have ordered theirs sold and the money sent as soon as possible; so that leaves me without anything much. If it is sold, I wish to keep as much of the necessary things here as possible; so, in order to do so, I may have to ask for help."

In addition to the regular support shown above, I also forwarded to Sister Cypert, on November 30 for a special Furniture Fund, the following contributions: From "A Sister," Tennessee, $25; Mrs. Florence Miller, Texas, $25; "A Sister," Texas, $10. Total, $60.

I am sure that many of those who read this appeal and who have learned of the great work to be done in Japan and the noble part that Sister Cypert is having in this work will be glad to help with this furniture fund. This is especially addressed to those who are not contributing to the regular support of Sister Cypert.

A Friendly Suggestion. BY GEORGE W. FARMER.

As we enter the year 1920, with renewed blessings showered upon us and with renewed obligations hanging over us—new duties, new opportunities—and with so many, many needy and urgent calls for the cause of the King's business, I just want to offer a friendly, and yet a very urgent, suggestion to the churches of Christ everywhere.

Let me suggest that each congregation, regardless of how large or how small, how rich or how poor, at home or abroad, in city, town, village, or country, strive to do more real work this year than ever before. The majority of these congregations are not getting as much preaching as they need to keep in good, healthy, working condition. Let each congregation that has not been getting much preaching arrange for more preaching if possible. Select a destitute field and have the gospel preached in that field. If you cannot find a field, get some one to help you find one. It can be done without any trouble. You will find them in all quarters of the country.

Teach the members of your congregation to give liberally of their means to spread the gospel, and let us all make a heroic effort to advance the cause over every opposing foc-

Where you are working honorably, the word "prosaic" ought to be banished from your vocabulary. It is the way, and you are the wayfarer. It is a way of holiness; you are being trained for unspeakable things in the far future.—Selected.

The Prospect in Denver, Col. BY JOHN D. EVANS.

Just eleven years ago I came to make Denver and Colorado my future home. I came broken down in health and in purse, "not knowing the things that were to befall me." I had strong faith in the Lord and a reasonable amount of energy. I endeavored to combine both in a way to honor the Lord and advance his cause in what seemed to me then the most destitute field in the United States, so far as pure, primitive Christianity was concerned. In less than three months after my arrival we were meeting regularly in "our own hired house," and continued through favorable and adverse circumstances until in December last, when we began to occupy our own home. Through our own and outside contributions we secured a five-thousand-dollar stone building which would cost us more than twice the amount to build now. Its seating capacity is ample, it is well lighted and heated, and is located in a splendid residence section and near a suburban business center. We have four lots with the building. The location is 125 South Sherman Street. (Visiting brethren will take notice.) We went into the building with an encumbrance of eighteen hundred dollars furnished by our local bank. We would like to pay off the debt during this year. We feel that the work here is of sufficient importance to interest some of our Tennessee brethren to help make this possible. I would like to ask my brethren in Tennessee to furnish, say, one-third of the amount, and we will take care of the balance. About three or four years ago, at my request, a few congregations and brethren individually made contributions to this fund, and the contributors assured me when we were ready to build they would increase their subscriptions. This is just a gentle reminder. There will be no further public appeals for funds for this purpose through the Gospel Advocate. We will acknowledge receipt of each contribution and make public announcement when sufficient funds have been received. I refer any inquirers to Brother J. C. McQuiddy, who recently visited us. During my stay in Colorado I have never asked the brethren for one penny for myself. Before I was able to "labor with my own hands" the brethren very kindly sent "once and again to my necessities;" so that I can truthfully say that "I robbed other churches" to serve the cause where work was most needed. In giving my services unreservedly to the cause. I have been able to realize as never before the beauty of the Savior's unqualified announcement: "It is more blessed to give than to receive." I have put to the test the promises of God, and not one of them has failed. Against the advice of my best friends and physicians, I have kept busy; and now that my life has been prolonged beyond the most sanguine expectation of my friends, even beyond the meridian of life, with plenty of "food and raiment" and a reasonably prosperous business, I can rejoice that the Lord has "abundantly supplied all my needs" and that "the things that have happened unto me" have resulted in the "furtherance of the gospel of Christ." I say this for the encouragement of the hundreds of young preachers in the Southland who are so backward about responding to appeals for workers in the Colorado field. Launch out on the promises, brethren, and the Lord will not be "slack concerning his promises."

Now is an opportune time to enter in and "possess the land." When Brother McQuiddy was with us, he gave us assurances of the coöperation of Tennessee brethren in more thoroughly evangelizing this field. But we find the greatest trouble is men to do the work. It seems difficult to get good men to follow the example of Abraham and leave their homes and kindred to go where the Lord calls them. Brethren, you whom the Lord has abundantly blessed, send men into the field that is "ripe unto the harvest." Send them to those of us who are here, and we will help to direct the work in such a way as to accomplish the greatest amount of good. And do not wait until next year. Now is the accepted time. Brother Fuqua is doing a good work at Fort Collins, Loveland, Bellvue, and other places; Brother Bailey, at Boulder. Other congregations are starting up at mission points. Denver is a good base from which to operate. In our own congregation, with the largest membership we have ever had, an organization complete with elders and deacons, we are ready to do better work than ever before. Brother H. E. Speck, of Abilene, Texas, is now with us. He will remain here during the spring and summer months, partly to recuperate, partly to take some postgraduate work at the Denver University, and incidentally to help us do all the good we can. His family is with him. Their present address is 224 South Lincoln Street. Brother E. E. Shoulders is keeping busy working night and day, always faithfully at his post. We expect a number of extra workers during the spring and summer in evangelistic campaigns.

I will make reports from time to time of the Denver and Colorado work. Will you keep the needs of this field continually upon your heart?

"Boasting Myself."

BY BEN WEST.

In a recent report from Brother Harvey Scott, of San Antonio, Texas, he states that he reports seldem, and also quotes from a brother who said he did not know which of our publications the Lord took, so he reported in none of the papers. Brother Scott says he does not like to "boast himself." I am frank to say, brethren, that I believe the Lord finds much good in all our publications that are loyal to the truth. None of them claim perfection, as perfection, though sought, is not attained in this world. The brotherhood, I am sure, is greatly pleased with recent special efforts on the part of the editors of three of our leading papers to create a happier fellowship, harmony, and unity. Such efforts will be fruitful for good to all of us. The papers preach to about as many people as all the preachers combined, and they are doing far more good than many of us think There are some people, some preachers, who have possibly a mistaken view of reports of work done and meetings held, and results of said meetings. The preacher who reports does not "boast himself" just because he reports his work. I want to know what my brethren are doing. It encourages, inspires, and edifies me. It does the same for thousands of others. Working on this principle, I have practiced reporting all my work. I believe I owe this much to my brethren in the Lord. Two examples of reports recently made are from Cleburne and Glenwood, Fort Worth, telling what they have done and are doing. No doubt many of us preachers will use these two examples where we labor to quicken the brethren to greater activity. We do not know how much we owe to each other in the past progress of the cause of Christ, having learned through the reports what others are doing. Let us support all our papers and report work done. All the brethren should cooperate with the editor to avoid becoming "sectarians" and lining up with one publication and preclude intimacy with any other publication. I love all my brethren and want all the papers to continue to do good.

Strength counts. It is of more value than money. A strong physique means everything to the man who works with his hands. A well-developed mind is just as much to him whose occupation calls for brains. Bodily and mentally, we all know, strength is a necessity. Now, just a step higher. How strong is your spirit? If it be healthy, then you are to experience the achievements of the spirit. Strength is never kept accidentally. When the morale of an army is at its best, there is military victory. In the strength of one's spirit there is triumph over sin.—Selected,

Training Little Children

(Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.)

Are Girls More Refined by Nature Than Boys?

There is a popular belief that boys are crude and rather vulgar by nature. This tradition has become established because girls, after the age of three or four at any rate, seem to be more refined than boys in speech and in manners. But the difference may not be a native one: it may be due to differences in training and especially in environment and companionship.

From early childhood boys are subjected to rough associations from which girls are protected. Boys are permitted to hear obscene language, which girls, speaking generally, never hear. Vulgar people try to restrain their coarseness when a girl is present, but they never think of doing so before a boy. Even in public performances, as in the theater, obscenity is often indulged in if only men are present, whereas little if anything of the kind would occur before girls or women. Lewd actions are exhibited before boys and men, while girls are never admitted to places where such actions are permitted.

If boys as well as girls were guarded from vulgarity and their activities rightly directed, society would hold the same moral standard for men and women. The late Speaker Cannon held the same standard, and the following story is pertinent: At a stag dinner where he was once toastmaster, a certain Congressman prefaced a vulgar story with the words: "As no ladies are present, I will tell the following story." "Pardon me, you may omit that part of your remarks," interrupted Speaker Cannon; "though no ladies are present, many gentlemen are."

Public sentiment always requires that the environment of the girl be more wholesome and refined than that of the boy. If boys are more susceptible, why are they not safeguarded? Will some one who is in the habit of ascribing native vulgarity to boys please answer this question?

Thoughtless though doubtless well-meaning people are constantly seeking to improve the environment of girls so as to keep their thoughts, feelings, and conduct wholesome, sweet, and refined; but they let boys grow up under debasing conditions, and then lament over the fact that they are not naturally refined and scrupulous about their speech and manners. Many parents expend more time and money in getting nice clothes for a daughter than for a son, and then they wonder why he is not so particular as she is about his appearance. The result of this general indifference to a boy's esthetic nature is, of course, that the boy, as a rule, is coarser in his thought, speech, and action than the girl. But is the difference due to sex or to the fact that we neglect the boy and permit him to look out for himself, with the result that he is often subjected to vicious suggestion? It is a wonder that, take boys as they go, they are not worse than they are.

0 0 0

Any zeal is proper for religion, but the zeal of the sword and the zeal of anger. This is the bitterness of zeal, and it is a certain temptation to every man against his duty; for if the sword turns preacher and dictates propositions by empire instead of arguments and engraves them in men's hearts with a poignard that it shall be death to believe what I innocently and ignorantly am persuaded of, it must needs be unsafe to "try the spirits," to "try all things," to make inquiry; and yet, without this liberty no man can justify himself before God or man, nor confidently say that his religion is best.-Jeremy Taylor.

The Voice of God.

The voice of God on Sinai's mount was heard, And through the ages have the spirits stirred Who love and worship the Incarnate Word,

The changing world is full of sin and strife, And death in many dreadful forms is rife; Yet God hath given us not death, but life.

We do not fight against relentless Fate, Nor vainly do our souls in patience wait; God never leaves his children desolate.

The spirits of the faithful must be brave; The fairest flowers blossom on a grave, And God in mercy shall his people save.

Without his care a sparrow shall not fall; To him how dear the spirits held in thrall By sin! So let us answer to his call.

Of evil lives or good we make our choice; And these who hear by faith the Father's choice, Redeemed from sin, forever shall rejoice. -Martha A. Kidder.

0 0 0

Prayer and Nerves.

Do you know that prayer is one of the best nerve tonics in the world?

You have exceeded the speed limit at your task. Your nerves are shattered and frayed and throbbing. To you the shutting of a door is like the crack of a pistol; the sudden casting of a shadow across the room is the blackness of darkness; the surging of a crowd on street or highway is the raging tempest or a storm of thunder and lightning; the word of criticism, alone or in company, is a very avalanche of anathema upon you.

Poor jaded soul! "Come ye apart and rest a while." It is the Master's word, the great Physician's remedy, the divine salve that will soothe your fluttering spirit.

Come ye apart! You need the soul's look at life from a new angle; a change of scene before the inner eye; mental absenteeism from all irritants in surroundings; this coming apart from fret and worry under the lead of the Lord. O wearied heart, can you not feel the soothing touch of his gentle hand?

And here you must "rest a while"-rest at his feet, for you are footsore and need travel no farther. Place your upstretching, finger-twitching, nervous hands in his, and let him moderate your tempestuous pulses. Lay on his bosom your throbbing temples and hear him say to the storm surges in your mind; "Peace, be still!"

Soul of mine, verily for even thee the lowly One said: "Come unto me and I will give you rest." So, with him near and on ceaseless guard over you, rest; in the silence and stillness of his sympathetic presence, rest; in the consciousness and confidence of his power and mercy, restgently, sweetly rest!-Selected.

章 章 章

As a drop of water poured into wine loses itself and takes the color and savor of wine; or as a bar of iron, heated red-hot, becomes like fire itself, forgetting its own nature; or as the air, radiant with sunbeams, seems not so much to be illuminated as to be light itself; so, in the saints, all human affections melt away, by some unspeakable transmutation, into the will of God: for how could God be all in all if anything merely human remained in man? -Bernard of Clairvaux.

BY J. C. MCQUIDDY.

Brother John H. O'Guin inquires to know the meaning of Rev. 15: 4. The passage reads: "Who shall not fear, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy; for all the nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy righteous acts have been made manifest."

The querist wants to know when the nations will worship before the Lord. All nations will worship before him when the mighty arm of God is revealed in bringing to naught all the powers of evil, and especially all the great enemies over whom they had been victorious. The saints who have undergone the persecution of the beast are represented as rejoicing because the day of its judgment has come. Just when this will be, I do not know.

000

Brother G. W. Gowen, of Flat Creek, Tenn., inquires to know the meaning of Acts 5: 13, which reads: "But of the rest durst no man join himself to them: howbeit the people magnified them." He wishes to know who is "the rest" and who is "them."

To my mind it is evident that "the rest" does not refer to all nonbelievers. This is clear from verse 14, which says: "And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women." The Jewish nation was then divided into many different sects who entertained widely divergent opinions on various subjects. The apostles adopted none of these discordant views; hence none of the different sects, neither the Pharisees, Sadducees, nor Herodians, dared to join themselves to them, "them" evidently referring to the apostles or disciples.

0 0 0

Brother J. O. Shannon, of Hiawatha, Kan., inquires to know whether he should work and worship in a congregation that uses an organ when he believes that to unite with the church using the organ would be wrong. He is much pleased with the evangelist who is preaching for the church, and thinks that he does not preach to please the people, but to glorify God. He wants to know what is his duty.

So long as he believes it would be a sin to unite with the congregation using the organ, he should not do so. "To him who accounteth anything to be unclean, to him it is unclean," (Rom. 14: 14.) Clearly it is his duty to worship God as he understands the Spirit to direct. He should use his talents and make sacrifices; he should teach the truth from house to house, and thus endeavor to establish a church of Christ that worships as did the New Testament church. Christians who are not willing to worship with an organ should labor earnestly and diligently in establishing a congregation that works and worships without it.

0 0 0

Brother R. J. Green, of Alamo, Tenn., wishes to know just what an elder can do to disqualify him for his work and in the doing not be guilty of a sin. He asks: "If an elder marries a woman of a different faith, would that disqualify him as an elder of the church of Christ if nothing else were held against him?"

An elder cannot resign his position. If a man is scripturally qualified to be an elder, he can no more resign his duty to do the work of an elder than he can resign the duty to be a Christian. Anything that would disqualify and unfit him for the work would certainly be a sin. Again, while it is decidedly better and more in harmony with the work of an elder for him to have a companion in the same faith, I know of no scripture that teaches that on this account, providing there is nothing else against him, he could not do the work of an elder. This may, in a measure, serve to disqualify him and make him less efficient in doing the work of an elder, but we are not told that because he marries one of a different faith he cannot serve the Lord in this work. Doubtless such a union would make his work more difficult and harder to perform.

0 0 0

Brother T. G. Phelps, of Chillicothe, Mo., gives us the following information concerning the position that a man took in the Bible class concerning Acts 5: 1-11. He says: "In our Sunday-school class this morning, the lesson being Acts 5: 1-11, our teacher took the position that the Holy Spirit intended that the church should always be socialistic, having 'all things common,' but that the action of Ananias and Sapphira frustrated this plan and the church has been permitted to continue with its rich and poor members; but that when we all come to know and follow the divine will completely we will again sell our goods and have 'all things common.' What do you think of that?"

This teacher certainly must have thought that Ananias and Sapphira were stronger than the Lord if they frustrated and overthrew the plan that he ordained. I can hardly think that man is more powerful and stronger than God. But it should be noted that this was not a socialistic fund. They had the poor with them at that time. Those who had goods and possessions sold whatever part they wished and gave to this fund that was for distribution among the poor. They were not required to give all that they had, and there is no intimation that they were compelled to give any part of it. Peter said: "While it remained, did it not remain thine own; and after it was sold, was it not in thy power? How is it that thou hast conceived this thing in thy heart? Thou hast not lied unto mea, but unto God." The entire connection shows that even at this time there were rich and poor, just as there have been through all the ages. Ananias' sin was in seeking to deceive God and in trying to lie unto the Holy Spirit. This passage teaches exactly the opposite of socialism. 0 0 0

A sister who does not wish her name given asks an explanation of Matt. 6: 6 and 1 Cor. 7: 5.

In Matt. 6: 6 the Savior is condemning one extreme with another. The Pharisees had been making long prayers, standing on the street corners in order to be seen and heard of men. The Savior teaches his disciples, when they pray, that, instead of seeking to be seen and heard of men, they should retire to some secret place and there make their petitions and thanksgivings to God. This does not mean that the disciples should not pray in public or in public places, for Christ and the apostles often prayed in public assemblies. The Christ himself prayed "in the mountain alone;" he prayed by night alone and in public in the presence of the disciples. Peter's secret place, his closet, was on the housetop; the Savior's, on the mountain alone. We should have short prayers in public and long prayers in our closets; we should lock the world out and lock ourselves in with God. The Savior is condemning here the practice of praying to be seen and heard of men.

1 Cor. 7: 5 reads: "Defraud ye not one the other, except it be by consent for a season, that ye may give yourselves unto prayer, and may be together again, that Satan tempt you not because of your incontinency." Married people are not to live apart, except by mutual agreement, and that only for a season, devoting themselves to prayer during that season. At the end of this season of prayer and incontinence, the married couple are to come together again, that Satan tempt them not for their incontinency. This does not mean that they should live in separation for years, for the husband is commanded to cleave unto his wife.

JOURNEYINGS OFTEN

By B. C. GOODPASTURE.

"What thou seest, write, . . . and send it to the churches."

Those Who Planted.

The church in Manchester was established by W. D. Carnes more than fifty years ago. Professor Carnes was president of Burritt College for several years, and later taught in the East Tennessee University. He was a noted educator and preacher. The schoolboys of the sixties spoke of him and knew him as "Pap" Carnas. He organized the congregation under consideration in 1867. At that time Reece Jones, a man with a strong personality, did much to make the work begun by Brother Carnes permanent. The church was not planted without difficulties; it was a mission field, and the prejudice was strong. For some time they assembled for worship in the courthouse. This showed their earnestness and determination. We need more zeal of that kind now. The cost and magnificence of the building, as such, contribute nothing to make the worship acceptable. God is not "served by men's hands, as though he needed anything." (Acts 17: 25.) True religion involves a condition of the heart rather than the house. A good meetinghouse can be no more than an incidental; a pure heart is an indispensable. The present tendency, in the world and in the church, to estimate religious values in terms of material, rather than spiritual, things is antiscriptural. A comfortable meetinghouse is not objectionable, however, though its cost can never be a standard of piety, faith, and godliness. In 1874 the brethren bought a lot and built a house that accommodated the congregation then, but after a few years' growth it became necessary to build a larger house. On the original lot a new and commodious brick building was erected in 1898. It is well filled on Lord's-day mornings. This makes one wonder if they will be compelled again to seek more convenient quarters. 0 0 0

Those Who Watered.

Among their Apolloses (1 Cor. 3: 6) were men of renown—such men as the princely Tolbert Fanning, with his stalwart and sterling manhood; J. M. Kidwill, with his consecration and self-denial; Jesse L. Sewell, with his piety and zeal; and T. W. Brents, with his invincible logic. These were "giants" in those days. During the last thirty years protracted meetings have been conducted there by F. B. Srygley, G. Dallas Smith, C. M. Pullias, John T. Smith, W. S. Long, A. B. Lipscomb, and T. B. Larimore. All these are strong, living proclaimers of the gospel of the Nazarene.

Those Who Rule and Serve.

The following are the elders: T. H. Willis, Warren Thomas, G. W. Gilbert, B. S. Stroud, and Dr. E. P. Vaughan, In connection with these good men, I remember a statement of Paul: "Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially those who labor in the word and in teaching." (1 Tim. 5: 17.) The deacons—W. W. Chumbly, J. C. Green, S. M. Winton, and A. M. May—suggest another Pauline utterance: "For they that have served well as deacons gain to themselves a good standing, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus." (1 Tim. 3: 13.)

Sounding Out the Word.

Within the last five years this congregation has been instrumental in planting four others—Summitville, Mud Creek, Dixie, and New Union. Using the language of one of the elders: "We expect to keep this up until churches are established in all parts of the county, and leave the lamp of God's eternal truth burning brighter for the next generation than we found it when we appeared on the scene." This is a fine example, a noble resolution. The churches of Christ everywhere need to inaugurate an aggressive campaign to win souls. Every congregation is a center from which to sound out the word. From Jerusalem the gospel was carried to Judea and Samaria; from Philippi It was sent to Thessalonica, and thence to Macedonia and Achaia; from Antioch it was published throughout the maritime countries of the Mediterranean and the Isles of the sea. The conversion of the world is the problem of " the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." (1 Tim. 3: 15.) The church at Manchester has determined, it seems, to continue in the faith, "holding forth the word of life," that its founders "may have whereof to glory in the day of Christ, that" they "did not run in vain, neither labor in vain." (Phil. 2: 16.)

* * *

Looking for a Man.

It is said that the old philosopher, Diogenes, walked through the streets of Athens, in daylight, with a lantern in his hand, in quest of a man. He found many masculines of his race, but he was looking for a true man. And Jeremiah, the weeping prophet, said: "Run ye to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and see now, and know, and seek in the broad places thereof, if ye can find a man." (Jer. 5: 1.) Although the brethren desire to secure a man, a faithful preacher of the gospel, to labor in Manchester and the destitute and waste places of Coffee County, they are not employing the methods of these men of old to secure him; yet they have equally high ideals of a genuine man. "The harvest indeed is plenteous, but the laborers are few. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harest, that he send forth laborers into his harvest." (Matt. 9; 38.)

An Opportunity.

To every one who sends us two new subscribers to the Gospel Advocate we will give a "Teachers' New Testament." This is a very popular edition of the New Testament with notes and helps suitable for Sunday-school workers and Bible students. "The notes and helps were prepared by a joint editorial board of the foremost biblical scholars in the world. The introductions were written by men of international reputation. The text is that of the American Standard Version-the latest translation-with proper names marked for pronunciation and the words of Christ emphasized in heavy-faced type." This is the book for the family circle, home study, and Bible class. If you want to get the Testament in connection with your own renewal or one new subscriber, add fifty cents to the regular price of the paper. Send your order to-day to the Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. 0 0 0

Because of the world in commotion,
Because of its laughter and tears,
Because of its days yet unspotted,
Because of its longings and fears,
Because the light shines through the darkness,
Because by our faith the sky clears,
Because every dawn bears God's blessing,
May this be the best of your years!—Selected.

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 s year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 s year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order.

This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite or ders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask you postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advecate, $17-$13 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter. Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

The Religious Failure of Rural Churches. BY J. C. M'Q.

In the Literary Digest for February 7, 1920, there appeared an article under the heading, "Rural Religious Demoralization." The Literary Digest is quoting after a three-year survey of Ohio by the Commission of Church and Country Life of the Church of Christ in America. Strange to say, this survey reveals that the countryside is overstocked with churches; and the survey claims that these churches are too sparsely supplied with ministers, and that many of these too few "pastors" have been selected without regard to qualification. Of course, the result is demoralization of churches and people alike. It is also claimed that where the evil is recognized and the remedy of interchurch comity and cooperation applied, spiritual awakening results.

The results of the survey are summarized in a volume called "Six Thousand Country Churches," by Charles Otis Gill and Gifford Pinchot. In this book it is contended that the people receive too little pastoral service; the pay of the country minister is too small, the support of the church too meager. It is also asserted that the ministers are uneducated; often they are illiterate and entirely unfitted to render service acceptable to the more intelligent. It is held that where the churches abound, immorality, intemperance, and crime also abound. The point is made that the churches without efficient ministers are failures. The same volume states as to the proportion of pastors to population: "There are twenty-four counties in Ohio in which there are more than one thousand persons for each resident minister, of which thirteen are among the eighteen counties under consideration and three among the bordering counties. Noble County has a resident minister to every 1,240 persons; Gallia, to every 1,396; Lawrence, to every 1,450; Pickaway, to every 1,458; while Hocking has only one to 1,693, or nearly 1,700 persons." In the same volume it is contended that an absentee ministry is necessarily ineffective. The following explanation is given of the ineffectiveness of such a ministry; "While the preaching of a good pastor is an indispensable factor in the individual development of his parishioners and in the progress of the community life, that of the nonresident is by comparison of little value. It is shooting in the air without seeing the target, like the fire of artillery without the aid of air scouts. There is no greater force for righteousness in a church community than a church with a resident minister, well educated, well equipped, wisely selected, whose term of service is not too short. The right kind of minister will have a strong and intelligent desire to secure opportunities for the best development of his children and to create a favorable environment for them. He will, therefore, take a keen interest in the schools, in the establishing of libraries, in play and social life, in keeping out evil influences and promoting general decency."

There are many good things in this article, and some things that I cannot heartily indorse. It appears to me that the ineffectiveness of the churches grows out of the fact that they have departed from the New Testament order. The New Testament order provides for elders in the local congregations; these elders are the overseers of the flock and should feed the church of God. Of such elders the Holy Spirit says: "Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honor, especially those who labor in the word and in teaching." (1 Tim. 5: 17.) We learn also that the apostle Peter was an elder. "The elders therefore among you I exhort, who am a fellow elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, who am also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed." (1 Pet. 5: 1.) From this I am constrained to believe that the minister in each local church should be an elder who labors in word and in teaching, and this elder should be supported in his work. The churches throughout the country should endeavor to have an efficient, scriptural, capable eldership. These elders, and especially those who labor in word and doctrine, should become identified with the community like the great woman of whom we read in the days of Elisha who dwelt in the village of Shunemthey should be able to say, as she said, "I dwell among mine own people." Each minister should feel that he is one of the community, that he belongs to it, and should be interested in its welfare. Ministers should be men who stand for something, who have firm convictions of right, and who have an influence for good in the community in which they live. The ministers that accomplish the most good in our own country are not those who travel from Maine to California and from the Lakes to the Gulf, but those who live in a community for a lifetime, live consistent lives, and become a part of the community-those that build up righteousness and morality in their respective communities. A minister should be interested in every good work; he should seek to elevate the people to correct standards of morality, righteousness, and justice; he should realize the importance of the right kind of an education and should labor to build up the educational interests in his community. His life should be so interwoven with the lives of those to whom he ministers that, like Esther, he should feel that they are "my people."

I call to mind the life work of Brother John D. Floyd, who recently passed to his reward. He lived for many years at Flat Creek, Tenn., and labored in word and doctrine for the church at that place. He had great power and influence in that community, was held in high esteem, and did great good in advancing the kingdom of God. From his home, Flat Creek, as the center, his influence spread to the surrounding counties. His life and influence will live long after he has been sleeping beneath the sod, not only among the people in his immediate community, but in the surrounding country and even in the State itself.

I have long felt that little is accomplished by a preacher's simply going into a community monthly and preaching one or two sermons and going home. He does not know the needs of the community and does not become sufficiently identified with the people. It is the man who says, "These are my people," and who learns to know and love them and to labor in order to elevate and lift them up, that really becomes a power for good in proclaiming the gospel of Jesus Christ.

I may refer here to the lives of Lipscomb and Sewell. These brethren lived a lifetime in Nashville; they labored among the churches in this community and gave their time, talents, and means for the uplifting of the churches. From Nashville as a center their influence spread to the surrounding counties and surrounding States. David Lipscomb accomplished far more good by living in this community, becoming a part of it, and giving his strong mind for the upbuilding of the church of Christ in this city and elsewhere, than he would have done by traveling from pillar to post and preaching the gospel to a people whose needs he did not thoroughly understand. As it is, his influence is just beginning to live and will live on through the coming ages.

I would encourage our churches to look well to the character of the ministers or of the teaching elders that they have. The churches also should not be willing to intrust the work that God has given them to do to a set of men who are not appointed by God for the doing of such work. The great responsibility rests with them. Appointing capable elders, and elders who are able to preach the word of God, they should first build up the gospel in their own communities, and then they should see that their light reaches out to the people around them and even extends to far-distant nations. We have recently seen, and are now seeing, some of the evil results of turning over the work of the churches to young men who are not scripturally qualified for such work. We shall continue to endeavor to arouse the churches to a due sense of their responsibility and to awaken them to a realization of the truth that they should evangelize the world. Each local church should feel toward its minister: This is our own minister; we are interested in him; and, instead of criticizing and finding fault with his most earnest efforts, we will do all in our power to increase his usefulness and ability to do good.

Churches of Christ should cooperate with others in so far as they are teaching the truth. We need less competition and more cooperation among the churches. While I do not stand for federation, I realize that churches should cooperate with each other in every good word and work. While churches cannot consistently accept the errors of others, they should most cheerfully and gladly accept the truth that others teach and cooperate with them in the advancement of the truth. The churches of Christ should not reject any truth that Methodists, Baptists, or Presbyterians teach. Ministers of the churches of Christ should preach with any of the denominations so long as they are perfectly free to preach all the counsel of God and so long as such action is not considered discourteous.

Sunday Schools, or Members of the Church Teaching the Bible on Sunday.

BY M. C. K.

On page 218 of this issue of the Gospel Advocate will be found an article by Brother A. M. George, criticizing two of the Advocate's editors on the matter of teaching the Bible in Sunday schools. We have so often answered the same points that it would seem unnecessary to continue the repetition. However, as a matter of deference to the author of this kindly criticism, as well as in the hope that it will otherwise do good, we give it a place in our columns, with some comment in reply. Numbering the points which seem to be in dispute, we shall endeavor to meet them fairly by stating facts.

- 1. A failure on the part of disputants to understand and use terms in the same sense, it seems to us, is, in this case, as is often unfortunately true in the conduct of arguments, one chief source of trouble. For example, Brother George speaks of the "advocates" and the "opposers" of the "Sunday school;" whereas, from our point of view and our understanding and use of terms, there are no "opposers" of the Sunday school. That is, as matters appear to us, all Christians, including Brother George, are in favor of all that we mean by "Sunday school." By it we mean nothing except one or more Christians teaching the Bible on Sunday. Does not Brother George indorse this? In what we understand to be the essential, and hence the only correct, definition and use of the term, we never include in it any special way of teaching the Bible on Sunday to the exclusion of other ways of teaching it on Sunday. No specific way is revealed in the Bible.
- 2. Brother George says: "We all agree that both men and women are commanded to teach, and should do so, but not in every place." So say we, precisely this and nothing more. Where, then, is there any ground for difference?
- 3. Quoting the words, "The work and influence of the Sunday school gleams from the history of every church and from the analysis of every useful character" (meaning New Testament character), Brother George says: "I would like some references, as I have never found any such in the Bible." Then, where did you learn "that both men and women are commanded to teach" the Bible, "and should do so?" For authority, clear, complete and explicit, for all that we mean by a Sunday school, we call your attention to those "references" in which you learned "that both men and women are commanded to teach the Bible," but are not told how, when, nor where to teach it, and hence may do so on Sunday or any other day, "and should do so." We deny that we are doing in the way of teaching in the Sunday school or teaching others to do anything except what "both men and women are commanded to" do in the way of teaching
- 4. He says we "spend so much time trying to justify the women talking and teaching in the public assembly, but never have anything to say about the thirty-fifth verse of 1 Cer. 14." The brother is mistaken. We "spend" no time at all "trying to justify the women talking and teaching in the public assembly." So far as the Sunday school we are defending is concerned, the separate classes of individuals that the women teach and the same kind of classes that the men teach are not "the public assembly" in which women are forbidden to teach. No, we do not "see a pit in" verse 35; and instead of not having "anything to say about" it, we gladly say now, for Brother George's special benefit, that when it comes to "the public assembly" of the church, we say of the women what Paul says: "If they would learn anything, let them ask their own husbands at home"-or ask somebody else in the proper place: "for it is shameful for a woman to speak in the church." A class in a Sunday school is not "the public assembly" of the church because it is in the meetinghouse, any more than it would be "the public assembly " of the church if taught in a hall or somewhere in the shade of a tree in the summer. If Brother George will think enough here to get a square look at all the facts, they will likely take some of "the wind out of" his "sails." So, regardless of "Methusaleh," the "Talmud," "Balaam's beast," and all the rest, "this clause of this sentence means" nothing more than the prohibition of women teaching in "the public assembly," and a separate class is not the public assembly.

5. He says: "Brother Kurfees replies: 'If those who teach in the Sunday school are members of the church, the Sunday school is the church." No, "Brother Kurfees" did not say that; and if Brother George reads and treats the New Testament as he dld what "Brother Kurfees" did say in this case, it is not strange that he occasionally reaches incorrect conclusions.

6. Yes, we appreciate the fourteenth chapter of First Corinthians, not only "from the twenty-third verse" to the end of it, but we respect and try to follow all it enjoins about "teaching the Bible in the church come together in one place." The separate classes taught by Individual persons who are members of the church are not "the church come together in one place." Even the few members of the church who are there teaching the classes are not "the church come together in one place." They are scattered in many places.

7. We quite agree with our brother that while the few church members who are teaching the classes are not "the church come together in one place," it is, nevertheless, unfortunate that in many places the meetinghouse is not only not furnished with rooms where classes can be further removed from each other, but is itself often small, with disadvantages that hinder the work; but if there were a score of classes, with no two of them more than three feet apart, while that would be disadvantageous, yet they would not be "the church come together in one place." In such a class, the women who are asking questions are not "at church." That last expression, as currently used, means what Brother George means by "the church come together in one place;" and so he is the brother who is misapplying "1 Cor. 14: 23-33," though we do not think he "finds it necessary to throw" the whole chapter "out of the Bible," nor do we believe he wants to throw any of it out. On the contrary, we believe that what he wants here is what we want, and that when we come to understand and use our terms in the same sense we will "speak the same thing" and "be perfected together in the same mind and in the same judgment." (1 Cor. 1: 10.)

Rearing Children According to the Bible. BY E. A. E.

Brother Elam: I wish you to advise me on several questions in regard to rearing our children according to the teaching of the Bible; also, how we are to teach church members who are not doing this according to the teaching of the Bible.

During the fall term of our public school they have had already a box party and raffled off each box to the highest bidder, which is against the law of our country. All participants, I understand, are subject to a fine of from two dollars and fifty cents to fifty dollars. You will find in-closed a program of the womanless wedding which was given on November 21. Now they are practicing for a concert, which is to be given sometime this month for the benefit of the school. The three teachers of the school are members of the Christian Church. Members of our church go to these entertainments. They claim there is no harm in going to them. We are divided, and how are we to approach them? Paul says: "Them that sin reprove, in the sight of all, that the rest also may be in fear."

5: 20.)
What causes divisions in our members—the Spirit of Christ or the spirit of the devil? Paul's admonition is to bring our children up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." (Eph. 6; 4.) Should we let our children take part in these concerts, attend these schools, or should we stop them and employ a private teacher to teach them in the right way?

R. G. BUCHANAN.

This good brother presents some very serious questions and some not so serious.

Taking them somewhat in the order in which he puts them, I must say, it is far easier to advise him and others "in regard to rearing our children according to the teaching of the Bible" than it is to do it. I have tried both.

In the first place, we should all strive to be just and generous in our dealings with the children of others and in our criticism of both the children and their parents. We do not want to place ourselves in the attitude of trying to pick a mote out of another's eye while there is a beam in our own, or of the Pharisees, who say and do not. Jesus on a certain occasion told the parties who were without sin to cast the first stone, and not a stone was cast. And we all know the glass-house man must not throw stones.

It is, however, not difficult to learn what the Bible teaches parents in regard to rearing children.

In the first place, to learn the real truth, it teaches parents to set children a good example in all the real and true and great principles which form character and make the Christian life-namely, industry, economy, self-helpfulness and helpfulness to others, generosity, everyday and genuine sincerity and honesty, uprightness and integrity, truthfulness and faithfulness, treating others in all things as they would be treated, in abominating all little and mean tricks, in hating all fraud and every false way, and in fearing God and keeping his commandments. Let children see in their parents what obedience to God is: that It is not fault finding, criticizing others, and contending in a partisan spirit for what is called "our plea" or "our doctrine;" that abstaining "from every form of evil" is not simply abstaining from some worldly amusements of questionable propriety or of unquestionable impropriety, but also from cold-blooded selfishness, all unfair and fraudulent transactions, and crooked dealings of all kinds. In all management of money matters, all trades, all thoughts and conversations about their neighbors, parents should treat all others in justice and fairness, truthfulness and honesty, mercy and righteousness, forbearance and love, as they would be treated. Here is the Golden Rule:

Owe no man anything, save to love one another: for he that leveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Love worketh shalt not steal, Thou shalt not covet, and if there be any other commandment, it is summed up in this word, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor: love therefore is the fulfillment of (Rom. 13: 8-10.)

Parents should not neglect day by day before their children these weightier matters, these great and far-reaching principles, which ruin souls forever. The exuberances and impulses and passions of youth, which so manifest themselves in worldly pleasures inconsistent with Christianity, may exhaust themselves with youth; but inbred and long-practiced selfishness, the love of money, covetousness, dishonesty, hatred, and malice will bear fruit in generations yet unborn. Let parents seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and show their children that life consists not in the abundance one possesses and is more than food and clothing. Parents must do and then teach; actions must come first.

Then, the Bible requires parents to teach the word of God diligently to their children-to cause them to know it. Their own hearts are to be so full of the truth and of Christ and the way of salvation that they will talk of them to the family morning and night and in the journey of life through the day. (Read Deut. 6: 4-9; Mal. 3: 16-18.) Also, parents are required to "nurture"-to feed and nurse, to enrich and cause to grow, to train and developtheir children "in the chastening and admonition of the Lord." This means in the tender and loving correction, the useful and blessed service of God; not into the pursuits of worldly pleasures, fading honors, vain ambitions, and wealth. Parents are taught to restrain, correct, and chastise their children for their greatest good, as God does his. Children must learn obedience. Disobedience to parents is one sign of perilous times. (2 Tim. 3: 1-7.)

The rod and reproof give wisdom; but a child left to himself causeth shame to his mother: (Prov. 29: 15.)

How can parents be taught their duty in regard to their children? Just as they can be taught the will of God on all other questions. First, the word of God on this subject must be respected, God must be reverenced, and all must be willing to obey him. All who undertake to teach parents their duty must do so both in the right spirit and right way-in forbearance and gentleness and from the word of God-not in a censorious, holier-than-thou spirit, not by fault finding and criticizing and invidious comparisons. There is no good in the kettle's calling the pot black-"My children are as good as yours," and, "You cannot teach me how to rear my children until you first control your own." "Tit for tat" does harm. However sadly a good man may have failed on his children, he may be able to teach and help me with mine, and I should thankfully receive his help. Parents should look at this matter seriously, make it mutual, sympathize with one another, study the Bible with one soul, and pray together for wisdom and grace to be able to meet these solemn obligations.

Regardless, too, of how sadly many parents fail to meet their obligations, the word of God must be taught—its promises and the sad consequences of disobedience.

For the encouragement of not a few Christian parents, who have tried all their lives to set their children a good example and to rear them aright, let me say that children have a side to this question. They are not machines. They have wills of their own. As they grow older, they become more and more responsible for their own choices and conduct; this continues until the responsibility of parents ceases. The Bible clearly teaches this, Not having space to quote the scriptures on this point, I cite Jer. 31: 29, 30; Deut. 24: 16; and especially Ezek. 18. God declares that the father shall not be put to death for the sins of the son, or the son for the sins of the father; but that every one shall suffer the consequences of his own sins. "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

We all know hundreds of Christian parents whose children are not in the church, while the children of some are immoral. Have all these good people failed in their duty to their children and likewise in obedience to God? think not. Should all whose children are disobedient be censured alike? Certainly not. Eli and Samuel furnish striking and contrasted examples. Their sons were alike wicked. Eli, while wishing his sons to do right, failed to restrain them, and suffered the consequences. (See 1 Sam. 2: 27-36; 3: 10-14; Deut. 17: 12; 21: 18-21.) Samuel was not punished, although his sons were guilty of the sins which Eli's sons committed. Samuel, it is thought from the context, deposed his sons, obeyed God in trying to restrain them, and was not punished. Then, when parents do all in their power by the grace of God to rear their children aright, but the children upon their own responsibillty later on choose to become worldly and even wicked. the parents have discharged their duty and cannot be held accountable for their children's sins.

As stated, there are different kinds of sins—namely, the ones which spring from the impulses and passions of the flesh and the ones which spring from cold indifference and rebellion against God. David was the first kind of sinner and Saul was the second kind.

A wave of worldliness is just now sweeping over the country. Women show a great want of meekness, sobriety, and modesty, and an indisposition to remain in woman's sphere and to fill woman's mission. They are not adorning themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety. The apparel of many is very immodest. The modern dance is no small evil and is a menace to the purity of the church. But what can be done? In spite of all that Christian parents can say in the home, all that is said from the pulpit, and all that is written in religious papers of these evils, some young people and not a few old ones—church members, at that—still dash headlong into them. This is done in spite, also, of the entreaties, prayers, and tears of earnest Christian parents. Then should these parents be censured? The war has intensified these sins.

The church, if it can free itself of other flagrant sins—such as the cares of this world, the love of money, covetousness, sordid selfishness, jealousy, slander, and malice—should publicly let all know that it cannot uphold and stand for the modern dance and other such worldliness. I desire to place myself on record as disapproving not only such worldliness, but also the loose discipline of the church in regard to it. (To be continued.)

Contributions Received by E. C. Fuqua.

BY J. C. M'Q.

Brother Fuqua reports that he has received two hundred and sixty-two dollars, including the one hundred dollars that was given by the Russell Street church of Christ. This leaves us almost two hundred and fifty dollars short of the amount that we started to raise in order to put him out of debt. Brother Fuqua also states that his entire family has been sick with influenza during the last month.

In regard to the use he is making of the money and as to his gratitude for gifts, he says: "I am paying on accounts as enabled, and I do hope I can get entirely out. However, I will be just as grateful for what is received, and trust to the future for the balance, if it is all not lifted now. I shall always be indebted to you for your efforts through the Gospel Advocate and for the many excellent things you have said regarding my work; but I can never feel worthy of these things. But God has simply blessed me beyond my worthlness in this as in all other things, for which I daily praise him, and as often resolve to be more faithful to him in all I do."

I am sure the brethren will be glad to contribute the amount to make up the entire five hundred dollars. Brother Fuqua is an earnest worker and is doing much good in Colorado. Place yourself in his position and then give as your own soul requires.

Book Reviews.

"Adventism and the Bible," by J. Henry Monk, is a new book put out by the McQuiddy Printing Company, Nashville, Tenn. When a book comes from the McQuiddy press, one need not add that it is neat in appearance and the workmanship is of the highest grade. The book is bound in cloth, contains 251 pages, and has a likeness of its author.

When very favorably impressed with a book, it is a very easy matter to make extravagant statements when emphasizing its value. I measure my words when I say that it is the most pointed, most concise, and most helpful book I have read on Adventism. The author has that very rare but happy faculty of expressing the truth in a brief, plain, kind manner. So far as the main argument of the book is concerned, I indorse it most heartily. Of course I do not indorse every statement or agree with every conclusion. Send to the McQuiddy Printing Company for a copy ($1.25); you will not regret it. H. H. ADAMSON.

My Cousin Julia.

BY T. B. LARIMORE.

In the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner of February 12, 1920, I have, just now, found the following brief notice:

FORMER NASHVILLIAN DIES AT VENICE, CAL.

News has been received here of the death, at the home of her son, Dr. Lee E. Hatfield, of Venice, Cal., of Mrs. W. E. Hatfield. She was for many years a resident of Nashville, and only left two months ago to be with her son. She was a consistent member of the Christian Church, and had a wide circle of friends who will regret to learn of her death. Besides her son, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. L. C. Flora, of Boise, Idaho, and was also the mother of the late Mrs. J. H. Hill. Funeral services and interment took place at Venice.

She was my cousin, the daughter of my mother's sister Fanny. Julia and I were almost exactly the same age. In babyhood we slept in the same cradle. We were practically twins. We ate together, we played together, we worked together; and, when sorrow came to either of us, we wept together.

Julia obeyed the gospel long, long ago, and thenceforth, to the day of her departure, she was, religiously, simply and sincerely, a Christian—only this and nothing more. She belonged to Christ, and was truer to him than is the needle to the pole.

Her faith in Christ was sublime; but she had as little faith in modern religious fads and fancies as she had use for the frills and furbelows of fashionable society—none, as all who knew her know.

Though never rich, as the world counts wealth, she was rich in faith; and no imperial princess ever had a higher sense of honor. This is one reason why my mother loved her better than she loved anything else on earth, except her own children.

"Adventism and the Bible."

I have read with interest and profit the book, "Adventism and the Bible," by J. Henry Monk. I consider it a very fine book which answers every contention of the Adventists. It is a good book to circulate among the Adventists and Sabbath keepers. If any brother expects to debate with the Adventists, he will find great help in this book. The author's quotations from Advent literature are very extensive and complete. I very heartily indorse all the book, unless it is his guess on the meaning of Revelation. He very clearly shows that the Advent speculation on Revelation is fallacious, and then mars his fine effort by guessing himself what it might mean. The book will do great good, and it should have a wide circulation. It can be ordered from the McQuiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25.

F. B. SEYOLEY.

God's Days.

BY ADELIA S. MARTIN.

O dark, dark days when clouds are low, And sad eyes watch with tireless zest For the cheerful gleam or smiling glow, Like answering prayer in the anxious quest! Let us remember, O help us to know, Dark days are God's days just like the rest!

O dull, gray days when shadows loom
Like rising mist on oceans afar;
Or fair hope lost in the helpless doom
Of a sunless sky, no guiding star!
Help us to remember, the days of gloom
Are God's days just as the bright ones are.

Blessed are they that enter far into inward things and endeavor to prepare themselves more and more, by daily exercises, for the receiving of heavenly secrets.—Thomas à Kempis.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

Four sisters in St. Augustine, Fla	0.75
Church at Russellville, Ala.
Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Budlong, Gainesville, Texas
C. R. Bethel, Franklin, Ky.
Peatown congregation, Elderville, Texas	25.41
Mrs. A. E. Gale, Ralls, Texas	1.00
Friends at Mount Pleasant, Tenn	7.00
Church at Stevenson, Ala. (additional)	4.50
Mrs. R. E. DeRusha, Santa Anna, Texas	5.00
Friends at Lineville, Ala.	7.75
Church at Oakman, Ala.	15.00
"A Friend," Florence, Ala	2.00

"Heavy snows; bitter cold; transportation fied up; scores of snowbound villages need clothing, blankets, supplies." Such is a cablegram received at Near East Relief headquarters, I Madison Avenue, New York, from Cesarea, Reports indicate that the conditions of a large area of Turkey which lies east from Erzerum and Bitlis, including Van, beyond the point to which Near East Relief so far has been able to penetrate, are much worse than had at first been supposed.

The isolation of the area and almost complete stoppage of communication by the heavy snows have reduced a starving population to the practice of cannibalism in some cases. The winter is severe and the people, so scantily clad, are suffering intensely from the cold. Steps are being taken to reach this stricken area. The aid and encouragement of all America is needed to bring results.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. I should be glad if more of the contributions were designated for use in providing for orphans in this country, since there are constant appeals from destitute families close to us. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

Special Numbers for 1920.

Actuated by a desire to do the greatest amount of good possible and encouraged by expressions of encouragement from hundreds of our readers, the publishers of the Gospel Advocate are planning to issue some unusually fine special numbers during the current year. Heretofore the special numbers have engaged the earnest study and evoked the best thought of editors and contributors. The forthcoming numbers will be no exception. In fact, we wish to improve them in every way possible. Readers may look for the "Spiritual" Number to appear in April. Ours is a spiritual service. We are taught to worship God "in spirit and in truth;" to be "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." When we pray, we are to "pray with the spirit and with the understanding." The same rule applies to singing. It shall be our purpose to emphasize the true spiritualism of the New Testament, that it may prove a counteraction to a great wave of another kind of "spiritualism" that is now sweeping the country.

Every reader should have a part in the dissemination of these numbers. They always create a good impression when placed in the hands of new readers. Send us your order for a new subscription to-day. Help us to make a success of the special numbers by extending their circulation.

Publishers Gospel Advocate,

Dispose and order all things according to thy will and judgment; yet thou shalt ever find that of necessity thou must suffer somewhat, either willingly or against thy will, and so thou shalt ever find the cross.—Thomas à Kempis.

B. C. Goodpasture preached at Ashland City, Tenn., last Sunday.

I always enjoy reading the Gospel Advocate.—G. L. Fuller, Route 3, Albany, Ala.

Wanted—A tanner and harness maker who are members of the church of Christ. Address A. W. Arnold, Dolores, Colo.

I enjoy each number of the Gospel Advocate, but the special numbers were specially helpful.—Clementine Ivie, Des Moines, N. M.

I have been reading the Gospel Advocate about five years. I look for it every week with great joy.—Mrs. J. L. Glasscock, Route 5, Mocksville, N. C.

David Cooper, of Louisville, Ky., came to see us last Saturday. Brother Cooper preached for the Una congregation, near Nashville, on Lord's day.

Thomas H. Burton, of Union, S. C., was among our visitors this week. Brother Burton is looking for a tent to be used in the South Carolina field.

From P. H. Robbins, San Angelo, Texas, February 21: "I have been reading the Gospel Advocate for twenty-six years. We can't keep house without it."

From Mrs. C. H. Braden, Bells, Tenn.: "I have been taking the Gospel Advocate for many years and enjoy reading it very much. I don't see how I could do without it."

From W. N. Abernathy, Westport, Tenn.: "Our little congregation at Williams Chapel is moving on reasonably well. Success to the Gospel Advocate and its corps of able writers."

From T. H. Matheson, Bowie, Texas, February 27: "I preached at Montague last Sunday and night. The congregation there is small, but very faithful. They meet in the courthouse."

Fred K. Jones, real estate dealer and Notary Public, 43 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville and Tennessee property for sale and exchange—will endeavor to accommodate those desiring his services.

I have been reading the Gospel Advocate for the past twenty-seven or twenty-eight years. I look forward to its delivery each week, and would miss it if it failed to come. —J. E. Karnes, Milan, Tenn.

C. G. McPhee, of Carman, Manitoba, Canada, plans to come South this summer. He will have time for some protracted meetings during the fall. Brother McPhee is a graduate of the David Lipscomb College.

Mrs. Alex. Thompson, Lufkin, Texas, writes: "I think the Gospel Advocate is a fine paper and would not like to be without it. I am trying to get, at the least, five new subscribers." Let the good work continue.

I have read the Gospel Advocate with great pleasure for thirteen years. I do not intend to be without it as long as I am able to work. I cannot see how any Christian can afford to do without it.—J. P. Spain, Newbern, Tenn.

Every Christian should have in him, together with the love of Christ, something of the heart of an apostle. Each of us should feel that his creed is, and must be, in the best sense of the word, aggressive; it must assail the forms of sin and error which prevail around it.—H. P. Liddon.

E. A. Elam will conduct a series of meetings with the church at Henderson, Tenn., commencing about April 1 and continuing indefinitely. Brother Elam will not go as a stranger to Henderson. All are looking forward eagerly to this feast of spiritual things. J. D. Patton will lead the song worship.

Lee Jackson writes: "I have come here to Oakland, Miss., because I own a three-acre building lot here, and I am making an effort to build myself a permanent home on it. Just when I shall be able to build, I cannot yet say. Our little congregation here is small, but some splendid brethren live in the little town."

From J. H. Whisnant, Ames, Okla., February 25: "The influenza has hindered us some lately, but I have not missed preaching on Lord's day for some time. I fill regular appointments at Ames (Antioch) twice a month, at Craig and at Lacy once a month, and at Helena and Good Hope Church on fifth Lord's days. There is a great field here for workers."

A. K. Ramsey writes from Forest Hill, La., February 27: "Four confessions at Maxie last Saturday night, and two men who had formerly been baptized came out of the Methodist body. One sister gave up the errors of digression Sunday morning at Iota. With the one at Forest Hill on the second Sunday and the two at Selma on the third Sunday, this makes ten in a portion of the Louisiana mission field in which I labor. I have about fifty dollars on hand to be used in seating my tent. More is needed."

C. J. Griggin writes from Florala, Ala.: "I have moved here from Grand Saline, Texas, and have found only one member of the church here. She says it has been six years since she partook of the emblems. My wife, two of my children, and this lady are all the members here. A good gospel preacher is needed here. I want help to have a meeting held here just as soon as possible. I have interested several persons that will obey the gospel, I think, at the first opportunity. I was an elder of the church at Grand Saline."

From U. G. Wilkinson, Comanche, Okia., February 22: "I am still at home, my physical condition about the same—maybe slightly improved, but still very nervous. I shall not be able to preach or do anything much for some time yet. I have been receiving some assistance from the brethren in the way of nice contributions, so that our present needs are supplied. Thank God for faithful and generous brothers and sisters, whose love and kindness mean so much to me. May the Lord bless all the faithful. Remember us in your prayers."

A. G. Freed writes: "A special session of Patton's Normal Musical Institute, the most popular and successful of all Normal music schools of America, will be held under the auspices of the Freed-Hardeman College, at Henderson, Tenn., beginning on March 29 and continuing for a term of twenty days. No lover of music, either beginner or advanced student, who can possibly attend this school, should let this opportunity pass. Good board for the term may be had at a reasonable price. 'Come thou with us, and we will do thee good.' Write for further information to Freed and Hardeman."

From M. C. Cayce, 352 East Fortification Street, Jackson, Miss., February 27: "Our meeting in Senatobia closed last Sunday night with the largest audience that had been present at any service. The influenza, bad weather, and bad roads made it an inopportune time, yet we feel sure that good was accomplished and seed sown that will yield fruit. On Sunday, February 15, I preached in the morning at Thyatira, in the afternoon at Looxahoma, and at night in Senatobia. The roads were so bad that a team of mules was required to pull our automobile out of a mudhole. On Friday morning I addressed the high school in Senatobia. Last Sunday afternoon I preached at Crockett; in the morning and at night, in Senatobia. The congregation in Senatobia is small, but some of them are alive to duty. E. D. Dinkins is making a great effort to build up the church. He is active in good works."

HAVE YOU SCROFULA?

Now Said to Be as Often Acquired as Inherited.

It is generally and chiefly indicated by eruptions and sores, but in many cases it enlarges the glands of the neck, affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.

It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwhole-some food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the medicine that has been used with so much satisfaction by three generations, is wonderfully successful in the treatment of scrofula. Give it a trial.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed, take Hood's Pills,-there is nothing better for biliousness or constipation.

TETTERINE

Makes hair beautiful, free from dandruff, and keeps the scalp healthy.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney sharp pains in the back, or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder

Jad Salts is inexpensive. It cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS.

BUY SERUM direct from the manufacturers and be assured of a fresh, reliable product. United States Veterinary License No. 114; long-distance phone. Main 2559. Nashville, Tenn. Write for 30-page Hog Book; it is FREE. WHITE SERUM COMPANY.

OBITUARIES

Petty.

Mary Margaret Cullipher was born on March 9, 1879, and died on February 1, 1920. She was married to G. A. Petty on April 26, 1895, and to this union were born ten children, seven of whom survive. Sister Petty became a member of the body of Christ at the age of fourteen, and those who knew her say she lived a faithful and consistent life until the end came. Fu-neral services were conducted by the writer of this article at Miller's Chapel in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, and interment was made at the Pate com-etery near by. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

FRED BLANCHARD.

Wainright.

Mr. Allen J. Wainright was born on May 6, 1836, and departed this life on January 24, 1920. Funeral services were conducted in the church of Christ by Brother Hardeman. He was mar-ried to Martha Evans on April 15, 1860. To this union eleven children were born. Four daughters and three sons, with an aged wife, survive him. He united with the church of Christ at the age of seventeen, and lived a true, faithful, Christian life to the end. He is gone, and our hearts are so sad and lonely; yet we would not call him back to this land of suffering and sorrow. We know that this life is but as a day in which to prepare for that bigger, broader life beyond the grave, and heaven will be brighter to us by the blessed assurance of his being there. MRS. C. H. EMISON.

Felix.

On February 3, 1920, I was called from Telluride, Col., to Olathe to conduct the funeral of Brother Leonard G. Felix. He was born on December 14, 1843, at Lafayette, Ind. He served in the Northern Army during the entire Civil War, He was married to Josephine C. Patterson on December 25, 1864. The death angel called him to rest on February 3, 1920. The funeral was conducted at his ranch, seven miles north of Olathe. Brother Felix was a God-fearing man, at all times obedient to the law of life in Christ Jesus. He had been one of the elders of the church at Olathe since its es-tablishment. The congregation there has lost a great warrior. His presence will be greatly missed. To meet Brother Felix was to love him. He was held in high esteem by both saint and sinner. He was ever willing to stand by the word of God, to wield it whenever and wherever necessary, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." Willis G. Jernican. WILLIS G. JERNIGAN.

Hatched 175 Chicks and not one died, writes G. W. Miller, of Pittsburg, Okla. You can do as well. Save your precious, downy chicks, Write to-day to E. J. Reefer, poultry expert, $258 Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo., for his valuable free poultry book that tells how to make a simple home solution that cures while diarrhoa overnight and saves 98 per cent of every hatch. The book is free. Send for it to-day sure:

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

0000000000000000000000000000000

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal, Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use elarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchits, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Con Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at 916 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epliepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no good. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that cured me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned I wish every one who suffers from this terrible disease would write to R. F. N. Lepso, 198 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, free to any one who writes him."—Advi.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneystillze an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant. Clinton, S. C.

SEX PROBLEMS

Every married couple and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete Book of Life, of 1,000 pages, handsomely bound, such as the "Medleal Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, often revealed too late. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a 'ew of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life, History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Tronbles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medleine, First Aid to the Injured. SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for five dimes (or stamps) to readers of this paper. Address Medical Press, 640% Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

FREE TO Pile Sufferers

Don't Be Cut—Until Yen Try This New Home Cure that Any One Can Use With-out Discemiert or Loss of Time. Simply Chew Up a Pleasant— Tasting Tablet Occasionally and Rid Yourself Per-manently of Piles.

LET ME PROVE THIS FREE.

My internal method for the treatment and permanent relief of piles is the correct one. Thousands upon thousands of cured cases testify to this, and I want you to try this method at my expense.

No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is chronic or acute, whather it is occasional or permanent, you should send for this free trial treatment.

No matter where you live, no matter what your age or occupation, if you are troubled with piles, my method will relieve you promptly.

I especially want to send it to those apparently hopeless cases where all forms of ointments, salves, and other local applications have falled.

I want you to realize that my method of treating piles is the one infallible treatment. This liberal offer of free treatment is too important for you to neglect a single day. Write now. Send no money. Simply mail the coupon, but do this now—TO-DAY.

RESERVE	PILE	REM	EDY.
Pogo

E. R. Page, 439-F Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich. Please send free trial of your method to:

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get I ownce of parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take I tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. If is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists or sent ou receipt of price 90c by Chas. A. Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CHURCH NEWS

Tennessee.

Cleveland, February 16.—Services were good here yesterday. New pupils for the Bible school every Lord's day. I preached at Union Grove at 3 P.M. to a good audience. One addition to the church here last Sunday evening. Brother Phillips was at Ooltewah yesterday. He reports good audiences there.-George W. Farmer.

Cold Springs, February closed our Bible school at College Station after two months' study. We had some students that memorized seventeen chapters of the Bible—some chapters of forty-eight verses. I am now on my way to Beaver Hill. I preached here last night. I gave out meeting about two o'clock in the afternation of the state of t ernoon and had a fine crowd. One girl is to be baptized to-day at twelve o'clock. Meeting for preaching again at eleven o'clock .- J. C. Mosley.

Texas.

Bowie, February 14 .- I preached at Forestburg last Saturday night and on Lord's day and at night. We have some noble brethren there, and they are striving hard to keep up the Lord's work. I have promised to hold their meeting, beginning on Saturday night before the third Lord's day in July .-T. H. Matheson.

Denton, February 11.—All the meetings on Sundays are well attended; but the prayer meeting, which has always been poorly attended, seems here, as elsewhere, to be growing constantly more "unstlyish." I hear of some who have entirely dispensed with the Wednesday-evening meeting for We have not done lack of interest. this, but it sometimes looks like we might as well. However, apart from this meeting, little complaint can be made against the church at Denton. The members are contributing liberally to carry on the work in whatever there is need. There has been con-siderable spent for charity, and the church is making it a special matter to see that the needy do not suffer and that the sick are not neglected. Many new people have moved among us since my work began, and they are showing themselves very faithful. The elders of the church at Denton are among the most faithful I have yet met with. With the poor services their preacher is able to render them and in spite of hindrances they are going forward and trying to make the work the best possible. May our Heavenly Father bless those who help. and may he open the eyes of those who hinder and cause them to lay hold of the work and help. The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few.—R. D. Smith.

As Influenza

is an exaggerated form of Grip, LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) should be taken in larger doses than is prescribed for ordinary Grip. A good plan is not to wait until you are sick, but PREVENT IT by taking LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets in time.

Rheumatism

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1293 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly sallssied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON,
No. 477F Gurney Bidg., Syracuse, N. Y.

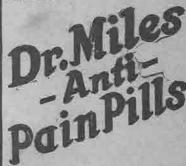

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Will Master You If You Don't Master Pain

If you suffer from any Ache or Pain, take One or Two of

They seldom fail to Relieve and do not contain any Habit-forming drugs.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Shave, Bathe and Shampoo with one Soap.— Cuticura luticura Soapis the favorite forsafety razorshaving.

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

STOPS THAT DISTRESSING COUGH-checks it quickly and surely, clears the throat of phlegm and mucus, and coats the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing, soothing medi-

Don't Cough Until Weak

"I am an old lady, 75 years old, and I had a very bad cough from having la grippe. I thought it a good time to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and I sent and got a bottle, and it stopped my cough, and I got better. So now I am around the house again."

—Mrs. Mary Kisby, Spokane, Wash.

We can prove no imitation or substitute is as good as the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar.

Bishop-Vincent Mission.

BY W. W. FREEMAN.

Receipts for the work this year so far are one hundred and thirty-two dollars and twenty-five cents. There are four churches giving monthly ten dollars each. Another church sends monthly a freewill offering (which varies with the weather and the crowd) of five to fifteen dollars. Two brethren send monthly two and five dollars. The balance of the monthly expenses, eighty-five to one hundred dollars, comes, if at all, from occasional or irregular gifts by individuals and churches.

At last a lot has been secured for a permanent foundation for this work. It costs us five yen less per tsubo than the same man received for the lot adjoining this one. The total is thirteen thousand five hundred yen, of which a fifth was paid down. The balance will be largely paid by the later gifts forwarded. The Japanese brethren at Kamitomizaki will raise three thousand yen in three years, and Brother Bixler thinks their present and growing consecration will lead them to do

An able couple is needed to take up the work the Vincents had to leave. do not play the part of any church official or absorb the function of any unscriptural official in asking in the press if there is known to any reader a couple who might be sent by their local church to this work, with or without the help of other churches and individuals. It is hoped a couple in Tennessee may be sent. Japan especially calls for workers grounded in the truth and not easily moved about by the craftiness of men and by false sciences. Paul discovered Timothy, and he went commended by churches near by. Several churches cooperated in raising funds, and these were disbursed by Paul and Barnabas at times and by special "apostles" or "messengers of the churches" occasionally,

At present we need two more churches to give monthly ten dollars for current expenses. The fund for the house calls for some big gifts, like the eleven hundred dollars from Brother Paul Gray on the lot fund lately. The poor and the few average livers have done most of what has so far been accomplished. Are we going to allow mistakes or troubles in the work to stop our efforts abroad? Have we not more of such troubles in the home field? Now is the time when souls are being tried, and it ill becomes a loyal soldier to turn slacker. Come on, brother, and let us do more than we have ever done before.

Free Chick Book

tells how to save baby chicks from dying of white diarrhoa by using simple home solution. It's free. E. J. REEFER, Poultry Expert, 3253 Poultry Building, Kansas City, Scriptural Teachings.

The teachings of the Scriptures are intended to make a good heart, a clear character, a clean conscience, trusting that the man with a good heart, a clean conscience, and a good character will be able always to decide for himself what things are right. Hence the insistence on teaching Christ all the time and the Bible all the time and enforcing the fundamental principles of Christianity and goodliness, in order that people may never be left in doubt as to whether or not a thing is right or wrong.-Russell Conwell

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send that paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sincere, nonpartisan, reliable, well printed in large type. The eyes of the whole world are fixed on Washington. The Pathfinder is right on the ground and will keep you posted on everything that is going on. You will like the Pathfinder's way of telling all sides of the story. You need this paper during this great presidential year, and you should send fifteen cents for thirteen trial subscription. Address Pathfinder, 145 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new friends.

END OF EIGHT YEARS MISERY

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Recovered.

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had an organic trouble and treated me for several weeks.

At times I could not walk at all and 1 suffered with my back and limbs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine and tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my housework and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and your Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking them to advantage. You can use my name for a testimonial." - Mrs. Theresa Coventry, 75 Burnett St., Newark, N. J.

You are invited to write for free advice

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered women only and held in strict confidence.

TETTERINE

Clears Baby's Skin

and drives off the rash and pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Revelation. No. 3. BY J. J. VANHOUTIN.

The fifteenth and sixteenth chapters of Revelation tell of the songs of praise the righteous gave when Christianity flourished; then of the seven messengers with their seven vials, which, perhaps, were anarchist teachers trying to subvert civil governments, which through their covenants will be brought into a world war in which the great airships will drop the bombs like fire and hail upon each other's foes! Then will probably be the great battle of Gog and Magog in Armageddon. The seventeenth chapter tells of a drunken woman, dressed in style, whose home was in the wilderness upon seven mountains. You can find them in ancient history. You may decide as to who the woman and harlots were, but you must admit that they were of a religious nature and of bad repute. And the eighth verse shows that "anarchy" will subvert all civil governments in one day. Then will be "death, mourning, and famine!" The eighteenth chapter speaks of the merchants (or the preachers) who obtained great riches by their finespun theories and doctrines of men, and shows that the Babylon worship, the instruments, the musicians, with all who used those bewitching sorceries, shall go down to rise no more when Babylon the great shall have fallen. The nineteenth chapter begins with the glorious reign of Christ and the preparation of his church for its final redemption. You will observe that John does not take up events one after another in rotation. Several of them may be hundreds of years apart; and that shows that the divinely inspired seal was placed upon his writings, for no man or council of men could set forth in separate visions events so far apart. The twentieth chapter tells of an angel -who, perhaps, was Jesus-who went into Satan's headquarters (death) and fought the battle alone; and Satan, for a period of time, was bound. The chain must have been the chain of testimony of the law, the prophets, the psalms, and the inspired apostles. When they cease to restrain the people from sin and crime, then Satan will be "loosed out of his prison." All nations shall be brought together in war." "Gog and Magog"-their land near Mount Taurus was thus named after Japheth's son. They were "barbarians," and lived as bandits off the spoils of others, opposed civil government, and ruled only by force. That spirit will attempt to rally and subvert all civil governments. Then the fire of God from the airplanes will be used before the opening of the books on the judgment day;

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

The Supreme Success of Life.

If the end of Providence was to secure this race in a garden of Eden, lapped round with comfort where no one should ever taste hunger or pain or loss, then let it be freely granted that this world is a conspicuous failure. It is so badly arranged and so loosely governed that it would bring scandal on a human monarch. Things are so much out of joint that we are obliged to seek for another working theory of life than the garden one, and we find it in the New Testament. Jesus and his apostles teach that the supreme success of life is not to escape pain, but to lay hold on righteousness; not to possess, but to be holy; not to get things from God, but to be like God. They were ever bidding Christians beware of ease, ever rousing them to surrender and sacrifice. They never complained of their own hard lot, but rather considered that it was gain. Winds blowing off the snow make hardy men, and fierce seas breaking on rocky coasts make skillful seamen; and if the mind of God was to compel this race up the arduous road that leads to perfection, our dark experience is an open secret,-John Watson.

A Century of Service

In 1820 a good, old-fashioned doctor in North Carolina prepared an ointment for skin eruptions. It met the needs of his patients, and has likewise met the needs of millions of other doctors' patients. Gray's Ointment, the compound he prepared, is now rounding its hundreath year of honest, good, old-fashioned service and value. It is very effective for sores, boils, cuts, bruises, burns, stings, eczems, and the many similar forms of skin eruption. It soothes the pain, cleanses the wound, kills the germs, and begine healing. If your druggist cannot supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Building, Nashville, Tenn., and a liberal sample will be sent you.

The Gateway of Life.

We are all going to the bourne from which no traveler returns. Is life worth living, then? Not if our limit is only a handbreadth of time. Certainly not if death ends all.

But make room for God, and see how the horizons roll back! Conceive of yourself as his child, with his breath in your nostrils; made in his image, and, therefore, made to live forever; and, behold, death is no longer a calamity, but merely an episode of life. It is like the fall of an autumn leaf, which is due not to the fact that it has been frostbitten, but that the time of ripeness has come. In death we close our eyes to open them the next moment in another world, and go living right on.

This is the message which we have received from our Savior, who, standing at an open grave, said: "1 am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and he that liveth and believeth in me shall never die." So, then, there is no real death for us.

Be of good courage! Lift up your eyes from the open grave to the open heavens; dream dreams, like the seer in Patmos, of "a better city, even an heavenly;" see visions of a great "home-bringing" and hand-clasping, when those who "parted in the wilderness shall meet again in sweet Jerusalem." And, best of all, get ready to meet Him who brought life and immortality to light, whom we shall see with these very eyes!-D. J. Burrell, in Exchange.

Try Renwar for Rheumatism.

Try Renwar for Rheumatism.

It is not necessary any longer for you to suffer those intense pains and aches of rheumatism. Renwar is a salts combipation scientifically prepared to neutralize the uric acid in the blood and thereby cure rheumatism. Don't wait until those rheumatic pains return. Buy a bottle of Renwar and torget about that rheumatism. Renwar is an old, well-established remedy. It is prescribed by the best of physicians and has thousands of friends. President L. A. Bauman, of Varley & Bauman Company, Nashville, says: "Renwar entirely relieved me of my rheumatism." For sale by druggists: price, 50 cents. Positively guaranteed by money-back offer. If your druggist doesn't carry Renwar in stock, tell him to order it for you from WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.

A-Treat for the Skine

A-Treat for the Skine
Freckles, tan, sunburn, pimples, eczema, all can be easily and delightfully vanished with the use of Palmer's Skin Success Ointment, Used for over 80 years. Hev. A. E. Ballard, D. D., President Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, Ocean Grove, N. J., writes: "Your Skin Success Ointment completely cured me of an irritative itching eczema and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be similarly afflicted." It is not only delightfully antiseptic and cleansing, soothing and softening to the skin, but also immediately effective in bleaching the complexion and in vanishing blackheads, freckles and all skin eruptions. Ask your druggist or send for free sample to The Morgan Drug Co., 1521 Atlantic Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried. All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoon two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money hack in two minutes. back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children .- Adv.)

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

With the Memphis Churches.

BY P. L. PAISLEY.

For the past year I have been working with three congregations, preaching for each congregation once each Lord's day. On the first of February (this month) Brother J. A. Cullum, a young man of considerable experience and no less ability, began to be my coworker; but no sooner had he begun than he received an urgent call to take up work in Texas, which he accepted.

Brother C. A. Norred conceived the idea of declaring war on the shortage of preachers. So he and I are conducting a class at the Harbert Avenue Church on week nights for the development of our young men in public work. These young men are readily assisting, so that the three congregations with which I have been working now have two preaching services each Lord's day instead of one. Yesterday morning Brother Neal was at Highland Heights, Brother Wilson was at Olive Avenue, and I was at McKellar Avenue; at night Brother Talley was at McKellar, Brother French was at Olive, and I was at Highland. These young men do not claim to be preachers, but their work and speeches are quite acceptable. I hear good echoes from them. There are others not mentioned here that will speak from time to time.

Brother Norred has been preaching a series of sermons on "The Restoration" at Harbert Avenue. I am talking on "God" at McKellar Avenue in a series of lessons to be followed by the subjects, "The Holy Spirit" and "Christ." I am also speaking on "Acts of Apostles" at Highland Heights. Brother Norred speaks at Harbert Avenue twice each Lord's day.

The love of the holy God is the starting point from which to think one's way up to Jesus Christ, and him crucified.-I. Hasting.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15e.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capitol, Makes Remarkable Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will been the offer that he will been the offer the costs. will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, enter-tained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

Backache and Kidneys

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properworking proper-ly. Poisonous matter and urie acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the congestion or blood causes backache in the blood causes beckache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your druggist for Anuric (anti-uric-acid) if you aren't feeling up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anuric.

Send 10 c...ts to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

Memphis, Tenn.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric is the best medicine for kidneys and backache that I have ever taken. For some time my kidneys have been giving me a lot of trouble. I suffered with backaches and rheumatism spread thru my joints and limbs causing me a lot of misery. On learning of the Anuric Tablets I began their use and they have given me real relief when other kidney medicines had failed to help."

—MRS. E. C. WILSON, 660 N. 6th St.

Memphis, Tenn.—"Ever since I had typhoid fever my kidneys and bladder have caused me a great deal of suffering and inconvenience. I have used various advertised kidney remedies but until I took Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets I could get only temporary relief. I can truthfully say that Anuric has given me more relief than anything I have ever taken."—MRS. EVA CATES, 923 Thomas St.

Miller's Antiseptic Oil, Known as

Will Positively Relieve Pain in a Few Minutes.

Try it right now for rheumatism, neural-

Try it right now for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago; sore, stiff, and swollen joints; pain in the head, back, and limbs;
corns, bunions, etc. After one application,
pain usually disappears as if by magic.

A new remedy used internally and externally for coughs, colds, croup, influenza,
sore throat, diphtheria, and tonsilitis.

This oil is conceded to be the most penetrating remedy known. Its prompt and immediate effect in relieving pain is due to the fact that it penetrates to the affected parts at once. As an illustration, pour ten frops on the thickest piece of sole isatier, and it will penetrate this substance through and through in three minutes.

Accept no substitute. This great oil is golden-rad color only. Every bottle guaranteed. 30c, 50c, and $1 a bottle, at all good drug stores, or by mail from

HERB JUCE MEDICINE COMPANY,

Jackson, Tenn.

DANDRUFF QUICKLY DISAPPEARS WHEN

Is Applied. Fragrant and Scothing. 80c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ge.

GET READY FOR "FI

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is puri-fied and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for break-fast. Eat what you please—no danger. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

Sage Tea Darkens Hair to Any Shade

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe that Anybody Can Apply

The use of sage and sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded, or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Com-pound," you will get this famous and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after an-other application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-preof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

Among the Colored Folks

Report from Detroit, Mich.

I have been in Detroit three months to-day (February 15). Since coming here I have labored with the Atione mission, and we have succeeded in bringing the two factions together; but a few are still unwilling to come together so there will be no division. This is a fine field, because the true laborers are few; and if the brethren and sisters here will labor together, a great work can be accomplished in Christ's name.

The first of the year the brethren decided to start a building fund, and they are progressing nicely. We are now worshiping in a rented storehouse. If we were in a more suitable place, a great work could be done.

Since coming here I have labored with my hands and preached at every opportunity. I came here for the benefit of my son's health, and I am glad to say that he has rapidly improved. I am planning to remain here until the first of May, and then I will go home and rest up for my protracted-meeting work. I hope to begin my first meeting for the season at Bellbuckle, Tenn.

Several of the churches have remembered me with boxes and some have sent money to aid me. I am glad they believe me to be worthy, and trust that I may never betray their confidence. Brother W. R. Mingle (white), of Bellbuckle, has fellowshiped me greatly ever since I entered the evangelistic work. For four years he has given me a nice pig to raise and also contributed regularly to me. He has done more to encourage me in the work than any one else.

Spiritually, the Gospel Advocate has given me great strength. No one can read its pages regularly without growing stronger in the faith of the Lord Jesus. My wife sends it to me each week; and when it comes, I never stop reading until I have read it through. Every brother ought to read this paper. I am glad to see the Advocate standing so firm on the truth, and I am praying that the brethren who have it under their management will live long so the world can be benefited and bettered by their strong articles.

I ask the prayers of all while in this M. KEEBLE. wicked city.

A Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head

Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets) can be taken by anyone without causing nervousness or ringing in the head. There is only one "Bromo Quinine." E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST

Although there are hundreds of preparations advertised, there is only one that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything.

A sworn certificate of purity is with every rotile. You may receive a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by purcel post. Address Dr. Klimer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents. For sale at all drug stores in large and medium size bottles, also mention this paper.

DON'T OVERDO OR OVER-EAT

But If You Do, a Few Doses of Black-Draught May Prevent Serious Trouble

Nowata, Okla.-Mr. W. B. Dawson, of this place, says:

"I have known of Black-Draught ever since I can remember; and of all the liver medicines I ever used, Black-Draught is without doubt the best. We would not be without it in the

"I used to take pills and different things, but after taking a course of strong medicine I would be left in a constipated condition, and would need then to use a laxative. But after I began to take Black-Draught I did not have any trouble of this kind.

"I take a big dose at night and follow a few nights with lighter doses, and I am like a new man until I overdo or overeat and neglect to take care of myself until the liver gets out of fix, when I have to go to Black-Draught again.

"Black-Draught, I have found, is all that is necessary for the bloated feeling in the stomach, sour stomach, or bad taste in the mouth so common in spring in the swampy country."

Try Thedford's Black-Draught. At all druggists'.

CURED WITHOUT A STARVATION DIET AT A SMALL COST

If you have this awful disease, and want to be cured—to stay cured—write for FREE BOOK

rkigh Books giving the history of pellagra, symptoms, results and how to treat. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. A guaranteed treatment that cures when all others fall. Write for this book today.

CROWN MEDICINE COMPANY,
Dept. 74 Atlanta, Ga.

FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS, (Manufactured since 1870) Atlanta, Ga., Brooklyn, N. Y., Dallas, Tex.

FROM THE FIELD

Alabama.

Andalusia, February 16.—I preached for the Hoomesville congregation yesterday. My next appointment is the fourth's Lord's day at Cedar Grove, and the fifth Lord's day near River Falls, I preached on the second Lord's day at Dozier. I am to visit them the second Lord's day in March. Any corre-spondence will be appreciated. Address me at Andalusia.-G. W. Jarrett.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, February 16.—There have been five additions since last report plus one baptism. Yesterday's audience filled the house. seems to be a fine spirit all through the body. I know of no discord nor undercurrent. Our contributions are approaching a hundred dollars a Sunday. This is an improvement, I assure you.—J. A. Hudson.

McAlester, February 23.-I have moved from my farm at Ward Springs to McAlester. I have been holding from four to eight meetings per year since I moved to Ward Springs, have been preparing a home for old age: but school facilities were poor. My last meeting was at Ward Springs, where I had associated with the people for five years. Thirty-nine were baptized. It is my intention to devote most of my time now to evangelistic work. Brethren who know of places where I can be of service in the great work will please write me.-Bynum Black.

Muskogee, February 23.—I have just returned home, after attending one of the greatest meetings it has ever Muskogee, 23.—I have been my privilege to attend. This meeting was held at Holdenville. It began on February 17 and continued four days. Quite a number of elders from the various congregations of the State were present. The following are some of the preachers who were present: J. W. Henley, Bynum Black, J. E. Black, W. D. Black, J. A. Hudson, W. M. Thompsen, B. U. Baldwin, W. F. Ledlow, L. G. Brannom, A. L. Elkins, Ed. Elkins, W. W. Slater, C. L. Spier, Charles Magness, G. W. Oneal, W. H. George, and Brethren Mason, Brown, Moore, and Bryant. There may have Moore, and Bryant. There may have been others, but I do not recall them just now. Four subjects were dis-cussed—viz.: "The Field and Work of an Evangelist;" "What Should and What Should Not, Be Made Tests of Christian Fellowship?" "Things that Hinder;" and "Things Essentia! to Christian Development." of our Master was manifested throughout the meeting, and we believe much and lasting good will be the result. The hospitality of the Holdenville brethren was great. On my way home f filled my regular appointment at Lenna, Large crowds attended each service. Two persons were restored to the fellowship of the church during my stay there. The work on East Okmulgee Avenue, this city, is pro-gressing nicely.—W. L. Oliphant.

South Carolina.

Union, February 23.-We are very much handicapped at present on account of influenza. The quarantine is on, so we met in three homes yesterday. We have three cases in our home, but I am glad to report all do-ing nicely. I have been waiting in vain for some congregations to volunteer to furnish us some tents for our summer's work. Brethren, we should have them by the first of May. We must have at least two; we really need three. As well try to farm without stock or tools as to be in this field without tents and equipment, Brother, put this before your congregation next Sunday and see if they will not furnish a tent, chairs, or something to help in this great work of spreading the gospel over this destitute State as soon as possible. This is not just a destitute neighborhood, town, city, or county, but the whole State. Do you not want to help spread the "seed of the kingdom" here? Send all contributions or communica-tions to me.—Thomas H. Burton.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send the paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sincere, nonpartisan, reliable, well-printed in large type. It puts everything clearly, fairly, and briefly. Washington, the home of the Pathfinder, is the nerve center of civilization. tory is being made at this world capi-tal. The Pathfinder's Illustrated weekly review gives you a clear, impartial, and correct diagnosis of public affairs during these strenuous, epoch-making days. It is the only big weekly magadays. It is the only one weekly magazine at the seat of government. Send fifteen cents for thirteen weeks' trial subscription to the Pathfinder, 135 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated successfully at home. Sent in plain, scaled envelope. Write for yours today. Dept. F-29. Dr. W. J. McCrary, Inc., Carbon Hill, Ala.

My Wage.

I bargained with Life for a penny, And Life would pay no more, However I begged at evening When I counted my scanty store.

For Life is a just employer, He gives you what you ask; But once you have set the wages, Why, you must bear the task.

I worked for a menial's hire. Only to learn, dismayed, That any wage I had asked of Life, Life would have paid.

Selected.

Tells Why Chicks Die

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, $253 Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrheea, and How to Cure H." This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhee, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terrible disease overnight and actually raises 38 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

OUCH! MY BACK! RIIR

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone. ness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out an ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

NEW MONITOR SELF- IRON

236 Fay St., BIG PRAIRIE, OHIO

PRECKIES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the sightest need of feeling ashamed of your freekies, as Othing—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othing—double strength—from your druggist, and spot a little of it officit and morning and you should soon see that even the worst reckies have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one onnes is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a besuttful clear complexity clear the skin and gain a besuttful clear complexion.

Be sure to selt for the double strength Othina as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it falls to remove freekles.

The Abuse of the Appeal.

BY K. E. BALL.

I was impressed by Brother J. L. Hines' article, some weeks ago, about the abuse of the appeal. I feel that this is, indeed, too true, and that if we were as zealous as we should be in carrying out God's plan of carrying on his work we would not have to resort to so many different plans and schemes to raise funds to carry on God's appointed work.

In the first place, we have the great commission as recorded in Matt. 28: 19, 20; Mark 16: 15, 16; but in these places we do not have any method of going or how they should be sent. They are just told to "go," etc. But let us turn to Acts 2: 44-46 and see how the early apostles and brethren dld along these lines. Here we find the early apostles and brethren bringing their funds into the church treasury. In Acts 4: 24 to 5: 1 we find recorded another example of a similar nature. Now, I am not claiming that we should give all of our earthly funds and possessions, necessarily; but if, under the old Levitical priesthood, men were required to bring in the tenth of their entire increase and put it into the treasury of the temple, how much more diligent and careful ought we to be in this glorious gospel dispensation! If we were giving into the treasury of the church what we should, we could then have it like Paul says it should be-"They that preach the gospel should [could] live of the gospel;" and we could say, too, with Christ: "The poor have the gospel preached to them." Then we could more effectually minister to the sick and comfort the distressed.

I contend that, according to God's word, if we will prove our Lord, he will pour us out such a blessing that we will not be able to contain it; and if we will quit robbing God and withholding his part of the tithes, he will gloriously bless us. I tell you, brethren, if the world could see the church sending preachers out to preach and paying them promptly, and not make them preach and harp on the money side of the question in order to live, but just preach "Jesus, and him crucified," it would have a powerful effect.

And if the world could see the church. when one of its members is sick, visit him and minister to his needs, or, if a poor widow in the neighborhood needs help, supply her wants and comfort her in her ioneliness, it would have more confidence in the church. The church of Jesus Christ, which Paul says is the "pillar and ground of the truth," should let its light shine here and not leave this God-appointed work to secret and fraternal societies. Jesus says: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Now, brethren, let us consider this matter prayerfully and earnestly and see if we are not robbing God by withholding from his storehouse his tithes.

We claim that missionary societies, used in place of the church in spreading the gospel of our Lord, are wrong; but are we using the church as the holy apostles left us an example in the New Testament? They let the church distribute to every man as they had need, and they sent out the missionaries, and the church let its light shine: and no man could say it was on his account that this or that was done, but the church and Christ received all the glory and honor.

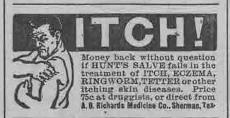

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHIL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic prop-erties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

Are You One of Them?

How many Christians are commonly spoken of with a "but." "She is a real Christian woman, but she is a terrible talker." "That is a good sort of man, but he can drive a very hard bargain." Another is "a very worthy man, but he has such a bad temper." What do these "buts" arise from? From allowing ourselves to think lightly of little things; and so we do not walk circumspectly or accurately: and thus we bring disgrace, so far as it is possible to bring disgrace, upon God and his service.-W. Hay Aitken.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)-People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this; but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and in spite of the scarcity and high cost of paper he will keep this rare offer open for a short time longer. You will like this paper. It is twenty-seven years old and now better than ever. Only fifteen cents, mailed at once to the Path-finder, 120 Douglas Street, Washing-ton, D. C., will keep your whole fam-ily informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

"THE CROSS AND RESURRECTION"

(IN SONG, BEVISED AND ENLARGED)

Every Song Will Sing. Have you ever noticed that more than half the songs in books are never used? Why sell something that is not usable? In bringing out this "revised and enlarged" edition of "The Cross and Resurrection" (in song), we have used nothing that will not sing, that will not be liked by those who try to sing. Hence no waste in this book. You have 309 selections; more than a hundred of the old songs that will never die; only that music that has been written in recent years, that has shown its worth by the way it has stirred souls; and some of the sweetest new music, never before published. The idea of endurance—a book you can use for years—has been our idea. Our confidence in this book you will see when we say: Send us 35 cents for sample copy in limp cover, try each song, and if you say the book is not worth our price, we will refund the money. We can't make any reduction for samples in board.

in board.

This book is offered at the following reasonable prices: Limp cover, 45c. prepaid; $5.25 per dozen, prepaid; $30.00 per hundred by express not prepaid. Board, 55c per copy, prepaid; $6.00 per dozen, prepaid; $45.00 per hundred, by express, not prepaid. Fifty at the hundred rates. Don't send stamps. Send all orders to

S. H. & FLAVIL HALL, 28 Ashby Street, Atlanta, Ga.

SOLD FOR 50 YEARS For MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER

Also a Fine General Strengthening Tonic. SOLD BY ALL DRUG STORES-

Brother Pittman Not Going to India.

BY G. DALLAS SMITH.

Some weeks ago it was announced over the signatures of the elders of the church of Christ at Cleburne, Texas, that Brother W. E. Pittman would go to India as a missionary and would be supported by the Cleburne church. Since that time Brother Pittman has encountered several difficulties which he had not considered. First of all, he has learned that there is little prospect for sailing into India for many months yet, owing to the congested condition of transportation facilities; and, in the second place, he has learned that he must swear allegiance to this country in order to secure his passports, and he is uncompromisingly opposed to swearing "at all." He says he has never taken an oath in his life, and believes it is a violation of the Lord's positive command. It would also be necessary, he learns, for his old mother to swear to his age, etc. This he is unwilling to have her do, even if she were willing to do it. So he has, after due consideration, changed his mind as to his future work. He is now planning to enter school and better prepare himself for work, and then probably enter some neglected field in the United States. His heart is thoroughly in the work and he longs to break the bread of life to those who still sit in darkness. We are, therefore, returning all the money that has been sent in for his transportation expenses, and wish in this public way to thank all the contributors for the interest thus manifested.

In this connection it may be well to say that we are still planning to carry on our county work, and expect to begin just as soon as we can arrange with some capable brother to take the work. The financial side of this work has all been provided for, but we have not yet made arrangements with a man for this work. We have several applications from brethren in different parts of the country. and we are considering them carefully. We realize that the selection of the proper man is of paramount importance. Hence we are going just a little slow. But we hope to be able to announce that our county evangelist is in the field soon.

To Fortify the System Against Colds, Grip and Influenza

take GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC. It Purifies and Epriches the Blood. It Builds up and Strengthens the Whole System. It Fortifies the System Against Colds, Grip and Influenza. Price@o.

A Language Story.

BY LILLIE CYPERT.

When I first came to Japan, school had already been going on for two or three weeks. I was told that I could not enter until I had worked with a private teacher and caught up with the class, and so I set to work. I had taken just fourteen lessons when a letter came telling me that enough new students had come to form a new class and that I could enter school. So I did, and from that time on we were in school from four to six hours every day, trying to do the whole year's work in about a month less time than was usually given.

I then went to Karuizawa and there finished my year's work with a private teacher, all the time expecting to enter the school again in the fall. When fall came, so much work had opened up, and no one scarcely to fill the places, that it seemed almost impossible to go to school; and if I did, I could see no time outside for study; so I left off the school and thought I would give as much time as possible with a private teacher.

Just about that time the native worker stopped work and I had to take up the Zoshigaya Sunday-school work. I, of course, could not do much; but as some of those we were able to get as helpers later understood English, I was able to suggest; and as we found the Sunday school in a very much unorganized condition, much suggesting and planning was necessary with teachers who had had no experience as to running a Sunday school.

The work in general, however, brought me more in touch with the Japanese, and since then I have studied but little; but from hearing and having to use Japanese continually, I, by His help, have gathered enough to give me ease in most ordinary conversation and in buying, and am trying to teach two Bible classes in Japanese.

In the meantime I have had the pleasure of seeing three persons become Christians, who, had I gone to school, might not have been reached. Two of these are active in the Sundayschool work and the other is a business man.

This year [1919] the way was opened up for me-to go to school again, and, with my picked-up language, the work is much easier. So I can take it and at the same time do some other work. The Lord will always lead, if we will just let him. O, that we may live close enough to him to know his will concerning us more perfectly!

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS
PLEASE MENTION THE PUBLICATION

Chamberlain's Tablets

Christ Our Refuge.

To the heart that loves like a child, to the sinner deeply laden with his burden of unhappiness, to the broken spirit that secretly longs to escape from fetters which it is powerless to break, to the soul that is ready to despair—the gospel speaks and tells of hope and love and eagerness to forgive, and embracing arms and falling on the neck and tears of joy and the welcome of the prodigal son. We cannot study here. We can but surrender our hearts to the love which is too much for them to contain. We are sometimes cold and dead. There are times when our feelings toward God seem to lose their warmth. We can obey and do, but we feel like servants, not like children, and we are unhappy because we cannot rouse any warmer feelings in ourselves; and when this is so, where are we to go but to the cross of Christ?—Archbishop Temple.

Unimpeachable.—If you were to see the unequaled volume of unimpeachable testimony in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, you would upbraid yourself for so long delaying to take this effective medicine for that blood disease from which you are suffering

FIELD REPORTS

Arkansas.

Fort Smith, February 23.—I have just returned from the preachers' meeting at Holdenville. It was the greatest meeting I was ever in. About twenty preachers were in attendance. Important subjects were discussed, good sermons were preached, and good was done that eternity alone will reveal. What a feast it was! It was so great that I have asked the preachers to come to Fort Smith, and they have agreed to come. Our congregation was heartily in favor of such a meeting. The meeting will begin on Tuesday after Christmas-December 28. Brother A. Leroy Elkins, of Ada, will give his ten wonderful lectures on "The Divinity of the Bible" just prior to the meeting. Every loyal preacher in the brotherhood is invited. Yesterday was a good day with us at Park Hill Church. Church. We had two splendid services. One confession and baptism Sunday night. The elders and deacons held a business meeting in the afternoon and planned some good things for the future. We are to take our fifth-Sunday contribution and buy religious tracts for distribution. I preached at Stuart, Okla., on the third Sunday. My wife was converted and baptized at Stuart, by Joe Blue, ten years ago. I was glad to be there again. I am now teaching a singing school for the brethren at Morrillton. The good work goes on,—Pray for me, —Will W. Slater.

District of Columbia.

Washington, February 22.-This was a joyful day for the church of Christ in Washington. Two young men made the good confession—one at the morning service and one at the evening service. We have reasons to believe others will become followers of Christ soon. The young people of the Washington church are the flower of the country, and we are proud of them. Brethren, do not forget that we need your prayers and financial help to build a house of worship. Respond to this call speedily .- W. S. Long.

Ohio.

Akron, February 17.—We are still meeting in a hall at 50 South Howard We hope to have our house finished by the first of April. Each service is very interesting and profitable and well attended. We have new faces each Lord's day. Brother W. B. Tompkins is a great power for building up a new congregation, and eternity alone can reveal the good he has done here. When he began his work with the brethren here about eighteen months ago, they were only about thirty-five in number, and now the number is about two hundred and fifty. need more workers like him. Brother John Rainey also did a great work the short time he was here last summer. Everybody learned to love him, and we are hoping that he will come back this summer. We have our Bible study every Wednesday evening at Sister Collins' home. These meetings are very interesting. We hope to be able

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full helps found in the NOTES."

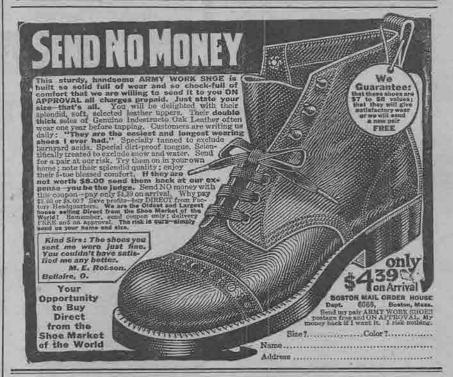

helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker. Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

to begin a Bible class in Kenmore soon. Occasionally some good brother invites his neighbors in and we have preaching in his house. In this way we reach people that we would not otherwise reach. More work like this needs to be done. We are anticipat-ing great things when our house is finished. Akron is a fine field for work, and we have a few here who are working the works of God while it is day. Pray for us in this wicked city.—H. F. Pendergrass.

Texas.

Kirbyville, February 23.-While 1 have not been reporting very regularly, I have nevertheless been very busy at my farm work and preaching. Every Sunday is taken, and the most of my summer and fall time for meetings. I was with the little band at Jasper vesterday. They had not been meeting, but they promised to meet every Lord's day in the future. I will preach for them each Sunday. This is the second congregation I have awakened out of sleep this year .-J. S. Daugherty.

Fort Worth, February 15,-Our work in the Glenwood congregation, this city, is growing continually. Six have been added the past two Sun-days. The influenza epidemic has been very severe this winter and more of our membership have been afflicted than at any previous date, yet all are hopeful and the cause of Christ holds first place in their minds. We are planning quite a bit of extra work for Brother Austin Taylor and this year. I are planning to assist the Italy congregation in a ten-days' meeting the first of March.—Horace W. Busby.

Volume LXII. No. 11.

NASHVILLE, TENN., MARCH 11, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE,

CONTENTS

THE MENACE OF BOLSHEVISM	41
OUR CONTRIBUTORS 2	42
AT HOME AND ABROAD. 2	45
	46
SHORESTA JOHN THE PAR SOUTHERN BILLID
	47
JUGENEYINGS OFTEN 2	48
	49
RELIEF FUND.	52
SPECIAL NUMBERS FOR 1920	52
	53
OBITUARUES 2	54
The state of the s	56
	57
ELYBEATTON INC. 47
	58
	59
	60
	61
AMONG THE COLORED FOLKS	63
THE POTTER ORPHAN HOME FORD CAR 2	63
	63
	04

The Menace of Bolshevism

A fatal immorality in Bolshevism is its attitude toward the family. One of the test questions of any country's civilization is: "What is your sex life, and especially your treatment of women and children?" To what extent women have been actually nationalized is a question. The Russian conscience would probably not permit a very wide extension of it; but that the policy is completely in harmony with the professed tenets of the Bolsheviki leaders, no one has questioned. In the "Communist Manifesto," by Karl Marx and Frederick Engels, which is accepted as authoritative by the Bolsheviki, it is clearly admitted that what the Communists look forward to is "an openly legalized community of women." One of two Americans who were designated to confer with the Bolsheviki was Professor Revron, a man who not only believes in "free love," but has practiced it, and who has said that "the coercive family will pass away with the coercive economic system." Have we not a right to shudder and protest with all the powers of our being when we find such an unblushing advocate of open adultery, the desceration of the marriage altar, and the disintegration of the God-given home?

Bolshevism is determined to abolish God and Christianity from the hearts of the people. In a recent issue of the Literary Digest the late British chaplain at Odessa and the Russian ports of the Black Sea asserts that "the first objective of Bolshevism is the complete elimination of every form of Christianity from the world and the substitution of a world-wide atheism." This is, indeed, a serious charge, but it appears to be well authenticated by British staff officers. Whatever else may be said of the Bible, it is recognized the world over as the greatest ethical standard. The system that would undermine its integrity is digging at the foundation of our best civilization.

We cannot conceive of any high ethical system, whether social, political, or religious, that does not express itself in chaste and forceful language. The vehicle that conveys the thought and teachings of the system to the public mind is in itself an index to its worth. It is interesting in this connection to study the terminology employed by the L. W. W., which is the leading organization of the Bolshevistic movement in America. We are indebted to Mr. John F. McGovern, a writer for the Minneapolis Tribune, for the following bit of information:

"Members of the I. W. W. are known as 'wobblies,' or 'wobs.' They address each other in speaking or writing as 'fellow workers,' All 'wobs' are not 'sab cats.' Although all may practice some form of the theoretical sabotage as defined in their books, only a limited number are genuine 'cats.' The 'cats' are not known to the membership at large.

"A 'high-jack' is a highwayman. Only those are frowned upon who 'stick up' a fellow worker. A 'scissor bill' is an unorganized workman or a workman who does not belong to the I. W. W. A policeman in a city is referred to usually as a 'bull,' while a marshal in a smaller town is called the 'town clown.' An employer is a 'boss,' a wage worker is a 'slave' or a 'wage slave,' and a farmer is a 'rube' or a 'John Chinwhiskers.'

"A 'jungle' is a place where the 'wobs,' or 'wobblies,' and 'scissor bills' congregate to eat and sleep. It usually is at the edge of a town, on the bank of a stream, or in the country. Food is purchased by all, and the 'mulligan,' or stew, is shared by all. In these 'jungles' much missionary work is done. The 'cat' is often turned loose on the 'scissor bills,' who are thus forced to join the O. B. U. The 'O. B. U.' means the one big union, the I. W. W. Most 'wobblies,' closing a letter to a fellow worker, write, 'Yours for the O. B. U.' The A. F. of L., the American Federation of Labor, is referred to as the 'A. F. of Hell.'"

It is not very difficult for a thoughtful mind to determine the ethical standards of a system whose fraternal exchanges are couched in such delectable phraseology.

One of the saddest memories of my boyhood days is of the time that "old Grover" died. He was the house watchdog and the children's friend. With much lamentation we decided that the canine remains should be taken to the garden and laid quietly away. But our father said: "No, drag him to the back pasture, dig a hole, and bury him deep." This is a homely but timely illustration of the subject before us. A system that proposes to substitute might for right, to incite class hatred and war, to burn and ravage at will, to break up and destroy the family, to abolish the Christian religion from the face of the earth, is putrid, and it is time to dig a grave. But we cannot press the figure too closely. A dead dog may be laid away decently and even with appropriate ceremony; but to bury the Bolshevistic movement is a sure-enough job.

The Church and the Kingdom the Same.
BY F. B. SEYGLEY.

Brother Scobey has published another article in the Gospel Advocate in which he persists in trying to show a difference between the church of Christ and the kingdom of Christ. To Brother Scobey's mind, these two words do not describe the same institution. It is freely admitted that these two words do not mean the same thing. The word "church" means a called-out body, while the word "kingdom" means a rule or government, but the two words are used to describe the same thing. The word "church" and "kingdom" are not always used even in the Bible to describe the institution which Christ built or established. We read of "the church in the wilderness," but that has no reference to the church of Christ, and, therefore, does not describe the same thing that is described by the kingdom of Christ; but when the word 'church" is used to describe the body of Christ, it means the same thing that the word "kingdom" does when it is used to describe the same body. As Brother Scobey puts It, I will say, "if not, why not?"

But Brother Scobey says: "If the kingdom of heaven mentioned in the Scriptures and the church spoken of there are one and the same institution, then they must have the same characteristics—that is, whatever is affirmed of the one in the Scriptures may also be affirmed of the other. If not, why not?"

Very well, what is it that is affirmed of the one that cannot be affirmed of the other? They were both built, or set up, or established, by the same person, at the same place, on the same day, out of the same material, for the same purpose, and ruled by the same Ruler. Christ is the King of the kingdom, and he is the Head of the church. Those prepared by John and Christ were the material that went into the church, and the same material went into the kingdom. The same laws were to govern the church that govern the kingdom. After this the same law of induction was for both. People enter the kingdom by being born of water and the Spirit; they enter the church by believing and being baptized. Pray, where is the difference? But Brother Scobey says the Bible does not say they are the same. No, indeed. It is not necessary that it should say it, but it is as clear as if it had said it.

But the brother further says: "If the church is the kingdom, then the prophecy of the angel to Mary, as recorded in Luke 1: 31-33, will hardly apply: 'Thou . . . shalt call his name Jesus. . . . And the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.' I cannot by any stretch of imagination see how this language can be applied simply to the church as we see it to-day. The church will end."

I don't ask you to stretch your imagination; in fact, I do not want your imagination on the question, either stretched or loose; but why cannot this language apply simply to the church as we see it to-day, just like it applies to the kingdom as we see it to-day? But "the church will end." Yes, the earthly state of it will end, and the earthly state of the kingdom will end, too, when the earth ends; but the kingdom will be turned over to the Father, and so will the church at the same time and in the same way, because the kingdom of Christ is the church of Christ. But Brother Scobey says the church has no eternal state and the kingdom will have an eternal state. Even if that were true, it would not prove that they are different in the present state. He thinks he sees a difference between the eternal state of the kingdom and the present state of the church, and that that fact proves that the present state of the kingdom is different from the present state of the church. But can't he see that it is the different states that make the difference, and not that there are two institutions on the earth now? But he says Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob will be in the heavenly kingdom, but were never in the church of Christ on the earth. Very well; neither were they ever in the kingdom of Christ on the earth, for the reason that it was not established in their day. They came as near being in the church of Christ on the earth, for they did to being in the kingdom of Christ on the earth, for they are the same.

But again the brother says: "I hear brethren and others talking about the time when, and the place where, Jesus 'set up' the kingdom. Jesus 'set up' no kingdom. He received a kingdom. There is no such expression in the Book, the New Testament, as setting up a kingdom, nor of setting up a church. Neither did Christ establish a church or a kingdom. I find in the Book no such language, and, therefore, no such thought, save from the language of those who discuss the questions of the 'establishment' or setting up' the church or kingdom with the Baptists. Christ said he would build his church, and he did, on the day of Pentecost, put together the prepared material and formed a glorious church. He is still building into the church lively stones, men and women prepared by being translated out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of God's dear Son."

I consider this the most unfortunate thing the good brother said. He certainly plays into the hands of the Baptists here. Christ never "set up" a kingdom, he says, but he "received" it. I suppose from that that he received it already set up, from the Father. But when did the Father set It up? His reference to the day of Pentecost here seems to indicate when he thinks Christ received it; but if Christ did not set it up that day, but only received It then, when was it set up? But he says there is no such expression in the Book as that Jesus set up a kingdom, but in the same breath he adds "in the New Testament." He intended this, "in the New Testament," as a saving clause. But this will not save him. It looks a little like he had a lingering, faint recollection of a passage in the Old Testament, and to save himself he added "in the New 'Testament." What difference does it make whether it is in the New Testament or the Old Testament? "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed." (Dan. 2: 44.) The only way I can see how our brother can harmonize this statement with his flat denial is to say that "the God of heaven" in this text is not Jesus, who, he says, never set up a kingdom. But the brother should remember the statement of John: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made." (John 1: 1-3.) This language is certainly broad enough to include the kingdom. But again: "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins: who is the image of the invisible God. the first-born of every creature: for by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers; all things were created by him, and for him: and he is before all things, and by him all things consist. And he is the head of the body, the church." (Col. 1: 13-18.) I am sure that this is extensive enough to show that he created the kingdom and the church-"all things." Notice, too, the quotation begins with the kingdom and ends with the church, and the subject does not change, either. The only way to explain this fact is to admit that the word "kingdom" in verse 13 describes the same institution or body that the word "church" does in verse 18. But I am endeavoring to show that God, the God of heaven, set up his kingdom through Christ. God purposed or planned his kingdom, Jesus worked out these plans, and the Holy Spirit revealed them to the world. Hence, I can say, in the language of Brother Zack Sweeney: "God planned all, Jesus worked all, and the Spirit revealed all." But that our brother may hear the expression "set up" when our brethren are not debating with the Baptists, I quote from the New Testament: "After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up." (Acts 15: 16.) This refers to the day of Pentecost, when Jesus, a lineal descendant of David, took his seat on David's throne and thus reëstablished God's rule on the earth. Yes, Brother Scobey, "set up" is the right form of expression. It is according to the Book, both the Old Testament and the New Testament. But our brother seems to think the word "establish" is only used by our brethren when debating with the Baptists, but he is as far wrong here as he is on the expression "set up." There were three things promised to David which was fullfilled on the day of Pentecost, and they all amount to the same thing. "And thine house and thy kingdom shall be established forever before thee: thy throne shall be established forever." (2 Sam. 7: 16.) Notice the word "establish" here, Brother Scobey; and this is not our brethren debating with the Baptists, either. I wonder if the brother thinks the "house" in this verse and the "kingdom" are different. I know the words are different, but do they not refer to the same institution? Are they not used in apposition with each other? I think so. Well, what is the "house?" It is the house of God. Very well, what is the house of God? "These things write I unto thee, hoping to come unto thee shortly: but if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." (1 Tim. 3: 14, 15.) Now, if the house and the kingdom are the same, and the house is the church, then the church and the kingdom must be the same. I must quote one other passage: "But ye are come unto Mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the first-born." (Heb. 12; 22, 23.) In the same chapter, without any change of subject, the apostle says: "Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear." (Verse 28.) What the apostle calls "the church of the first-born" in verse 23, he calls "a kingdom which cannot be moved " in verse 28. Jesus never established but one institution. Of course, I am positive. The church and the kingdom are Brother Scobey says: "Christ said he would build his church, and he did, on the day of Pentecost, put together the prepared material and formed a glorious church." Why should the brother go out of his way to say that Christ "put together the prepared material and formed a glorious church" on the day of Pentecost? Why not say he built it on the day of Pentecost? But he adds: "He is still building into the church." So he is; but building into the church is not the same as building it. He built it, he established it, he founded it, on the day of Pentecost. Our forefathers, more than a hundred years ago, built, established, or founded, this government. It is still being built into or built up; but who would intimate that this is the same as founding it? Christ was talking about things fundamental when he said to Peter, "Upon this rock I will build my church," and then added: "I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven." If the kingdom of heaven is not the church, then what authority did Peter have to open the church or admit people into it? In Matt. 16: 18, 19, talking to the same people on the same occasion and about the same thing, our Lord used the words "kingdom" and "church" to describe the institution he was about to build; and still Brother Scobey says that Brother Srygley cannot find the passage that says in so many words that the church and the kingdom are the same. Neither can I find in the Bible the passage that says in so many words that Abraham was the grandfather of Jacob, but I know he was, notwithstanding.

Preachers and Preaching.

BY O. E. HOLT.

Christianity is something that is real and vital and lifegiving. It is the embodiment of every spiritual truth and of every spiritual force necessary to the world's salvation from sin. It is a heart religion—a religion that begins in the heart and works outward in the life.

The kingdom of the Christ is, indeed, a spiritual kingdom and must first be planted and established in the heart. When two or more persons into whose hearts the seed of the kingdom, the word of God, has entered, and in which the same lives and grows and moves, come together in one place with one purpose—the worship of God—in view, they constitute the church of God in that place.

Sowing the seed, preaching the gospel, is the most important work in which human beings may or can engage. To make this a matter of subordinate importance is a complete and unwarranted reversal of God's order. Some have done this in years gone by, while others are doing it now, making such an unscriptural idea and practice the criterion of soundness in the faith. Such men put secular affairs first and the preaching of the gospel last, or as opportunity and circumstances allow.

Paul is no plainer on any point than he is on the Godordained plan or purpose that they who preach the gospel should live of the gospel. (1 Cor. 9: 14.) In the face of this inspired statement, modern teachers have their own theories of secular work first and the preaching of the gospel last.

Now we read: "Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things live of the things of the temple? and they which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar? Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel." Now put this Spirit-inspired language by the side of some of the teaching that has recently appeared in the Gospel Advocate on the subject, and open your eyes and see the difference. It is said that preachers should have a secular business from which they should derive their support, and preach the gospel as a "side line," to use a commercial expression -that is, a preacher should farm, teach school, or do something else to make a living, and go out on Lord's days and after crops are "laid by" and do all the preaching he can when he has nothing else to do. Of course, what the brethren "see fit" to give him, he should take, and place it in bank or use it along with the rest of his money that he earns on his farm, or in his store, or in whatever other secular business he may be engaged. This modern human plan does certainly please stingy churches. With them, it is the sweetest and most satisfying "sngar stick" they have ever "drawn real pleasure from." But Paul says a preacher should not follow secular pursuits; at least, if he wishes to please his Lord instead of pleasing stingy Christians.

Now read again: "Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier. And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully. The husbandman that laboreth must be first partaker of the fruit." (2 Tim. 2: 3-6.) This beautiful and appropriate figure is used by Paul as an argument to show that preachers belong to the Lord, and not to themselves, or to men, or to the world.

The soldier does not belong to himself; he belongs to his government, or ruler. He cannot go and come and rest and fight just when, where, and as he pleases. So with preachers. They belong to the King, and the orders of the King they must obey. The King says to his preachers: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature;" "Go, teach all nations." Suppose some of his preachers say: "O, we will do this as we can without inconvenience to ourselves. We must first look after our farms, our schools, our stores, our law practice, or whatever secular business in which we choose to engage; for we must have a living-we must make provisions for the flesh. When we shall have done our duty to ourselves and to our families, then we will go out and hold a few meetings. Of course, we may get something, but that is an uncertainty."

Paul's argument in the ninth chapter of First Corinthians in regard to the temple service Is as strong as the Holy Spirit could make it. God had men to do that service. and those men got their living therefrom. It was thus Whatever may be said about all Christians ordained. being priests of equal rank in the church of God, it is undeniably and incontrovertibly true that God has always recognized a distribution of work among his children of equal rank. In apostolic times there were men who gave themselves wholly to the "ministry of the word." was of such importance that seven men were chosen to aid the apostles in temporal things in the Jerusalem church, so that the apostles would not be hindered in their preaching-that they might give themselves wholly to the "ministry of the word."

It is true that men may and do follow secular callings and also do considerable preaching; but this is not God's way of evangelizing the world. Paul's case of making tents is much abused. That was an incident or an accident, and is not to be exalted into a law for preachers.

The Best Is Nothing in the Hands of Wicked Men. BY JOHN T. SMITHSON.

Back in the early days of this country, when it was conceived and brought forth in liberty, there was a document written and agreed upon, which is known as the "Declaration of Independence," and which was destined to make the United Colonies free and independent States. This instrument of writing sounded the death knell of England and her king. This nation has from that day enjoyed the liberty which was given her by this Declaration. As powerful as it is and with all that it means to true Americans, what is it, and what does it amount to, in the hands of those who love thralldom? What is this document in the hands of the "reds" and anarchists of to-day?

A few years later, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for common defense, promote the general welfare, and to secure the blessing of liberty to themselves and to us, the people of the United States, as named in the Declaration of Independence, ordained and established a Constitution by which all the States are governed. Under this Constitution there is liberty for all, individually and collectively. To my mind, there have never been greater human documents than those we have mentioned. But what does the Constitution amount to with the people who violate its principles? When these men act, if the Constitution is in their way, they will set it aside by force, if they are able, or deliberately break it, to carry out their purpose. To such men, what does the Constitution stand for? In the hands of rebels, insurrectionists, Bolsheviki, etc., the Constitution of this country stands for nothing.

There are laws adequate for every wrong. These laws are good. They have been made for the praise of them who do good and for the punishment of them who do evil. To the outlaw, all laws are nothing. When men want to have their own way, it does not concern them much what the law is, whether it is against their action or in favor of it. Politicians frequently disregard the laws in order to carry out their schemes to be elected. This may be one reason there are so many people disobeying the laws. When men violate laws to be sworn to keep them, they cannot be very conscientious in keeping them. All laws, then, however good, are nothing in the hands of wicked and lawless men.

There is nothing stronger and better among men, in all their relations one toward another, than truth. There can be no justice in anything unless it rests upon truth. When men want to do wrong in a trade, the truth is nothing to them. If men everywhere had the proper regard for truth, there would be better times than these in which we live. Good cannot stand without truth for its foundation. The strongest confidence in men dies when they are found to be liars. Men love lies when they deal treacherously with their fellow men. What is truth, with all its power and goodness, to them who love and make a lie? Surely it is nothing.

The Bible is the word of God. Divine, inspired, and eternal are its truths. It is the greatest book upon the earth. They who love it treasure it in their hearts and hold it sacred in their memory. It is the unerring guide. It is the bread of life. To those who say in their hearts there is no God, and to the boastful infidel, this precious book is nothing. Furthermore, to all people religiously who want things to go their way, who want to gratify the lust of the flesh, the Bible is nothing only in so far as they can pervert its teachings to seemingly justify their course. When one espeuses a false doctrine, the truth of the Bible is refused, and entirely ignored when it conflicts with the false teaching. In the hands of those who speculate upon the Bible, its plain truths are sometimes handled wrongfully and frequently suffer. The plain truth of God always suffers when men speculate upon it. To wicked men who are bent on doing their own wicked way, there is nothing good under the heaven that can appeal to them. The best and the strongest in the way of good is nothing in their hands.

What Was Natied to the Cross?

The Seventh-Day Adventists of North Nashville held a meeting of long duration in a tabernacle, and they were very bold and loud in their defense of the Jewish Sabbath. Brother F. W. Smith made an effort to get their preacher to defend his doctrine publicly on this question, but he very wisely declined; but he did finally agree to go and invite his brethren to go and hear Brother Smith one time on the subject, provided Smith would come back to the tabernacle and hear him. This was agreed to, but the Adventist preacher would pursue the investigation no further. From the material Brother Smith used in his two speeches on the subject a good tract has been made, which is on sale by the McQuiddy Printing Company, at fifteen cents each, or $1.50 per dozen. I consider this one of the strongest and best tracts we have on that subject, and it would be well to circulate them among the Adventists or those who are in any way troubled with their false teaching on this subject. There is enough truth in this tract to answer any Adventist on the Sabbath question. It is worth many times the cost of the tract to have the scriptures collated on this subject. Nothing will cure this false doctrine like the word of God, and this tract is full of that.

F. B. SRYGLEY.

皿

AT HOME AND ABROAD

B. C. Goodpasture preached at Smyrna, Tenn., last Sunday.

Change of address: J. Clifford Murphy, from Ethridge, Tenn., to Pulaski, Tenn.

J. W. Grant preached an excellent sermon at Russell Street Church, this city, Sunday.

Brother Jelley sailed for India on March 11. He will spend a few weeks visiting brethren at Glasgow, Scotland.

- I. B. Bradley will lecture at Twelfth Avenue Church, this city, Tuesday night, March 16, on "The State of the Dead."
- A. B. Gunter, of Jackson, Miss., acknowledges a gift of ten dollars from the church at Bethel, Tenn. This will be used for mission work.
- G. C. Parham, of Oklahoma City, Okla., would like to locate with some church and do evangelistic work. Address him at 614 West Fourth Street.

The new girls' building for David Lipscomb College is nearing completion. It will be a great help if those who made pledges will send the balance at once.

Remember the orphans at the Tennessee Orphans' Home. Many churches have adopted the custom of sending them the collection for the first Sunday in each quarter, Married, Friday, March 5, at 8 P.M., at A. B. Lipscomb's residence, Mr. P. H. Wade and Miss Ernestine Owen. The Gospel Advocate extends heartiest congratulations.

G. Dallas Smith announces that the church at Cleburne, Texas, has engaged C. A. Buchanan to do the work of a county evangelist. He will labor in destitute places.

Wanted—A Christian dentist to locate in Oakman, Ala. This is a fine opportunity for some one to build up a fine business and make money. Address A. D. Dies, Oakman, Ala.

"You are not and will not be held responsible for the disposition with which you were born, but no one else is responsible for the disposition with which you die," (H. G. Knowles.)

Fred K. Jones, real estate dealer and Notary Public, 43 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville and Tennessee property for sale and exchange—will endeavor to accommodate those desiring his services.

Perfection in life is not secured by some great deed of action, thought, or giving; it is the result of doing one's duties now, performing each as it comes up for observance. It may be small, as men count smallness, but it is that which God requires for the time.

Do not overlook the preachers' meeting to be held at Mount Pleasant, Tenn., beginning on Sunday, March 21. An interesting program has been arranged covering a wide field of subjects. A warm welcome will be accorded to all who attend. Neighboring congregations are especially invited.

J. W. Grant reports that he and Sister Grant have recovered from recent illness, and that he is now able to assume active duties in the evangelistic field. Churches would do well to get in touch with this experienced preacher of the gospel. Address him at West Station, Nashville, Tenn.

A union meeting of Christians will be held with the church at Portland, Tenn., beginning next Sunday. A good program has been arranged and there will be different speakers for each day. Among those who will preach are M. C. Kurfees, F. W. Smith, F. B. Srygley, and B. C. Goodpasture. The meeting will continue one week. All are invited.

Wanted—An energetic, wide-awake young preacher to go to Westbrook, Maine (adjoining Portland), and locate with the church there. The man that is needed is one who will be willing to keep books about four hours each day for one of the elders who is an electrician. He must be one who can preach the pure gospel with love and zeal and win souls to Christ. If you are willing to work hard, write to H. F. Stultz, 51 Lamb Street, Westbrook, Maine, or to W. S. Long, 110 Second Street, S. E., Washington, D. C.

Says the editor of the Texas Christian Advocate: "No man eats bread or drinks water from simple choice or habit. It is but the response to an innate desire to live. Eating and drinking are a process of life extraction. There is an inexplainable law of assimilation. By its secret force the hidden fountains are unlocked. The Master said he was in body, bread; in blood, water. By a similar inexplainable law of spiritual assimilation we appropriate Christ, 'who is our life.' Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst."

We commend the following from the Central Christian Advocate: "Let it be registered that the United States and its people want just as little of militarism as possible. It is contrary to our institutions and to our history, and jealously we should guard our schools and colleges against it and the insidious ideas that are fostered by it. Has Germany taught us no lesson? It pleases us to note that the pendulum is swinging away from the militaristic emotion which was so pronounced a brief while ago. Few things would endanger this people more than nursing what militarism instills and breeds. Moreover, a few years ago it was popular to stand for reduction of all armaments on land and on sea. Let the nation now practice as well as preach."

A New York gentleman interested in measuring the new craze in this country about things occult hired a man to stand all day in the bookshop of the Wanamaker store and take note of all volumes purchased there. Out of every five books sold over those counters that day, four had something or other to do with "spiritualism." Probably no modern bookseller expected to live to see the day when anything printed would sell better than novels, but now the wonder has come to pass. A friend of this gentleman who heard of his test imitated him by sending an agent to inquire of the New York public library about the demand for spiritualistic works. The response was that the inquiry for literature of this nature far exceeds the greatest call the library ever had before for any single line of publications. The supply on its shelves is nothing compared to the demand. What a pity the Bible cannot be more extensively circulated!

S. H. Hall writes: "A number of letters have come to my desk, recently, commending my articles on 'The Pauline Type of Preachers' and other articles. My work is such that I cannot answer these letters; hence, I say to one and all, 'I thank you.' I have only one desire when I write and speak-viz., to please God. Of course, I am delighted when I learn that brethren also are pleased, but I allow not myself to think of pleasing them while writing or speaking." He further writes: "It now looks like we are to have a debate with our Adventist friends in this city. One got hold of my tract, 'Adventism Weighed and Found Wanting,' and was stirred to write me that, if I would debate the Sabbath and Lord's-day questions, he thought he could furnish me a man; hence, for me to furnish him with my propositions and terms. They were sent, and he called and asked for the wording to be slightly changed in the propositions, to which I gladly consented; so he left with approved propositions by both sides. If there is no debate, certainly it will be no fault of mine. So soon as I know definitely. I will let our readers know just when the debate will begin."

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

A Sister's Question.

The following letter from a good sister came in the mail this morning (March 1), and I give it, with my answer, to our readers:

Brother Hall: I have been reading your pieces in the Gospel Advocate for quite a while, and I like them fine. I feel that I almost know you personally, but never saw you. After reading your pieces in the grand old Advocate so long, I am led to believe that you are a good, conscientious Bible teacher; so I take the privilege of asking you to please give me the plain teaching of a passage found in the latter part of the last chapter of Matthew, beginning at verse 18 and reading on to the close of the chapter. I want explanation on the first of verse 20—"teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you." Does this teach that all who are baptized into Christ must preach the gospel publicly from the pulpit in some style, regardless of capability, or be condemned?

It would be well to read the whole paragraph in which the above quotation is found: "But the eleven disciples went into Galilee, unto the mountain where Jesus had appointed them. And when they saw him, they worshiped him; but some doubted. And Jesus came unto them and spake unto them, saying, All authority hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth. Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." (Matt. 28: 16-20.)

Our sister has correctly answered her own question in the unpublished part of her letter by taking the position that the statement, "teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you," does not mean that all baptized believers must preach the gospel publicly from the pulpit, regardless of capability. This statement certainly teaches that all baptized believers must be "soul winners," but does not teach that they are to be such without regard to their own talents and capabilities. The following statement from Paul throws all needed light on the question: "For even as we have many members in one body [the church], and all the members have not the same office: so we, who are many, are one body in Christ, and severally members one of another. And having gifts differing according to the grace that was given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us give ourselves to our ministry; or he that teacheth, to his teaching; or he that exhorteth, to his exhorting: he that giveth, let him do it with liberality; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness." (Rom. 12: 4-8.) In 1 Cor. 12: 14-27, Paul teaches that "the body," or church of Christ, is analogous to the human body with its different members. The eye is not expected to do what the hand was ordained to do. Just so, in the church, each member must find his place, which place he can fill by the right exercise of the natural talent or gifts with which God has biessed him. Many other scriptures could be cited to show this, but these submitted should suffice.

But please do not get away from the fact that the Bible teaches that we must all be winners of souls, that we must all be teachers of God's word. We can teach best, however, only in the place and in the way our natural gifts allow. We teach best by the way we live, by our godly walk and conversation before men. The Scriptures not only do not teach that every baptized believer must mount the pulpit and strive to proclaim the gospel publicly, but rather that it would be a sin for some to try it that way. But this does not mean that each branch of Christ, the vine, must not bear fruit. "Every branch in me that beareth not fruit, he taketh it away," says Christ. (John 15: 2.) Again, he says: "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; and so shall ye be my disciples," (Verse 8.) But this does not mean that each of us must always be up talking. If some of us would talk less, we would bear fruit all the more.

Hoping that this will be helpful to our good sister and to others as well, I leave the question for some other thoughts.

0 0 0

How to Study the Bible.

Would it not be well for all of us, in reading and studying the Bible, to strive to forget all we have ever heard advanced in behalf of the various theories on that part of the holy Scriptures that we are studying? Is this not the easiest way to learn? Would not the most natural thing, if you are honest and sincere, be your finding exactly what God wants you to find? If you are striving to learn what an alien must do to be saved, would you not easily see that he must believe that Christ is the Son of God, repent of his sins, and be baptized in the name of Christ? (See Mark 16: 16; Acts 2: 36-41.) Would you not learn that the Lord adds all such to his church? (Acts 2: 47.) Would you not learn that the early Christians "continued steadfastly in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of bread and the prayers" (Acts 2: 42); that they assembled regularly on the first day of the week to break bread in memory of Christ's death (Acts 20: 7): that they were to lay by in store on that day as the Lord prospered them (1 Cor. 16: 1, 2), and that this assembling together must not be neglected (Heb. 10: 25)? Would you not learn that feeding the hungry and clothing the naked has much to do with the religion of our Lord? (James 1: 27; 2; 15; 1 John 3: 17.) Would you not learn that we must be "compassionate, loving as brethren, tender-hearted, humble-minded: not rendering evil for evil, or reviling for reviling; but contrariwise blessing?" Pet. 3: 8, 9.) Would you not learn that you must "set your mind on the things that are above, not on the things that are upon the earth?" (Col. 3: 2.) Please tell me one thing that you need to learn that you would not learn with ease, if you would only shut yourself up in the Book and read it only to know and do God's will. Certainly you would learn this: "If any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his." (Rom. 8: 9.) And certain it is that we would not be contending that we are filled with Christ's Spirit and allowing ourselves to be governed by it, if we were governed wholly by the carnal nature. Those who want to know can certainly learn that there is a difference in the Spirit of Christ and the spirit of the flesh, and that one can almost tell from the expression of a man's face and the tone of his voice which spirit is governing. "Adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things" would be learned as one of our duties. May the Lord help us to let it so be.

0 0 0

News Items.

Brother Garrett baptized two more at East Point last Lord's day (February 29). You could bardly excel Garrett in working hard all the week and preaching when you can. If he does not teach the word to the people, it is because he does not have a chance.

The "flu" certainly has let us know it was here during the past month and is still here. Hardly any of our families have escaped. Brother Templeton's two children have been very sick for a week with it, but are better now. Brother Rogers was unable to fill his place last Lord's day because of it, and his wife took her bed with it to-day.

Query Department

By J. C. McQUIDDY

Brother J. F. Milby wishes to know whether or not the scholars in the brotherhood of the church of Christ accept Webster's definition of the word "baptize."

Webster's International Dictionary defines the word as used by the people when the dictionary was made. This dictionary was made after Christ used the word "baptize." While Webster defines the word as used by the people, he does not attempt to give the meaning of the word as used by Christ. The translators did not translate the word "baptizo," but simply Anglicized the word. People who are anxious to know just what Christ taught will seek to learn the meaning of the Greek word "baptizo," which mans to dip or to plunge. If it be replied that all are not Greek scholars, the meaning of the word can easily be learned by referring to the New Testament. People in New Testament times "came unto" the water, where "there was much water," "went down into the water," were "buried in baptism," were "born of water," and "came up out of the water." These scriptures clearly indicate the action of baptism to be immersion, which Webster says all denominations will accept as baptism. Scholars certainly will not accept Webster's definition as authority for the meaning of the word "baptize."

Brother Milby inquires also to know if the name "Christian" is a nickname, and refers to Acts 11: 26, which says: "And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass, that even for a whole year they were gathered together with the church, and taught many people; and that the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch."

There is diversity of opinion upon this subject. Prior to this time the Jewish converts were simply called among themselves "disciples," "believers," or "saints." They were called by their enemies "Nazarenes" or "Galileans," perhaps they were called by other names which have not come down to us. They considered themselves as one family, and hence the appellation "brethren" was frequent among them. The Greek word "chreematisal" in our Greek text means to appoint by divine direction. Therefore, I hold the view that the name "Christian" was given by divine authority and not in derision. The word occurs only in two other places in the New Testament—Acts 26: 28; 1 Pet. 4: 16.

0 0

Brother Tice Elkins, of 1420 Lipscomb Street, Fort Worth, Texas, is concerned about tithing, and on this subject asks the following questions: (1) "Please give me the best information you possess as to whether tithing would be acceptable to God in the Christian dispensation." (2) "Is it the required manner to give to the support of the cause of Christ in this age?" (3) "Was tithing a part of the law of Moses? If so, was it brought forward into the New Testament age for our practice?"

(1) Tithing is acceptable in the Christian dispensation, provided a man wants to tithe and does it cheerfully. From 1 Cor. 16: 1, 2 we learn: "Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I gave order to the churches of Galatia, so also do ye. Upon the first day of the week let each one of you lay by him in store, as he may prosper, that no collections be made when I come." This shows that each and every Christian is to lay by in store upon the first day of the week as he may prosper. We learn from 2 Cor. 9: 7 that the giver must have a definite purpose and that he must give cheerfully. This passage reads: "Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God leveth a cheerful giver."

(2) In answering the first question, I have already answered the second. No specific manner of giving, to the exclusion of all other methods of giving, is prescribed in the New Testament. As already pointed out, every Christlan is to give cheerfully as God has prospered him.

(3) Tithing was required by the law of Moses. The New Testament makes no such requirement. For proof of the fact that tithing was required in the law of Moses, it is only necessary to refer to a few scriptures. See Deut. 12: 6, 11, 17; 14: 23, 28; Neh. 10: 38. Many other scriptures might be given, but these are amply sufficient. If Jews gave one-tenth, Christians should do as well, and, it seems to me, even better, as they enjoy greater light, greater privileges, and greater blessings.

0 0 0

A sister who does not wish her name revealed asks as to the meaning of 1 Pet. 4: 1, 2. The passage reads: "Forasmuch then as Christ suffered in the flesh, arm ye yourselves also with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin; that ye no longer should live the rest of your time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God." The point on which she wishes information is whether "he" in verse 1 refers to Christ.

No, it does not. Christians must have the same mind that Christ had and must show a willingness to suffer in order to do the will of God. The Christian who does this has ceased from sin. Having the Spirit of Christ and being dead to sin, he is freed from sin. Suffering with Christ leads all Christians to cease from connection with sin.

The same sister inquires to know if a woman can worship scripturally in her home by reading, praying, and partaking of the emblems with her husband and son, when they insist on her taking the lead, claiming they are not competent.

Of course, there is no specific teaching bearing directly upon this subject in the Bible. Our conclusion must be reached on general principles of the word of God. As it appears to me, the first duty of this sister is to get her husband to take the lead in worship. God made man the head of the family, and, being the head of the family, he should assume the rôle of leader in worship. The husband and son are just as competent to lead in the worship as they are to participate in it. I think that with the proper effort our sister will be able to show them this. Has the husband refused to give thanks at the table? If so, he should not. It is no more difficult to give thanks at the Lord's table, or should not be, than it is to give thanks at his own table. I think the sister should persist in seeking to get her husband and son to do their duty; and when they give thanks at the table and hand around the emblems, they are simply doing what God requires them to do. I believe I would put this to them as their duty, and not as leading in the worship. The woman should not be deprived of worshiping God because men refuse to honor or obey him.

0 0 0

Mrs. W. A. Rainey, of Cottage Grove, Tenn., inquires to know to what church the premier of England belongs.

He is a member of the church of Christ, as has already been given out through the columns of this paper.

JOURNEYINGS OFTEN

By B. C. GOODPASTURE.

"What thou seest, write, . . and send it to the churches."

An Explanation.

Hereafter the increasing number of churches visited may compel me to condense these reports concerning the doings and plans of the various congregations. This will enable me to keep the writing up with the journeying, and, when it seems proper, occasionally advert to a subject of an entirely different nature.

McMinnville.

Sandy Jones preached in the courthouse in McMinnville almost a century ago. He was a pioneer of "the faith." His labors marked the beginning of the congregation. Later the work grew and became permanent under the preaching of such men as Jesse L. Sewell, David Lipscomb, and T. B. Larimore. Among those who have preached regularly for the congregation are Philip Harsh, F. W. Smith, Price Billingsley, Fred Cowin, T. B. Clark, and H. T. King, who now lives and ministers there. Much of the teaching has been done by the elders who were "apt to teach." The bishops of the church at the present time are: H. L. Walling, I. T. Thurman, W. S. Lively, A. J. Trail, and Thomas Mason. The deacons are: R. G. Hutchins, K. F. Potter, Jesse Walling, W. F. Arledge, Thomas Biles, and J. J. Walker. During the past year the McMinnville brethren contributed to David Lipscomb College, Tennesseo Orphans' Home, and local protracted meetings and charities. For this year they have planned to establish one new congregation according to New Testament teaching and strengthen a number of others in semidestitute places. Using the language of one of the leading members, they are "working on the basis of a county-seat-town congregation with a county-wide conscience." McMinnville is the home of Price Billingsley and his splendid paper, the Gospel Advance. I was in McMinnville on Tuesday, January 13, and spent the night in the hospitable home of H. T. King, Brother King and and Miss Nettie Drake made it possible for me to secure a long list of new subscribers.

* * *

Sparta.

I reached Sparta on January 14. There is no record of the planting of the church at Sparta prior to the Civil War, yet from other sources of information it is known that the "plea for the restoration of apostolic Christianity" was presented there at an early date and that a small band of disciples met to worship before 1840. They worshiped in an old brick schoolhouse until 1893. During that year the house in which they worship at present was erected. The beloved and lamented Brother Sutton preached the first sermon in the new house on the third Lord's day in March. 1893. The present membership is about two hundred. The church has never been disturbed over modern innovations. The congregation has built and bought, together, five meetinghouses in the county. D. Lipscomb, E. G. Sewell, Dr. T. W. Brents, and J. M. Kidwill were called to labor for the church in the early days after the war. Brother Kidwill labored more than the others, and his efforts were especially fruitful. Brother Elam followed Brother Kidwill and did a great work, adding through his preaching more than fifty members during one meeting. In 1890 W. H. Sutton moved to Sparta, where he lived until his death fifteen years ago. J. D. Gunn has lived in Sparta since 1899. He labored some with the congregation, but now devotes most of his time to evangelistic work. J. A. Harding, T. B. Larimore, F. B. Srygley, F. W. Smith, J. W. Shepherd, J. E. B. Ridley, J. D. Gunn, and M. C. Kurfees have held successful meetings for the church.

000

Cookeville.

There has been a church of Christ in Cookeville since 1875. It was established by S. G. Staughter. The work grew rapidly, and now the congregation is among the largest in the "Upper Cumberland" section of Middle Tennessee. Among those who have been instrumental in building up the work to its present strength may be named H. A. Elam, J. C. McQuiddy, T. Q. Martin, S. H. Hall, H. Lee Boles, E. P. Watson, C. R. Nichol, T. B. Larimore, W. H. Sutton, W. L. Karnes, and J. W. Dunn. This congregation will support a number of mission meetings this fall in addition to the regular meetings in town. The first of these meetings will be conducted by F. O. Hewell, of Obion, Tenn., beginning on the third Sunday in March; the second will be conducted by H. H. Adamson, of Lewisburg, Tenn., beginning on the second Sunday in August. Recently the brethren bought a nice, comfortable home for the preacher. Charles L. Talley now occupies the house and preaches for the congregation. The elders are: T. J. Gregory, T. D. Ford, R. E. L. Profitt, and S. Hayden Young. Those who "serve as deacons" are: J. M. Hatfield, D. C. Wilhite, L. P. Shanks, Sam Pendergrass, A. K. Fox, R. L. Maddex, and Jere Whitson. 0 0 0

A Hopeful Sign.

The three congregations to which I have given attention are among the oldest, largest, and strongest in the State. Their age, size, and strength are, in a great measure, attributable to the missionary work they have done in planting the cause in "the regions beyond." A working church will be a living and growing church. All these congregations have planned to do more this year, and it is a hopeful sign.

Attention, Readers!

To every one who sends us two new subscribers to the Gospel Advocate we will give a "Teachers' New Testament." This is a very popular edition of the New Testament with notes and helps suitable for Sunday-school workers and Bible students. "The notes and helps were prepared by a joint editorial board of the foremost biblical scholars in the world. The introductions were written by men of international reputation. The text is that of the American Standard Version-the latest translation-with proper names marked for pronunciation and the words of Christ emphasized in heavy-faced type." This is the book for the family circle, home study, and Bible class. If you want to get the Testament in connection with your own renewal or one new subscriber, add fifty cents to the regular price of the paper. Send your order to-day to the Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. 0 0 0

To be still searching what we know not, by what we know, still closing up truth to truth as we find it (for all her body is homogeneal and proportional)—this is the golden rule in theology as well as in arithmetic, and makes up the best harmony in a church—not the forced and outward union of cold and neutral and inwardly divided minds.—John Milton.

GOSPEL ADVOCATE

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite orders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that affect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask you postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed, which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and henorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter. Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

Money Matters.

BY T. B. LARIMORE.

"Money makes the mare go" is an old, old adage, and that money may sometimes make the man go is unquestionably true; but I am not disposed to discuss this proposition, notwithstanding I might possibly do so without sawing the limb off between me and the tree.

Some preachers may have had stranger financial experiences than I have had, and more of them; but I have had some that seem somewhat strange to me, and my making mention of a few of them may do good-and that is why I mention them.

Before I relate any of my financial experiences, however, I must say, in sincerity and in truth, I have neither right, reason, nor inclination to murmur or complain. I have lived in this beautiful, wonderful world nearly seventy-seven years, preaching the gospel fully fifty-five of these seventy-seven years, and nearly everybody has nearly always treated me well-many, delightfully. Indeed, I have been treated with such marked kindness, courtesy, and consideration by almost everybody, nearly everywhere and all the time, that I feel under obligation to all.

> "But, then, you know, There will be briers where berries grow," as the following little recital may show.

A prosperous banker, who was the controlling spirit in the congregation, or church of Christ, of which he was a member, took me to his bank next morning after the close of a successful series of meetings which had added many members to his church, to pay me, he said, for my preaching. As he handed me one hundred dollars he said: "I know, and all of us know, that is not half pay for your services. You are justly entitled to at least two hundred dollars for what you have done for us and for the cause here—and that is a low estimate; but we owe four hundred dellars on our meetinghouse yet, and we think it is our duty to be just rather than generous, when we cannot be both—that we ought to pay what we owe before we try to establish a reputation for generosity and liberality."

Now, what did that brother banker's little speech mean? It simply meant this: "We are going to hold you up, under a pretense or pretext of justice, and rob you-make you pay one-fourth of our church debt." That's exactly what it meant. Still, that preacher was poor, that church was rich. After reading this, you may not be astonished, startled, or surprised when I tell you the penitentiary has, since then, collected toll from that self-same bank.

Chickens may not always come home to roost, but they did that time; and that's the rule; "as saith the scriptures." "Be sure your sin will find you out." The church-debt pretext for not paying the preacher is a standing joke, but a very serious one, especially among preachers. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Reasonable compensation for my services in a certain prosperous city had been collected, and the "official board" was about to hand it to me, when a member of that board seriously suggested that the money should be applied on their church debt instead of being paid to me. Strange to say, another member of the board approved the suggestion. The Christian gentlemen on the board, however, finally succeeded in effecting a compromise by which I received part of what had been publicly contributed and collected expressly for me.

A devout disciple of Christ, my devoted friend, left among her personal effects when she passed away two fivedollar gold pieces. During my first meeting there after her departure, her brother and sister gave me that gold, saying: "We want you to have it, and we know she would want you to have it, if she were here; but don't mention it. If you do, the brethren will deduct that much from the little they expect to give you for this meeting. We know them, and we know they'll do it."

At what the brethren who handled the funds probably considered the psychological moment that suited their purpose best, they began the probe with which every preacher who has evangelized much is familiar: "We want to know whether anybody here has given you anything, and, if so, how much." "Twelve dollars and thirty cents," I said. "Well," said the spokesman of the committee, "we'll just give you thirty-seven dollars, then. We intended to give you fifty, and that's about it."

At the end of a hard meeting in a hard place, which I reached by a long, hard journey, "a certain rich man, who fared sumptuously every day," who also managed and manipulated money matters for the church of Christ in his community, asked me for an estimate of the amount of my traveling expenses for the round trip, saying: "We want to pay all your expenses and something more." I gave him an approximate estimate of the cost of the trip, and he handed me that sum and a little more, saying: "I'm sorry that's the best we can do for you; but we are simply a few of the Lord's poor."

I kept account of every penny spent on my return trip, and reported it to him. Twice that sum was about ten dollars less than he had allowed in his estimate. He requested me to send him the ten. I sent it, he received it, and that ended the story of my work there.

"How much did the brethren give you for your meeting at ——?" asked a good friend and brother. "A dollar and fifty cents," I replied. When the brother to whom the money for me had been intrusted was interviewed on the subject, he said: "O, yes! I had entirely forgotten that. I just gave him that dollar and a half, myself, put the other into my safe, and had not thought of it since."

From another place came the question: "How much did the brethren contribute to your support here?" My reply was: "Nothing." Then came a liberal contribution from that church, with the following explanation: "We have just learned that our church treasurer, like Judas of old, is a thief. That's why we wrote you relative to remuneration for your work here."

Such thefts, or peculations, on the part of a few of the trusted servants of the church should not cause any one to repudiate the church, however. There are spots on the surface of the sun and the moon; but we should all appreciate the sun, that gives light by day, and the moon, that reflects light by night, nevertheless. Moreover, the theft, or peculation, of one should never be allowed to cause us to be suspicious or doubtful of another—of course, never.

Love "thinketh no evil," and Christians are taught to "love one another with a pure heart fervently."

Remember the Tennessee Orphans' Home. By J. C. m'q.

In recent years the Gospel Advocate has especially encouraged caring for the fatherless and helpless. readers of this paper during the last two years have been very liberal in contributing to the Armenian, Syrian, and Poland relief funds. While thousands have been dying for the want of food, our readers have not turned a deaf ear, but during the past two years have contributed at least thirty thousand dollars to the relief of suffering children in foreign lands. While they have been doing this, they have also been mindful of orphans at home. They have contributed liberally to the support of the Fanning Orphan School and also to the Tennessee Orphans' Home. They have very largely maintained these two homes from their beginning until the present time. During the last two years the readers of the Gospel Advocate have contributed considerably over thirty thousand dollars to the Tennessee Orphans' Home alone. While engaged in the feeding, clothing, and educating of the orphans, they have also given of their means to help their work in Syria, Japan, and other foreign fields, besides remembering the work in Colorado and other destitute fields in our own country.

This is as it should be. Christians should do much constructive work. It is not sufficient simply to pray for those who are in need. God shows his people that they must act justly, love kindness, and walk humbly before him. If a number of children were on an island surrounded by water, the water constantly rising and almost ready to flow over the island, it would be wicked and vain for Christians simply to fall on their knees and pray for their deliverance instead of sending out lifeboats and other means by which the children could be rescued. Too many Christians, however, act in this way. While I have no disposition to belittle prayer and while I am firm in the conviction that God hears and answers prayer, yet I am also firm in the conviction that we must work as we pray, if we expect an answer to our prayers.

We have more children in the Tennessee Orphans' Home than we have ever had before. The demand is constantly increasing. Those in charge of the institution have had to decline many children because our means have not been sufficient to care for more. While I say this, I must also say that the churches have been exceptionally liberal and generous in the support of this work. An appeal has never been made to which they did not cheerfully respond. It is needless to suggest that constant repairs must be made on the building and that living costs are getting higher and higher every day. It takes more now to feed the children and more to keep the building in proper condition than it has taken in the past; hence, of necessity, we must have larger contributions than we have had heretofore.

I simply suggest this, believing that to suggest it is all that is necessary. I have faith in God to believe that he will put it into the hearts of his faithful children to remember the helpless orphans, for he is "a father of the fatherless, and a judge of the widows." He has remembered to bless and prosper his children so that they will be abundantly able to amply provide for helpless children. It may be that the Lord sometimes fails to give to his children because they are so niggardly that they will not use wisely the gifts with which he has intrusted them. "But this I say, He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully. Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God leveth a cheerful giver. And God is able to make all grace abound unto you; that ye, having always all sufficiency in everything, may abound unto every good work." (2 Cor. 9: 6-8.) The wise man, Solomon, also says: "There is that scattereth, and increaseth yet more; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth only to want." (Prov. 11: 24.)

It is not necessary to persuade Christians to fellowship this work of feeding, housing, and caring for orphans. All those who engage in such work have experienced to their own joy that it is far better to give than to receive and that the greatest happiness comes to them whenever they engage in such work.

This is a time when people are spending large sums of money and when many are spending much on themselves—much that is not actually needed, but which is spent to gratify simply some whim or notion. I say without fear of contradiction that those of our readers who are really the most liberal in supporting the helpless enjoy life more than those who live simply for themselves.

The first Lord's day in April is the day that we take up a special contribution for the Tennessee Orphans' Home. As the demands are heavy upon us, we are asking Christians all over the country to make a liberal contribution upon this day and to forward the contributions direct to the Tennessee Orphans' Home, Columbia, Tenn. Churches, in making their contributions, should remember that a liberal contribution will be needed to carry us until the time when we will call for another regular contribution. Place yourselves in the position of the orphans and then do to them as you would be done by under similar circumstances. In making your gifts, place yourselves in the hands of God and dare look up to him and say: "Make use of me for the future as thou wilt. I am of the same mind, I am one with thee. I refuse nothing which seems good to thee. Lead me whither thou wilt; clothe me in whatever dress thou wilt." Humbly look up to God; make yourself the person on whom he will impose great responsi bilities and great duties.

Rearing Children According to the Bible.

BY E. A. E.

We must note the distinction between things that differ. A public school and all other schools, with their entertainments, are not the church. Some kinds of concerts and entertainments in school are perfectly right, but they would not be in the worship of God.

The thing to do is this: The teachers and directors of all schools, having the care and development of children on their hands and hearts, should see that no wrong principle is inculcated, that nothing of questionable propriety is engaged in, and that no law of the land is in any way violated. Above all things, children must be taught obedience to law. Since raffling is contrary to the law, schools should not encourage it. Jig dancing, which the circular sent to me mentions, is not dignified and elevating, and the "womanless marriage" cannot inspire people with the sanctity of marriage. Still, some schools will have such entertainments. But I can see no reason for the church to divide over such. Some may not attend, but they cannot disfellowship the ones who do attend. This is not the way to proceed. The church must live and love and work and worship as God directs. The church has no jurisdiction over a public school, whose directors may be worldly and ungodly men. But should any school require of Christians or of their children the practice of anything contrary to the will of God, they should withdraw from the school. But the difference of judgment on the character of an entertainment would not be sufficient ground of withdrawal, especially when there is hope of improvement. In wise counsel and prayer the church should come to one heart and soul first on such a question, and then enter its protest against wrong teaching and evil practices.

Worse than undignified entertainments and small raffles is the incipient infidelity taught in some textbooks in some public schools as well as in schools higher up. If our children are taught infidelity, worldliness, and other things contrary to the Bible, then all Christians should protest and see that they are properly taught.

1 Tim, 5: 20 refers to rebuking elders who have been convicted of wrongdoing, for the preceding verse says: Against an elder receive not an accusation, except at the mouth of two or three witnesses." The elder or elders must first be accused of wrongdoing, and this accusation must be established by a sufficient number of competent witnesses before the rebuke is to be administered. Then all, whether elders or not, when the time comes, are to be reproved, rebuked, and exhorted "with all long-suffering and teaching." Granting that church members have been guilty of wrongdoing and have been overtaken in faults, those "who are spiritual" are to restore such "in a spirit of gentleness, looking to "themselves, lest they "also be tempted." (Gal. 6: 1.)

Does the Spirit of Christ or the spirit of the devil cause divisions? Evidently the spirit of the devil. It is the devil's delight to sow the seeds of strife, contention, bitterness, and division among the people of God. I have seen him divide a church over an election, over a lawsuit, over a preacher's vanity or mistakes; and new here is a case of confessed division over the entertainments of a public school.

The church—the body of Christ—should not allow the devil to divide it at all; and the devil can never divide it so long as all obey God. Evidently all do not know what obedience to God is, or, knowing, willfully disobey him. Of course, there can never be unity and peace where some disobey God. God commands all to make an effort—to give diligence—"to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace." He shows that this can be done only in self-denial by waiving personal rights; certainly not by forcing these rights and opinions upon the church. Read Rom. 14 and 15 to verse 8; also, 1 Cor. 8 and 10.

Wherefore, if meat causeth my brother to stumble, I will eat no flesh forever more, that I cause not my brother to stumble.

Give no occasion of stumbling, either to Jews, or to Greeks, or to the church of God; even as I also please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit [the good, or salvation] of the many.

Let us study these scriptures and obey God in doing what they teach. Not only must the church "be at peace among" themselves, but they must seek the good and salvation of the race—of both Jews and Gentiles; and they must do this by surrendering their "own profit"—comfort, personal rights, preferences, opinions, etc. How few are ready to obey God just here!

Too many have been led to think that when Jesus prayed that his disciples may all be one, as he and God are one, and when Paul says to give "diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace," they mean that by some sort of compromise Pharisees and Sadducees and Herodians at that time and now all religious denominations must get together in some sort of federation or huge organization. But not so. Here it is, and here is the way to keep this unity and peace:

I therefore, the prisoner in the Lord, beseech you to walk worthily of the calling wherewith ye were called, with all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, for-bearing one another in love; giving diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body, and one Spirit, even as also ye were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all, and in all. (Eph. 4: 1-6.)

In order to obey God here, nothing in this passage can be left out. Who can doubt but that much strife and bitterness and division have come because many have woefully come short in "lowliness and meekness," in "long-suffering, forbearing one another in love?" Who can doubt that many have failed, if they have not openly refused, "to walk worthity" of this high and holy calling?

Here it is again:

That ye be of the same mind, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind; doing nothing through faction or through vainglory, but in lowliness of mind each counting other better than himself; not looking each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others. (Phil, 2: 1-11.)

Do we know really what it is to count others better than ourselves? We may know what it is to count ourselves wiser and better and more holy than others. Do we really know what it is to have the mind of Christ, to practice the self-denial of our own pleasure and wills and to suffer as he did? Do we really know, or care to know, what it is and what it means to "be of the same mind," to have "the same love," to "be of one accord," to do nothing—absolutely nothing—"through faction or through vainglory?" We must obey God in these as well as in all other commands or perish,

And again:

Who is wise and understanding among you? let him show by his good life his works in meekness of wisdom. But if ye have bitter jealousy and faction in your heart, glory not and lie not against the truth. This wisdom not a wisdom that cometh down from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish. For where jealousy and faction are, there is confusion and every vile deed. But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without variance, without hypocrisy. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace for them that make peace. (James 3: 13-18.)

Have not all seen in this "earthly, sensual, devilish" wisdom, strife, division, slander, jealousy, lying, hypocrisy, confusion, and every vile deed? There can be no factions and divisions in a congregation without producing some or all of these vile deeds.

It is very clear, too, that some may contend for the right in the main in a dogmatic and partisan spirit, just as some in Paul's day preached the gospel "even of envy and strife." (Phil. 1: 15-17.)

Again, have all on one side of a contention or division the Spirit of Christ, and all on the other side the spirit of the devil? Hardiv.

Is not a lack of reverence for God's word a widespread evil and the mother sin of many others? Until we all fear God, tremble at his word, and will to do his will, we cannot come to the knowledge of the truth, unity and peace, and salvation.

Who Are Certain of Eternal Life? BY E. G. S.

This question is plainly answered in the New Testament. When I was a boy, many people spoke of the religion learned from the Bible as "a mere book religion," and claimed that such a religion would not save people; but the truth of the matter is, there is no religion that will save people except that which is recorded in the New Testament. That is the only religion given to us by direct revelation from heaven.

The religion of the New Testament is not something to be got in a mystical sort of way, but something to be learned and done by those that would be saved. Hence, all that want to be saved must learn and do the things that are required in the New Testament. The New Testament says; "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." (Mark 16: 16.) That means all that believe on Christ as the Son of God, and that he was crucified, buried, and raised from the dead, shall be saved. The death, burial, and resurrection of Christ constitute the facts of the gospel plan of salvation, and no one can be saved who refuses to believe these facts. If Christ had said that all that get religion shall be saved, it would have been a very different thing; but he never said one word about getting religion. The whole matter of getting religion is human; not a thing is said about it in the New Testament. It is a matter of human wisdom, or, rather, a matter of human impulse, with nothing divine about it. If God had said, "He that believes and gets religion shall be saved," then it would be our business to accept it just that way; but he did not, and we have no right to teach it that way. It is adding to the word of God to do so; and his word makes it very plain what will be our doom if we do that. Therefore we should be very careful to avoid things that are in any sense wrong. There is always a right way to do things that ought to be done. If we are called upon to do things that in our judgment are wrong, better do nothing than to do wrong. We may sometimes make mistakes in our judgment as to what is wrong, but it is not likely to happen often that way if we think before we act. If we study the word of God and find out what is right, we will not be likely to make many mistakes; but if we neglect the word of God and act upon our own judgment, we are likely to make many mistakes. It is a grand thing to always do right and avoid wrong.

Those that depend on getting religion to save them and fall to do the things that are required in the New Testament will be lost, no matter what else they may do. Besides, it is more difficult to do things men have invented than it is to do what the New Testament requires. The Lord knew what men could do and what they could not do, and he never required them to do things that were beyond their power to do. All men that are responsible can believe the gospel as required in the word of God, or the Lord never would have said: "He that believeth not shall be damned." He knew they could repent, or he never would have said: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." If sinners that hear the gospel do not repent, they will be certain to perish, to be eternally lost.

It seems strange that people in Bible lands will put off salvation till death comes. There is no intimation that any man can obey the gospel after death. Why, then, should not all repent while they live? If men could put off death, it would not be so dangerous to put off obedience to the gospel; but that is impossible. Hence, all should become Christians and lead a Christian life until death comes in order to be safe. No one can enjoy the hope of eternal life until he becomes a Christian and faithfully lives the Christian life. Heaven is promised to no others.

To live such a life makes one happy here and prepares him for a happy life in eternity, but to neglect Christianity exposes one to a dark and gloomy life here and opens the way to be cast into eternal ruin after death. Why, then, will people put off the only thing that can prepare them for death and for a home in heaven throughout eternity?

Special Numbers for 1920.

Actuated by a desire to do the greatest amount of good possible and encouraged by expressions of encouragement from hundreds of our readers, the publishers of the Gospel Advocate are planning to issue some unusually fine special numbers during the current year. Heretofore the special numbers have engaged the earnest study and evoked the best thought of editors and contributors. The forthcoming numbers will be no exception. In fact, we wish to improve them in every way possible. Readers may look for the "Spiritual" Number to appear in April. Ours is a spiritual service. We are taught to worship God "in spirit and in truth;" to be "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." When we pray, we are to "pray with the spirit and with the understanding." The same rule applies to singing. It shall be our purpose to emphasize the true spiritualism of the New Testament, that it may prove a counteraction to a great wave of another kind of "spiritualism" that is now sweeping the country.

Every reader should have a part in the dissemination of these numbers. They always create a good impression when placed in the hands of new readers. Send us your order for a new subscription to-day. Help us to make a success of the special numbers by extending their circulation.

Publishers Gospel Advocate.

Relief Fund.

Church at Largo, Fla	66
Mrs. M. E. Fields, Palestine, Texas 1.
L. A. McKeel, Murray, Ky 5.	00
Church at Moulton, Ala	50
"A Sister in Christ" (no address given) 1.
John A. Hoomes, Brooklyn, Ala 2.	AT OFFICE
Members of Bethel congregation, Greenwood, Tenn. 7.	270751
The T of the transferation, Greenwood, Jenn. 7.	70.00
Mrs. J. D. Glenn, Lebanon, Tenn 5.	00
Two sisters of Little Mountain Church, Tennessee 7.	00
"A Friend," Allensville, Ky 5.	00
Church at Bear Creek, Ala
Church at Itasca, Texas
Sunday school at Charleston, Miss 16.
Church at Albany, Texas 10.	0.0
K. D. Stanord, Cushing, Okla	00
Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Warren, Bells, Tenn 2.	750700
Mrs. A. E. Perry, Colfax, La 5.	UU

It is difficult for us in America to fully conceive the conditions of a people in an actually starving condition—that is, large numbers of people who are unable through any channels to lay their hands upon sufficient food to sustain life. Such has been and to a certain extent still remains the situation among the Poles and other destitute in the region under survey. People do not, in a well-fed country like ours, ordinarily snatch up apple or potato parings or similar refuse, including individual crumbs, if they are not hungry. Likewise they will not go miles to spend several days regleaning the fields already gleaned unless under serious stress for food. Nor will they under normal circumstances make grass a principal source of diet.

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. I should be glad if more of the contributions were designated for use in providing for orphans in this country, since there are constant appeals from destitute families close to us. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

THIS YOUR CASE?

What You Should Do-Most Successful and Economical Treatment.

Do you have a feeling of general weakness day in and out? Is your appetite poor? Does your food fail strengthen you and your sleep to refresh? Do you find it hard to do or to bear what should be easy? Have your ordinary duties and cares become great tasks and burdens?

If so, take Hood's Sarsaparillathis great medicine revitalizes the blood, gives vigor and tone to all the organs and functions, and is unequalled for those who are in any degree debilitated or run down. Do not delay treatment-begin it today.

To rouse the torpid liver and regulate the bowels take Hood's Pills. They are purely vegetable.

Free Reliner With Each Tire
in ordering be sure to state size wanted, also whether s. s. clincher, plain or non-skid. Send $2.00 deposit on each tire, balance C. o. D. subject to examination; 5 per cent discount if you send full amount with order. Rush you creter today.
Reliable Tire and Rubher Co.
3440 Michigan Ave. Chicago, III.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton: S C

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

"What a Pity!"

BY F. P. FONNER.

A writer in the Gospel Advocate of February 26 tells us that there was but one mission meeting held in his county last year, and that the converts made in that meeting have not been cared for; at least, that is the plain inference. Well, that is not unusual. That very thing has been going on in some sections of our country for a long time, and yet we claim to be a very missionary people. This brother informs us that the place where these converts were made is only about four miles from a certain city church. T guess history is repeating itself at that point. The brother seems to think that such mission points should be supported and cared for by the home church. Is he right? Most certainly he is. The home church seems to be interested in mission work to some extent, but it is a long ways from home. Why should any congregation be more interested in foreign mission work than it is in necessary mission work on home territory? The writer says: "We prefer sending our money to India to build up Adventism and other isms. What a pity!" This is certainly too bad, when we remember that many of our home workers are held back from the Lord's work because they have no means. In some instances good and true men in America are made to suffer in consequence. It is no wonder that the writer of that note exclaims, "What a pity!" It seems that the very depths of his soul have been stirred by this apparent injustice. While the Martin and McHenry defection is a terrible thing, we must attach no blame to innocent persons who have supported the work in far-off India. But when good, true men are selected by the churches for the work in India, if that time ever comes, then we must stand by them to the full extent of our financial ability. In the meantime we must do more real mission work at home and among our own people. If those churches and individuals formerly engaged in the India work will look around, they can find plenty of mission work to do nearer home. There are houses of worship to be built for our poorer brethren; there are little, discouraged, and persecuted bands of disciples to be nursed until they show some signs of spiritual life; there are old members of the church of God in destitute circumstances whose needs must be supplied; there are millions of people in America who have never heard the pure word of God, and they must hear it; there are old preachers who have given their whole lives in the interest of others, and they must be cared for.

Let us attend to these matters now, while the fog over in India is being dissipated, as it will be in time. Let us be careful that this fog does not settle down and becloud our own minds. Let us do mission work as indicated above, and all may yet be well for us.

To Fortify the System Against Grip Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets which destroy germs, act as a Tonic and Laxative, and thus prevent Colds, Grip and Influenza. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box.

What Is Grace?

1. It includes that original goodness and favor by which God inclines to fallen man, with the consequent steps which, in the counsels of God, were necessary for man's salvation. This is the grace of God's undeserved favor.

2. The term "grace" includes the revelation of this mystery, the declaring to man the word of life. This is the grace of outward instruction.

3. The term "grace" includes that supernatural gift to man whereby he is enabled to embrace the salvation provided and offered; and this is nothing else than the working of the Holy Spirit on the hearts of men. This is the grace of inward sanctification. The first is the wellspring of all good; the second, the appointed instrument of good; the third, that which gives effect to the instrument.

The first grace is for all mankind; the second, for those who live under the sound of the gospel; the third, for the "elect people of God," who shall be eventually saved .- J. H. Blunt.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Mag-azine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)-People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

ANTI-FLAMMA

Poultice Plaster. A soothing anti-septic Poultice. Heals Leg Sores. Draws out poisons, stops itching septic Poultice. Heals Leg Sores, Draws out poisons, stops itching around sores, and heals while you work. Write to-day, describing case, and get Free Sample. Bayles Distributing Co., 18th and Grand Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by Euro-pean and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U.S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four tenspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is re-lieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children .- Adv.)

Makes low necks and short sleeves possible. It clears the skin

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Electric Vitalizer

Men and women, if you hre
in a weaken od, run-down condition, get my 'Electric Belt,' For Weakness,
Neryous Debility, Rhemmalism. Backache, Ridney and Bladder Troubles, postpaid Dr. Frank M. Weich, Atlanta, Ga.

OBITUARIES

The angel of death visited the old The angel of death visited the old homestead on Wednesday morning, January 28, 1920, and bore away the spirit of Jesse W. Thomas. He was eighty-seven years old. He is survived by a wife and six children, thirteen grandchildren, thirteen grandchildren, several nephews and nicees, and a bost of friends. He was a seen and a host of friends. He was a con-sistent member of the church of Christ and a splendid example of true Christianity. "By their fruits ye shall know them." The fruits of love and kindness borne by him were characteristic of his sweet, gentle nature. He was a loving father, true and kind, and is sadly missed by wife and children-

Grayson.

Our beloved friend, Mr. C. A. Grayson, has passed away, leaving a widow and one child about fifteen wifow and one cuit about inteen years old, besides his many relatives and friends, to mourn his death. He was born on July 5, 1843, and died on January 23, 1920. He was a good, true, honest man in every respect. As a member of the church, he was a member of the church, he was a contribution of the church. faithful in all its work. He was as a father to me. Being an orphan, I made their home mine for some time. He was kind and loving, and his mem-ory is fondly cherished by his many friends. He was an ex-Confederate soldier and a well-known citizen Huntsville, Ala. Brother T. C. Little, of Fayetteville, Tenn., held funeral services at the church of Christ at Huntsville, and the remains were buried at Maple Hill cemetery,

CORENE PATTON.

McCord.

Brother P. G. McCord was born, in Marshall County, Tenn., on February 27, 1853, and departed this life on November 29, 1919, being sixty-six years, nine months, and two days old. He was baptized when a young man, by Brother Jim Morton, and lived an earnest, Christian life: Very seldom did he miss the assembly on the first day of the week. While he was no public speaker, he constantly taught a class. He was kind and accommodatwas always willing to sacrifice self for the good of others. ence for good was great in the community. He will be missed in the home, community, and church. He leaves four children and thirteen grand-children, and was much devoted to his family. Quite a number of friends and loved ones mourn his loss; but they mourn not as those who have no hope. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." GEORGE W. GRAVES.

Bean.

On December 7, 1919, at the home of her son, J. M. Bean, near Red Boiling Springs, Tenn., the spirit of Sister Margarette Bean took its flight into the realms of the great beyond. She

To abort a cold and prevent complications, take

The purified and refined calomel tablets that are nausealess, safe and sure.

Medicinal virtues retained and improved. Sold only in sealed packages. Price 35c.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys Feel Like Lead or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean; and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney re-gion get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithla, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Removesbandruff StopellairFailing Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
50c, and 51.00 at draggists.
Hiscox Chem. Was. Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Cal-louses, etc., stops at pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy, be, by mail or at Drug-gists. His cox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

A tonic laxative containing from in organic form for regulating the digestive organs and building robust health with pure, from strong red blood. 25c s box.

For eczema, liver splotches and other itching skin eruptions use "Skin Success" Scap and Ointment in conjunction with tablets. A wonderful combination for good health and good looks. Ask your drugglst. Samples on request.

THE MORGAN DRUG CO.,

1521 Atlantic Ave. Brooklyn, New York City

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

had been an invalid for several years, but bronchial pneumonia was the immediate cause of her death. She was in her seventy-third year, and had been a devoted member of the church of Christ for more than thirty years, and was loved and respected by all who knew her. She was the mother of nine children, all of whom survive her, except one daughter, who preceded her a few years. She lived to see her children all married and with families of their own. All of the living were with her when the end came, except one daughter, Mrs. W. P. Freeman, of Gallatin, Tenn., who was too ill to Gallatin, Tenn., who was too ill to leave her home. Funeral services were conducted by Brother J. M. Pat-terson, after which her body was laid to rest in the Whitley Cemetery at Red Boiling Springs, there to await the resurrection morn.

J. E. JACKSON.

Carter.

Nannie Campbell, wife of the late James A. Carter, was born on March 4, 1843, and passed from this into a better world on January 6, 1919. Sister and Brother Carter were married on October 18, 1859, and to this union were born eleven children, eight of whom are living—John W., Alford C., Wallace H., Booker, and Frank, and Mesdames James Rose and Charles Hoke, of Tennessee, and James I., of Texas. Sister Carter, within a few weeks of her parting with dear ones on earth, was a regular attendant of the Sunday school and church. We miss the well-poised, stately, sweetfaced elderly sister, and as time goes by we shall miss her more. Too, her famous hospitality and brilliant conversation we have no more. But to the bereaved children we would say: Weep not as do those who have no hope; for to all those who are faithful is promised a crown of life. And we shall see our loved and own when we, too, have finished the course, fought the good fight, and passed into life eternal. Funeral services from the family residence, conducted by the writer of this. H. I. COPELAND.

Recipe for Gray Hair.

To half a pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbe Compound, and one-fourth of an ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Advt.

SWAMP-is not recommended

ROOT.

fs not recommended for everything; but if you have kidney, liver or shadder trouble it may be found just the medicine you need. At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may receive a sample size bottle of this reliable medicine by Parcel Post, also pamphlet telling about it.

Address Dr. Klimer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

EVERY MARRIED COUPLE

and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete book of life, such as the Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, so often revealed too late. No book like it to be had at any price, 1008 pages—bound in cloth. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life, History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, etc.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for 5 dimes, to introduce book to readers of this paper. Address Medical Press, 640 % Washington St., Buffalo, N.Y.

CABBAGE PLANTS

Fulwood's frost-proof plants ready for immediate shipment; varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices: By express, 1,000 to 4,000, at $2.25 per 1,000; 5,000 and over, at $2. By parcel post, prepaid, 100 for 50c, 500 for $1.75, 1,000 for $3. Orders shipped promptly; satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. P. D. FULWOOD, Tifton, Ga.

Try This for Your Health

For diseases which do not readily yield to drug treatment, such as chronic dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism, uric-acid polsoning, and diseases of the kidneys, bladder, and liver, the best physicians send their wealthy patients to the famous mineral springs. Some even spent months at the spas of Europe, and were almost invariably benefited or permanently relieved.

I believe that the Shivar Spring is the greatest mineral spring ever discovered; and I believe it so firmly that I offer to send you enough water for a three-weeks' treatment (two fivegallon demijohns) on my guarantee that if it fails to benefit your case I will refund the price. You would hardly believe me if I told you that only about two out of a hundred, on the average, say that they have re-ceived no benefit. The water is re-storing thousands. It restored my health when my friends and physicians thought my case was incurable, and I am willing and anxious for you to match your faith in the Spring against my pocketbook. If I win, you become a life friend of the Spring; if I lose, I will be sorry for you, but I will appreciate your courtesy in giving the water a trial, and will gladly refund your money on request. Sign the following letter:

Shivar Spring, Box 21E, Shelton, S. C.

Gentlemen: I accept your offer and inclose herewith three dollars for ten gallons of Shivar Mineral Spring Water. I agree to give it a fair trial, in accordance with instructions contained in booklet you will send; and if I report no benefit, you agree to refund the price in full upon the receipt of the two empty demijohns, which I agree to return within a month.

Name

Shipping Point .. (Please write distinctly.)

Address

(Please Write distinctly.)

NOTE.—"I have had the pleasure of serving the little church at Shiver Spring as pastor for years, and am therefore well acquainted with Mr. Shiver and his associates, whom I gladly commend as honorable business men and worthy of the confidence of the public. I have personally derived great benefit from the use of the Shiver Mineral Water, and have knowledge of its beneficial effects in a great number and variety of cases,"—Rev. A. McA. Pittman.

NO JOKE TO BE DEAF

The Master's Vineyard

Illinois.

Watseka, March 1.- I finished my work in Tennessee by preaching three nights last week at Cartwright Station. I would have continued a few nights longer, but a wave of the "flu" had struck that part of the country and there were a good many sick, and the people who were not sick were either taking care of these who were sick or were afraid to get out, and our audiences were small; so I closed on Wednesday night and on Thursday I started homeward. Friday forenoon I spent in the Gospel Advocate office, where I had a fine time with Brethren A. B. Lipscomb, J. C. McQuiddy, F. W. Smith, F. B. Srygley, Brother Oakley, and Brother White. I came on Saturday morning to Clinton, where I met and worshiped with the Fairview congregation on Lord's day; also I preached at night. Coming home on Monday morning, I found my family recovering from quite a severe attack of the influenza. I am now trying to arrange my summer and fall work, and I have some time not arranged for, and would be glad to hear from fields where meetings needed .- Andrew Perry,

Tows

Davenport, February 29.-I am glad to state that our little band is still increasing in numbers. We have grown in six months from two (wife and I) to twenty-six, all told-children and grown people-present to-day. However, as is often the case, our little band is composed mostly of poor pecple. About half of our number are students in school here; hence everything with us is going out and nothing coming in. Others are those who work day by day for a scant living.
Still, we are meeting our running expenses. We have decided, the Lord willing, provided we can get the right man to do the preaching, the right one to lead the song service, and get a good tent and a proper place to locate it, and get the churches and brethren generally interested in this work enough to support the meeting and pay other necessary expenses, to have a meeting in June, 1920, to help us firmly establish the cause here before we have to leave. Our expenses are so great that we may have to leave before we expected to when we came. -J. C. Estes.

Missouri.

Springfield, March 1.—Since writing I have visited the North and South Springfield congregations. I was much pleased with an increased Sunday-night audience at North Side. I was prevented from filling appointments at two other regular places because of influenza conditions, but visited Bona, in Dade County, on the fifth Sunday in February and had a nice meeting. I also preached in the northeast part of the city on Friday night last. While on a business trip I attended the preachers' meeting at Kennett, and had an enjoyable and profitable time. I preached one funeral in February. The brethren often ask me to write them. These monthly letters to our papers are written for that purpose. Brethren, take the papers, and you will get a letter from me, telling just what I am doing, once a month. -M. S. Mason.

Oklahoma.

Holdenville, March 1.—The disciples of Christ here met as an independent body for the first time on February 23, 1919, with a membership of twentyseven. On August 12 following they bought the Latter-Day Saints' church house on South Cedar Street and met for worship in the new house on August 17. Since then twenty-four have been added by relation, making a total of fifty-one. Cash on hand, August 17, $19.17; collections since, $509.28. From this amount the expenses of the church have been met, the remainder being applied on the church debt. About $150 more has been pledged, making a total of $678.45. We are at perfect peace and fellowship with each other. All are invited to visit us. Bible study at 10:30 A.M. each Lord's day; communion, 11:30 A.M. T. H. Wiggs and J. W. Thetford are the elders.—W. P. Jones.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send the paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sincere, nonpartisan, reliable, well-printed in large type. It puts everything clearly, fairly, and briefly. Washington, the home of the Pathfinder, is the nerve center of civilization. His the nerve center of civilization. History is being made at this world capital. The Pathfinder's illustrated weekly review gives you a clear, impartial, and correct diagnosis of public affairs during these strenuous, epoch-making days. It is the only big weekly magazine at the seat of government. Send fifteen cents for thirteen weeks' trial subscription to the Pathfinder, 135 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new friends.

Revelation. No. 4. BY J. J. VANHOUTIN.

The twenty-first chapter tells of a new heaven and a new earth, and the tabernacle of God being with men, and in that tabernacle (or church) death, sorrow, and crying will not be taught. Christianity is far above these things and the evils therein mentioned. Then John describes the great city of God. An angel measured the city; and while he measured like a man would measure, we must count the cubits and furlongs according to the measure of an angel. You get a faint idea of the greatness of an angel over a man by the destroying angel in Egypt. God never intended that man should know the exact size of his city. It is claimed that the measuring reed the angel used was twelve thousand furlongs in length. But even according to our own calculation, and if this world should last a hundred thousand years, and there should be one hundred thousand more worlds, each lasting one hundred thousand years and peopled in proportion to this world, and even if they should all be saved, then there would be over sixteen rooms apiece, and each room sixteen feet square. According to that, every man might have "rooms to let." How inconsistent to speculate upon the wisdom and greatness of God when "his ways are past finding out!" The last chapter tells of the river of the water of life, and the tree of life, and its fruit, which is spiritual food for the soul. Jesus extends an invitation, gives a warning, then a kind parting salutation.

The book of Revelation contains much in strict accordance with the number seven, perhaps because God possesses seven attributes. The name "God" occurs ninety-eight timesthat is, seven times fourteen; "King," "mouth," and "Lord," each three times seven; "star" and "white," each fourteen times; "altar," "kingdom," "patience," "elders," "worthy," "earthquake," "reign," "Jesus," and "Jesus Christ," each occur seven times. Then we have such statements as "seven churches," "seven letters," "seven promises," "seven admonitions," "seven eyes," "seven horns," "seven bowls," "seven candlesticks," "seven seals," "seven thunders," "seven vials of wrath," "seven bless-"seven plagues," "seven ings," and "seven mountains." God's dispensations: From the creation down to the sin of Adam was the first dispensation; from the fall of Adam down to the flood was the second dispensation; from the flood down to the calling of Abraham was the third dispensation; from the calling of Abraham down to Moses was the fourth dispensation; from the giving of the law of Moses down to the coming of Christ was the fifth dispensation; from the oming of Christ and the giving of e gospel down to the present time and on to the future judg-ment da is the sixth dispensation (and we are living in that one); and beyond the judgment day will be the seventh dispensation, an eternal rest for the righteous. But the spirit of God and Magog must first subvert all civil governments, then bring all nations into war. But as I am not versed in demonology, I will let them fight it out without me.

The Strong Withstand The Winter Cold Better Than The Weak

Old people who are feeble and younger people who are weak, will be strengthened and enabled to go through the cold weather by taking GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC, which is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

rritating and pleasant to use. A trial package can be obtained without cost or obligation by writing to the TURNER CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Bristol, Tennessee.

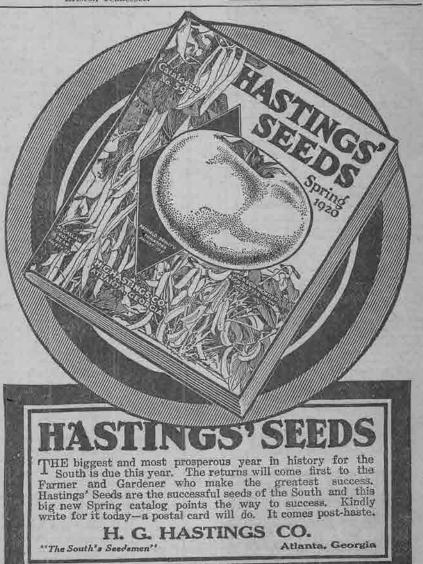

Do to-day's duty, fight to-day's temptation; and do not weaken and distract yourself by looking forward to things which you cannot see, and could not understand if you saw them .--Charles Kingsley.

Hatched 175 Chicks

and not one (lied, writes G. W. Miller, of Pittsburg, Okla. You can do as well. Save your precious, downy chicks. Write to-day to E. J. Reefer, poultry expert. 3253 Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo., for his valuable free poultry book that tells how to make a simple home solution that cures white diarrhoes overnight and saves 38 per cent of every hatch. The book is free. Send for it to-day sure.

You can save money by getting our prices be-fore you huy. Write our nearest factory today. FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS, (Manufactured since 1870) Atlanta, Ga., Brooklyn, N. Y., Dallas, Tex.

Foley's Honey and Tar

IS PLEASANT TO TAKE, and sooths the raw, inflamed surfaces; stops the rasping, strangling feeling in the throat. It is made of the purest, fresh-est and finest ingredients to be had, contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and costs twice as much to make a any imitation of it.

Every User a Friend

Every User a Friend
"My little boy had a severe attack of croup and I knoselly believe he would have died if it had not been for Folcy's Honey and Tar. Two doses relieved him and he went to sleep and was troubled no more."—Mrs. W. H. Thornton, 3523 W. 10th St., Little Rock, Ark.
"I am in my eighty-seventh year and I was troubled with a tickling in my threat. I am very glad to tell you that Folcy's Honey and Tar has stopped that."—Geo. P. Randall, Dayton, Nev.

Foley's Honey and Tar is recom-mended for coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe and bronchial

CANCERS CURED AT KELLAM HOSPITAL,

1617 West Main Street, Richmond, Va.

It is known beyond a doubt and admitted by most of the leading physicians and sur-geons that cancer cannot be cured with the knife, X-Ray, radium, or acids. Cancers are permanently cured at The Kellam Hos-pital, without the use of either. Physicians and surgeons treated free at the hospital.

IS CURABLE. Write me to-day, and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it steps the Itching and besis permanently. DR. CANNADAY, 1226 Park Square, Sedalla, Mo.

CHURCH NEWS

Alahama.

Oakman, March 2.-Since last report I have been busy in the work of the Lord. The work here moves on nicely, and we hope to do more mission work this year than in former years.-A. D. Dies.

Albany, March 1.-The work in this section of North Alabama is growing in interest with each passing year. This is my fifth year to live and labor with the church at Albany, and my thirteenth to live and labor in word among my own people in this my native State. The church at Albany is the nearest a model church of any that I know. It is only ten years old, but its "work of faith, labor of love, and patience of hope" speaks for itself. Our audiences increase with each year, and the interest is good in every phase of the work. This church is noted for its unity of the Spirit, which is kept in the bond of peace; and while none of us are rich in this world's goods, yet last year a bit more than four thousand dollars was used toward the support of the work. Realizing that we have fallen far short, determined resolutions have been made that we shall do far more in 1920. All my work with the church here is under the supervision of its elders, and none are busier than I. Since January 1, 1920, I have held nine public meetings each week, but meetings are for the present discontinued on account of the preva-We have lence of influenza, much work before us and are strengthening our hands for the same. Two meetings already have been planned for 1920-G. C. Brewer in June, and J. H. Horton in August. In addition to the duties and responsibilities of this work, I have worked hard for the past two years endeavoring to plant a New Testament church at Athens, the county seat of Limestone County, my God has blessed my native county. labors, and at the right time gave me the right man as a colaborer in the person of Brother L. B. Jones, of Paint Rock, who has labored in word and in deed there for the year past. As a result of our efforts, we have a congregation of about twenty-five, most of whom are not ashamed of the simplicity of the gospel of Christ. The Christian Church at Athens is building a new house, and last summer we bought the old house at a cost of five thousand dollars. This house is a substantial brick structure, well seated, lighted, and carpeted, with baptistery and two large dressing rooms which serve as classrooms, and in one-half block of the Public Square. Of the five thousand dollars, we have paid all but nineteen hundred dollars, and at least six hundred of this is now on hand, which leaves a balance of about thirteen hundred dollars. We are told that we can have full possession by May 1, when all becomes due. We are eager to be ready for the final settlement; and while we have made no public call, yet if any who read of this work, desire to have fellowship in it, dona-tions may be sent to L. B. Jones, Athens, Ala., or to me, at Albany, Ala. We shall duly acknowledge gifts and at the final settlement publish in full all help received. Brother S. H. Hall, of Atlanta, Ga., and Brother E. Gaston Collins will assist us in a meeting there in the spring or early summer. Brethren, pray for this work. May we all be used more and more to our Lord's glory.-J. Pettey Ezell.

Arkansas.

Fort Smith, March 1 .- I was with the faithful few at Atkins yesterday. We had two good services, notwithstanding there was some sickness that hindered some from attending services. The singing school at Morrillton is progressing nicely. I will be at home next Lord's day. May God bless the faithful.-Will W. Slater.

District of Columbia.

Washington, February 29.—We have just returned from evening services. It was a day of rejoicing because six precious souls were baptized into the kingdom of our Lord. May many be saved this year. Have the Gospel Advocate to come to you every week and keep up with the good work. Help us to build a house of worship in Washington.-W. S. Long.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send that paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sin-cere, nonpartisan, reliable, well printed in large type. The eyes of the whole world are fixed on Washington. The Pathfinder is right on the ground and will keep you posted on everything that is going on. You will like the Pathfinder's way of telling all sides of You need this paper during the story. this great presidential year, and you should send fifteen cents for thirteen weeks' trial subscription. Address Pathfinder, 145 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new friends.

At Last A Real Remedy for Piles

No More Nasty Salves or Ointment; No Knife Cutting. A Simple Treatment Works While You Sleep.

6 Day Treatment FREE

Thousands of people suffer from bleeding, protruding or supporating piles. Having tried all kinds of ointments, salves or dector's prescriptions without permanent benefit they naturally feel discouraged and think fley must carry misery to the grave—yet their case is not hopeless.

Here is good news for all such sufferers. A prominent western physician has discovered a remarkable, harmiess compound known as HEM-ROID. Taken internally it quickly begins a cleaning, soothing healing of all affected parts. It helps drive out all the thick, impure blood that is clogging the bemorthoidal velus and causing piles. It so livees and strengthens the intestinal muscles and howel walls that in many cases of years standing all distress and misery soon disappears and does not return.

Don't say "Can this be true?" Give us the chance to prove what we say. Write all once, using the Coupon below, and we will send you postpaid, a full six-days' treatment of wonderful Hen-Roid. We feel confident that Hem-Roid used as directed will help to free you to take our word for it. Prove it for yourself. If a pile sufferer and sincere don't delay but mail coupon at once, to Dr. Leonhardt Co., 223 Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y. Make the decision now that you are going to end all pile misery.

Gospel Advocate PILE COUPON 6-DAY TREATMENT

This coupon, with full name and address and 10 cents in stamps to help pay distributing expenses entitles holder to our 6-day treatment of Hem-Roid. Dr. Leonhardt Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy, and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded, or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all read to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied; it is so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft, and beautiful.

Pacific Christian Academy (Incorporated), Graton, Cal.

BY FELIX G. OWEN.

By order of the authorities, all schools of this county have been closed for two weeks as a precaution against the "flu," The epidemic never reached our school. Forty pupils have been enrolled to date and about ten more are expected at the reopening, March 1. This will make about fifteen from non-Christian families. Much good is being done in this way; for, remember, the conditions are very different, both for school and church work.

On account of the school, several families have located at Graton and others are prospecting. Brother Reese, the principal, and Brother Badger, teacher of Bible, have both recently bought acreage property for homes at Graton. Brother J. A. Craig, of Patterson, Cal., formerly from Tennessee, is now visiting the school with a view to locating near.

Recently, meetings of the faculty, directors, and patrons were held in the assembly hall to discuss the future interests of the school. As a result, one brother promised to furnish the means to elevate the building, put it on a concrete foundation, add about four class rooms, and make some general repairs and improvements. Another good school building, which will be used in connection with this work, has recently been bought from the county. Other pledges to the amount of fifteen hundred dollars per year for a period of five years were also

Brother Barber, the treasurer, reports every member of the faculty paid a regular salary, with funds in the treasury for the next two months yet. There is not a teacher in the school but is working at a great sacrifice, being able to earn much more; but still all have received a living, and have had it regularly. There have been no charges for tuition; none of the brethren in touch with this work are wealthy; the school work is a new thing in all this Pacific Coast country; and yet, since the school was moved to Graton and put on a good organized basis, all this good property has been bought and paid for, the teachers have lived and kept happy, and these pledges for the future have been made. This has all been done by the local brethren, including those who have moved in on account of the school. They have stood by the work square from the shoulder. The work has far surpassed anything we could have hoped for. But next year we are expecting bigger and better things, and we may ask the readers of this notice to have a hand with us in this great and good

If you contemplate coming to California, remember, this is a mission field and the conditions are very different, and remember the Pacific Christian Academy at Graton.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purifyit and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic prop-erties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

Stop Itching

Skins with Tetterine 60c. at your druggist's or from SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of parmint (double strength), and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoinful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the discressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the threat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists or sent on receipt of price 90c by Chas. A, Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

HANCOCK'S PILE REMEDY.

Three jars are guaranteed to cure the se verest case of plies, or your money will be refunded. One jar often gives the desired results. For blind, bleeding, itching, pro-truding, or ulcerated piles. Price, 50 cents a jar. At your druggists's or by mail from HANCOCK CHEMICAL COMPANY, Oxford, N. C. Druggists, write for liberal proposition.

FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated successfully at home. Sent in plain, scaled envelope. Write for yours today. Dept. F-29. Dr. W. J. McCrary, Inc., Carbon Hill, Ala.

NEGLECTED COUGHS AND COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

LADY IN BROOKLYN, N. Y., NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH.

If people would only learn the folly of neglecting a cough or cold, much suffering could be averted and the development of many fatal diseases prevented.

The experience of Mrs. R. S. Pedersen, 129 Purnam Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., merely emphisizes the necessity of having the proper medicine on hand for such emergencies. She writes:

"One winter I had a severe cold. I doctored myself for several weeks with various pills. Finally, I was forced to go to bed with heavy cold in chest and head. I had a good attack of la grippe, with large lumps in my neck. My father persuaded me to take Pe-ru-na, and I was out of bed in two weeks. I continued the remedy for several weeks, and feel better than ever. Pe-ru-na has also relieved me of pains in the back and sides. I niways recommend Pe-ru-na, and my father is a constant user."

Pe-ru-na, being a tonic laxative, regulates the digestion ouriches the blood, tones up the nerves, and carries its soothing, healing influence to the irritated, congested mucous membranes in all parts of the body. It is very beneficial after protracted illness or an ettack of grip or Spanish influenza to restore strength and vigor to the wasled body.

Do not fool with a cold or any other catarrhal disease. It is dangerous. Get the right remedy in the first place—the remedy that for fifty years has been known as a successful treatment for catarrh.

Your design handles Re-ru-na in both tablet and liquid form,

Some Apposite Remarks. BY J. W. LAMAR.

I am a traveling man. I have been on the road for twenty-two years, I spent from March to October of each year in the central powers of Europe for a period of seven years prior to the late world war. I am not much of a writer, but have been a close observer all of my life, and the recent articles upon the dearth of preachers which have appeared in the Gospel Advocate strike me very forcibly.

I agree with Brother Stubblefield to some extent, also with Brother Talley. Brother Hall gives a practical view, as also does Brother Smithson. But do they altogether sum up the whole matter?

To my mind, Brother Brents and Brother Beasley have struck the keynotes. Do we find the mothers in our homes to-day as we found our mothers to be? Do we find any mothers to-day ho pray with their children at bedue and read a portion of God's word them at the breakfast table each uing as our mothers did? I fear I see the mothers of the past in century urging their daughteep up with society, which destroys the possibility of the child's ever becoming a mother, though she bear children. She is urged to seek a man for a husband who is rich instead of one who is a gentleman. Their boys are taught to do something to make money and are allowed to keep any company whether good or bad. The boy is little cared for, and for this reason very few become gentlemen, let alone becoming a bearer of the word of God. O, if I could pen words like Brother Brents! O, if we had sensible mothers!

Yes, many of our preachers of today are ashamed to work because they were allowed to loiter around in boyhood days. The father who said, "I expect to make a preacher of John, for he just won't work," made one of Brother Beasley's box choppers.

While preaching the gospel is the most honorable profession any man can follow, yet there are professional preachers who follow preaching for a living, who were raised to think they are a little better than the average person. They go to their churches once a week, and to the treasurer upon the same trip, and then hang around stores and whittle sticks, boxes, etc., and tell yarns, during the week. They neglect to "feed the flock" by not visiting their members in their homes, eating with them, talking, praying, reading and singing with them, and talking with them about heavenly things. Such a preacher's congregation becomes spiritually dead. They lose confidence in him; they decide he is just preaching for money; they refuse to contribute to his support, and finally he has to hunt another place.

Brother Beasley reminds me of the preachers around Highland Home, Ala., in the eighties. I was in school there from 1884 to 1887. The lamented J. M. Barnes urged every man and boy who became a Christian to preach the gospel, whether he was a farmer. merchant, mechanic, or school-teacher. Brother Golson farmed and preached; Brother Gafford did the same thing, as well as Brother Price; Brother Harrison went everywhere preaching the word: Dr. Watson, Lewis Smith, and others went also; and people everywhere were glad to have them come. There were not so many college-bred preachers in those days (1 do not mean that our preachers should not be educated, for that is one of the essentials to success in meeting the critics), but men who loved the truth and preached it regardless of price.

By and by the "one-man rule" crept into the churches, and this one man is spokesman for the church; and unless the preacher can accent Hebrew and Greek words properly, as Brother Stubblefield says, why, he is not wanted by the people, which rules out

Give Stomach What it Needs

THE ALKALINE EFFECT OF STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS USUALLY CORRECTS THE STOMACH FAULTS THAT PROVOKE ATTACKS OF INDIGESTION OR DYSPEPSIA.

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness, and discomfort is the logical result of using Stnart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to something they are and can still 'taste?' And it surprises them invariably to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two or these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy, hearty foods, or some one particular offender, the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigesting, or dyspepsis should try Stuart's layspepsa. Tablets, as they supply the stomach with an attaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly heatthy condition.

heatthy condition:
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can get them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 50 cents a box.

the spiritual-minded man, and therefore he cannot be recommended. Do you not remember that Jehovah rejected Saul as king because he feared "the people?"

People get preachers on trial. If the preacher suits the people, why, he is all O.K. If he does not suit the "one man," he does not suit the people, and they do not want him.

I have heard Brethren Lipscomb, Harding, Kurfees, Larimore, Frank S. White, Dr. Watson, D. S. Ligon, J. F. Thompson, J. E. Dunn, and others, and have heard some of our minor preachers also, but I never learned any more from the greater preachers than from the others when both had the "work" in their mind. One could command a hearing as well as the other, but I could tell by each one's address where the proper training came from. It was from the home, where mother prayed at night and read a chapter at the breakfast table each morning with her family.

We have the minor preachers to-day teaching, bookkeeping, railroading, some mechanics and farmers, who are never thought of when the question is asked: "Where can we find a preacher?" We want the educated man. We do not want a man who works.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price 60c.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

A Co-Operative Work.

BY FOY E. WALLACE, JR.

The following clipping from the Daily Telegram, of Temple, Texas, will serve to explain the purpose of the remarks which follow:

Evangelist Cled E. Wallace, of Weatherford, Texas, who preached to a large audience at the church of Christ, Seventh Street and Avenue G. on Wednesday evening, has been employed to work jointly with his brother, Foy E. Wallace, Jr., for the church. The purpose of this unique arrangement, it is said, is to allow both some time in the evangelistic field. They will alternate in their work with the local congregation.

Cled E. Wallace will open his work with a two-weeks' revival, beginning about May 1. He will move his family here at that time. Both the Wallace brothers expect to make Temple their permanent home. The work as planned will include a number of tent meetings in different sections of the city during the year. It is the purpose to thoroughly evangelize Temple, it is stated. Both preachers are comparatively young, but have been in the ministry for several years. Cled E. Wallace, the elder of the two, graduated from Baylor University with the highest honors last year.

For some time Brother Cled and I have desired to get together in our work. We have both desired to spend at least one-half of our time in the field, believing that it affords a greater opportunity for good than continued work with just one congregation. But feeling also that a part of our time should be spent at home and in home work, we have endeavored to divide our energies between the local and evangelistic fields of work. The difficulty in the matter has been to satisfy the demands of the local churches, as they are unwilling to accept only one-half time the year round. We, therefore, conceived the plan of a joint work with the same congregation. The church at Temple invited one of us to take this work for full time. We presented to them the cooperative plan-viz.: One of us will be in the work at home ten months out of the year. During July and August both will be in the field. During the ten months we will work with the home congregation alternately. periods ranging from one month to six weeks, depending upon the length of meetings. The church at Temple enthusiastically indorsed and accepted the proposition, and brother Cled will move here the first of May and begin his part of the work with a meeting. My home has been at Temple about one year, and I have spent the three winter months preaching and laboring with this church. The membership is not very large, about one hundred, but they have pledged their financial support and earnest cooperation. Our plans include the complete evangelization of Temple. While one of us is in the field, the other hopes to be engaged in tent meetings within the corporate limits of Temple or suburban residence sections.

It is our hope that this plan of cooperative work will meet the approval of brethren generally, as well as ourselves and the Temple church, and that churches desiring our assistance in meetings will accept such arrangements as will harmonize with our plans for the joint work. In order to make it complete, we will desire engagements for winter meetings. One of us will be in meetings away from home the year round if our plan is as successful as we desire it to be: I wish further to state that we have no selfish ambition to fulfill in this work. except to be together in our work. We are convinced that we can do more good for the cause of our Master together than we can do alone. Our only desire is to preach the old gospel and save precious, lost souls. If we, by God's grace, are enabled to accomplish this and succeed in helping the faithful band of disciples at Temple become an example in New Testament work and worship, we shall be satisfied, thank God, and press on in the work.

To Prevent Influenza

Colds cause Grip and Influenza-LAXA-TIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets remove There is only one "Bromo the cause. Quinine." E. W. GROVE'S signature on box. 30c.

FRECKL

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's he longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freekles, as Offline—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get sit ourse of Offline—double strength—from your drumast, and apply a little of it hight and moving and your should such see that even the worst freekles have been to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is selfour that more flain one ounce is peeded to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear completely clear the skin side gain one out the skin and so the strength of the skin this is soid under guarantee of money back if it falls to remove freekles.

BACK HURT ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Hill Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Removed The Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn. - "My back hurt me all the time, I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me, all bothered me, all caused by female trouble. I was three years with these troubles and doctors did me no good. Your med-icine helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound and the Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicines. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicines did for me."—Mrs. PEARL HILL, 418 Jacksboro St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound has accom-plished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

Gems of Thought.

Every morning come the light and a fresh chance of doing better. Is it not the sheerest folly and ingratitude to let yesterday spoil the God-given to-day?--Exchange.

Faith is in the convictions of the understanding; hope pictures the promised future by all exercise of the imagination; love is a preference created in the will.-J. H. Blunt.

There are people who use their friends as dumping grounds, and unload on them any choice bits of scandal they may chance to pick up, as though they were conferring a favor. As long as human nature is what it is, there will be plenty of such unloading to be done; but what noble mind wishes to be put to such ignoble uses, and to have made in any part of his spiritual domain a scavenger heap?-Christian Age.

Tells Why Chicks Die

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3253.
Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhea, and How to Care It." This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhea, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terrible disease overnight and actually raises 93 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should certainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

The Fiftieth Anniversary

Just fifty years ago this wir ter Dr. Pierce gave to the world his famous "Favorite Prescription" for the distressing weaknesses and complaints of women. For many years he had been in the active practice of medicine and his specialty was the diseases of women. Later he desired to give this to the public, and he received a trade-mark protection from the United States patent office for this medicine which is an herbal, "temperance" prescription with all the ingredients printed on the bottle wrapper. In his every day practice in the early days he also used a tonic and alterative for the blood, which was so universally beneficial that he determined to place this medicine in the drug stores of the United States, where it could be readily procured by the public. This he called his "Golden Medical Discovery," which he had prescribed many years for the stomach, liver and blood. Both these medicines met with instant success, and during the past half century have sold in greater quantities than any other proprietary medicines. Neither of Dr. Pierce's medicines contains alcohol and both are herbal extracts of native medicinal plants. For the past fifty years forty-eight million bottles have been used by the American public, and they are today the standard tonics for men and women. They are now put up in tablet as well as liquid form, and sold by every druggist in the land. A trial package can be obtained by sending 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. Write Dr. Pierce's if you want free confidential medical advice, or a free booklet on any chronic disease.

Among the Colored Folks

On the second Lord's day in January I was with the little band near Gilmore, Ark. One was reclaimed. On the third Lord's day I was at Killton, Miss., and one was reclaimed. Last Lord's day (February 22) I preached for the Kayne Avenue congregation. A Baptist preacher made the good confession and was baptized. A white brother, of Berry, Ala., has asked me to hold a tent meeting in Flat Creek, Ala. I shall arrange to go there in August or September. The gospel has never been preached to my people in Flat Creek, I have also been asked to hold some other meetings in Tennessee and Alabama this year, and shall try to do so. I am now working with Brother A. M. Burton, getting ready for a course in school. My post office is Brentwood, Tenn., Route 2. ALONZO JONES.

Two months of 1920 have come and gone, and I have not been able to do anything in the way of preaching and holding meetings; but a few of the brethren, sisters, friends, and churches still remember me. Beech Grove Church, near Brownsville; the church at Lebanon; and Jackson Street Church, in Nashville, give a monthly contribution. A few of the members at Christian College and Harris Chapel remembered me during the holidays. These offerings were small, but helpful.

I have been encouraged. Brother Larimore writes: "Wife and I are sending you our contribution for the last quarter of 1919 and for the first quarter of 1920. Be of good cheer." Brother B. F. Hart writes: "Inclosed you will find a check, and you must not think, because you are not able to be out on the field, that I am not going to help you." Brother Martin, of St. Marys, W. Va., says: "As long as I have a dollar, you have one." Brother Fletcher Williams says: "The faithful are always remembered." Sister Peebles and daughter, of Smyrna, write: "Let us hear from you." The little band in Detroit, Mich., through Brethren Keeble and York, remembered me. The South College Street sisters are mindful of me, as is Brother S. P. Pittman, of David Lipscomb College. We are so

Night and Morning. Have Strong, Healthy Eyes. If they Tire, lich, Smart or Burn, if Sore, Irritated, Inflamed or YOUR EYES Irritated, Inflamed or Granulated, use Murine often. Soothes, Refreshes. Safe for Infant or Adult. At all Druggists. Write for Free Eye Book. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago thankful, not only to these, but to all others who have helped to care for us, and we are still looking to the good Lord for his care.

The services at Jackson Street Church for these months have been fairly good. On the first Lord's day in January and the second Lord's day in February, Brother James Gant preached for us; on the third Lord's day in February, Brother Thomas Harris; on the fourth Lord's day, Prother Haley. The work is moving on fairly well. Brethren, let me hear from you, and let me have your prayers. My address is 1508 Hamilton Street.

S. W. Womack.

The Work in Washington, D. C. BY W. S. LONG.

The following contributions for the house of worship in Washington have been received lately: From Mrs. Mattie Long, $2; Mrs. Ada Yarbrough, $5; Mrs. Rutherford, $5; "A Sister," $2; Mrs. Eunice Grubbs, $1; Mrs. W. H. Lipscomb, $11.75;- "A Sister," $10; Mrs. W. W. Godbold, 50 cents: Mrs. D. C. Dawson, $7; Earl M. Hodson, $25; Mrs. G. J. Merrett, $50; R. Hill, $2.50; D. M. Peebles, $10; "A Friend," $15; J. L. Rutherford, $10; J. A. Love, $5; A. E. Love, $3; Clarence Love, $5; Mrs. Rutherford, $5: Charles Ross and wife, $5.50; C. E. Jones, $2.50; E. L. Grooms, $25; J. G. Wilkinson, $25; Russell Street Church, Nashville, Tenn., $125; church at Troy, Tenn., $25; church at Mount Welcome, W. Va., $16.60; Murfreesboro, $50; Charlotte, $2; Quanah, Texas, $50; Mooresville, Ala., $20; Water Valley, Tenn., $10; Rutherford, Tenn., $12; Ott & Son, Avon Park, Fla., $15; donations through Christian Leader, $53, $107; J. C. Rainey, $50; H. W. Cook, $5; B. B. Jones (church in his house), $2.70; Mrs. W. H. Hailey, $1.75. The deepest feeling of appreciation is felt for this liberality.

Now that winter is about over and the work can go forward, can we not have another donation from the churches? Or can we not have a personal donation from each Christian, an individual offering? A donation from every Chirstian now would mean much to the cause in the nation's capital. If we can get the proper cooperation, the house can be completed by August 1.

Let those who have friends or relatives here who have not been meeting with the church please write me at once. Address: W. S. Long, 100 Second Street, S. E., Washington, D. C.

Humors Come to the Surface in the spring as in no other season. They don't run themselves all off that way, however, but mostly remain in the system. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them, wards off danger, makes good health sure.

Pominville, Stillwater, Minn., who had spent over $2,000.00 for medicine and treatment was permanently cured by these tablets.

Chamberlain's Tablets

WINTERSMITH'S WI

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS and FEVER ALSO A FINE GENERAL STRENGTHEN-

The Road to Happiness.

To live is hard; and there is not one of us, I fancy, who has not again and again been tempted to despair of life when he has dared to look upon its dark mysteries; but again, there is not one of us who has not found a great sorrow, a great disappointment, a great trial, an avenue to unexpected joy.—Canon Westcott.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—People in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this; but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and in spite of the scarcity and high cost of paper he will keep this rare offer open for a short time longer. You will like this paper. It is twenty-seven years old and now better than ever. Only fifteen cents, mailed at once to the Pathfinder, 120 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep your whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

Potter Orphan Home Ford Car.

BY H. C. SHOULDERS.

Previously reported, $794.27; W. A. York and others, Lilly Dale, Ind., $3,25; little children's Bible class, Coal City, Ind., 50 cents; "In His Name," Coal City, Ind., $1.50; church at Granville, Tenn., $2.95; Mrs. Cora L. Curry, West Virginia, $1.

Free Chick Book

tells how to save baby chicks from dying of white diarrhea by using simple home solution. It's free. E. J. REEFER, Poultry Expert, 3253 Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo.

TETTERINE for the COMPLEXION

60c at your druggist's or from Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

NUXATED IRON "Say, Doctor, This Prescription Works Like Magic."

> Physician Says Nuxated Iron Quickly Puts Astonishing Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Brings Roses to the Cheeks of Nervous. Run-Down Women.

Ask the first hundred strong, healthy people you meet to what they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." they owe their strength and see how many reply "Nuxated Iron." Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says: "Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency but do not know what to take. There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron, to enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women, and strong, vigorous iron men. To make absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous and run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances."

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron Recommended above by Dr. Sullivan can be obtained from any good druggist with or without a physician's prescription on an absolute manufacturers' guarantee of success or money refunded.

DUCHI LAME BACK

Rub Backache, Lumbago, Soreness and Stiffness Away—Try This!

Back hurt you? Can't straighten the pain. It is perfectly harmless and up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe small trial bottle from any drug store, from a strain, and you'll get blessed and after using it just once, you'll realise the moment with warm had been supported by the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll suffer the moment with the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out sore-ness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

FIELD REPORTS

Illinois.

Metropolis, February 23.—Since my last report of donations received for the building of a house of worship for the church of Christ at this place, I have received a check for two dollars from Brother Charles T. Powell, of Pulaski, Tenn., and ten dollars from a brother in Indiana who falled to give his name or address. We thank these brethren for their kind remembrance. May the good work go on till the truth is firmly established in this city.—J. Oscar Paisley.

Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, March 1.-Yesterday at the morning service I started a eries of discourses on the Holy Spirit. hope to reach the idea of his witssing, his being, his gifts, his pure in coming to earth, etc. There some modern prophets in Oklahothe Holy Spirit is teaching the beople the Holy Spirit is teaching the through them. I am giving attention to them. There was one addition yesterday. growing all the time despite the many hindering causes.-J. A. Hudson.

Tennessee.

Memphis, March 3 .- The work at Harbert Avenue was seriously hin-dered during February by the influ-enza epidemic. However, toward the close of the month the regular meetings were resumed and two additions were received. The house-to-house work was practically uninterrupted .-C. A. Norred.

Texas.

San Antonio, March 1.-Two were added at our services yesterday. interest is good and we are growing all the way along, with additions regularly.—W. D. Bills.

Childress, March 1.—We had two good services here yesterday. One was restored to fellowship at the morning service. The future continues to look bright for the cause at Childress.-W. E. Morgan.

Fort Worth, March 1.—Dr. T. M. Morgan, my physician at Childress during my recent siege of "flu" and pneumonia, brought me home last Wednesday night, assisted by Sister MacAnear, who nursed me through. I sank far down in the "dark valley," but, thank God, I am at home with wife and children once more. I can sit up a few minutes at a time now. My doctor and the brethren, many of them, insist that I shall leave for Southwest Texas for a long rest. The Southside-Central Church is standing by me and mine. I shall get well with a rest among the mountains of West Texas. Pray for me, brethren, and my poor, afflicted wife and little children.-Tice Elkins.

Bowie, March 2.—Last Lord's day was a cold one in these parts. It found me at Ryan, Okia., trying to preach the gospel. Only a few were preach the gospel. Only a few were out to hear me; but it did me good to make the effort, and it seemed to help others. Brother G. W. Parmer, who lives at Sunset, preaches regularly for them. He is a good man and an excellent preacher. He will do them good. Brother L. R. Lovelady, a song leader and teacher, has moved there from Bowie and will help much. Thinking that I would get to preach, Brother S. I. Wharton carried Brother Brother S. I. Wharton carried Brother Lovelady, Brother McAdo, and me in his car eight miles west of Ryan on Lord's day afternoon to a schoolhouse, where all the time was taken up in a union Sunday school and singing. A large crowd was present. I hope to hold a mission meeting there in the near future.—T. H. Matheson.

The Most and Best.

The importance of economy has been impressed on our minds in recent years. We want to know that we are getting the most and best for our money, no matter what we spend it for.

In the matter of medicine, there is probably no more economical course of treatment than Hood's Sarsaparilla and Peptiron-a real iron tonic-taken in conjunction: one before eating, the other after.

The combination of these two great medicines brings into cooperation such well-known substances as sarsaparilla, iron, nux, and pepsin, best for the blood, nerves, and digestive organs.

This combination is especially recommended in cases that are scrofulous, or rheumatic, anæmic, and nervous, or where the blood is both impure and pale, deficient in Iron.

In cases where a laxative is needed, Hood's Pills should be taken.

DEEP-SEATED

RECKLES

Need attention NOW or may remain all summer. Use the old and time-tried treat-ment that has given satisfaction for over 15 years, and rid yourself of these homely spots.

Kintho Beauty Cream

At All Druggists and Department Stores.

When writing to advertisers, please say you saw their "ad." In this paper.

Volume LXII. No. 12.

NASHVILLE, TENN., MARCH 18, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTENTS

Edifying as the Need May Be	265
Our Contributors	266
At Home and Abroad	268
Editorial	75000
Georgia and the Far Southern Field
Journeyings Often	275
Instrumental Music	276
The Need of True Gospel Work in East Tennessee	279
The Master's Vineyard
Study of Acts 20: 21
"Bantists vs Campbellites" (No. 17)	282
"Baptists vs. Campbellites" (No. 17)	284
Made and made	201
Odds and Ends	285
Church Work at Marshall, Texas	286
Obituarios	000

Edifying as the Need May Be

BY A. B. LIPSCOMB

The Imitative Faculty.

One of the most important words in the Bible is the word "follow." It has many shades of meaning, but it is the sense of "imitate" upon which I would center our thought in this brief article. Most people understand that little children exercise the imitative faculty to the nth degree. They imitate those with whom they come in close contact -parents, teachers, associates, good and bad. But I would emphasize the point that we never outgrow the imitative faculty. All the important acts of social life are carried out under the domination of example. I have been recently impressed with the fact that crime is to a large extent the result of imitation. People imitate one another in crime as in everything else. The tragic side of life is not immune from the force of example. People kill because others have killed; people assassinate because others have assassinated; people fight duels because it is the custom. It is a well-known fact that suicide is contagious. Last week a prominent citizen jumped to his death from the bridge into the Icy waters of the Cumberland. No one would be greatly surprised should other despondent ones follow his example. Many years ago a Japanese emperor killed himself in a most unusual wayby disemboweling himself with a sharp knife. Soon after other members of royalty did the same thing. To-day hara-kiri is a national custom in Japan. It is regarded as the one honorable way in which to take one's life. Likewise a Parisian actress greatly admired by the populace, in a moment of jealous rage, threw vitriol in her lover's face. This crime soon became the fashion in France and later spread to America. During the reign of the Borgias people copied the court in poisoning to such an extent that a dead body floating down the Tiber did not cause a ripple of excitement. "Just another poison case" was the only comment heard.

Where Love of Distinction Leads.

But imitation may be noted along other lines not usually accounted to be criminal. Preachers are to a large extent imitative, whether consciously or unconsciously. If a well-known evangelist is given to alliteration in his speech, there will be others among his admirers given to alliteration. If he makes certain kinds of gestures, they will make them. If he trills his r's, they will trill their r's. They can at least imitate in mannerisms, if not in thought and preparation.

Statistics show that the birth rate is to a large extent controlled by imitation. It is a well-known fact that large families are found chiefly in the country districts or among the poor classes in the city. Cannot this be explained by the fact that it is not the custom for the wealthy classes to have many children? But when people attempt to defend this custom, they will find themselves within the realm of criminology.

Fashions prevail largely through imitation. Word has gone forth that the men will wear clothes made of the most fanciful hues during the coming season. How do they know it? Because the Prince of Wales and a few other fashion leaders have ordered their suits. One of the leaders of New York's "400" had a noted artist paint a butterfly on her bare back. Now others are having their backs painted. It has come to such a pass that a bare back does not attract great attention on the ballroom floor. There are so many of them. But paint some kind of figure on your back and it will attract attention immediately. There are hundreds of shopgirls and waitresses in New York and Chicago who keep themselves poor even in these days of high wages by trying to imitate their favorite actress. It is both serious and amusing to what depth of folly imitation will lead some people. O love of distinction, how many crimes have been committed in thy name!

0 0 0

Idiots and Ourselves.

But we do not need to go to New York and Chicago to find examples of foolish imitation. There are many in our own city who are guilty of the same thing. Their chief thought and interest in life is in imitating those whom they consider to be the recognized social leaders. They wear the same kind of clothes, build the same kind of houses, move to the same part of the city, ride in the same kind of an automobile. The pity of it is that many of these thoughtless imitators are nominal Christians. Yet they are taken up entirely with the things of the world. Boys and girls from Christian families have fallen in with the dance craze largely through imitation. temptation is insidious and well-nigh irresistible. When reproached, we are suavely told that "all the best families countenance dancing." They must follow the recognized social leaders because others follow them. "We must imitate or lose caste" is the thought behind the deed. Instead of lifting the standard of society to the high plane of the New Testament, they would drag it down to the low plane of some recognized social leader who cares nothing for God, the Bible, or the church.

Idiots, like others, are given to imitation. The manifestation, however, is different in that an idiot imitates without any moral obstacle, without taking thought of the consequences. For example, an idiot took part in the slaughter of a pig. Soon afterwards he stuck a man with a sharp knife. Another idiot saw a man build a fire of logs in the field. He went away and stuck a match to a barn. Intelligent people are supposed to be influenced by an obstacle in their imitation. But when we imitate without this obstacle of moral thought, how nearly idiotic are we? It is significant that in the best-managed institutions for the insane they have dancing regularly for the patients!

The New Testament Ideal.

The New Testament fully recognizes the imitative faculty. When a man is baptized into Christ, he brings this faculty with him along with others. What does Christ do with it? He does not suppress it nor take it away from the man's nature. On the other hand, he would transform it and use it for noble ends. When we examine the scriptural teaching on this subject, two things stand out clearly. First, we should imitate Christ. We cannot be his disciples unless we take up the cross and follow him. Paul said: "Be ye imitators of me, even as I also am of Christ." He does not hold himself up to be a perfect ideal. We are to imitate Paul only to the extent that he imitated Christ. But that "only" means nearly everything in the apostle's life. Only a faithful Christian can afford to give such an exhortation. The apostle does not claim for himself something that cannot be gained by others. In another passage he brings out the thought of joint imitation: "Brethren, be ye imitators together of me." To the shame of many it must be said that they never reach that point in Christian experience where they can say: "Brethren, be ye imitators of me, as I am of Christ." They are always in that state described in the letter to the Hebrews: "For when by reason of the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need again that some one teach you the rudiments of the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of solid food."

To imitate Christ does not mean mere mimicry, as Tolstoy would have us believe in his application of the Sermon on the Mount. It means that we must have in all things the spirit of Christ. To imitate Jesus literally is not possible for any man, but to imitate his spirit is humanly and gloriously possible.

I have not written these words in an iconoclastic spirit, but in the spirit of Him whom all should imitate.

Book Notices.

Have you read "Handbook on Baptism?" Price, $1.50. It is a splendid book of reference.

"Adventism and the Bible" is a readable book and thoroughly exposes Adventism. It gives a reliable history of the origin and vagaries of the doctrine. It pays its respects to Mrs, White. Price, $1.25. Mail us your order to-day.

"The Model Church," by G. C. Brewer, is a splendid book to circulate. It is very highly commended by those who have read it. The churches would do well to circulate the book. It is thoughtful, lucid, and helpful. The book is more practical than theoretical. Price, $1, postpaid. The book may be ordered from the McQuiddy Printing Company.

OUR CONTRIBUTORS

"The Three Kingdoms."

BY F. W. SMITH.

Much has been written on the subject of the kingdom, but, to my mind, the following is the clearest that has ever been published on that matter:

The Jewish people were often called "the kingdom of God," because God was in a peculiar sense their King. For certain purposes he selected them, distinguished them, and took them under his own immediate protection. them laws, ordinances, and customs, which had both a specific and general influence, and were preparatory to a new and better order of society. The new order of society which arises out of the belief of the gospel is often called "the reign or kingdom of heaven." In this kingdom the subjects enjoy more exalted blessings and stand in new and heavenly relations unknown before the coming of the Messiah. There is also the "kingdom of heaven, or glory," properly so-called. This is the residence of angels, the abode of the saints, and the mansions of glory. The gates of admission into these three kingdoms are different: Flesh, Faith, and Works. To be born of the flesh, or to be a descendant of Abraham, introduced a child into the first kingdom of God; to be born of water and the Spirit, through faith in Jesus Christ, brings men and women into the second kingdom; but neither flesh, faith, nor water, without good works, will introduce a man or woman into the third kingdom. The nature of these three kingdoms, the privileges enjoyed by the subjects, and the terms of admission are very imperfectly understood in the present day. These kingdoms are unhappily confounded in the minds of many; hence we find that what is affirmed of the nature, subjects, and terms of admission of one is fre-quently applied to another. This is one of the roots of popery, and all the hierarchies in Christendom have sprung from it.

The nature of the kingdom of God among the Jews is very different from the nature of the kingdom of God among the Christians, and both are different from the kingdom of glory. The subjects are just as different. Under the first they were carnal. All the descendants of Jacob, without regard to regeneration, were lawful subjects of the first kingdom. None can be subjects of the second kingdom unless born again, and flesh and blood cannot inherit the third and ultimate kingdom.

I have discovered that the objections offered against the scriptural design and import of Christian immersion are based upon a misapprehension of the nature and privileges of these three kingdoms. Under the first there were various ablutions, purgations, and sin offerings, which never perfected the conscience, but which, for the time being, served as symbols or types of a real purgation which would be enjoyed under the reign of heaven, or second kingdom. These sacrifices did not cleanse the worshipers, else, as Paul reasons, the worshipers, once cleansed, would have no more consciousness of sins. Under the Christian economy a real remission of sins is constantly enjoyed by all the subjects or citizens, and, as Paul argues, where remission of sins is enjoyed, no more sacrifice for sin is needed. the Jews by faith foresaw through the symbols the shedding of Christ's blood, the question is, Why could they not by faith in his sacrifice enjoy, as well as we, the remission of sins? The sacrifice of Christ viewed prospectively was as efficacious as when viewed retrospectively, to effect the cleansing of the consciences. And could they not, through one sacrifice, have more clearly understood the design of Christ's sacrifice than by so many sacrifices? But it is a provision in the constitution of the Christian kingdom which greatly distinguishes it from the Jewish, "that the sins and iniquities of the citizens shall be remembered no more." No daily, weekly, nor annual remembrances of sin under the reign of favor. This faith in the sacrifice of Christ discovers, and submission to his institution puts us into the actual possession of that remission which never was enjoyed before.

Now, as Paul teaches, under the constitution of the new kingdom, remission of sins is a natural birthright; hence every one, so soon as he enters the second or Christian kingdom, or is born of water and Spirit, is pardoned and accepted. So that those who are born into the kingdom of heaven, or Christian kingdom, have peace with God, and sin cannot lord it over them; for they are not under law, but under favor.

But many say: "What will become of our pedobaptist brethren, and millions more, if these things be so?" This is a stale objection which has been urged against every reformation in religion from the days of John Huss down to this century. I will, however, answer the interrogatory. They cannot enjoy the blessings of the second kingdom; in other words, they cannot have or enjoy that light, peace, liberty, and love, which are the national privileges of all who intelligently enter the kingdom of favor.

But the objector means, Can they enter into the third kingdom, or kingdom of glory? I am prepared to say that my opinion is-and it is but an opinion-that infants, idiots, and some Jews and pagans may, without either faith or baptism, be brought into the third kingdom, merely in consequence of the sacrifice of Christ; and I doubt not but many pedobaptists of all sects will be admitted into the kingdom of glory. Indeed, all they who obey Jesus Christ, through faith in his blood, according to their knowl-Indeed, all they who obey Jesus edge, I am of opinion will be introduced into that kingdom; but when we talk of the forgiveness of sins which comes to Christians through immersion, we have no regard to any other than the second kingdom, or the kingdom I repeat it again. There are three kingdoms: the Kingdom of Law, the Kingdom of Favor, and the Kingdom of Glory; each has a different constitution, different subjects, privileges, and terms of admission. And who is so blind in the Christian kingdom as not to see that more is necessary to eternal salvation or to admission into the everlasting kingdom than either faith, regeneration, or immersion? A man can enter into the second kingdom by being born of water and the Spirit; but he cannot enter into the third and ultimate kingdom through faith, immersion, or regeneration. Hence, says the Judge: Come, you blessed of my Father, and inherit the kingdom of glory. Because you believed? No. Because you were immersed? No. Because you were born again by the Holy Spirit? But because I know your good works, your picty, and humanity. "I was hungry, and you fed me." etc.

The plain state of the case is this: The blood of Abraham brought a man into the kingdom of law and gave him an inheritance in Canaan. Being born, not of blood, but through water and the Spirit of God, brings a person into the kingdom of favor; which is righteousness, peace, joy, and a holy spirit, with a future inheritance in prospect. But if the justified draw back or the washed return to the mire, or if faith die and bring forth no fruits, into the kingdom of giory he cannot enter. Hence, good works through faith or springing from faith in Jesus give a right to enter into the holy city, and this is a right springing from grace or favor. "Blessed are they who keep his commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life and enter through the gates into the city." right as observed, springs from a constitution of favor; and while men are saved by grace, or brought into the second kingdom (for all in it are said to be saved in the New Testament style) by favor, they cannot enter the heavenly kingdom but by patient continuance in well-doing. So stands the decree of the Lord Almighty as I understand the oracles.

Those who desire the enjoyment of remission of sins, peace with God, and abundance of joy, can obtain them through submission to an institution of pure favor, as already defined. But when we speak of admission into the everlasting kingdom, we must have a due respect to those grand and fundamental principles so clearly propounded in the New Institution. We must discriminate between the kingdom of favor and the kingdom of glory.—("Christian Baptist," Vol. VI., pages 557, 558.)

This, from the pen of A. Campbell, barring his opinion regarding those rational beings who have not entered the kingdom of Christ, is what I have believed and taught for twenty-five years. There is now, at the present time, a kingdom of glory over which God is King and Ruler, whose subjects are not in the church or kingdom of Christ, but into which Christ's subjects will be merged when he shall have delivered up his kingdom to God, the Father. (1 Cor. 15: 24.) All of this talk about the kingdom of Christ being larger than the church or containing more than the church contains is, to my mind, without the slightest foundation in the word of God. Again, all of this ado about a "coming kingdom" and praying for a "coming kingdom" is equally destitute of Bible support. There is a "waiting" kingdom-ready to receive all who are prepared to enter therein. "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." (Matt. 25: 34.)

Brother Srygley on the "Church" and "Kingdom."
BY LEE JACKSON.

I have enjoyed reading the discussion between Brethren Smith and Scobey relative to the distinction between the "church" and the "kingdom." From time to time, some few years since, I wrote several articles for the Gospel Advocate, endeavoring to show that it is an unscriptural conception to think of the church as being equal to the kingdom in the sense in which the word "church" is generally understood. For some reason these articles of mine attracted but little attention, and I accepted this as an indication that the better-informed readers of the Advocate either understood the subject as I do, or else they considered it as being of no vital importance. One good brother, however, who was publishing a little paper down here in Mississippi, saw proper to shut my articles out of his columns, assigning as his reason that he did not want to create dissensions among the brethren. So I am glad that a discussion of the subject by such men as Smith and Scobey is now before the Advocate readers. If properly conducted, this discussion will do much good and no harm. This is one of the important lines along which much sober, scriptural teaching is needed. We should all welcome the discussion of the subject, and the articles of Brethren Smith and Scobey should be thoughtfully and impartially

As I have no disposition to "butt" into a discussion between other men, I will say no more at present. However, as our beloved Brother Srygley says that he has his mind already settled on this question, I will suggest that he turn to the tenth verse of the Third Epistle of John and tell us how it was possible for Diotrephes to cast the messengers of John out of the kingdom; and this is what they certainly did, if "church" and "kingdom" mean the same thing. Or, if Brother Srygley prefers, he can turn to Dan. 2: 44 and tell us whether or not the prophet really meant to say that the God of heaven would set up a "church" "which shall never be destroyed." And while he is at it, Brother Srygley can go back in his researches and tell us about the origin of the word "church." Of course, Brother Srygley understands that no such word as "church" was in existence when the New Testament was written. Therefore, he can use some of his logic in explaining why it was that the inspired writers picked up a word which, according to accepted usage, meant neither "church" nor "kingdom," but only meant "congregation" or "assembly," and used it as meaning a kingdom. Brother Srygley will, of course, explain to us why it was that these inspired writers used the word that meant "congregation" without giving any explanation that they were using it in the sense of "kingdom." How did these inspired writers know that their readers of their own time would understand that they meant "kingdom" by using a word that had not been so used before their time? Please explain.

A Good Book.

"Adventism and the Bible," by J. Henry Monk, is a most valuable book for those who need to know just what Adventism is and how to expose it. This brother was once in the meshes of this false church, and he can expose it better than some of us who have never been on the inside. I do not believe there is a sane being on earth who can read this book through once with a mind that is wholly unprejudiced and ever be deceived by Adventism, nor do I believe an Adventist can so read it and remain with Adventism. The book should be sold by the thousands and put wherever Adventism makes an effort to plant itself on this earth.

This book is printed and sold by the McQuiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.25.

AT HOME AND ABROAD

We are all apt to be more exacting about our rights than exact about our principles.—R. C. Gillie.

A man has no character except what is built up through the medium of things he does from day to day.

The modern Lot says: "Show me where my boys can get the biggest; show me where my girls can get into society."

Change of address: O. E. Billingsley, from Waldo to Conway, Ark.; Tice Elkins, from Fort Worth, to Del Rio, Texas.

It is no small blessing in this world of unrest and of sin when the glorious truth that "the Lord God omnipotent reigneth" takes possession of the heart of the child of God.

—J. Hudson Taylor.

Fred K. Jones, real estate dealer and Notary Public, 43 Arcade, Nashville, Tenn.—Nashville and Tennessee property for sale and exchange—will endeavor to accommodate those desiring his services.

Among our visitors this week were Jesse P. Sewell, president of Abilene Christian College, and C. H. Baker, of Kirkmansville, Ky. Brother Sewell preached for the Belmont Avenue congregation Sunday morning and at Lebanon in the evening.

When the church becomes nothing but a social club to contribute only to the lives of its own members, then, in the name of God, blow it up with dynamite, because it has become dangerous in giving men the wrong idea of the essential things of God.—G. Campbell Morgan.

From G. B. Lambright, Taft, Fla., March 14: "I returned home yesterday from Tarpon Springs. We could not continue our meeting there on account of sickness. I promised to return on the first Lord's day in May for another meeting. I am now ready for engagements, and can go anywhere for meetings."

From P. W. Ball, Coxey, Ala., March 10: "Since last report Thornton Crews has taken up the work at Mount Carmel. He preaches on the first Lord's day in each month at 11 A.M. and 7:15 P.M. Brother Crews is a very able young preacher. He is heeding the admonition given by Paul to Timothy, 'Preach the word.' He preaches the word."

From Ben West, Waxahachie, Texas, March 10: "We had good services here Sunday. J. S. Dunn, of Dallas, former minister here, spoke at the evening hour on 'Rejoicing,' and it was a timely lesson and highly appreciated. Brethren Busby and Taylor will be with us next Lord'sday afternoon. Excavation for the basement to our church is completed. New addition going up."

From George W. Birchfield, Fort Worth, Texas: "The work at Central church of Christ, of this city, is getting along nicely now. M. H. Moore, who is superintendent of the city schools, is preaching for us. He has lived in this county over forty-eight years and has done a great deal for the cause of Christ in this county. His equals are few as a teacher, and he is loyal to the truth. Our place of worship is located two blocks east of Westbrook Hotel. We would be glad to have visitors to the city meet with us."

J. Leonard Jackson, of this city, writes: "Our crowds this winter at College Street Church, we think, have been good. We have continued our evening services through the recent epidemic with very satisfactory results. Sunday, March 7, was one of the best days we have had. There were three additions to the congregation. One was a member of the Catholic Church, one a member of the Baptist Church, and one was restored to the church of Christ. The Lord's Supper is observed at the evening service for the benefit of those who are unable to attend the morning service."

From C. C. Merritt, Davis City, Iowa: "J. C. Estes, now living in Davenport, Iowa, is trying hard to get the cause established while he is there. There are three large cities lying side by side—Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa. Brother Estes has found, in all, about twelve or fifteen disciples there. Some of these are in school and will not be there much longer. There is much that can be done and should be done, but the preacher there will need outside help, as there are but few to help who live there. This work will not need continuous assistance, as it can easily be placed on a self-sustaining basis, unless, of course, some evangelist takes up the work there to give his entire time to that field. Address Brother Estes at 1207 Pershing Avenue, Davenport, Iowa."

"Spend little, save much, avoid speculation." This in a nutshelf is the message that comes from the Treasury Department at Washington. It is a most timely message. Well may the treasurer ask: "What can the churches and other religious organizations of the country do to cut down the orgy of extravagance, of speculation, and of generally riotous dissipation of earnings and savings which the country is now experiencing? This is a question to which every minister should give the most earnest thought at this critical time." The churches can do much. The preachers can cry out against the extravagances in which Americans of all classes indulge. At present there is much sowing to the wind, and there will be nothing else in store but to reap the whirlwind if the present waste of money and energy continues. The ground is being prepared for the worst panie America has yet known. By pursuing a different course it may be averted.

Turks are buying the Christian Bible, according to a letter from Constantinople received by the American Bible Society. Disturbed conditions during last year made Bible printing impossible at the Constantinople Bible House, a branch of the American Bible Society, but twenty-four thousand two hundred and ninety-six volumes of the Holy Scriptures were circulated. Mr. W. W. Peet, Levant Agency Secretary for the American Bible Society, with headquarters at the Bible House in Constantinople, writes: "We have before us what will prove, I think, to be an unprecedented demand for Scriptures for the coming year. There are indications from all sides that the demand for Scriptures will be large, and this in all the languages used here. Probably Greek and Armenian will lead, though the demand for Scriptures in the Turkish language will doubtless exceed that of any previous year. We are doing all we can to get ready."

From Horace W. Busby, Italy, Texas, March 12: "Austin Taylor and I are in an interesting meeting at this place. There were two additions last night. We are to continue till next Thursday, when I shall begin a meeting with the North Side congregation in Fort Worth. We closed at San Benito last Thursday night, with fifteen baptized, two restored, and two identified. Also, one additional elder and two deacons were appointed, making three elders and three deacons, men whom we believe to be able to safeguard the interest of the church there, especially with the splendid support they have from the entire congregation. Since our meeting there last year they have purchased the bestlocated lot of any church in town and have erected a nice tabernacle, and have it seated and lighted well. ambition is to build a nice brick building on their lot at no distant date. I am to begin at Abilene on the first Sunday in April, with the congregation worshiping at the Christian College. I am expecting a great meeting there. From there I am going to Oak Cliff, Dallas, for the rest of April. We also expect a splendid meeting in Oak Cliff; they are at work."

SPEL ADVOG

Conducted for a half century by D. Lipscomb and E. G. Sewell,

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

$2.00 a year, in advance; to Canada and foreign countries, $2.50, in advance.

Remittances will be at our risk when sent by express or post-office money order, in registered letter, or by draft payable to our order. This paper is mailed regularly to all subscribers until definite or ders in writing are received and all arrearages paid in full. If you wish us to stop your paper, write us to that effect; but do not ask it unless you have paid all arrears, if there are any. Do not ask you postmaster to attend to it for you, but do it yourself.

When changing your post-office address, tell us your old as well as your new address; otherwise two papers might be charged to you. The date on your tab shows the time to which your subscription is paid. When money is received, the date will be changed which will answer for a receipt. Two weeks' time must ordinarily occur from the time your remittance is sent before the tab on your paper is changed; if not changed by that time, notify us at once.

Subscribers, after paying for their papers, will favor us by noting whether the date on the address label is changed, and, if it is not changed within a month, by writing to us. We are careful, but mistakes may occur or letters may be lost. Our rule is to change the date on the day payment is received; but the mechanical work of correcting and printing the list takes time, and payments even from near-by places may not appear the first week. Credits for payments from a distance may be even more delayed. Mistakes are easily rectified if prompt notice is given.

All communications should be addressed to Gospel Advocate, $17-$19 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

Guarantee of Advertising.

All the advertisements in this paper are, we believe, signed by trustworthy persons. To prove our faith by works, we will make good to actual subscribers any loss sustained in trusting advertisers who prove to be deliberate swindlers. We shall not attempt to adjust trifling disputes between subscribers and honorable business men who advertise, nor pay the debts of honest bankrupts. To make this guarantee effective, in all cases say in writing advertisers, "I saw your advertisement in the Gospel Advocate;" and if anything goes wrong, notify us immediately in writing.

LACORS & CO ADVERTISING MANACORDS.

JACOBS & CO., ADVERTISING MANAGERS, Clinton, S. C.

Entered at post office at Nashville, Tenn., as second-class matter.
Published weekly at Nashville, Tenn.

"Instrumental Music."

BY M. C. K.

The Gospel Advocate has been requested to publish and review an article on "Instrumental Music" which appeared in the Southern Christian Courier for December, 1919, and was written by Brother M. H. Armor, of Baldwyn, Miss. The reader will find the article on page 276 of this issue.

For thoughtful persons, no review of the article in detail is needed, and we shall be content to note merely a sufficient number of its points to show how manifestly its author, without seeming to know it, proves too much, and hence proves nothing for the cause which he tries to defend.

- 1. He says: "If there had been a direct 'Thus saith the Lord' one way or the other, the matter would have ended with the first investigation." We shall presently see that we have precisely the same "Thus saith the Lord" on this matter that Brother Armor finds on some other matters, and that if he would treat the "Thus saith the Lord" in the one case just as he does in the others, he would reject instrumental music from Christian music just as he rejects the other things, and for identically the same reason.
- 2. He further says: "We learn that God appointed instrumental music and put it in his own house by his prophets." That is true; and we also "learn that God appointed" the burning of incense and infant membership and put them "in his own house by his prophets;" yet Brother Armor does not, for this reason, burn incense in the worship of his church nor have infant membership. Why does he not? Why follow his logic on one thing and reject it on another?

- 3. Again, he says: "We learn also that instrumental music is not a sin in itself, for it was approved by the Lord." Exactly so; and "we learn also that" neither burning incense nor infant membership is "a sin in itself, for" both were "approved by the Lord." Therefore, according to Brother Armor, we should have instrumental music, the burning of incense, and infant membership in the church. If not, why not?
- 4. He next attempts to uphold his doctrine by quoting from the New Testament a passage that says they will use harps in the heavenly music, thus: "And when he had taken the book, the four living creatures and the four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having each one a harp, and golden bowls of incense, which are the prayers of the saints." (Rev. 5: 8.) We admit that this says they make music with a harp in that celestial worship, and Brother Armor says it proves that we should have harps or other instrumental music in the worship of the church; but it is strange that he seems not to see that the very same passage which he thus quotes to prove that we may have instrumental music in the worship of the church because it says they will have it in heaven also says they will have "golden bowls of incense, which are the prayers of the saints," and thus again, according to Brother Armor, we can have "golden bowls of Incense" in the worship of the church. If not, why not?
- 5. Once more: "Looking carefully over each passage quoted on singing, we discover no command to use an instrument, nor do we find a word or circumstance in the New Testament Scriptures to forbid its use." And "we discover no command to use" incense or infant membership, "nor do we find a word or circumstance in the New Testament Scriptures to forbid" their "use." Then, of course, according to this logic, we may have them.
- 6. He asks the question: "If God instituted and appointed instrumental music in the Old Testament, and will have instrumental music in his triumphal kingdom, will he not permit his children to use it in his earthly sanctuary, provided it be used to his praise and the edification of his people?" We reply: "If God instituted and appointed" burning incense and infant membership "in the Old Testament, and will have" them "in his triumphal kingdom, will he not permit his children to use" them "in his earthly sanctuary, provided" they "be used to his praise and the edification of his people?" Will Brother Armor answer this for us?
- 7. He says: "Some think it all right to help the eye with the song book, but wrong to help the ear and voice with an instrument." No, no, the brother completely misses the point here. No one that we know of objects to merely helping either the eye or the ear to do what God commands to be done. Hence, if we are careful to do simply the thing which God commands, and not something which he does not command, then we should never stop short of doing it in the most orderly, decent, and best possible manner. But if God commands us to offer one kind of an animal in sacrifice-a sheep, for example-then, while we are acting within our rights-yea, are doing what is our duty-to offer the most perfect, the very best sheep, and to do it in the most orderly and decent manner possible, yet we would not be acting within our rights-yea, would be rebelling against God-if we should offer another kind of an animal-a cow, for example-and it would be none the less rebellion against God if, in such a case, we should offer the most perfect cow, and in the most perfect manner possible, nor even if we should offer it as a "help" or as an "expedient" in the service of God. Obedience to God is doing the thing God commands, and not something else.

Of the two kinds of music in the world—vocal and instrumental—God commanded both, as Brother Armor shows, under the Old Testament dispensation, but, for some reason—God has not explained it—he commands but one, vocal music, under the New Testament dispensation; and when we offer it, we are obeying Him; but when we offer the other kind, we are not obeying him any more than offering a cow is obeying him when he commands us to offer a sheep.

Finally, Brother Armor ought to know that seeing the word of God through "glasses" or hearing it through "an ear trumpet" is seeing and hearing the thing which God says see and hear, and not something else. Our organ and society brethren sometimes very properly remind us that we ought to use common sense in the service of God as well as to stickle for his word, and they are right in this; but we would gently and respectfully remind them in return that, on the great principle involved in the two kinds of animals, the two kinds of music, and such helps as eyeglasses and ear trumpets, they, in common with the rest of us, should also use common sense, and not assume that "eyeglasses" and "ear trumpets," which only assist in seeing and hearing the thing which God commands, are on a par with offering instrumental music when God commands vocal, or offering a cow when God commands a sheep. Whether with or without glasses, he should look more deeply into this subject.

The Interchurch Movement.

The Interchurch World Movement assembled in Nashvifle recently. None of the churches of Christ affiliated with this movement, so far as is known to me. The Vine Street Church did pass a meaningless resolution stating that the church would coöperate with the Interchurch World Movement in so far as practical. This is a two-edged sword that cuts both ways: those who are opposed to the movement would naturally say that it is not practical to coöperate in any way, while those who favor the movement would argue that it is practical to coöperate to the full extent of one's ability. That our readers may clearly understand the difference between the Interchurch Council on Organic Union and the Interchurch World Movement, we quote the following from the Christian Standard:

This is the first of a series of editorials which will deal with the Interchurch Council on Organic Union. The term "Interchurch," which appears in the name, does not mean that the Interchurch Council on Organic Union is affiliated organically with the Interchurch World Movement. Each of these movements has its own distinctive program, and it may be said that their programs, in implied purport, are irreconcilably opposed to each other.

The Interchurch World Movement insists, from its public platform, that it is in no wise a union movement, and that it exists to strengthen the denominational programs. The Interchurch Council on Organic Union introduces itself as a union movement, and avers that it exists to unite (in some manner) the various denominations of Christendom. Nevertheless, the originators and leaders of the two movements are so mixed together that it would be impossible to shake them apart and decide "who's who" in the rival dramas that are being staged.

The Interchurch Council on Organic Union had its definite origin in a conference held in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1918. That conference appointed an Ad Interim Committee, which reported to the Interchurch Council held in Philadelphia, February 3-6, 1920.

From the Christian Standard and other sources the information has been gathered that the "Disciple denomination" is represented in the Interchurch Council of Organic Union. According to the plan of union adopted by the Interchurch Council of Organic Union, it will be necessary for the plan of union to be submitted to the "Disciple denomination." From Article Six of the plan of union, it is made obligatory upon the governing bodies of the denominations represented in the council to consider and approve the plan of union. As the "Disciple denomination" claims to have no governing body, it is not clear to whom such plan of union will be presented. When it comes to the churches of Christ, they have no governing bodies-only the elders in the local congregations. Every local congregation is separate and distinct and has to manage its own affairs. So long as people remain true to New Testament teaching, it is hardly probable or possible to have a great falling away from the truth. One church may apostatize, or even a half dozen may turn away from the truth, but it is hardly to be expected that all will turn away en masse at the same time. But this is not true of councils and ecclesiastical bodies. Men who set themselves up as leaders and who act as representatives of these bodies may lead the whole body into error at one time. Thus the great body of Christians may be led into error.

Thus it will be seen that one of these bodies stands for organic union of the denominations; while the other is making no effort to promote union among the denominations, but to build up each and every denomination on its present creedal basis. The churches of Christ, without departing from the fundamental principles that they have always advocated, cannot have any connection or association with this Interchurch World Movement. Taking it for granted that Christians are honest in their present affiliations, necessarily we are led to presuppose that they are firm in the conviction that those who differ from them are not teaching the truth. No man can unite with another to uphold that which he believes to be an error. Christians should cooperate and help each other in the propagation of truth; but when Christians depart from the truth and labor to build up denominationalism, which is unknown to the New Testament, then those who are guided by "It is written" cannot consistently unite with them in the propagation of error.

When the people were in error and the kingdom was divided under Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, God did not want them united in error. He preferred that they be divided in error rather than united, as union in error gives strength as well as union in the truth gives strength. Judging from this, so long as denominations are teaching error and not teaching the truth, God prefers that they remain divided rather than united. This is evident from 1 Kings 12: 21-24: "And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he assembled all the house of Judah, and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men, that were warriors, to fight against the house of Israel, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the son of Solomon. But the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God, saying, Speak unto Rehoboam the son of Solomon, king of Judah, and unto all the house of Judah and Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying, Thus saith Jehovah, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren the children of Israel: return every man to his house; for this thing is of me. So they hearkened unto the word of Jehovah, and returned and went their way, according to the word of Jehovah."

It has been, and is, the purpose of this journal to oppose denominationalism vigorously, and all ecclesiasticism, because it believes that every Christian is accorded the right to think, speak, and act for himself. It believes that where God speaks, Christians should speak; and where the Bible is silent, they should be silent. It holds that the plan of salvation as laid down in the New Testament requires that one believe that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God, with all his heart; that he repent of his sins and be baptized into the names of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. When one does this, he enjoys the remission of his past sins. This brings him into the kingdom of grace. Christ says: "Except one be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." (John 3: 5.) When he is thus delivered "out of the power of darkness" and translated " into the kingdom of God's dear Son " (Col. 1: 13), he is, by patiently continuing in well-doing, finally gathered into the "heavenly kingdom" (2 Tim, 4: 18), or "the kingdom of glory." This is the meaning of the teaching of the Holy Spirit through the apostle Peter when he admonishes Christians who are already in the kingdom of God, or the kingdom of grace, to add to their faith all the Christian graces. He says: "Wherefore, brethren, give the more diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never stumble: for thus shall be richly supplied unto you the entrance into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ." So long as we are in the flesh, while we are in the eternal kingdom, we are in the first or the former dominion of it (Mic. 4: 8), and must continue to work out our salvation with fear and trembling until God calls us into the "heavenly kingdom," or the latter dominion of the kingdom of God.

Whenever one believes and obeys the truth, he becomes a member of the church of Christ, and not a member of any denomination. It is a mistake for him then to become a member of a denomination instead of remaining simply a Christian. The same conditions that make one a Christian bring him into the church, or the kingdom of God, or the kingdom of grace. The New Testament nowhere lays down any law through which we are to become a member of a denomination. It does lay down the law of pardon, and by compliance with these terms we enter into the kingdom of God and do not become a member of a denomination. Through the apostle Paul the Holy Spirit says: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as also ye were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism." (Eph. 4: 4, 5.)

The churches of Christ will never unite themselves with the Interchurch World Movement or the Interchurch Council on Organic Union so long as they adhere strictly to the teaching of the New Testament. If our ministers would know nothing but "Jesus Christ, and him crucified," and would declare all the counsel of God as did Paul, the members of the churches of Christ, the women included, would not be so ready to accept every movement that is launched which appears to have a good purpose. So long as Christians are ready to turn away from the truth and embrace the wisdom of men for their guidance in the service of God, there is something radically wrong. Preachers should see to it that they preach boldly, yet firmly, the gospel of Christ, and they should lead the people to see that to be simply a Christian is all that God requires them to be.

Ever be faithful and true to God and his word.

"Do thy duty, that is best; Leave unto the Lord the rest."

"Be Not Many of You Teachers." BY E. A. E.

Be not many of you teachers, my brethren, knowing that we shall receive heavier judgment. For in many things we all stumble. If any stumble not in word, the same is a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body also. (James 3: 1, 2.)

The Bible, as all know, is the most practical, best, most wonderful, and greatest book in the world. It is adapted to every condition, circumstance, and relationship of life. It leads out of all error, all human imperfections and faults, and develops the purest thoughts, noblest emotions, highest aspirations, loftiest spirit, and highest and grandest character which human beings, even by the grace and love and forgiveness of God, are capable of reaching.

The only reason all do not escape from error, overcome faults, subdue all evil passions, and "become partakers of the divine nature" is that all do not believe and follow the Bible.

Much of the teaching of the Bible, it seems, makes no impression whatever, not only on the majority of people, but on many who claim to be teachers in Israel.

Let us study the third chapter of James and look at ourselves in its light.

There is something wrong. There are too many different things being taught; there is too much strife, too much bitterness, too much setting others at naught, too much self-importance, too much presumption, too much denunciation, too much of the holier-than-thou spirit; not enough meekness, not enough lowliness of mind, long-suffering, forbearing one another in love, forgiveness, fear of God and reverence for his word.

To be sure, we must obey God in contending "earnestly for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints" (Jude 3), and for the very reason which God gives in Jude 4; but it is equally sure that we must contend for nothing else. It is true that we must not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus as Lord, and ourselves servants for Christ's sake. (2 Cor. 4: 5.) It is true that reproving, rebuking, and exhorting must be done; but it is also true that these must be done "with all long-suffering and teaching." (2 Tim. 4: 1-3.) The reason, too, for preaching the word and being "urgent in season, out of season," is given—namely, because "they will not endure the sound doctrine, but, having itching ears, will heap to themselves teachers after their own lusts; and will turn away their ears from the truth, and turn aside unto fables."

This was said, not of Sadducees, Pharisees, and Herodians, or of sectarians of to-day, but of the church. Is the claim to be a church of Christ worth anything, with ears turned away from the truth and following teachers who teach fables?

There is something radically wrong. Pious men and godly women see it and feel the force of it. Men who are not preachers or public teachers in any way lament the present condition of the church in general, and some are asking what is the matter. Some good and thoughtful people asked me recently the difference between the church now and the church set forth in the New Testament, and why this difference.

I have suggested at different times lately that some of these thoughtful and good men, who are not preachers, write some articles, calling attention to what they see that is wrong and what of the truth is not taught and practiced.

We all know there is a wrong spirit and wrong manner in which to teach the truth. To preach the truth in a partisan and contentious spirit is wrong. The Pharisees, who rejected Christ, set themselves forward as the very conservators of the truth; but they said and did not. The same spirit to-day is not only condemned by the Lord, but, where it exists, stands greatly in the way of the advancement of truth. We all know the truth must be taught in the love of the truth and for the salvation of souls.

When men presume to set the pace for the rest of mankind and assume to be the guides of the blind and the instructors of the foolish, they arouse a wrong spirit in the ones they would save. "In meekness correcting them that oppose themselves" is God's way. (2 Tim. 2: 24-36.)

To some, some ridiculous and grievous blunders have been made in these particulars just mentioned.

God means something when he says: "Be not many of you teachers, my brethren." What does he mean by this, when he teaches also that in course of time all Christians should be teachers in their spheres and according to their ability?

Some see a connection between this instruction and the preceding declaration "that faith apart from works is barren." (James 2: 14-26.) What is the connection? The more men think faith without obedience is sufficient, the more they will be inclined to become teachers, because it is much easier to teach than to practice. The more men are made to see the importance of practicing all they themselves teach and to feel the responsibility of teachers, the less will they push themselves forward as teachers. But so long as men think it is their business to be teachers and the business of others to do the practicing, the more pharisaical will they appear to mankind.

Jesus, the greatest of all teachers, first practiced all he taught. "Jesus began both to do and to teach." (Acts 1: 1.) Elders are first to take heed to themselves and then to the church (Acts 20: 28); they are commanded to be "ensamples to the flock" (1 Pet. 5: 3). The very qualifications of elders show they are to first practice the good lessons they are to teach others. (1 Tim. 3: 1-7; Tit. 1: 5-11.) The preachers, Timothy and Titus, were to be examples in word and deed. (1 Tim. 4: 12; Tit. 2: 7, 8.) Here the Pharisees and Sadducees-the Jews as a wholewere condemned. The Pharisees liked the title of "teacher," to be called by men "rabbi," and to occupy chief seats in synagogues. (Matt. 23: 1-12.) They wanted the honor of the position without doing the work. Now let us all read the condemnation of all who do that which they teach others not to do. (Rom, 2: 21-25,) All Christians are commanded to be examples, the light of the world, and to let their light shine.

There were many teachers of error in James' day (Acts 15: 24; Tit, 1: 10, 11)—many who set themselves up as teachers. They had a form of godliness, but "denied the power thereof." What will be the condemnation of such teachers? A preacher's or teacher's responsibility is great; and the higher his position and the greater his influence, the greater his condemnation when he fails to fill that position, to exert the proper influence, and to teach the whole truth.

This verse teaches that he who exalts himself as teacher will receive greater condemnation should he fail than were he to fail in a humble and more retired position. Timothy was commended by the brethren at home before he was put forth as a preacher and missionary. He did not presume to take this position. He was to commit that which he had received from Paul to "faithful men" who should be "able to teach others also." (2 Tim. 2: 2.) Elders are forbidden to "lord it over the charge" allotted to them. (1 Pet. 5: 2, 3.) They must do their duty humbly and willingly, but not as dictators or lords. The evil tendency now is for preachers in places to assume the position of elders and to virtually dictate to the churches what they must do and who must preach for them.

The reason given that not many should be teachers is:
"For in many things we all stumble." This seems not to trouble many teachers, for it seems that many think they never stumble. They are the people, and wisdom will die with them. (Job 12: 1.) The teacher who stumbles and falls to teach the whole truth or who teaches more than the truth will receive "the heavier judgment."

"If any stumble not in word, the same is a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body also." There is some connection between teaching and stumbling "in word." In one's endeavor to teach the truth, one may stumble in word. Timothy was commanded to "hold the pattern of sound words" (2 Tim. 1: 13); and Titus, to be an example in the use of "sound speech" (Tit. 2: 8). False teachers stumble in practice, in word, and in teaching. They are "vain talkers and deceivers" (Tit. 1: 10; 1 Tim. 1: 6), who "by their smooth and fair speech . . . beguile the hearts of the innocent" (Rom. 16: 17, 18); there are others whose words "cat as doth a gangrene" (2 Tim. 2: 17).

Space will not permit the quotation of other passages showing that all men are human, all have faults, all make mistakes, and "in many things . . . all stumble"—not in willful disobedience to God, but in ignorance and weakness. Willful ignorance is sin. It is most fearful to teach error. Paul was free from the blood of men because he did not shrink from declaring the whole counsel of God, had warned all night and day with tears, and had taught publicly and from house to house.

Christians by this are not forbidden to teach the word of God in humility and to the best of their ability, but self-exaltation and presumption are forbidden; being wise in one's own conceit is condemned. Let no one seek "the chief seats," but occupy and fill well a humble position, and wait until prepared and invited to "come up higher." None should be teachers until prepared; the responsibility is too fearful. According to the divine standard, many teachers are not prepared. God commands all Christians to be teachers in God's way, in the Spirit of Christ, in modesty and humility, in earnestness and faithfulness, both by example and precept. Aged women are commanded to teach the young women the good lessons named in Tit. 2: 3-5. The Hebrew Christians were reproved for not being able to teach others. (Heb, 5: 11-14.)

Human nature is a strange and weak, but very common, thing. It is stronger in some than "the divine nature." It may find itself opposing truth because some one whose course in some things it cannot approve, or whose spirit and manner it does not indorse, teaches it; and it may favor directly or indirectly erroneous teaching because some one it likes teaches it. This is all wrong. Jesus did not oppose the doctrine of the resurrection, angels, and spirits because the Pharisees held to these doctrines. No truth must be opposed because some men whose course and spirit in everything cannot be indorsed teach it. Truth is truth, by whomscever taught. It is not to be changed into falsehood because certain men teach it. No one must allow prejudice and preference to warp the judgment and lead to the indorsement of error either directly or indirectly. All should be consistent and not condemn themselves in that which they allow. "Two wrongs cannot make one right," and one wrong cannot be justified by another; but one man may condemn others for a less wrong or evil than the one of which he is guilty. All must stand for the whole truth, regardless of who teaches or does not teach it, and regardless of consequences. All must rejoice, too, that the truth is taught.

My Trip to Abilene Christian College.

BY M. C. K.

When I accepted the invitation extended to me nearly a year ago for work in the 1920 lecture course of Abilene Christian College, I considered the opportunity thus offered to do good an important one and made some sacrifice in order to be able to utilize it; and now, that my work and observations there are a matter of record, I am prepared to say that the field for usefulness opened in that institution is of even greater importance than I thought when I accepted the invitation. I was not only favorably impressed by both the faculty and student body of the institution, but its enrollment of four hundred and fifteen students for the current year, with over thirty teachers in its faculty, gives some idea of the rare opportunity afforded there for far-reaching work. Its beloved president, Brother J. P. Sewell, and the members of his faculty gave my work their most hearty cooperation, with enthusiastic and unstinted indorsement of my efforts to defend the Bible and the principle of unswerving fidelity to what it reveals as against the uncertain, unreliable, and divisive speculations of men. While some other colleges and the churches in some other localities are being disturbed and divided over the latter. I was highly gratified at the expressed assurance that it is the fixed policy and determination to keep Abilene Christian College free from all such baleful and distracting influences. If the school continues to maintain the safe ground which it now occupies, of which those in charge of its interests give the most positive assurance, I bespeak for Abilene Christian College a career of far-reaching and widening influence for good in the future.

Many preachers from over the State of Texas and some from other States, too numerous to mention here by name, were in attendance during the lecture week, and it was a rare pleasure to meet them and to find them, judging from all I could see and hear, to be a faithful and godly company of men. Brethren A. O. Colley and J. B. Nelson, two of the preachers in the growing and interesting city of Dallas, were among them, and they literally captured and overpowered me with their brotherly and earnest entreaty to stop and preach one night on my return in that stirring and wide-awake "New York" of the Southwest. Though limited in time, with pressing work at home calling for my speedy return, I yielded to the insistent desire of these faithful and godly men, and am glad that I did. They and other Dallas preachers and their members had announced far and wide for a Monday-night meeting at Pearl and Bryan Streets. A magnificent audience assembled, filling the auditorium from pulpit to door, and I shall long remember with gratitude the hearty and enthusiastic greeting and cordial reception given me by both preachers and other members from the different congregations in Dallas. They impressed me as consecrated, wide awake, and "ready unto every good work."

After the meeting, Brother Colley, faithful minister at Pearl and Bryan Streets, took me to his hospitable home, where he and his good wife and interesting children made it my own happy home for the time and showed me every kindness and attention of which Christian hearts are capable. His is a model family.

Leaving Dallas on Tuesday, March 2, on the famous "Sunshine Special" by way of St. Louis, I reached home on scheduled time Thursday morning, March 4, with gratitude for, and pleasant memories of, my trip to Abilene Christian College. May it continue its good work and be a veritable tower of strength in standing for the one inspired Book and against all the opinions of men in religion.

Tennessee Orphans' Home.

BY MRS. GRANVILLE LIPSCOMB.

We have at present in the Home seventy-five children, including one we send to the Deaf and Dumb School at Knoxville and two we send to the Tennessee School for the Blind at Nashville.

Forty-eight girls and twenty-seven boys. Four girls over twelve years; the rest range in ages down to three years old. Two boys are in their thirteenth year; one, eleven years old; then the ages range down to three.

About half the children go to the city public schools; the other half, being too young to attend school, are taught by the ladies in the Home.

We have had the "flu" in the Home and five cases of pneumonia. Three of the pneumonia cases came very near dying. I believe the Lord was with us, as we had the health and strength to care for these children during their sickness.

At one time there were thirty-six children in bed. Some of them were not so sick, but we followed the doctor's directions and kept them in bed. We have several still sick, some getting well, and others back in school.

Our doctors in Columbia come to the Home when called; but Dr. W. E. Martin has handled all the cases of "flu" and pneumonia, and we feel that there is none better or more attentive than Dr. Martin.

We are very much crowded and cannot take any more children until some of these are placed in family homes, and during this "flu" period we could not afford to place the children out. We hope, however, that good, Christian families will open their homes for some of our children.

We have had numerous letters wanting to put children in the Home, and only wish the building were large enough to care for more children. However, we will soon find homes for a number of them so as to make room for others.

So far as we are able to keep up with them, all the children we have placed out since November, 1917, when the new management took charge, are in good family homes, and we hope to place others in such homes. We insist on those taking children to take them on trial, and if not pleased, to return them to the Home.

I am writing this letter in order to advise all interested in the Home how well it is succeeding and that all connected with the Home are faithfully doing their best.

The readers of the Gospel Advocate should welcome the information Sister Lipscomb gives. The cooperation of Christians is desired. In your contributions on the first Lord's day in April, remember the orphans.

J. C. McQuiddy, President Board of Directors.

Special Numbers for 1920.

Actuated by a desire to do the greatest amount of good possible and encouraged by expressions of encouragement from hundreds of our readers, the publishers of the Gospel Advocate are planning to issue some unusually fine special numbers during the current year. Heretofore the special numbers have engaged the earnest study and evoked the best thought of editors and contributors. The forthcoming numbers will be no exception. In fact, we wish to improve them in every way possible. Readers may look for the "Spiritual" Number to appear in April. Ours is a spiritual service. We are taught to worship God "in spirit and in truth;" to be "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." When we pray, we are to "pray with the spirit and with the understanding." The same rule applies to singing. It shall be our purpose to emphasize the true spiritualism of the New Testament, that it may prove a counteraction to a great wave of another kind of "spiritualism" that is now sweeping the country.

Every reader should have a part in the dissemination of these numbers. They always create a good impression when placed in the hands of new readers. Send us your order for a new subscription to-day. Help us to make a success of the special numbers by extending their circulation.

Publishers Gospel Advocate.

RELIEF FUND

"Whose stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry, but shall not be heard."

Church at Tupelo, Miss	7.85
Antiech congregation, Gainesboro, Tenn
Church at Macon, Ga	10.00
J. F. Lilly, Glendale, Cal	25.00
R. C. Thornton, Shreveport, La	5.00
J. L. Rutherford, Mount Vernon, Texas	50.00
G. A. Justice and family, Trion, Ga	6.00
California Avenue Sunday school, Nashville, Tenn	10.00
Emily Dunn, Woodridge, D. C	2.00

In sending contributions, be sure and state whether they are intended for the Home Orphans' Fund, the Armenian and Syrian Fund, or the Poland Fund. I should be glad if more of the contributions were designated for use in providing for orphans in this country, since there are constant appeals from destitute families close to us. Make all checks and money orders payable to A. B. Lipscomb, who will forward them to the proper commissioners.

Georgia and the Far Southern Field

By S. H. Hall

The Death of a Friend.

It is not often that I write about the death of the members where I labor. The rule is, I do not do so; the exceptions are when I do so. This is not because I would not like to say something of every one, but it is just because there are so many that the habit of writing something every time a member of the church dies would crowd out many things on other subjects that I think should be written. It is well to speak and write of death occasionally, and I know no better time to do so than when some child of God falls asleep in Jesus and one wishes to speak of the beauties of death, or when some unsaved soul is called away and one wishes to write of the horrors of death.

On Monday, March 8, Brother Stroud and his wife, Sister Richmond, and I went to Porterdale, Ga., to bury Brother S. F. Bowden. It had not been many months since I went with this good brother to the same burying ground to put away the cold form of his daughter, Katie.

It would be hard for a minister of the gospel to tell the inexpressible joy that comes to the soul when he arises to speak over the cold form of a husband and father, with the sorrowing wife and children before him, with the consciousness that he died in the Lord—the consciousness that there is not one thing that he has ever seen or heard about the departed one that makes him doubt that all is well with him. Just such a joy I had on this occasion.

Brother Bowden was a most lovable man. Well do I remember our efforts to lead him out of the meshes of sectarian error into the fullness of the gospel of Christ. Sister Bowden and Sister "Kate," as we all called her, saw the light first and took their stand for the plain, simple feaching of our Lord. Brother Bowden, though kind and thoughtful, wanted to know of a certainty about things. He had been sprinkled for baptism, and just why it was not well to stay in a religious order the Bible says nothing about was not so clear to him. He heard me through a revival. He heard Brethren Garrett and Graves a number of times. Then we had Brother Flavii Hall to conduct a short meeting at his home at Ingleside, Ga. He was a great lover of music, and he fell in love with Brother Hall.

Time rolled on, and I had begun to wonder if we were to make a failure in leading this splendid man to take a stand for just what he found in the New Testament—nothing more, nothing less. But one morning the telephone rang, and it was Brother Bowden at the other end of the line. He told me his mind was fully made up and he was coming in Sunday for me to baptize him. How good the news! He wanted to know if Flavil Hall was in Atlanta or near by; if so, to tell him to be there also. That Lord's day was a most happy day for us all.

I have never baptized a man who, subsequent to his baptism, showed a more fixed love for the pure word of God than this brother showed. He talked it to others. I never was with him after his baptism that he did not bring the subject up. The last time I was with him, his love for the truth seemed more intense than ever before, and his whole thought seemed to be fixed on the desire for all of his children who had not fully learned the truth to learn it as soon as possible; and I left him with the promise that the very next time any of the children came to see him and his faithful wife, who were living alone, that I, too, would run out, and we would have preaching service in his home.

Saturday, March 6, 1920, was his last day upon the earth. While he had been feeble for a number of months, he seemed better that day than usual. After supper he expressed himself as feeling so much better, and laughed and talked with his wife and son-in-law, Brother J. F. Pickens, till about half past eight o'clock, when Brother Pickens left them to return to his home. Sister Bowden had retired, and Brother Bowden had prepared for retiring and was standing with one hand holding to the mantle, warming his feet, when he dropped dead. His wife rushed to him in time to get him in her arms, where he breathed his last. They were there alone. She gently placed his head on a pillow and dressed and went to her nearest neighbor for help. And for his wife, I am so glad to say that but few women have I seen that are her equals. Her undoubting faith and trust in God is nothing short of the sublime, and people could not keep from remarking that no one could doubt that she was a child of God; for they could see God's presence with her, holding her up with a power that goes beyond the fiesh. Brother Bowden had said that this would be the way he would go, and he did not dread it. He soon would have seen his sixty-sixth birthday, May the Lord bless his every relative and friend in leading them to imitate his noble life in our Lord and Savior. How happy I would be if I could feel just as satisfied about all the people whom I have helped to lead to Christ as I did about Brother Bowden!

0 0 0

Selfishness.

BY S. E. TEMPLETON.

"But whose hath the world's goods, and beholdeth his brother in need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how doth the love of God abide in him?" (1 John 3: 17.)

This scripture certainly sets forth the thought of selfishness. When people fail to help those who need their help, when they can help, they are selfish. There is a tendency with most people to be selfish. Selfishness among Christians is the work of Satan. Selfishness is a curse to all people; and so sure as Christ Jesus died and rose from the dead to save you and me, and all who accept him, just that sure the one who is selfish in the sense of 1 John 3: 17 does not have the love of God in his heart and cannot be saved. We ought not to please ourselves in the sense of being selfish. "Now we that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let each one of us please his neighbor for that which is good, unto edifying." (Rom, 15: 1, 2.) We should imitate our Lord Jesus Christ and get away from selfishness. "For Christ also pleased not himself; but, as it is written, The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell upon me." (Verse 3.) God sees each selfish act, and will certainly remember them against us unless there is repentance, prayer, and confession (Acts 8: 22; James 5: 16). "The eyes of Jehovah are in every place, keeping watch upon the evil and the good." (Prov. 15: 3.) "And there is no creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and laid open before the eyes of him with whom we have to do." (Heb. 4: 13.) Just know that God sees you through and through. You may hide some of your selfishness from men, but God sees it all. If we are selfish in the sense of keeping for our own use that which we should give to people in need, may God and the Christ help us in repenting. If we are selfish in the sense of not going, or not sending some one when we cannot go, with the gospel to lost souls, may we crucify selfish self that we may be saved. 0 0 0

It is supposed by some, altogether falsely, that faith is opposed to reason and that Christ does not claim intellect. His very name is the word and the wisdom of God, and he demands the cultivation of all our faculties, and he bids us prepare ourselves in order that he may do his work.—A. C. A. Hail.

25

JOURNEYINGS OFTEN

By B. C. GOODPASTURE.

"What thou seest, write, . . . and send it to the churches."

How the Congregation Began and Grew.

It is said that Sister E. L. Hines first conceived the idea of establishing a New Testament church in Dickson, Tenn. Accordingly, in 1891, she induced Brother J. W. Grant to come and conduct a mission meeting, which proved to be the real beginning of the congregation. The cause grew rapidly. Soon Brother A. S. Derryberry was called to preach in and around Dickson. Following him, J. E. Acuff, I. B. Bradley, and John T. Smith labored with the congregation as regular evangelists. Among those who have conducted protracted meetings are E. A. Elam, J. W. Shepherd, F. W. Smith, F. B. Srygley, William Logan, R. P. Meeks, T. B. Larimore, J. W. Dunn, James A. Harding, J. S. Dunn, C. M. Pullias, G. A. Dunn, S. H. Hall, and Price Billingsley. Through the efforts of these brethren the membership grew until it is now more than four hundred. Thus one good sister is remotely responsible for the existence of one of the largest and strongest congregations In Middle Tennessee. It is remarkable what one person under God can do. The shepherd lad from the sheepcotes of the Judean hills delivered his distressed countrymen from the fierce onslaughts of the Philistine army, and a little maid, a captive daughter of Israel, taught her master, Naaman, concerning the prophet in Samaria who recovered him of his leprosy and enabled him to carry back knowledge of salvation to his own, the Syrian people. We should never despair when alone, nor "despise the day of small things;" for long ago Jehovah assured his people that one of them should "chase a thousand," and the wail of an infant, reaching the ears of Pharaoh's daughter on the river's brink, rescued for an enthralled nation its future savior.

* * *

Keeping the Unity of the Spirit.

Paul besought the church at Ephesus "to walk worthily of the calling wherewith ye [they] were called, . . giving diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace." (Eph. 4: 1-3.) This, I think, is being done in Dickson. The wholesome teaching of the preachers, the general reading of the Scriptures, the thoughtful ministrations of the deacons, and the wise and efficient oversight of the elders have made possible the existence of this commendable spirit of fellowship and good will. These are the elders: Oury Harris, D. E. Beasley, E. W. Daniel, D. A. Saeger, J. T. Register, and Dan Joslin. The deacons are: W. A. Meadow, John W. Hooper, A. C. Daniel, and A. H. Leathers. Miss Sarah Andrews worshiped with the Dickson congregation before she became a missionary to Japan. **# # #

Those Who Tithe.

Eight or ten of the leading brethren at Dickson give a tenth of all they get. They began on January 1. Under the law of Moses the children of Israel were required to give "all the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree. . . And all the tithe of the herd or the flock, . . . the tenth shall be hely unto Jehovah." (Lev. 27: 30-32.) In addition to the tithes, the Jews gave much of their time and many gifts and sacrifices to the Lord. Again, it is written: "Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of Jehovah thy God which he hath given thee." (Deut. 16: 17.) These commands indicate clearly what the Hebrews were able to do. They had an infallible estimate of their ability. The injunctions were specific and stipulative. In the New Testament we have no express precept for tithing; but we do have approved examples and urgent commands which clearly teach that we should give as we "may prosper" (1 Cor. 16: 2), and, if circumstances demand, give all that we have (Acts 4: 32-37). If the Jews, under the old, inferior covenant, were able to give regularly a tenth, surely we, under the new, superior, perfect covenant, should be able to give, at least, that much now. Very few people give as much as a tenth, but I have known a few who gave more. The Jerusalem church was most prosperous when it was most liberal. There are unmistakable evidences of a general awakening among the churches to the importance of the "matter of giving and receiving" (Phil. 4: 15), and it renders the outlook for the future more hopeful. A man's love is proved by his gifts (2 Cor. 8: 24), and his religion is measured by his love. The liberality of these brethren is unusual and to be commended. "God is able to make all grace abound unto you; that ye, having always all sufficiency in everything, may abound unto every good work." (2 Cor. 9; 8.) "It is more blessed to give than to receive." (Acts 20: 35.)

Attention, Readers!

To every one who sends us two new subscribers to the Gospel Advocate we will give a "Teachers' New Testament." This is a very popular edition of the New Testament with notes and helps suitable for Sunday-school workers and Bible students. "The notes and helps were prepared by a joint editorial board of the foremost biblical scholars in the world. The introductions were written by men of international reputation. The text is that of the American Standard Version-the latest translation-with proper names marked for pronunciation and the words of Christ emphasized in heavy-faced type." This is the book for the family circle, home study, and Bible class. If you want to get the Testament in connection with your own renewal or one new subscriber, add fifty cents to the regular price of the paper. Send your order to-day to the Mc-Quiddy Printing Company, 317-319 Fifth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn. 0 0 0

The earthly city, which does not live by faith, seeks an earthly peace, and the end it proposes, in the well-ordered concord of civic obedience and rule, is the combination of men's wills to attain the things which are helpful to this life. The heavenly city, or, rather, the part of it which sojourns on earth and lives by faith, makes use of this peace only because it must, until this mortal condition which necessitates it shall pass away; consequently, so long as it lives like a captive and a stranger in the earthly city, though it has already received the promise of redemption, and the gift of the Spirit as the earnest of it, it makes no scruple to obey the laws of the earthly city, whereby the things necessary for the maintenance of this mortal life are administered; and thus, as this life common to both cities, so there is a harmony between them in regard to what belongs to it.-Augustine.

0 0 0

Send us $1.50 for the book, "Salvation From Sin," by David Lipscomb. This book is made up of the editorial writings of this master mind and will be found very useful and helpful to all who will read it.

Instrumental Music.

BIBLE REFERENCES ON THE USE OF INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC IN WORSHIP AND THE LAW WHICH NEVER FAILED WHEN USED.

Causes which brought about these notes:

I. A recent letter from a brother in an adjoining State to the elders and ministers of the church of Christ at Tupelo, Miss., asking for "Bible references on the use of the instrument in worship or scriptures bearing us out that it is no harm (to say the least) to use the organ or piano, especially in a weak congregation where singers are limited and poor in vocal ability." Stating also "that a struggling congregation erected a building on a lot the deed to which contained a clause forever prohibiting the use of a musical instrument in the building."

2. There are divisions and disfellowship in the congregations at Tupelo, Miss., and Paldwyn, Miss., caused at least in part by the use of an instrument.

3. A brother at Baldwyn said to me: "If you have any reasons from the Bible to justify the use of an organ, you ought to give them, or put the instrument out," "The other side," said he, "claim to have the Bible against you, and the reason you say nothing is because there is no justification for the use of an instrument in the church."

Fifty years or more ago the denominations about us each fought a battle against irtroducing the instrument into the worship. The issue is now dead among them. Some of our own brethren have written and discussed the topic from time to time. If there had been a direct "Thus saith the Lord" one way or the other, the matter would have ended with the first investigation; but there are thousands who read nothing of these discussions, and, what is more, have not read or asked for "Bible references on the use of an instrument in worship." So for the above causes and conditions we beg to submit the following

SCRIPTURE REFERENCES.

Instrumental music was appointed and approved by the Lord in the days of Israel. "And he set the Levites in the house of Jehovah with cymbals, with psalteries, and with harps, according to the commandment of David, and of Gad the king's seer, and Nathan the prophet; for the commandment was of Jehovah by his prophets." (2 Chron. 29: 25.) "And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, even with songs, and with harps, and with psalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets." (1 Chron. 13: 8.)

psatteries, and with timoreis, and with cymbais, and with trumpets." (1 Chron. 13; 8.)

See, also, 2 Chron. 20; 28; 23; 12, 13; 1 Chron. 15; 16; 19; 22; 16; 4, 5; Ps. 68; 24-26; and many references in Psalms and Israel's history. Why were all these details of instrumental music written?

"Whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that through patience and through comfort of the scriptures we might have hope." (Rom. 15: 4.) "Now these things happened unto them by way of example; and they were written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the ages are come." (1 Cor. 10: 11.)

In such passages the Holy Spirit tells us what the Old Testament is for, and how to use it. All these things were written for our "learning," example, and admonition. For instance, we use the case of Abraham's offering Isaac as an illustration and example of faith; Jonah and the men of Nineveh as an illustration of the Red Sea by Israel as a typical illustration of immersion; and the entire journey of Israel from Egyptian bondage to their entrance into the promised land as a type of the ups and downs and experiences of God's true Israel from the bondage of sin to eternal freedom in God's home of the redeemed. What do we learn of God's attitude toward instrumental music? We learn that God appointed instrumental music and put it in his own house by his prophets; that it was used as a means of emphasizing and expressing their joys, praise, gratitude, and thanksgiving. Moses and Israel sang after their baptism, and Miriam took a timbrel and led a band of women with timbrels, repeating the song of Moses, ex-pressing joy of deliverance. We learn also that instru-mental music is not a sin in itself, for it was approved by the Lord.

Is there any law in the New Testament which we violate by using an instrument in his sanctuary?

WHAT THE NEW TESTAMENT SAYS ABOUT SINGING.

Rom. 15: 9: "Therefore will I give praise unto thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy name." (Quotation from Ps. 18: 49.)

1 Cor. 14: 15: "I will sing with the Spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also."

Eph. 5: 18, 19; "And be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the Spirit; speaking one to another in psaims and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody with your heart to the Lord."

Col. 3: 16: "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly; in all wisdom teaching and admonishing one another with psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts unto God."

James 5: 13: "Is any among you suffering? let him pray. Is any cheerful, let him sing praise,"

(Only a few other passages are found in the New Testament—such as Matt. 26: 30; Mark 14: 26; Acts 16: 25; Heb. 2: 12; which give no additional information.)

WHAT THE NEW TESTAMENT SAYS ABOUT INSTRUMENTAL Music.

Rev. 5: 8: "And when he had taken the book, the four living creatures and the four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having each one a harp, and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the saints."

Rev. 14: 2: "And I heard a voice from heaven, as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of a great thunder: the voice which I heard was the voice of harpers harping with their harps."

Rev. 15: 2: "And I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire; and them that had gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, stand on the sea of glass, having the harps of God."

The New Testament is for our law and contains the things that "bind" and "loose" us. Looking carefully over each passage quoted on singing, we discover no command to use an instrument, nor do we find a word or cirmand to use an instrument, nor do we find a word or circumstance in the New Testament Scriptures to forbid its use. Nothing to forbid any one to sing a psalm, hymn, or spiritual song pitched and accompanied by an instrument. Nor would an instrument in any way interfere with the "singing," "teaching," "admonition," "making melody," or "with grace of heart" to God. In fact, it is my conviction. tion that the instrument is implied and permitted by the verb used; and that verb spelled in English letters is "psallo," It is the only verb of the three Greek letters translated "to sing" in the New Testament which in its root meaning necessarily implies or suggests an instru-ment. It is the verb used in Rom. 15: 9, which is a quotation from Ps. 18: 49, and David's songs were accompanied by an instrument.

"Psallo," the word from which our English word "Psallo," the word from which our English word "Psalms" is derived, is defined "to touch," "feel," "stir," or "more touching." Especially "to pull," "to twitch," "to pull and let go again," "to twang with the fingers," usually "to touch the strings of a musical instrument," "to play stringed instrument with the fingers," later "to sing to the harm."

the harp."

"Psallo" is the verb used in four or five references given above—viz.; Rom, 15; 9; 1 Cor. 14; 15; Eph. 5; 19; James

We believe we are safe in saying wherever "psallo" is used an instrumental accompaniment is implied; and where accompanist is given with "psallo" the liberty to use an instrument attends the command.

So far in the New Testament we feel sure of the liberty in Christ to use or not use as we prefer.

REVELATION ON INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC-NEW TESTAMENT BOOK OF PROPHECY.

The apostle John is the witness for Jesus in the quotations made from Rev. 5: 8; 14: 2; and 15: 2. John was to write the things which he saw, "and the things which are, and the things which shall some to poss hereafter." and the things which shall come to pass hereafter." 1: 19; 4: 1.) Among the things which John saw and heard and wrote down as to the future were "harps," "harpers harping with their harps," "harps of God," singers, etc.

If God instituted and approved instrumental music and his people in the Old Testament, and will have instrumental music in his triumphal kingdom, will he not permit his children to use it in his earthly sanctuary, provided it be used to his praise and the edification of his people?

TWO RELATIONSHIPS OF SINGING.

We sing to each other and we sing to God.

"Speaking," "teaching," "admonishing" one another,
"singing," "making melody with your heart" and "with grace in your heart to the Lord." How can we do this with an instrument? David did it, and so can we, Remember the instrument pure nothing true the heart hemember, the instrument puts nothing into the heart, but assists in expressing what is already in the heart. What is the heart? Scripturally it is the power in men which perceives, understands, believes, purposes, and loves. God

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Makes Food Taste Cood

Creates an appetite, aids digestion, purifies the blood, promotes assimilation so as to secure full nutritive value of food, and to give strength to the whole system.

Nearly 50 years' phenomenal sales tell the story of the remarkable merit and success of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is just the medieine von need this season.

CONSTIPATION Quickly relieved by Red Cloud

Liver Berries.
Used in

sands of homes since 1883. Full-size family package sent on thirty days' free trial. Costs you nothing, if not relieved. Send no y. Write to-day. H. CLARKE & SONS, DEPT. 34, P. O. Box No. 1162. Baltimore, Md.

Send NO Money!

The Comfort, Style and Quality of these weg addy send you a pair on approval. Simply state lize-we take all the risk that the soft glove-fitting leather will delight you. Note that sair rubber heels, flexible requires out his roles will give you to much comfort.

Torid. 139 Arrival
Postage RRE
Ston Mail Order House, Dep. 8066, Bast Boston Mail Order House, Dep. 6066, Boston, Mass. Send my Nurses Comfort shoes on approval, I risk nothing!

Address

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

sees these wonderful powers at work and fully understands their "melody When you know words and tune of a song and listen to one who is trained to express themselves with an instrument, they can move you as effectually as if they were speaking the words. An illustration will help you understand my mean-I sat in an upper room at my lodging house preparing my morning sermon, when some one in the room below played very softly on an instru-ment "Sweet By and By." The song was very familiar, but I was moved by the very first sweep of the fingers over the keys. I arose and stood by the window, not able to understand why I should be so moved, sat down again, but could work no more till the wonderful melody ceased. Immediately I sought to learn who was the performer and discovered that it was a young lady musician who had recently lost her husband and little child. I only sat by the wire from earth to heaven and heard a sob and saw tears mingled with faith, hope, and love, passing from a bruised and purified heart to the throne of the Eternal. Her message, both to me and the Father, was sent with her fingers on an instrument. It was her heart's melody and grace. The secret of its melody and grace. The action with power was simply that she played with the crivit and, like David, "played the spirit, and, like David, "played with all her might." The instrument was her means of expression. It not only will not interfere with a sincere and earnest soul, but will help them to express the heart more effectually at times, if not all the time.

The New Testament teaches that Jesus and his apostles were Israelites; they were accustomed to the musical instruments of the temple. They worshiped and rejoiced there until Jesus sent them to the ends of the earth with his gospel and himself went home to the Father. (Luke 24; 52, 53; Acts 2: 46, 47.) Twenty 24: 52, 53; Acts 2: 46, 47.) Twenty years later the apostle Paul returned to Jerusalem, and as a Jew observed certain Jewish rites and ceremonies. becoming all things to all men. He was in the temple (Acts 21: 26) "purified." Paul wrote us more about music than any other one New Testawriter. Four of the passages ment writer. Four of the passages out of five quoted above were written by him; and in three of the four he used "psallo," being, as explained, the only verb to sing that by nature implies instrumental accompaniment.

If instrumental music is wrong, is it not strange that they left us free to use it? But they did.

EXPEDIENTS,

An "expedient is something which helps us to do a thing in a quicker, easier, and better way.

We build a house as an expedient for our assembling to teach and study God's word and to keep his ordinances. Lights, heat, and seats are expedients which we put in in proportion to our ability. We plan and erect a pulpit as an expedient to elevate the speaker or teacher where he can view his auditors and where they may see and hear better. The baptistery also is an expedient which helps the

For That CHILLY Feeling

Take Grove's Tasteless CHILL Tonic. It Warms the Body by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. Price 60c.

A WELL-KNOWN INSTITUTION

Probably no institution in America is more widely known than Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. Altho established many years ago it is to-day a modern sanitarium, having all the latest facilities for he correct diagnosis of diseases and their successful treatment thru medicine or surgery.

It was Dr. Pierce, its founder, who over 50 years ago gave to the world that wonderful stomach tonic and blood purifier, "Golden Medical Discovery," and that famous non-alcoholic medicine for women, "Favorite Prescription."

In his early professional career, Dr. Pierce realized that every family, but especially those who live remote from a physician, should have at hand an instructive book that would teach them something about First Aid. Physiology, Anatomy, Hygiene; how to recognize different diseases, how to care for the sick, what to do in case of accident or sudden sickness, etc., so he published that great book, the "Medical Adviser," an up-to-date edition of which can be procured by sending 50 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

Later, Dr. Pierce added another link to his chain of good works by establishing a bureau of correspondence to which any one can write for medical advice, without any expense whatever, and if necessary, medicines especially prepared in Doctor Pierce's Laboratory will be sent by parcel post or express for use al home, at a reasonable cost. Thus those who have symptoms of disease need not suffer mental agony fearing that they have some serious ailment, but can have a diagnosis made free by a physician of high professional standing. Write to Dr. Pierce relating your symptoms if you need medical advice for any chronic disease. All letters regarded as confidential

TETTERINE

Ends Complexion Worries

Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant, 50c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION TO THE GOSPEL ADVOCATE

DEPENDED UPON IT 20 YEARS

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been This Woman's Safeguard All That Time.

Omaha, Neb.—'I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for over twenty years for fe-male troubles and it has helped me very much. I have also used Lydia E. Pink-ham's S a native Wash with good results. I always have a bottle of Vegetable Compound in the house as it is a good house as it is a good remedy in time of need. You can publish my testimonial as every statement I have made is perfectly true."—Mrs. J. O. ELMQUIST, 2424 S. 20th Street, Omaha, Nebroka. Nebraska.

Women who suffer from those dis-tressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

To know whether Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, try it! For advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn. Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

CURED HER FITS

Mrs. Paul Gram, residing at $16 Fourth Street, Milwaukee, Wis., recently gave out the following statement: "I had suffered with Fits (Epilepsy) for over fourteen years. Doctors and medicine did me no good. It seemed that I was beyond all hope of relief, when at last I secured a preparation that curied me sound and well. Over ten years have passed, and the attacks have not returned. I wish every one who suffers from this terrible disease would write to B. P. N. Lepso, 198 Island Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., and ask for a bottle of the same kind of medicine which he gave me. He has generously promised to send it postpaid, free to any one who writes him."—Advt.

For the HAIR-

To make it soft, fluffy, and free from dan-druff, use

TETTERINE

60c at your druggist's or from the SHUP-TRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

Kintho Beauty Cream

For the Treatment of

FRECKLES

In Use for Over 15 Years

Your freckles need attention NOW or may remain all summer Use Kintho, the old and time-tried treatment that has given satisfaction for over 15 years, and rid yourself of these homely spots.

At All Druggists and Department Stores, people be prompt, decent, and com-fortable while obeying the Lord in baptism. The song book containing the written and printed musical staff with words is an expedient to help the eye convey the tune and words to the mind. An instrument is an expedient to help the ear to catch the sound or help the voice take it up and hold it, and also to keep the proper time. Here is where the issue stands.

Some think it all right to help the eye with the song book, but wrong to help the ear and voice with an instru-ment. Why is this? Let us deal carefully, prayerfully, and truthfully; for this is God's business, and we are his children.

WHEN OPINION COMES IN. In the absence of direct scriptural teaching or example, we resort to expedients, which is proper; but we must exercise care and patience, for "expediency" is a field where opinions grow in great variety. We are commanded to sing. How shall we sing? May I answer: "In the best possible way." Does not God desire the best? But our educated and trained singers tell us by precept and example there can be no perfect harmony without correct pitch and time. They secure these essentials by the proper use of an instrument. Why may we not do so, too? Some one replies: "The in-strument is not mentioned in the New Testament." Neither is the song book, Testament." Neither is the song book, nor are any of the expedients mentioned above. "But," says the objector, "the song book is a necessary expedient." You only think so, for many children and people who cannot read a song book are taught both the music and words and they sing without the book; but they cannot do the best singing; in short, it is a question of opinion when we are dealing with expedients. learn what to do and what not to do with our opinions. We must not force them upon another or the church as a divine rule or law, for they are not. Let us not place ourselves in the absurd attitude of allowing an expedient to help the eye, but condemning the expedient which assists the ear and voice; for that would be like per-mitting a brother of failing or weak eyes to use glasses that he might read the word of God better, while you re-fuse to allow the brother partially deaf to use an ear trumpet that he might hear the word of God better. We have not learned how to handle our opinions to God's glory or the good of one another. Take the "clause" which some are inserting in the deed to a church lot, forever prohibiting that an instrument shall be used in the building thereon. This is an endeavor, to say generations. Such an opinion has no foundation in God's law or the love of mankind.

THE LAW OF EDIFICATION.

1 Cor. 14: 26: "Let all things be done unto edifying."

In everything pertaining to our worship and services in the assembly of God's children, where no specific scriptural directions are given and we resort to expedients and opinions, we should constantly, prayerfully, wisely, and reverently ask about each feature: Does it edify? Does it build Does it make for the better? When the singers are few and poor in vocal ability, the entire congrega-tion should study how to make it better, with a holy ambition for the very best.

You can save money by getting our prices be-foreyou buy. Write our nearest factory today. FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS, (Manufactured since 1870) Atlanta, Ga., Brooklyn, N. Y., Dallas, Tex.

Again, in all matters of "expedients and opinions," after proper and faithful study and teaching, the majority should rule. Each congregation in the fear of God should plan and settle their own worship in song. If they desire to use a tuning fork, organ, piano, or no instrument, it is their business. There is no sin if they use an instrument; there is no sin if they do not use an instrument. God has left them free. Let no man attempt to bind.

LAW OF LOVE.

1 Cor. 16: 14: "Let all that ye do be done in love."

What is love? God is love. What three words mean more to the human family than "God is love?" This was the foundation of God's "un-speakable gift," all the means of grace, fergiveness of sins, and eternal life. Do you wonder that Paul and the Holy Spirit in the matchless Co-rinthian chapter said "the greatest of these is love." It was because Love is these is love." It was because Love is God; and when we are commanded, "Let all that ye do be done in love," it means let all that ye do be done in God. Are we not to be like God? "Add godliness?" Should we carefully meet and partake of the Father's likeness? This is the "highway;" Ifkeness? This is the "highway;" the way of holiness," "the most excellent way," the way where God's redeemed walk for safety, where con-ceit, vanity, envy, egotism, or any-thing that smacks of human weakness and selfishness are not found. have shunned the law, my brethren, I presume, because it has so much of God and so little of human nature Yet those nine monosyllables will do the work for us if we will accept and obey them from the heart.

In view of our sorrowing, bleeding, humiliated Zion, why do we not study God's word and way with more affec-tionate and humble devotion? Why do we not remember that we are his servants, engaged in his business, to do the work in his Spirit, inspired by his love? Bitterness, backbitings, wranglings, whisperings, and division are not fruits of the law. Who can stand under the shadow of this law and disfellowship a brother, or brethren, on account of opinions?

THE SUMMARY.

The history of Israel shows the "What," "How," "When," and "Where" of instrumental music with God's people. In sickness, sorrow, joy, praise, and thanksgiving, all

Israel resorted to instrumental music for emphasis and expression. These things were written for our "learning," "example," and "admonition." We learn that instrumental music is not a sin, for Jehovah appointed and approved of it. We come to the New Testament enlightened and encouraged as to the part instrumental music may have in the service and worship of God through Jesus our Lord. Jesus and the apostles, Paul and the Holy Spirit, make the way plain for liberty to use it. We are thrilled and com-forted also by "harpers harping with their harps" and "harps of God" seen and noted by John in the glory Instrumental music which we use as an expedient is peculiar in that it has passed God's approval long since and stands approved for the future. With hearts filled with his melody and grace, let us rejoice and serve in love. -M. H. Armor, in the Southern Chris-

A Model of the Past.

A model master in the distant past was Boaz, a man of great wealth. He did not hold himself too high to walk in his fields and mingle with his workmen. He was not only pious, but generous, gallant, and humane. He greeted his reapers as a God-fearing man, and conducted himself in an upright and becoming manner. His religion was in deed and in truth. He saluted his servants with: "The Lord be with you." He did not come to find fault and exercise authority, but with a prayer that the Lord might prosper them, and give them health and strength, and preserve them from disaster. But he also came to inspect and direct and look well after his business affairs. An employer can do much to encourage his workmen. It is a bitter thing for the poor not only to gain their scanty living by hard toil, but especially to suffer reproach because of their humble lot. The men in lowliest stations should receive most encouragement and praise. What the poor are really in need of is opportunity and sympathy. They want a chance and they want a friend .-Selected.

Boils Vanish

and are gone for good when Gray's Ointment is applied. It enters the pores of the skin, cleanses the wound, soothes the pain, kills the germs, and immediately begins healing. The blood is permanently relieved of the disease. Just so with sores, bruises, cuts, burns, stings, eczema, and the many similar forms of skin eruption. Its constant use for a century has made it a family word in every household. You should have it on your medicine shalf for emergencies. Phone your druggist. If he cannot supply you, send his name to W. F. Gray & Co., 818 Gray Bullding, Nashville, Tenn., and a liberal sample will be sent you free.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

THOUSANDS OF WOMEN suffer miserably from periodic attacks of headache, never dreaming that a permanent cure may be had. Headache nearly always results from some disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels. Take Chamberlain's Tablets. They will correct these disorders and there will be no more headache. Many have been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Tablets.

amberlain's Tablets

Piles Cured Dr. A. Upham's valuable electuary or internal remedy for PILES. CURES all kinds of PILES, old or new cases. It eradicates the disease from the system. If your druggist cannot supply you, send $1.00 for trial treatment, 6 packages for $5.00. Guaranteed, if not satisfied money back. Thousands of satisfied patients all over the United States. References any Bank, Postmaster or City officials.

Why Suffer? Get CURED. J. G. & A. HALL, Oxford, N. C.

The Need of True Gospel Work in East Tennessee.

BY GEORGE W. FARMER.

Some months ago a good brother and I were talking over conditions in East Tennessee, and he suggested the idea of some of our strong congregations each undertaking to support a man for a certain length of time in this section of our State. I approved the suggestion if it could be done.

I want it understood that we have no strong congregations in this section. All are weak numerically and financially; besides, there are some counties with no congregations at all.

The Cleveland work has become selfsustaining. We are asking no more help for the work here, neither are we asking any help for any places where we have little congregations.

We want to have several meetings held at some new places and try to establish some new congregations this year. I have the promise of a tent for one month, embracing the latter half of May and the first of June, and we have decided on Athens and Niota. The tent will be used at these points for that time.

Now I have decided to try to get the plan suggested by the brother on foot. How many congregations will each undertake to support a brother in one or more meetings in East Tennessee at some favorable time this year? I am sure good results can be obtained. How many congregations will agree to support a meeting or two? The congregations may select their man and the place to be worked; or I will assist in finding the place, if desired, and in giving any information necessary to that end. We would like for the work to be done in as regular, systematic way as possible.

Brethren, let us hear from you. Do not pass this by.

We should look ahead with courage. In the face of duty, obligation, and responsibility, courage only will send us through.-Exchange.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—Peo ple in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendld illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this; but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and in spite of the scarcity and high cost of paper he will keep this rare offer open for a short time longer. You will like this paper. It is twenty-seven years old and now better than ever. teen cents, mailed at once to the Pathfinder, 120 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep your whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

Rheumatism

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

A HOME CURE GIVEN BY
ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rhaumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly affilted, and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this maryelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar; but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when positive relief is thus offered you tree? Don't delay. Write to-day.

MARK H. JACKSON, No. 271F Gurney Bidg., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

"NOTHING BETTER AS A LAXATIVE"

Asheville Lady Finds Black-Draught An Effective Remedy in Her Family for Common Ailments of the Digestive Organs.

Asheville, N. C .- Mrs. A. K. Jarvis, 44 Woodrow Avenue, this city, says:

"I have used and heard of Thedford's Black-Draught for years; and I certainly have found it splendid for headache, sour stomach, indigestion, and other ills that come from a deranged liver.

"My husband and I keep Black-Draught in the house, and think It is splendid to keep off sickness. I have used it in small doses as a laxative, and there is nothing better.

"Black-Draught is a mild liver medicine; , . . any child can take it. I have found it splendid with them for colds."

Thedford's Black-Draught has benefited thousands in relieving liver ailments. It helps to drive bile poisons and other unhealthful matters out of the system.

"Black-Draught" is a stand-by in thousands of family medicine chests. It should be in yours. Its use should help to keep the whole family well. Prompt treatment is often half the battle against many ailments.

Get some from your druggist to-day.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

The Master's Vineyard

Arkansas.

Texarkana, March 9 .- About seven or eight have placed membership with ns in the past three weeks. Two valuable additions were men who have been faithful elders elsewhere. lady was baptized by Brother West-brook last week. The attendance of our digressive brethren continues to grow. They appear to be astonished to find no "cranks" nor "mossbacks" among those who are so busy about their Father's business. It is encouraging to know the Lord has people even in the midst of error who gladly hear their Shepherd's voice and come out from among them .- J. E. Walnwright

District of Columbia.

Washington, March 7.—We had an excellent attendance at church to-day and good reasons to be encouraged. Several new members have cast their lot with us. Contributions for the last week for the new church have been as follows: W. W. Gant and wife, $525; Murfreesboro church, $25; L. P. Carroll and wife, $10; church at Daus, Tenn., $15; through Christian Leader, $2. Total, $577. We sincerely thank the givers, and may God bless their sacrifice.—W. S. Long.

Mississippi.

Jackson, March 3.—Last Sunday morning I preached at the school-house in Pearl, Miss. Through the efforts of Brethren Gordon and Gunter, with several Christians moving there from Tennessee, we have a faithful little band at Pearl who meet regularly for Bible study and worship. Brother W. H. Sandy has promised to hold a meeting for them this summer or fall. There is lots of "flu" in Jackson now. Every family in our small member-ship, except one, has sickness in it. We need workers here very much. I wish some good, loyal Christians would cast their lots here. We meet in Odd Fellows' Hall at 3 P.M. and 8 P.M. on Sundays. Any one knowing persons that might be interested will please furnish me names and addresses, that I may go to see them. I will be glad when I can begin a tent meeting .- M. C. Cayce.

Oklahoma.

Shawnee, March 8 .- Our work at this place is encouraging. Despite the "flu," cold weather, and gas shortage, our work progresses. Three young men and a man and his wife made the good confession last night. The Lord willing, I shall baptize them on Wednesday. Brother G. A. Dunn, of Houston, Texas, will assist us in a meeting in May.—B. U. Baldwin.

Comanche, March 9 .- I here and now express my thanks to the brethren and sisters for the great kindness they have manifested to me in letters of love and encouragement, accompanied by financial assistance which has enabled me to provide medicine and other things necessary for one who is sick and unable to properly provide for himself. There certainly is yet much "pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father" in the world, and it is being practiced by those blessed ones who will hear the King say when he comes to judge his servants: "I was sick, and ye ministered unto me." As the church at Philippi sent "once and again" unto Paul's necessity, setting an example for all Christians in all ages, so do these dear ones follow their noble example. May God bless all the faithful. Just when I thought I was recovering and would soon be able to again become active as of old, the recent blizzard came, with low gas pressure and influenza raging, and I contracted a severe cold; and while I do not believe that I have the "flu" (I had it once), yet my condition is akin to it, and I am so nervous that I fear I cannot hope to be able to do any active work for some time to come. Brethren, pray for me. My physician thinks I will not recover until I have an operation for tonsil trouble. I rejoice greatly that I have been counted worthy to suffer and do something, and that I have the confidence of my brethren, the Lord's people, and, as I believe, the favor of my God. Let us all "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."-U. G. Wilkinson.

Texas.

San Antonio, March 8.-We enjoyed two good services at Denver Heights, this city, yesterday. One was added by relationship.—W. D. Bills.

Miami, March 8.—Our work here is still moving along. I filled my appointment here yesterday morning and at Lakton in the afternoon. We had good services at both places. The "fu" is about over here now and we are expecting to take on new life .-Lee Sanders.

Rheumatism Relieved

Renwar is guaranteed to relieve rheumatism by money-back offer. This remedy will positively neutralize the uric acid in the blood, which causes rheumatism. The amount of Renwar required to effect relief depends on the case which is being treated. Very often one bottle will produce the desired result. If you suffer with rheumatism, you should by all means try Renwar. It is harmless, even to the most delicate constitutions, and thousands will testify to its effectiveness in relieving rheumatism. Sold by druggists (price, 50 cents) or by mail from Warner Drug Company, Nashville. Tenn.

COUGHS, COLDS ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS

QUICKLY RELIEVED BY

DR. H. JAMES'

Extract of Cannabis Indica

COMPOUND

For half a century it has been successfully used in preventing smaller ills from developing into more serious ailments. Pint bottle, containing 2 weeks' treatment, $2.50; 3 bottles, $6.50.

CRADDOCK & COMPANY, Philadelphia, Pa.

Study of Acts 20: 21.

BY GEORGE W. BROWN.

"Testifying both to Jews, and also to the Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus

Now, I have been a reader of the Gospel Advocate and other papers for many years, and have read many of the debates that our brethren have had with the Baptists, and especially on the above language of Paul, and they give us this kind of expression or explanation, that things that occurred are not always recorded as they occurred, as though repentance did not occur before they had faith in Christ. Now, if we will look at it right, we will see that he said what he meant and meant what he said, and also in the order that it belongs. Jesus said: "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent ye, and believe the gospel" (Mark 1: 15) speaking in the same order as Paul spoke in Acts 20: 21. When Jesus said "the time is fulfilled," he had reference to Daniel's prophesying that the kingdom of heaven was to be set up. (Dan. 2: 44.) If we look at the language of Jesus and Paul, we will see that this repentance they spoke of had to come before they could have faith in Christ. Please do not understand me to say that those people were commanded by Jesus and Paul to repent without faith; they had faith in God, or believed in God. To talk of any one's repenting before any faith is unreasonable; and if they could, it would not please God. Paul says in Heb. 11: 6: "Without faith it is impossible to please him." Please note how Paul quotes repentance. He says "repentance toward God." does not say "repentance to God," for repentance alone will not bring an unregenerated man to God; for we see in 2 Cor. 5: 19 "that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself." Therefore, we have to get into Christ before we can get to God. So we see that after repentance we have to be baptized into Christ to get to God.

But some one may say: "I do not see why there would have to be repentance toward God before they would have faith in Christ," Let us turn to John 6: 44, 45. Jesus said: "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day. It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me." Please let the reader turn to Matt. 13: 15 to see the condition the people were in: "For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their hearts, and should be converted, and I should heal them." We begin to see why there had to be repentance toward God before they could be taught of God. In Rom. 3: 11, 12 we read: " There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one." In John 7: 3-5 we read: "His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples also may see the works that thou doest. For there is no man that doeth anything in secret, and he himself seeketh to be known openly. If thou do these things, show thyself to the world. For neither did his brethren believe in him." We can see from these passages the condition the people were in at that time. They set the commandments of God aside by their tradition; and being ignorant of God's righteousness, they were going about to establish their own righteousness; and as it is not in man to direct his steps, we can see why Jesus said: "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him." We see that they had to turn from the state they were in, back toward God, or, as Paul said, repent toward God, so they could hear God and be taught of him, which is the drawing power that draws them.

Send us a new subscriber to the Gospel Advocate.

When men hear God and are taught of God, that all blessings are in Christ and there is no other name given under heaven among men whereby we can be saved, only in and through the Lord Jesus Chirst, then they are ready to believe the gospel and have faith toward the Lord Jesus Christ.

Hatched 175 Chicks

and not one died, writes G. W. Miller, of Pittsburg. Okia. You can do as well. Save your precious, downy chicks. Write to-day to E. J. Reefer, poultry expert, 2252 Poultry Building, Kansas City. Mo., for his valuable free poultry book that tells how to make a simple home solution that cures white diarrhoa overnight and saves 98 per cent of every hatch. The book is free. Send for it to-day sure.

VACCINATE YOUR HOGS.

BUY SERUM direct from the manufacturers and be assured of a fresh, rectarers and be assured of a resur-reliable product. United States Veter-inary License No. 114; long-distance phone, Main 2589, Nashville, Tenn. Write for 29-page Hog Book; it is FREE. WHITE SERUM COMPANY,

SEX PROBLEMS

Every married couple and all who contemplate marriage should own a complete Book of Life, of 1,000 pages, handsomely bound, such as the "Medical Adviser." It unfolds the secrets of married happiness, often revealed too late. Sold formerly for $1.50. We can mention only a few of the chapters here: Mechanism of Life History of Marriage, Sex Problems, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Tronbles, Anatomy, Physiology, Medicine, First Aid to the Injured.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy for five dimes (or stamps), to readers of this paper. Address Medical Press, 640% Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind, Easily done. 1455555555555555555555555555555555555

If you combined the curative proper-ties, of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes. minutes.

minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

money. Fastes pleasant spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really extensishing. astonishing.

astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DON'T BE CUT Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment. If you have piles in any form, write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets, and you will bless the day that you read this. Write to-day. E. R. Page, 430-D Page Building, Marshall, Mich.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

"Baptists vs. Campbellites." No. 17. BY M. S. MASON. ,

We resume in this article the discussion of "the church a democracy." Mr. Bandy quotes Daniel, "diverse from other kingdoms," attempting to show that it was diverse in its form of government. That was not the character of its diversity. I need not tell what Daniel did mean, but merely say that it was a kingdom and nothing more, even though it was a "diverse" kingdom.

He further endeavors to establish his contention by saying that the churches are the God-appointed executives of the divine law. While in some sense Mr. Bandy is correct, though in the main in error on this point, he makes a democracy or republic on one of three forms alone. It takes three departments to compose a republican form of governmentlegislative, executive, and judicial. Mr. Bandy has only one for the divine system he proposes to change or rather misname. Of course, all his talk is made for the purpose of getting precedent for voting people in and out of the church and several other things which do not justify direct individual suffrage. We are sure of one thing: Mr. Bandy has not shown that the church is anything but a kingdom, neither will he show it; but we shall investigate what he says and see where he "hits it" and where he " misses it," and what there is in this voting in the Baptist Church, anyway, which is really the matter in ques-

He states on page 28 that his reason for liking the Baptist Church is that it is so "American-like" and "Bible-like." Granting all Mr. Bandy requires, his Baptist Church is only one-third American-like, and Biblelike to about the same degree.

He says our national government was patterned from the Baptist Church. Well, if it were, where did it get its legislative and judicial functions? According to Mr. Bandy's own contention, this church has only the executive.

He quotes Matt. 16: 19 to show that the apostles were made the executors of Christ's will, which is true, and then refers to Matt. 18 to show that this power was transferred by them to the church. I want to call attention to two things about that matter. First, it does not make his church a republic or democracy, as it only exer-

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days

Druggists refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Stops Irritation; Soothes and Heals. You can get restful sleep after the first application. Price

Foley's Honey and Tar

COMPOUND

AN OLD RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY, recommended for coughs, rolds, tickling of the throat, spasmodic croup, whooping cough, la grippe, and pronchial coughs, hoarseness, etc.

The First Dose Gave Relief

C. E. Summers, Holdredge, Neb., writest 'Some time ago I contracted a very severe cough and cold due to exposure. My cough got so had I could hardly sleep for two or three nights. A triend of mine recommended Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and I got a 60c hottle. The vary first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough once all night. By using as directed he naxt two days my cough was entirely gone, and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy and permanent recovery."

For more than thirty years Foley's Honey and Tar has been used with satisfaction and success.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Class of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the urlc acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up, and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or the kidneys are not acting right, or if the kidneys are not acting right, or if the bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lamon inter combined with lithia. lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure any one. makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrha! Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get I ounce of parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus step dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. For sale by all druggists or sent on receiptof price 90c by Chas. A. Smith Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.

cises its power in an executive function and not in a legislative or judicial way. Second, it does not exercise its power by direct suffrage, but through elders. In Acts 20: 28, note that Paul called the elders at Ephesus and not the whole church. In Heb. 13: 7, note that they had rulers. They did not rule themselves, as would be true in a real democracy, 1 Tim. 3: 5 shows that the house of God is ruled and does not rule itself. Now, so far as choice is concerned, no doubt the church in a measure was considered in many acts; but as to taking a direct vote and using majority rule, for this we have no precedent, example, or Majority rule from the principle. standpoint of principle is in direct opposition to Paul's teaching in Rom. 14. Here the minority may decide the expediency of a move, and not the majority, by which democracies and republics are ruled. Thus, when the church was made the executive of Christ's will, to give Mr. Bandy the full benefit of his argument, it was to be done through elders and not by a direct vote of the congregational membership.

He hits the Methodists and Presbyterians a jolt on conventions, synods, etc., which I appreciate and with which I agree, as it is a proposition of congregational polity.

Now, to establish further his contention that the church as a body is the director of its affairs, he uses some scriptures which we will examine.

1 Cor. 6: 1. Here Paul is giving directions in deciding differences that may arise among brethren. Mr. Bandy would have us believe these matters come before the whole church; but Paul says not all, but the least esteemed in the church (1 Cor. 6: 4), and in 1 Cor. 6: 5 he speaks of choosing a "man." So a direct vote of the congregation is not at all contemplated here.

1 Cor. 2: 3. I cannot see what he used this for. Of course it proves his contention about as much as other passages which he uses, but it is so remote it does not even elicit com-

1 Cor. 5: 6. Here his reference is to withdrawal from the Corinthian fornicator. Was there a vote taken? If so, prove it. Did the majority rule, or did the elders rule? Did they all decide, or a majority? And if so, how could they be a unit, as Paul commands in 1 Cor. 1: 10? If Paul contemplated in this transaction or any others deciding matters of this kind by an outright vote, where does bishop rule come in?

1 Cor. 5: 13 involves nothing that needs further comment. The same on 1 Cor. 5: 4.

2 Cor, 2: 7. Here the brethren are instructed as to the treatment of the Corinthian fornicator as to his restoration. Note that there is no vote contemplated on his readmission, because he tells them all to forgive him, and not a majority. They are all to receive him back.

Rev. 2: 20. This is an admonition to the church at Thyatira regarding discipline, and, of course, the same transaction was contemplated as in others. No direct vote.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send that paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sincere, nonpartisan, reliable, well printed in large type. The eyes of the whole world are fixed on Washington. The Pathfinder is right on the ground and will keep you posted on that is going on. You will like the Pathfinder's way of telling all sides of the story. You need this paper during this great presidential year, and you should send fifteen cents for thirteen weeks' trial subscription. Address Pathfinder, 145 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new friends.

A Friendship Which Falls Short.

Would we not count him a very poor kind of friend who applied to us only in time of need; who only came to us when in difficulty and distress; who sought us only when he had a favor to ask, and never appeared to care for our company, to desire and delight in us for ourselves alone? And just so it seems to me to be a very poor sort of friendship and a very low degree of friendliness when we resort to our greatest Friend only when danger threatens or adversity hefalls and otherwise disregard and neglect Him. It seems to me that to flee to him only at such crisis of our lives, to keep him, so to speak, for emergencies, and then to implore his power and help, is not only to put a slight upon his friendship and upon him, but is also to deprive ourselves of a great deal of peace and happiness, as we live our lives from day to day.-Selected.

For Colds or Influenza

and as a Preventative, take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets. Look for E.W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.

Men and Women

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swansp-Root, the great kidney medicine, is highly recommended by thousands.

Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that so many people say it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands of even the most distressing cases.

At druggists in large and medium size bottles, You may receive a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post, also a pamphlet telling you about it. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

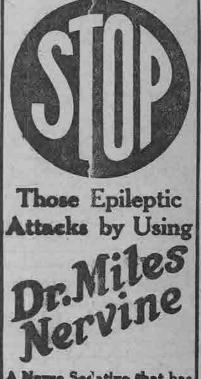

TETTERINE Drives Away Pimples

and leaves your skin soft and spotless. 60c at your druggist's or from the SHUPTRINE CO., Savannah, Ga.

ATARR

is quickly relieved by the application TURNER'S PENETRATING BALM. Is a TURNER'S PENETRATING BALM. Is non-irritating and pleasant to use. A trial package can be obtained without cost or ob-ligation by writing to the ligation by writing to the TURNER CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Bristol, Tennessee.

A Nerve Secative that has been successfully used in the treatment of Epilepsy. Hysteria, and other Nervous Disorders for the past thirty years.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS

MILES MEDICAL CO., Brishart, Ind.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's to longer the stiritiest need of feeling astramed of your freekles, as Othine—double straightle knaranteed to remove these homely apple.

Shortly get an ennee of Othine—double strength—from your droughs, and apply a little of it night and moreting and you should sook see that even the worst freekles have begun to disappear, while the lighter case have randished entirely. It is self in that more than one oance is needed to completely the the skin and gain a beautiful clear completion.

Be some to ask for the double strength Othine as him is a locality of the double strength other askins in the soul under guarantee of money back if it falls to remove freekles.

RUB RHEUMATIC PAI FROM ACHING JOIN

Rub Pain right out with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheu-matism liniment which never disap-points and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment, you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer!

Eheumatism away.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS

A pleasant, easy way to make moneyatilize an otherwise worthless part of your back yard and turn it into profit. Pigeons are easily raised, prolific, and clean. The markets are clamoring for squabs. A few pairs of our beautiful Red Carneaux and White Swiss Mondaines will start you right. Write for our FREE booklet, "Profits in Pigeons No. 6." Carolina Pigeon Plant, Clinton, S. C.

In answering advertisements, please mention this paper.

"By Faith." BY S. WHITFIELD.

"Now the just shall live by faith; but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him. But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul." (Heb. 10: 38, 39.)

Spiritually, we live by faith, and without it we could not live-we would die; but If we are going to live by faith, we must feed our faith, and God has given us his word that we might feed upon it. We have abundant examples in the Old Testament and in the New Testament that show us the power of God and his wonderful works, and by these we can increase our faith; but if we do not read, study, and give attention to these, they will do us no good. If our faith is weakening, we should be alarmed; but if it is growing, we are making progress in the Christian race. We need strong faith to stand the trials of the Evil One and endure to the end. We must keep on believing until it leads to the salvation of our souls.

"Not for that we have dominion over your faith, but are helpers of your joy: for by faith we stand." (2 Cor. 1: 24.)

If a person can stand and keep on standing to the end of life as a Christian, then all is well; but if we fall and remain down, then all is lost. We stand by faith, and without it we cannot stand. The reason that people fall is because their faith becomes weak. Unbelief was the great sin that led so many of the children of Israel to fall in the wilderness, and it is the sin now that is the cause of so many going astray.

"For we walk by faith, not by sight." (2 Cor. 5: 7.)

It is not in us to direct our steps to heaven; we must walk by faith. We cannot see our way through; we must go by falth. As long as we take God at his word, believe and do what he says, we are walking by faith; but should we turn aside to the doctrines and commandments of men, we would be walking by sight.

"But without faith it is impossible to please him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." (Heb. 11: 6.)

There is no way to please God, save through faith. We must have faith to stand approved before our Maker. We cannot have too much faith. Never was there a person turned away from God or Christ because he had too much faith. The heroes and heroines of the past who did God's will were all people of great faith, God and Christ were always pleased when people came before them showing faith.

"There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him." (John 3: 1, 2.)

The works that Jesus did proved, and still prove, that he was and is the

"And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book: but these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." (John 20: 30, 31.)

There are plenty of signs or miracles recorded in the word of God that prove that Jesus was the Son of God; and since he was the Son of God, we may all have life through him. He came that we might have life, and that we might have it more abundantly

"And that we may be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men: for all men have not faith." (2 Thess. 3: 2.)

All men did not have faith in the days of the apostles, and all men do not have faith now. Sometimes people who profess to be disciples of Christ do not have faith.

"Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls." (1 Pet. 1: 9.)

The end of the faith of the child of God is salvation. It will then be a question of sight. Let us feed our faith with the word of God, and keep on believing on the Christ, and then in eternity we shall see him as he is.

When you watch religion at work, you find a morality; when you converse with religion in its thoughtful moods, you find theology; but when you get to the heart of religion, you find a song.-Exchange.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)-Peo-ple in every section of the country are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and that he will keep the offer open until the Pathfinder passes the 300,000 circulation mark, which will be in a few weeks. Fifteen cents mailed at once with your application to Pathfinder, 157 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C., will keep the whole family informed, entertained, helped, and inspired for the next three months.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspironal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

wery Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter If Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your atch in your hand, take the drink tone swallow and call for your money ack in two minutes if you cannot rely our cold fading away like a dream ithin the time limit. Don't be bashal, for all druggists invite you and the peet you to try it. Everybody's ling it.

When your cold or cough is releved, take the remainder of the bottle come to your wife and babies, for spironal is by far the safest and most fective, the easiest to take and the st agreeable cold and cough remedy infants and children.—Adv.)

ANTI-FLAMMA

ultice Plaster, A soothing antic Poultice. Heals Leg Sores.

's out poisons, stops itching around sores, and heals while you work. Write to-day, describing case, and get Free Sample. Bayles Distributing Co., 18th and Grand Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

WINTERSMITE'S CHILL TONIC

ld for 50 Years FOR MALARIA CHILLS AND FEVER.

Church Work at Marshall, Texas. By C. W. LAGRONE.

Marshall claims between fifteen and twenty thousand people, and is the county seat of Harrison County. It is an old town, and it is a little strange to think that there is no loyal church building in this town. The nearest one is about fifteen miles away. The loyal brethren did not meet at all when we moved to Marshall nearly four years ago. Through heroic efforts Brother Kidwell got a few to begin meeting at the City Hall. We have met regularly, but we made but little progress until Brother Foy E. Wallace, Sr., held a meeting for us about a year ago and helped us start a building fund. We now have nearly forty members. I believe it was through God's goodness and wise direction that two of the leading digressive elders cast their lot with us and are still numbered among our most faithful and loyal members.

I am not a preacher. I am the sonin-law of a loyal preacher, L. Gough. I was reared a Methodist and thought I could never be anything else; however, through the influence of my wife and her brother, Dr. E. F. Gough, of Waxahachie, Texas, I am now a member of the church of Christ, and I thank God that I am what I am. ! am interested in the advancement of his kingdom. It has been my carnest prayer to God that, in some way, there might be a church erected at Marshall. I am frank to say that when I began this prayer I could see no way by which it could be done, but I knew all things were possible with Him who rules above. You cannot imagine the intense joy it now gives me to see the possibility of a church here in the near future. We are absolutely going to build one of some kind. If we cannot get help, we shall do the very best we can and grow into something better.

The "digressives" are strong here, and they have been drawing disciples from us for many years. Now some may say that they were not very strong in the faith or they would have remained true; but one of our neighbors tells us that she would not go or let her children go with them for six years, but finally decided that neglecting to meet was worse than meeting with the "digressives," and she and her children have met with them so long that she is now one of them. Now let some good, old, pious brother squeeze his pocketbook and say: "I am not responsible for any one's departing from the faith." You are, and it is time to quit that old prayer: "Lord, bless me and my wife, my son John and his wife-us four and no more." Do you get the point? It is time to leave of that evarorator "Wo have a church; let the other fellow

We have done our very best. We have raised in the last year over twenty-five hundred dollars for the cause. Show me another congregation without a church or a preacher and as poor in this world's goods as we are that has done one-half as much. It is our resolve to do our best again this year; and if we can just get into our own church, we can do much more. We cannot get much help here in this town, as there is one drive after another, and has been for several years; and, too, they cannot see that we need a building. They think we could meet with the "digressives." If the brethren would help us to the extent of one thousand dollars, it would make greater things possible in the Lord's work here. I will acknowledge all money sent to me.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—An unusual offer is being made by the editor of the Pathfinder to send the paper to new readers thirteen weeks for fifteen cents. This well-known national weekly magazine contains all the worth-while news of the world, illustrated, and presented in a most entertaining manner. It is clean, sincere, nonpartisan, reliable, well-printed in large type. It puts everything clearly, fairly, and briefly. Washington, the home of the Pathfinder, is the nerve center of civilization. History is being made at this world capital. 'The Pathfinder's illustrated weekly review gives you a clear, impartial, and correct diagnosis of public affairs during these strenuous, epoch-making days. It is the only big weekly magazine at the seat of government. Send fifteen cents for thirteen weeks' trial subscription to the Pathfinder, 135 Douglas Street, Washington, D. C. The fifteen cents does not repay the editor, but he is glad to invest in new friends

PELLAGRA

FREE Booklet explaining cause of this disease and how it can be treated successfully at home. Sent in plain, sealed envelope. Write for yours today Dept. F-29. Dr. W. I. McCarri

Odds and Ends.

BY H. W. JONES.

The "odds" are against those who would make themselves believe they can be saved from their alien sins without baptism. (See Mark 16: 16: Acts 2: 38; 22: 16; Rom. 6: 3-5; Gal. 3: 26, 27; 1 Pet. 3: 21.)

"There is a way which seemeth right unto a man; but the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14: 12.) "O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself; it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps," says Jeremiah. Therefore man must walk, religiously, according to divine revelation or grope his way in the dark.

"There are so many interior organizations in some of our churches that the church proper is well-nigh lost sight of, covered up by these secondary societies," says C. H. Ferrell, an anti-"board," anti-"society," anti-"convention" Missionary Baptist. How true! But is it not "odd" that he and many others do not realize that these "societies" and "boards" and "conventions" are authorized in the same chapter and verse where "Baptist Church" is mentioned? And, as "the church" has several fitting appellations to be known by in the Scriptures-as, "the church of God," "church of the first-born," "churches of Christ," etc .- isn't it "odd" that so many religious people, claiming the Bible as their guide, are not satisfied with all these scriptural names, but run off and name churches after an ordinance (Baptist), with names "Missionary," "Primitive," etc., prefixed thereto; and after methods of living (Methodist), with two points of the compass, "North" and "South," etc., attached thereto; and after a kind of church polity (Presbyterian), with the name of a river (Cumberland) prefixed to it? Yes, all such is "odd" for intelligent people in Bible coun-

"God will bless us [faithful ones]; and all the ends of the earth shall fear him," exclaims David, the sweet singer of Israel. And the word of the Lord in the New Testament teaches us that "if a man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God in this name"-Christian: and that "the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." But many people are trying to "glorify God" in other names, while in reality they glorify men. Of course, some may "glorify God" in spite of sectarian names; but in them, never! And, too, we who claim to be Christians only "are reproached for the name of Christ" by being called "Campbellites," "water dogs," etc.; the Low we are amid all

NUXATED IRON

A DRIVING FORCE

When you think of the successful men and women you know-people who are doing things worth while—you will find that they possess force, vim and energy—the kind that simply brim over when the blood is filled with iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and cre-

BEHIND KEEN SUCCESSFUL

iron. Nuxated Iron by enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed force and energy into the whole system. Three million people use it annually as a tonic, strength and blood-builder.

MAKE THIS TEST

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form.

In answering advertisements, please mention the Gospel Advocate.

this, "blessed." (Read 1 Pet. 4: 12-14.) "Rejoice, and be exceeding glad." (Matt. 5: 10-12.)

Is it not "odd" against the "odds" that some people, to "prop up" a weak, unscriptural doctrine, will contend that the body, or flesh, commits sin independent and without the consent of the soul, spirit, or inner man? The truth is: "The body is only the house in which the real man dwells. . . Can the house or home of the soul commit sin without the consent of the soul? This to me looks foolish," as J. A. Chambers, Missionary Baptist, truly says against his "Brother Osment," in the Baptist Flag. You are right, Brother Chambers; such theory does not only "look" foolishit is foolish. As Jesus says: "The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." So the spirit of man, the real ego, I, or "inner man," being in the flesh, is under its influences and desires, and, weakened thereby, is sometimes overcome and sins. (See

"What fruit then had ye at that time [before conversion] in the things wheref ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death. But now being made free from sin and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto sanctification, and the end eternal life." (Rom 6: 21 22.) Yes, "he that endureth to the end, the same shall be saved "—eternally in heaven. Then let us, like Paul, buffet our bodies, and bring them into bondage, lest we be rejected." (See 1 Cor. 9: 27.)

You Do More Work,

W

a

You are more ambitious and you get me enjoyment out of everything when yo blood is in good condition. Impurities the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TON' restores Energy and Vitality by Purify and Enriching the Blood. When you's its strengthening, invigorating effect, how it brings color to the cheeks and it improves the appetite, you will appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill T( is not a patent medicine, it is s'
IRON and QUININE suspended in S
So pleasant even children like it.
blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities it the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes More than thirty-five years ago, folk would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS Chill TONIC when member of their family had Malaria a needed a bedy-building, strength-givit tonic. The formula is just the same t day, and you can get it from any drestore. 60c per bottle.

GET READY FOR "FLU"

Keep Your Liver Active, Your System Purified and Free From Colds by Taking Calotabs, the Nausealess Calomel Tablets, that are Delightful, Safe and Sure.

Physicians and Druggists are advising their friends to keep their systems purified and their organs in perfect working order as a protection against the return of influenza. They know that a clogged up system and a lazy liver favor colds, influenza and serious complications.

To cut short a cold overnight and to prevent serious complications take one Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no griping, no sickening after effects. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is puri-fied and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for break fast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents.
Every druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not perfectly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Re store Color, Gloss, and Attractiveness

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly com-pounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked, or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make It at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sul-phur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

Electric Vitalizer

OBITUARIES

Crowder.

Brother and Sister W. O. Crowder. of Appleton, Tenn., are mourning the death of their daughter, Lucile. She died on January 10, 1920, at the age of eighteen. In early youth Lucile heard the call of the gospel; and hearing, she believed; and believing, she repented and was immersed, and thus became a member of Christ's body, the church. She had an abundance of that charity that "thinketh no evil." I am sure that it could be said of her that "from a child" she had "known the holy Scriptures." As evidence of this fact, she obeyed the gospel at the age of eleven. Her Christian character was above reproach; her faith was steadfast, with love sublime. She loved the house of the Lord and was always anxious to go to the place of worship. She was not afraid to die. Having spent her short life in doing the commandments of God, she had a right to the tree of life. To the father and mother I would say: Dry up your tears; your dear child has made a safe entrance into the paradise of God. She now rests from all her labors, and her sweet life is still living. Funeral services were held at Appleton, where she delighted to go to church, conducted by the writer of this.

THOMAS C. KING.

Miller.

After fourteen months of severe illness, attended by untold suffering, at the age of eighty-two years, Brother Joe McCray Miller passed quietly and serenely to rest from his labors, entering into a complete fruition of that peace that passeth all understanding. He was born in Sumner County, Tenn., but at an early age removed to Wilson County. He was reared on a farm and made farming his occupa-tion until falling health, four years He was reared on a ago, caused him to retire from active business life. For years he and his brother, Capt. A. K. Miller, who sur-vives him, were owners and operators of the famous Miller Brothers' plantation, and in this he was known throughout Tennessee as one of the foremost stock raisers of the South. In this he has done as much as any other man toward the improvement of the stock interests of the county. He served with gallantry in the Confederate Army from 1861 till the surrender, in Company K, Sixth Tennessee, under General Paul Anderson. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Josephine Lash, of which union the following children survive: Sister G. J. Arrington, of Sweeney, Texas; Sister John Grissim and Sister R. E. White, of Lebanon, Tenn.; Brother Judson Miller, of Lockney,

Keep Your Eves

Texas; and Brother Lash Miller, of Lebanon, Tenn. His second marriage was to Miss Mary H. Wood, of Fayetteville, Tenn. She survives him. On account of failing health, about four years ago he left the farm and removed to Lebanon, where he was happy and contented until he became a victim of serious illness. He was a man of sterling strength of character, with high ideals, honest and upright in all of his dealings, worthy to be trusted always. He loved the church, enjoyed sitting in the assembly of the saints to hear the preacher and enjoy the worship. From the time of his entering the service of God he manifested his good business acumen in that he felt that he must always help meet the expenses of the church. and always tried to do his part. As his illness grew more serious and the end drew nearer and nearer, he pressed his precious faith more closely to his bosom and thanked his dear Father in heaven for his wonderful love, mercy, and long-suffering toward him. During the long, weary, rest-less, waiting hours of suspense with which the life slowly ebbed away, the loving hands of a good, true, gentle, but heroic wife with a devotion that knows no such word as Tail; the faithful, affectionate, prayerful ministrations of Christian daughters; the everready, earnest watchfulness and helpfulness of dear nieces-these were the vigils in silent loving, heart-throbbing waiting till this soul took its flight to the brighter and better world.

GEORGE W. FARMER.

Tells Why Chicks Die

E. J. Reefer, the poultry expert, 3253
Poultry Building, Kansas City, Mo., is giving away free a valuable book, entitled "White Diarrhoa, and How to Cure It."
This book contains scientific facts on white diarrhoa, and tells how to prepare a simple home solution that cures this terribic disease overnight and actually raises 98 per cent of every hatch. All poultry raisers should cortainly write Mr. Reefer for one of these valuable FREE books.

The hope of humanity came true in Bethlehem nearly two millenniums ago. The world, with all its sin and sorrow, can never be the same again since He came who is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.-G. F. Hallock.

To Cure a Cold in One Day Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE (Tablets.) It stops the Cough and Headache and works off the Cold. E. GROVE'S signature on each box. 30c. E. W.

CHURCH NEWS

Oklahoma.

Muskogee, March 8.—We had good attendance and interest at East Okmulgee Avenue and K Street yesterday. One took membership, and one family from Kansas City has moved here and are meeting with us. We also took the emblems to three families Sunday and had short services in their homes. These were sick and unable to attend regular services. We have two meetings scheduled for this year. Brother A. M. Foster will preach for us the second Sunday. Brother W. L. Oliphant has been sick for two weeks and was unable to fill his appointment.—T. S. Bain.

Texas.

Fort Worth, March 8.—I was able yesterday to be carried in a closed car to church, the first time in six weeks I had been to church! O, what a day it was for me! Brother J. A. Cullum preached, and the sermon was full of the good things of the gospel, with lots of strong meat, well balanced with good human judgment and strongly studded with a "Thus saith the Lord." I am glad Brother Cullum will live here. Call him out, brethren; he is what you need in your meeting. Well, my own condition is improved. I would swiftly regain my health here were it not for my lungs, but on that account I must leave for a short recuperative period in South Texas. I shall go to San Antonio next Thursday, and will ramble around in that section of the State until I am again able to resume my work here, which I am assured will be open for me when I return.—Tice Elkins.

Denton, March 5 .- I am still gaining my strength and am now able to go right into the field of the Master and do my best in preaching the word wherever I am needed. I was with the faithful little band of disciples at Kaufman last Sunday and did my best w give them a word of encouragement in the Lord's work. I have a meeting to hold near Woodward, Okla., as soon as the "flu" conditions will permit. This will be my first meeting since my long spell of sickness in Alabama. But now I am ready for work; and the fact is that my long spell of sickness has been hard on me and I need the work. It has been three months since I took sick, and my expenses have gone on all this time. Almost any congregation can have me visit them and give at least a course of five or six lectures, which will be good for both the church and town. D. S. Ligon.

Dallas, March 10.—The churches of Dallas were given a great treat and a feast of good things one week ago tonight by being visited by Brother M. C. Kurfees, of Louisville, Ky. While Brother A. O. Colley and I were attending the lectures at Abilene, Brother Kurfees being the chief speaker on the program, we were so deeply impressed with the convincing and logical discourses of the "blue-grasser" that we could not refrain from getting a promise from him to stop over one night in Dallas. Brother Colley and I rushed home and made preparations for him to speak in the Harmless, purely vegetable, Infants' and Children's Regulator, formula on every label. Guaranteed non-narcotic, non-alcoholic

For highly gratifying and most astonishing results in checking diarrhoea, and relieving wind colic, flatulency, constipation, and other disorders of baby and childhood use

ARS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

It is the safest and best combination of purely vegetable ingredients that medical skill has ever devised and endorsed as this complete open published formula shows. Read it.

Senna Sodium Citrate Rhubarb Sodium Bicarbonate

Oil of Anisa Fennel Caraway Glycerine

It costs more to make Mrs. Winslow's Syrup than similar preparations. Yet't costs you no more than ordinary baby laxatives. At all Druggists.

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO., 215-217 Fulton St., New York General Selling Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Inc., New York, London, Toronto

PELOUBET'S NOTES FOR 1920 NOW READY

Peloubet's Is the World's Greatest Commentary on the International Uniform Sunday-School Lessons

It has been issued for forty-six years with ever-increasing popularity and usefulness, which fact alone is a wonderful argument for its value and helpfulness. Rich in material, comprehensive in its scope, practical in its treatment. Every superintendent, teacher, and scholar will find in it his own personal requirements. Marion Lawrance voices the sentiments of thousands when he says:

"How this standard commentary has been able to maintain itself during all these years, growing annually stronger and richer, is a marvel to the Sunday-school world. Personally, I do not see how any Sunday-school teacher can hope to do his best without the rich, full helps found in these NOTES."

It Should Be the Companion of Every Sunday-School Worker.
Price $1.60, delivered. Send your order to-day to

McQUIDDY PRINTING COMPANY

317-319 Fifth Avenue, North

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Pearl and Bryan Streets church house. All the local congregations were urged to attend, and they were anxious to do so. A large audience greeted Brother Kurfees, and he reciprocated by giving a masterful lesson on Deut. 29: 29. All were elated and wanted him to stay longer. Brother Kurfees adheres strictly to the revealed things of God and warns against all speculations, and he clearly set forth the danger of departing from the revealed truths of God. Brethren Blansett, Starnes, and Colley, the local preachers, with others, were elated over the visit.—J. B. Nelson.

Free Chick Book

tells how to save baby chicks from dying of white diarrhoa by using simple home solution. It's free, E. J. REEFER, Poultry Expert, 3253 Poultry Building, Kansas City,

Gems of Thought.

"Guard me when I am off guard," prayed one the other day. It was a wise prayer, for it is not the danger against which we have fortified ourselves, the temptations which we know and are watching, which are so likely to compass a fall as some unthought-of point where no peril was suspected.—J. R. Miller.

What are Christians put into the world for except to do the impossible in the strength of God?—Gen. S. C. Armstrong.

A Warning.—To feel tired before exertion is not laziness—it's a sign that the system lacks vitality and needs the tonic effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sufferers should not delay. Get rid of that tired feeling by beginning to take Hood's Sarsaparilla to-day.

Volume LXII, No. 13.

NASHVILLE, TENN., MARCH 25, 1920.

$2 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

CONTRIVER

EDIFYING AS THE NEED MAY BE
OUR CONTRIBUTORS
TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN
GEORGIA AND THE FAR SOUTHERN FIELD
AT HOME AND ABROAD
EDITORIAL
RELIEF FUND
SPECIAL NUMBERS FOR 1920
FARMER-PREACHERS 301
WHY A DEARTH OF PREACHERS?
THE SCARCITY OF PREACHERS
CHURCH NEWS
OBITUARIES 310
OBITUARIES
THE ALMOSTER WAS A P. P. LEWIS CO. L. P. P. P. P. L. P.

W

Edifying as the Need May Be

The Man Who Went.

In the charge to the elders at Ephesus, Paul said: "And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there: save that the Holy Spirit testifieth unto me in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me. But I hold not my life of any account as dear unto myself, so that I may accomplish my course, and the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I went about preaching the kingdom, shall see my face no more. Wherefore I testify unto you this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men. For I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God." (Acts 20: 22-27.) Paul states that he was about to "go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem," and, furthermore, that "the Holy Spirit testifieth unto me in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me." There has been not a little speculation as to how Paul received this testimony of the Spirit. That is not a matter for profitable discussion. The really important point for us to consider is that Paul, constrained by conscience and duty, went. Nothing could keep him back. It reminds us of that time in Elijah's experience when God commanded that he show himself unto Ahab. In one verse is recorded God's command. In the next verse appears the simple statement: "And Elijah went to show himself unto Ahab." On his way he met Obadiah, a good man, who was over Ahab's household. The prophet said: "Go, tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here." But Obadiah objected strenuously to delivering any such message to Ahab. "As Jehovah thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee; and when they said, He is not here, he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not." But to every objection that Obadiah advanced, Elijah turned a deaf ear. How magnificent the courage of the man who could say: "As Jehovah of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely show myself unto him to-day!" "Go tell Ahab that I am coming." Such is the dauntless spirit of the apostle Paul. "The Spirit tells me I must go to Jerusalem in the face of trials and afflictions, and to Jerusalem I must go." You talk about patriotism. That is the kind of patriotism that God honors.

0 0 0

How Do You Think of Mexico?

Some are willing to go to Mexico and "fight for your country," as they think; but how many would be willing to go down there in times of peace to preach the gospel to their perishing souls? I stand ready to give credit to any man for a fine sentiment whenever and wherever uttered, and, therefore, I do not blush nor apologize for quoting the words of Francis Xavier, a Roman Catholic, who, speaking about the dangers and difficulties of a missionary's life, said: "If these islands had scented woods and mines of gold, Christians would have courage enough to go thither, nor would all the perils of the world prevent them. But they are dastardly and alarmed because there are only the souls of men to be saved. But this I dare to say, that whatever form of torture or of death awaits me, I am ready to suffer it ten thousand times for the salvation of a single soul." What a pity that a man with such a spirit did not deliver the message like Paul!

0 0 0

Is Your Life Dear Unto Yourself?

The apostle said: "I hold not my life of any account as dear unto myself." Not long ago a metropolitan paper recorded the death of a prominent citizen. The notice stated his name, a historic one, and mentioned his family; then it gave the various social clubs with which he had been identified, and concluded with these words: "He was a well-known patron of the turf; he was one of the best connoisseurs of wine in America, and was always present at every first night at the theater and opera." This man was the exact opposite of the apostle Paul. He held his life as dear unto himself, not as dear unto his Maker.

"I lived for myself, I thought for myself— For myself, and none beside; Just as if Jesus had never lived, As if he had never died."

Sometimes a young man approaches you with an air of self-complacency and says, "My idea of life is to take things easy," by which he means that his idea is to get just as much for himself as possible, regardless of others. It would be a hard thing to say, but the truth, no doubt, to tell him: "Young man, it would be better for you and for the world if some one would hang a millstone around your neck and throw you into the river."

Climbing the Hills on High Gear.

Paul's great purpose in life was to accomplish his course and the ministry which he had received from the Lord Jesus. In automobile phraseology you hear a good deal about "high gear" and "low gear." The car that can go up the highest hill on high gear always receives favorable mention. And the Ford, which has become the butt of many a joke, has been facetiously likened to the Bible because it carries you up "on high." But, seriously, this remark affords a striking figure of Paul's high purpose of living. The lever that operated was always marked "high." His eye was ever on the goal. What were such things as bonds, imprisonments, and afflictions? Nothing more than bills that he felt abundantly able to climb so long as kept "on high." The prophets used to call the service of the Lord a "burden." It was an awful weight upon them which they would have gladly laid down if the Lord had permitted. Never once does Paul use the word "burden" in reference to his work. It is not something that he carries. It is something that lifts him up, gives lightness to his feet, expansion to his heart, grace and power to climb the hills of life. How truly has some one said: "There is nothing to be done unless we are contented to live on the stretch. Easy-going lives are always contemptible lives!" Let us resolve not only to go to heaven, but to go on high gear, "stretching forward to the things which are before," pressing on "toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Longfellow, in "Evangeline," has a beautiful bit of verse about the "shrinking mimosa," a tender plant that closed its leaves when the horses' hoofs were tramping on the turf of the prairies. Just so the apostle Paul heard the hoof beats of his enemies. Scenting danger, he turned to those Ephesian elders and said: "And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I went about preaching the kingdom, shall see my face no more." He spoke only of this life. Those Ephesian elders, if they were faithful, and you and I, if we are faithful, shall see his face in heaven and thank him for this lesson.

Book Notices.

Have you read "Handbook on Baptism?" Price, $1.50. It is a splendid book of reference.

"Sweeney's Sermons" is an instructive book of sermons. Strong, logical, and convincing. Price, $1.25.

"Life and Sermons of Jesse L. Sewell," by David Lipscomb, is a fine book and should have an extended reading. Price, $1.25. We will be glad to mail you a copy.

"Adventism and the Bible" is a readable book and thoroughly exposes Adventism. It gives a reliable history of the origin and vagaries of the doctrine. It pays its respects to Mrs. White. Price, $1.25. Mail us your order to-day.

We have left a few copies of Peloubet's Select Notes for 1920. Every teacher in the Bible schools should have a copy of this book. It contains much valuable help. Price, $1.60, postpaid. Send your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company.

"The Model Church," by G. C. Brewer, is a splendid book to circulate. It is very highly commended by those who have read it. The churches would do well to circulate the book. It is thoughtful, lucid, and helpful. The book is more practical than theoretical Price, $1, postpaid. The book may be ordered from the McQuiddy Printing Company.

"The Spirit and the Word," by Z. T. Sweeney, is a most readable book. The style is easy and convincing. The price of the book is $1.25. We will be glad to furnish it to our readers. Mail your order to-day to the McQuiddy Printing Company, before our present supply is exhausted.

The Parable of the Tares.

[A review of Brother Elam's comments on the Sundayschool lesson of May 6, 1906, in the Advanced Gospel Quarterly, by Benjamin Isenberg, of Cave City, Ky., Route 4, Box 118, and printed in pamphlet form. See Brother Elam's reply on another page.]

My Dear Brethren: As this is a free country, and every one is allowed "free speech," and as we are commanded to watch as well as to pray, and as we are fallible beings, subject to error and mistakes, I feel that I would not be doing the will of the Master, if I did not speak a few words to my brethren and to others as well.

In regard to Brother E. A. Elam's comment on the Sunday-school lesson of May 6, 1906, published by the Gospel Advocate Publishing Company, entitled "The Parable of the Tares," he says "the kingdom of heaven" in this parable means God's rule throughout the universe, and that all the good and the bad in it represent the wheat and tares. Jesus says: "My kingdom is not of this world." (John 18: 36.) He further says: "Jesus came to establish God's rule over men, or his kingdom on earth." Now, my brother, did he establish his kingdom on earth? If so, according to your reasoning, everybody is in the kingdom on earth.

I understand the kingdom of heaven to mean the church, "the called out," and not the entire universe. John the Baptist said, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. 3: 2), which means the church which Jesus came to establish. The kingdom of heaven in all the parables means the church. But different parables represent different features of the kingdom, or church. Paul says we are translated "into the kingdom" (Col. 1: 13), which means the church.

Why did Jesus call the church which he came to establish "the kingdom of heaven?" Because it was heaven bought. God made the great sacrifice for it in the gift of his Son. Jesus rarely ever claimed anything for himself. He said to one who called him "Good Master;" "Why callest thou me good? none is good, save one, that is, God." (Luke 18: 19.) He knew that he was yet in the flesh, subject to temptation. (Heb. 4: 15.) So he spoke in parables to fulfill prophecy, which says he would open his mouth in parables and utter things which had been kept secret from the foundation of the world. (Matt. 13: 34, 35.) So he did, "and without a parable spake he not unto them"—the multitude.

Prophecies are like patterns, and all the parables are like patterns. So these patterns were to show the apostles what the kingdom of heaven, the church, would be like when it did come. For it had not come yet; for Jesus said to his disciples: "Pray, Thy kingdom come." (Matt. 6: 10.) So we will lay down the pattern and cut the garment, the church, by the pattern, the parable of the tares. (Matt. 13: 24-30.)

"Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field: but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way. But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also. So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares? He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up? But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them. Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them; but gather the wheat into my barn."

Jesus says: "The kingdom of heaven [the church] is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field." Now we know that everything in the world, pertaining to the animal and vegetable kingdoms, lives, grows, and propagates by and through a seed, in which the "germ of life" is created. So, our Lord, through the figure of analogy, has taught us that this is not only true in the animal and vegetable kingdoms, but that it is also true in the spiritual kingdom.

In the beginning God ordained it to be so. He said: "Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so." (Gen. 1: 11.) So we see that everything wherein is life was created in the beginning of the world, and will be perpetuated on to the end of the world by and through a seed.

So you ask: "How about the seed of the kingdom of heaven, the church? Was it in the beginning with the other things?" Yes, "in the beginning was the Word," which was Christ. (John 1: 1.) But this word which was the seed of the kingdom was in its germ state. This seed was not matured nor ready to plant until Christ rose from the dead, as we will show further on. "First the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear." (Mark 4: 26-28.) This shows the development or maturity of the seed of the kingdom of heaven, the church. It required about four thousand years to develop or mature this seed of the kingdom.

Now, as we see that everything that has life in it comes from a seed after its kind, we will begin to look for the seed of the kingdom. Inasmuch as there was seed in the parable, or pattern, we must have seed in the kingdom. For Jesus said: "The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field." The apostle Peter says we are born of "incorruptible" seed, "by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever." (1 Pet. 1: 23.)

Will the Old Testament Scriptures do for this seed? No, for it is to be a "live seed." A seed that has not the germ of life in it cannot give life or come up. There was no life in the Old Testament Scriptures. Listen to the apostle: "If there had been a law given that could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law." Then, when and where are we to find the seed of the kingdom of which we are to be born? We go to 2 Tim. 1: 10, and we find that Jesus Christ "brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." What is the gospel? Listen to Paul: "Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel: . . . how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures." (1 Cor. 15: 1-4.)

Now, inasmuch as we find that Christ brought life through the gospel, and that the gospel is the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ, we see that we had no gospel that could give life until Christ rose from the dead; for "if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins." (1 Cor. 15: 17.) So we had no seed to sow from which to be born. (1 Pet. 1: 23.) Again: "A testament is of force after men are dead; otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth." (Heb. 9: 17.) And again: "Without shedding of blood is no remission." (Verse 22.) So we see before the resurrection we had no seed of the kingdom of which to be born. (1 Pet. 1: 23.) We had no kingdom into which to be born.

(To be continued.)

Gospel Trumpet Blasts.

BY A. A. BUNNER.

"For he doth not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men," (Lam. 3; 33.) "Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye, from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?" (Ezek. 33: 11.) "For they [the fathers of our flesh] verily for a few days chastened us after their own pleasure; but he for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness." (Heb. 12: 10.)

God, our all-wise Heavenly Father, knows what is best for his children while they tabernacle here in the flesh, and he will not even suffer the son of wickedness to afflict his people further than what shall redound to their good. All things that are suffered to come upon his beloved are for their good. Even the thorn in Paul's flesh, though it was a messenger from the adversary sent to "buffet him," worked good to the apostle. Hence that great apostle could cheerfully say, not only that he gloried in his infirmities, but that he gloried also in tribulations; so that he had learned, in whatever state he was, therewith to be content, knowing that "all things work together for good to them that love God." We often hear the remark made, "Good health is one of the greatest blessings of this life;" and this, too, right in the face of Ps. 119: 67: "Before I was afflicted, I went astray." "It is good for me that I have been afflicted: that I might learn thy statutes." (Verse 71.) "I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are right, and that thou in faithfulness hast afflicted me." (Verse 75.) But those who look upon good health as the greatest blessing of life are generally those who use what they acquire through this blessing to hoard up for themselves and their children, that they may have wherewith to consume upon their lusts, instead of using it for the upbuilding and extension of the kingdom of heaven and its righteousness in the earth. There never was a time when money was more plentiful and wages for workers higher and when all classes made more money than now, and there never was a time when all men, including the majority of Christians, were more penurious and tight-fisted than now, and for these reasons the cause of Zion now languishes and pines more than it has ever done in any past age of the world. Dear brethren and sisters in Christ, in view of this sad state of affairs connected with our Heavenly Father's dear cause, who among us can truthfully say: "I have fully done my duty, and I am perfectly willing to go before the Judge of the living and the dead, faithfully believing that I will hear the glad and welcome plaudit, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant; enter into the joy of thy Lord?"" We all had better be more faithful and earnest in studying the Bible along the line of our duties than we have been in the past, or we will wake up to the sad realities of eternity's night of gloom. "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." Do not say in your little and covetous heart when an appeal is made for means to help the reeds of God's cause: "There is too much begging for money; I am tired of it." It is not begging; they are only appeals to you to do your duty which you owe to your Heavenly Father.

The Bible will bring you more consolation than all the mediums on earth in regard to the future state of life. The gospel is natural and preaches hope and happiness for those who have lived well here and gone on to the next world. Those who follow spiritism with intensive vigor become neurotics and nervous wrecks. It is no wonder they think they hear rappings. Even a well man can hear noises after he has read ghost stories until midnight,—W. A. Fite.

The Kingdom of God, Again.

BY W. L. REEVES.

Since we have the Scriptures for it that Christ now reigns on David's throne, yet his own throne in heaven, and that his kingdom exists on earth, and he has subjects on earth who are in his kingdom; and since those who will and wish may enter into his kingdom in the one way by which all must enter into it; and since salvation is in the kingdom, it is the purpose of this article to show the terms of admission into it.

Man must enter into the kingdom himself; God will not do that for him. Christ said: "Except ye turn, and become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 18: 3.) Again: "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." (John 3: 5.) The new birth is no mystery. What to do to be born again is clearly taught in the New Testament. Peter throws light on the subject in these words; "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit. . . . being born again . . . by the word of God." (1 Pet. 1: 22, 23.) From this we see that a man is born again when he obeys the truth, for thus his soul is purified; and certainly such a character is born again. Peter says he is.

True, such passages do not point out the specific things to do in order to be born again; but to arrive at the conclusion which will be absolutely correct relative to this vital matter, we must find all the specific commandments which the New Testament records as being required of men in the days of the apostles in order to be born again, or for the remission of alien sins. Just a part of them will not do, even though one or two are all that are sometimes mentioned in a verse; for God requires the same of every man in order to be born again, be he king or subject, high or low, great or small, rich or poor.

Nothing should be taken from the divine plan, for such would be hazardous for the teacher and those who follow him. Every preacher should know that more may be required of an alien than may be mentioned in just one verse, but less will never be acceptable with Christ than what he has specified by the pen of all his witnesses. To illustrate: Christ said that "repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem." (Luke 24: 47.) It is not the part of common honesty, to say nothing of scripturainess, for a man to contend from this one verse that repentance is all that Christ requires of an alien in order to be saved from sin, or to be born again. But why should I not so contend? Those who teach remission of sins at faith, or by faith only, do just as bad as I would were I to contend from this verse alone that remission of sins is pledged to all nations upon repentance only. Christ teaches that "in the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established." (Matt. 18: 16; 2 Cor. 13: L) Again, we are told as preachers to study to be able to rightly divide the word of truth. Again, it is said: "Here a little, there a little; precept upon precept, line upon line."

Three witnesses shall testify in this case relative to the demands Christ sent to the nations of earth. "Teach all nations, baptizing them." (Matt. 28: 19.) "Preach the gospel. . . . He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mark 16: 15, 16.) "That repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem." (Luke 24: 47.) Matthew also teaches that man must confess Christ (not his feelings) or be denied in heaven. (Matt. 10: 32.) Summing up, we have these specific requirements stipulated by Christ himself: Faith, repentance, confession, and baptism. Each one's testimony in this case is of equal credit; so we cannot discard what either one says without rejecting the word of the Lord. The thing to do is to teach everything just as it is recorded in these passages.

Pentecost came. The kingdom came with the Spirit and power. Jews from every nation present. Peter, having the keys of the kingdom, preached the gospel unto them. They heard. "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." (Rom. 10: 17.) So, then, they had faith when they "said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles. Men and brethren, what shall we do?" (Acts 2: 37.) "Then Peter said unto them, Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost," (Verse 38.) "Then they that gladly received his word were baptized." (Verse 41.) Those who were baptized were the ones who were added, or admitted into the kingdom of God, upon this day, no more and no less, so far as the record shows. "And the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved."

Christ says: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." (Mark 16: 16.) Paul told the Colossians that God had translated them into the kingdom of his dear Son and that they had remission of sins. (Col. 1: 13, 14.) These Colossian brethren had been buried in baptism and raised up through that faith which operated upon them, hence had been born of water and of the Spirit, by which birth they entered into the kingdom of God's dear Son, into whom they were baptized and in whom they had the remission of their past (or allen) sins. (See Col. 1: 13, 14; 2: 12; Gal. 3: 27.) Thus it was that the good news concerning the kingdom of God and Christ was spread abroad throughout the regions round about Jerusalem, Ephesus, Antioch, Colosse, Corinth, Philippi, various places in Galatia, and even to the proud city of Rome, and various other places. Who will doubt that the same gospel was preached and the same commandments given to every one of these places just as on the day of Pentecost? All those who are now saved from sin on earth are in the kingdom of God on earth simply because they are not yet in heaven so as to be in the kingdom in heaven. One kingdom in heaven and in earth; one family in heaven and earth. (Eph. 3: 15.) The same name for all, too.

In addition to the above, I ask some important questions: (1) When men do just what the New Testament requires, what sectarian church will it make them members of? (2) Will doing just what Christ demands aliens to do make them members of sectarian churches? (3) If it will do so, is it not a fact that when a man hears, believes, and obeys the gospel, he is then a member of all the sectarian churches in the whole world? (4) If men do not become members of the Baptist Church, the Methodist Church, the Presbyterian Church, or any other sect, by obedience to what Christ commands, by whose authority do they become members of such institutions? (5) If obeying the gospel will make some men members of one sect and some members of another, how is it possible for the man himself to know which one he is a member of? (6) Is it not a fact that the word of God is the seed? (Luke 8: 11.) And if the seed grows so many different "plants," so very different to each other, how is it possible for a preacher to know just what kind of an institution he is going to plant when he sows the seed, or preaches the gospel? (7) Will some writer or preacher of the gospel please give us some light on these important questions?

The truth of the matter is this: The church of God and the kingdom of God are one and the same thing. The same gospel believed and obeyed will make a man a member of both, if I should say "both."

There is a rigid law against being a member of any one or all of the various sects or factions. As proof we read; "That there should be no schisms in the body," (1 Cor. 12; 25.) Applying Paul's language to present-day conditions exactly as they are, we find some saying: "I am a Baptist;" "I am a Methodist;" "I am a Presbyterian;"

and, "I am of Christ." Is Christ divided? Was John the Baptist crucified for you? Were you baptized in the name of John? (Read 1 Cor. 1: 12, 13.)

Christ prayed that his servants might all be one. (John 17: 20, 21.) Paul says there is but one body. (1 Cor. 12: 20.) The body is the church. (Col. 1: 18.) Christ said: "There shall be one fold, and one shepherd." (John 10: 16.) One body, one Spirit, one hope, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, and one God. (Eph. 4: 1-6.) These affirmative truths are amply sufficient to convince any reasonable mind, it seems to me, that any other religious institution besides the one church we read about in the New Testament is contrary to the word of God. If there is just one of any thing, there cannot possibly be any more. This is an axiom. Therefore, there is but one church of Christ. Just one kingdom of God in heaven and in earth, and it is an everlasting kingdom. Christ is King. The saved are the subjects. The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus is the law by which they are governed. Heaven and earth is the territory. The reward is life eternal, with all that such can possibly mean. Every Christian on earth should rejoice in the fact that he is in such a kingdom with a joy unspeakable.

The Two Main Branches.

BY F. W. SMITH.

The two main branches of the Missionary Baptist Church—viz., the beard and the nonboard Baptists—are at war with each other, and are devouring each other in the regular knock-down-and-drag-out fashion. The contention between these two branches has, for a long time, been raging over the manner of doing mission work, one branch fighting under the flag of "Landmarkers" and the other fighting under the flag of "Boardites," or "Conventionites." While this is still a hot issue between these two sorts of Baptists, there has been injected into the "family fuss" another issue that has become very hot, and they are chasing each other with red-hot pokers.

The latest issue between the warring factions is relative to Roger Williams and the monument to be erected in Washington, D. C., in his honor as the organizer of the first Baptist church in America. The matter stands thus between the leaders: "Roger Williams founded the first Baptist church on this continent." "No; Roger Williams was not the founder of the first Baptist church in America." There is, of course, no middle ground between these propositions on which the tender-footed can stand; hence, there is a complete lining up of all the Baptist forces on one side or the other. Standing at a distance and looking on this field of bloodless strife, one can but wonder how the Baptists are going to get their "chain of apostolic succession" across the oceans and on to Jerusalem. Since they cannot determine how nor by whom the first Baptist church was organized in America, how do they know their baptism is not "alien" baptism, or a baptism not authorized by the Baptists? It seems to me this wrangle over the Roger Williams matter leaves the Baptist brethren "up a tree," with no way to get down, but simply to double up and hit the ground. They have sawed the limb off between themselves and the tree, and there seems to be nothing in the way of apostolic succession to catch them.

But, after all, the Baptist brethren are working at the wrong end of the line. It behooves them to find out who established or founded the first Baptist church on this earth, and not be worrying about who founded the first Baptist church in America. They will have their hands full of the "founding" business long before they reach America or Roger Williams. The Baptists should let old Brother Roger rest a while and devote their time to finding the other end of the chain. If their church history is so dim and uncertain when they reach America, it must be shrouded with impenetrable darkness further back.

In fact, they cannot go very far before they are lost in a wilderness of confusion, clinging to this and that name which has not the remotest relation to the name "Baptist." But that is not all, for they will have to march through the pedobaptist ranks and hook them on to their chain. At least, that is what one of their ablest scholars and historians found and frankly confessed when he undertook to carry the chain to Jerusalem.

So it would be well for the Baptist brethren to let the ashes of Roger Williams repose in their last resting place, while they devote their time and attention to studying the Word. With proper attention to the New Testament, they will discover the very patent truth that the "Baptist Church" is not once named or mentioned in that book. There are none called "Baptists" in that book, and the "distinctive peculiarities" of the Baptist Church are not so much as hinted at. We read of Christians, disciples, children of God, and churches of Christ, but not a word of Baptists and Baptist churches.

Our Baptist friends talk long and loud about "religious freedom" as a great Baptist peculiarity, as if they invented the thing and have a patent right on it. Religious freedom is the common property of all Protestantism, and was inaugurated by Martin Luther and his colaborers. Shame on our friends to make such a claim! Let them be content to teach with all lovers of the truth that the liberty in Christ Jesus that makes free indeed.

Another Good Book.

